THE HIGHLAND ECHO

The Highland Echo is a weekly student newspaper serving the Maryville College campus community. It strives to provide fair, accurate and ethical journalism coverage of the campus.

The Highland Echo was first published in 1915 under the editorship of J. Charles Walker, class of 1916. The forerunner of The Echo, the Maryville College Monthly, was published from 1898 until 1915 and is available in the Maryville College Archives.

Mid-South Synod Elects 3 Directors For the College

Mrs. Paul Moser, Albert Huddleston, and Albert M. Brinkley were elected new directors of Maryville College by the Synod of Mid-South at its meeting June 21-24.

Mrs. Moser of New York was former president of the National Council of Women's Organizations of the Presbyterian Church in the USA.

Albert Huddleston of Maryville attended Maryville College and is now manager of the Aluminum Company of America.

Albert M. Brinkley, also of Maryville, is the president of the Bank of Maryville.

Maryville College Directors total 36, with one third elected each year by the Synod of Mid-South. Prior to the formation of the present Synod they were elected by the Synod of Tennessee.

Archibald-Eaddy Wedding Aug. 24

Alice Archibald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward M. Archibald of Fremont, Ohio, became the bride of Conrad Eaddy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd P. Eaddy, of St. Petersburg, Fla. in a lovely formal ceremony on August 24.

Rev. Ernest N. Bigelow, minister of the First Presbyterian Church of Norwalk, Ohio, officiated at the ceremony, which was held in the First Presbyterian Church of Fremont.

Mrs. Eaddy is an instructor of piano and music history and appreciation. She graduated from Oberlin College, Ohio, and has been at Maryville since 1947. Eaddy attended Maryville last year and is resuming his studies here.

Campus Buildings Repainted; Floors Sanded, Finished

College Engineer E. C. Brown and his crew have done considerable work during the summer to prepare MC for students this fall.

Rooms, halls, and stairways in dormitories have been sanded and refinished. All veteran s and their families have moved from Carnegie basement, and most of that space is now housing freshmen.

Along with redecoration, a Bendix washer and the other washers which were in the first floor bathrooms and ironing facilites have been installed in the basement.

The chimney-like architectural gegaws at the top of Carnegie were being rebuilt this week. Repainted are the roofs of Baldwin and Memorial Halls.

Floors in Anderson Hall were sanded and the walls repainted, as were the lobbies and stairways in Thaw Hall. The floor in Alumni Gym was sanded and refinished, and the Intramural Gym floor was varnished.

With approval of the Class of '16, the old fountain behind Anderson was removed. The future football field, near Court Street, was disked and subsodded.

The dairy house at the College Farm was repainted. A Massey-Harris tractor was bought for farm use and a Ford tractor for the campus and the farm.

GOSPEL FELLOWSHIP PLANS FIRST MEETING TUESDAY

Gospel Fellowship's first meeting of the semester is planned for Tuesday evening at 7 p. m. The place will be announced later by poster.

The program includes special music, singing led by Hap Brahams and a speaker. Refreshments will be served.

President Lloyd Meets Schweitzer During Summer's Busy Schedule

By Ruth Davis

President Ralph W. Lloyd returned Tuesday from an active summer of speaking engagements and preaching appointments to greet Maryville's returning student body. One year ago at this time Dr. Lloyd was in Europe, and three years ago, in China.

While in New York, Dr. Lloyd attended a luncheon in honor of Dr. Albert Schweitzer, world-renowned missionary of Africa, and his wife. The luncheon was sponsored by the Department of International Justice and Good Will of which Dr. Lloyd is a member. Dr. Schweitzer was brought to this country for the Goethe Festival in Aspen, Colo.

Vice-chairman of the board of directors for the Festival was Glen Lloyd, brother of our college president and Maryville alumnus of the class of '18. Honorary chairman was Herbert Hoover, former president of the United States; and chairman was Dr. Robert M. Hutchins, president of the University of Chicago.

Speaking but very little English, Dr. Schweitzer addressed the group in French with an interpreter to translate his message into English. In his private conversation with Dr. Lloyd, he spoke in German. Although Dr. Schweitzer is in his seventies, Dr. Lloyd states that he is a very vigorous person and a dynamic speaker. The last time Dr. Lloyd saw him, Dr. Schweitzer was kneeling on the sidewalk outside his hotel talking with a small child.

Represents Church to Canada

Sunday, May 22, Dr. Lloyd, representing the Presbyterian Church U. S. A., spoke in St. Andrews Church in Kitchener, Canada, which was host to the Cenveral Assembly of the Presbyterian Church of Canada.

From May 27 through June 1 the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church U. S. A. met in Buffalo, N. Y. Dr. Lloyd was in charge of reports of the Department of Co-operative Union and introduced all fraternal delegates of other countries and denominations.

In June Dr. Lloyd attended and spoke to alumni meetings in Washington, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, and Cincinnati. Assisted by Dr. F. A. Griffitts, he helped organize and promote the Alumni Chapel Campaign. This new idea will extend eventually to alumni all over the United States.

July 8, he spoke at the Testimonial Dinner for the Aluminum Company of America held in Pearsons Hall. High Alcoa officials included the president of the company. The dinner, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, was the largest occasion of this kind held in Maryville.

Speaks at McCormick

The day after Maryville's commencement Dr. Lloyd left for Chicago to speak at the commencement exercises of McCormick Seminary, May 26.

During the summer he spoke at the Fourth Presbyterian Church of Chicago, Central Methodist Church in Knoxville, Sixth Avenue Presbyterian Church of Birmingham, and the Mt. Auburn Presbyterian Church in Cincinnati.

Mrs. Queener Sets Women's Varsity Sports Schedule

All students interested in sports of any kind and who would like to enter Women's Varsity, formerly known as point system, will meet Tuesday at 4:30 in Bartlett Auditorium. This includes members of every class, but especially new students.

Mrs. Verton M. Queener, director, says "the purpose of Women's Varsity is to give girls an all-round health and athletic program." This includes regular health reports, a designated number of swims and hikes each month, tennis, and participation on various teams. An hour of exercise daily outside the reuglar program is required.

For athletic participation and health achievement a certain number of points is given. At the end of each year those having 500 points are entitled to a large letter and sweater. The letters are the same size as the varsity men's letters but are a different style.

Those earning 400 pints received a small letter and those earning 300 points receive a monogram MC. Those earning 400 or 500 points are members of the M Club. Points are not carried from year to year.

Freshmen who are interested in any form of athletics are urged to attend the meeting Tuesday afternoon where details of the program will be explained.

Matrons Hallock, Harwood Retire

President Ralph W. Lloyd announced this week the retirements of Mary Matthews Hallock, head of Baldwin Hall, and Iola Gauss Harwood, assistant to Miss Hallock.

Both Miss Hallock and Miss Harwood are natives of Monroe City, Missouri, and have been life-long friends. Miss Hallock received her B. A. degree from the University of Kansas and her M. A. degree from Columbia University in 1927. Miss Harwood also was graduated from the University of Kansas and received her M. A. also at Columbia the year after Miss Hallock.

Miss Hallock has been at Maryville for 13 years, and Miss Harwood has been here 12 years. They were colleagues in educational work for many years before coming to the College.

President Ralph Lloyd Speaks at Convocation

President Ralph W. Lloyd presided yesterday morning at the annual convocation, the formal chapel service service which preceeds the first day of classes. He spoke on "What Would They Say of You?" and was assisted in the service by Deans Hunter and McClelland.

Vesper Choir sang "God 's Son Hath Set Me Free."

Beloved Latin Professor Retires Because Of Health

Almira C. Bassett, assistant professor of Latin at Maryville College since 1926, has retired from teaching because of frail health, President Lloyd announced this week.

In the following statement issued by the college, the regret of the administration of the college was expressed:

"Miss Bassett has been one of the most able and beloved teachers of the College for the past 23 years. Her thorough scholarship and unusual skill as a teacher, her enthusiastic interest in her subject and her students, and her loyalty to the College and its highest ideals, have made her one of the institutions most valuable assets.

After graduation from Maryville College she was a high school teacher for 13 years, of which eight were at Waterloo, Iowa, and the last three at Birmingham, Michigan. She was called by the College in 1926.

Her brother, Dr. H. J. Bassett, had been the College's distinguished professor of Latin from 1905 to 1920. He was succeeded in the professorship by Dr. Edmund Wayne Davis, present professor of Greek and Latin.

Dr. Bassett retired recently from the faculty of Southwestern, Memphis, and lives with his sisters at the corner of Crawford and Lamar Streets, just off the campus.

ORR SPEAKS AT VESPERS

Dr. H. E. Orr, professor of Religion and Philosophy, will be the speaker at Vesper services tomorrow evening at 7 p. m. in the library.

Minor changes have been made in the order of worship. An introit will be sung by the Vesper Choir before the processional. Anthems have been placed before the responsive readings and scripture lessons.

Harry H Harter, choir director, will direct the choir in two anthems, "There is a Balm in Gilead," a negro spiritual arranged by William Dawson, and "God Goes Up on High, by Gallus.

Davenport Receives Cabinet Appointment

Dorothy Holverson, YWCA president, has announced several changes in the 1949-50 cabinet. Wilma Robinson, member of the M Book committee, has transferred. Alice Davenport has been added to the Barnwarming committee.

An election will be held soon to replace Tommie Mynatt, Pi Gamma president, who is transferring. Pi Gamma is the organization within the Y for town girls.

The new cabinet and the Nu Gamma leaders worked with the YM in welcoming new students to the campus.

100 Students Find Off-Campus Room

Fewer men than last year have been forced to live off campus because of crowded dormitory conditions, according to a housing committee statement. Only about 100 freshmen, transfer, and return students are rooming in town and none of these are farther than eix blocks from campus. Harold Hunter headed the committee.

At present, all dormitories are full but some vacancies may make some rooms available later. Several freshman girls are staying in faculty homes and a few are temporarily in the college infirmary.

An innovation this year was advising men living off campus to pay no more than a fixed amount for rooms. This stabilizing of prices kept rent at a minimum.

Student Center Has New Staff; Cards On Order

Bob Larson opened the Student Center for the first time Tuesday night during which frosh became acquainted with it.

Larson is manager of the Y store, and Ellen Collins, Sarah Durant, and Mary Watt are student assistants to the director, Mrs. Carmen Marquis.

New Bridge cards and 15 new records have been bought; pinochle cards are expected soon. The center's schedule will be the same as last year. Dancing is expected to start in the Intramural Gym next week.

Personnel at the Student Center remind students that a few rules are to be observed to help enjoy better the center's facilities. Always remember to clear tables after using them. Never take food into the lounge section. Check out games and equipment at office and return them when through. Treat furniture and equipment properly.

ECHO TRY-OUTS

All sophomores who are interested in trying out for the editorial staff of the Highland Echo should meet in the Echo office (east side of Thaw Hall) on Monday at 7:20 p. m. Freshman try-outs will be announced later.

Students from any class who are interested in trying out for business staff are instructed to leave their names at the Echo office to schedule an interview with the business manager.

STUDENT VOLUNTEERS

Carl Wilson, MC '49, will speak at Student Volunteers meeting in Bartlett following Vespers tomorrow night.

Theta Rush Week Presents 'Diamond Horseshoe' Event

Mary Mitchell Woolridge, Theta Epsilon president, has announced the theme for the society's rush week program. Freshman are invited to attend Theta's own Diamond Horseshoe, transplanted from New York for the occasion.

Starting off on Monday, Theta has planned a coke party which will feature a fashion preview with Theta cover girls as models. This will be a hose and heels affair to which all freshman girls are invited.

On Wednesday the annual acquacade will be presented at the swimming pool with Margie Newland, Beverly Musick, and Gracie Scruggs performing.

The highlight of the week will be the formal program Saturday night, "Theta's Diamond Horseshoe". Charlie Parvin will be Master of Ceremonies for this event.

Alice Davenport and Beverly Moore, rush week chairmen, have appointed committee chairmen for the programs. Those working on the program for the formal are Lois Deobler, Jim Kren, and Mary Holly Webb. Betty Crawford, Anne Gates, and Linnea Johnson are in charge of decorations, and Betty Lester is chairman of invitations committee. Howard Cameron is stage manager, Mary Mauger is in charge of costumes, and music is under the direction of Charlie Flood. Hilda Roberts and Marty Kincaid are refreshment committee chairmen.

Harter Announces Choir Try-Outs

Try-outs for Vesper Choir will be held on Monday and Tuesday evenings in the Y rooms, Director Harry Harter announced today. This includes those who were members of the Choir last year, and those who are interested in becoming members. All applicants must have taken the Seashore Test.

Soprano try-outs will be Monday at 7 p. m., altos at 8 p. m. Bass try-outs will be at 7 p. m. on Tuesday, tenors at 8 p. m.

Chilhoweans On Sale

Tom Kees, Chilhowean business manager, has announced that tables will be set up outside Pearsons before and after lunch and dinner the week beginning September 5 for the sale of the 1950 Chilhowean. Price of the Chilhowean this year is five dollars.

Eight M C Faculty, Staff Appointments Announced

Language, Dramatics—Speech, Home Economics Departments Gain Replacement Instructors

President Ralph W. Lloyd has announced eight new appointments to the faculty and staff of Maryville College. The number of faculty changes and additions is smaller than it has been in the past few years.

Faculty, Students Meet At Reception Tonight In Thaw

Annual faculty reception will be held in Lamar Memorial Library this evening from 8 until 10 o'clock. Both old and new students are invited to attend and meet members of the college faculty and staff.

Heading the receiving line will be Student Body President Bill Nish, YM President Bill Chalker, YW President Dot Holverson, and President and Mrs. Ralph W. Lloyd. The line will remain until 10 so that students may arrive at any time and avoid waiting.

Wives and husbands of faculty and staff members are also to be present, and wives and husbands of students are invited.

According to custom, girls will wear evening dressses and men will wear business suits. Refreshments will be served.

Miss Grierson Announces New Staff Members, Stack Regulations

Addition of several new staff members and new library regulations were announced last week by Ruth Grierson, librarian of Lamar Memorial Library.

Barbara Eggleston, who graduated here last spring, will serve as assistant in charge of cataloging. New student members of the library staff are Joy Hickman, Peggy Kettles, Claude Cowan, Tom Kennedy, Tom Lacy, Clarence Reaser, Millard Stephens, and Gerald Wheat.

Closing hour for the library on Saturday evenings will be at 5 o'clock instead of 5:30 as heretofore, Miss Grierson said. The stacks will open each morning at 9:30. Stack cards for admission to the closed stacks may be held by members of the three upper classes, and freshmen may withdraw books from the stacks by presenting call slips at the library desk.

David R. Stone is to be instructor in Latin and Spanish. The classes in Latin to be taught by Stone were formerly taught by Almira C. Bassett, whose retirement after 23 years on the College faculty was recently announced. (See story elsewhere in Echo.)

Stone is a native of Kentucky and is a graduate of the University of Tennessee. He has had more than 20 years of language teaching experience in high schools at Muncie, Ind., Chattanooga, and Covington, Ky. During World War II he served as an employee counselor with the Wright Aeronautical Corp.

Edith Delaney Largen is a new instructor in physical education. Mrs. Largen will be an assistant to Mrs. V. M. Queener, assistant professor of physical education for women, and will perform other duties in the department.

Mrs. Largen graduated from Maryville in 1948 and spent the past year at the University of Michigan with her husband, also an MC graduate.

While a student at Maryville, Mrs. Largen was a student assistant in physical education. She and her husband have both had experience in camp work.

In the drama and speech department, Herman David Middleton is a new instructor. A native of Florida, he received an honor scholarship to Rollins College, Winter Park, Fla. In his one year there he was a member of the college choir, college players, and the college's newspaper staff.

After one year he entered the Navy and served three years. There he was able to continue his theatrical interests for he was on special assignment to the production staff of the Navy musical, "Navigator's Holiday." While stationed at Pensacola he was a member of the Little Theatre staff and cast.

After the war he entered Columbia University, New York, where he received the B. A. degree with a major in dramatic arts in 1948 and his M. A. in drama and speech in June of this year.

At Columbia his experience also designing of sets and lighting. In New York Middleton worked extensively with the Shanks Village Players, Orangeburg, N. Y. He took leading parts and directed a number of plays for this group.

He is married and has one child.

Mrs. Lucile Gillespie Stepp, insturctor in home economics, received her B. S. in home economics from Maryville and now lives in Alcoa. She has taught previously in the county school system. Mrs. Stepp has three children.

Head of Baldwin Hall this year is Mrs. Harold F. Wonder. Mrs. Wonder is a native of Granville, Ohio, and attended Ohio Weslyan University.

Her husband, before hs death in 1946, was pastor of Westminister Presbyterian Church in Lincoln, Neb. Mrs. Wonder has one daughter.

Mrs. Harry H. Harter is new assistant to Miss Meiselwitz in the institutional management course. Mrs. Harter received her B. S. in home economics from the University of Nebraska. Her husband is assistant professor of music and director of the Vesper Choir.

Barbara Leigh Eggleston, MC '49, is the new assistant to the head of Baldwin hall and assistant in the library. Miss Eggleston took her B. A. in English last year.

While a student, Miss Eggleston was president of WSGA, member of Alpha Gamma Sigma, and listed in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. She spent this past summer working as a counsler in a Girl Scout camp.

FIVE PERCENTER?—

Nish Perfumed, Other MC'ers In Padded Cells

—OBSERVING OR OBSERVED.?

By Carolyn Miller

Some MC students, always noted for their originality, have come back to school with tales of summer vacations spent in unusual ways. Departing from the commonplace in choosing their occupations, these students will have much to remember about the summer of '49.

Many college students found positions in summer camps, but not all proved as rewarding as Bill Nish's. Nish, who is student body president, was assistant-director at a girls' camp, Fern Canyon Lodge, in Santa Cruz, California. The campers, age 8 to 17, endeavored to make him eligible for a girls' camp by spraying his belongings with perfume. Nish, back in the safety of Carnegie Hall, refuses to comment on the desirability of girls as campers.

Freshman Lillian Barker of Torrington, Conn., worked on a tobacco plantation in Windsor, Conn. Her job consisted of sewing on a lathe the shade-grown tobacco leaves which ultimately became cigar wrappers.

One Maryville student, Preston Mulford of Patterson, N. J. was employed this summer as a Fuller brush man. He made door-to-door sales of brushes, brooms, and other handy articles to interest the homemaker but not her husband.

Zan Emery, senior physical education major from Mercer, Pa., worked at the Alcoa swimming pool. After proving herself very capable in instructing others in safety precautions, she broke her leg playing tennis during her vacation in Canada.

If you are interested in hospital and institutional work contact one of the five MC'ers who worked as attendants at the Philadelphia State Mental Hospital. Sue Althouse, senior from Gladwyne, Pa., Deanne Bowman from Williston North Dakota, Bob Williams, Washington, D.C., Don Winslow, from Johnston, Pa., and John Spratt, of Clinton, S.C., all represented the Westminster Fellowship Institutional Service Unit in that hospital. They report that "it's not catching."

Then there were those who stayed home and worked there. This in itself is not unusual, but Maryville students have a way to liven up everything. Barbara Blum, sophomore from Knoxville, found time to paint her house during vacation, while Wilbur Selander, sophomore from Springfield, N. J., helped to biuld houses.

Of course the usual number went to summer school, and others tried interesting forms of employment too numerous to mention. Perhaps summer jobs make one realize college life has its advantages. At least, we hope you now have some idea what (or what not) to do next summer vacation.

Sound & Furry

by Davis & Dance

IT'S GREAT TO BE BACK

When you got off that train, bus, or you-know-what and saw Y cabinets milling around pouncing on those who appeared to be unsuspecting freshmen, you knew you were either here or back. Welcome, welcome, welcome! We suggest the following multiple choice table on which you can check your own first precious speck of conversation at MC:

"What did you do this summer? I (1) had a wonderful time (2) worked like a dog (3) went to summer school."

"Gladys has cut her hair. (1) She looks like a sheep dog. (2) It looks better now. (3) Some people have no taste."

"Say, did you know (1) Bob and Janice (2) Al and Wanda (3) Ann and Jim were engaged?"

Etc. etc. Questions, questions, questions. And a word of further discouragement to all freshmen—you'll live!

COLLECTOR'S ITEM

Lots of people came back with odd souvenirs of their summers. Holly Dawes brought a fascinating case of poison ivy. Herbert Hoover returned burdened with an Oriental rug! Zan Emory picked up a cast in a season of sport this summer, and even Dave Reed was accompanied back to campus by a 1930 Marquette!

Most fascinating collections were made by the gals who returned exhibiting third-finger left-hand sparklers. Wanda Onifer talked Al Springfield out of or into one, and Ann Jenkins received hers from ten Joirm Akin. Deanne Bowman met "Chet" during her summer job and while she has no sparkler yet, it's mighty verbal. Janice Landstrom and Bob Kay got sung to, and singer Conrad Eaddy actually wed a MC faculty member, charming Alice Archibald Eaddy of the music department.

FACULTY SIMMERS

Dr. Lloyd at Convocation last Friday mentioned three years ago, when a trip to China prevented his being here, and last year when a European jaunt delayed his return. This summer he visited the wilds of Birmingham, Ala., but managed to get back from that out-of-the-way territory.

Esther Swenson, glamorous addition to the philosophy 2170 teaching staff as well as assistant in the library, spent the summer reading up on her new lecture course and working out a system for playing Casino with library catalog cards. Dr. Barker, we've heard, has perfected a system for playing gin rummy with Bible quotation cards.

And then there was Dr. Williams, without a saying from whom this column couldn't do, who climbed Grandfather's Mountain in North Carolina, spending the night there. "George Washington never slept there," remarked Dr. W., "and neither did I."

MORE PEOPLE

You, as well as us, may be stuck by the resemblance between Ruth Rogers and her "little sister"—freshmen, that is.

RECORD-BREAKING PASSION

John Shew considered himself lucky this summer by picking up some rare phonograph records he'd been wanting. They were, it seems, reposing in his bosom as he was greeted by a Miss Martin who must have been rather enSuesiastic about the whole thing. Mended hearts after a summer apart, perhaps—but oh! those broken records.

WAS OUR FACE RED

Roommates Harriet McClain and Alita Bryant returned with grand plans for a gorgeous red room this year. But decorators' plans, as well as those of mice and men, go astray: they found their room painted a dangerous shade of pink during the summer.

Student Council

President Names Committees; Townnight, Center Details Told; Students Lead Orientation

Committee appointments for the 1949-'50 Student Council were announced by Bill Nish, student body president, this week.

Steering committee, which has the president as its chairman, consists of six council members including Dot Holverson, Bill Chalker, Ray Holsey, Ginny Schwarz, Jim Dance, and Del Earisman. Its function is to outline the year's program and to be responsible for aganda of council meetings. This committee also reviews the student body constitution each year to co-ordinate it with existing campus life.

Finance committee is composed of Treasurer Jim Callaway and two other council members, Glen Knecht and John Shew.

The Finance Committee is responsible for collection of all funds for Council purposes and is permitted to make assessments on classes as approved by Council.

Jim Lester, Lincoln Shimomura, and Jack Buckley have been appointed by the president to serve on Student Programs Committee. This committee works in conjunction with the Faculty Committee on Student Programs.

Elections Committee is composed of nine members of Council, of whom three are seniors, two juniors, two sophomores, and two freshmen. Del Earisman, student body vice-president serves as chairman of committee. Senior representatives are Tubby Calloway, senior class president, Wanda junior class president; saphomore class president, Onifer, and Sarah Durant; junior, Joe McNeill, Jim Kren and Susie Martin.

Two freshman members of committee who will be freshman class president and freshman representative are to be elected soon.

Numerous functions of the committee are listed in the M Book, Article VIII, section 1, of Student Body Constitution.

Talk of The Week

by RUTH NICHOLAS

Y's Have Joint Meeting

Maryville's YM and YW will have a joint meeting in the library tomorrow afternoon at 1:30. All Students are invited.

Student Council

Student Publications Committee is composed of three members of Council appointed by the president and the editor of The Highland Echo. Committee members are Herb McCallum, editor, Jim Dance, Betty Jane Greenwald, and Charlie Allen.

This committee appoints a student who will be responsible for publicizing activities of Council.

First regular meeting of Student Council will be Wednesday, September 7, at 8:30 p. m. in the Student Center. Elections will be held for Council members of Student-Faculty Senate, women members of WSGA coordinating Council, and appointment of two student body members to the Social Board. Plans will be discussed for student ratification of the Town Night Agreement.

There will be a discussion of new responsibilities of Counciy concerning Student Center activities. Plans are being made for Freshman, MSO, and Inter-Club Council elections.

Council meetings are open to all students.

Freshmen are reminded that within a few weeks they will be selecting their class officers and Student Council representatives.

TOWN NIGHT

Tuesday, September 6, will be the first official Town Night for old students. All rules will be in effect and Student Council will be responsible for enforcing them as usual. Thursday, September 8, there will be a student body meeting for the purpose of ratification of Town Night Agreement.

New students will meet in Alumni Gymnasium at 7:30 p. m. for entertainment and a brief explanation by club and organization presidents of the functions of their clubs. It is hoped that in this way new students will gain an understanding of opportunities for club membership. All club presidents who wish to take part should contact Social Chairman Jim Dance at once.

There will also be an explanation of Town Night rules and regulations for new students.

Orientation Classes

This year for the first time students will be co-leaders in the regular college orientation program. It is thought that students will be able to add practical experience of their college careers to these courses. One orientation class will be concerned solely with student government at college and especially student government at Maryville.

Students participating in this program, will be Carol Corbett, Alice Davenport, Mary Holly Webb, Virginia Schwarz, Dorothy Holverson, Mary Mitchell Wooldridge, Jim Dance, Joe Claud, Bill Nish, Bill Starr, Tubby Callaway, and Bill Chalker.

Scots Playing Full 10 Game Schedule

By Charles Williams

Date	Opponent	Place
Sept.17—	Hiwassee	Home
Sept. 24—	Carson-Newman, Young High	Knoxville
Oct. 1—	Middle Tenn. State,	Murfreesboro, Tenn.
Oct. 8—	Centre,	Danville, Ky.
Oct. 15—	East Tennessee State,	Home
Oct. 22—	Emory & Henry,	Emory, Va.
● Oct. 29—	Western Carolina	Home
Nov. 5—	Austin-Peay	Clarksville Tenn.
Nov. 12—	Carson-Newman	Home
Nov. 19—	Alabama Teachers	Jacksonville, Alabama

● Homecoming

Five home and five away games mark Maryville's football schedule, which was recently announced by Coach Honaker. To be more accurate therewill be five away games, four home games, and one game at Young High field in Knoxville.

This year's ten-game schedule will leave no rest periods for the Scots, with games starting September 17, and continuing through November 19.

After the Hiwassee warm-up on the 17th, comes the first of a two-game series with Carson-Newman on the 24th at Knoxville. These two home games are followed by two games on the road against Middle Tennesse State and Centre. Next is East Tennessee State here followed by an engagement with Emory & Henry at Emory, Va.

Homecoming

Homecoming game this year will be with the Westerin Carolina Catamounts on October 29. A new team will enter the picture at this point when Maryville journeys to Clarksville for a game with Austin Peay State Teachers College.

The next week-end will find the Scots back at Wilson Field for their second tussel with Carson-Newman, Maryville's arch-rival. Alabama Teachers, also a new team to us, will entertain the Scots on the Alabama's field for the Maryville finale.

Cross Country Starts

All men interested in running for the Scot cross-country team are requested to meet Monday afternoon at 3:30 with coach K. P. Johnson in Bartlett Hall.

Bill Stern Says

THE WHOLE COUNTRY IS TALKING ABOUT PURITAN'S NATCH

NATCH 8.50

NATMOOR 3.95

NATDALE 5.95

Bill Stern, one of America's foremost sports authorities, really started something when he picked NATCH as the brightest and most popular sweater on the school campus! SPRING SPORTS ROUNDUP

Baseball—

With a 10-2 win over Tusculum puf safely away in the books Maryville's baseballers finished another season of winning ball under the "Dean of Southern Baseball Coaches," Coach Lombe S. Honaker.

Sporting a 13 won and 6 lost average for the year, the Orange and Garnet men were poison to every team they met, after dropping a doubleheader on opening day to the Miami University Redskins of Oxford, Ohio. The diamonders had great success with the Catamounts of Western North Carolina in sweeping four victories from them to the tunes of 4-3, 10-8, 7-5, and 6-1.

Lincoln Memorial University of Harrogate, Tennessee, also fell to the siege guns of the Scots, going under twice, 12-3 and 6-2, and not coming up a third time. Tusculum suffered the same fate, being axed 15-10, and 10-2, in the aforementioned finale.

In single encounters the MC'ers defeated Middle Tennessee State, 7-5 and Emory and Henry, 8-3, while the VFW of Sweetwater bombarded our boys, 4-3, in a contest there.

No team was able to clout the Scots for two wins. Tennessee Tech and East Tennessee State each took road games, 9-4 and 8-7, respectively, but the Highlanders came back to trim each decisively in home games by scores of 11-5 and 7-3. Lombe's boys took the first contest from an arch enemy, Carson-Newman, 13-4, but lost out on a road trip, 7-4.

All in all, it was a very successfull season for the Scots, as they uncovered some new talent the arms of Jim Kren and Jimmy Hawkins to add to the deliveries of Leon Berrong, Ross Honaker, and Erasmus Fowler. Art Smith added improvement to the Hot corner while Bob Boring, Jack Buckley and Wally Pentz, had the beginning of another Tinker to Evers to Chance combination.

Gene Reynolds was the big man behind the bat while Jimmy Baird filled in capably. In the outfield Hugh Hamil led the hitters with a batting average close to .500. Benny Baldwin was the base-scorcher who played left, while Bobby Neff, defended the right field gardens.

All made letters along with George McMahon, the manager, and, there will be a goodly number back to form the nucleous of a strong team in '50.

Tennis—

Maryville's mighty tennis-team rolled over Tusculum's Pioneers, May 10, to the tune of 7-0 thus bringing to a close one of the Scot's most successful seasons in many a day.

Racking up nine wins in a row without a defeat, Coach Kenneth Johnson's raqueteers are proud possessors of a ten-game winning streak started in 1948 at the expense of Tennessee Wesleyan.

Running roughshod over the opposition, the raquet-men defeated Lincoln Memorial University (2), Milligan, Carson-Newman (2),

I-M Football Scheduled To Open September 12

Play in intramural sports will begin at Maryville on Sept. 12, with the opening of the 7-man Touch Football League. Among new events added to those of last year will be a Cross-Country Meet, a Foul Sheeting Tournament and a Badminton Tournament. A Fencing Club will be started as soon as equipment arrives.

Also there will be tournaments in which the individual may participate—the first one being a tennis tournament which will begin on Sept. 19. Then Oct. 24, a golf tournament will take place on the College's nine-hole course with 36 holes being played over a two-day period.

Another feature of the intramural set up is the award system. Under the system, all men amassing 300 points or more will receive intramural medals. Any student who participates in an intramural team sport will be given 50 points. The sports in this group include touch football, soccer, volleyball basketball, and softball.

Men who have earned a spot on a varsity team will be given 50 points for each sport to add to their total. Then there are those indiviidual meets by which a person can win more points.

All winning teams will get Garnet ribbons as will the winners of individual events.

Students interested in getting more details and information may see Coach Kenneth Johnson or Ken Newell, Senior Manager.

Ken Newell, senior manager announced that the deadline to file team entries for touch football would be Wednesday, Sept. 7, at 5:30. Teams will be allowed to carry 12 men and lists should be left with Newell or with Coach Johnson in the Intramural office.

'49 Grid Practice Opens With 22 Lettermen Back

By Duncan Bennett

With twenty-two returning lettermen back with the Highlander '49 grid squad this fall, the team, 64 strong, has begun early workouts in preparation for the September 17 game with Hiwassee College.

Graduation last spring took three former Scot stars, Alan Rock, Fred Kluth, and Bill Proffitt. Bill Fogarty will also be missed in the backfield and Wallace Clendennon on the line.

King Berrong, '47 letterman, has returned to the team after a year's absence and will again fill his old quarterback spot.

Practice so far has consisted of routine conditioning, catesthenics and drill in fundamentals with a little punting and passing to keep things interesting.

The Highlander backfield will be fairly well filled with returning stars. King Berrong and "Tubby" Callaway are in for the quarterback spot. Bob Boring, Jim Baird, and Hersh Merriman are back at fullback, with Bob Neff, Charles Allen and Leon Berrong working at left half. Right half backs returning are Benton Baldwin and Allan Law.

In the line centers Ray Holsey and Tom Boyd are back on the job along with other returning linesmen, Hap Brahams, Jim McKee, D. M. Miller, Kenneth Andes, Howard Davis, Richard Isenberg, Ray Keny, Roy Kramer, Bob Larson, James Lester, and Donald Walker.

According to coach L. S. Honaker he has "The best freshman bunch for a good while." More on the frosh next week.

Mixer Introduces New M. C. Students

New met old and new Thursday at the annual Student Mixer, as frosh and transfers met each other and returning Maryvilleites. Social Chairman Jim Dance was in charge of the program on the lawn between Thaw and Pearsons halls.

Somewhat to the tune of "Manana", student body President Bill Nish, V-P Del Earisman, and the Social Chairman introduced themselves.

Emcee Dance interviewed new students over the PA system, and then introduced YM and YW presidents Bill Chalker and Dot Holverson, who spoke briefly.

Accompanied by Johnny Sayre, Gloria Measamer sang "Some Enchanted Evening." Fred Sieber played a medley of tunes from recent Broadway shows, and Sayre played "Tea for Two." Mary Holly Webb sang "Dancing in the Dark," her accompanist was June Hood.

An impromptu skit burlesquing "Romeo and Juliet" climaxed the evening. It featured several unsuspecting freshmen chosen at random from the audience.

Maryville Churches To Welcome All College Students

All Maryville College students are welcomed to worship at the church of their choice of Maryville's city churches each Sunday morning. Church schools begin at most downtown churches at 9:15 a. m. and the morning worship follows at 10:30.

Tomorrow Dr. F. A. Griffits, professor of Chemistry, will be teacher of the college class at New Providence Presbyterian Church. Dick Riddle is pianist and John Kerr, hymn leader. A solo will be sung by Mrs. H. W.D Newberry this Sunday.

Dr. Thomas A. Graham, pastor of New Providence, will return to the pulpit Sunday after several weeks vacation.

Kenneth Blades, principal of Chilhowee View Schools, is the college class teacher at First Methodist Church. This Sunday Maurice Moore—a student at Emery and Henry College will open the youth service and Ed Goddard will present some special music.

Dr. E. E. Wiley, Jr., pastor of First Methodist Church will deliver a sermon entitled "Comfort or Adventure—Which?" Sunday Bill Kneeland will teach the college class.

Rev. D. L. Jones, minister of Broadway Methodist Church, welcomes students to church school and church tomorrow.

Anne Higdon is president of the First Baptist college class, Mrs. G. H. Traylor, a Maryville graduate, is the teacher, and Miss Dorothy Horne is the youth counselor. Rev. James Windham, pastor of the church, will deliver the sermon.

A college class is planned much the same as last year's class at the First Christian Church. Rev. Floyd Clark is pastor of the church.

Services at St. Andrews Episcopal Church are held as follows: 8 a. m., Holy Communion; 9:30 a. m., Church School; 11 a. m. Church Service. Mr. John Warring will be in charge of the college church school class again this year.

Dr. J. B. Bernardin is Rector of the Episcopal Church.

SPRING SPORTS ROUNDUP

Tennessee Wesleyan (2), and Tusculum (2).

One of the highlights of the past season was Harold Hunter's sterling play as he maintained an undefeated record throughout the year downing all who faced him in regular game matches.

Five players earned letters: Wesley Miles, Harold Hunter, Chesley Anderson, Clyde McCampbell, and Glen Gage. All except Hunter are returning lettermen.

Track—

After nearly dying out in 1948, interest in track was spurred on by the great performance of Maryville tracksters on the cinderpaths this spring.

The Thin-clads started the season off with a bang as they overwhelmed Tennessee Tech, 110.5 to 20.5. Still rolling, the Kilti Klads tide Wofford of South Carolina for first place in the Milligan Relays with 56 points. Then came the University of Chattanooga as Coach John A. Davis's lads pulled one out of the hat as they defeated the Moccasins, 80-51. Then Tennessee Intercollegiate Track Meet at Knoxville ended the season as the Highlanders battled to a fourth place finish behind Tennessee, Vanderbilt and Sewanne which eked out one more point than the Scot's 21. Feature race of the Meet was the duel between the MC'ers and UT in the Mile Relay with the Vols winning by a hair over Thurston B. Brahams, Lambert, and English.

Fourteen men lettered this year: Allen Law; Charlie Allen; Sid Lambert; Don Walker; Ray Lillard; Jim Thurston; Walt English; Brick Brahams; Hap Brahams; Bob Kay; Del Earisman; Charles Babry; Bill Menges; and George Day. John Keeley earned a letter as manager.

With Sid Lambert, newly-elected captain, and alternate captain Hap Brahams as leaders, the Scottie Thinlies? have bright prospects for the '50 season.

Societies Bid Welcomes During Rush Activities

'Diamond Horseshoe'—

Theta Epsilon and Alpha Sigma Societies will end their Rush Week tonight at 8 p. m. with the presentation of "Diamond Horseshoe," in the Alumni Gym. Patterned after Billy Rose's club of the same name, the atmosphere will be complete with photographers, hat check girls, and floor show.

Alpha Sig's dance band will play soft music as the rushees are ushered to their seats. Charles Parvin and Margaret Newland will serve as hosts.

Floor Show

Featured in the floor show will be Evelyn Smith, Lois Deobler, Betty Field, Bill Selander, Sarah Durant, Walter Pentz, Andy Clark, Jackie Lenderman, Charles Flood, and Conrad Eaddy. The program will be musical with dance routines and numbers by the can-can dancers. Jim Kren and Mary Holly Webb are directing the program.

Rush week for these societies started on Monday night with a coke party in the Student Center, with Frances Massey and Mrs. Marquis as chaperons. Each girl found a coke cap at her door on Monday morning as a reminder of the evening's program. Peggy Kettles and Lucy Carrick commented on the fashions modeled by Theta Members. Mary Mitchell Wooldridge, president of Theta, welcomed the girls and told them a little about the society. Cokes were served under the direction of Eanie Nelson.

On Tuesday all freshmen wore "diamonds" compliments of Theta.

Acquacade On Wednesday

Theta's '49 Aquacade was given on Wednesday evening at the college pool. The nautical touch was complete with balloons, life guards, and Bob Holly and Marilyn Edge cruising down the river in a boat. Ted Beasley, and Mary Mitchell Woolbridge, presidents of the societies, were introduced. Alice Davenport, co-chairman of rush week welcomed the new students.

Later in the evening, Alpha Sigma surprised dorm girls with a moonlight serenade. "Theta Sweetheart Song," whose words were written by Ben Gearhart to the tune of "Tell Me Why" and old favorites were sung.

Beverly Moore and Alice Davenport, co-chairmen of Rush Week wish to express thanks to all who had a part in Theta-Alpha Sig Rush Week, and to extend best wishes to Bainonian and Athenian in their Rush Week.

'Highland Fling'—

Athenian-Bainonian Rush Week will begin on Monday and continue through next week, using as its theme, "Week of the Highland Fling," drawing upon the Scottish tradition which is implanted here on the hill. In order to further consolidate the activities of the two societies, Bainonian directors, Ruth Heaps and Louise Masters are working with Athenians Ray Packard and Archie Swartzrauber to make the week a big success.

Scottish Tea

The beginning affair will be a lawn tea in the ancient Scotch manner on Monday afternoon to which all new women students are invited, as well as all women members of the faculty and members of Bainonian Society. Bainonian directors say it is here more than anywhere else the new students will be able to meet members of the sponsoring societies. Hours for the tea will be from 3:30 to 5 p. m. on the lawn between the President's home and Thaw Hall.

"Reunion of the Clan"

On Wednesday night all new students are invited to meet at Thaw Hall at 7 p. m. for a trip to the village of Wee Ath-Bain Kirk, built by Libby King and her crew, to attend the Athenian-Bainonian middle party, "Reunion of the Clans' in the college woods Here will be unfolded the old Scottish legend of the "Reuniting of the Clans" of Athenian and Bainonian. an event which occurs centuries back in old Scottish history and is celebrated each year at this time. Fay Robinson will relate the story, and later in the evening all the Scottish Clans present will participate in contests. Carol Corbett is in charge of these activities.

Formal Play Friday

To climax the week of the fling, Bill Starr and Barbara Blum have written a play describing the celebration of the Legend of Love. The play, entitled, "If Ye Meet the Right Laddie," will be presented Friday night because of the football game on Saturday night. The Alumni Gym will become a country scene in Scotland for the formal which will begin at 8 p. m. Jim Dance, Dot Holverson, Tom Kees, Wanda Onifer, Joe Poland, Dave Reed, and Charles Williams take up Scottish roles to warm the hearts of those attending. Ruth Nicholas is stage manager for the formal.

ABOUT DANCING

Golden Rule Is Guiding Rule On Ballroom Floor

By Frances Moore

The ancient Greeks did it, the Indians did it, our parents did it and now Maryville students are doing it. Whether it be the animated animal in us, or merely a come-hither desire— we do it. We dance.

Since every evening except Saturday and Sunday, the intramural gym is likely to be amply filled with juvenile contortionists, it might be well to drop some hints on dance floor manners.

All kidding aside, the most fundamental and easiest thing to remember about dancing is the Golden Rule. It's merely a matter of consideration for the other fellow no matter what way it is observed.

First of all, if it's a more formal affair, one should greet the hostess upon arrival and say good night upon leaving. If food is served—don't forget, she likes to eat too.

Following are more of the accepted rules of dancing.

1. Observe notice of manner of dress.

2. A clever or long-winded conversation is not necessary, but smile and be happy.

3. Learn to dance. (There will be a time for lessons).

4. A gentleman must complete a dance once he has started, but the lady may have "tired feet" or "be thirsty" and suggest they sit that one out.

5. The lady does not applaud the orchestra, only the man.

6. In collisions the gentlemen must apologize. He must take the blame for confusions even though she is the one falling over his feet.

7. The first and last dance, also the supper dance, are reserved for the escort.

8. After the dance, the man thanks the girl, for she is doing him the favor.

9. If the girl must decline a dance, she should do so graciously, and, of course, not dance off with another after declining.

10. Ladies precede gentlemen on and off the dance floor.

11. Ladies never wander unaccompanied across the floor.

12. Dance to the edge of the floor if leaving—don't mingle among the dancers without dancing.

13.Don't forget, the girl is responsible for her escort's conduct-so don't make yourselves conspicious with strangle holds, dreamy romancing, and the like.

14. Practice steps and exhibition stuff is also taboo.

15. One couple should not monopolize the center (or the corner) of the dance floor.

16. Even though yours may be a heavy romance, etiquette does not decree dancing with the same person forever and forever. Get around!

17. Don't leave the girl stranded.

MSO Meets Thursday To Nominate C·Council

Men's Student Organization will hold a stated meeting after chapel Thursday, according to chairman Ray Holsey, to ratify constitution and to make nominations of men to fill remaining six positions on co-ordinating council of MSO. Henry Callaway and George Ogle are the carry-over members from last year.

Student Council will be in charge of the election which is to follow. All men are members of the Men's Student Organization.

Nicholas Becomes Chilhowean Artist

Ruth Nicholas, sophomore from Upper Darby, Pa., is new art editor of the 1950 Chilhowean, replacing Wally Moore, who has not returned to school.

Mary Lyerly, Chilhowean editor, has announced that negotiations, still incomplete, are under way to secure a new photographer. Further announcements will be made later.

First pictures are to be taken September 20. The photographer will be here nine days. Every student is requested to have his picture taken, in order to have a complete annual.

A dollar deposit will be required of every student having his picture taken. This will insure a photograph in the annual.

Additional portraits and prints may be secured from the proofs at a 25 per cent discount.

FRESHMEN DISCUSS COLLEGE PROBLEMS

Freshman groups discussion assembled this week with faculty, student co-leaders. Panel type discussions are being used this year with student co-leaders working with faculty leaders. The Student Council chose the student co-leaders.

Orientation programs are given for the purpose of acquainting freshmen with the basic problems of college life. The introduction of student co-leaders this year is to give a broader aspect to the program. The programs are progressing successfully, according to Dean McClelland.

Meriwether Heads Inter-Club Council

Mae Meriwether was elected president of the Inter-Club Council at its initial meeting held Saturday afternoon. Other officers elected were Ken Newell, vice-president; and Mary Watt as secretary-treasurer.

Inter-Club Council is made up of representatives from approximately 20 campus organizations. Miss Meriwether explains that the purpose of the Council as stated in the Student Body Constitution, is to "provide an organizational structure through which the activities of all clubs and organizations of Maryville College which are not already represented on the Student Council may be coordinated, and through which they may have representation on the Student Council."

Parish Project Begins Program

Appointments for work in parish project will be announced soon, according to Dr. Ralph Case, parish faculty advisor. Over 30 students will participate in this year's program. Upperclassmen are usually chosen for members in the project, but classes of instruction are conducted for first year workers. College credit is given to participants..

Parish project supervises and directs school and church work.

On weekdays religious instruction is given in rural grade schools. Schools now served by parish workers are Forrest Hill, Chilhowee View, and Walland. Transportation is provided by the parish station wagon.

At the present time parish project is trying to fill requests from other churches for students to act as teachers, supervisors, and pianists.

Council Elevates Four To Student Faculty Senate

Wanda Onifer, Bill Chalker, Jack Buckley and Dot Holverson were elected Student Council representatives to the Student-Faculty Senate at the Council meeting Wednesday.

Miss Onifer, carry-over from last year's Senate, is a senior Home Economics major from Maybeury, West, Va.

Miss Holverson is president of YWCA and was editor of last year's Chilhowean. She is a senior English major from Monticello, Ind.

Chalker, senior philosophy major from Birmingham, Ala., is president of YMCA.

Buckley, senior biology major from East Butler, Pa., is a member of the college baskeaball and baseball teams.

Plans for the "Springtime Serenade"are now being formed. The choir will sing at Vespers first on October 2.

COUNCIL REQUESTS:

In order that the present opening arrangement may be continued for the Student Center at the evening 9:30-10:15 period, the Student Council requests that students observe the following points:

1. That students, when going to the Student Center in the evening plan to arrive after the 9:30 opening time to avoid unnecessary waiting outside the building.

2. That students go directly to and from the Center without stopping.

These limitations are considered necessary because the period of opening is within the regularly scheduled study hours of the college and is not meant to interfere with them in any way.

The control of this problem is part of the Council's responsibility under the Student Center Agreement and some plan concerning it will soon be brought before the Student Body by the council.

Supreme Court Justice W. B. Rutledge, MC Grad, Rallies from Illness

Supreme Court Justice Wiley B. Rutledge, MC graduate who suffered a cerebral hemorrage two weeks ago, is reported improving in the hospital at York, Maine.

According to his physician, Justice Rutledge's left arm and leg are paralyzed from the stroke, but he is "almost out" of the coma into which he sank last Friday, Sept 2.

MC Enrollment Increases By 4 In Tentative Count

Tentative college enrollment figures show an increase of four students with 894 enrolled this semester compared with 890 in the spring.

Personnel Office figures record 155 seniors, 197 juniors, 230 sophomores, and 310 freshmen now in attendance. Two special students are enrolled and 196 of the total enrollment are local students.

One hundred twenty-six seniors, 192 juniors, 259 sophomores, 305 freshmen, and four special students comprised the spring registration.

Dorm Women Elect House Leaders

Four Cheerleaders Elected To Fill Vacant Positions

Joe Poland, Tom Kees, Beverly Jacobi, and Sara Jo Emert are the new members of the Scot cheering squad elected Thursday evening at a student body meeting in the Alumni Gym. A total of 17 hopefulls tried for the four positions open.

Tom Kees, political science major from Philadelphia, Pa., is a member of the tumbling team and Business Manager of the "Chilhowean" annual. He is also Secretary of Athenian society.

Joe Poland, an Economics major from Beverly Shores, Indiana, was President of his Sophomore class and played a lead role in last year's production of "Ten Little Indians." He is a member of Theta Alpha Phi and the tumbling team.

Beverly Jacobi, who hails from Point Pleasant, N. J., is a member of Bainonian society and was one of last year's cheerleaders. She is an education major.

Sara Jo Emert is a transfer student from Tennessee Weslyan Jr. College at Athens; a member of the Junior class, she was a cheerleader at Maryville High School for two years and a member of the cheerleading squad at Tennessee Weslyan for two years. At her ex-Alma Mater she was Vice President of the student body and President of Delta Psi Omega, National Dramatic Society.

The election was conducted by Webster Fue, chairman of this year's Pep Committee, assisted by Art Swartzrauber, Jane McMillan, Clyde McCampbell and Grace Scruggs the four holdover members of last years squad.

Faculty Vacation, Teach, Study; Johnson, Marquis Tour Europe

By Jim Dance

Whether it was an extensive trip through Europe or a summer session at school, members of the Maryville College faculty and staff returned this fall with interesting stories of their summer vacations.

Art instructor Charlotte Johnson and student center director Carmen Marquis went to Europe, while Nancy Hunter, Dr. Lloyd's secretary, and Viola Lightfoot, assistant to Dr. McClelland, traveled over the western United States.

Perhaps the most extensive tour was made by Miss Johnson, capable artist in her own right, who with her friend Azelle Brown visited many spots of artistic renown in England, France, Switzerland, and Italy.

Leaving the US on June 14 on the Maurentania, Miss Johnson arrived in Southampton and traveled to London, where she spent a week seeing what she described with an expressive sweep of her hand as "everything." Included were visits to several of London's famous art galleries, Westminster Abbey, the Thames region, and St. Martin's, where the travelers spent several bad moments after being locked in at nine o'clock on the evening they visited it.

During two weeks at Paris they saw the French ballet, climbed the Eiffel Tower, "clear to the top," and attended Sunday services at Notre Dame. "This was just like attending church in Grand Central Station," remarked Miss Johnson. "People just come and go and the service goes on and on."

From France they went to Switzerland, where they stayed at Montreux at the south end of Lake Geneva. They saw the castle and the cell made famous by Byron in his famed "Prisoner of Chillon," also taking boat and tram trips through the picturesque countryside.

Sees Famous Paintings

In Italy Miss Johnson was thrilled by the surprisingly well preserved painting of da Vinci's "The Last Supper." Through many retouchings, the famous picture reflects its equally famous creator only in composition and the head of Christ, which is not supposed to have been retouched.

Venice impressed Miss Johnson as a storybook land straight out of the 15th century paintings. Taxied by gondola through Venice's complicated canal system, they saw a bell tower with two life-size mannikins which struck the bell. At Padua they saw the Giotto frescos.

Miss Johnson returned to Paris by way of the Italian and French Riveria, and then to Le Harvre where she boarded the Ile de France for that ship's second voyage. She arrived back in this country on August 19 and returned to Maryville to resume her teaching of art courses at Maryville College.

Marquises in Europe

Mrs. Carmen Marquis, gracious director of the student center, also traveled widely over Europe with her son Rollin Marquis during the summer. Mrs. Marquis left the US May 25 by boat for England, and her travels included visits to Scotland, France, and Italy.

After joining her son at England's famed Oxford University, where he is doing graduate work, Mrs. Marquis was able to become an auditor for a series of lectures on religious philosophy at the University. After a month at Oxford, the Marquises visited most of Eng-

Not Taken For Granted

Recent enrollment figures released by the Personnel Office indicate that flat one-third of Maryville's present student body are freshmen. One out of every three students on the hill is surrounded by new environments and is beginning an important period of personality development.

The college, especially in recent years, has always paid special attention to the orientation of the incoming fresmen classes. Remedial reading, for example, is one of the unique features of Maryville's program to start new students off at the most advantageous level.

This program has been reviewed thoroughly to bring it as up to date and down to earth as possible. The orientation handbook, "Making the Most of College", was revised in 1947 and published in book form.

This year orientation enters a new sphere—that of campus community government. The student council will be responsible for one meeting of the orientation series to give new students a background for appreciation and support of student government on campus.

Another feature of the series for the first time is the introduction of student co-leaders, chosen by the student council, to help present a closer insight to college living.

That faculty and student, governors and governed might better use common facilities to a greater good is definitely one of the distinct advantages of a small college. Maryville's newest members of the student body stand to gain a better understanding of the organization of college life through the inclusion of student leadership in the college's thoroughgoing orientation program.

Student Council

Four New Members Elected To Student-Faculty Senate

Student Council members representation to the Student Faculty Senate, and representatives to the WSGA Coordinating Council were elected Wednesday evening at Council meeting.

Four members were elected to the Student Faculty Senate, one of which must be a reelected member of last year's council as the constitution provides. They are Wanda Onifer, carry-over, Bill Chalker, Jack Buckley, and Dot Holverson. The WSGA Coordinating Council representatives are Alice Huddleston, who as secretary of the Student Council automatically becomes a member, and Sarah Durant.

Alice Davenport and Mary Mills were appointed as the student representatives to the Social Board. It was also planned to have MSO elections on Thursday, September 15.

The Town Night agreement was discussed which was ratified by the student body on Thursday after chapel. It was also pointed out that those wanting special priviledges should see the president or secretary of the Student Council.

Student Council voted to suggest to the Executive Board of Athletic Control to the Carson-Newman game held in Knoxville as the game which the student body may attend.

Two freshmen representatives and the replacement of Eunice Billings Pancoast, senior representative, will complete the council for this year.

Sound & Fury

by the Staff

IT'S A YOKE

Overheard just outside the senior Ethics class room:

1'st Frosh: Look at all those people going into this class.

2nd Frosh: Must be a crip course; think I'll sign up for it.

"Just put that in your little pipe and smoke it!"

RUMBLESTILSKIN

Bob Cuthill's goose was Cooked when Carnegie elevator, carrying him, plummeted down the shaft did the next best thing he could think of at the time. with Lee yelling after him. Unable to stop it, Cook He grabbed for a sliding rope, controlling the elevator, and was rewarded by a mangled hand. Otherwise this story has a fairy-tale ending.

"WHAT'S YOUR FIRST NAME, HONEY?"

Warning: If you're a girl and reasonably alive, two characters on campus will follow you about until they get your name and address (or some one else's name and address) unless you've already been a victim. They're certainly hard workers for Queens in this colony, but let us drone into their heads that they'll probably get hives from reading those address books 'cause we have positive proof that they got stung on a couple of names, bee-lieve us!

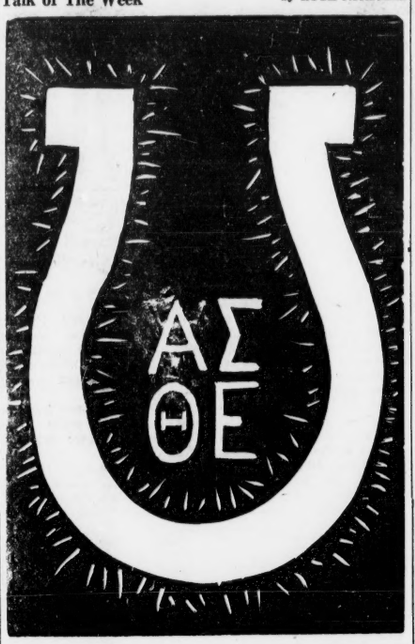
"I WANT TO DO HOMEWORK"

Recent conversation: "Well, well, son, so you do like the book case? And it is a reasonable price, too, isn't it? (pause) Yes, I'll wait until she approves it. (pause) Good! I'm glad you like it, too. Are you two married or just engaged? (No pause between these sentences.) Well, I'm sure you'll be very happey. And by the way, while you're here let me show you our complete line of furnishings for the home. Just every thing you'll need, Heh, heh, heh!

"Now here to my right are our new electric ranges and refrigerators. Latest thing out! Just feel the thickness of the walls. Complete insulation. And all yours for this unbelievably low price. And there on my left you see just a small part of our stock of dining room furniture . . . etc. . . And perhaps you'd like to come over here and see our beautiful collection of diamond rings . . . etc., etc . . . (through the whole store and far into the evening)." While Barbara Wallin and Dick Newman have no wedding bells ringing in their ears, they, nevertheless, possess a resplendent repetoire of furniture facts.

SHOE'S ON THE OTHER FOOT

It was all Greek to Dr. Davis why the people nearest him in chapel the other morning were regarding his feet with such amused glances. His subsequent discovery that he was wearing one black shoe and one brown accounted for both the amused glances and his hurried exit from the building. According to the old joke, he must surely have found another pair at home just like them.



OKEH, SPIDER; HODIE

Something was being lost this week from SC Prexy Bill Nish's dignity. He had an honorary doctorate of freshmen conferred on him last week by a lost frosh discussions-er who stumbled into the Dr. (genuine) Briggs-J. Dance group asking for Dr. Nish. Said was found to be holding forth down the hall with A. S. Bushing, who, incidentally, replenished his supply this summer at Iowa State, where the tall you-know-what also holds forth.

The none-too-fine distinction between all-campus and all-night activities, Barnwarming being both, was further clarified by the still-ineffable councilman. After the above-mentioned tongue-slip , he would, we're sure, agree to th aging adage, "A foot in the mouth is worth two on the ground.

Talk of The Week

by RUTH NICHOLAS

Voices, Masks, and Shadows

OSCAR ON THE MANTEL

On Town Night next week the bright lights on the Capitol marquee will spell out "Bette Davis in 'June Bride?'" The 41-year-old actress abandons her tear-jerking but Oscar-winning roles for her third try at comedy. One such attempt, the role of Maggie, secretary to The Man Who Came To Dinner, was greeted with lots of applause.

Her other trial in "The Bride Came COD" was greeted with lots of no applause. A number of critics thought her third try was charm—at any rate her portrayal of a wacky June Bride will amuse you thoroughly for an hour and a half. Bob Montgomery costars.

For a musical Wednesday and Thursday the Capitol brings Jeanette MacDonald's latest technicolor effect, "The Sun Comes Up." Appearing with her are Claude Jarman, Jr., personable young star of "The Yearling," and Lloyd Nolan rounds out the starring cast. Story deals with a singer who learns the old lesson of living and giving, not hoarding one's talents, and the beautiful color photography makes up for a lot of mediocre acting.

"The Great Stagecoach Robbery," which we assume is not the original silent version, stars Wild Bill Elliott and shows Friday and Saturday at the Capitol. Most movie cowboys may hale from Brooklyn, but tough-boy Elliott was born and "raised" on a ranch near Pattonsburg, Mo., and lived as a youngster in Kansas City, where he spent his spare time hanging around the stock yards with cowboys. Every year between the ages of 16 and 22 he won rodeo prizes. When a fortune teller told him he'd be an actor, he joined the Pasadena Playhouse, and—naturally—movies were the next step.

THIRTY GNAWED FINGERNAILS

What would you do if you got a note saying "I'm leaving on my vacation and taking your (husband) (wife) with me"? Jeanne Crain, Linda Darnell, and Ann Sothern face just that situation in "A Letter to Three Wives," showing September 19 and 20 at the Capitol. A gal named Addie, their "dear friend," sent them such a note, neglecting to mention whose husband she had picked. With the result that three lovely wives spend a nerve-wracking day chewing on their nails and wishing "John would come home from the office."

Well, you never do see Addie, the "other woman," and you have to wait clear till the end of the flicker to tell which handsome husband Addie had set her cap for. But the movie ends in a matter that satisfied the Boston censors and will probably please you. If you've read the book "Letter to Five Wives" you know the whole plot—Hollywood cut out two of the wives before making the movie.

STRONG BOOKENDS NEEDED

Lamar Library in its September 2 booklist names most recent additions to the shelves. Only one fiction publication, Sinclair Lewis' tremenduous novel "The God-Seeker," was purchased; it compares very favorably with the reputation its author has achieved.

Other interesting titles on the list are "The Third Way," by Stuart Cloete; "America's Best Small Homes," a book of plans by William Hennessey; The Hoover Commission Report; Margery Wilson's popular book on growing up for girls, "The Woman You Want to Be"; "Salesmen for Tomorrow," by David R. Osborne; "White Collar Crime," by E. H. Southerland; and Gladys Jenkins' book "These Are Your Children."

Other titles added include "The Railroads and Public Welfare," E. R.. Johnson; "The Southern Americas" Abel Plenn; "I Learn from Children," Caroline Pratt; American Church," William Warren Sweet; "The Psychology of Abnormal Behavior," L. P. Thorpe; "Tested Sentences That Sell," Elmer Wheeler; "Patients Have Families," H. B. Richardson; "Kingdom of the Crusaders," D. C. Munro; and "Danger from the East," R. E. Lauterbach.

CHOIR LEADER LAUGHS

Harry H. Harter, genial music assistant professor and choir director, took in a performance of "Inside USA" in New York during this summer. Bea Lillie, claims Mr. Harter, stole the show in a scene in which she burlesqued a dramatic choir leader. Wearing a sleek grey gown, a grey beret with an immense feather sticking out of tme top, and ankle-length rope of pearls, she gesticulated more and more vehemently until the climax of the "music." Then she stopped suddenly, and the pearl necklace whipped itself 'round and 'round her neck; it stopped the show too.

Scholarship Offered For Learning Catechism; More Scheduled For '50

For 1949, a Westminster Scholarship for catechism memory work is still available to students enrolled in a U.S.A. Presbyterian college for the first time. Applications should be made to the Student Help Office.

The Board of Christian Education of the USA church makes these scholarships available to students who can recite answers to the 107 Westminster shorter catechism questions.

Ronald Fleming, Joy Hickman, and Louise Packard received last year's schlarships, amounting to $50.

More scholarships, to be available in 1950, will be announced later in the year.

Joint Committee Begins Weekly Prayer Services

Weekly Wednesday night Prayer Meeting services, held from 6:45 to 7:15 p. m. in the YW Rooms, began this week.

The devotions committee, composed of representatives from YW, Student Vols, and Pre-Ministerials, is in charge of planning the programs.

Wednesday George Ogle was leader. Special music was given by Ken Sheaffer, tenor, who was accompanied by Dick Ribble.

Another program sponsored by the devotions committee is the morning watch service held each day on the east steps of Thaw at 6:30 a. m. except Sundays when the services is held at 7:30 a. m.

A brief devotion of Scripture and prayer is given before the group separates to have individual devotions.

LOCAL PASTORS LEAD CHAPEL FIRST WEEK

Ministers of the Maryville downtown churches were introduced to the College Students and Faculty through the chapel exercises during this week. Speaking Tuesday was Rev. Thomas Graham, pastor of the New Providence Presbyterian Church; while Dr. J. B. Bernardin, Rector of St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, spoke Wednesday.

Thursday: Rev. Daniel L. Jones of the Broadway Methodist Church lead the devotional period and Dr. E. E. Wiley, Jr. of the First Methodist Church of Maryville on Friday.

Concluding the week was Dr. Floyd Clark, pastor of the First Christian Church, Maryville, who spoke this morning.

Frosh Hear Club Info., Town Night Regulations

MC club presidents were introduced, and Student Body President Bill Nish explained Town Night regulations to freshmen at a meeting in Alumni Gym last Tuesday evening.

Emcee Jim Dance interviewed presidents or representatives from clubs and campus organizations, describing club activities and membership requirements. Irene Launitz, talented sophomore music major, played Prokofiel's "March" as a piano solo.

Dean Frank D. McClelland Speaks at Vespers Sunday

Dean of Students Frank D. McClelland will speak on "Citizenship: What It Means and What It Costs" at Vespers in the library Sunday evening at 7 p. m.

Vesper choir under the direction of Harry Harter will sing "Salvation Is Created" by Tschesnokoff and "Built On a Rock" by Christiansen.

Y CABINET PLANS MEETING EXPLAINS DUTIES OF YM

"Finding Your Place in Y" is the topic for YM meeting this Sunday.

The Y cabinet is in charge of the program that will explain the duties of YM for the new men on campus.

NU GAMMA LEADERS GIVE YWCA PROGRAM SUNDAY

YW program will be presented by the Nu Gamma leaders Sunday, September 11. Judy Breen, Chairman of Nu Gamma, has planned the program. Special music will be given under the direction of Barbara Rosensteel.

Sports Echoes

By Duncan Bennett

● INTEREST IN CROSS COUNTRY running is evidently on the upswing here on the hill after being caught in the doldrums for the past few years. Last senson's team reintroduced the sport after a lapse in '47, and, under Coach K. P. Johnson, took two meets from Sewanee and dropped two to U. T. in a four meet schedule. Cross country's main trouble hereabouts seems to be a lack of opponents in our class. The University of the South is fair game, but an organization such as U. T. has much more material from which to draw. All of which is no reason for not giving the Orange and White a good hard run for its money. After all, the Scots have bested them in football.

● WELL FOUNDED rumor has it that MC'ers are to go en masse to the first C-N game at Young's High football field in Knoxville on the 24th. The whole proposal is subject to a decision from the Student-Faculty Senate which met this morning to consider the matter. It is customary to take the entire student body to at least one "away" game each season. Scots vs. Eagles is a good choice.

● MC FOOTBALL FANS of '46 and '47 will remember Pie Garner and Marvin Mitchell, center and tackle for the Highlanders respcctively. Garner is football coach for the Sweetwater, Tenn. high school, and Mitchell is coaching for Loudon, Tenn. high school for the second year this season. A Sweetwater vs. Loudon football game would be of interest to many on the hill.

● FIRST FOOTBALL GAME of the season for Coach Honaker's Highlanders is exactly one week away, and Coaches Honaker and Davis are pushing the team into shape for the coming tussle. "Hardest we've ever worked" is the most frequent comment made by members of the team. Coach Davis' line seems to have the plays pretty well "in the bag" and with another week's hard training the Scots will be ready to start another season of successful football. Next week's Echo will give the probable starting line-up.

Athletic Board Votes In New Pep Committee Friday

At a meeting of the Athletic Board of Control Friday morning, September 2 the new '49-'50 Pep Committee was voted into existence. The committee this year is to consist of a student chairman, three students, the cheerleader captain, and two faculty advisors.

This is a departure from previous committees, and it is hoped that the increased representation will split the load between the two members from the faculty and give better representation by having more students serving.

Student members of the Committee are Webster Fue, chairman, Ralph Thiesse, Ruth McSween, and Ruth Rogers.

The cheerleader captain will be elected by members of the cheerleader squad.

The Pep Committee handles all arrangements in connection with the cheerleaders squad and the crowning of the Homecoming Queen.

Season Football Tickets On Sale

Season tickets to Maryville's four home football games are now on sale to the general public at the Athletic Office in Bartlett.

General admission charged at the gate will be $1.25 each home game. Season ticket price is $6.50 for seats reserved near the 50 yard line. Student activity cards entitle all MC students entrance to each home game.

Wives or husbands of students may obtain a supplementary activity card for $1.95 at the Treasurer's office in Anderson. This covers the semester's athletic events.

Ticket prices will be announced later for the Carson-Newman game at Young High in Knoxville to which Maryville's Athletic Association hopes to sponsor a student body conclave.

Miss Hand is teaching at Springbrook School in Alcoa, and Miss Shay is with the Norfolk County schools.

Grid Squad Scrimmages

By Charles Williams

A practice scrimmage game is scheduled for this afternoon for the entire Maryville football squad. Scottie fans will gain a glimpse of all the fellows in action and will be able to form their opinions of this year's team.

The teams which will begin today's fracas are as yet incomplete. Coach Honaker stated that the lines were not definite, but that everyone would get in before it was over. The starting backfields have been more or less decided on and will be as follows:

King Berrong BB Tubby Callaway
Hershell Merriman FB Jim Baird
Allen Law TB Leon Berrong
Bobby Neff WB Benny Baldwin

This year's squad will be considerably strengthened by the several freshmen and transfers who have joined the team. All in all, there are six tackles, four centers, two guards, four ends, and twelve backs.

Nearly all the new men have had experience at the game ,with only four not earning football letters in high school. Several have made all-county and all-state teams.

New Centers

Homer Garren, Bob White, Jack Rorex, and Anthony Cvetian are new centers, and should be able, with a little experience, to back up Holsey and Boyd at that position. Both Garren and White are all-county, with Garren also on All-East-Tennessee team. Cvetian earned his letter at McKeesport, Pa., High, while Rorex comes from Kingsport, Tenn.

Harry Myers and Jim Cates are the two new guards. Cates earned his letter at Young High in Knoxville, and Myers lettered at Townsend. Ends new to the Maryville roster this year are Paul Merwin, Bud Hitch, Billy Grindstead, and Ralph Greaser. Two earned their letters in Blount County; Hitch coming from Everett, and Greaser from Alcoa. Merwin hails from Rutherford, N. J., and Grinstead is a Sevierville, Tennessee product.

Tackles Weighty

In the tackle division are John Field, Arthur Dixon, Ken Hammond , Joseph Bender, Willard Mitchem, and Massie Paff. Weight seems to be plentiful in this department this year. Only one man is under two hundred pounds. Unfortunately, only three of these men earned football letters in high school. The natural material is there, however, and experience will soon be drilled in.

Backfield men include Kenny Shepard, who did some fine running for Hiwassee last year; Jack Bayles, who was mentioned for all-state in Ann Arbor, Michigan; Bill Caldwell, Hobart Reneau, and Gene Upton, all of whom were mentioned or chosen for all-county here in Blount County; Bill John Gibson, Paul Ledbetter, and W. E. Vananda, all of whom hail from Blount County. Out-of town backs include Jim Campbell, John Schaumberg, Byrd Riddle, and Steve Bailey. All of these men but two have had high school experience and should be a great help in another year.

Twenty Prospects Give Strength To M. C. Harriers

Twenty men reported to Coach Kenneth Johnson, Monday, for Cross Country. After receiving their sweat pants and shirts, the "Bunion Burners," both old and new, began the conditioning process with exercises. After finishing these, Coach Johnson's prospects ran and walked the 3.2 mile course that winds around the golf course and through the College Woods.

Returning lettermen from last years team are Del Earisman and Bill Menges. Jimmy Thurston, Sid Lambert, Ric Rogers, and Neale Pearson are the other veterans from last year's squad which ended the season with a .500 average, winning two from Sewanee, and losing two to UT.

New men out are Bob Fuller, Tom Lacy, Dan Dunbar, Howard Griss, Jerry Points, Tom Zinn, Oliver Gill, Dick Kerr, Bill Tarter, Tom Weide, Dave Hollwig, Jim Frain, George Day, and Jim Akin.

The schedule for the coming year is as follows:

October 7—UT, Here
October 22—Sewanee, There
November 12—Sewanee, Here
November 16—UT, There

land's picturesque cathedrals, including renowned Westminster Abbey. Regarding the historically famous buried there, Mrs. Marquis said, "Few people realize that just as many famous people of the past are buried at St. Paul's, which we also visited." Mrs. Marquis was struck by the fact that St. Paul's stands practically untouched by Britain's heavy air raids, while for blocks around other buildings were leveled.

Journeying next to Scotland, they visited Edinburgh and the lake region immortalized by Sir Walter Scott in his "Lady of the Lake." Then to France, where at Paris they attended the theatre where the French classic "Cyrano de Bergerac" was playing. At the Paris opera they witnessed a performance of "Madame Butterfly."

In Italy the Marquises spent ten days each in Florence and Rome. In Florence they saw theatrical presentations of two Shakespeare plays, "Midsummer Night's Dream" and "Twelfth Night." In Rome they visited many ruined palaces and points of interest. "Rome's ruins are thought-provoking," suggested Mrs. Marquis; "the ruins of ancient Rome lie among the more recent ruins left by World War II."

From Italy Mrs. Marquis and Roilin returned to London for a week. Then she returned by plane to the US and thence to Maryville.

Presbyterians Out West

Nancy Hunter, secretary to Dr. Lloyd, and Viola Lightfoot, who is Dr. McClelland's assistant, took an interesting 11-day jaunt around the old Southwest. The trip, called a Traveling Seminar of the Presbyterian Board of National Missions, included territory in northern New Mexico and Arizona, starting at Las Vegas and circling back through Arizona to Albuquerque. Miss Lightfoot and Miss Hunter speak of the day they went through Cuba—meaning, of course, Cuba, N. M.

The party which made the trip included some 52 Presbyterian church people, the drivers of the cars in which they rode, and the camp men. During the entire trip the travelers camped out in true Western style, including the traditional cowboy bedroll.

In addition to seeing such famous Western landmarks as the Grand Canyon, the Petrified Forest, and the Painted Desert, Miss Hunter and Miss Lightfoot glimpsed several equally interesting but less known scenic spots. In Arizona, at the Canyon de Chelly National Monument, they saw the ruins of the "White House"— an Indian ruin which some researchers think was the palace or capital of an Indian federation of "states" in much the same way our White House is the home of the US President.

Following their mission trip, Miss Hunter and Miss Lightfoot vacationed in the Colorado Rockies before returning to Maryville.

Faculty Teaches, Studies

Other faculty members published this year.

Dorothy Horne's "A Manual for First Year Theory" was published by Swift & Co.; Miss Horne is associate professor of music. Professor Katharine Davies of the Music department, who attended Eastman School of Music during the summer, also revised and rewrote her "Piano Manual." Curtis Hughes' article, "This Business of Conducting," published in the monthly magazine The School Musician, was reviewed in The Echo last spring. Dr. H. E. Orr's "The Words of Jesus and Problems of Religious Thinking" has been published by the college and is available at the bookstore.

Dr. L. L. Williams of MC biology department and Dr. D. H. Briggs of the psychology department spent 12 weeks of the summer teaching in Boone, N. C., at Appalachian State Teachers College. Dr. Williams took time out to climb a couple of mountains, including Grandfather Mountain and Bald Mountain, 6000-foot peak just opposite Roane Mountain in Tennessee.

In the music department, Thelma Nelson studied during the summer at the University of Michigan. Curtis Hughes studied at Northwestern, and Dorothy Vawter was at Eastman School of Music. Vesper Choir director Harry H. Harter gave private voice lessons in Maryville and was at the Church Music Institute in Knoxville.

Dr. Ralph Case taught at Huntingdon College in Montgomery, Ala. Arthur Ainsworth studied at the University of Chicago, and Dr. Lincoln Barker spent nine weeks at University in Greenville, S. C. Arthur Bushing studied at the State University of Iowa.

Geneva Robertson studied during the summer at the University of Tennessee, and Professor Gertrude Meiselwitz, also of the home ecnomics department, attended a nutrition workshop at Michigan State. Jessie K. Johnson of the English department studied during the spring of '49 at Columbia.

Coach "J. D." Davis attended coaching schools at Georgia Tech and UT. Both K. P. Johnson and H. S. Reber studied at Indiana University at Bloomington. Professor G. D. Howell was at Union College in Barbourville, Kk.

Mrs. Thelma Kramer taught at the Pastors and Christian Workers School in Bristol, and also at Florida Laboratory School in West Palm Beach.

Mrs. Gladys Pieper spent a summer of study at UT.

NOTED PLAYERS IN HISTORICAL PLAY

THESE CELEBRITIES performed in the "lost colony" historical play at Fort Raleigh, Manteo, N. C. At left is Jonathan Daniels, who turned down an appointment by the President to be Secretary of the Navy, the post once held by his late father. At right is Charley (Choo Choo) Justice, star of the University of North Carolina football team. (International)

VOLUME 35 MARYVILLE, TENNESSEE, SEPTEMBER 17, 1949 NUMBER 3

Dr. Lautenschlager Brings Fred Hope Fund Appeal

Dr. Stanton Lautenschlager, of the China Mission of the Presbyterian Church, USA, will speak at Chapel next Thursday in the interest of the College's annual Fred Hope Fund Drive.

In addition to the chapel address Thursday morning, the guest speaker will be present at a meeting Thursday night sponsored by the Student Volunteers but open to all College personnel; exact time and place have not yet been arranged.

Dr. Lautenschlager

As author, lecturer, and mission worker, Dr. Lautenschlager has a background of nearly three decades in educational and evangelistic work in China. During the past year, he conducted a series of meetings for Chinese students as part of the New Life Movement in that country, visiting Formosa and the Phillipine Islands before returning to the US.

After training in Canadian and American educational institutions and a period of teaching at Huntington College, Ind., Dr. Lautenschlager made his first trip to China in 1920. At the outbreak of the Sino-Japanese War, he was teaching modern history at Cheeloo University in Tsinan; and when that instution moved to West China because of the war, he went along. In unoccupied China he devoted his time to teaching and to evangelistic work among Chinese students.

Lectures on China

In 1941 Dr. Lautenschlager was in America on furlough and was unable to return to his work in China. During World War II he gave a major portion of his time to bring the plight of China before Americans in churches, schools, and colleges.

Dr. Lautenschlager was given the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters by Huntington College in 1944. He is the author of "Far West in China" and numerous magazine articles.

Hope Fund's Mary Smith Now Serves Hong Kong School

Mary Edna Smith, '48 graduate, whose presence on the China Mission field is made possible by MC's Fred Hope Fund, is now with the True Light School for Girls in Honk Kong.

Miss Smith went to China as a special term missionary under the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions last fall and has had an unsettled year because of the Chinese Communist-Nationalist warfare. According to a printed document received recently by President Lloyd, she is now at work in Hong Kong, south of her original station.

Flees Communists

Her first assignment in September, 1948, was as teacher in a girls' school in the center of China. In November, however, the advance of Communist armies caused the American consul in that section to advise Americans ta leave. Miss Smith flew to Shanghai on Thanksgiving Day of that year.

In Shanghai, she worked for a while at the American school; but continued Communist army approaches resulted in her transfer to the True Light School for Girls in Canton, in the extreme south of China, which became the Nationalist Capital after the fall of Nanking. When it became necessary for her to leave Canton, she was again transferred to the Hong Kong Branch of the True Light School.

Skeet Tallent Studios of Knoxville will make the class portraits for the 1950 Chihowean, editor Mary Lyerly has announced. Pictures will be made in Baldwin basement beginning early in the coming week, probably Tuesday, the editor said.

Concerning dress for individual pictures, senior girls will wear drapes; junior girls, white or pastel jewel neckline blouses with pearls; sophomores, sweaters and pearls; and freshmen sweaters and peter-pan collars.

All men will wear coats and ties. Each student will pay a $1.00 deposit at the time of portrait sitting.

Union Presbytery Holds Meeting At Maryville College

Presbytery of Union of the Presbyterian Church, U. S.A. will convene Tuesday, September 20, in Bartlett auditorium.

The Presbytery of Union includes some forty churches within a fifty mile radius of Maryville. Thirty-six ministers, along with an elder from each church, are expected at the meeting. In addition, there will be women representing the Presbyterial Society. Mrs. Ralph W. Lloyd, president of the Society, has planned a special program in which the women will take part.

The Presbytery meets four times a year regularly at different churches, but accepted the invitation of Maryville College this time to meet on the campus. The session will begin at two o'clock and adjournment is planned for nine o'clock at night.

Mr. Henry Moore, pastor of the New Prospect Presbyterian Church of Knoxville, is present moderator of the Presbytery. Rev. James R. Beard, minister of the Erin Presbyterian Church also of Knoxville, is the Stated Clerk. These officers are elected annually.

WHICH IS YOUR CHOICE?

Presidents of the four societies invite all new students to join the society of their choice next Tuesday.

This year there will be no campaigning or gathering around the boxes but rather students will drop their name in the box of the society they would like to join.

Alpha Sigma and Athenian boxes will be placed in the Student Center, Carnegie Hall, and in front of Pearsons.

Theta Epsilon and Bainonians will be placed in the dormitories and the Town Girl's room.

Hours for 'balloting' will be from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.

A REMINDER OE LAST FALL'S PACT WITH CARSON-NEWMAN

Maryville and Carson-Newman patched up a rowdy relationship last season by signing an agreement between the student governments of the two schools to create a more friendly rivalry. This agreement was negotiated and signed by the student body presidents of both instutions.

By the terms of the pact each student body agreed to make "a sincere effort to maintain a friendly spirit of co-operation and fair play toward the other college."

Accordingly, the agreement calls for friendly rivalry and brands participation in any activity that would "permanently or temporarily damage or disfigure the other campus".

The entire student body, under the pact, is responsible for upholding the articles of the agreement. It is to be in effect for two years, and subject to renewal at the end of that time by ratification of the respective student bodies.

MC Student Body President Bill Nish stated, "The agreement's acceptance by a vote of last year's student body places the responsibility of its fulfillment on every student."

MEN'S GLEE CLUB ORGANIZES; ELECTS

Men's Glee Club, under the direction of Curtis Hughes, organized Wednesday night. A constitution was ratified, and officers were elected.

Ray Packard is president and Jim Kren is vice-president. Secretary-treasurer is Jim Watt and social chairman is Bill Falkner.

Constitution states that each member is allowed two cuts a semester and dues of 50 cents are required.

'Springtime Serenade' plans are now in progress.

Inter-Club Council Formulates Year's Plan

Plans for the coming year will be discussed at Inter-Club Council meeting, held Monday at 7:30 p.m. in Thaw 209.

Mae Meriweather, president, urges all president's of clubs to be present at this first important meeting of the year.

61 VOICES ENTER CHOIR

Vesper Choir under the direction of Harry Harter has been reorganized and new members have been selected for the coming year. Out of 76 try-outs 61 voices were chosen to form the 1949-50 choir.

Following are the choir personnel: First sopranos— Evalyn Smith, Alice Larson, Lois Doebler, Jeannette Whitaker, Betty Field, Katherine Shelton, Janet Whiting, and Carolyn Burrell. Second sopranos— Mary Holly Webb, Lynn Johnson, Ruth Humes, Frances Postelwaite, Margaret Warren, Judy Breen, Ann Jenkins, and Joy Hickman.

First altos—Gloria Measamer, Nina Gillette, June Hood, Laurie Dale, Dot Holverson, Evelyn Kennedy, Jean Hunt, and Lucy Carrick. Second altos—Louise Lloyd, Janet Cummings, Carol Jones, Ruth Nicholas, Beverly Moore, Louise Packard, Ellen Kennedy, and Shirley Postelwaite.

First tenors—Conrad Eaddy, Kenneth Shaffer, Wally Schroeder, Paul Kidder, Jim Akin, and Walter English. Second tenors—Charles Parvin, Herbert Keene, Don Brakebill, Tom Cumming, Fred Sieber, and Charles Schroeder.

Choir Handbook

Each member was given upon acception into the choir a "Vesper Choir Members Handbook." Contained in the booklet are choir ideals, personnel, services and appearances, attitudes, traditions, honors, and history.

New members will be officially welcomed at the fall picnic September 30 at which the iniation ceremonies will take place.

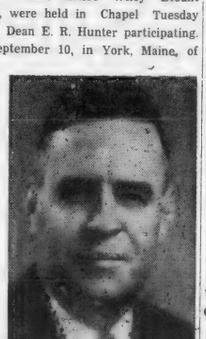
Frosh, Senior Classes To Nominate Thursday

The freshmen and senior classes are scheduled to hold class meetings next Thursday after chapel to nominate class officers.

The class of '54 will nominate class officers and student council representatives while th class of '50 nominates for a representative to student council to fill a vacancy left by Eunice Pancoast.

Del Earisman, Student Council elections chairman, announced that balloting will be held for these elections sometime the following week.

YW PLANS DISCUSSION ON FINDING PLACE IN Y



YWCA will meet tomorrow at 1:30 p.m. on the lawn in front of Thaw. Co-chairman, Peggy Cummings and Mary Holly Webb are in charge of the program, "Finding Your Plan in Y."

Each committee chairman on the cabinet will discuss her needs and responsibilities. New girls may then decide upon which committee they would like to help.

Refreshments will be served.

Memorial Services Held For Supreme Court Justice

Memorial services for Supreme Court Justice Wiley Blount Rutledge, former Maryville student, were held in Chapel Tuesday with President Ralph W. Lloyd and Dean E. R. Hunter participating. Justice Rutledge died Saturday, September 10, in York, Maine, of a cerebral ailment.

Justice Wiley B. Rutledge

Justice Rutledge was enrolled in Maryville College in the years 1910-12 until his family moved to Wisconsin where he received his A. B. degree in 1914 at the University of Wisconsin. His father, Rev. W. B. Rutledge, Sr., was a former pastor of Maryville's First Baptist Church. He was a native of Kentucky.

The Associate Justice received his law degree from the University of Colorado after study at Washington University in St. Louis. He became dean of the college of law of the University of Iowa in 1931. The late Franklin D. Roosevelt appointed Rutledge to the US Court of Appeals in the District of Columbia in 1939 and in 1943 nominated him for the Supreme Court.

While a student at Maryville, he was a member of the Athenian Literary Society, captain of the debate team, and secretary of the Athletic Board of Control.

His wife is the former Anna Belle Pearson who was one of his Greek teachers at Maryville. Her closest friend is Professor Susan Black og the biology department.

Both President Lloyd and Dean Hunter were school mates of the justice.

He leaves a widow, a son. Neal, and two daughters, Mary Lou and Jean Ann.

Scots Open With Hiwassee

Sarah Durant Named Band Sponsor

Sarah Durant will march with the 1949 Highlander band tonight as its sponsor. Miss Durant, senior education major from Birmingham, Ala., was elected Band Sponsor Monday afternoon from candidates of the four societies by members of the band. She will be presented before the game and will march with the band at half-time.

While at Maryville, she has been sophomore class sponsor, and May Day attendant, vice-president of the junior class, and a member of the Daisy Chain. This year she is student Council representative and a member of the YWCA cabinet.

Band Formations

Members of '49 Maryville College band will present their first public performance at the Maryville-Hiwassee football game tonight.

Fifty-three students led by drum major Charles Williams will march at the half time. The three twirlers are Lynn Johnson; Peggy Kettles, and George Carpenter.

The band will spell out "WIN ALL IN '49". While playing the "Notre Dame Victory Song" they will form a football with a horseshoe in the center. Then playing "Trio to Our Director," the group will form a H.

The last formation will be a M while "On Highlanders" is being played. They will remain in that position for the "Alma Mater."

As in past years, the band will be dressed in all white.

Now, For Rooting—

"On Highlanders Down the Field!" echoes tonight through the woods behind Wilson Field as the big season starts once again. Football pep accentuates school spirit and amid the cheers and yells, more fun can be had by all if we preserve a courteous attitude.

Remember the respect and patriotism due your school and stand for the Alma Mater, as well as the National Anthem. Speaking of loyalty, there is always the question of wearing high school letters. You might rightfully be very proud of that big "C" but you're at Maryville now, so off with the "C" and on with an "M", that is, if you've earned one.

Push and shove seem many a time to be the accepted antics of college students. But let's remember while standing in line that we are college students and adopt some courtesy tactics. Jumping lines and saving places for friends are hardly admirable actions.

Courtesy on the bleachers should not be overlooked. Let's have respect for the players and applaud the injured regardless of side. Also, respect is due the opponent's cheers, acts and Alma Mater.

Your neighbors on the bleachers are there for a good time, too, so let's refrain from heaving coke bottles and scattering torn-up programs on their heads.

Important! Let the band and officials by without undue blocking of the way.

Above allcheer for the touchdowns, learn the cheers and follow the cheerleaders. Your originality may be breath-taking, but cooperation with the cheerleaders is a much fairer and squarer way to play.

—Frances Moore

EDITORIAL STAFF TRY-OUTS

Freshmen interested in trying out for the editorial staff of The Highland Echo will meet at Bartlett Auditorium 8 p. m., Monday, September 19. This includes those interested in writing news, features, or sports. Previous experience is not essential.

Men Will Ratify MSO Constitution, Add Six To Council

Elections to name six new Men's Student Organization coordinating council members and to ratify the MSO constitution will be conducted soon on campus under the direction of the Student Council. Polls will be open two days.

Nominated for council members at a special men's meeting last Thursday morning were town, Jim Callaway, Jim Lillard; transit, Hayden Bryant, Tom Lang; and dormitory, Paul McNeil, Sam Taylor, Ralph Theisse, Ray Packard, D.M. Miller, and Jim McKee.

One town, one transit, and four dormitory students will be elected. Carry-overs from last year's council are Ray Holsey, chairman, Tubby Callaway, and George Ogle.

Purpose of MSO is to give all college men representation in Student Council and Student-Faculty Senate.

YM Emphasizes Fellowship Day

A "Fellowship Sunday," led by Bob Holly and Ray Holsey, co-chairmen of the Y program committee, will be held tomorrow at 1:30 in Intra-mural Gymnasium.

"This program has been planned so that all new men in Y might get to know each other better. They will learn who the Y Cabinet is and that YM is a service organization which helps with programs other than the regular Sunday afternoon worship service," said Holly.

Refreshments will be served by the refreshment committee, Webster Fue and Joe Claude.

Kick-Off At 8:00; Team Ready

Maryville's 1949 football season will get under way tonight at 8:00 on Wilson Field with Hiwassee College furnishing the opposition.

Hiwassee, which heretofore has been scheduled as more or less of a warm-up, has been gaining strength the past two seasons under Coach Al Thomas.

In last year's opener, the Tigers surprised everyone, especially Maryville fans, by pushing the Scots around Wilson Field as if they owned them. After a scoreless first half, they finally weakened and went under 32-0.

Hiwasse's squad includes several men from local high schools who have played some good football. These men inclide LaFollette from Alcoa, Myers from Townsend, and Irwin and Campbell from Everett. Some of Coach Honaker's men have played these local men when they were in high school, so tonight game will be a renewal of old rivalries in more ways than one.

Probable starting line-ups for both teams are:

MARYVILLE		HIWASSEE
Brahams	LE	Mullin
Walker	LT	Raines
Isenburg	LG	Morton
Holsey	C	Harvey
Andes	RG	Herron
Davis (C)	RT	Meade
Miller	RE	Davis
K. Berrong	QB	Moses
Law	WB	G. Steele
Neff	TB	Farley
Merriman	FB	J. Steele

As has been done in times past, there will be a snake dance through downtown Maryville this afternoon with the band heading the parade. Tonight, the band will present their new band sponsor for '49. An interesting half-time show is also in store.

Starting at end for Maryville will be Hap Brahams, who stood out especially in the Carson Newman game, and D. M. Miller, the co-captain and first string end from last year. At tackles will be Don Walker, a regular performer last year, and Captain Howard Davis, first string end last year, who has shifted in order to fill the weakest spot on the team. Richard Isenburg and Ken Andes will perform at guard. Isenburg saw considerable service last year and lettered, while Andes was first string guard last season. Andes' placements after touchdowns won both the Carson-Newman and Western Carolina games. Starting at center will be Ray Holsey, who has started for the past two years.

Returning to the blocking back slot, after a year's absence, will be King Berrong. Berrong is a deadly man with a block and is a smart field general. Allen Law will run from the wing back position. Law has run that position for UT for one year and has done it well for Maryville the past two years.

Bobby Neff is at he tail back post, from where he played havoc with his running and passing.

Starting at fullback is Maryville's most prominent candidate for Little All American honors, Hershell Merriman. Although lighter than the average fullback, "Stumpy" has been Maryville's most powerful runner for the past three seasons.

All these men will be backed up by a wealth of capable reserves. This year's squad is one of the most experienced groups Coach Honaker has had. Besides the large group of returning veterans, there is also an unusually large amount of experienced freshmen, which ECHO made mention of last week.

Dean Hunter To Speak At Vespers Sunday Night

Dr. E. R. Hunter, Dean of Curriculum and Professor of English, will speak at Vespers tomorrow night in the library at seven. The Vesper Choir will sing two numbers, "Angus Dei" by Kallinikoff and "Create in Me, O God" by

The Highland Echo

On Manners—

College, says the M Book and think most of us, is a place to put (among other things) a little extra polish on one's mealtime maaners. While Emily Post might not approve of everything we do in the dining hall, a couple of special "sore thumbs" have been particularly in evidence this year.

One is the habit of wearing blue jeans to meals, particularly to supper. College women should feel themselves in the worst of taste to appear at meals clad in slacks, and fellows should take time enough to change from tight, grimy, work-stained jeans at supper time to more suitable slacks.

Then, before Sunday lunch, fellows! Must you rush home from church, remove your coat and tie and appear at lunch in a grimy tee shirt? You can't imagine how your tablemates will appreciate your appearing well-kempt at that one particular meal, nor what an unfavorable impression you'll make on chance visitors when you don't.

So it all boils down to this. Out of respect for yourself, if no one else, we urge you to think of your appearance at supper time every day and at lunch on Sunday. Week-day meals find us with less time to make ourselves presentable before lunch, so we should take the advantage before supper and at Sunday lunch to be not only as neatly dressed but as well mannered as possible.

Student Council—

Discussion of Center Agreement; Football Trip On Council Agenda

Ratification of Student Center Agreement was considered at Student Council meeting held last Wednesday in Student Center. No action was taken on agreement but revisions were suggested to Steering Committee. Agreement will probably come before Council again next week for final approval.

It was announced that Student-Faculty Senate had approved the motion that Athletic Board sponsor a student body trip to see Maryville play Carson-Newman in Knoxville. Tickets will be $1.50 and transportation will be vi a White Star Bus Lines.

Class presiednts were urged to collect class dues as soon as class lists were available from Personnel Office.

September 22 was set aside for freshmen election of Student Council representatives. At the same time there will be an election to replace Eunice Pancoast as senior representative in Council.

Question of attendance at UT concerts was discussed. Regular concerts have been approved while extras of merit may be considered by special committee of Student-Faculty Senate.

Two Town Night violations were reported and penalties were imposed in both cases.

Sound & Fury

Mystery of the Missing Bleachers

Speculation has been made all over campus as to what has happened to seetions IX and X in the chapel seating. After studying all the clues, we venture the theories that either Jim Watt, who painted the numbers, doesn't know his Roman Numerals or that he was on his head painting upside down.

Tubby Callaway has solved the solution to the aching backs some of the senior members are experiencing this year for the fourth time. Callaway was seen calmy entering the gym with a collapsable seat under his arm. Preceeding to his section, he unfolded the seat, clamped it to the bleachers, and leaned back comfortable. Following chapel he folded the chair and went cheerfully away with the said chair tucked carefully under one arm.

Her Fault?

Dugan Hastings is playing in the Maryville City Tennis tournament finals today without actually playing a game in the other matches. Seems likely they all defaulted after one gaze at "Wonder Woman."

Scotch-Corn

Dressed in Scottish attire of plaid and kilts, Bob Kees and Beverly Jacobi went to the show last Tuesday night. On entering the theatre, the pop-corn man told them they could have two bags of popoorn for a nickle. But since they refused to give a refund on the bags, they refused.

Injun Charlie

It seems that the other day, Joe Poland decided he wanted to buy a pair of shoes. Accompanied by George Staafill and Charlie Allen, Joe started out for Shoemakers. Charlie walking a bit ahead, entered the store and stood waiting. Finally the clerk came up and asked, "Is there anything I can do for you?" Charlie pointed his finger over his shoulder and remained silent. The clerk thinking that Charlie had not heard, repeated his question. For the second time Charlie pointed over his shoulder. The bewildered clerk then informed the no-speakum and red-faced Charlie that he was alone.

"This Is The Real Thing"

Carol Corbett missed the bleachers last Wednesday in chapel and took a downward plunge. Later in the day, as Mrs. Swenson lectured to her Philosophy class that things which seen real may not be so, Carol looked down and rubbed the large blue knot on her knee. If that is only sense impression, Carol wonder what sort of impression the real thing would make.

Cut-In?

Mr. Bushing was shuffling the chapel monitor's cards when Jim Dance inquired, "who dealt" Bushing, never to be outwitted replied, "Would you like to cut?"

Dooly-Dally

While discussing the cultures of various parts of the county, Dr. Briggs told the class of how ignornate some people were in this section of the county. As an illustration he told of talking to two little boys out in the county. On asking them how long they had been here, both answered, "Ever since my Daddy fished me out of the sawdust pile." In the silenec that followed Ross Dooly whispered, "They must have been chips off the old block."

MORE LINES

Lines formed Tuesday morning as freshmen attempted to have the money they paid for chapel seats refunded. Which reminds us that Sophomore Jean Davis inquired as she passed through the book line, "Do Sophomores have to buy them too?"

PROBLEM?

"Tex" Schwenkie put his Sunday School class in an uproar last Sunday when he answered the question "Do all marriages end happily?" with the following answer: "No, marriage has it's problems, . . . whether large or small."

Talk of The Week

MARY HAMELMAN

Voices, Masks, and Shadows

THREE WIVES & OTHERS

One of the best pictures finally to get to Maryville is "Letter to Three Wives," Monday and Tuesday "Town Night" showing at the Capitol Theatre. Reviewers praised stars, Linda Darnell, Jeanne Crain, and Ann Sothern. Your reviewer briefed you on the plot last week—each wife wonders if it's her husband that "other woman" is planning to walk off with. This picture walks off with my orchids for plot, characters, and a suspenseful surprise ending you'll never guess—unless you read the noval in magazine or book form.

For sheer complication of plot, "Criss-Cross" will leave you so mixed up you won't even remember where you came in. Showing Wedensday and Thursday at the Capitol, "Criss-Cross" stars sultry Yvonne DeCarlo, Burt Lancaster and brutal Dan Duryea. It's a toss-up to see which of the tough guys first gets Yvonne or shot.

Thirty-three-year-old Yvonne was born in Vancouver, British Columbia, where she learned the crack riding that made her role in "Sam Bass and Calamity Jane" so much better than this one. Dancing in night clubs led to her being chosen "most beautiful girl in the world" in 1944, and this modest title led to Walter Wanger and a movie contract. As far as stardom goes, Miss DeCarlo combines the best features and abilities of Maria Montez, Dorothy Lamour, and Tom Mix.

SUNSET & DREAM TIME

Roy Rogers and Dale Evans, Mrs. R. in private life, star in "Susanna Pass," showing Friday and Saturday at the Capitol. This better-than-average western is the umpteenth for the popular King of the Cowboys, who got his start with the Sons of the Pioneers in the 1930's. Radio, film work, and popularity followed in that order, and Roy's millions of fans grieved with him when his first wife died in 1946 in giving birth to their third child. Subsequently—in 1947— Roy married Dale Evans, who to all intents and purposes has made as good a wife and stepmother as she does screen partner for America's most popular cowboy.

Just a quick preview of the week-afternext's atractions. September 26 and 27 will feature Jack Carson and extra-special favorite singer Doris Day in "My Dream Is Yours", featuring among other things the eccentric Bugs Bunny dream dance number that has all the critics in howls. Then follows "City Across the River," New York tale of juvenile delinquency, its care and prevention. Good movies, both, and more about them next week.

DIAMONDS & CANDLELIGHT

Last Saturday night Theta Epsilon and Alpha Sigma entertained splendidly at the grand opening of Billy Rose's Diamond Horseshoe. The spectacular night club setting included candle-lit tables for six, checkroom girls, waiters, and Margie Newland as Diamond Lil. Newland's rendition of I Hate Men was so heartfelt it brought down the house. Billy Rose was impersonated by Chuck Parvin, and Dorothy Stater made her presence known as a rowdy guest.

The two societies brought out their best ranking talent in a floor show which was pleasing and varied; however it was the atmosphere set by the decor which made the evening click.

KILTS & OLD SCOTLAND

Bainonian-Athenian's excursion into old Scotland brought forth a number of new publicity angles hitherto overlooked on campus.

"iFrst-nighters" enjoyed the premiere of Bill Starr and Barbara Blum's "If Ye Meet the Right Laddie," stolen from "Brigadoon" and other B'way shows. Altogether eye-catching were the lovely set designed by Ruth Nicholas and the astonisihng number of male legs, a number of which were seen for the first time on this campus. Stellar roles were well handled by Dave Reed and Dot Holverson, and Wanda Onifer and Joe Poland clowned with their usual dexterity. The "Feudin', Fussin', Fightin'" Scotch clansmen created a wholesomely comic diversion in contrast to the romantic Scotch legend.

MC Students Will Attend Blount County, UT Concerts

Opera, ballet, symphony, and recital are sample offerings MC students may attend as scheduled for current season presentation by U-T Concert Series and Blount County Civic Music Association. A total of 10 programs will be sponsored by the two groups.

U-T Concert Series

Attendance of MCers at programs of UT Concert Series will follow the trend set by previous years. However, one change is in order according to a release from the office of the Dean of Students:

"Action taken last spring, proposed by Student-Faculty Senate, and adopted by Student Council and Faculty Executive Council, determined that Maryville students' attendance be limited to regular programs only of the series. Extra numbers may occasionally be approved in case of programs of unusual merit by action of Executive Council upon recommendation of the Fine Arts Division."

The regular program consists of six numbers, starting October 26 with a dual opera bill: "Pagliacci", by Leoncavallo, and "Cavalleria Rusticana", by Mascagni.

Following programs include the Robert Shaw Chorale on December 2, the Ballet Russe on February 6, and Vladimir Horowitz, pianist, playing on February 24. Appearing with the Cincinnati Symphony on March 6 will be Lauritz Melchior and Helen Traubel singing Wagner music. Concluding program in the series will feature soprano Eleanor Steebr on April 10.

Season tickets and tickets for individual programs may be obtained by writing either University Concert Series, Inc., U. T. Campus, Knoxville; or Clark and Jones, Inc., Knoxville. Transportation will be furnished by chartered bus for those students interested.

County Civic Music

Nearby Everett High School will be the scene of a series of four concerts sponsored by the newly-formed Blount County Civic Music Association.

The first concert to be given October 20, features the Bakaleininkoff Symphony under direction of Vladimir Bakaleinikoff with Marina Koshetz, radio, opera, and motion picture star, as guest soloist. "The 20 members of the symphony are principal players in the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra and their performance of symphonic music is intended especially for communities which do not have the opportunity to hear a large symphony orchestra" read a recent release from the Association.

Benno and Sylvia Rabinoff will be heard in a joint violin and piano concert December 20, 1949. Both are skilled performers with a fine sense of technical control and musicianship.

Floyd Worthington, American baritone whose accomplishments in opera, musical comedy, radio, concert, and oratorio place him in the front rank of present day singers, will appear on February 28.

The final concert features young Seymour Lipkin, winner of the 1949 Rachmaninoff Award as America's most promising pianist and will be heard on April 24

A limited supply of season tickets only are available to Maryville College students and faculty. Student prices are $3.00 and faculty prices are $6.00. Tickets may be obtained from Professor George Howell of the Chemistry department. These tickets will be on sale until September 24.

PRE-MED GROUP TO MEET THURS. IN FAYERWEATHER

Pre-Med club will meet Thursday evening at 6:45 in the chemistry lecture room on second floor Fayerweather. Dr. Brickey LeQuire will speak at the first meeting.

Officers for this year are Walt Dean, president; Betty Jo Smith, vice-president; Libby Dunn, secretary; Lincoln Shimomura, treasurer; and Faye Robinson and Bob Proffitt, program chairmen.

Junior Class Try-outs

Juniors interested in trying out for the editorial staff of The Highland Echo should meet at 7:30 p. m. in Thaw 207, Monday, September 19. Vacancies exist in the editorial staff following the resignations this week of Charles Williams because of an overload in extra-curricula and James Dance, for similar reasons.

Colds Rage; Five Infirmed

Severe colds have put five students in the College hospital during the past week.

Patients who have received treatments for colds are Rosemary Gamble, junior from Athens, Peggy Knox, sophomore from Lawrenceburg, Joseph Cardozo, Jr., freshman from Belleview, N. J., Donald Whelan, senior from Homewood, Ala., and Lucy Carrick, sophomore from Pittsburg, Pa. Evalyn Smith, junior from Knoxville, has also been in the hospital for treatment of a facial infection.

Miss Thelma Hall, nurse in the hospital, has asked that the following rule be observed for visiting patients: "When visiting patients at the hospital, please use the front door, ring the bell, and ask permission to see the patients. This will help out a lot." Miss Hall also stated that the door at the end of the building is only for girls staying at the hospital. Visiting hours at the hospital are from 4 to 5 p.m. and from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m.

Doctors are at the hospital for student consultation from 4 to 5 p.m. on the following days: Dr. Lynn Curtis, Mondays; Dr. G. D. LeQuire, Wednesdays; and Dr. T. H. Vandergriff, Fridays.

Sports Echoes

By Duncan Bennett

BY SPORTS SCRIBES tonight's game with the Hiwassee Tigers has been called everything from a "pushover" and a "warm-up" to an expected tough battle and a "dilly." It's the first game of the season for both teams, and, consequently, no one knows the odds, nor can they even make a good guess. Last year's Tiger performance during the first half was a little more than most people expected. If they do as well this year the game will be well worth seeing.

TIGER COACH Al Thomas has a lot of good material on the string this season, quite a little of it from Blount County. There is also the interesting information that Willard Mitchum and Ken Shepard of the Scot squad both played against MC last year when they were students at Hiwassee. Mitchum and Shepard can play for MC this year since Hiwassee, from which they transferred, is a junior college.

FENCING is to be an intramural sport here on the hill this year. Some little interest was evinced in the sport (or is it an art?) last spring, and since then some new equipment has been ordered. There remains yet the problem of an instructor, but Coach Johnson has one or two in mind.. Watch the intramural column next week for details.

INTRAMURAL TENNIS will be under way Monday afternoon on Baldwin and Memorial courts. The fall tennis tourney always brings forth a great deal of rivalry, especially in the playoffs at the end of the schedule. It also serves as a proving ground for the selection of outstanding material when the time comes to organize varsity tennis in the spring.

COACH "FROSTY" HOLT'S EAGLES of Carson-Newman provide the Honakermen with their next opposition a week from tonight. C-N games in the past have been marked by intense rivalry and, regretfully enough, lack of good sportsmanship on the part of the students of both institutions. Last year an agreement was reached between the two student bodies (see the story on page 1). Let's be sure we live up to it come the 24th.

NEXT SATURDAY'S game is the 24th battle between the Blue and White Eagles of Carson-Newman and the Orange and Garnet Scots of MC. The first game between the two colleges was played in 1903.

FOR THOSE WHO like to argue the merits of singlewing vs. T formation the C-N game is a good one in which to see both in action. Coach "Frosty" Holt is a firm believer in the popular T while MC Coach Lombe Honaker stands by the singlewing. C-N will be out for blood this year too—the '47 score was 33-7 for the Highlanders, and last year's game with the Eagles saw the Scots pulling ahead of them during the last few minutes of play to take the game 20-18.

Tennis Tournament Starts Monday—Many Contestants

The largest Intramural Tennis Tournament in the history of Maryville College will start Monday on the Courts at Memorial and Baldwin with a gigantic field of 90 contestants signed up so far. There are 32 men entered in the Men's Class "B" tourney; 14 in the Men's Class "A" event; and 54, so far, in the Women's Singles. Twelve teams are entered in the Men's Doubles which will begin next week. Women's tournaments will begin on Monday, October 3, with matches being played in singles and doubles; sometime later a mixed doubles tourney will be played.

Deadline for entries in Women's Singles and Doubles has been advanced to noon, Thursday, September 29, while the deadline for Mixed Doubles will be announced later.

All players are asked to cooperate and begin their matches within ten minutes of the announced starting time so that the "free-for-all" can be completed as soon as possible.

First round matches for Men's Class "A" Singles are to start on Memorial Courts Monday at 3:30.

Schedules

Schedules are as follows, with the court number and time following the name. Chesley Anderson, Bye; Charles Williams vs. Glen Gage (1-3:30); Craig Fisher vs Ed Scott (2-3:30); Dick Lebold vs. Wesley Miles (3-3:30); Andy Clark vs. Dan Thamish (3-4:30); and Clyde McCampbell, Bye. Seeded players are Chesley Anderson; Clyde McCampbell, Wes Miles, and Ben Gearhart.

Up to the semi-finals, players will keep their own scores, and after that judges will be assigned. Further pairings of contestants will be placed on the bulletin boards at Memorial Tennis Court.

Tuesday Matches

Play will begin in the Men's Class "B" tourney Tuesday on Memorial courts. Schedule is as follows: Jerry Sayres vs. Dick Whatley (1-3:30); Don Hyatt vs. Jim Kren (2-3:30); Donald Gray vs. Robert Williams (3-3:30);

Swimmers Begin Pre-Season Work

Maryville's mermen began informal practice this week in preparation for the beginning of the swim-season in December. The splashers who will represent Maryville in the pool this year are only in the second year of the resurgence of this sport on the campus.

Five straight losses to UT (2), Vanderbilt (2), and Berea were the lot of the first aquatic team here since 1942 when it suffered an ignominious end. Coach Johnson revived the sport last fall, and will have a fully intact team in the coming season. Veterans Everett Zabriskie, distance swimmer, Dick Lane, sprinster and fancy divers, Jack Moore and Dean Risher, will all be back to form the nucleus of a strong team.

Intramural Touch Football

Athenians started the Intramural Touch Football season off with a win over Pre-Ministerials, 6-0, Monday. Don Winslow passed to Chuck Holsinger on the first play of the game with Holsinger running some 30 yards with the ball to score. The rest of the game was a see-saw battle in which neither team could score.

In another closie, YMCA topped the Alpha Sigma Scotties, 12-0. Baseballer Hugh Hamil flipped to Manager Joe McNeill in the opening stanza for a tally; and in the last canto, Branin Boyd snagged one.

Intramural Director Coach K. P. Johnson announced this week that freshman intramural managers are needed for the various activities now being carried on. Managers receive Physical Education credit and do not have to attend physical education classes. Freshmen who are interested should see Coach Johnson early next week.

Joe Poland's Bluejays swarmed all over Alpha Sigma Highlanders, Tuesday clubbing them by a 34-0 count. Tom Yeaworth found the Highlanders pass defense a sieve and poured passes to Al Springfield, Joe Poland, Leaky Campbell, Galen Johnson, and "Sugah" Handley for touchdowns.

Pi Lumbago skinned the Pistol Creek Polecats, 18-2. Kenneth Yunkers and Frank Farmer pitched to Frank Morton for two tallies while Bruce DeNagy intercepted one in the third period, to complete the scoring for the Greeks. Ed Heerschap caught a Pi man with the Lumbago behind the goal line for the 'Cats' only score.

Johnson Dodd's Hadacol Hustlers took an easy win with a forfeit over Los Lobos when the latter failed to field a full squad.

Pi Lumbago kept pace with YMCA and Athenian by slaughtering the Hadacol Hustlers Thursday, by a score of 40-0. Scoring over a point a minute, Jim Marvin's team had four men in on the scoring: Frank Farmr with eight; Kenneth Yunkers with 12; Frank Morton with 13; and Tom Jones, 7. The Greeks were never headed as they jumped off to a 13-0 lead in the first quarter.

One again, Los Lobos failed to show up with a team, thus giving Athenian another win.

The game between Ministerials and YMCA next Friday is to be played at 4:30 while the contest between Los Lobos and Alpha Sigma Highlanders is rescheduled to 3:30.

Pistol Creek Polecats clawed their way to their first win, too, as they mauled Pre-Ministerials, 12-7. Ed Bennet snagged two passes to give the Cats a five point margin over the George Day-team whose lone tally was scored by Day. Ministerials had jumped off to a seven point lead, but Bennet changed their idea of winning as he pulled in two passes.

Harriers Prepare For Coming Meet

The 1949 version of Maryville's cross-country team, is headed into its second week of intense training in preparation for the first meet against UT October 7.

Right now, the squad is working hard on pacing which started last Monday and continued for the remainder of the week. The team is trying to cover the 2.2 mile course from the football field through the woods and back again in approximately thirteen minutes which is really traveling considering the sort of terrain these boys run on.

A definite date for time trials has not been set, but they should start the week prior to the first UT meet.

Starting next week, the complete course will be run in its entirety for the first time. That includes the golf course hill which is the toughest on the whole run. All in all, the cross-country course covers 3.2 miles.

This year's team is headed by returning lettermen Del Earisman from New Cumberland, Pa. Del broke the old course record here last year against Swannee by setting a mark of 17:43. Earisman, who is a junior, also lettered last spring in track and is counted on as one of the mainstays of both the track and cross country teams. Last season, by the way, was Del's first taste of running in any form.

Bill Menges, another junior, who hails from Kennett Square, Pa., also lettered in cross-country and track last year. Bill, like Del, never ran track before last season.

Another veteran letterman back is Bob Kay, senior Business Administration Major from Metuchen, New Jersey. Kay has lettered in both cross country and track while here and also ran the hurdles in high school.

Other veterans of the harrier squad are: Neal Pearson from Lakeland, Florida; Jimmy Thurston of Chattanooga who lettered in track last spring; and Rick Rogers from Miami, Florida.

Even though the squad lacks experience, a successful season is still hoped for by Coach Johnson.

Highlanders-Eagles Tilt Saturday At Knoxville

MC Students To Make Pilgrimage To Young's Hi Field For First C-N Game

Exactly one week from tonight Coach Lombe Honaker's Highlanders will be battling it out with the old rival, the Eagles of Jefferson City, at Young's Hi Field in Knoxville. The Orange and Blue Jefferson City team has been noted in years past for its pigskin performances against the Scots.

It will be the second game of the season for both teams. Carson-Newman opens its season tonight in a game with Newberry College at Newberry, S. C. as MC's Scots open in a home game with Hiwassee College.

Other Years; Other Games

Maryville vs. C-N rivalry goes all the way back to 1903 when the Eagles took a game from the Scots by the disheartening score of 72-0. In 1915 the Highlanders came back however, and put a fine polish on the Orange and Blue with a score of 99-0. In '47 and '48 the Eagles took lickings from the Scots. The first, a non-spectacular 33-7 game; but the second a close 20-18 win played at Jefferson City as the closing game of the '48 season after the Scots had lost four and won three.

One of the more interesting features of MC—C-N games is the battle between Coach Honaker's modified singlewing formation and Coach "Frosty" Holt's use of the T. Holt introduced the T formation at Jefferson City after he became coach there in the early 30's.

Scot Old Hands

Saturday's game will be the third tilt with Carson-Newman for seven members of Maryville's '49 gridiron squad. Captain D. M. Miller and Co-Captain Howard Davis are both experienced Eagle chasers. Leon Berrong and Hershell Merriman in the backfield and Ken Andes and Ray Holsey in the line are other members of the squad who have been up against Coach Holt's teams twice before.

Lineups for the game along with more complete information on the Eagle team will appear in next week's Echo.

First Scrimmage Brings 6-6 Tie

A 6-6 tie game Saturday marked the first regular scrimmage of the year for the Scots. Six complete teams were organized for the event, three orange and three garnet.

Garnet tallied first when Ken Shepard at wingback got away for a long touchdown run early in the first quarter. Benton Baldwin evened the score for the orange team a few minutes later with another good run.

Faculty Appointments To '49 Pep Committee

Faculty members of the Pep Committee this year are Miss Blair of the English Department, and Mr. Schawm of the Modern Languages Department. The appointments were made by President Lloyd.

With the addition of the Cheerleader Captain, Archie Swartztrauber, who was elected last week by the cheering squad, the '49 Pep Committee personnel is complete.

The Pep Committee has charge of the cheerleaders activities and arrangements for the Homecoming game.

Scottish Village Scene of Athenian, Bainonian Play

Last night the Athe-Bain Playhouse presented "If Ye Meet the Right Laddie." This was the climax of the Athenian-Bainonian rush week events.

The first scene took place outside of a small Scottish village where two American airplane fliers had been forced to land. Scene Two was at the bridge leading into the village where the Americans met two of the native village girls. In the following scene the couples were seen together at the village among the festivities that were well under way there. The last scene was a year later when on the fliers returned to the Scottish Highlands to find his bride.

Special musical numbers were given by the following people: Herbert Keene, "Annie Laurie," "Comin' Thru' the Rye," and "Loch Lomond"; James Dance and Charles Williams, "Feudin', Fussin', and Fightin'"; Wanda Onifer and Joe Poland, "Highland Fling"; David Reed, "Mary's A Grand Old Name"; and James Aiken, "Forever and Ever."

The play cast was Annie, Wanda Onifer; Mary, Dorothy Holverson; Wiz, Joe Poland; Mac, David Reed; Mackintosh, James Dance, McGillivray, Charles Williams, and Statue, Bob Larson. It was written, produced and directed by Barbara Blum and Bill Starr.

Band, Cheer Squad Stage Pep Rally

Webster Fue, Pep Committee chairman, welcomed MC rooters Thursday evening to the first Pep Rally of the season. He introduced Archie Swartzstrauber, junior business administration major from Zion, Illinois, as captain of '49 cheerleaders squad. Other members of the team are Jane MacMillan, Clyde McCampbell, Beverly Jacobi, Tom Kees, Gracie Scruggs, Joe Poland, and Sara Jo Emert.

A quartet composed of Jim Akin, John Shew, Jim Lester, and Bob Neff, sang Huffman's arrangement of "On Highlanders". The band which played several numbers was introduced informally for the first time this year.

Coach Lombe Honaker after telling numerous jokes introduced members of '49 football team around the bonfire. Then all joined in singing Maryville's Alma Mater.

V.A. Tightens New Registration Form

Certificates of eligibility issued to World War II veterans planning to train under the GI Bill from now on will include (1) The name of the course a veteran wants to take and (2) The name of the approved school at which he wants to pursue the course, the Nashville Veterans Administration Regional Manager, J. M. Nixon, said this week.

The new type certificates will be good only for the listed course in the specific school named.

The additional information on certificates of eligibility, VA explained, will aid VA in its efforts to help veterans get training that will be of direct use to their readjustment to civilian life, rather than seek training that might serve no other than recreational or avocational purposes.

In the past, veterans were not asked to list the course or school on applications for GI Bill training. Certificates of eligibility, therefore, could be used for nearly any course in any institution that had appropriate GI Bill approval.

MC's personnel office informed Echo that this change in veteran's registration procedure will not affect veterans now enrolled, but only veterans enrolling for the first time next semester.

Visiting U. S. Marine Corps Band

The United States Marine Band will appear in concert performances at the Everett High School Auditorium Saturday, September 24. A matinee program at 2:30 p.m. and an evening performance at 8 p.m. are scheduled by the Maryville-Alcoa Kiwanis Club, sponsors of the event.

Now on a coast-to-coast tour, the band will make but two stops in Tennessee—Maryville and Memphis. Tickets for the concert are available at the Treasurer's office, Byrne Drug Store, and Sterchi Bros. in Maryville. Prices are $1.50 each, including tax.

This nationally famous organization was founded in 1798, the oldest of its kind. In its repertoire are the stirring marches of John Philip Sousa, one of its former conductors. Major William F. Stantelman, son of conductor and composer William Santelman, is the present conductor.

Matinee numbers will include the Overture to Wagner's "The Flying Dutchman," David Bennett's "Rhapsody in Rhumba," variations on "Pop Goes the Weasel," and other selections.

Works of Rimsky-Korsakov, Liszt, Verdi, and George Gershwin will be included in the night program.

Student-Help Is Intregal Part Of Maryville Campus

By Carolyn Miller

In the 1830's at Maryville College, board costs for an entire year were only ten dollars, and the faculty was searching for ways to reduce this expense. If a student worked one day a week on the college farm, he would receive his year's board for $7.50.

This was perhaps the earliest example of student-employment offered by Maryville. Since then opportunities for self-help have increased. Today a variety of positions are available to students of ability, ambition, and character. At present time there are 297 students, working an average of ten hours a week, employed by the college in its program of financial aid.

Work in the dining hall employs the greatest number of students with 96 serving as waiters. Many MC students work part-time as janitors in dorms and other buildings.

Sixteen boys form the campus crew, which was reinstituted last year and is already assuming real importance. These students do general work around campus, with some staying on through the summer. A few students are gaining much practical experience by working on the college farm.

Those students who have the necessary qualifications may apply for typing and secretarial assignments in college offices. The College-Maid Shop is open to young women to give them an opportunity to earn money for their college expenses by sewing in the shop.

These positions are open to all students, old and new. When a student has been here a year and has a good scholastic and work record, he may apply for other positions.

The experienced student may work in the bookstore or library. Or he may wish to be a laboratory assistant or a reader for a faculty member.

There have been more applications for student employment in the past two years than for several years previously, and there is now a waiting list for most positions.

Whatever his position, the student is part of Maryville's program of keeping expenses low and work available to all Maryville students.

Rev. Edward A. Driscoll Speaks Thurs. Morning

Rev. Edward A. Driscoll, Executive Secretary for Southern Area, Student Council of YMCA, spoke at Chapel Thursday morning. He also spoke in chapel last year. He is a graduate of Maryville College.

Before Chapel, Rev. Driscoll breakfasted with officers of YW and YM at Dr. Ralph W. Lloyd's residence.

Dr. D. C. Buchanan Speaks At Vols

Dr. Daniel C. Buchanan, missionary to Japan, will speak at Student Vols Sunday after Vespers in Bartlett Auditorium. Dr. Buchanan was born in Japan and has lived there most of his life. After studying in the United States, he returned to Japan as a missionary and a government representative.

Dr. Buchanan, whose son Dan is a Junior at Maryville College, will talk about the cultural, educational, and informative matters of Japan.

Last week John Baird spoke on the vital need for missionaries in the world.

Playing as if they didn't have a care in the world, they held the Scots to a 0-0 tie in the first half; then Dick Jones passed to Bob Cuthill for a six-pointer in the third canto. Soon after, "Cuddles" Cuthill intercepted a pass and ran for another tally.

Directors Plan Y Radio Workshop

Plans for the Y Radio Workshop, inaugurated last fall with the cooperation of Maryville's WGAP, are being formed by its co-directors, Bill Starr and Ann Jenkins. First program date has not been announced.

Both Starr and Miss Jenkins took leading roles in the workshop last year under the direction of Jim Black. The group produced a half-hour program at 8 p.m. on Monday nights. Time allotment for the program this season has not been announced.

Newcomers to the series are Tom Lang, sophomore from Baltimore, Md., who will serve as musical director, and Herbert Keene, sophomore from Wilmington, Del., feature vocalist. Ben Paxton, veteran member of the Y production staff, will serve as announcer and board man.

Students with experience interested in working in the radio workshop should see Bill Starr or Ann Jenkins.

WOMEN'S VARSITY PLAYING SOCCER

The Women's Varsity Teams are playing soccer this week under the supervision of Mrs. Edith Largen, new instructor in physical education, and Betty Jo Clemens, student assistant.

Dr. Lautenschlager Opens Fred Hope Fund Drive Here

Mary Smith, MC Grad, Receives Drive Benefits

Maryville's annual Fred Hope Fund drive began this week with Dr. Stanton Lautenschlager of the Presbyterian China Mission speaking in chapel Thursday on "The Future of Christian Missions in China."

Dr. Lautenschlager, recently returned from an assignment of the Chinese Christian Education Association covering China, Formosa, and the Phillipines, told of the conflict bewteen political and religious forces in China today.

"Six months from now," Dr. Lautenschlager prophesied, "China will be under control of Communist forces." The majority of Chinese are in favor of Communistic government and by America's aid to the Nationalist party we are actually endangering the lives of American missionaries there. Dr. Lautenschlager reminded us that times have changed in China, and we must wake to that change. He concluded his informative address by issuing the challenge: "We started our church there—shall we desert it now?"

Students on Program

John Baird, Student Volunteers president, Student Body President Bill Nish, and Bill Chalker and Dorothy Holverson, Y presidents, participated in the service explaining the origin and purpose of the Fred Hope Fund. Pledge cards for the fund were passed out in chapel. Any students not receiving cards may obtain them at the payment desk in Anderson Hall.

The fund will be sent again this year to China where Maryville College finances Mary Smith, class of '48, as a missionary in Canton. Maryville students last year raised $1,500, and it is hoped a like amount will be pledged this year.

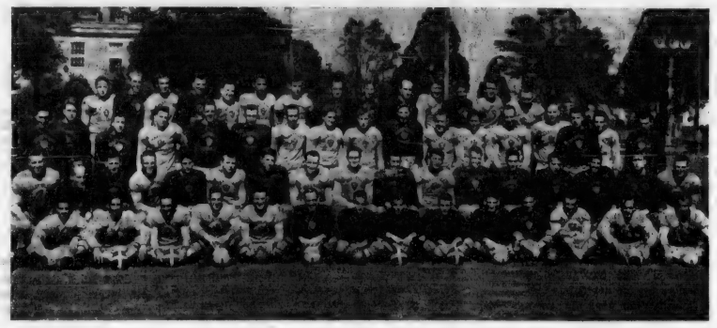
Dr. Lautenschlager also spoke to the senior ethics class and a special meeting of Student Volunteers Thursday night.

In the philosophy class he emphasized the ethical matter involved in the China situation. Our obligation, he said, was to have a Christian attitude before all other attitudes in our relations with the Chinese people and their chosen government.

Student Vols sponsored the other meeting, which was attended by about 100. Pointing out the many-sided duties of the Christian missionary—a term not limited to those abroad—, he reiterated the importance of our Christianity's showing itself to be a better way of life than any other.

FUND GETS $1616.50 FROM CASH, PLEDGES

MC students, faculty, and staff subscribed $11.60 over last year's total pledges for the first day of Fred Hope Drive last Thursday in chapel. Cash payments amounted to $180.50 while 472 subscriptions were handed in, totaling $1616.50.



"There are 1.000 potential pledges at Maryville including faculty, staff and students, yet thus far only 472 of these have signified their deisre to participate in the Fund. It is hoped that we soon will have 100 per cent support of entire campus," reported Mrs. Doris Johnson, treasurer of the fund.

Those who will wish to take part may secure pledge cards from the table on first floor Anderson. Payments may be made September 23 from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. and on September 24 from 8:30 to noon.

Friendship and Courtship Joint Y Program Theme

Dr. L. L. Williams, professor of biology, will speak on Friendship and Courtship at a joint meeting of YW and YM to be held in the library Sunday afternoon at 1:30. This will be followed by a discussion on Marriage and the Family led by Mrs. Ralph Lloyd next Sunday.

STRIKE AVERTED FOR 6 DAYS

Midnight tonight had been the date set for the nation-wide steel strike. However, Wednesday Truman appealed for a 6-day truce, which U.S. Steel has agreed to. Benjamin Fairless, president of the corporation stated in, so far, the most conciliatory language, that Big Steel would give "the greatest weight and earnest consideration" to a steel fact finding board's peace formula and to public interest.

Ladner Under Presbytery's Care

Frank Ladner, senior ministerial student from Pottstown, Pa., was taken under care of the Presbytery of Union at their fall meeting Tuesday.

Rev. A. Morris Hunt, pastor of Fort Sanders Presbyterian Church, Knoxville and current moderator, presided at the sessions in Bartlett. Rev. James R. Baird, pastor of Erin Presbyterian Church, Knoxville, was re-elected stated clerk for a term of three years.

A special committee was appointed to carry out the action of Presbytery approving employment of a General Presbyter to give supervision to the extension and local mission program of Presbytery.

Opportunity Gifts

Mrs. Ralph W. Lloyd, president of the Women's Presbyterial Society of Union, and four other members presented the goals and plan of opportunity gifts of Presbyterian Women around the world. This consisted of a program on world service prepared for use by the 400,000 women who belong to Presbyterian women's organizations. It was entitled "Every Woman—a Fulfiller of God's Design." Included were reproductions of recordings of brief statements by women in France, Alaska, Japan, and elsewhere, and of singing by choirs from the Phillippines and America.

Those who assisted Mrs. Lloyd in the presentation were Clemmie J. Henry, Mary Miles, Mrs. Charles Webb, and Louise Lloyd, all of Maryville.

Professor Lincoln Barker, D. W. Proffitt, and H. H. McClister reported for the National Council of Presbyterian Men that 750 local chapters have now been organized.

Chamber Music Trio Plans Mozart Recital

MC's Chamber Music Society will present its first performance some time in October. A trio, composed of Dan Winter at the piano, Doris Somerville at the cello, and Miss Dorothy Horn at the violin, will play Mozart's "E Major Trio". The same trio will render Robert Schumann's "D Minor Trio" in the spring.

Further plans are underway for a Chamber Music group to do "Musical Offering" by Bach in the spring of 1950, which is the two hundredth anniversary of his death.

All Girl Choir has elected Louise Masters president, Marlene Mauger vice president; Peggy Kettles, secretary-treasurer, and Ruth Davis, program chariman. The election was held Friday, September 16.

FROSH FROLIC SATURDAY

A program of freshmen frolics will be held next Saturday night in the Alumni gym at 8 o'clock. This all-campus activity is sponsored by the YMCA. It will include a comedy skit and musical activity.

Freshmen interested in frolicing should see Charles Williams and listen for chapel announcement.

Ministerials Start Membership Drive

Ministerials will begin their membership campaign Monday and will climax the drive Thursday with a Candlelight Service beginning at 6:45.

Following the annual address by the president, Kenneth Newell, there will be a fellowship hour and a brief business meeting.

Ministerial Association was organized in 1900 for students interested in the ministry and other phases of Christian work. The group sponsors campus prayer meetings, pastoral work in the county jail, and other services in the rural churches around Maryville.

Education Majors Practice Teaching In Local Schools

Six elementary and 11 secondary educational students are doing practice teaching this semester. The following people are teaching: Muriel Headrick, Onida Newman Sloan, and Elizabeth King, West Side; Violet Whitehead and Ruth Rogers, Fort Craig; and Helen Miller who helps with the day kindergarten at St. Andrew's Parish House on Gamble Street.

Charles Bacon, Betty Jo Clemens, Howard Davis, John Ferris, Ben Gearhart, Walter Pentz, Jack Reid, Charles Roberts, Sam Taylor, and Virginia Wood, Maryville High School; and Leon Berrong at Everett High School.

Mrs. D. S. Kramer has charge of the elementary future teachers and Dr. Lincoln Barker works with the secondary future teachers.

In addition to observing and teaching in the public schools these students have an hour conference every week with their adviser.

Dr. Daniel Buchanan, Sr. Continues Aid To Japanese

By Margaret Matterson

Among campus visitors last week was Daniel Buchanan Sr., father of Maryville student Dan Jr., and former missionary to Japan. During his visit on the Hill, he was a speaker at Student Vols and chapel service.

Forced to give up missionary because of his wife's ill health, Dr. Buchanan is continuing his work for the Japanese people in the United States.

Missionary Parents

Dr. Buchanan was born in Japan of missionary parents and grew up with Japanese children. With his background of elementary education taught to him by his parents and a Japanese instructor, he entered the second year of high school in the United States. After receiving his master's degree at Washington and Lee University, Daniel Buchanan sailed for Japan and for several years taught in Japanese high schools and colleges.

Dr. Buchanan entered McCormick Theological Seminary and completed his work in 1921. From June 1921 to July 1941 he was a missionary to Japan under the direction of the Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church USA. Through his work he came to know all phases of Japanese education, religion, superstitions, customs, language, social and political conditions.

Naturalized American

Although a British subject, Dr. Buchanan's loyalty has been with the United States. He took the oath of naturalization before Supreme Court in Washington in 1918 while being a volunteer private in the Army. In September 1942, Dan's Dad joined the staff of the New York Branch of the Office of War Information. Since then he has filled various positions in Washington where his vast knowledge of the Far East would be of greatest service. His present position is in the Far East Division of Public Affairs Overseas Program Staff. The responsibility involved is along the educational and cultural lines.

Dan Jr., Born In Japan

Dan, who is a Junior at Maryville College, was also born in Japan. When he was 16 he came to the United States to live. The past year he has been working in the Welch Medical Library affiliated with Johns Hopkins University. His ambition is to do missionary work, also.

Although the Buchanans do not expect to return to Japan, Dr Buchanan intends to work for the betterment of Far Eastern conditions, for he says, "We need people who are well qualified by long residence and training to explain why Japan acts as she does, and how she may be expected to act under any given set of circumstances."

Drama Group Announces New Campus Playhouse

Organization Admits Eighteen Players; First Production Dated November 5

Maryville College Playhouse, recently organized drama group on campus,has completed a six month study and announces this week a new program designed to unify dramatic productions on the hill.

The program was initiated last February by a joint Student-Faculty committee under the direction of Professor Katharine Davies and introduces features which

1. change the production of the three major plays and experimental theatre plays from the four literary societies and Theta Alpha Phi to the Playhouse direction;
2. institute a point plan rating student participation and divides members into two groups—the Players and the Apprentices, depending upon points earned;
3. include at present 57 members, 18 of which have accumulated the necessary number of points to be classed as Players.

Play Dates Set

Date for the first major production under the Playhouse is set for November 18 and 19 in the Alumni Gym, and the first experimental play is set for November 5. Actors, directors, scene builders, and general stage workers will be chosen from membership in the Playhouse Players which is open to all students. Herman Middleton, drama director of the Division of Fine Arts, requests that anyone interested in joining should see him in his office located in the Chatterbox.

The new Playhouse is divided into two groups—the Maryville College Playhouse Players and Maryville College Playhouse Apprentices. Admission to the Players will be automatic upon the accumulation of 20 theatrical points. Points will be given for every job connected with the production of the major plays or any experimental play.

Point Rating

Points will be given as follows: for the major productions—10 points, assistant director, lead, stage manager, business manager; 5 points, supporting role, chairman of any crew; 3 points, bit part, serving on any crew; for experimental productions—7 points, director, designer, author or adapter; 5 points, lead, stage manager, business manager; 3 points, supporting role, chairman of any crew; 1 point, bit part, serving on any crew.

One point credit will be allowed for at least fifteen hours spent in workshop when not a member of any production crew. This provision was made for any one who would like to help work on a production and to earn a point, but who would not like to take the responsibility required by the various production jobs listed above. Theatrical points will not be granted for productions presented by other campus groups.

To remain a member of the Players each student must accumulate at least 10 points each college year. If he does not, he automatically becomes a member of the Apprentices until he does accumulate 10 points. A notation of special achievement in college dramatics will be made upon all programs bearing the names of members of the Players.

18 Players Admitted

The Playhouse Players admitted 18 students in the first meeting of the new organization, as they had accumulated the necessary number of points to be classified as a Player. They are Howard Cameron, Roger Cowan, Jim Dance, Anne Gates, Ben Gearhart, Bob Holley, Dot Holverson, Herbert Johnson, Ann Jenkins, Janice Landstrom, Beverly Moore, Margaret Newland, Bill Nish, Ben Paxton, Joe Poland, David Reed, Carroll Stegall, and Mary Wooldridge. There are now 39 people registered as Apprentices.

Buses Leave At 6:45 For C-N Game

Eight student buses and two band busses will load promptly at 6:45 tonight in front of Anderson Hall for the MC-Carson-Newman game to be played on Young High School's field, located south of Knoxville on the Chapman Highway.

Some 300 students, including band members will go on the buses. Jim Lester, president of the Athletic Association and Mae Meriweatehr, chairman of committee on arrangements, have urged everyone to return on the same bus on which they went to the game.

STUDENT COUNCIL—

Agreement Revision Elections Before SC

On recommendation of the Steering Committee, Student Council made changes in the Student Center agreement at its regular 8:30 meeting Wednesday night in the Center.

A nominations meeting for freshman class officers and Council representatives was delayed this week because of the Fred Hope Fund drive, it was announced by Vice-President Del Earisman.

Simultaneously with the freshman meeting after chapel next Thursday, the senior class will nominate someone to replace their council representative, Eunice Pancoast, who did not return this year.

Elections for Men's Student Organization and a ratification plebescite on its constitution is scheduled for Wednesday and Thursday of next week.

On Student Center affairs, Council decided this week that YM and YW will set up a definite depreciation fund for the Y Store. This ruling clarified the former arrangement for Y Store profits. When hostesses are on duty in the Center, they will clear the tables; otherwise, the Y Store is responsible for this. Although no change has yet been made, Student Center hours were put on Council's agenda for possible future revision.

Hereafter hours will not be arbitrarily determined by the Center agreement itself. Minor Expenses of the Center may be paid in the future without specific Council approval.

Council heard that all seats for MC students at the Carson-Newman game tonight will be reserved —in section A. Arch-rival C-N will have section E in Young High's Duff Field in Knoxville. Mae Meriweather and Athletic Association President Jim Lester further reported ticket sales and that the committee was arranging for bus captains and chaperons.

MCA Test Slated For Med Students

The Medical College Admission Test, required of candidates by a number of leading medical colleges throughout the country, will be given twice this year. Only those students planning to enter medical school in September '50 will be eligible to take the test which is given by the Educational Testing Service.

Students from Maryville will probably take the test, which will last all day, at UT. It will be given on October 22 and again on January 16. Because of need to apply early in medical schools, students are urged to take the test in October.

Application blanks for the MCA will be here in a few days and may be obtained from Dean E. R. Hunter's office.

Are You With It?

Everyone at Maryville has the opportunity to exert an influence in the tides of humanity. Perhaps what we do, say, and think is most important to our influence. Yet, as college students here at Maryville, we have a unique priviledge to share in a cause which has an influence extending through generations. This cause was born at Maryville with the vision of Fred Hope. His life and work were devoted to the advancement of the Kingdom of God on earth. For many years, Fred Hope returned to Maryville to urge students to take a part in this important work. In his memory, the students and faculty have established a drive that perpetuates the interest of the college in missions which were described in vital terms by Dr. Stanton Lautenschlager at Thursday chapel. Now, another Maryville alumni is living the vision of Fred Hope—Mary Edna Smith's work in Canton is supported by contributions made on Maryville's campus.

The appeal is here—are you keeping step with Maryville's traditional spirit of altruism?

The Societies' Challenge

With the institution of a new mode of signing up new members for the four campus social societies, the "big four" on campus have taken a move that will eliminate many hard feelings formerly associated with the end of hectic rush weeks. It means that the new student can make a more personal and perhaps logical decision as to which group he will join.

Another thing that affects the societies this year is the new plan for dramatic productions on campus in that the societies themselves will not be responsible parties. The new program undoubtedly brings a better coordinated plan of play presentation, eliminated needless competition, and places the casting process into impartial, qualified hands. For the players themselves, it means more recognition in a standard rating system.

As for the societies, it presents a challenge to produce more varied entertainment that will fit in the social program here on the hill.

A Touch of Scotland

Maryville's fast-stepping, spirited band not only pleased the crowd at last Saturday's opening game with Hiwassee, but also received attention this week.

Writing in the Maryville-Alcoa Daily Times, Managing Editor Dean Stone mentioned the band's uniforms in his sports column. Explaining that the band has been dressed in the member's own "whites" since the chapel fire of April, 1947, Stone presented the idea that the band's appearance in kilts would add greatly to the publicity value of the band. Plaid kilts, with the addition of bagpipes, would make the MC band distinctive; he continued by presenting the situation to the reading public as follows:

"Now outfitting a band can't be done with the price of a French bathing suit because it takes far more material and much more work to produce one. To equip the Maryville College band with kilts, etc., and four bagpipes would cost possibly $4,000 to $4,500 for a 50-piece band.

"With an all out drive for funds to build a new chapel in progress, it is probable that the college does not feel it can divert its efforts to dress its band. This is a grand opportunity for some local group to start a drive of its own to help out in this needy situation. It is possible that should such an effort originate with a local group it would gain meomentum from college alumni and soon the money would be raised."

Sound & Fury

I think that I shall never see
A column fine that's writ by me;
A column that has gossip true,
'Cause I distort it 'fore I'm through;
A column that should witty be
To make you laugh eternally.
Columns are writ by others, you see,
And never tried by fools like me!
(with apologies to Joyce Kilmer)

CROWNING TOUCH—When informed in a house meeting this week that girls must wear hats to church to set the proper mood and example, Hazel Holm exclaimed, "Well, this tops all!"

HELL-BOUND? While English 205 was drawing Virgil's conception of Hades the other day, Miss Blair suggested that the class keep the maps for future reference. After the class had quieted down to a roar, she hastened to add that they would be needed when studying "Paradise Lost."

VIRUS-FUN— Inmates of the college infirmary seemed to be enjoying their stay over there from the looks of things when we wandered in. Dora Evalyn Smith, pajama-clad, leaving Don Whelan's room . . . Lucy Carrick and Peggy Knox having a game of bridge . . . Margie Newland leaning over the bannister with pet doll, Lulu, clutched tightly . . . Mary Holly Webb saying that anything can happen in a hospital and wishing it would . . . Dean Risher begging the doc to let him out . . . all this and no Ralph too!

Sarah Doo kept her table on edge Sunday night when she almost didn't show up for her surprise party. Just as Nish was wondering what the cake would taste like the next night, in came our Band sponsor. "If you had only told me, I would have been here on time," she wailed.

REPORT FROM SATAN — Someone was wondering if something couldn't be done about the extreme heat which chapel goers endure up on the last row of the bleachers when the pipes are on. Incidentally, that's row "N".

FAMILY AFFAIR—Brothers, sisters, cousins by the dozens . . . we've got 'em all here at Maryville. Winnie Schaumberg brought back a brother this fall and so did Don Hyatt. Then there's that carbon copy of Ruth Rogers by name of Barbara. Pepper Postelwaite has a sister, Shirley . . . cute as a button; Nancy Rose and brother, Ray . . both mighty nice additions to our clan; the Merwin brothers, Paul and Don . . . both fast men on the football field; and last but not least, Meg Brown's sister, Sally. Glad to have you and are there any more at home like you?

PUT THE BLAME ON . . . Coach Davis says he doesn't care for the new cheerleader skirts this year. There's something wrong with the shape of them. Jean Davis objected with, "You can't blame the skirts for that. It's what you put in them!" Nuf sed.

LOW BLOW— Fiendish Pearsonites were saving the broken chair for someone at the house meeting and just such a person was Millie Simmons. She came, she sat, she fell, and all she said was, "It's a low blow!"

OVERHEARD:—One frosh girl to friend: "Oh, but nine out of ten boys are cute."

Friend to one frosh girl: "Yea, and the tenth one came to Maryville."

INTERPRETER, PLEASE — Heard this week that Lombe comes from the Greek letter for "L" and it only proves more vividly that what Honaker says at those Pep meetings its all Greek to us.

JUST WONDERING — Who the Chilhowean-Girl-of-the-Year will be? Why there hasn't been any rain for the past two Town Nights? Why profs decide on the same day for a written check-up? When we'll all go to town on two nights and seniors still have privileges on top of that? How much tickets to Mid-Winter Prom will be? If George Stanfill is really bashful or just has reasons? Where Allan Caldwell got those pink sox? How much of this the editor will cut out before you see it?

PARATUS — Tony "Dad" Mature came back into the dining hall ten minutes after the last diner had departed and headed for his table . . . said he could never get to breakfast on time and was making a last desperate attempt.

NEWEST DEFINITION — A bachelor is a man who knows he's no match for a woman. 'Bout time!

FINIS— Signing off with apologies and millions of them to Joe McNeil whose name we used in vain in last week's column and to Joe Poland whose name we omitted.

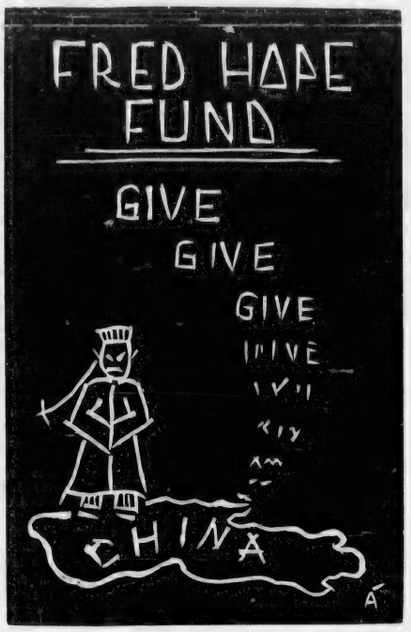
To You, Orange and Blue!



Carson-Newman's student paper, The Orange and Blue, blazed forth last week with a four page weekly of comparable size to The Highland Echo. Last year, according to information gathered at the Annual Tennessee College Press Association's meeting at Cookeville, the Echo was one of the few Tennessee small colleges producing a full-sized edition weekly. Now, C-N's Orange and Blue is blossoming deluxe.

Encouraged by Echo's editions of last year, Editor H. C. Evans writes, "Last year's Highland Echo is the godfather of this year's Orange and Blue . . . it (the Echo) was what I feel a college paper should be."

Thanks, C-N, for the compliment, and best wishes with your new Orange and Blue.

Talk of The Week

Voices, Masks, and Shadows

IN BASHFUL BEND

It's a week of westerns at Maryville's Capitol Theatre these next seven days. Beginning the parade is a grade B film on Monday and Tuesday, which, from looking at both cast and producers, should have been much better.

Preston Sturges (apparently mistaking himself for Orson Welles) is writer-producer-director, and the fiasco is "The Beautiful Blonde from Bashful Bend." Betty Grable heads the cast and Cesar Romero and Rudy Vallee co-star.

Betty plays a gambling-hall girl of the '80's who accidentally shoots the south end of a judge. Sturges is so carried away by his roll-'em-in-the-aisles slapstisk that before the two hours are over Miss G. has pulled the same hilarious routine twice more.

Town Night goers will find too much comedy left over from the old Max Sennett days and not enough of Grable's world-famous trade-mark.

IN THE SUN

Wednesday and Thursday brings a real treat for MC'ers who can manage movie dates on those days. David Selznick's rip-roaring "Duel in the Sun" hits the Capitol, which, we predict, will never be the same again.

This censored version of the original Selnick sexplosive production stars Jennifer Jones, who appears minus most of the clerical garb she wore for "Song of Bernedette." Also appearing in this super-duper shoot-'em-up are Lionel Barrymore, Gregory Peck, Joseph Cotton, and Walter Houston.

The eight million dollar film has the distinction of being condemned by Roman Catholic, Protestant, and Jewish religious groups and the Girl Scouts; result, of course, was a 30% box office rise.

Seriously, it's a A-1 picture. Photography of western landscape in technicolor is some of the best that's ever been done. Another Selznick great, it's a cowboy picture on a "Gone With the Wind" scale. See it if you can.

IN LAMAR MEMORIAL

Recent additions to Lamar Memorial Library shelves include everything from Clare Barnes' best-seller-list-hit "White Collar Zoo" to Dunning's "History of Political Theories from Rousseau to Spencer."

Especially good among new arrivals are Albert Sutton's "Design and Makeup of the Newspaper," Edward Streeter's "Father of the Bride," Gladys Denny Shultz' "Letters to Jane" (A modern approach to sex problems from a column in the "Ladies' Home Journal"), Kenneth Roberts' "I Wanted to Write,"

Hesketh Pearson's "Dickens," George Orwell's "Nineteen Eighty Four" (A frightening satire which shows only too clearly what the future may be like if we're not careful), Tom Lea's "Brave Bulls," and John Gunther's "Death Be Not Proud" (A moving story of the death of his son).

IN 'HARPER'S'

Last August's issue of highbrow "Harper's" magazine included an excellent article by James Rorty called "J. Harold Smith and the Dogs of Sin." Localnews-followers will recognize Smith as a former Knoxville evangelist and the principal stockholder of WIBK, East Tennessee's noisest radio station.

As a preacher, Smith won a huge following throughout the South; in fact, over twenty thousand followed him down Knoxville's Gay Street in 1946 to protest opposition from WNOX and the Scripps-Howard "News-Sentinal"—somehow branded as Communist by enthuiastic J. Harold.

His vehemently bitter attacks on the Federal Council of Churches, Roman Catholicism, (and anyone else who didn't look at things just his way) caused an investigation by the Federal Communications Commission—and their findings made difficulties for WIBK's license renewal which are still raging.

Rorty's article is cleverly written, informative, and required reading for anyone interested in this corner of the country and its colorful figures.

Librarian Speaks To Church Groups On Japanese Life

Drawing from her long experience on the mission field in Japan, Mary Miles, MC's assistant librarian, has made several speaking appearances to portray the life of the Japanese.

More than one denominational group has asked Miss Miles for engagements. Union Presbyterial called her to help in a meeting of Presbyterial officers in Knoxville, Friday, September 16. She assisted in the preparing of a Japanese luncheon with curios and costumes.

Sunday she spoke at a meeting for children at White Pine in Jefferson County, about fifty miles from Maryville. She used as her subject "Children in Japan," showing the children dolls, curios, and teaching them to sing in Japanese.

Tuesday evening she spoke at a District meeting of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist Church. Using as her topic "Christianity in Japan," she presented much about the life of the Japanese people.

Miss Miles states that by means of sharing her experiences "I hope to bring about a feeling of real understanding and friendliness toward the Japanese people, and to present the challenge which Japan offers to the Christians of America."

Miss Miles is the daughter of Mrs. T. J. Miles and the late Rev. Miles. Both of her parents attended MC, Rev. Mr. Miles graduating in the class of 1893. She graduated from Maryville in 1918 and studied for one year in graduate school before leaving for Japan in 1921. Remaining in Japan until 1940, she returned only twice to this country during that period.

While in Japan, Miss Miles taught public school music and Bible in the Hoku-riku Presbyterian Mission School for girls, Kanazawa. In addition to her regular school work, she taught classes in English Bible for boys who were students in the government schools in the city. She also did religious work in the church there.

Since her return in 1940, Miss Miles has been working in the United States. She began her library work at Maryville last year.

Pre-Meds Hear LeQuire On Reparative Surgery

Dr. Brickey LeQuire discussed Reparative Surgery with Pre-Med Club members at its first meeting of the year. Dr. LeQuire showed pictures illustrating skin grafting and surgery involving removal of cancers.

President Walter Dean urged new students to sign up for membership this week. Dues will be 50 cents per semester or 75 cents for the whole year.

Writers Workshop Induct Galyon As New Member

Aubrey Galyon, senior philosophy major from Knoxville, was elected to Writers Workshop at its meeting Wednesday afternoon.

Reading in workshop this week were Ginny Schwarz and Craig Fisher. Miss Schwarz' work was entitled, "Red Light"; Fisher read two poems entitled "Guiseppi Takes Five" and "Energy Monster."

Chips, the Workshop publication for spring '49, is for sale at 25 cents a copy from any workshop member, according to the secretary of the group.

Sports Echoes

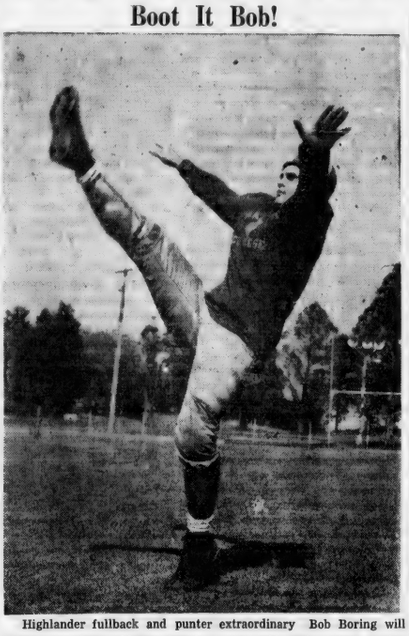
ONE OF THE BEST all 'round gridiron battles of the 1949 Highlander football season is due for a premier showing tonight on Duff Field at Young High School, south Knoxville. Most informed sources give Coach Honaker's eleven a slight edge over Coach Frosty Holt's contingent in the 46 year rivalry between the Scots and the Eagles. The Scotties have been working hard this week since last Saturday's easy 47-6 victory over Hiwassee College, but a few injuries may keep some of the best Highlander material off the field and thus make the game a little rougher.

MC's LINE IS the doubtful factor in an otherwise perfect team this season, and the news that veteran Guard Ken Andes will be out with a bruised leg and that center Ray Holsey may not be able to start because of a rib injury is not welcome. Jim Lester will probably be in for Andes at right guard, and Boyd is expected to replace Holsey in the center spot.

TONIGHT'S GAME IS a big one in more than one respect for students on the hill. It's the one and only "away" game which the entire student body will have a chance to see this year, and it's the FIRST of two scheduled games with the Eagle eleven. Someone has to lose, (let's hope there's no tie) and the fact that the loser gets a second chance will intensify the rivalry for the second game on Nov. 12.

FRESHMAN RIGHT GUARD Jim Cates, who saw action in the Maryville line during last Saturday's game, is a graduate of Young Hi. Duff field will be nothing new to him.

INCIDENTALLY, Young High School football field was chosen because it is a neutral field about equally distant from both Carson-Newman and Maryville. The second gamee with C-N will be played at home on our own Wilson Field.



SPEAKING OF NEXT WEEK'S football battle with the Blue Raiders of MTSC, word comes that they took their first game of the season Thursday evening when they handed the Millington Naval Base sailors a 25-12 defeat. The Blue and White will be another hard one to get by if the Honaker eleven is to equal 1946's no loss record.

Highlanders Pound Hiwassee 47-6 To Take Opening Game of Season

By Thomas Kelly

Maryville College's Scotties lambasted the Hiwassee Tigers Saturday night by a 47-6 score. Maryville, displaying a well nigh unstoppable ground attack, scored three times in the first quarter. The opening tally came early in the first period as Hershall Merriman crashed offtackle to score from the nine. Ken Andes added the extra point.

The second TD came about thirty seconds after the first, and happened so fast that many Scottie rooters did not even realize that their team had scored. Blondie Law kicked off and the Tiger safety man let the ball roll into his end zone untouched. Alert end Hap Brahams pounced upon it for the score. Andes, who was probably caught off guard by the turn of events, missed the kick.

When Hiwassee finally did get the ball, they could do nothing with it; so they kicked to their own forty-nine. Two plays later Maryville had its third score of the quarter thanks to halfback Neff. Bobby carried the ball around end and was pulled down on the one. On the next play he bulled through the not too strong Hiwassee line for the score. Andes added the extra point.

Hiwassee start`` to roll in the second period as they racked up four first downs and scored on a Scroggins-to-Haskins pass from the five.

Maryville, not to be outdone, pushed across another tally late in the second quarter when Roy Kramer recovered a Hiwassee fumble on their own ten. Two plays later, Leon Berrong scored the first of two touchdowns that he was to make. He crashed over from the three. Andes, as usual, kicked the extra point.

In the third canto, Hiwassee appeared as if they were out to make things difficult. They racked up five first downs in that period, but failed to score. King Berrong, back from a year's layoff, intercepted an errant Hiwassee pass, and romped seventy yards to paydirt. This play broke up the Tiger's attack for the rest of the game.

HIGHLANDER'S SECOND GAME OF '49 AT DUFF FIELD, YOUNG HI, KNOXVILLE

MS Student Body Attends Orange and Garnet, Blue and White Gridiron Battle at 8 p. m.

"They're tough and were not yet ready to face as good a team as Carson-Newman." So spoke Line Coach J.D. Davis of the oncoming game with the Eagles, tonight, at Young's High Field in Knoxville. "But," he added, we'll beat 'em!"

As for Carson-Newman, they have plenty of talent. Nine of last year's first-stringers are back at their old posts. Incidentally, Maryville, after being twelve points down, took last year's decision at Jefferson City by a 21-18 score.

The Eagles have adopted the platoon system of substitution, made famous last year by Michigan and Army. In the platoon system, one team plays only on defense while another takes the offense. Therefore, the players do not tire as quickly, while becoming more skillful at their assigned tasks. This system was made possible when the substitution rule was relaxed.

The Scottie boys will substitute in the conventional manner, and it will prove quite interesting to see what efefct this new system of changing players has on the Honaker-men.

Frosty Holt's boys work out of the Split-T which, to say the least, is hard to fathom. The Probable starting line-ups for tonight's game are:

MC	Pos.	C-N
Brahams	LE	Parker
Walker	LT	Whaley
Isenberg	LG	Brotherton
Holsey	C	Lee
Lester	RG	Keller
Davis (C)	RT	Myers
Miller	RE	Lawson
K. Berrong	QB	Netcher
Law	HB	Jennings
Neff	HB	Cosson
Merriman	FB	Wade

backs to watch out for are Fullback Jack Wade and Halfback Baldy Cosson. Cosson ran the opening kick-off against Newberry, last Saturday night, 70 yards for a TD, only to have the play nullified because of a clipping penalty. Carson-Newman lost to the South Carolina team by 13-7, but only after two touchdowns were called back because of penalties.

Their veteran line will be hard to crack. The average weight of the linemen is 190 pounds. Only two men from last year's forward wall are missing. Experience, and the new substitution method will give the Highlanders a tough evening, to put it mildly. All in all, Carson-Newman has nineteen returning lettermen.

Maryville will enter tonight's fray without the services of Guard Andes who is currently undergoing diathermy treatments for a bruised leg. His place in the line will be taken by Lester. The only other man who will miss action for the Scotties is Carl Lewelling, second-string end.

Lumbago Over A-E Scotties

Pi Lumbago kept pace with YM as they overpowered Alpha Sigma Scotties, Monday, by a 13-7 score. Bo Henry connected with a 40-yard pass to Wally Pentz to give the Scotties seven points after flipping to Don Benton for the extra point. Frank Farmer took things in hand along with Tom Jones as they tossed passes to Bruce DeNagy and Thad Godwin, respectively, for touchdowns. Ken Yunkers added the extra point on a toss from Farmer.

BLUE JAYS 13; ATHENIANS 0

Athenians suffered their first loss as they went down under to Blue Jays, 13-0. Tom Yeaworth tossed to "Leaky" Campbell in the first canto for both a score and extra point; then to Joe Poland in the second frame for the last six. Thereafter, both teams tried to knock on the doors for touchdowns, but the gates would not open.

Ministerials won a ballgame from Los Lobos, Tuesday, by the stupendous margin of "six inches." "The Wolves" had gone ahead in the third period on a touchdown by Arthur Haylock, leading thus till Ken Newell tallied to tie up the score. Neither team was able to make the extra point, so they resorted to a time-honored method of declaring the winner. Each team was given the ball on its own twenty yard line, and the one that gained the most yardage would be declared the winner. Los Lobos took the pigskin first and all that their efforts could produce was a minus four yards. George Day's Ministerials took over after that futile effort with the prospects of only having to outgain "The Wolves". Giving forth in a do-or-die stand they ground out the total sum of six inches in four plays, but it was enough to win. It was really one for the books.

Polecats—By Forfeit . . .

Johnson Dodd's Hadacol Hustlers, who had gained a forfeit win from Los Lobos last week, were on the other side of the tracks, Tuesday, as they failed to show up for a game with the Polecats from Pistol Creek. The win for the Cats shoved them into a three-way tie with Blue Jays and Athenian—all having a two and one record.

Athenian 19; A-E Highlanders 0

With Bob Kees on a one-man scoring rampage, Athenian defeated the Alpha Sigma Highlanders, Wednesday, 19-0. Kees scored on running plays in the first three periods of the game with Davis Smith adding the extra point on a kick. Only in the fourth canto was the Highlander able to put together any semblance of a defense against the sharp running plays of their society nemesis.

Scots Meet MTSC Blue Raiders Next Saturday Evening

Middle Tennessee State College's vaunted Blue Raiders become the next opponents for the Orange and Garnet Scotties next Saturday night. The game, first one this season played on an opponent's home field, will be under the lights at Jones Field, Murfreesboro.

Last year's October 2 game with the Raiders left a bitter taste in Scotties mouth when the lucky MTSC lads left Wilson field the victors by a 13-12 score after the Scots had at one time been within a single yard of scoring.

Lettermen Back

Coach C. M. Murphy of MTSC has about 30 returning lettermen this year, along with J. B. Proctor, star tailback for the Vols of U.T. last season. Proctor is expected to spearhead the Raider pass attack with the expert assistance of State's veteran end and Captain last year Vic Varallo. MTSC's weak spot this year, if it has one, will be in the line with a shortage of tackles and good ends.

Saturday night's game will be the second of the season for Coach Murphy's gridders. Their first game, with Millington Naval Base, was scheduled for last Thursday evening.

Last Year

The 1948 Blue Raider eleven played from a new split "T" system after a switch from the powerful old style singlewing. It is expected that Coach Murphy will hold to the same formation this season.

Campus Playhouse ....

mittee was appointed last February for the purpose of organizing the campus dramatic activities in order to improve the quality of productions and eliminate the existing problems of lack of central organization and waste of materials and time.

Katharine Davies, as chairman of the Fine Arts Division, was chairman and other members were Dr. E. R. Hunter, Dean Frank McClelland, Frances Massey, Professor Gertrude Meiselwitz, Jim Black, Mildred Miller, Bill Nish and Mary Mitchell Wooldridge. Ann Jenkins, Howard Cameron, and the new Dramatic Director, Herman Middleton, were appointed this fall. Jim Black and Mildred Miller graduated last spring.

Questionaires were sent by this committee to some 20 colleges and as a result of the study and findings of the spring months, offered the following recommendation, which has been approved by the Student Council, the Student-Faculty Senate, and the Executive Council:

Approved Recommendations

"The Student-Faculty Committee on Plays recommends the organization of one central all-campus dramatic group, to be under the supervision and direction of the Dramatic Art Faculty, in which all interested college students have opportunity to become members; this group to produce all major and minor college plays each year, the proceeds from which go into its treasury to be used for play production.

"The Play Committee also recommends that it be given the authority to work out details of such a program with the Dramatic Art Faculty and the officers of the organization to be formed."

"This committee has been working steadily since the beginning of the term on plans for the new dramatic organization to be called the Maryville College Playhouse.

Its formation provides for students who make dramatics their major extra-curricular activity to receive honors which are due to them," Middleton said.

Called Meetings

There will be no regular meetings of the Maryville College Playhouse; however, officers and a board of control will be established, and they, with the Drama Director, will call a meeting of members and all newly interested students before work begins on any play. At this meeting the proposed production will be discussed. This will include specifically the directors approach to the play, a brief outline of the characters in the play, and a brief outline of specific jobs of the production crews. Dates of try-outs will be announced later. These try-out dates will be widely publicized so that all interested persons can paritcipate.

Try-Out Procedures

After this meeting, scripts will be placed in the library where students interested in the production may check them out for study in the library. Try-outs will not be held until one week after the called meeting. On the nights of try-outs all those interested in participating in the production will appear, and submit their names for particular jobs. Those desiring roles will try out.

Those desiring production jobs will submit their names and qualifications, if these qualifications are not already part of the permanent record of the organization. All decisions will be made by the drama director, and postcards will be mailed to those selected within two days of the close of try-outs. Rehearsal schedules and workshop schedules will be announced at try-outs, so that every participant will have a reasonable idea of how much time his position will require.

All major productions will be directed and designed by Herman Middleton, drama director, and he will also supervise the activities of the workshop.

Swimming Comment

Coach Kenneth Johnson said this week that "The varsity swimming team is showing a keen interest by practicing on their own account. The team is trying three times their normal distance."

There are no changes in schedule for swimming pool hours.

Y—Pi Lumbago Deadlock

After battling it out for four quarters, YMCA and Pi Lumbago were still tied, 0-0. The contest between the two teams will be replayed at the end of the season.

HUSTLERS 31; BLUEJAYS 0

After being held to one touchdown in the first quarter, Bluejays went wild in the second and third periods to chalk up a 31-0 win over Hadacol Hustlers Thursday. George Handley started things off by latching on to a Yeaworth pass and galloping across for a score. Johnson Dodd's team sure looked like they needed some of their concoction as Handley racked up three touchdowns. Bob Sprague and McReedy were the other scorers in the win which pulled them into a third-place tie with Athenian.

A-E SCOTTIES 6; POLECATS 0

Bo Henry slipped across the goal line in the second canto to give Alpha Sigma Scotties a victory over Pistol Creek Polecats. The win first of the season for them—was marked with some rather rough playing but the boys came through without any figts.

A. S. Scotties	06	00—6
P. C. Polecats	00	00—0

Arthur Haylock connected with a pass to Howard Gress mid-way in the second period to enable Los Lobos to defeat Alpha Sigma Highlanders, 6-0, in a game where both thinking and play were on the sloppy side. The victory pulled The Wolves out of the cellar into a five-way tie for sixth place in the standings.

A. S. Highlanders	00	0
Los Lobos	06	6

Once again Hugh Hamil was the big difference as YMCA rolled forth to another win—this time over Pre-Ministerials, 14-6. The ex-baseballer pitched passes to Al Springfield and Jack Buckley for TD's in the first period after Bob Van Nest had recovered a Y fumble in their end zone. He also threw a couple of basketball passes to Ed Hatley and "Leaky" Campbell for extra points. After that hectic opening stanza, both teams "ba'red down" and limited their opponents to momentary gains.

Standings	W	L	Pct.
YMCA	140	00	14
Pre-Ministerials	00	00	0
PMCA	3	0	1.000

Two staffers had just come off second best in an argument with the editor.

First: "We've got to use psychology on that guy."

their third and fourth stringers in, managed to score twice in the last quarter. Leon Berrong went over from the eight-yard line on the second play of the stanza; thus climaxing a long march down the field. For the rest of the game, the Scotties' subs fought it out on even terms with Coach Al Thomas' team, but it was the last play of the game that was perhaps the most thrilling. Tony Cvetan, fifth-string freshman center, achieved "a lineman's dream" as he snagged a Moses-pass and raced through the entire Hiwassee team for the score. Both the extra points in the last period were added by Bobby Neff.

The Highlanders looked mighty good, but it would be wise not to pass judgment till after the Carson-Newman game. Even though two Scot scores came through intercepted passes, their air defense looked none to sharp as Hiwassee completed eight out of 16 aerials for a total yardage gained of 85. The Tiger-T fooled no one, least of all the Scottie linemen who seemed to be in on every play.

FRENCH CLUB HOLDS INITIATION SEPT. 29

French Club presented a program of French proverbs at its initial meeting Thursday. Program chairmen, Louise Lloyd and Ray Kirby, announced that future programs will center around French Fine Arts, including drama, music, literature, and art. President for this semester is Vendida Huskey.

Initiation of new members will be held at a picnic on September 29. Those recently elected to the club are Cora Anthony, Sue Althouse, Bobbie Graves, John Harris, Bob Holley, Tom Kennedy, Nancy Lassell, Mary Lynn McNeeley, Newell Witherspoon, and Hazel Wood. Initiation committee includes Rosie Pascal, Earl Henry, and David Grubbs.

TUMBLERS BEGIN PRACTICE FOR LATER GAME EXHIBITION

Bouncing around on the springboards and other apparatus, Maryville's tumblers are getting in shape for their halftime exhibition at the East Tennessee State game here on October 15. The tumblers are members of the Intramural Gym Club and meet on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays at 4:30 in Bartlett Gym. All men who have had experience in tumbling or who would like to participate in this year-round activity are urged to come.

Old members back are George Day, Ric Rogers, Branin Boyd, Joe Poland, Bob Kees, Tom Kees, Walt English and Bill Varker. Two freshmen, Bill Morris and Paul Maier, have also added their talents to the old members' repertoire of tricks.

PLANS NOW UNDERWAY FOR I-M SOCCER GAMES

Play will begin on October 17 in Intramural Soccer. Team player lists may be turned into the Intramural Office at any time and should have at least 15 players signed up.

Last year's race was won by YMCA after defeating Pi Lumbago, 2-0, in a play-off game. YMCA had won the first half while the Greeks copped second half honors. Look for further announcements next week.

Varsity Women At Soccer; Elect Captains And Managers

Girl's Varsity, sophomore Intramurals and freshmen gym classes, are beginning their year of sports activity. Girls' varsity, formerly point system, started team soccer practice Thursday afternoon. The preceding Tuesday Cora Anthony was elected captain and Evelyn O'dell, manager of the Chillies. Ruth Heaps was chosen captain of the Howies and Barbara Rogers the manager.

Freshmen are swimming until October 14. A general conditioning period and folk dancing will follow.

Following the present swimming schedule, intramurals will play volleyball and practice stunts.

Sociology Group Visits Cherokee Reservation

Twenty-eight sociology students, chaperoned by Mrs. A. F. Pieper, visited the Cherokee Indian Reservation in Cherokee, North Carolina, Wednesday, September 22.

During the morning the group listened to lectures on the history of the Cherokee Indians. In the afternoon they met for lectures and discussions on present day improvements being made by the Government. The reservation includes four North Carolina counties.

The dinner was prepared and served by home economic girls in the school dining hall. Just before eating, Miss Mary G. Ulmer, social science teacher, told the group about the Indian myths which were represented in paintings on the dining hall wall.

S. H. Gilliam, superintendent of schools, made the arrangements at the reservation for the visit. The group went by chartered bus.

Carnegie Gains Bendix

A new Bendix washer has been installed by E. E. Fogelsong, Jr., in Carnegie basement to supplement the one now being used. The addition of this washer now brings the number of washers to three, two Bendixes, and an ordinary one. Also remaining in the basement is an electric stove, previously used by married couples, and now for use by students.

Annual YM Hike Slated October 8, 9

YMCA's annual hike in the Smoky Mountain National Park is scheduled for Saturday and Sunday, October 8 and 9. The hike is open to all men of the college, but since the number going must be limited, preference will be given Y members. Approximately 60 will go.

The Chimneys will be the camping ground and hikes will be made in surrounding mountains. Cost per man is $1.50 and sign-up sheets are posted in Carnegie. Webster Fue and Joe Claud, Y fellowship chairmen, are in charge of arrangements.

Ray Holsey and Bob Holley will conduct Sunday morning services.

Fencing Becomes New I-M Activity

With the cry of "Touch, Gaston," informal Intramural Fencing started in Bartlett Gym, Thursday. With a new supply of foils and masks, aspirants to the crowns of Errol Flynn and Douglas Fairbanks were parrying this way and that in Bartlett.

All men who are interested in coming out are advised to see Earl Shellkopf, John Gill, or Coach Johnson for details. Equipment will be given out at the Intramural Office for practice on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 3:30. Formal practice will begin after the end of varsity football.

I-M GOLF TOURNAMENT SLATED FOR OCTOBER 24

Medal play will begin October 24 in the Intramural Golf Tournaments. Thirty-six holes will be played over a two-day period on the College's nine hole course. Both men's and women's tournaments will be played. Jerry Sayres, who won the Tournament last year with a one over par 121, is in charge of the tournament. Golfers can sign up in the Intramural Office at any time for the play.

Reminder: There are only 90 more days 'til Christmas.

Faculty Committee Appointees Named By President Lloyd

16 Reg. Administrative 5 Joint Groups Completed

Faculty committee memberships for the current academic year were released by the President's office this week. President Ralph W. Lloyd appoints the chairmen and members of the 16 regular faculty committees and faculty representatives to the five joint faculty-student committees.

Chairman of the Artists' Series Committee this year is Dorothy Horne. Members of the committee are Harry Harter and Gertrude Meiselwitz.

Chairman of committee on athletics and physical education is Frank D. McClelland. George Howell, Louis Black, Lombe Honaker and Marvin Minear, compose the committee. This committee remains the same as last year.

Curriculum and catalog committee is also the same as last year. Chairman is Dr. Lloyd. The committee is made up of the Dean of Curriculum, E. R. Hunter; Dean of Students, F. D. McClelland; and Viola Lightfoot, Assistant to Dean of Students.

Howell Heads Discipline

George Howell is chairman of the committee on discipline, with the same members, David Briggs and E. R. Hunter; new members, B. H. Brown and M. G. Pieper compose the committee.

Committee on entrances and standing is unchanged. Dean McClelland, is chairman and President Lloyd, Dean of Curriculum, and Secretary of the Faculty Edmund Davis, make up the committee.

Chairman of the committee on Forensics, which is the intercollegiate speech and debate contests, is V. M. Queener. Members of the committee are David Briggs, Jessie K. Johnson, and Arda Walker, a new appointment.

General committee, also unchanged from last year, consists of the President, chairman; Dean of Curriculum; Dean of Students; Dean of Women, Frances Massey; Director of Maintenance, L. A. Black; and Student-Help, Clemmie J. Henry; Secretary of the Faculty; Supervisor of Men's Residence, E. E. McCurry; and Treasurer, P. W. Henry.

Library Committee

Martha Ruth Grierson heads the committee on Library, with Lincoln Barker, Susan G. Black, E. R. Hunter, V. M. Queener, and Augustus Sisk assisting. New members are P. W. Henry and C. B. Johnson.

Committee on recommendations and replacement is headed by the Alumni Secretary, F. A. Griffitts and C. J. Henry.

Dean of Curriculum heads the committee on scheduling of activities. He is assisted by the supervisor of men's residence; Dean of Women; Chairman of Fine Arts Division, Katherine C. Davies; and Director of Athletics, L. S. Honaker.

Committee on special studies, under the chairmanship of E. R. Hunter, consists of Katharine Davies, J. A. Davis, George Howell, Dean McClelland, H. E. Orr, and V. M. Queener. New members are M. R. Grierson and Esther Swenson.

L. L. Williams is the new chairman of Student Business Management Committee. Composing the committee are L. A. Black, Ralph Case, F. A. Griffitts, C. J. Henry, E. R. Walker, and M. C. Wilkinson.

Director of Student-Help, C. J. Henry, heads the committee on Student-Help. She is assisted by the Dean of Students, Treasurer, Lincoln Barker, Frances Massey and H. E. Orr.

Joint Faculty-Student Committees

Several committees are composed of both faculty and students. Student Publications Committee, headed by F. A. Griffitts, is composed of Ralph T. Case, Elizabeth Jackson and new member, Arthur Bushing.

Student-Faculty Senate, special committee, is headed by the President, and is composed of S. G. Black, C. J. Henry, G. Howell, E. R. Hunter, Dean McClelland,

Thirty Students Begin Work In Varsity Debate

"Resolved: That the United States should nationalize the basic non-agricultural industries" is the debate question for the coming season. Dr. V. M. Queener and Arda Walker are again directing and coaching the debate try-outs.

Thirty freshmen and upper classmen have been meeting regularly on Thursday nights, and the twenty members of the squad will be picked from that group. Try-outs will be held near the end of November.

Previous debaters who are interested this year are Dorothy Stater, Carol Corbett, Elenor Kramer, Judy Breen, Eric Meadows, Carl Lindsay, Roger Cowan, Lewis Evans of the varsity team; and Robert Cuthill and Newell Witherspoon of last year's freshman team.

New potential debators are Arthur Dixon, Alice Teeter, Bill Caldwell, Will Stradtman, Clinton Bapsy, Lillian Barker, Robert Newman, Bob Worthington, Ginger Tufvander, Lynn Miller, Walter Ogilvis, Jimmy Buttson, Wandell Elbert, Richard Lebold, David Foskey, J. Talmer Peacock, Ruth Reeves, Rolfe Duggar, Thomas Kennedy, William Espenshade, Bill Shields, Duane Mason, Daniel Thamisch and George Queener.

Pi Kappa Delta Active Since '22

This year's officers of Pi Kappa Delta are as follows: Eric Meadows, president; Carol Corbett, vice-president; Louis Evans, secretary-treasurer; and Elenor Kramer, reporter.

Pi Kappa Delta, the active one of the three national debate societies, was inaugurated at Maryville in 1922. Dr. Hunter was then the debate coach. He and Dr. Queener are the two resident charter members.

Alpha Chapter of Pi Kappa Delta is the oldest in Tennessee. Eligibility requirements for membership in the society are at least one full year of debate or speech work, participation in two or more varsity debates and a certain percentage of wins.

A national convention is held every two years, which is attended by members of more than 200 chapters throughout the country. Last year Carol Corbett, Eric Meadows, Roger Cowan and Jim Torrey went to Peoria, Ill. to take part in the contest.

13 Provinces In U.S.

The country is divided into 13 provinces, each of which holds a convention the year the national convention is not held. According to Dr. Queener, there is a possibility of Maryville being the provincial host this year.

Annual question is chosen by a national committee composed of representatives of the two honorary societies, Tau Kappa Alpha, Delta Sigma Rho, and the active society, Pi Kappa Delta, and a representative of the Debate Coaches Association. The suggestions from all the chapters are weighed and evaluated for national interest and length of interest.

This committee also picks a discussion topic, which this year is "What should the United States' policy be toward the Far East."

News Capsules—

By Dick Newman

LABOR VICTORY

Most significant national news last week was the granting of company-paid pensions to Ford Motor employees. Brought about by Walter Reuther's CIO United Auto Workers, the two and a half year, history-making pact gives hope for greater auto industry peace.

LABOR PAINS

Violence marked disputes between coal mine operators and John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers Thursday as 500,000 miners idled because of pension and welfare disagreements. UMW officials claim the offer of operators to extend the old wage contract "does not meet the realities of the situation."

LABOUR ABROAD

Britain's Labour government received a vote of confidence from Commons Thursday on its devaluation of the pound sterling. Reports still circulated, however, that a general election will be called for this autumn; Churchilled Conservatives claim "mismanagement."

CZECKS BOUNCED

The government decided this week to support Yugoslavia against Czechoslovockia, the Soviet candidate, for the UN Security Council seat to be vacated by the Ukraine. Britain, still undecided, may vote for the Czecks.

OKLAHOMA'S FIFTH

Traditionally dry Oklahoma voted in prohibition again last week, and probably would continue to in the future, as Will Rogers said, "as long as voters could stagger to the polls." Incidentally, it was the Panhandle State's fifth attempt at repeal.

Playhouse Meeting Set For Wednesday

Maryville College Playhouse members will meet on Wednesday at 8 p.m. in Bartlett Hall. Instructor Herman Middleton of the drama and speech department will explain plans for two forthcoming experimental plays and the first major production of the year.

Members will elect officers for the Playhouse at the same time.

Summer Experiences Discussed At Volunteers

"Summer Experiences," will be Student Vols' theme Sunday evening at 8 p.m. in Bartlett Hall.

Sue Althouse will tell of her work at the Philadelphia State Hospital. Experiences as counselor at Camp Bennett will be related by Ben Sheldon. John Lacey who did Bible school work and preached in Hickory, North Carolina and Harriet McClain who did social work at Erie Neighborhood House in Chicago also will take part.

YW Members Hike Smokies, October 8

Look Rock is the site this year for YWCA's annual hike in the Smokies. Saturday afternoon, October 8, is the time, and the cost, which will be announced definitely later, will be about one dollar for food and transportation.

Sign up sheets will be in girls' dorms until Monday, October 3.

MC Teacher's Workshop A Two-Night Institution

By Lynn McNeeley

Lights burn late in Thaw Hall as 130 teachers from the surrounding counties increase their knowledge two times a week. This is Maryville College Teachers' Workshop in its third year of activity. Courses meet every Monday for ten weeks from 4:30 to 6 p.m. and from 7 to 9:30 p.m.

Dr. D. H. Briggs, director, is rather the "daddy of the workshop which was organized because of the demand and need of the people. At first, courses in education were offered so the teachers teaching on a permit might continue their teaching. Now even some college courses are offered.

Courses Offered

Jessie Heron is repeating a course in freshman English. Some of the other courses are as follows: children's literature taught by Mrs. Margaret Cummings, general psychology by Dr. Lincoln Barker, educational sociology by Dr. Ralph Case, and American literature by Jessie Heron.

Workshop, in its short past, has also offered public school music, teaching of arts and crafts, physical health, and all the various methods of teaching in the elementary school. It is open to Blount, Sevier, Knox, Loudon and Monroe Counties' teachers and anyone wishing to earn college credit.

Vesper Choir Initiates 24 Members At Picnics

New members of the Vesper Choir were welcomed and initiated at the annual fall choir picnic yesterday afternoon on the golf course, and the picnic supper held last night in the College Woods.

Baseball, contests, and games were played. The 24 new members presented skits.

Following the picnic supper, prepared by Evelyn Kennedy, campfire singing was directed by Fred Seiber. Party chairman was Evalyn Smith.

Mrs. H. H. Harter, Mrs. Jack Reid, and Mrs. Conrad Eaddy were present as guests of the choir.

MRS. R. W. LLOYD TELLS Y OF MARRIAGE, FAMILY

Mrs. Ralph Lloyd will discuss Marriage and Family at a joint meeting of YW and YM in the library Sunday afternoon at 1:30.

Frosh Turn New Leaf In Talent Style Tonite at 8

Frosh will show off their talent in an all-campus production, "Autumn Leaves", at 8 p.m. in the Alumni Gym.

Among musical numbers given are "Lindee Lou" sung by Lois Sealander, piano selections by Barbara Scott and by Ginger Tufvander, and singing by Jeanette Whitaker.

Other participants are Gloria Hineman, who will read "The Bell of Hopkins Corners", Jimmy Britton and Johnson Dodd, Sally Kotz, who will read, Sally Booth, who will present a skit, and Wally Schroeder, Alice Jo Larson and Charlie Schroeder.

Jack Rorex, June Rector, Alice Jo Larson and Hayden Bryant are assisting Charles Williams in preparing the program.

Playhouse Stage Plans Announced By Drama Director

Herman Middleton, director of drama, has released plans involving workshop and staging equipment of Maryville College Playhouse. These plans include a moderately equipped workshop and a portable stage, proscenium arch, ceiling for the sets, and traveler for the curtain.

The entire set has been designed by Middleton so that it can be easily and safely set up or dismantled by a dozen students in several hours.

The stage measuring 24 by 36 feet wide and three feet high will be composed of six 12 by 12 by three feet sections which can be set up or dismantled without the use of nails, hammers, or other tools. These 12 by 12 foot sections can further be used by other campus groups. A small rental will be charged, however, since the Playhouse is to be self-supporting. These fees and the small profits from major productions will be used to repay the initial investment and to add equipment as it is needed.

The Workshop will continue to be located in the attic of Bartlett Hall. The Playhouse Workshop Assistant will have charge of renting properties and supervising all work done there. Present plans call for both him and the drama director to keep regular shop hours four afternoons each week.

"There is much more work to be done before the first Experimental Theatre production on November 4," announced Middleton. Interested students who have not already joined the group are urged to do so.

NEXT ECHO OCT. 15

The next edition of The Highland Echo will be published Saturday, October 15. Since the Y hikes come next week-end, the editor and business manager have scheduled a break for the benefit of staff members wishing to make the hike.

600 PICTURES MADE; CONTRACT SIGNED

Initial plans for the 1950 Chilhowean are being completed as Skeet Talent Studio has taken six hundred individual pictures of students and faculty. Group pictures of the four societies, Girls' Choir, and Vesper Choir have also been taken, according to editor Mary Lyerly.

An engraving contract has been made with the same company that did last year's work, Capitol Engraving Company of Nashville.

Chilhoweans may be ordered at any time during the semester from Tom Kees, business manager. The tenth of each month has been especially set aside for this purpose.

Y Radio Broadcasts Drama "The Lost Book," Monday Night on WGAP

Y Radio Workshop of the Air will present its first program of the year on Monday evening at 9:30 over station WGAP.

Along with a drama, "The Lost Book", starring Joe Poland, Dave Reed, Mary Mitch Woolridge, Ann Jenkins and Bill Starr, the Workshop will interview freshman Don Merwin on China.

This program will continue weekly under the direction of Ann Jenkins and Bill Starr. Others to take part are Ben Paxton, announcer; Herb Keene, featured vocalist; Tom Lang,musical director and Keene's accompanist; and Irv Kenner and James Watt, sound effects.

Workshop Taps Hunt; Earisman, Kincaid Read

Jean Hunt was elected to Writer's Workshop at Wednesday's meeting. The vacancy was caused by the resignation of one of their members.

Del Earisman and Martha Kincaid will be the readers next Wednesday in Thaw Hall at 3:30.

The current week readers were Ben Paxton and Carroll Stegall. Ben's contribution was an original radio play, "Four Portraits" and was criticized by Miss Heron. A character sketch of his parrot, "Cris" was presented by Carroll and criticized by Judy Breen.

"Chips," a published collection of last year's best workshop productions, is on sale for 20 cents, a special reduced introduction offer for freshmen, and can be purchased from Marian McBride.

Initial Meeting of FTA Announced For Thursday

"What FTA Is and Does" will be the topic presented at the initial meeting of the Jasper Converse Barnes Chapter of the Future Teachers of America.

Members and those who anticipate a teaching career are urged to attend the meeting which will be held Thursday, October 6, at 6:45 p.m. in Thaw 208, announced Ray Kirby.

STUDENT COUNCIL—

Student Center Agreement Discussed

Wednesday night's Student Council meeting was concerned chiefly with the consideration of factors relative to the adoption of a Student Center agreement for the current year. Upon Council invitation, Dean Frank D. McClelland discussed with council members the over-all history, structure, and place of the center as a campus assembly place. Care of equipment, financing of the building, conduct of students at the center, and a necessity for council responsibility in governing the functions of its opening were included in the discussion.

Council action to bring before students the spirit of the center agreement will be further discussed at next week's meeting. Council is concerned with the proper use of the evening opening hours in order that the nightly study schedule will not suffer undue interruption.

The student bank, second on council agenda, was not opened for discussion by the group because of the lack of time. Because the center agreement, which is entered into by four parties—the college, the two Y's, and the student council—is scheduled for early ratification, other current business was shelved.

Next week council will elect ten persons for nomination to "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities." These nominations will then be passed along to a faculty committee for subsequent recommendation or modified before being formally submitted for consideration by Who's Who authorities.

One town night offense was reported, and a penalty of three weeks suspension of town night privileges was evoked.

Homecoming queen nomination by the student body is scheduled for a student body meeting after chapel on Thursday, Del Earisman, elections chairman, stated.

Five MC Students Lead Hi-Y Clubs

Hi-Y clubs, high school YMCA groups, are being organized in four local schools by the community committee of the Maryville College Y.

Schools in which organization is planned this year are Everett, Hale, and Charles Hall; Maryville High is reorganizing last year's group. Open to students of the tenth, eleventh, and twelfth grades, the clubs will emphasize service projects. Last year the Maryville High group set up a first aid room and built a school trophy case.

The Hi-Y purpose is "to create, maintain, and extend through the school and community high standards of Christian living" through the platform of "clean living, clean speech, clean sportsmanship, and clean scholarship."

Paul McNeil is the Y committee chairman, and representatives are Del Earisman, Maryville; Ed Heerschap, Everett; Bob Moser, Hale; and George Barber, Hall.

Men's Organization Completed for Year

Six new members elected at polls Wednesday and Thursday to MSO's coordinating council are as follows:

Jim McKee	dorm
D. M. Miller	dorm
Paul McNeil	dorm
Ralph Theisse	dorm
Tom Lang	transit
Jim Callaway	town

Ray Holsey, chairman, Tubby Callaway, and George Ogle are carry-overs from last year's Council. MSO constitution was almost unanimously ratified. A total of 364 votes were cast, representing 72% of the male student body.

MSO, a new organization just having completed its first year, is a medium through which men can present problems and by which male students living on or off campus or at home may have more definite campus "say-so."

Jim McKee, senior mathematics major from Centralia, Ill., was also a member of MSO last year. He is treasurer of the senior class and a member of the football letterman squad.

D. M. Miller from Knoxville is a senior physical education major and is co-captain of this year's football Highlanders.

Paul McNeil is a senior sociology major from Chattanooga and has been a member for the past two years of the Y cabinet and the wrestling team.

Ralph Theisse, Cleveland, Ohio, is a sophomore sociology major His activities include intra-mural sports managership and Pep Committee. During his freshman year he served as treasurer of his class.

Tom Lang, junior English major from Baltimore, is a member of Parish Project and music director of Y Radio Workshop.

Jim Callaway is a pre-med major from Maryville. He is a Student Council member and is on the varsity football squad.

Webb, Rogers Vie Council Vacancy

Mary Holly Webb and Ruth Rogers were nominated to fill the vacant position of senior representative on the Student Council at their class meeting Thursday morning.

All seniors who expect to graduate in December were urged to turn into the Alumni office six photographs of application size. It was also stated at the meeting that recommendation sheets and permanent record cards should also be filled out.

Junior Class dues will be collected starting Monday, October 3, under the direction of Sherman Lester. Dues for this year will be 50 cents. Joe McNeil, president of the class, announced that plans are under way for a Hallowe'en party and will be announced later.

Jim Kren, president of the sophomore class, said that dues will continue to be collected next week. Those in charge of collection are Thad Godwin, treasurer, and Jean Davis.

Faculty To Hear Reber on 'Goethe'

H. S. Reber, assistant professor of German, will read a paper, "Goethe, the Man and His Works," the Faculty Club's formal dinner meeting, Monday evening at 6:30.

Reber's paper will be divided into three sections—the Life of Goethe, Faust, and Goethe's Genius and Universality. Sheets of German lyric poetry will be distributed.

This is the first complete dinner served since 1943 when they were discontinued because of rationing and scarcity of food. Another dinner will be given next semester, while the rest of the meetings will be salad and dessert meals.

"Resolved: That . . ."

With the announcement of the national Phi Kappa Delta debate topic, "Resolved: That the United States Should Nationalize the Basic Non-Agricultural Industries," varsity and freshmen squad candidates this week undertook to prepare for the coming season. Thirty students are now processing debate facts and tactics under Dr. Verton M. Queener and Arda Walker.

Our opinion is that the debate topic this year will be a lively, much-talked-about subject. And, if last year's superior team is any indication, the MC squad should become a top-rate team.

Maryville students had the opportunity of hearing the debaters in a varsity tilt in just one home setting last year. According to our understanding, the possibility exists for the coming season that the area's Phi Kappa Delta Provincial meet may be held here on the hill.

It will be fortunate if Maryville can be host to the provincial tournament. Maryville students can then really appreciate a first-rate series of debates.

About Your Chilhowean

Each year a new and more enthusiastic Chilhowean staff makes new aims and holds on to high expectations from and for the student body. And each year we refuse to cooperate.

To be entirely successful, an annual must have the cooperation of at least nine-tenths of its student body. Out of approximately 900 potentialities, roughly two-thirds of that number had Chilhowean photographs made. While this is a representative number, it is not by far a maximum in student enthusiasm. Staffers work hard on the annual without praise, recognition, or compensation to bring you an original and carefully planned record of your year—and for seniors the year.

Although five dollars in lump sum now may seem like a treasury, its material value will, nevertheless, diminish through the years as you look back through the pages of your Chilhowean.

MSO In Slow Gear

Maryville's men students, 364 strong, voted this week to keep the Men's Student Organization in force. MSO's constitution requires ratification each fall semester with a two-day poll vote of all college men—campus, transient, and town students.

Four weeks of the college year are past. The coordinating council for MSO has just come to life. Slow gear is possibly all one can expect from such a situation. What should the coordinating council for the organization do to make it more effective to the men at large—and soon?

Two things seem imperative if the MSO is going to be an active, representative voice early in the fall semester at a time when it's needed most. One, the system of nominating council representatives needs a change. Why not let the town men nominate exclusively their representatives; then let the dorm and transient students meet seperately, also, to nominate coordinating council candidates?

In the second place, a simpler election method would make the democratic process easier. Elections in stated meetings of the respective groups should replace the awkward two-day poll.

True, many factors have hindered the current efforts of the three hold-over MSO officials from putting the men's representative body in full force. That the constitution requires proportionate representation from the three respective groups, that a time for an all-men meeting is difficult to schedule, and that nominations must be made a week before the vote are considerations that bogged down the machinery this fall.

Two short years of experience with MSO point to bulkness in the process of getting started. It must be simplified and eased into active force sooner.

"Whispering Hope"

We seem to be starting Spiritual Emphasis Week a little early this year. "Whispering Hope", which some people still regard as a hymn, has made numerous appearances among the popular tunes at the dances. At this rate it may yet make Hit Parade.

"All Through The Night"

If Dave Reed's method of "study infiltration" proves successful, campus study habits may witness a revolution. Every night Dave reads his sociology assignment into a wire recorder attached to a clock. Then at a certain hour when all are asleep, the machine plays back the recording. Supposedly, Dave will absorb some of this info while sleeping.

Everyone is happy with this affair except Bill Starr, who is rudely awakened every night by the record of "His Roommate's Voice" reciting sociology. But isn't is a facinating subject for a lullaby?

"Singing in the Rain"

Don Gray, that sophomore with glasses, was playing tennis the other day when one of these sudden showers came up. As the other players left the field he said: "Don't leave. Let's get out the windshield wipers and keep playing. "

"With a Song in My Heart"

Have you noticed those little treble clef signs worn by the new members of Vesper Choir? When the initiates were receiving instructions on the kind and color of ink to be used in signing their names on the cards, one freshman voice came from the back row: "Are you sure you don't want them signed in blood?"

"Happy Birthday to You"

This novel idea could originate only in Pearsons. Since Marian McBride is doing her special studies on T. S. Elliot, contemporary English author, her roommates planned a surprise party for Marian and T. S. on occasion of his birthday. Twenty girls came in to celebrate with candles, refreshments, and a "Happy Birthday" song to T. S. It's too bad the guest of honor couldn't make it, but the girls all wrote him a note telling him how much they enjoyed his party. After participating enthusiastically, Judy Breen, well versed in her major field, English, asked puzzled, "Just who is T. S. Elliot anyhow?"

"Playmate"

Several big, husky football players were gathered in a huddle per usual in the Student Center for their morning cup of coffee. As the bell rang announcing next period, they rose en masse sweeping slowly toward the door. Suddenly a voice was heard. "Come on," it said, "Let's go play school now!"

"All I Want for Christmas Is My Two Front Teeth"

While we're on the subject of football, to clear up a point for those who were wondering, that wasn't a crap game in progress on the field at the C-N game last Saturday. Leon Berrong lost a $75 platinum cap to one of his teeth and all were searching for it. With that value for platinum these days, who cares about prospecting for uranium anyway?

"Sentimental Journey"

Dr. Barker was seriously explaining to his abnormal psychology class (the psych was abnormal, that is) certain interesting deficiencies: "tremors, spasms, tics, convulsions, athetosis, myoclonus, chorea, and all points west!"

"Show Me the Way To Go Home"

The sophomores have been so busy drawing maps of Hades (referred to in last week's column). Of course, many were intensely interesting, but one above all needs mentioning in the column. The dedication at the corner of one map read:

"To the istructor of English 205F this map is fondly dedicated—for it is she who has made hell real to me!"

"Tell Me The Tales"

We close with the following pertinate observations. Gene Carden, on detectives: "They have three eyes—their own and a private eye."

Ralph Thiessie, on marriage: "It works out better if one is male and the other female."

George Ogle, on profanity: "But there's none in Pittsburgh."

Bill Nish, on the practice of Shhh-ing: "It sounds like Vesper Choir singing "With Sound of Trumpet'."

Jim Frain, on pre-fabricated houses: They're not what they're cut out to be."

Talk of The Week

By Alan Fort

Voices, Masks, and Shadows

IT'S GREAT?

For the music-lovers who are waiting for "Jolson Sings Again," the Capitol this Tuesday will have something you may like. Before pondering why Jolson can't be Jolson on the screen, since he's been just that off it for gosh-knows how long, you can ponder the reverse of that set-up in "It's A Great Feeling."

Warner Bros.' none-too-new trick of the week is dragging everybody on their lot, playing himself, past a camera while a small script-girl—and only she—hangs onto a thread of plot.

In a film-within-a film situation, another gesture not signally original, Jack Carson and Dennis Morgan are about to co-star in an epic-sounding "Mile Fifi," whereupon all available directors balk, with good reason, we imagine.

Directing his own picture becomes Carson's job, but getting waitress Doris Day to play in it should hardly have been so formidable. She is, it seems, one of the Crabtree Corners type of red-blooded American who would like to trade her healthy life for that of the thank-heaven-non-American life of Filmdom.

Relief from this folderol is offered by a befuddled railroad information clerk and Carson's sound track noises. Even eating popcorn may offer some relief, but the pass to which Maryville's out-night entertainment has come is considerably prettier.

Very obviously in direct contrast with the Friday-Saturday "Western" is the Capitol's Wednesday-Thursday showing of "In Old Los Angeles." Forgetting geography to recall old movie titles, we can think of offhand: "In Old Chicago," "In Old Oklahoma," "In Old Santa Fe," and "In Old Podunk, Pa."

IT'S STOCK

This month's Theatre Arts is much the better for two articles. The more imaginative will, we're afraid, see some of this area's departed and some of its promising players in the types charicatured in "The Stock Situation." In addition to this delightful fun-poking at summer stock, there is a Theatre Arts view of the 1929 scene & spirit, captured neatly in photo and comment. Recalled in looking back at the movies, the dance, Broadway, music, radio, and a little of who was news are Mary Garden, Crummit & Sanderson, Paul Whiteman's vocalist with the odd first name—Bing, and many more from the era just beyond most MCers.

H'S POETRY?

For the loose constructionists at least, Poetry—capital as in Culture—made an inspired bow this week. Of note will be Ted Malone, Ogden Nash, Robert W. Service. Uninvited apparently was E. A. Guest. Of considerably more note were "Elizabethan Lyrics" and "Great Poets and Their Theology."

For those who missed something in high school—and who didn't?—there are some new, awfully pretty, and we hope, informative textbooks on lots of things that interest education people.

For the special studies-minded junior there is much material waiting in two volumes of "The Lincoln-authority professor Randoll. More source stuff: "The Theatre of Dionysus in Athens," "Insights into Labor Issues," and, less scholarly, "The German Generals Talk."

Two viewpoints on personal philosophy are represented by "The Place Where Thou Standest," of the Peace of Mind Soul-N. V. Peale ilk, and the classical "Meditations" of Marcus Aurelius.

IT'S GAINS

The bigger names in radio are drifting back this month—mostly, you'll remember from the captial gains deals aimed at the US Treasury, on CBS. The older National net, however, came out on top in a tussle with its quiz-loving ("Stop the Music!") offspring ABC to land The Theatre Guild on the Air. Following US Steel's summer hour of top-notch NBS Symphony guest-conductor concerts, that company's dramatic series is expected to show as impressively as it did last year on ABC. Tomorrow night on WROL at 8:30 the Guilders will do "Counsellor at Law." Starring is Jimmy Cagney, whose talents we have heretofore not respected quite so much as those of the playwright, Elmer Rice.

ABC, for its part, is now sporting Boris Karloff—if that's what one does with his talents. Television not having reached here, and most Maryvilians not having reached TV, his Wednesday-at-9 show on WBIR is recommended.

IRC To Discuss News, Propaganda, See Film Monday In Fayerweather

International Relations Club will consider problems of news and propaganda at its 6:45 Monday night meeting in the chemistry lecture room, second floor, Fayerweather Science Hall.

What can we believe in the news today? Where does factual reporting end and special interest or political coloring begin? How much are we and other peoples of the world bombarded with propaganda intended to mold our thinking along certain pre-determined lines? were announced for discussion questions by Program Chairman Aubrey Galyon.

The program features a film, "Propaganda Techniques," and is the first of a series based on the general topic of propaganda and public opinion.

The business session will include financial and other administrative planning for the year. This meeting will close IRC's membership campaign for the fall semester.

●SCOTTIES' GAME with the Eages of Carson-Newman came out as most people expeted it would. The Blue and White Eagles just didn't have what it took in the pinch, although they looked good—better than the Highlanders—during the last half. Early in the first period it was reasonably apparent that Coach Hoanker's men were setting up to score, but it was early in the second period before Leon Berrong carried over the first tally. Big moment of the game of course, was Blondy Law's 85 yard touchdown run.

●IT WOULD APPEAR that MC's pass defense is a little weak. The Eagles, connecting with six out of 14 passes, gained a total of 16 yards in last week's game. Our own attempts at passing four in all, were good tries. Two of them should have connected—just one of those things.

A FOREGONE CONCLUSION in last night's tussle with the Blue Raiders of MTSC was their superb pass atack. J. B. Proctor, ex-Vol passer and star tailback, along with a couple of seasoned ends of the style of Vic Varallo, made a combination too good for Coach C. M. Murphy to pass by.

●MC's INTRAMURAL SPORTS program rolls right along with soccer coming up about the middle of the month. The days of the touch footballers with the colorful names are nearly numbered for this year. In the intramural line it'll soon be time for soccer and basketball.

●COACH KEN JOHNSON'S HARRIERS ought to be pleased over the new route—the golf course hill was a lot of climb for a long cross country run. A meet with TPI is also a new wrinkle for the Scottie thin clads. More participation by more schools in cross country track programs is needed in this area before the sport can amount to a whole lot.

●CENTRE COLLEGE is next on the Scot sport roster after a year's absense. Centre re-entered collegiate football in 1946 after a lapse during the war years. Like Maryville, Centre refuses to subsidize its players. During their first post-war season they lost seven games in a seven game schedule. In 1947 the record was slightly better, although the Scotties took them on home grounds at Danville, Ky. by a 27-0 run-away.

●NEXT WEEK'S away game at Danville will end the Highlander road trips for a while. Next after that is a rough East Tennessee State game at home, and then it's away again to Emory, Va. for the Emory and Henry tussle.

●THE ANNUAL ALL-STAR intramural football game has been set for 7:15 p.m. Saturday, October 22. Each year's all-star game under the lights is about all the chance for glory the I-M footballers get, but it's unfailingly a good evening's entertainment on a Saturday evening when duty calls Coach Honaker's men elsewhere.

SCOTS TOP EAGLES 13-0

Maryville College bested its arch rival Carson-Newman in a first of a two game series last Saturday night by a score of thirteen to nothing. The game, which was played in Duff Field, Knoxville, was a rough and tumble affair which featured both bone-crushing line play and vicious tackles in the backfield. In fact, at one point the play became so rough that a CN lineman was ejected from the game for unsportsmanlike conduct.

The Highlanders scored both of their touchdowns in the second period. Early in that quarter the Scots took over on their own forty-five and eight plays later they scored. Blondie Law, Maryville's chief veteran end, took the ball on an end around and raced it down to the seven for another first down. Law was stopped as he tried to crash through the C-N line, but Leon Berrong swooped around end to break the scoring ice. Bobby Neff added the point.

The Eagles came back strong after this initial touchdown and began a sustained march from their own nineteen to the Maryville five. The Holtmen appeared ready to score, but the valiant Scottie line dug in and stopped them cold. The Scotties took over at that point and appeared hopelessly bottled up deep in their own domain. After two line bucks had moved the ball out to the thirteen, Blondie Law took the pigskin and scampered around end for eighty-seven yards and paydirt. Blondie had excellent blocking all the way and easily outsped his pursuers the rest of the way. Neff had his second try for extra point blocked. Incidentally, Law carrier the ball eight times for a total yardage gained of 119. Therefore, Blondie's rushing average for the night was 14.88 yds. per try,

The second half of the ballgame was more evenly matched. Maryville's line held fast and the secon-

BLUE-JAY'S 2; PI LUMBAGO 0

Playing in a quagmire that reduced both team's efficiency to the minimum, Bluejays knocked Pi Lumbago from out of the ranks of the undefeated, Monday, 2-0. The wet weather which hampered play so much was an indirect cause of the Greek's loss. A bad pass from center resulted in Thad Godwin being caught behind the goal line, without his "mudders", by Willard Rahn, in the first period. After that both teams splashed up and down the field, but could not muster anything of an attack.

Rallying three times when Pre-Ministerials were going for pay dirt, Alpha Sigma Highlanders made goal line stands to preserve a six-point margin for three periods as they won a thriller from the preachers, 6-2. Utilizing short passes all the way, the Highlanders marched to the Ministerial-twenty, from where Dick Jones tossed to Charles Warner for a TD. George Day's team, time and time again was on the verge of scoring but the society-team, with their backs to the wall, held. In the fourth period after thwarting four attempts to score from the six-inch line, Alpha Sig took over and Ministerials gained their two points. Dick Jones in trying to run the ball from out of the end zone was afforded no blocking and Bob Van Nest who was practically a one-man team, tagged him for the two-counters.

Johnson Dodd, manager of Hadacol Hustlers, was very disgusted, Wednesday, as his team failed to show up and forced him to take loss to Athenian by forfeit. Raiders Out-Pass Scots For A Rough 45-13 Win

Harriers Gain Meets With TPI

Coach Johnson pulled something new out of his hat last Thursday before Cross-Country time trials. That something was a radical change in the route. The tough golf course hill has been eliminated, and in its place has been substituted four laps around the regular track, two before and two after the running of the woods course.

These four laps make up for the mile lost by the absence of the golf course loop. In warming up, the harriers now do four laps around the track in preparation for the run through the woods.

The results of last week's time trials are as follows: Delbert Earisman, 18:35, Bill Menges, 18:51, George Day 19:08, Jimmy Thurston 19:17, Ric Rogers 19:22, Neal Pearson 19:28, and Tom Kelly 19:57. The first seven will run against UT next Friday afternoon here at Maryville, and the remainder of the squad will also participate although their placing will not count.

Next week, Coach Johnson will hold another time trial sometime prior to the UT meet. During the rest of the week the boys will walk and run the new course in getting in shape for the Vols.

Two additional meetings have been scheduled with T.P.I. The Scots will journey to the domain of the Golden Eagles on November 5 and will also have a home match with them sometime in the middle of October. Date for the home match is still undecided. Two home and home series have already been scheduled with UT and Sewanee.

A. Frank Farmer, one of their better players, was the victim of a collision with, of all persons, Bruce DeNagy, one of his own players. It seems that DeNagy was carrying the ball with Farmer leading interference, but that Farmer wasn't going fast enough.

MTS Brings First Highlander Defeat

Coach L. S. Honaker's Highlanders met their first defeat of the 1949 grid season yesterday evening from the Blue Raiders of Middle Tennessee State College by a score of 45-13. The game was played under the lights on Jones Field at Murfreesboro, Tennessee.

First Half

Early in the first quarter the Raiders tallied on a pass from J. B. Proctor to Vic Varallo at right end. Try for the point was good, leaving the score 7-0 in the first few minutes of play. A few seconds later MC's gridders scored and converted. The first half was still young however, when the MTSC eleven chalked up two more touchdowns and converted once to give them a comfortable half-time lead of twelve points.

Scots Score

Maryville's other tally in the game came early in the second half when Hershell Merriman pushed over to make the score 19-13. Neff's try for conversion failed.

From here on the game became a runaway for Coach Murphy's Blue Raiders. J. B. Proctor uncorked another long pass to bring the score to 26-13 after a spectacular run from his own 30 yard line to the Maryville 30 yard line. The Raiders scored again before the third period ended, bringing the tally to 33-13.

Early in the last quarter MTSC picked up on a steady drive to push over finally from the Highlander seven yard line. Kick for the extra point was wild and the score stood at 39-13. Final marker of the game was made at about the mid-point of the last period when a pass hurled by Tubby Callaway was intercepted on the Raiders' own 44 yard line and carried 56 yards to the final 45-13 score.

BLUE-JAYS, 20-0

Russ Owens caught a pass on the first play of the game and took off like a scalded dog with three men chasing him to score for Ministerials, but they still went under to Blue Jays, 20-0. Owens took a pass from Ronald Fleming and it looked like the makings of another great upset. However, Bluejays were not to be outdone and quickly knotted the count when Tom Yeaworth tossed to Eugene McCook. Yeaworth carried the ball over for the extra point and from then on Bluejays were never headed. George Handley kicked the point to give the Birds a 14-6, half-time lead. Just to sew things up, Yeaworth tossed one to "Leaky" Campbell, their "prodigal son," in the third quarter for the final tally.

All-Star Game Set

Intramural football play will end with the playing of the annual All-Star Game on October 22 between the winning team and an All-Star array picked by members of the squads. Players will vote next week to determine 12 representatives to face the winner. They will elect players from other teams and not from their own.

Gametime will be at 7:15, thus starting an all-campus affair which will end with a soccer game beginning around 8:15. Quarters will be increased to ten minute affairs so that all 12 players will probably have to be used.

Last year's contest saw Y deadlocked with an All-Star aggregation. In the soccer exhibition, Art Haaf's capering clowns (YM CA) drew a 2-2 tie with Alpha Sigma's kickers.

SOCCER BEGINS

Ken Newell announced that teams interested in forming a soccer league may obtain eligibility lists from the Intramural Office starting Monday, October 3. They must be in by Wednesday, October 12.

Each team is allowed a maximum of 18 players and a minimum of 12.

Spanish Club In Verse Contest

Spanish Club will hold a verse contest at the next meeting on October 6. A four-line verse in Spanish is to be recited when Secretary Peggy Kettles calls roll.

Members are also to think up some Spanish names for the Spanish Club, a motto, and if possible, to write the words for a club song. Prizes will be given to the winners.

A committee was appointed by President Barbara Blum to find out the availability and cost of pins. She also announced that, henceforth, meetings will be held completely in Spanish so that the members could more easily "appreciate the language and the culture of the Spanish countries."

Dues for the semester will be twenty-five cents, payable to Treasurer Joe McNeill. After the meeting Thursday a marshmallow roast was held on the baseball field.

McCLELLAND MADE KIWANIS LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR

Students Activate Sunday Schools

Maryville students are active in the leadership of college Sunday school classes at Maryville's downtown churches.

Church schools begin at 9:15 a. m. in all the local churches with the exception of St. Andrew's Episcopal which starts at 9:30 a. m.

Del Poling will lead the call to worship at New Providence Presbyterian Church this week. Other students participating in the service are Don Merwin who will read the scripture and Carol Mitchell who will lead the singing. Ruth Crothers will play the piano while Joan Platt brings special music.

Recently elected officers of Broadway Methodist college class are Charles Schwenke, president; Sally Sutton, vice president; Beryl Stewart, secretary-treasurer. Nanette Enloe and Millard Stevens are program chairman while Ross Dooley and Tom Jones are recreation chairmen.

At the First Methodist Church George Day will lead the worship service in the college class. T. W. Kleinsasser will teach.

Bill Varker and Ric Rogers are in charge of the song service at the First Baptist church school. Organist is George Carpenter and pianist, Lawrence Wallace. Jack Walker will be guest leader of devotions.

Dr. Floyd Clark teaches the First Christian Church men's college class which is held in the court house. Mrs. Floyd Clark is in charge of the women's class.

The college group at St. Andrew's Episcopal church will hear Dr. David H. Briggs.

Catalog File Available In Dean Hunter's Office

Catalogs of colleges and universities throughout the United States are available in the office of the Dean of Curriculum. Students wishing to check entrance or graduation requirements of other schools are welcome to use this file of latest catalogs from almost every college in the nation.

There are also catalogs of graduate schools on file in the Library. Anyone wishing to use the Library file should ask at the circulation desk.

C-N Game . . .

dary defense looked much better in knocking down Eagle passes. The Scotties, though, just couldn't seem to get their offense rolling. It seemed that early in the third period Benny Baldwin, the Honaker's right half, would duplicate Law's breakway run. Benny took the ball on his own thirty-one, raced around end and than reversed his field beautifully to elude several would be Carson-Newman tacklers. Just as he broke into the clear, Baldwin rammed into one of his own men and was knocked off his feet. In so doing, he fumbled the ball and an alert CN man fell on it.

Neither team could generate much offensive power, and both clubs butted back and forth across the midfield stripe. The game ended with Maryville in possession on their own forty-five.

The Scottie pass defense was considerably better than last week, but the Eagles still managed to complete six out of fourteen passes.

The Scotties' passing attack needs a shot in the arm. The Scot passers are still looking for their first completion. They won 0 for 4 in the Hiwassee game and 0 for 4 against Carson-Newman. With the Maryville ground attack such that it is, an aerial barrage has not been necessary, but with a tougher schedule in prospect the Highlanders had better start to develop one.

The men from Jefferson City will be back for a return performance next November twelfth on Wilson Field to close out the Scottie home season.

Faculty Committees . . .

E. E. McCurry F. Massey, and H. E. Orr.

'Messiah' Group Rehearses Sunday

Rehearsals for Maryville College's 17th annual presentation of "The Messiah" will begin Sunday afternoon, October 16, at 3:30 in Alumni gym. H. H. Harter will direct the performance for his third consecutive year with Garnet Manges at the piano.

Participaitng in the production of George Frederick Handel's well known Christmas oratorio will be the Vesper Choir, All Girl Choir, Men's Glee Club, and students, and faculty, and townspeople.

Tradition

Since its first performance in 1933 under the direction of Frances Henry, "The Messiah" has become one of Maryville's traditions. From 1936 until 1942 it was directed by Ralph Colbert ; in 1942 Richard Vine was director. Phillip Jones directed the 1943 performance of "The Messiah", and Vine again took over the direction until 1947 when Harter came to Maryville.

The December presentation has been brodadcast over WGAP for the last two years.

Tryouts for soloists will be announced later.

Y-Hikers Climb Mount LeConte

About 50 YM-hikers climbed Mount LeConte last week-end. The group camped overnight at the Chimneys Campgrounds in the Smokies.

Joe Claud and Webster Fue were managers for the hike, and food was cooked by Jim Townsend, Bob McKean, and Tom Kees. Faculty members attending were Assistant Professor Howard Schwam of the Spanish department, music instructor Curtis Huges, and Marvin D. Minear, assistant in the Treasurer's Office. Band director Hughes and two students left Friday afternoon.

The hikers' supper consisted of hog dogs and beans. Because several bears were seen prowling around after supper, "bear watches", two hours long were kept by freshmen to protect the food. No roaming bears gave trouble.

Sunday School, conducted by Bob Holley, followed a breakfast of sausage and eggs. Most of the group boarded the buses for the hike up Leconte via the Alum Cave Trail. The grind began at 8:45 Sunday morning and ended at 1:30 that afternoon.

Mounte LeConte is 6,593 feet high, and the trail up is 5.2 miles long. The time taken by the hikers to climb it ranged from an hour and a half to two hours. Their speed was better than average, although one year a Maryville student made it in an hour and ten minutes.

Lunch back at the Chimneys after the descent was hamburgers and cole slaw.

Vols to Plan Retreat; Mission Pictures Shown

Student Volunteers will schedule a retreat this year, it was announced Tuesday night by John Baird, president of the organization. Only members who have signed pledges will be permitted to go.

Although plans have not yet been laid, it is likely that the retreat will be held this semester.

STUDENT VOLS IN SING

Lois Johnson, program chairman, assisted by Ruth Mason is in charge of Student Volunteers Sunday, October 16. A program of special music and a hymn sing has been planned. The meeting will be held immediately after vespers in Bartlett Hall.

Next Sunday night at the regular meeting the number of pledges will be announced and the retreat will be discussed.

Last Sunday evening, the group saw a series of slides on home missions in the Southwest. The pictures were presented by Viola M. Lightfoot, assistant to Dean McClelland; and Nancy B. Hunter, Dr. Lloyd's secretary.

STRIKE THREAT

Unless an agreement is reached between CIO union and the Aluminum Company of America, plants at Alcoa will close Monday morning at 12:01. The aluminum plant is Blount County's largest industry and employs thousands of men and women living in this vicinity. In view of this fact, a strike would affect the entire economy of the county.

NEHRU AT NORRIS

Nehru, Prime Minister of India, arrived yesterday at Knoxville by plane from Chicago. He drove with TVA officials to visit Norris Dam. After lunch at Knoxville the premier went to White Sulphur Springs, famed West Virginia resort center.

LILENTHAL CLEARED

Chairman David E. Lilenthal and his Atomic Energy Commission were cleared of "incredible mismanagement" charges on October 12. The joint congressional AEC Committee dissented Senate Bourke B. Hichenloper's charges by a 9-to-6 vote.

LI FLEE

On October 13, the Nationalist government, including President Li Tsungjen, abandoned Canton and fled to Chunking.

STRATEGIC BOMBING

Rear Admiral Ralph Ofstie, liaison officer with the AEC, testifying before the Home Armed Service Committee on October 11, said that the concept of strategic bombing is "morally wrong and militarily unsound" and it would not defend Western Europe against invasion.

Trip To Mountains Planned By Argie

A chartered bus trip to Clingman's Dome has been announced by Bob Argie for Saturday, October 22. "Sign up sheets are on the dormitory bulletin boards and the trip will be open to all students who are interested," he stated, "but the limit will be set the capacity of one bus. If the demand is great enough for two, another will be obtained."

The cost will be between $1.50 and $2.00. Those who go will plan to take a lunch with them as the group will not return for supper.

Sign-up sheets will be on bulletins boards until Monday noon.

ET-MC Bands Show At Half-time

East Tennessee State College band will march during the first part of the half-time at tonight's game. The Maryville College band will then appear at the south end of the field. In a statement of tonight's performance, Director Curtis Hughes says, "The band will be marching with a cadence of 186-192 steps a minute. This figures out at roughly three steps a second and requires good wind and quick thinking to keep in step through the various formations."

Band Maneuvers

The band will do a weaving of ranks while playing "Military Escort" march. From the north end of the field, the group will counter march to center field and divide into the "Great Divide and Telescope" using a six beat cadence. Continuing with the six beat cadence, the band will go into the "Bronco Buster". While the band is playing "Washington Post" march in circle formation, a short demonstration will be given by the College Tumbling Team composed of George Day, Richard Rogers, Branin Boyd, Joe Poland, and Bill Morse.

As the band plays the trio of the march "Down the Field", it will form "E" and "T" in honor of the visitors. Then, facing the Maryville stands in a block "M" formation, the band will play "On Highlanders".

Ending the half-time performance, the band will form a huge triangle and sing the Alma Mater.

Fred Hope Fund Swells To Record Figure

The amount of money paid to the Fred Hope Fund up to and including Thursday is $830.25. Altogether 529 pledge cards were filled out making a total of $1827.-80, which is the largest amount ever pledged to the fund.

November 10, 11, and 12 are next regular payments days, but payments may be made any time at printing office in Anderson.

YM To See Film 'Beyond Our Own'

YMCA will présent a full length movie entitled "Beyond Our Own" Sunday afternoon at 1:30 in Bartlett Auditorium. This film on Christian living was made available by the Federal Council of Churches. All men are invited.

'College Maid'—A Symbol Of Opportunity In Action

By Margaret Matterson

"I, a 'College Maid', earning part or all of my expenses in Maryville College by sewing in the College Maid Shop have honestly tried to make this garment well," is the printed message put in the pocket of the completed garments made by those working in the College Maid Shop. Twenty Maryville College students now work there making nurses uniforms, aprons, and gym suits for those who want to purchase them.

Mrs. J. H. McMurray who became head of the Home Economics Department in 1920, started working with a group of girls who wanted to make dresses, pajamas, blouses, and other articles for their own use, for help with college expenses and for experience. This group grew and moved from the Home Economics rooms to the basement of Thaw Hall. The sewing machines that you hear roaring at a fast rate, handled by busy girls, were donated by friends. They then decided to make choir robes and these were sold in twenty-four states.

Mrs. McMurray Manages Shop

In 1927 Mrs. McMurray resigned from her position on the College faculty and became production manager, sales manager, and general manager of the College Maid Shop. Ten years ago there was a need for nurses uniforms so College Maids made them for individual nurses. Uniforms are sold to individuals in every state, Alaska, Hawaii, Panama Canal Zone, and during the war they were sold to at least one nurse on every hospital ship afloat. Army and Navy nurses wrote to Mrs. McMurray from the places they were stationed during the war to place orders. Measurements were always kept on file for the future. It was through her skill and enterprise that the College Maid Shop was able to accomplish these things.

Mrs. Williams Continues Work

Last spring, after many long years of illness, Mrs. McMurray passed away. Mrs. Thelma Williams became manager of the Maid Shop the first of June. She had helped Mrs. McMurray since 1942. Dorothy Long is Mrs. Williams' assistant.

Mrs. Williams is the wife of Dr. L. L. Williams, a biology professor on our campus and mother of Charles, our drum major and a Junior at Maryville College. Under her direction, the twenty girls make gym suits for freshmen girls, aprons for those who wait tables in the dining hall, maid aprons to be sold at Miller's Department Store in Knoxville and continue to make uniforms for nurse customers who see the value of made to fit garments.

The girls who sew the "College Maid" trademark under the collar of each piece they make are proud of the fact that their work will be appreciated by someone else who is serving and they are often rewarded by a tip or an appreciative letter.

ELLEN COLLINS CHOSEN QUEEN

Ellen Collins, education major from Montgomery, Ala., was elected Homecoming queen in Wednesday's Student Body election. "Approximately 60 per cent of the Student Body voted," stated Del Earisman, vice-president, giving an indication of the interest of the students in voting. Miss Collins will be crowned preceding the game with Western North Carolina on October 29, and will reign over the Homecoming activities. She is senior class secretary and B.G. president.

Miss Collins was May Day attendant her freshman year and was a member of the Daisy Chain. A member of Bainonian, she was vice-president her junior year.

Miss Collins will announce her court at a later date. Other plans for Homecoming activities remain as yet incomplete.

12 Try-outs Join Echo Business, Editorial Staffs

Nine freshmen and one sophomore were elected to the editorial staff of The Highland Echo by the Publications Committee after completion of their try-out period on October 5. Two sophomores were added to the business staff.

Freshmen included Sarah Brown, Laurel, Md., who was fashion editor of her Elkridge High School paper in Baltimore, Md.; Myrtle Watkins, Loudon, who wrote articles for her county paper; Harold Sutton, Nashville, who was sports editor for The Cavalier, Castle Heights Military Academy paper; Arnold Munn, Islip Terrace, N. Y., who was editor-in-chief of his high school paper, Broadcaster; Hugh McSpadden, Knoxville, who was business and advertising manager of The Students' Voice, Bearden High School's paper.

Dan Dunbar, Rockwood, was formerly sports, art, and literary editor of the Rockette of Rockwood High School. Rolfe Duggar of St. Petersburg, Fla. worked on the staff of Palmetto and Pine, his high schoo lpaper. Florence Dawes, Marlboro, N.Y., edited news on Marlboro Central High School's Re-Echo. Glenn Gentry who wrote for his school paper and was also business manager of his yearbook is from Paris.

Tom Kelly, political science major from Morris Plains, N. J., returned as a sophomore reporter after leaving the staff in his freshman year.

Additions to the business staff include Allan Caldwell, sophomore psychology major from Cedar Rapids, Ia., and Lynn Meleonian, sophomore dramatic arts major from Chicago, Ill.

MSO Meeting Plans Dorm Decorations

Men's Student Organization met in Bartlett after chapel Thursday and decided on payment for dormitory decorations for Christmas, Homecoming, and Onen House. The meeting was called by a petition of 43 Carnegie men.

On Wednesday of the previous week, floor meetings were held in both men's dorms to vote on contributions for the MSO decorations. Chairman Ray Holsey presided over Thursday's discussion of the amount to be paid. It has been set at 5 cents per person, and any extra cash will be used to buy a medicine chest and supplies to be placed in Carnegie.

Also proposed was the possibity of a Chilhowean picture for MSO but this point was not acted upon by the group.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The complete Student Council met Wednesday, October 12, for the first time this year. Ruth Rogers, senior representative, Ray Rose, president of freshmen class, and Nancy Rose and Sonny Short freshmen—representatives are the newly elected members of the council who were present.

Nancy Rose and Alice Huddleston were elected to the WSGA coordinating council. Sonny Short was put on the election committee.

The council read and approved the Playhouse constitution.

Class presidents were urged to see that class dues were collected as soon as possible.

Y Radio Presents Black's Play, 'The Dead Speak'

"The Dead Speak" is scheduled for the Y radio workshop program over Maryville's WGAP Monday, October 17, at 9:30 p.m.

The drama was written by Jim Black, director of last year's work shop.

DANCE, CUMMINGS TO READ AT WEDNESDAY'S WORKSHOP

Jim Dance and Janet Cummings will read at Writers' Workshop next Wednesday.

This week Dorothy Holverson and Roger Cowan were the readers. Copies of Chips, the workshop publication published last spring, are available now at 20 cents a copy from English teachers, the secretary announced.

MC Students Participate In Maryville's Church School Worship Programs

The Reverend Mark Moore, new pastor of the Broadway Methodist Church, will be introduced to the church group at tomorrow's service. Rev. Mr. Moore succeeds Rev. Daniel Jones who will move to Sweetwater. Nanette Enloe and Millard Stephens are in charge of the opening worship at Sunday School at 9:15. Bill Kneeland is the teacher of the college class.

Anne Higdon leads First Baptist Sunday School group. Mrs. Hamilton Traylor will teach. The Baptist college students hiked this afternoon to Montvale.

Bill Faulkner will lead the First Methodist college class in their opening worship tomorrow. T. W. Kleinsasser and Ken Blades are co-teachers of the class.

George Wood has charge of the college class at St. Andrew's Episcopal Church. John Waring is advisor of the class.

Ella Swift is in charge of the New Providence Presbyterian college class. Dr. Wilburn Johnson will be the instructor.

'Laura' Rehearsals Begin; Players Elect Officers

Paxton Selected Prexy—

Members of Maryville College Playhouse elected officers October 5 for this year. Ben Paxton, senior drama and speech major from Pleasant Ridge, Mich., was elected president.

Vice president is Ann Jenkins, also a drama major, who is a junior from Jamestown, and Beverly Moore, senior psychology major from Waukesha, Wis., was elected secretary. Sohpomore Dave Reed, a dramatic arts major from Hamden, N. J., is treasurer of the Playhouse.

The Playhouse has regular working hours on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Friday, and Saturday afternoons from 1:30 to 4:30. Members and any students interested in helping on construction for the plays are invited to come, stated Director Herman Middleton.

President Turck Speaks At Chapel

President Charles J. Turck of Macalester College said in chapel services last week that the primary responsibility of the college student was a search for truth and that anything which obstructs that search must be eliminated.

An outstanding layman in the Presbyterian USA Church, Turck is president of the National Council of Presbyterian Men. He was accompanied here by David Proffitt of Maryville, southern area vice-president. Both are pictured in the current issue of "Presbyterian Life" in connection with an article on the denomination's laymen's organization.

Dr. Turck was formerly president of Centre College, Danville, Kentucky, and professor of law at Vanderbilt University.

Truth Trails on Trial

Writing in this month's Harper's, Bernard de Voto emphasizes, we think, a point made by Macalester's President C. J. Turck in his brief address here last Saturday. In a cleverly done fantasy, de Voto's little man from the Internal Revenue Bureau adopts current FBI methods for finding out just how much the Joneses spend on their auto, liquor, and their kid's education.

Grateful for the absurdity of income tax people's doing anything like that, he deplores, nevertheless, our trend to accept the informer philosophy which now seems to characterize America's investigation of its citizens.

When the neighborhood's primmest spinster is questioned about the local bridge whiz and her friends, the suspect card-addict's vices will hardly be minimized. Bad enough would be conditions in which this mode of gossip is reported and promptly squelched. Intolerable is the system currently in vogue: slander, fact, half-truth, and innuendo are recorded together in "confidential" FBI files on those in question. We are all sure head-man Hoover has the best of intentions. Yet insistent courts and irresponsible congressmen have divulged "secret" evidence which has been nothing short of vicious.

In the recent Coplon case as in other Red clamp-downs, nonparticipants were drawn in. One of the nation's most distinguished scientists, Dr. Edward U. Condon, and his wife fell victim to the now-familiar trial by headline. Every mention of his name now carries the taint of more than two years of villification without recourse on the part of the accused.

These, of course, are the symptoms, not the malady. The deeper problem is the growing attitude which allows final judgment—indeed, condemnation—based not on all the available facts, but on headline-incited motion, on the prejudices of other unthinking people, on a mental laziness which refuses the difficult task of questioning and self-questioning. Basically it is not the method or even the Red-phobia that is the deep-seated problem. It is the failure mentioned by Dr. Turck to recognize and remove obstacles to truth—those in our own minds and those put up purposely by others—which has brought on this spirit that allows such injustice.

Are Our Ears Read?

Each week, late Friday night or Saturday morning, the last minute before The Highland Echo goes to press, a tired editor or staff member looks up and mutters, "I've got it!" as he writes those two or four little lines on paper marked 12 point type and hands the linotypist his inspiration for this week's "ears."

Now, turn to the front page and look in the upper right and left corners to those little boxes with strange and sometimes rhyming words written in them. They are the "ears" of the paper. Some of the large commercial papers empoly that space for weather forecasts and such, but not The Highland Echo! Each week we try to give you an original and appropriate set of "ears" and believe us, it's hard to do both, especially at the same time. The Echo of October 1 went to press with burning ears of the fateful football feat of MC and MTS blaring the scores in two-inch letters, only to be rescued at the last minute from a defeat worse than death and some pinker ears substituted. The Echo is not only the "voice" of the campus —we just thought you'd like to know.

Talk of The Week

By Alan Fort

Voices, Masks, and Shadows

Thriller

"The Streets of Laredo," glorified "shoot-em-up" thriller in technicolor will show at the Capitol, Monday and Tuesday. William Holden, William Bendix, and MacDonald Carey star as the three Texas badmen who rustle cattle for a living. The main conflict of the story lies in the fact that Holden and Bendix become Rangers, and are torn between loyalty to a friend and loyalty to the organization.

To make the story more interesting, its directors have thrown in an anemic-looking cowgirl with a nearsighted view of right and wrong, with whom all of our badmen are in love. Solving the problems was fairly simple—everybody doublecrosses and/or shoots everybody else; and the picture fades away with Holden looking into the eyes of our heroine across the body of Carey—with what we presume to be love.

Killer

On Wednesday, the Capitol brings to the screen "Road House," an unlikely tale about a village tough guy, Richard Widmark, and his road house crooner, Ida Lupino.

In the part of a demented killer, Widmark is at his best. For Miss Lupino we can say that she provides at least the most novel excuse for a killing: he tried to throw a rock at her. Oh, yes, she also sings "Again" in the best roadhousish manner, which is well worth the price of admission.

Closing the week, the Capitol brings to the screen a comedy, "Father was a Fullback". (Perhaps the husband of "Mother was a Freshman"), and "South of the Rio," where gun slingers rule!

Michener

We would suggest especially two of the library's new books, Michener's "Tales of the South Pacific" and "The New Yorker Book of War Pieces."

The "Tales" are told by a young naval officer whose duties on an admiral's staff take him to the islands. In this book you will meet all the unforgetable characters the Broadway play, based on the book, has made famous. Since the author was there during the early critical days of the Pacific War, he has made the setting and action true to life.

Yorker

"The New Yorker Book of War Pieces," is a group of war stories is reported by New Yorker correspondents. It begins with Mollie Panker-Downes' quiet dispatch from London on September 2, 1939, and ends with John Hersey's memorable report on the bombing of Hiroshima, August 6, 1945.

Attention should be called to the request book pad on the library desk. If you know some book or magazine you would like to see in our library, list it in this book with all the information you have concerning its author, price, publication date and publisher.

While walking through the library yesterday, we noticed that Jim Dance was putting up a new bulletin board display on "The World Grows Smaller Every Day." Among the numerous book Jackets on foreign countries, Dance had placed "Latin Americans in Texas."

In talking to Dance about the bulletin boards, we discovered that these are changed every two weeks, rotating the weeks so that there is a new display each week. Jim does all the planning and construction, and is really doing a fine job.

The other bulletin board displays magazine sleuting, showing a few of the 375 magazines our library receives regularly.

Speaking of library displays, don't forget to see the collection of Japanese Art on display in the library, October 18-31. This collection, including painting on silks, prints, laquer pieces, and carvings, was loaned by Assistant Librarian Mary Miles.

In closing we congratulate all who received parts in the College Playhouse fall productions, "Laura," "Gammer Gurton's Needle," and "Happy Journey."

Former Maryvillians Win McCormick Schlorship

Marge Prall, Hedy Nabholz, and Katy Carpenter, Maryville graduates of the class of '49, were three of eight scholarship winners in competitive examinations given at McCormick Theological Seminary.

In the congratulatory letter sent to Dr. Ralph W. Lloyd, Dr. Robert D. Swanson, vice-president of the seminary, praised highly his new secretary, Mildred Miller, also a '49 graduate.

Three Present Program Of Music To French Club

The French Club, meeting in Bartlett last Thursday, heard Ken Garrison, Carol Barnett, and Dan Winter in a program of French music, planned by Louise Lloyd and Ray Kirby.

Garrison sang Sigmund Romberg's "Stout-Hearted Men," accompanied by Carol Barnett. Winter's piano solo was "Claire de Lune" by DeBussy.

Several group songs concluded the program.

Girls See Look Rock On Annual YW Hike

Eighty MC coeds traveled to Look Rock on the YW hike last Saturday afternoon. Louise Lloyd and Betty Jo Smith, YW social chairmen, were in charge of all arrangements for the trip.

Lou Masters led in singing campfire songs and Alita Bryant and Winnie Schaumberg led closing devotions. Mrs. J. D. Buchanan, Mrs. R. T. Case, and Assistant Professor Carolyn Blair chaperoned the hike.

Leaving campus shortly after lunch, the hikers traveled by bus to Montvale. From this point the trip to Look Rock was made by foot. When they returned to Montvale the girls had a supper of barbecued meat served on hamburger buns, potato salad, pickles, potato chips, milk, coffee, and doughnuts.

NOTICE—Anyone finding one or more young men running around the college woods attired in cross country regalia is requested to notify the athletic department of the University of Tennessee. We understand a few of their men got lost over here last week.

SOME LITTLE DISCUSSION has been occasioned on campus by the decision of Coach Kenneth Johnson to discontinue the Maryville College swimming team. Intercollegiate swimming has been carried on here at Maryville for a good many years, but since the war it has become increasingly harder to arrange suitable meets with colleges in our class who engage in the sport.

Competition for the past several years has centered around teams in the Southeastern Conference—the University of Tennessee and Vanderbilt University, along with Berea College at Berea, Ky. Coach Johnson says he feels that UT and Vanderbuilt are a little out of our class, and that Berea is too far away. UT, as part of its state supported athletic program, awards scholarships to swimmers— a form of subsidation which Maryville does not permit. It is impossible to arrange meets with other small colleges in this general area since none of them have varsity swimming teams.

Another important factor in Coach Johnson's argument is the well-taken point that Maryville's swimming squad has always been small. Every year we can come up with a few good swimmers and divers, but never enough to make a really good swimming team. In the past eight years Maryville tankmen have taken one meet in college competition.

Coach Johnson proposes to use the free time thus gained at the pool for free swimming which can be enoyed by everyone, and for the intramural swimming contests as part of the over-all intramural program.

It is too bad to see a traditional and worth-while sport being taken from the lists of intercollegiate competition, but in Maryville's place this is apparently the only solution—unless, that is, we resigned ourselves to being beaten year after year by the "big boys" of the neighborhood.

MC s CROSS COUNTRY squad is making a good showing this year, having won the first two encounters of a six meet schedule. The fluke pulled by UT's runners and coach will leave the proper outcome of that meet conjectural in the minds of many; at least until the second meet is run on Nov. 16. TPI gets another chance at us in the running field Nov. 3 too. Here's the schedule for the rest of the season:

Oct. 22—Sewanee—There
Nov. 3—TPI — There
Nov. 12—Sewanee—Here
Nov. 16—UT—There

SATURDAY NIGHT'S GAME with the Raiders of East Tennessee State College marks the half-way point in the 1949 grid season. The Raiders will be rough, but nothing more than the Honakermen can handle.

LAST TUESDAY'S CHAPEL ANNOUNCEMENT regarding the start of varsity basketball practice served to remind us that we'll soon be enjoying the bleachers in the gym while we watch the basketeers and wrestlers on Saturday nights.

NEXT WEEK'S ECHO will give complete pregame coverage to the coming all-star game scheduled for Wilson Field next Saturday evening.

Maryville Thinlies Start Season: Trounce UT, TPI

UT Tripped 20-39; Runners Get Lost

Maryville's Cross Country team defeated the cinder pounders of the University of Tennessee 20-39 at Maryville in the first meet of the season.

Tom Scott of UT finished first in the meet, setting a new record of 17 minutes 19 seconds for the loop. He was followed in by Del Earisman, star Scotty runner and captain of this year's team.

The Scot thin-clads took second to seventh place consecutively, while the runners of UT came in first and eight, nine, and ten.

Screwball feature of the meet was the fact that all the UT runners but Scott got lost on the MC track. Scott is an ex-MC runner, and thus knew his way around.

Thinclads of TPI Bow To MC, 15-50

Coach Johnson's harriers won their second straight cross-country meet Wednesday afternoon when they whipped TPI, 15-50. The harriers took the first seven places to rack up a perfect score. Their other victory was over UT last week by a 20-39 score.

Bill Menges took first place honors. Del Earisman, Jimmy Thurston, and George Day, in that order, finished on Menges' heels. The others came in as follows: Ric Rogers, fifth; John Baird, sixth; and Neale Pearson, seventh. There was not more than three seconds difference between first and fourth places. All of the squad participated, although their placing did not count. The winning time was 18:2.

The route consisted of two laps around the track, the woods course, and two more laps around the track. This makes a total of 3.2 miles.

Highlanders Split MTS, Centre Road Contests

MTSC Game

Maryville College's Scotties took their worst post-war beating when Middle Tennessee State knocked them off two weeks ago by the lopsided score of 45-13. In this first quarter, Maryville kicked out on their own 40 after stopping a State drive on the 20. Two plays later Middle Tennessee scored. J. B. Proctor picked up 15 yards around end, and then tossed 25 yards to Varallo for the first marker. Murray kicked the point. This was the pattern of play for the rest of the evening. Proctor and Runion, two of the best players Maryville will see, just outclassed the Scots, Incidentally, Proctor, a UT castoff, played almost the entire game.

Maryville did get back into the game for a few minutes. Runs by Leon Berrong and Hershel Merriman coupled with a 40 yard passing play from Leon Berrong to Hap Brahams netted the counter. Bob Neff added the extra point which tied up the game for a few seconds anyway.

MC Scores

Middle Tennessee scored again just as soon as they got their hands on the ball. A Runion to Atchley pass play covered 70 yards for their tie breaking score. The third touchdown came on a 10 yard pass from Proctor to Runion. Both tries for the extra points were blocked by Howard Davis of Maryville.

Early in the second period Maryville scored again as Hersh Herriman bulled over from the 11. The Raiders fourth and last score of the first half came about on a J. B. Proctor to McCoy pass from the Maryville 33.

Coach Murphy's charges scored three more times in the second half to run the score up to 45-13. Their fifth tally came about on another Proctor (who else) to McCoy play. This time it was a lateral from the seven that did it.

Fourth Quarter

TD number six took place in the fourth quarter as Harris took a lateral from sub Quarterbark Pete Holmes for the score. The final tally of the evening came about when fullback Dick Beck intercepted another errant Maryville pass and scampered 60 yards for the score. Both tries for the extra point in this closing quarter were blocked.

Centre Game

Maryville's fighting Scotties bounced back from a 45-12 walloping by Middle Tennessee to defeat Centre's Praying Colonels, 28-25, Saturday afternoon at Danville.

The game started off as if there was going to be another recurrence of that same ill-fated fray at Murfreesboro when Centre took Captain Howard Davis' kick-off on their 35 and marched 65 yards to paydirt in four plays with Joe Brummet taking the ball over from the nine on a full spinner. Andes, who won the game for the Scots by kicking four extra points, blocked Brummett's try for extra point.

Coach Charley "Swede" Anderson's boys put quite a scare into the Scottie-rooters when they added a second TD by taking advantage of a Maryville miscue on the kickoff following their first foray across the goal line. Van Meter kicked off to Hap Brahams who fumbled on the 28 which he tried to lateral. Art Schreiber covered the ball for the Kentuckians and they scored four plays later, combining a 30-yard Brummett-to-Tasley pass with a one-yard plunge by Brummett for the necessary yardage—the score being made on the ninth play of the game.

Neither Los Lobos or Alpha Sigma Highlanders fielded a team Monday. As a result, both teams lose a game by double-forfeit.

Pistol Creek Polecats came up with their best game of the season Tuesday but it was of no avail as Bluejays tied them, 0-0. For Bluejays it was a great letdown for they had hounded YMCA all season long only to come out second-best to Y in the standings—winding up one full game behind.

Pi Lumbago ground their way into a two-way tie for third place as they rolled over Alpha Sigma Highlanders, 25-0 Thad Godwin was the big man for the Greeks as he tossed in Frank Morton on a sleeper play in the first quarter and flipped to Bruce DeUagy for the extra point that wasn't necessary. Frank Farmer, Don DeNagy, and Ken Yonkers also scored touchdowns.

Alpha Sigma Scotties and Pre-Ministerials picked up a couple of tainted wins Wednesday as the ever-redoubtable Hadacol Hustlers failed to make a showing at the field. The win for Ministerial helped them to attain their highest point in the standings for the year as they hopped into a sixth place tie with Alpha-Sig Highlanders.

Varsity Hoopsters Start Training

Maryville's Highlander varsity basketball team began workouts this week in preparation for the first scheduled game of the season with King College on Dec. 9. Thirty-five men reported for practice in response to a chapel announcement Tuesday morning.

At present, practice is conducted by Intramural Director Kenneth Johnson with the help of senior members and lettermen from last year's contingent.

Several of last season's basketball lettermen who are present members of the football squad will report for duty at the close of the grid season.

Intramural Soccer Beginning Monday

Coach Johnson's intramural soccer league now has six teams —last year's winner, YMCA, Pi Lumbago, Alpha Sigma, Athenian and Pre-Ministerials, two more teams are expected from either the sophomore or the freshman gym class.

On the night of October 22, a soccer exhibition will be featured with the all-star touch football game. All interested teams are requested to contact Coach Johnson or Ken Newell, senior intramural manager.

A series of practice games start next week, and all managers are urged to get in the team lists so practice fields may be assigned. From 1:30 to 2:00 this afternoon the equipment room will be open for the pupose of checking out soccer equipment.

Intramural Golf

The intramural golf tourney is slated to start October 24 on the college golf course. Sign-up sheets may be procured from Coach Kenneth Johnson at the Intramural office.

Two rounds of 18 holes each played on different days is the method of scheduling. The tournament will be played in foursomes.

Each contestant is to receive 10 points toward an intramural medal; the winner receives 50 points and an intramural ribbon.

Intramural Tennis

With the intramural tennis competition drawing to a close, two titles have already been decided. Wes Miles, who defeated Ches Anderson to enter the semi-finals, went on to win the Class "A" title by nipping the scrappy McCampbell 6-2, 6-3. Class "A" doubles have also been decided with the team of Anderson and Miles defeating McCampbell and Gearhart (semi-finalists) 3-6, 6-4, 6-3.

The class "B" singles crown, which has yet to be won (Oct. 13) will go to either Jerry Sayers or Brewer Kenton who defeated Roberts and Zabriski respectively. This should be an interesting clash since Sayers is a good offensive man while Kenton is equally efficient defensively. The "B" doubles league has only advanced to the initial round and tennis fans can anticipate much action on this front.

Bluejays Over Scots

Tom Yeaworth still had his magic touch as he tossed a pass to George Handley in the third period after scoring himself in the second as Bluejays clipped Alpha Sigma, 13-0.

Buc's Meet Scots

by Tom Kelly

Maryville's Scottie eleven plays host to the East Tennessee State College Buccaneers here tonight. The Buc's, who bested the Scotties last year by a 20-0 score, will have almost the identical team back. Burley Davis, the top scorer for last season, will be back and ready for action at the fullback post. The quarterbacking slot will be split between Jack Vest and Gene Quarrels, both veterans from last season. Halfbacks are Paul Musselman, who scored one of the TD's against Maryville, and Jack France. Both of these boys are light, speedy backs who can be dangerous in any situation.

The line is as substantial as the one which stopped the Scotties last year. Co-Captain Smiley Duncan and John Pansock will take care of left and right ends, respectively. The tackle positions boast two more lettermen. Captain Bob Tranbarger who weighs 205 pounds, and Gordon Brown who tips the scales at 210. Both of these boys can be rough when they start throwing their collective weights around.

At the guard position the Pirates display their biggest weakness. Dan Weekley and Mono Bailey, last years first stringers, are both gone. To fill up their vacancies, we have Kermit Maupin and Clyde Groseclose, both second stringers from last year.

The center position is held down by Bob Evans who will handle the offensive duties, and Mark Sutherland who works on defense.

Coach L. T. (Preacher) Roberts boys work out of a T formation. By this time the Highlanders should have picked up enough experience against this type offense that they will not be fooled by the various maneuvers.

The Bucs have a one and two record so far this season. They bested Tennessee Wesleyan at the start of the sason to the tune of 27-5, and then were bounced by Erskine, 13-7, and Western Caroline, 14-0, on successive Saturdays. Last year Carolina beat the Johnsonites, 33-12, and we knocked off the Catamounts, 7-6. All of which proves that you can't pick winners by comparing scores.

Coach Honaker's charges will be playing without the services of quarterback King Berrong who is out with a back injury. Both Blonde Law and Leon Berrong will resume action after missing the Centre encounter. The Scots are up for this game as they try to make the Pirates walk the plank in order to revenge last year's 20-0 debacle.

The probable lineups are:

East Tennessee		Maryville
Duncan	LE	Brahams
Tranbarger (C)	LT	Walker
Groseclose	LG	Isenberg
Evans	C	Holsey
Maupin	RG	Lester
Brown	RT	Davis (C)
Quarrels or Vest	QB	Calloway

FOR US WOMEN—

WON WORLD

By Ruth Davis

Gather round me, gals. . . this is especially dedicated to you. Half the people on this campus are girls, and what recognition do you get. . . aside from low whistles from the observing fellow we formerly dubbed "wolf" who happened to notice that you were wearing that specially beautiful dress.

After all, men are only half of life and this week's the turning point. . . . we're revolutionizing the system and stating that this is a gal's world, too. Just for you, the women of Maryville College, with a big KEEP OUT sign for the men, are the foregoing paragraphs in strictly "gal talk."

Ummmmm

First let's get three gals together—three hungry ones. When three starving females collect something's bound to be cooking. Now that Pearsons is equipped for that sort of thing, it's too great a temptation not to take advantage. Miss Meiselwitz has suggested just for that purpose a cookie recipe that she says is not only easy to prepare, it's delicious, too.

All the ingredients used amount to about twenty-five cents in cold cash. With the three already here and with two others who always come, following those trained "dorm noses", that divided by five is five cents. The whole recipe yields about fifty cookies—where else could you get ten cookies for five cents? Here goes:

1 c. shortening
1 c. brown sugar
2½ c. sifted flour
Milk
1 t. vanilla

Cream shortening and sugar until light and fluffy. Add dry ingredients alternately with enough milk to make a soft dough. Roll balls of dough about size of marbles and place on greased cookie sheet. Flatten with bottom of glass that has been dipped in sugar. Bake at 400 degrees F. about eight minutes. Cookies may be topped with nut halves at an added cost of about 25 cents.

And for those with an exceptionally sweet tooth—the candy cravers—Miss Meiselwitz has given her own personal guarantee to this never fail fudge recipe:

¼ lb. chocolate
1 lb. powdered sugar
½ lb. marshallow whip
1 tablespoon butter
⅔ cup evaporated milk
¼ teaspoon salt

Cut chocolate into small pieces and cook it with the sugar, milk, butter, and salt together for ten minutes after it starts to boil. Remove from fire and add the marshmallow whip and vanilla. Beat vigorously for eight minutes, pour in a buttered pan, cool, and cut into squares. The important element in this recipe is timing. Total cost is about fifty cents.

Gingham Dog—Calico Cat

Stuffed animals are a favorite with dorm girls. The cuter the "animule" the more Betty, Jean, or Sue admires him every time they enter the room. About this time he begins to look rather bedraggled from the beating and is a shade darker than when originally purchased or received. So, gals, in the September issue of "Good Housekeeping" there's an article that is the answer to a suffed bear's prayer.

First, use a good soap or soapless cleanser and whip up about two quarts of suds in warm water. Then pick up the toy and swish him quickly through the suds several times. Most of the dirt lies just on the surface so you need not soak his cotton filling through and through. After sudsing him, rinse him quickly by dipping him in and out of a basin of warm water. The success of the washing and the life of your toy depends on the speed with which you carry out the procedure.

After he's rinsed shake off the water—don't be gentle about this—and wrap him in a turkish towel. Pat—don't wring—to remove all the water you can. Pick a nice sunnny and windy place to hang him, and suspend him from the clothes line by means of a cord looped around his neck or middle.

But before you attempt to wash any stuffed animal, be sure he has the right stuffing and is also color-fast. It's getting cooler now and the type day described is becoming less and less a possibility. Noah probably didn't wash any stuffed animals during the flood, so pick a dry, windy day.

It's Permanents That Counts

"Well, who do you think you are—a Hindu princess," exclaims Jenny Jones to towel-beturbaned Mary who walks down the hall as carefully as a Powers model. No, it's not pretense on Mary's part—she's getting a home permanent. In addition to info about washing poodle, "Good Housekeeping" also came through with "eight tips for a good Home wave."

1. Plan your permanent at an hour when you and your helper, if any, will be fresh and rested and will have plenty of time. If you start late on a tiring day, you'll probably cheat on vital parts of the job.

2. Arrange for peace and privacy. Concentrate now, and you will be rewarded for weeks and months to come.

3. Read the instructions thoroughly before you begin; then reread each step as you work. (Manufacturers are constantly improving lotions and directions, and no two systems are alike.)

4. Follow a pattern in blocking your hair. It is easier and faster to have a system. Do start, as you are told, with the nape-of-the-neck section; it is the hardest to wave and needs the longest processing.

5. Part the hair evenly and wind smoothly. Don't wind hair too tightly, and don't let curlers hang at a slant. This may cause breakage.

6. Wet each strand thoroughly with waving lotion.

7. Set your alarm clock so you will check your first test curl at exactly the right time. Look at test curl even though you have had several home waves.

8. Take great pains with the fixative lotion or neutralizer. Follow directions to the letter, for a poor job here means your wave won't last. Use every bit of the solution, saturating each curl thoroughly and rinsing well when the hair comes down. Then you will have a real permanent that will set into springy curls or smooth waves as you desire.

Ode, Dear!

How is it that poetry creeps into our petty pace from day to day? This one's "Preference" by Helen Castle.

Many a woman wishes she
Were just a man—a free one—
But I'll admit that, as for me,
I'd rather have than be one.

Intramural Soccer Games Scheduled

Practice games in intramural soccer are scheduled to start Monday afternoon in preparation for an exhibition soccer match Saturday evening after the all-star game. The schedule for these games is as follows:

Monday: Freshmen vs. Athenian
Tuesday: Pi Lumbago vs. Alpha Sigma Highlanders
Wednesday: YMCA vs. Alpha Sigma Scotties
Thursday: Athenian vs. Pi Limbago
Friday: Freshmen vs. Alpha Sigma Scotties (3:30)
YMCA vs Alpha Sigma Highlanders (4:30)
Practice Game

Practice Game Schedule for October 17: Monday—Freshmen vs. Athenian. Tuesday— Pi Lumbago vs. Alpha Sigma Highlanders. Wednesday—YMCA vs. Alpha Sigma Scotties. Thursday—Athenian vs Pi Lumbago. Friday—3:30, Freshmen vs Alpha Sigma Scotties; 4:30, YMCA vs. Alpha Sigma Highlanders.

Spanish Club Elects, Plans Initiation-Picnic

Six new members were elected to the Spanish Club, Thursday. They are Harriet Brown, Charlotte Wyman, Bill Faulkner, Alan Fort, Mary Butts, and Lois Johnson. A picnic-initiation will be held on October 27 for new and old members.

Members agreed in the selection of a club pin. It will cost $1.44, including tax, and can be seen on Mr. Schwam's blackboard. Money for the pins can be paid to Neale Pearson or Elmer Mize.

Betty Carol was the winner of the verse contest with a cute four line ditty.

Future Teachers Chapter Holds Initial Meeting

Future Teachers of America held its initial meeting Thursday, October 6, using as its theme "What FTA Is and Does." Those who took part were Libby King, Ruth Rogers, Joy Parker, and Ray Kirby.

Persons planning to teach who are interested in becoming members of FTA should contact one of the members of the education faculty.

to receive Van Meter's kick. Bobby Neff returned it 31 yards to the 31-yard stripe. Bob Boring kicked 48 yards to the Centre 15 and it looked like the Highlanders would be out of trouble as Jack Henry got set to make the tackle. But licketysplit, Schreiber came hurtling through space to lay Henry low and Brummet was on his way down the sidelines 59 yards to the Scotties 26. On the play it seemed as if Brummet was hurt and he was escorted to the sidelines. He did not leave the game, however, but stood just inside the line talking to his coach. It was visible from the press-box that he was on the field but not so to the Honakermen because of the dimness of the chalk lines. He sneaked down the field on the snap and was the recipient of a 26-yard pass from Lou Ellis, Colonel end who switched to the backfield to disguise the change. Brummett finally found the range and kicked the point to make it 19-0.

After a short exchange of kicks, Centre got the ball, could not gain against the now hard-charging Scot line, and elected to try the play which set up their first score. On it the ball was snapped to Fullback Adams who in turn handed off to blocking back Rice—lined up backwards to the line—who then pitched out to Brummett. As Rice lined up backwards, King Berrong busted through their forward wall and grabbed the pitchout to score without a hand being laid on him. Andes kicked the point.

Scots Trail 19-0

Trailing in the contest, 19-0, the play put the Highlanders back into the ball game as the first quarter ended. This could be seen as the teams went into action in the second period. Late in the second quarter, Coach Lombe Honaker's men started moving from their own 12 on an 88-yard scoring drive which culminated in a 26-yard toss from Neff to Benny Baldwin.

Centre added its final score by taking advantage of Bobby Neff's fumble on the 38 which Ed Mercer recovered on the 24. Brummet took the ball around end for 22 yards to make the final score.

MC Takes The Day

Going into the dying minutes of the third quarter it looked as if Maryville's good fortune of never having lost to an unbalanced line team would be broken, but Dame Fate stepped in and Tubby Calloway recovered an Acton-fumble on their 27. Maryville's not-too-potent passing attack went into action and came through with a 26-yard toss from Neff to Brahams on the first play of the last quarter. The stunned crowd of some 2,000 then watched in mute agony some few moments later as the upstart Tennesseans took part over on their own 35 and pushed down the field 65 yards in a determined bid to score. Picking up four first downs via the chain-measurement route and another on Hershel Merriman's 23-yard gallop through the center, they finally broke the ice as Merriman bulled over from the one for the TD that meant the game. Andes again kicked the point as the crowd started going toward the exits, missing only a wild flurry of Centre passes which went for naught as Co-Cap. Miller intercepted one on the game's last play.

News Capsules—

By Donald Whelan

Administration Senate and House leaders received a Presidential pat on the back last week after Congress adjourned one of its longest sessions. Earlier, work had bogged down as the DP bill was kicked around again.

Although it was pointed out that the DP's would add about .2 per cent to the nation's labor force, Nevada's Pat McCarran kept mumbling about "a flood of aliens," while a couple of other die-hards fumbled through a third-rate filibuster attended by practically no other members. Result: the Dixie-GOPers won again, sent the bill back to committee.

Norway was reported very happy with its socialism last week but wanted to keep it just that. The Norse voted in a moderate leftist government, gave the Communists 6 per cent of the ballots.

Ships Left?

Elsewhere in Washington the kleiglit Defense Department feud carried on. Army and Air Force wheels had nasty things to say about admirals and fleets, and the Navymen replied with plagues on both their houses—and flying machines. Through the haze of charges and countercharges, one could see that unification was a farce, that Defense Secretary Louis Johnson had mutiny on his hands, that either Admiral Louie Denfield or Navy Secretary Frank Matthews would have to go.

Britain's Right

Convening in Britain last week, Conservatives promised to keep "welfare-state" gains but do a better job of it than Labour. Churchill's party advocated lower government cost through less weste, more services. With a general election not too far off, the Tories were set to keep pounding this year-old theme, hoping the voters would agree they'd make better socialists than those in office. With the United Kingdom on economic rocks, they might have better chances than the paradox would indicate.

Not Right Sure

The US was not on such solid ground in dealing with its Reds. Eleven of them were convicted last week of conspiring to teach and advocate violent overthrow of the government. The trial was not based on the constitutional definition of treason, but on a 1940 law until now untested in the courts.

Left Cold

US labor and management were at it tooth & fang last week with the usual growls. Giant US Steel and ditto J L Lewis led their respective packs to the fray involving steel, coal, and, locally important, aluminum. Yesterday, bargaining had a relapse when company spokesmen walked out of the talks, muttering that the unions were ruining them, themselves, and, incidentally, the country.

Critic Praises Maryville Band

"Maryville's band is the snappiest thing I've seen on the field this season," commented Jack Flowers, East Tennessee band and marching critic, now associated with Clark and Jones of Knoxville. "It's got something no other band I've reviewed so far has," he said Thursday as he watched band formations and marching on Wilson Field.

Flowers who was a former instructor-drummer in the US Marine Band expressed the opinion that MC's band, whose fast catchy step has caused much comment, would be good material to play for a baton twirling and drum majorette contest to be held in Knoxville. "Publicity of this nature would cause the interest in providing uniforms for the band to soar," he added.

Dwindling Coal Supply Causes Limited Heating

Director of Maintenance, Louis Black has announced that the present supply of coal at the heating plant will last approximately six weeks if warm weather continues. Should the temperature drop; however, the supply will be exhausted in about three weeks.

Because of the United Mine Workers strike which took effect September 26, this situation is beyond control. Black suggested that by using one boiler and alternating the heat from one building to another the coal might be conserved. He also requested the help and co-operation of students and faculty.

Vols See Movies, Plan Hymn Session

Rev. Carroll Stegall Sr., missionary to Belgian Congo, showed color movies of his work to a capacity audience at Student Volunteers meeting Sunday night. The movies, taken by Rev. Mr. Stegall and his wife over a two-year period, realistically portrayed the various phases of missionary life.

The Hymn Sing, previously scheduled for last week, will be Vols' program tomorrow night. George Day will lead the singing, with Dick Ribble accompaning. Special music will be provided by vocal and instrumental solos.

Nu Gamma Ends Term's Program with Barbecue

Nu Gamma's six-weeks program for all freshmen and transfer girls ended with a picnic Monday in Alumni Gym. The evening's program included a barbecue, songs, ghost stories, and ended with a devotional. "In the past this annual event has been a breakfast, but was changed to a picnic supper this year," said Judy Breen, chairman of Nu Gamma activities.

R. D. Williamson Addresses IRCers

UT Politics Professor Discusses Split World

"Ideology and historical problems are the things which confront us most in the Russian situation, today," said Dr. R. D. Williamson in a talk to International Relations Club Monday night. Dr. Williamson is professor of Political Science at the University of Tennessee.

Dr. Williamson pointed out that the three things which we seemingly could not reconcile our beliefs with the Russian ideology were atheism class, distinction, and revolution. "The world has divided itself into two main powers, Communism in the east and Democracy in the west with each afraid of the other power." However, Dr. Williamson pointed out that in an effort to attain a world-wide peace we should try, at least, to let the Russian people know that we want peace. Because of the "iron curtain," Dr. Williamson believes that the only way this can be done is through the individual citizen. "Through missionaries, technicians, and engineers sent to the Russian satelite countries which we can still enter, we may possibly be able to attain this."

Mrs. Margaret Cummings To Speak at YW Sunday

Mrs. Margaret Cummings, newly elected Y Mother, will speak at YWCA Sunday at 1:30 in the Y Rooms. Her subject will be "Personal Devotions."

Following the service will be a reception. Mrs. Cummings, Mrs. Thelma Kramer, Mrs. J. D. Buchanan, Mrs. R. T. Case, Carolyn Blair, advisors; and Elmira Bassett, former Y Mother, will be in the receiving line.

Athenians and Bainonians To Hike Tuesday Night

Athenian plans a moonlight hike with Bainonian Tuesday at seven o'clock. The hike starts from Thaw Hall. Other facts will be announced at the meeting tonight.

Athenian's program tonight is composed of several musical selections ranging from hillbilly style to "longhair." There will be a six-member choir accompanied by a five-piece orchestra.

The meeting is in Bartlett at 6:15.

Ministerials View 'Music, Worship'

Pre-Ministerials will meet Thursday night, October 27, at 7 p. m. at New Providence Presbyterian Church.

The program title is "Music and Worship" and W. Curtis Hughes, music instructor, will speak from the standpoint of an organist; Harry H. Harter, Vesper choir director, will give a choir director's aspect of religious music; and the Rev. Thomas A. Graham, Pastor of the New Providence Church, will discuss the subject from a minister's viewpoint.

Following the program, the group will tour the organ soundroom of the church, where Instructor Hughes will explain the mechanism and maintenance of organs.

CLUB NOTICE

Club and organization information should be turned in at the Echo office by or before 8 p. m. Wednesdays for publication in The Highland Echo.

Y Radio Schedules 'Saul of Tarsus'

Last Week's Broadcast Was Play 'Dead Speak'

Y Radio Workshop will present a drama, "Saul of Tarsus," by F. W. Manley, next Monday night, October 24, at 9:30 over WGAP. The tentative cast will include John Shew, Andy Clark, Walt English, Carroll Stegall, Jim Watt, Edwin Van Holland, and Jack Rorex.

The workshop is under the direction of Barbara Blum and Bill Starr Herb Keene, Y Radio special vocalist, will sing Lord's Prayer and Bluebird of Happiness.

Irene Launitz, music major from Philadelphia, Pa., will be interviewed following the drama, and will play a piano solo afterwards.

Last week, Y radio gave "The Dead Speak," a drama by Jim Black, director of last year's workshop. The cast included Bill Starr, Hayden Bryant, Don Winslow, Lou Masters, Herb Keene, Ken Newell, Fred Sieber, and John Shew. Don Winslow, philosophy major from Johnstown, Pa., Robert Williams, sociology major from Philadelphia, Pa., and Janet Cummings, pre-med major from Maryville, were interviewed about their summer research in state mental institutions.

President Lloyd Speaks, On 'World Order'

Tomorrow, President Ralph W. Lloyd will speak at Vespers on "World Order." Vesper Choir will sing "Hosannah" and "Let Thy Holy Presence."

Dr. George E. Davies was the speaker last Sunday.

Center Construction Commences Saturday

Ground Breaking Ceremonies on Founder's Day; Choir, Band To Participate in Processional

As part of the annual Founder's Day program next Saturday morning, ground breaking ceremonies will begin construction on MC's new Fine Arts Center.

If weather permits, the entire service will take place on the site of the new building, to cost between three and four hundred thousand dollars. To take part in service, along with the officers of the College, are the architects, Paul Scheikher and Winston Elting of Chicago, and Knoxville contractors, Johnson and Willard, who submitted the low bid.

A platform is to be constructed for the Founders' Day ceremonies, and the contractors are to stake off dimensions of the building and put in two or three temporary floor levels to indicate the nature of the structure. To help in choosing the type of material to be used, 500 brick are to be sent from Knoxville and will be at the center site. Ready to go to work Saturday will be a bulldozer and other equipment.

Reading, prayers, and music will compose the Founders' Day service. President Lloyd, who will preside, is scheduled to make a brief, explanatory address about the building.

The Band will play at the building site during the procession of Vesper choir and other participants in the program form at Anderson Hall to march to the Fine Arts Center, across Circle Drive from Baldwin Hall.

The building is a memorial to Ann Baldwin Lloyd, daughter of the Glen A. Lloyds of Chicago, whose gift is mainly responsible for this building.

Contemporary Design

Its construction will be basically of brick, concrete, and glass of contemporary design. Located near the north corner of the campus, on ground now part of the golf course, it will be one and two stories in height. The overall length from southwest to northeast is about 350 feet. The cross wings at the center of the building are about 200 feet long, and the northwest wing 63 feet in length.

This Fine Arts Center will house the College's work in music and visual arts. Dramatics will be housed on the ground floor of the Chapel to be built later, a few hundred feet distant, near the site of the old chapel.

According to present schedule, the Fine Arts Center will be ready for occupancy before the opening of the next college year.

Queen Collins Announces Court For Homecoming

Queen Ellen Collins has announced that Alice Davenport and Mary Mills will serve as her court for the Homecoming game with Western North Carolina next Saturday. Miss Davenport is a sociology major from Marietta, Ga., and Miss Mills a home economics major from Morris Plains, N. J. The queen will be dressed in green and the two attendants in Navy blue and brown.

The Royalty will be brought onto the field in two convertibles before the game. After a fanfare by the Band, Miss Collins will be crowned by Captain Howard Davis and presented a bouquet of flowers by Coach Lombe S. Honaker.

The Alumni Association, who will purchase the flowers, are working with the Pep Committee in making preparations for the Homecoming activities.

A special section near the 50 yard line will be reserved for the queen and her court during the game Saturday.

Plans are underway for a parade in the afternoon preceding the game. If these plans are conducted, the Band, queen and her court, football players, cheerleaders, floats by the Societies, and a cheering section from the Student Body would be expected to take part.

Pep Chairman Webster Fue and his committee are in charge of parade plans. Committee members include Ruth McSween, Ruth Rogers, Ralph Thiesse, and faculty advisors Howard Schwam and Carolyn Blair.

Director Curtis Hughes has planned several unusual formations for the Band. Among them will be a feature of Charles Huffman's "On Highlanders." This pep song, written by a member of the class of '48, will be presented in a novel way to teach it to the Student Body.

Alumni Barbecue

The traditional barbecue supper for returning Alumni will be held on the baseball field at 5:45 p.m. Some 350 attended the barbecue last year. No tickets are sold in advance, but price of the supper will be 50 cents. Howard Lamon, Jr., is the chairman of the food committee; Mrs. F. A. Griffitts, hospitality; and Dean Stone, promotion. Earl Blazer is president of the Association.

Among those spectators at the game will be Homecoming queens of former years. Two especially are known, Vera Lusk of the class of '48 and Betty Hall of '47.

Founder's Day Class Schedule

Students To Name King, Queen, Court For Barnwarming

Nominations for Barnwarming Court will be made October 27 in a student body meeting immediately after chapel. Members of the senior class will be nominated for King and Queen. Each class will nominate candidates for class sponsors.

200 In Messiah Chorus Rehearse 3:30 Sundays

Approximately 200 students, faculty, and townspeople appeared at last Sunday's Messiah rehearsal. These rehearsals are scheduled every Sunday afternoon at 3:30. October 30 is the final opportunity for anyone to join the chorus. A maximum of two cuts is allowed for anyone wishing to sing in the production.

'ASSEMBLY' SIG TOPIC

Alpha Eigma Society will hold its weekly meeting tonight in the Y Rooms at 6:15.

Subject of the meeting will be "The Freshman's Assembly."

Y Mother Tradition Continues As Source of Counsel, Guidance

By Frances Moore

Years ago when the water for the college was drawn from a well, the YM girls took their shampoo and towels over to "Mother Bassett's" house to wash their hair in the "soft" water from her well. This was the informal beginning of the Y Mother tradition.

Mrs. Henry R. Bassett was Y Mother for ten years, but in 1923 no longer able to perform her duties, she became known as Y Grandmother. Her home was always open to all the girls. Aromas of fudge and cocoa poured from the kitchen, the peddles of the sewing machine worked furiously, and discussion of studies and life issued from grouns curled up in front of the fireplace.

In 1923 Mrs. W. P. Stephenson wife of the college pastor, gave her time and counsel and onened her home to the girls of YWCA. Dr. and Mrs. Stephenson built the House in the Woods present residence of Dr. Briggs with a large living room especially for the purpose of being a "home" and headquarters for YW girls.

Miss Elmira Bassett, retired assistant professor of Latin, has been Y Mother for the past 7 years. Early interested in and associated with Y work, Miss Bassett was student president in her sophomore year here at Maryville College. She came here to teach in 1926 and right away became an advisor of YW. Made a permanent advisor after some time she created a "linking together of traditions, sidelights and general interest of older days and new ones."

Retiring this fall as Y Mother, Miss Bassett states: "My contact with YW girls is one of my choicest memories of my years at Maryville College. I appreciate the unfailing courtesy and intangible something which the girls have shown me."

Mrs. Margaret Cummings will continue in the tradition of Y Mother to be the sympathetic and intimate counselor of YW girls.

Quotes: United Nations Day, Monday October 24

"The fundamental fact of the Charter of the United Nations is that the machinery and procedure it establishes for achieving its ends are the institutions and procedures of free peoples. They are based on solving difficulties and making progress through investigations of fact, free discussion, and decisions by adjustment among the representatives of the Member Nations.

"The future of the free nations is closely related to the extended use of these democratic methods of cooperation. We, in this government, believe that the United Nations is the proper agency for promoting that extension by peaceful and proper means.

"Firm and devoted fidelity to and support of the United Nations has been and will continue to be a major aim of United States policy.

The hopes of the American people for peace with freedom and justice are based squarely on the United Nations."

—Dean Acheson, Secretary of State

"The United Nations is mankind's greatest hope for preventing new wars and creating conditions for enduring peace. If the United Nations is to be successful and accomplish the purposes for which it was established, it must have the wholehearted support of all the peoples of the world."

—Preamble UN Charter

"What is needed for achievement of a world order based on law and dedicated to peace and progress is a widespread improvement in the material and social well-being of the peoples of the world. The responsibilinty for such improvement will always rest primarily upon the peoples and governments themselves. In this field United Nations, can, however play an increasingly active role.

"The problems today presented to those who desire peace are not questions of structure. Nor are they problems solvable merely by new forms of organization. They require performances of obligations already undertaken, fidelity to pledges already given . . . .

"All new efforts to attain order and organization in the affairs of men require time to grow roots in the loyalties of men. The history of our own people testifies to this necessity. Let us not in our impatience and our fears sacrifice the hard-won gains that we now posses in the United Nations."

—Former Secretary George C. Marshall

DEBATERS' D-DAY ON NOVEMBER 14

Tryouts for this year's debating team will be held on November 14. Sides were drawn at Thursday night's meeting and 14 will take the affirmative side; 15, the negative. There will be about 20 members chosen for the squad. Of those trying out, 11 are previous debaters. Dr. Briggs, Miss Johnson, and Miss Walker will be judges.

The question is, "Resolved: That the United States should nationalize the basic non-agricultural industries."

STUDENT COUNCIL

Student Council met in a brief meeting following Chapel Thursday. The regular Wednesday evening meeting was not held since the Student-Faculty Senate and Steering Committee had not met. No Town Night violations were reported.

A Chapter of Anticipation

Founder's day with the ground-breaking exercises for the new Fine Arts Center closes a chapter of anticipation for the class of 1950. As freshmen, the class saw the college's fine arts facilities completely consumed in the burning of the Elizabeth R. Voorhees Memorial Chapel on the night of March 26, 1947. The fire depressed spirits, but the class in two years has watched the formation of plans to restore a home for the college's fine arts division. Briefly, it developed as follows:

May 17, 1947—as Echo recorded it, "Friends of Maryville College, who live in another state, have offered to provide a fine arts center to be constructed in connection with a new chapel . . . ."

Founders' Day 1947—"Glen Alfred Lloyd and his wife, Marion Musser Lloyd, of Chicago were the donors of the fine arts center . . .(which) will be a memorial to Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd's daughter, Ann Baldwin Lloyd, whose death came suddenly and unexpectedly, March 27, 1947. According to the present plans, the Fine Arts Center will consist of a group of several buildings, fireproof and modern in construction and design . . . (which) will constitute one of the most complete and serviceable fine arts centers to be found on American college campuses."

Alumni Gynasium, October 20, 1949—President Lloyd announced that a contract for the Fine Arts Center has been let and that construction will start next week.

For a verbal picture, the developments for starting construction on the building are complete. But the class, as well as the student body, have practically no conception of how the center when completed will appear. Unfortunately, the bare chapel announcement of overall length, situation, and construction details are all students to date may learn about the building's features. The announcement came untimely for Echo.

But, happily enough, by next fall, other classes will be able to enjoy rather than speculate on the completeness of the new center.

Open: Echo Forum

Typically, one of the functions of a campus publication is to provide a clearinghouse for the exchange of ideas, wholesome criticism, and comment relating to all the campus. As in previous years, The Highland Echo makes provision for publication of such information of concern to the entire student body.

Letters to the editor, however, should be signed by a member of the campus community to receive consideration. In addition, only such letters that show thoughtful, representative comment presented in a thoughtful, representative manner can be admitted to Echo's columns. Gripes—prejudiced and personal— are without interest for campus consumption.

As an expression of student or faculty interest in the activities reported by Echo, letters to the editor are both an encouragement to the paper's staff and a manifestation of an active, progressive college spirit.

Great Scot !

Which Way Did He Go, George?

John Gill, MC's transfer student from England, puzzled over the questions on his American history test. To the question asking "Did the British capture Washington in the War of 1812?" John answered no; the rest of the class said yes. "But," protested John, rather bewildered at this point, "I thought Washington escaped across the Delaware!"

How The Other Half Lives

Dr. Case made the interesting observation to his sociology class that frats and sororities were composed of brethren and—cistern, of course. Could Dr. Case be intimating that sororities are all wet?

In The Still of The Night

Pearsons was having one of its frequent nocturnal fire drills. It was so realistic—the fire captains took roll and reported attendance, which was at a minimum this night. Milly Simmons, last captain to report, mournfully (or was it hopefully) announced: "Mine aren't here; they all burned up."

Information, Please

For the benefit of freshmen who haven't yet read the M Book and therefore don't know what "loitering" means in the Maryville jargon, here is Samuel Johnson's definition of the act. Evidently the word had much the same connotation in British society of the 1700's as on Maryville campus. To loiter: says Dr. Johnson, is "to linger; to spend time carelessly; to idle."

But above that he includes this quotation which best illustrates his point. "If we have gone wrong, let us redeem the mistake, if we have loitered, let us quicken the pace, and make the most of the present opportunity."

Would you like that repeated?

Down To Earth

While we're on the subject of definitions, here's an original one by Margie Newland on tradition: "Not so much sentiment as sediment."

Went Over With A Bang

In Dr. Hunter's literature class as the good professor was enlarging upon Dryden's criticism of Chaucer, Chaucer's picture fell off the wall with a loud crash. Taking this opportune incident in his stride, Dr. Hunter remarked, "It's strange Chaucer should be surprised; he's known for years how Dryden felt." But even after seven hundred years some people just can't accept criticism.

Just Wondering

Was there any significance in the fact that immediately after the "Happy Birthday" serenade to Fred Seiber by Vesper Choir, they started singing "Silver Threads Among the Gold?"

More Wondering

We wonder how Bobby Gillenwater felt when she found she had been assigned to the boys' gym class. Physical education gets more interesting every year.

Class-ifieds

Every paper with a circulation over 500, it seems, has a classified add section. So here goes Maryville's first attempt at the "big time."

Wanted: New football helmet. Mine doesn't fit any more. Don Walker.

Wanted: A black pocketbook so I won't have to carry my leather sewing kit to church anymore. Maree Richards.

For Sale: Webb-Kincaid-McBride's new cure-all. For headaches, low spirits, amenesia, poor grades. Contact these agency dealers—39 Pearsons— who love to quote poetry.

Wanted: Those persons in Carnegie who started the commotion Sunday night. Dead or Alive. Reward, two slightly dented trash cans. Mr. Mac.

Advertisment: Betty Hutton will make a personal appearance at the Sophomore Hallowe'en party. Line will form that night at the Alumni Gym. Sophomore Program Committee.

Personal: Class come back; all is forgiven. Mr. Bushing.

A-Sign-ment

"Please, could you direct me to Thaw Hall" inquires a very nice man in a car from Pennsylvania . . . and the student to whom the question was asked does direct him after a moment's hesitation in contemplation of a sensible direction and not just an "Over there," with a sweep of the index finger.

Visitors by the dozens pass through the college each year, seeing friends or relatives or just to admire our beautiful campus. A helpful reminder and suggestion seems open at this point—to construct signs or some kind of markers to direct our visitors. A "Dead End" sign is especially needed at the junction of Circle Drive and Bookstore roads. They wouldn't have to be elaborate or expensive, just directive.

Duke Press Publishes Ph. D. Thesis By Maryvillian, Nathalia Wright

By Dick Newman

"Melville's Use of the Bible," the doctoral dissertation of Nathalia Wright, Maryville alumna and former assistant librarian, was published recently by Duke University Press.

Miss Wright took her bachelor's degree in English at Maryville and her M. A. and Ph. D. at Yale, where she majored in a comparatively new field—American Studies. This department includes courses in American art, history, and letters, integrating them around the general theme of American culture.

A resident of Maryville, Miss Wright is currently teaching at the University of Tennessee where she has classes in freshman composition and sophomore world literature.

Beyond The Factual

In an interview, Miss Wright stated that the purpose of her book was to go beyond a mere factual report of Melville's use of the Bible and attempt to throw light on Melville as an artist and thinker. She disapproves, she said, of the "counting" type of thesis and attempted herself to search out reasons and ideas instead.

"The Bible", she stated, "has a very large place in American culture. And it is one device for examining Melville."

Miss Wright was introduced to Melville by Dr. Stanley Williams, Yale's principal American literature authority, and dedicates her book to him. Lamar library has recently purchased the book.

CAPITOL PRESENTS

Unaccustomed as the local theatres are to bringing current hits to the screen for Town Night, the Capitol seems to be breaking a precedent when it will unwind "I Was A Male War Bride" this coming Monday and Tuesday. "War Bride" was, incidentally, number two in US box office polls for September.

In the story Henri Rochard (Cary Grant) as a French captain on an economic mission to the American zone has, as his assistant, Catherine Gates (Ann Sheridan), an American Wac lieutenant. The she-lieutenant, having worked with him before, regards Rochard as a "human octopus with hands."

They follow each other through a comedy of errors that could only happen in occupied Germany. By the time they reach their destination, the octopus has turned out to be a lover. This results in marriage—the army kind, applied for in quadruplicate—just as Catherine's outfit is ordered back to the states. Rochard is left with no alternative than to become a "war bride" involving no end of complex transit problems.

Although some of the proceedings may try the Legion of Decency's patience, they are handled too delightfully by Grant and Miss Sheridan to offend any but the most squeamish. And under Howard Hawk's direction the end product is one of the most sparkling original comedies of the year.

THE SKY YELLOWS

No week would be complete without the showing of a western of some variety, and the Capitol realizes this when it brings on "Yellow Sky," Wednesday and Thursday. There is no particular reason why 20th Century's latest equine epic should be called "Yellow Sky" except that the words have a pleasantly lone-prairie-ish sound. As a matter of fact, there's no particular reason why the picture should have been filmed except that people seem to like the old Western formula, if it has a good cast and top-notch direction. "Yellow Sky" has enough of both to make it one of the better films of its kind.

Not much need be said about the plot; it involves a standard group of Civil War vetrans who have taken to bank robbing for lack of something better to do. The group is led by a tall, handsome critter named Stretch (Greg Peck), a basically sound guy, of course. But it also includes a basically wrong guy named Duke (Richard Widmark).

The group gets involved in a ghost town populated only by a jug-toting old graybeard (James Barton) and his lovely daughter (Anne Baxter) who is also rather handy with a gun. The ensuing complications won't surprise anybody but they're unraveled with absorbing realism and some moments of painful suspense. And even in a man's shirt, jeans, and a gun belt, Miss Baxter is easy to look at.

LUX CELEBRATES

To change the subject with a flick of the dial, Lux Radio Theater celebrated its fifteenth anniversary in a welter of superlatives, statistics, and beauty contests (to find the country's most beautiful fifteen-year-old). The oldest and most popular drama show on the drama-heavy air, Lux Radio is billed as being "synonymous with all the greatness and glamour in Hollywood." Producer-Host William Keighly calls it "good, solid, clean entertainment" in which "nothing is ever used which might offend."

NBC DRAMATIZES

For more than a year NBC's University Theater has been dramatizing such important works of modern literature as Forster's "A Passage to India" and Huxley's "After Many A Summer Dies the Swan" with such stars as Herb Marshall and Deborah Kerr. The program was a cultural hit; six US universities have offered home study courses in conjunction with the show. But it was no big-audience hit.

Recently the show got an alias. This season it will be called NBC Theater. "We thought the word 'university' was scaring listeners away," explained NBC press department.

MARGARET SINGS

"With about the most adorable stage presence of anyone who has appeared before the footlights at U-T Alumni Auditorium Margaret Truman sang her way into the hearts of Knoxvillians last Monday," glibly wrote Malcolm Miller of the Knoxville Journal.

In direct contrast with this came reports that as unfortunately Miss Truman has started her career at the top of the ladder she has no other place to go except down. It is obvious that she will not stay up where she is at present though she has all the personality and grace of an artist.

Miss Truman, daughter of a well-known government official, is a comparatively recent addition to the field of American entertainment. Her greatest desire is to sing in the Met and unfortunately she has been convinced that she can.

BOOKSHELF SPEAKS

Among the new additions to Lamar Memorial Library this week is the five volume Folk Dance Library. The collection includes "Teaching of the Folk Dance," "Folk Dances of Scandanavia," "Folk Dances of European Countries," "Folk Dances of British Isles," and "Folk Dances in the United States and Mexico."

Y MUSICAL PROGRAM PLANNED TOMORROW

YMCA will present a program, "Christ Through Music," Sunday at 1:30 in Bartlett Hall. Campus musicians, including soloists Herb Keene, Jim Aiken and June Holsey, will perform. Envoy Quartet Dick Ribble, Ken Shaffer, Walter and Charles Schroeder—will sing.

John Sayre will render piano music. Wesley Miles, Hap Brahams, Dick Ribble and Dick Dosker, making up the Conqueror's Quartet, will contribute to the program of sacred music.

Shirley Postlethwaite Wins Catechism Award; More Available in '50

Shirley Postlethwaite is the winner of the remaining 1949 Westminster Shorter Catechism College Scholarship offered here. She won it in a competitive examination with three other students.

At the beginning of second semester, the Board of Christian Education will send to MC's Student Help office the scholarships available during 1950. The donor of these scholarships is anonymous.

Any student who has enrolled for first time in a Presbyterian college is eligible for a scholarship if he can recite the 107 answers to shorter catechism. Students wishing additional information can contact the Student Help office.

MC Students Take Med Test at UT Saturday

Some five or six Maryville Students will journey to Knoxville next Saturday to take the Medical College Admission Test at the University of Tennessee.

The test, which will last all day, will be given to those planning to enter medical college in September, 1950. "The test will cover some general subjects, though it will be primarily a medical test," stated Dr. E. R. Hunter, Dean of Curriculum.

Sunday Schools Plan Socials; Kiger To Speak

About 40 members of the Broadway Methodist Sunday School college class are spending Saturday afternoon at Crowder's Cabin, Miller's Cove.

Sheryl Stewart, Sally Sutton, and Morna Wright form the committee in charge of food. Tom Jones and Ross Dooley are in charge of recreation.

Nine Maryville students left for Memphis on Friday morning to attend the Baptist Student Union Convention. They will be guests of members of the Bellvue Baptist Church congregation until Sunday night.

Students attending are: Jim Gibson, Dorothy Keeble, Jim Farris, Lorene Bean, Glenn Gentry, Anne Higdon, Bill Willingham, Margaret Stone, and Betty Condry.

Assistant Professor John H. Kiger of the college history department will speak Sunday to the St. Andrew's Church School on The Protestant Reformation.

Lois Lerch will open the worship service of the First Methodist Sunday School college class on Sunday morning. On Sunday, November 20, members of the college class will be dinner guests of the church congregation. On one Tuesday of each month there will be a social at the church, planned for the college students.

President Webster Fue reported no students were scheduled to lead the church school worship program at New Providence's college class.

●ORCHIDS AND ONIONS DEPARTMENT: Orchids to the footballers for their victory last week over a supposedly better ETS team and for their comeback against Centre. Onions to the officials who told ETS that they would get three points if they kicked the ball through the uprights on the kickoff following their initial tally. This was the cause of the ETS huddle before they kicked off on the Scot 45 after Maryville was penalized on the extra point attempt. Luckily, they kicked over the fence or the three points would have been the difference in the ball game.

●AFTER SATURDAY'S EXHIBITION, most fans have come to the conclusion that Maryville has a glaringly non-existent pass defense. The trouble, says Coach Honaker, is that "we're covering the man, and not the ball." Whatever the trouble, let's hope it can be corrected by Saturday night—the Wasps are sure to load the air with passes. So far this year the Scots have had nine of the thirteen touchdowns scored against them coming via the air lanes.

●AT THE RATE SCORES ARE PILING UP for both Scots and their opponents, fans may see the old record of 435 points scored in 1923—346 by Maryville and 91 by opponents—eclipsed. So far this season, Scot rooters have seen 120 points racked up by the Scots against 95 by opposing teams.

●NOW FOR THE INDIVIDUALS GOING HIGH THIS SEASON. Blondie Law has picked up 203 yards in 21 tries for a 9.67 rushing average. Not bad for a wingback who has to make most of it on reverses. Hersh Merriman, Leon Berrong, Bobby Neff, and Bob Boring aren't too close behind considering the fact that they haven't had the long runs Blondie has had. Here's the season's results to date:

Player	Attempts	Yardage	Ave. per try
Neff	40	195	4.8
Merriman	34	196	5.7
L. Berrong	26	132	5.0
Law	21	203	9.6

●ACCORDING TO COACH "J.D." DAVIS, the team that can be the "flashiest" will win the rest of this year's encounters. These were not the exact words spokn, but they convey the meaning that there will be plenty of wide-open ball played, especially against and by the Wasps of Emory and Henry. Wasp Coach Snidow always has something up his sleeve, and the game will, in all probability, be a recurrence of the ETS game with plenty of split "T" spread and sleeper plays.

●AFTER ONE MONTH OF ROUGH AND TUMBLE PLAY, the intramural boys get their chance for some rah-rah tonight in the annual All-star game. It should be a whale of a game with Hugh Hamil matching passes with the All-stars' Haylock, Yeaworth, and Blalock. Both teams have tough lines, and the decision probably rests in the question of whether or not the All-star men can work together well enough after such short practice to over-run the "Y". Going out on a limb—All-stars should win if they can work together smoothly on offense and defense.

WHERE'S SCOTTY?

★YOUR INQUIRING SPORTS SCRIBE THIS WEEK wants to know what has become of Scotty. We refer, of course, to the Scotty dog bought by several alumni of the college and presented with appropriate ceremonies to the student body in 1946. It was intended at that time to have the dog march with the band as a team mascot. For a while last year Scotty did march, but we have not seen her on the field for quite a while. Chief complaint seems to have been that the dog was hard to manage during tricky band formations. Herewith—a suggestion. Let's have Scotty back for the rest of the year, at least as the band comes on the field before the game.

Scots Take To Road For Grid Encounter At Emory

Undefeated Gold and Black Wasps Celebrate Their Homecoming Tonight At Emory, Va.

Maryville College will be guests for Emory & Henry's homecoming game this Saturday afternoon at Emory, Va., where the Highlanders, according to Coach Davis, will be up against one of the toughest foes of the season. The Emory Wasps will enter today's fray with an unbeaten record. So far this season they have knocked off Concord 19-7, Milligan 27-7, Sydney 28-0, and Guilford 27-0. The only college both teams have played is Carson-Newman. It will be remembered that we knocked them off four weeks ago 13-0. The Scotties squeezed out a 12-6 victory over the Wasps in a close, hard-fought game at last year's homecoming tilt at Wilson Field.

The Emory team outweighs the Scotties in almost every position. Coach Davis, who witnessed the E&H-C-N game, stated that the Blue Wasps are faster than the lighter Maryvillians. Their entire first string is back from last year, including halfback Bob Miller who is one of the best backfield men in the state of Virginia Miller and Painter take care of the punting chores. Both men average over 40 yards per kick this season. Chuck Davis, their "T" formation quarterback, is almost as good as Middle Tennessee's J. B. Proctor. Proctor is the boy who almost single-handedly whipped Maryville a few weeks back. At fullback is 220 pound Pat Spurgeon who can hit the line with unbelieveable ferocity. Spurgeon is also a fine blocker, and, by the way, is a transfer student from V.M.I.

Wasps Substitute Freely

Not only will the Scots have to contend with the tricky machinations of the "T", but they will have to cope with the two platoon system of substitution which worked so well against them when used by MTS. At Murfreesboro, it will be remembered, our boys were literally worn to a frazzle by the fresh substitutes of Coach Murphy.

The Scots shipped off to Emory yesterday without the services of three of their backfield men. Fullback Jim Baird and halfback Charles Allen are both out with fractured wrists while Tubby Callaway, second string quarterback, will be absent to take a medical exam. Bob Larson may also be sidelined due to a bruised shoulder muscle. Allen incurred his injury last week in the ET game. The budding halfback, who was just coming into his own, will be sorely missed by the Scots today.

There is one piece of good news for the Scots. King Berrong, absent last week due to a back injury, will be back at his quarterback slot for this afternoon's game.

Scot Pass Defense

Maryville has been working hard all week in an attempt to strengthen their pass defenses. The line will rush harder and faster, and the secondary, it is hoped, will cover their men more effectively.

Scot fans will not be able to hear their team in action either this afternoon or tonight. Instead, WGAP is broadcasting the UT vs TPI game in the afternoon, and the Maryville High School-Rule High "B" game tonight.

Just in passing, three out of the next four opponents on the Honaker schedule are, at this point in the season, still undefeated. They are, Western Carolina, Austin Peay, and the Alabama Teachers. The fourth opponent, Carson-Newman, is still looking for its initial win of the season.

The probable starting lineups are:

Maryville		Emory&Henry
Miller	LE	Howard
Davis	LT	Nihlett
Isenberg or Cates	LG	Via
Holsey	C	Earp
Andes	RG	Erie
Walker	RT	Hildrith
Brahams or Henry	RE	Kisir
K. Berrong orNeff	QB	Davis
L. Berrong	LHB	Miller
Law	FB	Ciphus or Painter
Boring or Merriman	FB	Spurgeon

TENNIS

In a battle closer than scores indicate Jerry Sayres defeated Brewer Kenton for the class B singles crown. They gained the finals by defeating Roberts and Zabriskie, respectively.

The games were close, although the final scores were 6-1, 6-1. Kenton played a beautiful defensive game, but he was unable to match Sayres' fast, hard, offensive game. This was the last crown to be won in the 1949 intramural tennis tournament.

GOLF

Foursomes for the intramural golf tournament to begin Monday afternoon have been announced. L. A. Campbell, Jerry Sayers, Clint Bopst, and James Callaway make up the first group, while Charles Trotter, Tom Yeaworth, Evere Zabriskie, and George make up the second group. The first

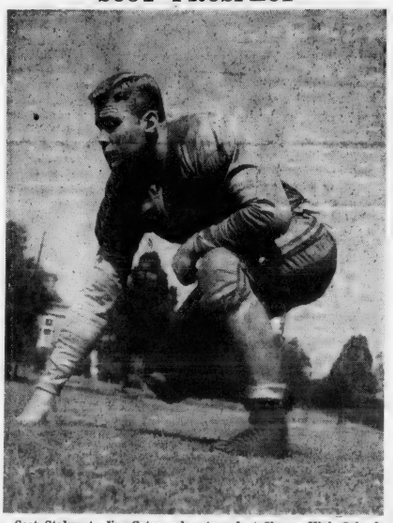
Scots Top Bucs In 20-19 Tussle

MC Tallies In First Half For Close Win

Maryville Highlanders avenged last year's 20-0 defeat by knocking over the East Tennessee Bucs, 20-19, before a capacity crowd at Wilson field last Saturday night. The Scots rolled up a commanding 20-6 lead at halftime only to have an inspired East Tennessee eleven roar back in the last period and almost snatch victory from defeat.

ET took the opening kickoff and after gaining a first down were forced to kick to the Maryville 25. From here the Scots marched 75 yards for the first score. Runs by Law and Leon Berrong brought the ball up to the Maryville 45.

Leon Berrong crashed off right guard for a 33 yard run down to the 28. A 15 yard personal foul penalty against the Scots pushed the ball back to the 43, but two successive end sweeps by Blonde Law moved it down to the 19. Berrong picked up a first down on the 18, and, on the next play, passed to end D. M. Miller for the first score. Ken Andes missed the extra point.



Scots Score Again

The Honakermen had their next score early in the second quarter. Charley Allen, taking a punt on his own 35, raced all the way down to the Tennessee 36. On the next play, Allen Law ran around his own left end for the second tally.

Andes came in to kick the extra point. Maryville tallied once again

SCOT PROSPECT

Scot Stalwart—Jim Cates, who starred at Young High School as a tackle, is turning in a bang-up performance at guard in his first year of college ball. Switched to that position by Coach Honaker, he is rated as one of the best prospects in years.

All-Stars Meet YMCA Tonight

INTRAMURAL CLASSIC STARTS AT 7:30 UNDER LIGHTS; SOCCER GAME FOLLOWS

Intramural football takes the spotlight tonight at 7:30 on Wilson Field as the champion YWCA team takes on the power-packed all-star team under the lights. Tonight's game marks the third season for the intramural Y gridmen who have held the crown since 1946.

All-star co-captains are Frank Farmer and Tom Yeaworth who have been working out hard this week with the newly acquired aggregation of the best players from each of the other touch football teams. The "Y" team, only undefeated group in the league, came out on top of the heap by winning eight games and tying one in a nine game series for a percentage of 1.000. Runner up, and only one game behind, was the Bluejay squad. Each member of the "Y" team will recive an intramural ribbon award. No awards are made in the all-star competition.

Soccer Follows

The game tonight will be played according to regular touch football rules with four ten-minute quarters. Officials for the game are Ralph Thiesse—Referee; Don McDonald and Vernon Shamblin—Umpires; D. Allison—head linesman; and J. Wear—score and timekeeper.

Highlight of the game will be a performance by the college band during half-time with some tricky burlesque marching formations.

The Washington Post March, Semper Fedelis, and the Fight Song constitute the musical renditions to be given.

Following the football game there will be an exhibition soccer match between the YMCA soccer team and the Alpha Sigma Scotties. The newly organized soccer teams have been practicing all week in preparation for soccer competition which starts Monday.

Starting Lineups

All-star starters tonight will be Handley of the Bluejays and Varker of the Ministerials at end; Newell of the Ministerials at center; Yunkers and Farmer, both Pi Lumbago, wingbacks; Haylock of Los Lobos at quarterback; and Yeaworth of the Bluejays playing tailback. Other members of the picked squad are Poland of the Bluejays, Blolock of the Polecats, Henry and Kren of the Scotties, and Holsinger from Athenian. The "Y" team will line up with Buckley and Taylor on the ends, Hatley at center, Crisk and Boyd at wingback, Joe McNeill at quarterback, and Hamil at tailback. Other teammates who will see action are Ogle, Connors, McNeill, Springfield, and Campbell.

Cross Countrymen Tackle Sewanee

University of The South Is Host To Scotty Team

Maryville's Scotty thin-clads left at 7:00 this morning for Sewanee, Tennessee, where they will meet the Purple and White cross-country team. Seven men will make the trip with Coach Johnson after six had qualified in time trials Wednesday. George Day has been out all week with two badly-blistered toes, but should be in good enough shape to run against Sewanee.

Last year, the Highlanders had little difficulty in defeating the Purple and White, winning here 17-38 and topping them there by a 20-41 score.

Back for Sewanee this year are their two leading runners, Albert Perkins and John Stewart. Perkins, State mile champion, beat Erisman over there but had to be content with second as Erisman set a new course record in the return match here. Stewart came in seventh both times.

In Sewanee's match with TPI, the Tech-men were topped 18-40, while Maryville won, 15-50.

Time Trials

Result's of Wednesday's time trials are as follows: Del Erisman, 18:14; Jimmy Thurston, 16:21; John Baird, 18:36; Bill Menges, 18:40; Neale Pearson, 18:42; Ric Rogers, 18:49; Dick Kerr, 19:35; Dave Holwig, 19:36; and Tom Kelly, 19:52.

Those who will make the trip are Earisman, Thurston, Baird, Menges, Pearson, Rogers, and Day.

NOTICE

Men interested in varsity wrestling should report to the training room in Bartlett, Monday afternoon at 3:30, Coach J.A. Davis announced. The first match will be with the Knoxville Y in Knoxville on December 9.

in the second period when Jim McKee recovered a State fumble on the 45. Neff and Boring moved the ball down to the 35 for a first down. Law, Boring and Calloway teamed up to push the pigskin to the 24. Calloway got the first down on a quarterback sneak through center. At this point the Johnsonites were penalized 15 yards for a personal foul which moved the ball down to the nine. Merriman got four yards through center and than crashed off-tackle to hit paydirt from the five. Ken Andes kicked the point which later proved to be the margin of victory.

ET Breaks Ice

Blonde Law than kicked off to the ET five where Paul Musselman, 165 pound speedster, gathered the ball in and raced 63 yards to the Maryville 33. From there three straight Vest passes failed, but on the fourth down he completed a pass to Hendrix on the ten. The Maryville line held, but on the fourth down halfback France slipped over from the four for the score. Musselman's try for extra point was blocked by the whole right side of the Scottie line.

The Staters almost had another score when Musselman took a Boring punt on his own 46 and again proved his broken field running ability by returning it to the Scottie seven. The half ended without further scoring as there was only time for two pass plays both of which fell incomplete.

It was evident at the outset of the second half that the tables were turned. The third period went scoreless, but the fighting Pirates came up with two thrilling scoring thrusts in the waning minutes of the last period and threatened to sink the stunned Maryvillians.

Bucs Take To Air

The Bucs second score came about as quarterback Vest began to hit with his air barrage. Moving from his own 35, Vest threw three complete passes for 61 yards. The scoring pass went from Vest to Williams and covered 31 yards. Merriman foiled the attempt by intercepting a pass on his own 31.

The game ended with Maryville in possession on their own 36.

Halfback Musselman again failed to convert as Merriman and Proffit broke through to block the kick.

Things still looked dark for the Buccaneers as they took over on the Maryville 41 with only four minutes to play. Vest faded back to the midfield stripe and threw a long desperation pass to speedy Musselman who was drifting along the sidelines. Musselman gathered the ball in and easily outdistanced the Maryville secondary in a race to the goal line. Vest, taking advantage of Maryville's non-existant pass defense, threw to Elliott for the extra point. That made it 20-19.

ET kicked off to the Scotties who were forced to punt after failing to gain on the ground. Eastern Tennessee took over and tried to score again through the air, but

MC Playhouse Adds Arch, Ceiling, Track

Work is now being done on equipment for MC Playhouse. The College maintenance department is building a portable stage, and Playhouse members are building a proscenium arch, ceiling, and curtain track.

Monday, Wednesday, Friday, and Saturday from 1:30 to 4:30 are regular hours scheduled by Playhouse for working on equipment in the attic of Bartlett Hall. Anyone interested may help. Dave Reed is student assistant to Herman D. Middleton, faculty director of the Playhouse.

Experimental Theatre expects to have the proscenium arch and the curtain track ready to use for November fourth productions. Of the productions, two performances each will be given, one at 7:30 and one at 9. Tickets will be required for admission so that everyone may be seated.

Dr. Ralph Lloyd Delivers Series of Four Lectures To Senior Ethics Class

President Ralph W. Lloyd is lecturing the ethics class—Philosophy 311—on four topics formerly incorporated in a course which he taught. The series of lectures requiries one or two weeks.

Topics of the lectures are philosophies of the world, religions of the world, central beliefs of the Christian religion, and grounds of certainty.

Dr. Lloyd has already completed the lectures on his first topic. He discussed what philosophy is, types of philosophy—Naturalism, Idealism, Dualism, Pragmatism, and Mysticism— and how we build our philosophy of life.

His second topic, religions of the world, deals with Confucianism, Hinduism, Buddhism, Mohammedanism, and Christianity.

Central beliefs of the Christian religion and grounds of our certainty will be his subjects next week.

VOLUME 35 — MARYVILLE, TENNESSEE, OCTOBER 29, 1949 — NUMBER 8

Parade At 1:30 Marks Festivities

By Lois McConnell

Fesitvity is the keynote on Maryville's campus as old grads return for 1949 Homecoming. Activities began this morning with the Founder's Day Program at 9:45 and will continue with a parade this afternoon and the WNC game tonight.

President Ralph Lloyd was the speaker at the Ground Breaking Ceremonies this morning for the New Fine Arts Center Building. The College Band played for the processional, and the Vesper Choir sang an anthem and a prayer response.

Homecoming Parade will form this afternoon at 1 at the North Gate of the campus. Webster Fue, Pep Committee Chairman, is in charge of all plans. In a statement concerning this afternoon, Fue said. "We are counting on every student to make this parade a success. There will be a special section of students marching. We want it to be a gala affair."

Homecoming Parade

The four societies, as well as several of the civic organizations in town, will have floats in the parade. The Band will lead the group; Queen Ellen Collins and her Court, Alice Davenport and Mary Mills, will follow in two convertibles. Members of the foot ball squad will follow the Royalty in another convertible and a truck.

The parade will move from the North Gate down Washington Avenue to Broadway, south on Broadway to Cates Street and left on Cates back to the campus.

A special comimttee composed of Jim Baird, Sally Kemp, Jim Kren, and Peggy Sangster met the Western North Carolina team when they arrived.

Alumni will assemble at 5:45 p.m. on the baseball field for their annual barbecue. President Earl Blazer will preside. The Alumni Association Office reports a good response to announcements; 350 to 400 alumni and their families are expected to attend. Price of the barbecue is 50 cents, and no tickets are sold in advance.

Queen Ellen Collins will be crowned preceding the game at 8 p.m. She will be crowned by Captain Howard Davis and presented flowers by Coach Lombe Honaker on behalf of the Alumni Association.

Band Performs

Director Curtis Hughes has prepared special formations for the Band's half-time activities. Entering in reverse ranks from the south end of the field, Band members will move to spell out HI-HO and GRAD, where they will play "Hail, Hail the Gang's all Here" and "Auld Lang Syne." From there they will spell WNC honoring the visiting team from Western North Carolina. In this formation they are to play the trio of "Our Director."

Forming again in the center of the field, the Band will move into a solid M and will feature Maryville's pep song, 'On Highlanders," written by Charles Huffman of the class of '49. "'On Highlanders' is presented to teach the song to the student body and returning Alumni," said Hughes. Following this the Band will go into a special star formation, with the lights on the field out. Flashlights on, Bandsmen will sing "Star Dust" as they scatter confetti at their feet. Before the lights are on the Band will move into a huge triangle to play the Alma Mater.

The Band, under the direction of drum major Charles Williams, will again be marching at its regular cadence of 198 steps a minute.

Minstrel, Musical, 'Monsters' Show At Hallowe'en Parties Monday Night

Hallowe'en parties for freshmen, sophomore, and junior classes, scheduled to begin Monday night at 7:30, are to be followed by a midnight (9:45) horror show, "The Return of the Monster," sponsored by the junior class.

Minstrel show will be the main event at the freshman party in the Intramural Gymnasium. Also as part of the entertainment will be group games, singing, and Virginia reeling.

Freshman committee chairmen are Lois Lerch, refreshment; Beverly Edwards, decorations, and Jimmy Britton, entertainment.

The sophomore party in Alumni Gymnasium will have the theme "Stars on Parade" with such people as Betty Hutton and the Mills Brothers. Also, mixed in, will be local talent including Carolyn Marshall, piano soloist, Conrad Eaddy, tenor, and Wilbur Rogers Selander, clarinet soloist.

Square Dance

After the musical there will be square dancing followed by refreshments.

Persnonel in charge are Bob Kees, program chairman and Master of Ceremonies; Barbara Stidham, director; Susie, Martin, refreshments; and Judy Matterson, publicity.

In Bartlett Gymnasium the junior party will start with typical Hallowe'en atmosphere of games ending with refreshments.

Carol Corbett, vice-presiednt of junior class ,is in charge of the party. Those on committees are Peggy Sangster, games; and Evelyn Kennedy, refreshments.

At 9:45 all party groups are invited to Alumni Gymnasium for "The Return of the Monsters," a sequel to last year's "House of Monsters." The theme of this year's play is terror in the libry basement and deals with the further adventures of Frankenstein's monster, Dracula, the Wolf Man, and the Mummy as they chase Assistant Librarian Mary Miles, a couple of library assistants, and assorted odd characters around the basement of Lamar Memorial Library.

Monsters

Charles Williams, Joe Poland, and Paul Kidder will recreate their original roles as monsters. Stan Lange will play the fourth monster role. Miss Miles will be impersonated by Mary Lyerly, and Arch Swarztrauber, Tish Plowman, and Louise Lloyd will play themselves. Lincoln Shimomura appears as Kim Takahashi, a Japanese criminal, and Donald Whelan portrays crooked Lawyer Brewster. George Ogle acts the role of the Wolf Man before he becomes a were-wolf. Gerry Hopkins has the role of Nicolette d'Aulaire, a Roumanian girl who is an exchange student at the College.

This year's script was written by Jim Dance, Donald Whelan, and Charles Williams. Special monster make-ups are created by Jim Dance and Jean Hunt. Jim Townsend is stage manager, and Lou Masters is properties manager.

MC Band To Play In North Carolina On Armistice Day

Robbinsville Legion Post Invites Band

Maryville College Band has accepted a bid to play in an Armistice Day Parade in Robinsville, N. C., on November 11, Curtis Hughes, director, has announced.

Maryville's band will be the only college band there. They will be in a parade and will attend the day's festivity program. We are accepting the trip on the basis that we will not take any other out-of-town trips this year," Hughes said.

"We consider it an honor to be recognized in this way. Robinsville's American Legion has been anxious to have us as their guests for some time" he continued. "This will be a grand opportunity to show the surrounding public what an excellent band Maryville has."

All expenses will be paid by Robinsville's American Legion.

Faculty Attends ETEA Convention

East Tennessee Education Association, meeting in Knoxville for its 45th annual session last Thursday and Friday, was attended by about 15 Maryville faculty members.

Officers of departmental sections, which met to discuss current educational problems, included Dean Frank D. McClelland, chairman of the Guidance and Personnel Department, and Dr. Lincoln Barker, Maryville psychology department, who is secretary of the College Education and Psychology Department. Dr. David Briggs, also of the psychology department, is a Research Committee member.

Guest speakers at the general sessions include Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, pastor of New York's Marble Collegiate Church; author Chester Hobin; and Lawrence Derthick, superintendent of Chattanooga's public schols. .

President of the Association is Ray E. Kinnick, principal of Dobbyns-Bennett High School, Kingsport. ETEA stands for "Education of youth, welfare of teachers, and peace of the world." Its constitution states that "the object of this Association is to encourage and promote educational work in Tennessee." All white persons interested in the object of this Association shall be eligible to membership."

New Spring Term Courses Announced

Dean's Office To Post Full Schedule Later

New courses for the second semester were announced this week by the Curriculum Office. A complete schedule of courses for next term is to be made available in a short time, according to a statement by Dean Edwin R. Hunter.

Art 312F, a course in contemporary architecture and sculpture, is to be taught by Instructor Charlotte Johnson. Not only for art majors, the course is open to other students of junior or senior classification who may be interested in "this very living aspect of art."

Dr. Verton Queener is to teach Government and Business, Economics 323C, a repeat of a course given this semester by Assistant Professor Arda Walker. It had not been announced previously that the course would be taught in the spring term.

Instead of its regular time next fall, English 337F, English Literature of the 17th and 18th centuries, is to be taught second semester by Assistant Professor Elizabeth H. Jackson. It will not be offered at all in 1950-51.

In this year's program the course supplants English 340, Victorian literature, which will be offered in the second semester of 1950-51.

Assistant Professor A. S. Bushing will teach The Novel in English, 327C.

Greek and Roman history, History 308C, taught by Assistant Professor Almira Bassett before her retirement, is to be taught next semester by Assistant Professor Paul Cooper.

Dr. H. E. Orr will teach Preface to Philosophy, 216B, described in the catalog as "an introductory approach to philosophical problems having particular reference to the present crisis of civilization." Philosophy 314D, Esthetics and the Basis of Criticism, to be taught by Dr. E. R. Hunter, is a related-course requirement for majors in the fine arts and English. It is offered in alternate years.

Logic Again

Logic, Philosophy 315A, taught by Dr. J. D. Buchanan, will be restored to the active list for the first time in several years. Philosophy 320B, political philosophy, to be taught by Arthur D. Ainsworth, is again offered after a considerable lapse. Instructor Ainsworth will also teach Political Science 306D, International Relations.

In all three of the modern language fields, French, German, and Spanish, courses numbered 202 are being given. These courses will make a more natural sequence from the 201 courses. The French 202 will absorb some of the content of a former course in French conversation and phonetics.

Instructor K. L. Paxton will teach Physics 302B, astronomy. This will be a general elective with no prerequisite. A descriptive course, it will not, for the present, count on majors in physics.

Ground Breaking Event Marks Founders' Day

King, Queen Rule In 'County Fair' BarnwarmingCourt

Classes Name Sponsors For YW's Thanksgiving WSSF Benefit Show

Alice Davenport and Frances Postlethwaite were nominated from the senior class for 1949 Barnwarming Queen in a student body meeting Thursday. Henry Callaway and Bob Boring are on the ballot for king of the "County Fair" activities.

Miss Davenport, a sociology major from Marietta, Ga., is a former Alpha Sig Sweetheart, a member of Y cabinet, and co-chairman of Theta Rush Week.

Miss Postlethwaite is also a sociology major and hails from Ocean City, Md. She is a member of the Vesper Choir, Bainonian, and IRC.

Callaway, a pre-med student from Maryville, is a member of the football and wrestling teams, MSO Board member, and senior class president.

Boring, a physical education major, is from Friendsville and is a member of the football, basketball, and baseball teams. He was president of last year's Athletic Board of Control.

Two nominees from each class were made for class sponsor in meetings on Thursday and will appear on the ballot with the king and queen.

County Fair

Senior class nominees are Betty Crawford, biology major from Maryville and Hilda Roberts, home economics major from Marianna, Fla. Janet Cummings, pre-med major from Maryville and Judy Breen, English major from West Palm Beach, Fla., are the junior class nominees.

Sophomores nominated Frances Moore, English major from Chatham, N. J., and Gracie Scruggs, physical education major from Clinton. Lois Lerch, biology major from Clearwater, Fla., and Isabel Leitch, religious education major from Brooklyn, N. Y., are the Freshmen nominees.

Using the theme "County Fair," YWCA's annual program will be presented Thanksgiving night, November 24, in the Alumni Gymnasium. Virginia Schwarz, Alice Davenport, and Sarah Durant, committee heads announce that the policy is being changed from the former elaborateness to more conservative settings and decorations with the stress being placed on the benefits.

Proceeds to WSSF

The proceeds of Barnwarming go to the World Student Service Fund which offers students and professors in American schools and colleges opportunity to help insure education for students abroad. Five main fields in which the money is used are food, clothing, medical aid, housing and books. Some of the money has been used for building and reconstruction in war-torn parts of the world. The WSSF is the only national agency organized for this purpose.

The gymnasium will sport a Barnwarming atmosphere of "County Fair." King, Queen, and Court will be announced and reign throughout the evening. Eye-catching booths are to invite an exploration of their contents. Campus organizations climax the evening with skits and entertainment.

Assisting the committee heads are Millie Simmons, publicity; Ruth Heaps, set designs; Winnie Schaumburg, booths; Ellen Collins ,throne and court; Pat Love, costumes; Marlene Mauger, make-up; Alice Huddleston, properties; and Jane Jessup and Jo-Ann Stroud, business managers.

Music Teachers Inspect Organs For Arts Center

W. Curtis Hughes and Katharine Davies of Maryville's music department were guests of the Mohler Organ Company of Hagerstown, Md., October 21-25. They inspected organs of the company installed in Wilson College, Chambersburg, Pa., Lutheran Theological Seminary, Gettysbug, Pa., and Foundry Methodist Church, Washington, D. C.

A new organ is to be purchased for installation in the recital hall of the Fine Arts Building for use in organ recitals, choral accompaniment, and instrumental ensembles.

Film Course Set Early November

Remedial Reading Aids Speed, Understanding

Remedial reading classes, beginning about the first week in November, will be held for slow readers in order to correct reading defects and increase comprehension. There are to be two sections, one meeting Tuesday and Thursday during A period and the other, Tuesday and Thursday at 3:30.

The course will consist of a series of 16 films devised by Harvard University and used successfully there in similar classes. The films start at a speed of 180 words per minute and increase until the rate of 700 words per minute is reached in the last film. This will be accomplished by projecting on a screen a page of printed material with all the printing blurred except a short span of words. Groups of words will become clear, one after another down the page, thus forcing the student to read in this manner without going back to re-read Gradually, the word groups will become larger and the time spent on each one less, in order to increase the student's reading span and confidence.

Films will be accompanied by a manual and regular tests to determine the increase in rate of speed and comprehension. The course is to continue to the end of the semester. Monday is the last day for registering.

Howard Lawson To Lead Campus Prayer Meeting

Howard Lawson will lead this week's all-campus prayer meeting. His theme is "The Grace of the Lord . Jesus Christ be with you." Ken Shaeffer will sing accompanied by David Reed.

These meetings are held in the Y rooms and. for the present, will be on Thursday night at 9:30.

Thirty minutes of scripture, prayer, music, and meditation are offered each week at the Y-sponsored meetings.

Band, Choir, Deans Join President, Builders To Inaugurate Center

By Jean Hunt

Using the topic "On This Ground We Build," President Ralph W. Lloyd addressed the 17th Annual Founder's Day service this morning on the site of the new Fine Arts Center. Breaking ground for the $400,000 building followed his address.

A Call to Assembly by trumpeters at 9:45 brought together a large crowd of students, alumni, and visitors. Participants of the program and the Vesper Choir marched from Anderson across Circle Drive in front of Baldwin Hall to the processional, "God of Our Fathers," played by the College Band.

Introductory remarks and the invocation were given by President Lloyd, followed by "The Lord's Prayer," sung by the Vesper Choir. Dean Edwin Ray Hunter read the scripture, and a prayer for the college was led by Dean Frank D. McClelland. "Hosanna In the Highest," by Soderman was sung by the Vesper Choir, preceeding Dr. Lloyd's address.

In speaking on the history of the site, Dr. Lloyd pointed out that the land is a portion of the original area of the present campus. With a gift from William Thaw of Pittsburgh, the first 65 acres, including this land, was bought.

"After two years of planning, today we break this ground. Planning really began the night of the chapel fire when the music and drama equipment was destroyed. The morning after the fire, a little girl, Anne Baldwin Lloyd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Lloyd of Chicago, died unexpectedly. Two months later, the parents announced that they would like to build as a memorial to their child a Fine Arts Center, permanently serviceable to the young people of Maryville College."

'Today We Build'

Work began in January, 1948, with Schweikher and Elting of Chicago and completed drawings and specifications were finished by August this year.

Dr. Lloyd went on to point out that "today we build—justified by the program of Fine Arts at Maryville." Music has been in the curriculum for 78 years; drawing, 76; painting, 59; dramatic art, 50. In 1936 maors in all four were set up and soon the college was accredited by the National Association of Schools of Music.

In closing Dr. Lloyd said, "today we initiate a building that will serve a purpose. The plans were specifically drawn to fit the needs of our college. The style is contemporary, designed to fit the contour of the ground."

Dr. Lloyd called attention to the temporary floor levels and staked off diminsions which had been erected to give the general idea

Experimental Theatre Comedy Format Lists Modern 'Happy Journey,' Old 'Gammer's Needle'

Two performances of Experimental Theatre's first productions of the year, "Happy Journey," an ultra-modern comedy, and "Gammer Gurton's Needle," a pre-Shakespearean comedy, will be given Friday, November 4, in Bartlett auditorium at 7:30 and at 9.

All seats are reserved, but free tickets will be available Wednesday and Thursday at Pearson's before and after lunch. No seats will be reserved after each performance starts. It is urged that only those intending to go secure tickets.

"Happy Journey," a one-act Thornton Wilder play, out of which grew his award-winning "Our Town," is directed by Bob Holly. The cast includes Phyllis Jackson as Ma Kirby; Claude Cowan, Pa Kirby; Lou Masters, Caroline Kirby; Ray Kuhn, Arthur Kirby; Lois Sealander, Beulah; and Allan Caldwell, Stage Manager.

Phyllis Jackson is a junior psychology major from Boston, Mass. She is active in The Echo, Theta Epsilon, and College Playhouse.

Claude Cowan, sophomore philosophy major from Birmingham, Ala., is a member of Alpha Sig and Pre-ministerials. This is his first Experimental Theatre part.

Allan Caldwell, sophomore psychology major from Cedar Rapids, Iowa, is a transfer student from Coe College, Iowa. He is a member of The Echo staff, Athenian, and Pre-ministerials.

The plot of "Happy Journey" concerns a trip made by the Kirby family to Camden, N. J.—"or bust"—in an old jalopy. Usual stage props are missing, the motivation depending upon the power of suggestion to transform four straight chairs into a battered old jalopy. The Stage Manager explains difficult parts of the plot, plays several minor parts and moves the meager stage furnishings.

Lassell Plays Gurton

"Gammer Gurton's Needle," directed by Ben Paxotn, had old English audiences in the aisles before Shakespeare ever wrote. The cast features Nancy Lassel as Gammer Gurton, Hugh McSpadden as Diccon, Archie Swarztrauber, Hodge; Dot Stater, Dame Chat; Lynn Melconian, Tib; Johnny Sayer, Cock; Jim Dance, Doctor Rat, and Carroll Stegall as Master Bailey.

Music & Worship

This week's meeting of the Pre-ministerial Association was devoted to a discussion of music and its relation to worship. Those who plan our daily chapel programs might, we believe, add to their effectiveness by heeding some of the suggestions made at this meeting. Chief among these is the correlation of music to the spirit of the devotional material.

We realize that the number of hymns available for chapel is limited; but it seems that from those which are in the small hymnbook—really a very excellent collection—selections could be made which would better fit with the Scripture than is usually the case. This would not make the difficult task of achieving variety from morning to morning any more difficult.

It would, we realize, call for a little more work both on the part of the person leading chapel and the person responsible for the hymns. In reality such a practice should make the job of picking hymns each morning easier by giving the person who does this a starting point.

The extra effort required for such correlation would, we believe, pay great dividends in increased meaningfulness of a totally intergrated worship service.

—R. N.

Quiet, Children!

So much has been said about student body meetings that it seemed nothing more needed to be said. But after the exhibition in chapel Thursday morning something further is called for.

To begin with, enough confusion was caused when the band members began to leave from all sections. However, they had to practice so that much was excuseable. But from there it began to get more and more out if hand, ending in what was termed by some as "a disgusting display of childishness."

Those in charge of these student meetings try to conduct them in as business-like a manner and as fairly as possible. It is neither possible nor practical to recognize every person who wishes to make a nomination. Because of this, an attempt is made at least to recognize someone in each section of the gym. Everyone can't be put up or the eliminations would take all day.

It was not the fault of anyone person but the blame rests with the whole student body. If the noise had been kept down to a minimum and a business-like precedure held to a maximum the meeting would have been much more successful and everyone would have felt that justice had been done.

Practice Makes Perfect

For those music majors taking applied music the announcement made in chapel concerning the usage of practice house pianos is a good idea. Couldn't some suitable arrangement be made whereby other students could use a piano?

—L. J. H.

Great Scot !

Hallowe'en, Hallowe'en,
Oh, what curious things are seen!

When all saints let loose Monday night we'd like to be at the three parties at once. It looks like a pretty good line-up with the sophomore celebrities heading for the junior House of Horrors while freshmen plans, a Ministrel Show, are a little on the dark side. Who knows what's brewing, but it ought to be fun.

PERFECT SQUELCH

Everyone has been busy hanging on to his sanity this week especially after wading through a mass of mid-semesters. Dick Isenberg had the perfect squelch when his tablemates told him he was insane. "Good thing I am or I'd be out of place at this table."

TO MARRY OR NOT TO MARRY

Any course even touching on the subject of institutions has been discussing love, courtship, and marriage this week. Mary Wills and Ed Vanderslice found that they would make a terrific go if it if they should ever try a twosome. Other couples filled out Mate-tests furiously in hopes that they too might find some justification for their partnership. All this happened in Mrs. Pieper's "Marriage and the family."

Dr. Briggs in his counterpart, Social Psychology 305, arrived at the conclusion that "love is friendship set on fire" to which Laurie Dale moaned, "I need some kindling wood," and Bill Varker asked, "How about a match?"

THROUGH A LONG AND SLEEPLESS NIGHT

Lights burn late in Pearsons while seniors work late on Special Studies items. The effect of a sleepless night doesn't rear its head until 5th or 6th period usually and to this Zan Emery yawns:

Insomnia's something
I'd just as soon
Have at three o'clock
In the afternoon."

TWO TEASPOONS OF DUZ, HALF CUP OF . . .

It's a lucky wife that won't let Chesley Anderson cook her meals. For when he adds two teaspoons of Duz instead of baking powder to a biscuit recipe as he did this week, something is bound to pop. Ten to one it will be bubbles.

PARDON ME, ST. AUGUSTINE

When informed by her roommate that Philosophy 217 had discussed the canonization of the saints, Hazel Holm added, "Like what they do to towels, huh?"

MORAL WITH A STORY

It wasn't news to anyone except Freddy Sieber when he discovered he had an IQ of somewhere around 35, classifying him in the vicinity of idiots and imbeciles. Andy Clark and Del Earisman were "nickeling" the quiz machine down at the College Cafe and by some mere coincidence polled a 200 quotient. But when Freddy tried it, the machine would not go beyond 35. The moral is—Leave slot machines alone!

WE, THE PEOPLE

If they can beat such innocent things as eggs, something ought to be done about:

People who "social science survey" in the library;
People who are habitually late for meals;
People who won't vote;
People.

HIGHLY IRREGULAR

Perhaps this will be of no great help to the language major who has difficulty in irregular verb conjugating, but here goes:

Present—I am handsome; you have good features; he isn't bad, if you can stand the type.
Past—I looked scintillating last night; your dress was unusual, dear; she's had that dress for years.
Future—I have a subtle, haunting fragrance of delicate perfume; you rather overdo it, dear; she smells.
Definite—I am firm; you are obstinate; he is a pig-headed fool.

SPOTLIGHT REVIEW

Ruth Kuckerman was slightly surprised when she arrived at the Knoxville airport after a trip home (Dayton, Ohio). When she descended from the plane and prepared to grab a cab for The Hill, a spotlight was turned on her and three eager young men rushed toward her with open arms. The young men, Harold Winkelman, Allan Caldwell, and Lacey Woody, had pre-arranged the spotlight but not Ruth's embarrassment. They left people at the airport wondering just who she was.

Talk of The Week

BY ALAN FORT

Voices, Masks, and Shadows

MAMA'S A FRESHMAN

Filmflam at the Capitol Monday and Tuesday is a brilliant bit entitled "Mother is a Freshman." Loretta Young, Van Johnson, and Rudy Vallee compose this delightfully satiric comedy of post-war college campuses.

Abigail Fortitude Abbott (Miss Young), broke, has two alternatives in the world of education. Either her daughter must marry the rich family lawyer (bespectacled Mr. Vallee) or she herself accept the $3000 scholarship offered to anyone named Abigail Fortitude.

Abigail's efforts at resembling a college freshman not only elicit campus wolf howls, but attract the attention of Shakespeare professor Michaels, alias Van. Nothing more need be said.

VERONICA ON HORSEBACK

Western omelet playing at the Park Tuesday and Wednesday is a "shoot 'em dead—raid 'em red" corker called "Ramrod" with Veronica Lake and Joel McCrea. Aside from a tense and slightly original scene of a gun stalk in a boxed-in canyon, it's the perverbial vicious villain making life difficult for horse-riding beauties—if one can picture beauteous Miss Lake on a horse instead of in a convertible.

At first glance toward the new book table in the Library, one might be inclined to believe the books were bought for size and arrangibility, especially if one looks far enough to catch a few of the titles: Writing Advertisements, editor in 1926; Introduction to Typography, and Notre Dame Football, a dissertation on the beloved T-formation.

LONDON LIGHTS

On the far right end of the display is an impressive life-size volume of London in the 19th Century by Walter Besant, which although definitely too big to carry around, contains a touching picture of Princess and Prince of Wales at a tender age. Undoubtedly, the discussions of slums, coronations, parks, and Salvation Army would be of value to candidates for London Special Studies.

More Special Studies material, for French majors, is located at the other end of the new book table. Its a mouthful—Reflexions de la Rochefoucauld by De Vauvenargues. It even has a pretty green piece of batiste for a bookmark, so there is little excuse for losing one's way, unless it be the language.

FINCH HAS IT

Anne Finch has come up with a tiny (35 pages) "Essay on Marriage," claimed on the back cover to be witty. Its written in the 18th century style, in poetry and replete with marginal topic headings.

GOOD QUESTION

What Have the Greeks Done for Modern Civilization by J. P. Mahaffy is a collection of the Lowell Lectures of 1908-9. Mahaffy is in favor of restablishing the status of the Greek language in college curriculums. This gentlemen believes that poetry labored over in its original is much better assimilated.

Human Action by Ludwig von Mises, a treatise on economics, and Tennyson's Idylls and Arthurian Story by MacCallum both look like good bets for a rainy night.

Another in the "drown your anxieties in a tub full of faith" series is Holman's "Psychology and Religion for Everyday Living."

These latter books are on the other side of the display and help to create that symetrically swayback look.

SEASONING SERIES

Favorable reports echo from those who made the first jaunt to UT Wednesday night for the annual Concert Series. Gertrude Ribla sang the lead in "Cavalleria Rusticana"; Marguerite McClelland in "I Pagliacci." Both are new and upcoming stars of the Wagner Opera Group. This is said to correspond to a triple A baseball league—it's the seasoning ground for budding starlets.

Much pride was exhibited by Maryvillians when Peggy Wakefield appeared on stage in the choir. The choir didn't sing, but Miss Wakefield looked mighty purty.

Archie Swarztrauber, a junior business administration major from Zion, Il., is captain of the cheerleading squad, an officer in Athenian and in Spanish Club, and a member of Chilhowean staff and Experimental Theatre.

Dot Stater is a sociology major from Trenton, Mich. She is a member of Pi Kappa Delta, the orchestra, and Experimental Theatre. She appeared in a recent major play, "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay."

Play Is Farce

This presentation is a modernized slap-stick version of the famous farce which deals with Gammer Gurton's efforts to find her lost needle. Diccon, a notorious gossip and liar, spreads the tale that Dame Chat, Gammer's next door neighbor, stole the needle. Diccon succeeds in setting the entire neighborhood at each other's throats. Even the curate, Dr. Rat, is assaulted by Dame Chat when he tries to slip into her house to search for the needle. As it turns out, the needle is not lost at all, and the situation clears up in an amusing climax.

Production hands are Jim Townsend, Business Manager; Ann Gates, Make-up; Jim Dance, Publicity Chairman; George Barber, Stage Manager; Gerald Wheat, Properties; Ed Vanderslice, Lighting; Joan Titley, Script and Sound Effects, and Gladys Moose, Program and Ticket Chairman.

Costumes for "Gammer Gurton's Needle" and "Happy Journey" are being made by Ethel Hickman and her crew. Costuming requires a complete set of pre-Elizabethan period wigs.

Dr. R. T. Case Speaks On 'Also' At Vespers

Dr. Ralph T. Case, who will speak at Vespers tomorrow, has entitled his sermon "Also."

'MC YM Through Years' Is President's Topic

Meeting in Bartlett Auditorium Sunday at 1:30, YMCA will hear a talk by President Ralph W. Lloyd.

The topic will be "Mayrville College YMCA Through Three Score and Ten Years."

MSO Decorates

For Homecoming today, MSO has decorated Carnegie Hall with crepe paper, signs— "Welcome Alumni, Yea Scots, and Let's Go Big Team," and cutouts of football players and of a Scottie. At night this will be illuminated by floodlights.

The flashing sign says "Beat WNC", which has been on Thaw Hall all this week, will, be placed on the front of the press box tonight.

Tonight's game will feature a surprise planned by the pep committee.

Echo Forum

To the Editor of The Echo:

We were certainly surprised but pleased to see how many 49'ers were in seminaries etc. through the column in The Echo, which we anxiously look forward to every week. It certainly is wonderful to get all the news from MC.

To make a long story short we are so proud of the representation of Maryville here at McCormick we thought perhaps some of our old friends would be interested in knowing about it. The following of class of '49 are enrolled (here) in the seminary: Jim Black, Katie Carpenter, Julian Gresham, Lois Lehr, Hedy Nabholz, Mildred Orr, Marjorie Prall, Ray Saunders, and George Setterfield.

Former Maryville graduates who are seniors this year are Jay Bishop '47, Tom Horst '48, and Ray Swartzback '47.

This year McCormick Theological Seminary and the College of Christian Education have merged and are now one and the same institution. However, the girls are all enrolled for their graduate work in courses in Christian Education and Social Work. We're looking forward to having a big Maryville reunion here in Chicago soon.

Thank you so much and keep the news coming.

—Lois Lehr, '49

To The Editor of The Echo:

Where is Maryville's school spirit? That seems to be the main topic of discussion lately.

I agree with Howard Davis that we need more school spirit, but how are we going to get it? As it is now, all we can do after a game—victory or not—is to go to the Student Center for 15 minutes. If we win, the thrill of victory has died by morning and we continue our same routine.

I would like to suggest that, if it can be done, we have the gym open for about an hour after each game to celebrate our victory if we win or to cheer each other up if we lose. In that way we can show our players that we are behind them all the way.

TONIGHT AT HOMECOMING THE SCOTTIES FACE ONE OF THE TOUGHEST teams on their schedule, the Western North Carolina Catamounts. The Carolina boys will be coming down here still smarting from the 7-6 defeat Maryville handed them last year at their homecoming. That defeat shattered all Catamount hopes for an undefeated season. This year the Scotties have an opportunity to do the very same thing. The Catamounts have breezed through all opposition and will enter tonight's fray with a perfect slate. Twice-beaten Maryville is rated a two-touchdown underdog, but if the Scotties play as well as they did last year against Western Carolina they could come home with their fifth win of the season.

Let's hope the Highlanders don't fold as they did last week in the final period at Emory & Henry. The inspired Wasps wiped out an eight-point Maryville lead by scoring three times in the last seven minutes of the ball game.

CAPTAIN HOWARD DAVIS KNEW WHAT HE WAS TALKING ABOUT in last Thursday's chapel service. We should wake up to the fact that we have a good football team and give them the kind of support they deserve at the homecoming game. What with all the old grads back in the cheering section, they should be able to hear us yelling all the way to Knoxville.

THERE WAS AN INTERESTING ARTICLE IN THE Knoxville News Sentinal a few days back under Bob Wilson's column known as "Sport Talk." It concerned the signing by UT of an extremely talented freshman pitcher from Maryville by the name of John Huffstetler. Some people may remember John — he was enrolled here and attended classes on The Hill until September ninth. At that date he disappeared only to turn up a few days later a member of the UT student body. There was quite a fuss made about it with both sides hurling charges and countercharges back and fourth. Finally, on October 2, Bob Wilson printed a story in the Sentinel to the effect that Huffstetler had not been taken away from Maryville by UT officials. Lombe Honaker, Maryville's baseball coach, finally wrote to Wilson clarifying his stand on the matter and submitting some strong evidence to prove that the pitcher was taken from the school. In his letter, part of which was reprinted in "Sport Talk" last Saturday, Coach Honaker stated that he showed the UT baseball coach, Tom Anderson, Huffstetler's papers stamped by the Maryville Treasurer as follows: Huffstetler's application was received and stamped on July 22; his high school credits were received and stamped on August second; he was accepted and entered college August 29; and he did not miss a class until September ninth. According to Honaker, the first time Anderson ever saw Huffstetler was three weeks prior to his having been accepted at Maryville.

Talks by Coach Honaker with Anderson, Neyland, and Bernie Moore (SEC Commissioner) did no good. UT had violated no conference rules. Huffstetler accepted a "scholarship" and that was all there was to it.

In closing the article, Wilson quotes Coach Honaker as follows:

"My players and the CIO (Maryville) team got Huffstetler out to play there this summer and I think we helped him some as no one ever heard of him until he started pitching for CIO. I am not weeping about the matter as we have had some good baseball teams for more than 25 years and still hold a decided advantage in wins over UT. In fact, we have taken five of the last six games played with them, and frankly I do not blame them if they quit playing us."

Another angle not printed in the story was the fact that the UT baseball coach made vague promises to Huffstetler about signing (a bonus included of course) with a major league outfit after he is through with college ball. This was entirely out of the jurisdiction of the coaches, but it must have sounded good with Huffstetler, because he made the quick change to the campus of UT.

This is another strong point for the argument that the small colleges are being pushed out of the athletic picture by the larger and wealthier universities. Not only do they have access to the cream of the high school talent, but now it seems that they can invade the campuses of small colleges in their quest for talent. Although legally within his right, Coach Anderson should have shown enough discretion to have at least waited until the boy had finished his semester here. Let us hope that such chicanery will be put to a halt, the only way it can be stopped is through the action of college officials or the various conferences and leagues to which these teams belong.

E & H Wasps Edge Out Scots 38-27

Highlanders Fold In Final Seven Minutes

Emory & Henry Wasps overtook the Highlanders last Saturday at Emory, Va., forging ahead in a thriller to squelch the Scotties, 38-27, in the last quarter. The Wasps, who have been set back in ten of 12 meetings with the Highlanders, won from MC for the first time in 19 years.

The game's decisive play developed in a situaiton which saw Maryville in front, with but seven minutes to go. Holsey's snap from center eluded Clarence Shepard, and Emory recovered on the two, quickly banging over a score to get back into the game in a race against the clock.

SCOT SCORES

The Wasps first ran into difficulty several plays after they received the opening kickoff. A miscue in the Wasp backfield with a Scot lineman recovering set up the first touchdown and the Highlanders moved forward quickly for the score.

After the ball was moved to the one, Hershell Merriman crashed over for the TD. Andes split the uprights for the point.

Emory came right back in one play—Painter plowing down the middle without a hand laid on him—a 79-yard affair.

Shortly after the resumption of play, Emory was in duress when Captain "Hard" Davis blocked a Miller punt. Davis grabbed the bouncing pigskin and scooted 34 yards to the double stripes. Andes place-kicked the point.

After being throttled thus in the first quarter, Emory started moving. Marching 75 yards downfield, they scored when Spurgeon went inside guard for the touchdown.

Less than 5 minutes later, the Snidow-men were back in paydirt thanks in the main to a pass hurled by Davis to Kiser, plus a plunge by Spurgeon for tally. Miller swung around end to give the winners an 18-14 edge at halftime on the other score.

WASPS PASS

After being throttled on the ground, Emory's took to the air. One of the passes boomeranged, though, when D. M. Miller intercepted a Davis-toss and galloped for another counter. The play put the Scots ahead 21-18 after Andes kicked the point.

Another long procession gave Lombe's lads their other touchdown on Blondie Law's run. Instrumental in bringing the ball downfield was Hershell Merriman with his trusty plunges. Andes came into kick but Maryville was penalized 15 yards for illegal use of hands. Andes dropped back to the 26 to attempt the kick, but his effort failed.

Maryville's underdog eleven dug in and held the Wasps for most of the second half. Faced with this fine play in the fourth period Emory had all but hung up its uniform and was just playing out the game.

A double dose of bad luck with but seven minutes to go put Emory in position to score. Shepard at tailback started for right end but the aforementioned pass from center was high, wide, and escaped his clutches. By the time he turned around to chase it, Emory had gotten control on the two.

Awakening from its lethargy, the Wasp-line held the Scot ground attack to a minimum—allowing only two yards—while the backfield men were unafraid to try unorthodox plays in order to try for a win. Faced with a defecit of yardage on fourth down on two occasions, Davis elected to run with the ball—both times successfully. Moving down field into Scot territory, the Wasp attack stung MC rooters painfully as Miller drove over for the score that set the stadium into an uproar.

CLINCHER PLAY

With the Wasp ground attack still not functioning properly, they lined up to punt from their spread formation. But instead of punting, picked up the clincher by running the ball in the person of Miller around end to paydirt—a 60 yard punt. Pippin then put the last nail in the Highlander coffin by kicking his second point.

Final Score: Emory & Henry—38, Maryville Scots—27, in one of the wildest-and-wooliest battles seen in the mountains of Virginia.

Wasp superiority is shown in the only available statistics in that they outrushed the Scots 333 yards to 101 and outpassed them 129 yards to 66.

SOCCER

Intramural soccer swung into action this week with two of the first four scheduled games forfeited. Athenian and Alpha Sigma Highlanders failed to show up, forfeiting to Pi Lumbago and YMCA, respectively. When a team forfeits, it automotically loses, 1-0. These teams, however, did show up for their second games and thereby were able to stay in the league.

Pre-Ministerials looked very much improved over their Saturday night showing but could gain no better than a scoreless tie with the Loafers.

Pi Lumbago and Alpha Sigma Scotties played a scoreless first half in their game Tuesday. The second half opened with rain and a score for the Pi Lumbagos. Scotties came back in the closing minutes to tie the score, 1-1.

The loafers won their first league game Thursday by edging Athenians, 1-0.

In a strictly one-sided affair the Pi Lumbago eleven swamped the Highlander, 7-1. Highlanders scored in the first minute of play, but from there they were helpless against Pi Lumbago. That win puts Pi Lumbago on the top of the standings with a 2-0- record.

YMCA kept its unbeaten record intact last Saturday night when it bowled over the League All-Stars, 13-0.

After a scoreless first half, the Yers,, led by Hugh Hamil, B. R. Crisp, and Captain J. McNeill tallied both their TD's in the third period. The first came when B. R. Crisp made a brilliant interception of an All-Star pass and galloped for a touchdown. Hamil then passed for the extra point.

Soon after, the All-Stars made their first serious bid when "Buster" Haylock tossed a perfect strike to Ken Yunkers in the end zone, but a penalty for illegal blocking nullfied the play. After the Y had punted out of danger, a series of Yeaworth passes put the ball on the Y four, but there the Stars' attack bogged, and the Y team took over on downs. A series of runs carried the ball to the 25, then Hamil passed to McNeill for 75 yards and the last TD.

ABC Awards M; Discusses M Club

Members of the Maryville Athletic Board of Control met Thursday morning in Coach Honaker's office in Bartlett Hall with Jim Lester presiding. The first item discussed was a surplus of $14.76 from the Carson-Newman game in Knoxville. It was voted to turn the money over to the Pep Comimttee under Webster Fue to be used in arrangements for the Homecoming ceremonies tonight.

Award of a varsity letter to the senior intramural manager was discussed at some length. The award is provided for under the constitution, provided the senior manager has had at least one year's previous duties in the intramural program. Ken Newell will be the recipient of a letter this year at the end of the intramural program.

Next item on the agenda was the formation of a welcoming committee to greet visiting teams upon their arrival on the campus. Pep Committee is to take charge of these arrangements.

The possibility of forming a Men's Letter Club similar to the girls' M Club was discussed. Apparently a few years ago the M Club included both men and women, but since the advent of point system for the girls the club has become strictly a women's organization. The formation of such a club does not come within the jurisdiction of ABC, and it was suggested that a committee be formed to write a constitution which must be approved through the regular channels.

Homecoming Game at 8:00 With WNC; Band Performs Between Halves

by Neal Pearson

Maryville's Scotties play host tonight to Western North Carolina's Catamounts, who are bringing a six-game winning streak to Wilson Field and are the second team to face Maryville undefeated.

In the four contests played between the two rivals since 1933 the Highlanders have come out on top four times, racking up 71 points to the Catamounts eight. Loaded for b'ar, Coach Tom Young's team are a'raring and a'tearing for the Scot's scalp.

If any year could be picked for them to win, this would be it, for ten of last year's starting lineup are back plus a host of newcomers to give them the best team that ever came out of the hills of Carolina. But lest they forget ,last year's team was also figured by the Boswells of the press to win going away. Instead, they were the team that went away with their tails between their legs with a 7-6 whipping.

Heavy Line

When one compares the weights of last year's team with the records it is possible to see that they are vastly improved, with plenty of beef to back up their record. Only two men on last year's squad were over the 200 pound mark. This year, twelve men have gained avoirdupois to go above 200.

Relying on this beef, Coach Tom Young will throw a single-wing offense with an unbalanced line at Coach Honaker's men and our boys are bound to catch it. As Assistant Coach to Carl Snavely over at North Carolina Pre-Flight during the war, Coach Young picked up many a Tarheel play.

Ground Game

Unlike North Carolina, Western Carolina hasn't too much of a passing attack, but rather depends more on her running game. If any pasisng is done, it will be of the do-or-die variety that travel 30 yards or more because WNC passes only when they are desperate for yardage.

Featuring the Cat's "old one-two punch" are Pee Wee Hamilton, 130 pound scat-back, and Ralph McConnell, 180 pound fullback. Both of the Andrews, North Carolina sensations are contenders again for the all-conference cake, having cut a hunk for themselves last year.

At the blocking back post is "Plutus" Arrington, a 226 pounder who picked up 24 pounds since last fall's contest. Playing halfback last year, Arrington, because of his poundage was shifted to blocking back—a move welcomed by Coach Young. Dewey Whittaker and Hershey Hipps will alternate at the other halfback spot.

Cat Line

A lot will depend on the middle section of Coach Davis' line tonight, for a lot of trouble is going to pass their way behind a 200-pound forward wall. One flanker position will be manned by Jack Phillips, while the other will be manned by Humphrey. At left tackle is Buffalo Humphries, a

Sewanee Falls To Harriers, 24-32

Maryville's harriers won their third straight of the season when they ran over the University of the South at Sewannee, 24-32.

Albert Perkins won the race with a scintilating time of 13:13, but the Scots gained the all-important middle positions in order to win their third in a row over the Purple and White on the mountain course there, Saturday.

Starting like dashmen, the Purple and White were unable to keep up their pace. Coach Johnson's "Bunion Burners" turned on speed, overtaking Coach Elebash's charges midway around the course.

Perkins won last year's meet with a time of 14:36 in edging out Charles Mabry. This year he chopped more than a minute off in winning over George Day who came in second, a minute behind. First place wasn't enough to win for Sewanee because Bill Menges and Del Earisman mailed down third and fourth places, respectively. Jimmy Thurston was the victim of a mishap when he went around the wrong tree in the midst of the dense fog that overhung the course but finished sixth behind Eliot Pucket. Henry Harris came in seventh for the home team, while Dick Hogan edged out Neale Pearson and John Baird, coming

Varsity Wrestlers Prepare For Bouts

Lettermen Return To All Eight Positions

Workouts in varsity wrestling got under way last week with 18 men participating in the calesthenics, running, and general conditioning in preparation for the first meet of the season with Knoxville YMCA on December 9. Many of the 1948-49 wrestlers are still engaged in grid duties for the Scotties and will join the squad at the end of the football season.

MC matmen are anticipating a good season with a letterman returnee in every position. Paul McNeil is back holding down the 115 pound class. James Marvin will wrestle in the 121, J. A. Cameron, 128, Tom Yeaworth and Ches Anderson, 136, Tubby Callaway, 145, Lawrence Major, 155, Captain Hershel Merriman, 165, Herb Palmer, 175, and Howard Davis, heavy.

Last year the team finished the season tied with Georgia Tech for third place in the SECAAU, with Auburn the winner and Chattanooga second. During the regular season MC wrestlers beat both first and second place teams.

Dr. Lloyd Meets Alumni Groups In Eastern Area

President Ralph W. Lloyd went to New York this week to meet with the campaign committee of the Metropolitan Maryville College Club, the alumni organization of the NYC area. These meetings are the beginning of a campaign to raise money for the Chapel Fund.

Because of the size of the area covered by the club, two meetings were held: one was in New York City on Wednesday night, the other in Newark, N. J., on Thursday night.

Similar campaigns were held in other large cities during the summer and plans are being made to continue the drive in other areas.

SOCCER RULES

In a meeting Tuesday afternoon Coach Johnson outlined and gave an interpretation of soccer rules to intramural officials.

1. The throw-in; one motion forward, no faking, heels down, parallel with field, and a five second limit.

2. Personal foul; called for unnecessary roughness, playing the man instead of the ball, and blocking with other than the shoulder (you may block providing there is no personal contact).

3. Free kicks: called when the ball hits a player on the arms or hands, anyone on opposing team may take the kick. If in penalty area the opposing team will take a penalty kick.

4. Corner kick: called when defense touches the ball last and it goes out over the end line.

5. Goal kick: called when offense touches the ball last and it goes out over the end line. It is placed on the ten yard line and placed kicked by fullback or goalie (goalie may punt the ball).

6. Offsides: called when an offensive man is past or between both fullbacks and goalie. At least one fullback and the goalie must be between the player and the goal unless the ball is in front of the player.

BASKETBALL

Intramural coach Johnson has announced that the basketball league will start Tuesday November 22. Competition will take place in the Intramural Gym on Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Fridays. The second half will not begin until the second semester and will be followed immediately by the volleyball league.

Since the action is heavy on the intramural front, Johnson urges all interested to get into the fray.

GOLF

First reported scores in the intramural golf tournament give the lead to Jerry Sayres with two 57's for the 36 holes. This gives him total of 114, seven under his winning score of last year. The only other score so far reported is Everett Zabriskie's 78 and 76 for a total of 154.

The other six — L. A. Campbell, Clint Bopst, J. Calloway, Charles Trotter, Tom Yeaworth, and George Queener — are scheduled to play in pairs when the weather permits.

Harter Announces Soloists, For Annual December "Messiah"

Harry Harter, director of Maryville College's annual production of Handel's Messiah, has announced the following soloists for this year's production: sopranos, Ruth Humes, from New Jersey; Linnea Johnson, senior voice major from McKees Rocks, Pa.; Rosalie Munson, sophomore voice major from Rochester, N. Y.; and Evalyn Smith, junior voice major from Knoxville.

Men soloists were chosen in Monday nights' try-outs and women last night. Messiah will be presented December 11.

All except Dooley are members of the Vesper Choir. Soloists for the arias will be announced at a later date.

A few of the better known recitatives and ariosos to be sung by the persons are the following: sopranos, "There were shepherd's abiding in the field," "And the angel said unto them," "And lo, the angel of the Lord," "And suddenly there was with the angel," "Come unto Him," "I know that my Redeemer liveth."

Altoes, "Then shall the eyes of the blind be opened." "He shall feed his flock," "Behold a virgin shall conceive," "He was despised."

Tenors, "Comfort ye," "Every valley," "Thy rebuke hath broken his heart," "Behold and see."

Basses, "Thus saith the Lord," and "But who may abide."

Messiah chorus, composed of about 300 members, rehearses each Sunday afternon at 3:30.

in eighth to their ninth and tenth places, respectively.

Ric Rogers finished thirteenth behind Bill Pilcher and John Stewart in beating out Wyn Ragland.

Stewart came in seventh for them last year and 12th this year. With these other freshmen coming in ahead of him. it would seem that Sewannee has improved over last year.

The team took it easy for a couple of days this week and then bore down for time trials this coming Tuesday. Their next meet is with TPI at Cookeville on Thursday.

Scot WNC Game

reconverted end. Fast enough to play the flanker position last year, he too picked up weight and was shifted to tackle. Dan Robinson, a veteran senior, will play alongside Humphries as the other tackle. Ott Byrd and Von Roy Harris give the Cats their greatst strength at spots where it is needed—the guard positions. These men are the finest pair of men WNC has had in a long time—Byrd even getting plaudits from Coach Honaker as the best guard Carolina ever had. Harris, the other mainstay, has been the fifth man in many a team's backfield this year. Last year's pivot man, Constance, is also returning.

Mending from their injuries, the Scots will go inot the game with only Charlie Allen and Jimmy Baird on the sidelines.

"It's going to be a hard game because they've got a big, rough team. They are not as fancy as Emory & Henry, nor as clever as East Tennesse, but they've got more power than either." These were Coach Honaker's words. Coach Davis re-echoed his statements in another way with, "If our tackles and guards can bust through the line and get those backs, we can stop their attack. Our whole defense will depend on the weak-side defense plus the center on driving in and stopping their plays."

Lineups

If the line holds up like it did against Centre and ETS, the Scots should have no trouble in stopping the Catamount attack to upset the 14-point favorites.

The Lineups:

MC	Pos.	WNC
Lewelling	LE	Phillips
Walker	LT	Humphries
Cate or Isenburg	LG	Harris
Holsey	C	Constance
Andes	RG	Byrd
Davis, Capt.	RT	Robinson

Little Steel

Most significant news of the week was the surrender of Bethlehem Steel to CIO president Phillip Murray's demands for adequate pensions, for the company's 80,000 steelworkers. Murray ended the month-old, industry-wide shutdown when Bethlehem, the nation's second largest producer, agreed to $100 monthly company paid pensions for employees with 25 year's service at 65 or over. Murray hoped the agreement would hasten an end to the walkout of more than 500,000 basic steel workers.

Little Hope

Hope for a break in the six weeks old coal strike was blasted Wednesday when Indiana operators refused to make a separate deal with United Mine Workers' president John L. Lewis. Lewis had offered to talk contract after Indiana Governor Henry Schricker appealed to him to save the state from threatened chaos. But rejecting operators refused to break with Northern and Western operators, who ended contract talks two weeks ago.

Big Crash

History's worst airplane crash was responsible Tuesday for the death of 55 persons as an Eastern Airliner collided with a Bolivian fighter plane near Washington's National Airport. Among the dead were New Yorker cartoonist Helen Hokinson and former Congressman Michael Kennery. Congress promised a complete air safety investigation.

Big Decision

The first case to reach a hearing before New York State's Commission Against Discrimination ended last week with a $3000. payment to a Negro who was removed from his job because of his race. Payment was made by a construction firm which also agreed to revise its employment practices.

Monsters, Parties Climax Hallowe'en

A horrow show, "The Return of the Monsters," was presented Hallowe'en night in the Alumni Gymnasium. Freshmen, sophomore and junior parties were held preceeding the climatic monster show.

Freshmen met in Intramural Gymnasium for an evening of games, singing and Virginia reeling. Minstrel Show was the main event. "Stars on Parade" highlighted two hours of square dancing and eating at the sophomore party in the Alumni Gymnasium.

Juniors congregated in Bartlett Audtitorium for an eevning of Hallowe'en games and refreshments.

"The Return of the Monsters," presented by the junior class, is a sequel to "House of Monsters" presented last year.

Authors of the drama are Jim Dance, Donald Whelan and Charles Williams.

YM WILL SEE MOVIE

YM will be shown a movie from the University of Tennessee film library. The meeting will be held in Bartlett Auditorium at 1:30 Sunday.

Soloists Begin Messiah Practice

Ten Students Selected For Parts In Oratorio

Ten soloists for the Messiah began practice with the orchestra this week, and numbers have been announced.

Gloria Measamer, will sing the alto airs "O Thou Who Tellest" and "He Was Despised." Miss Measamer is a junior voice major from Crossville.

Conrad Eaddy, sophomore voice major from St. Petersburg, Fla., will sing the tenor airoso "Comfort Ye My People" and the air "Every Valley."

Rosalie Munson, sophomore voice major from Rochester, N. Y., will sing the soprano recitatives "And Lo The Angel of the Lord" and "And Suddenly There Was Light." Mary Holly Webb, senior music theory major from Harrisburg, Pa., will sing the alto air "He Shall Feed His Flock."

Linnea Johnson, senior voice major from McKees Rock, Pa., will sing the soprano number "Come Unto Him." Evalyn Smith, junior voice major from Knoxville, will sing the soprano air "I Know That My Redeemer Liveth."

Kenneth Shaffer, freshman music major from Philadelphia, Pa., will sing the tenor solo, "Behold And See." Shaffer has sung for several campus functions this fall. Ross Dooley, a psychology major from St. Petersburg, Fla., is to sing the bass air, "Why Do The Nations." Dooley is a transfer student from St. Petersburg Junior College, Fla.

Dick Ribble, junior English major from Philadelphia, Pa., will sing "Thus Saith the Lord" and "But Who May Abide." Ruth Humes, junior biology major from Milford, Del. is working with Miss Davies at the organ. Miss Humes, a soprano, will sing the recitatives "There Were Shepherds Abiding in the Fields" and "And the Angel of The Lord Said Unto Them."

Eaddy, Ribble, and Misses Measamer, Smith, and Webb are soloists for their second year. All except Dooley and Miss Munson are Vesper Choir members.

Harry H. Harter is directing the Messiah for his third time. Accompanying the chorus will be Garnet Manges from Maryville, who has been pianist for the Messiah for the past twelve years. Miss Manges has already begun to work with the chorus.

Harter will also direct the orchestra, which is practicing under Katharine Davies will accompany the group on the Wurlitzer electric organ, loaned to the college by the Clark Brothers Piano Company of Knoxville.

Dorothy Horne is concert mistress.

CHILHOWEAN CONDUCTS SUBSCRIPTION CANVASS

Chilhowean staff members are conducting a person-to-person canvass on the campus for Chilhowean subscriptions. The staff is also sending a letter to the students.

All subscriptions to the Chilhowean must be turned in by November 15, in order to obtain one of this year's Chilhoweans.

N. to Human Rights", Tom Kees.

The speakers are majoring in political science.

Beginners' Dance Class Scheduled For Tuesdays

Beginners in dancing will have an opportunity to learn to dance beginning Tuesday, November 8. Dances will be he held each Tuesday in the Intramural gym from 6:30 to 7:15 p.m. According to a statement by Mary Mitchell Wooldridge, chairman of the Sub-Committee on Dancing, all those persons interested in learning to dance must be present next Tuesday night. If not enough interest is shown, the classes will be discontinued.

Thirty-eight students have volunteered to instruct. Others interested in instructing are asked to contact Mrs. Carmen Marquis in the Student Center. The dance on Tuesdays will be open only to beginners and instructors.

Eleven Reorganize Madrigal Singers

Eleven singers have combined their vocal talent for the reorganization of the Madrigal Singers. The group's first performance will be a program of pre-Christmas selections at YMCA on December 4.

After being organized in the fall of 1947, they have reorganized under the direction of Assistant Professor H. H. Harter for the coming year. The members are primarily majors in music and voice.

French Club Plans Play Production

Pierre Macy's French play—"Cupindon, Dentiste"— (Cupid, the Dentist) will be presented at French Club Novemebr 10.

Ken Garrison, Sue Martin, Hazel Wood, Ruth McSween, Tom Kennedy and Earl Henry are members of the cast. Directing the play are Louise Lloyd and Ray Kirby, with David Grubbs serving as property chairman. Miss Wilkinson is faculty advisor for the play.

The program will be given in the YW rooms.

At the last meeting of the French Club, October 27, Miss Charlotte Johnson, Art Instructor, gave an account of her trip to France this summer. She reviewed with the life and customs of the people with an emphasis on French art and architecture. To enhance her talk she used illustrative slides.

Sadie Hawkins Captures MC

Alumni Gym is decked with Dogpatch trappings for the Sadie Hawkins Day party tonight. Gals choices are supreme as they bring dates in Sadie Hawkins style. The program sponsored by the All Girl Choir, helped by the Men's Glee Club, begins at 8.

Girls will call for their dates at Carnegie Hall and present them with corsages of their own brand and production. Custom has it that the gals construct these "corsages" in true Dogpatch style. A blue ribbon will be awarded the gal bringing the handest and most original corsage. Prizes will be awarded to the two most typical Dogpatch hillbilly from male and female ranks.

Also included in the program will be a Daisy Mae beauty contest, square dancing, and kickapoo-joy-juicing. Characters appearing during the evening are L'il Abner, Daisy Mae, Mammy and Pappy Yoakum, Marryin' Sam, and Fearless Fosdick, transformed directly from Dogpatch for Sadie Hawkins Day by Lou Masters, Marlene Mauger, and Ruth Davis, program chairman.

Capp Started It

Sadie Hawkins day was first introduced by cartoonist Al Capp in his L'il Abner comic serial and has been taken to the hearts of kids all over the United States. Each year leading magazines write up Sadie Hawkins celebrations in high schools and colleges.

Five years ago the All Girl Choir chose the theme of Sadie's famous escapade to use in an all-campus program in which girls could ask fellows for dates. The idea stuck and was presented for the following two years by that group. Last year, due to a mix-up in schedules, the program was not given.

Dr. Truman Pierce Noted UT Educator Is Chapel Speaker

Dr. Truman Pierce, professor of Education at the University of Tennessee, and outstanding educator in the South, will speak at Thursday's chapel service. This address, sponsored by the local chapter of the Future Teachers of America, is in observance of American Education week, November 6-12.

Dr. Pierce, who holds three degrees, Ph.B., M.A., and Ph. D., has had wide experience in school administration and is charge of the administration and supervision field at UT.

Superintendents of schools in Blount County, principals of the high schools, high school FTA club members and other students planning to teach have been invited to be the guests of the College chapter.

Davenport Tells 'Fair' Committees For Barnwarming

Committees for "County Fair," 1949 Barnwarming festival, have been announced by Alice Davenport, co-chairman of the event. Tickets will go on sale Thursday on campus and downtown. The price will be 35 cents.

Ellen Collins will be chairman of Court proceedings. Assisting her will be Jane McMillan, Rosemary Gambill, Mary Edith McMillan, Margaret Warren, and Betty Stiles. Chairman of make-up committee is Marney Mauger, assisted by Dean Risher and Louise Masters.

Publicity and Set Decorations

Milly Simmons, assisted by Phyl Jackson, Ethel Caldwell, and Sally Sutton, will be in charge of publicity. Set decorations are in charge of Ruth Heaps, Peggy Kessler, Nannette Enloe, Betty Hunter, and Tom Kees. Costume committee is in charge of Pat Love who will be assisted by Sally Kemp, Jackie Lenderman, and Janice Landstrom.

Jane Jessup is in charge of business. Her committee members, Mae Meriweather, Ruth Rogers, Floyd Hager, Tom Kees, and Charlie Warner.

Bob Holley and Eanie Nelson are rehearsal directors. Howard Cameron is directing lighting effects. Dan Winter and Carolyn Marshall are directing music.

County Fair Booths

The various booths which will comprise the county fair atmosphere are in charge of Winnie Schaumberg. Working with her are Libby Dunn, Dot Lambert, Janet Cummings, Barbara McNeill, Mary Jo Richardson; Elaine Smith, Louise Lloyd, Barbara Scott, Jean Davis, Edith Lancaster, and Mary Kelton.

ATHENIAN AND BAINONIAN EXCHANGE TALENT SHOWS

Bainonian and Athenian have planned exchange programs tonight. A group of talented Bainonians will provide entertainment in the form of singing, readings, and piano-playing for the Athenian meeting while a similar group of Athenians will perform for its sister society.

BIBLE BASEBALL FOR YW

YW will present a Bible baseball game tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 in the Y rooms. Parts of "Five Minutes a Day" by Spears will be used for the devotional period.

Plans are being made for the Knoxville College quartet to be with YW next Sunday, November 13.

Social Analysts Examinations Set By Civil Service

The US Civil Service Commission recently announced a junior professional assistant examination which may be of interest to Maryville's seniors in the social science field who expect to graduate next May. The nature of the examination is indicated by the following press release to The Echo:

"The Social Security Administration offers you a career in Government through the Junior Professional Assistant Examination announced by the US Civil Service Commission on October 11, 1949.

"Social science graduates may compete for appointment to responsible positions in Social Security Administration Field Offices by taking the Junior Professional Assistant-Social Science Analyst Examination. Senior students may apply for this examination, but applications must be filed not later than November 8, 1949.

"Application forms are available from the US Civil Service representative at the local postoffice (or from Assistant Professor S. W. Phillips, Thaw 24). Ask for the application card Form 5000-AB and a copy of the JPA Announcement No. 192, which explains all the details."

Folk Opera Chosen For MC Production

Opera Workshop will present the opera "Down In The Valley," a recent success by Kurt Weill, Harry Harter, choir director, stated Thursday morning. It is scheduled for production on January 27, 1950.

Last year's opera, "Hansel and Gretel," was one of the two operas staged in Tennessee in 1949, and was mentioned in the Metropolitan Opera magazine, "Opera News."

The Opera Workshop presentation is one of the two programs given annually that combine the talents of all three of the fine arts divisions, art, music, and drama. The other production is the May Day program.

Hail to Thee, School Spirit!

Commendable, indeed, is the spirit of true loyalty and enthusiam which reigned over the entire Homecoming festivities this past week end. It is just such spunk which marks a student body as being alive and alert. And after such vigorous demonstration there could be little doubt in anyone's mind now that MC's students are wide-awake. A large majority of students displayed in lusty manner what the name, Maryville, meant to them.

The Scotty victory over Western North Carolina was partially due to the solid backing which "our boys" received. Never before this season had the victory drive been so prevalent as evidenced by Friday night's Rep Rally and the spontaneous reaction afterwards. Spirit rose to a new high during the game and let itself go in open exhibition following the victory.

The only real danger which results from such action is the loss of fervor which seems to be almost as spontaneous as the rise of it. It would be an excellent idea to keep this same spirit of loyalty and enthusiasm and carry it over into our everyday activities here on campus. Everyone working together, the job would be easy. How about it?

—P. A. J.

Intellectual Bellhops

Someone said that the students of today are intellectual bellhops—that we are just carrying the world's knowledge around, rather awkwardly at that — and handing it back in pure, unworn form on examinations.

Such careless and indifferent handling of the toil, the tears, and the love of someone else's creation is pure vandalism. Futhermore, to be unmoved by the heritage that is ours shows gross egotism and shallowness of feeling.

Real learning is not a casual and superficial mastery of details, but a process of entering in and living with the author his original creation, absorbing it into one's very tissue until it becomes one's very own.

—The Wallpaper

Poster Roster

"Got Your Guy for Sadie Hawkins Day?" "Experimental Theater Double Header", and "Come to the County Fair" are posters which have adorned our bulletin boards and embraced our Pearsons and Thaw pillars this week. We all appreciate the artistic talents and tastes of "poster protegees" on campus so let's show it by leaving them in place until the owner removes them. Yes, that big blue one would look nice on that bare wall of yours and would add so much spirit to the room, but just remember that you weren't the one who spent the hours mixing your blood with the paints. They belong to the initials in the bottom right hand corners and are theirs to do what they wish with them. Who knows, maybe in a rare case if you ask, the owner might even give you one as a souvenir.

And while we're defending you of artistic temper, you might also watch just how and where that poster is displayed and how many posters are already there. Background and surroundings can mean so much to any kind of a display and especially our campus posters.

Great Scot!

By Carolyn Miller

"State of the Union"

All in all this has been a mixed-up week. The weather got the mistaken impression that the month was February, and acted accordingly. Sadie Hawkins' celebration has added to the general confusion. Several boys, we've heard, have holed up in Carnegie, and refuse to come out till after tonight's program, probably to escape those fangs of the female wolves. But the most ridiculous thing we saw this week was the freshman waiting for the dining hall doors to open, carrying under his arm a copy of "Adventures in Good Eating."

* * * * *

"Fun and Fancy Free"

Pep was present with carloads to spare during Homecoming festivities. That triumphant victory procession Saturday night may be the start of another MC tradition. But the Carnegie-ites weren't content with the mere procession down town; they formed their own parade and, with accordian-playing Glenn Watts in the lead, marched through the halls of Carnegie. Patriotism and school spirit reached its peak when the boys started pounding vigorously on the doors. Unfortunately, glass windows aren't as substantial as wooden doors. How's your cut hand, C.L.? And oh! that cauld, cauld blast through yonder window.

"Repeat Performance"

We've been shivering all week. Whether it's from the cold or after-affects of the Hallowe'en Horror Show, I couldn't say. Critics gave favorable reviews to the play; all agreed the play didn't smell—but the audience really did after that dime store perfume was poured on them.

Our plaudits to

Messieurs Dance, Whelan, Williams, for the fine script ;

Miss Grierson, for her personal appearance;

Jim Townsend, for his dramatic sneeze, breaking the silence of a tense moment on stage;

Paul Kidder, for his remarkable (and hitherto undiscovered) resemblance to Miss Hallock;

Dr. Lloyd, for the professional way he handled that jug of cider (Result of practice on home-brew, maybe).

May we suggest a title for next year's repeat performance of a repeat performance. How about "Return of the Wandering Brief Case" or who put the durn thing up there, anyhow?

* * * * *

"Much Ado About Nothing"

Though few were aware of the fact, MC was fortunate to have as a guest over Homecoming and Hallowe'en activities, a famous literary figure. As a public service we interviewed him, and here present his opinions of our current events. The gentleman is an Englishman; his name is William Shakespeare—and this is what he told us.

First we asked Willie what was his opinion of Saturday's football game. He snarled: "You base foot-ball player." (King Lear, Oct I, scene 4).

We were shocked. Does this mean you don't think the sport's exciting? "A man can die but once." (King Henry IV, Act III, scene 2).

But our victory—"All's well that ends well" (from the play of the same name)

In answer to our questions about the ground breaking ceremonies, Will replied: "In these foundations. . . . the Center (we take liberty to correct his spelling) is not big enough for a schoolboy's top." (Winter's Tale)

Master Shakespeare also dropped in on the sophomore "Parade of Stars." About the show he said, and I quote: "Well, God give them wisdom that have it; and those that are fools, let them use their talents." (Twelfth-Night, Act I, scene 5)

But how did William react to the midnight horror show? "And make my seated heart knock at my ribs, against the use of nature." (Macbeth, Act 1, scene 3).

When we asked Bill what he thought of this Tennessee weather, he had two things to say for publication. "I would fain die a dry death." (The Tempest, Act I, scene 1) and "Where's Bohemia?" (Winter's Tale).

* * * * *

That concluded our interview with the famous playwright, and as we closed the door we turned in time to see him shake his head sadly as he said, "Lord, what fools these mortals be!" (Midsummer Night's Dream, Act III, scene 2).

But one student I was talking to doesn't think Shakespeare's so hot. Says he: "I could be as popular as that Shakespeare, too—if I used as many familiar quotations in my writing as he did."

Talk of The Week

BY ALAN FORT

Voices, Masks, and Shadows

MORAL WESTERN

"El Paso" at the Capitol Monday and Tuesday is a moral western taking place after the Civil War. Starring John Payne and Gail Russel, it turns out to be a juicily detailed account of lynchings, and a muddled moralizing on civil rights. The picture is in cinecolor which helps some.

Showing at the Park on Tuesday and Wednesday is "Drums." Headed by an excellent cast, it includes Raymond Massey, Valrie Hobson, Roger Livesey and 15 year old (11 years ago) Sabu.

A pioneer in technicolor, the picture is an absorbing account of the boyish friendship between an Indian Prince (Sabu) and a freckled face British drummer, (Desmond Tester).

Olivia de Havilland and Mark Stevens co-star in the unforgettable story "The Snake Pit" showing at the Capitol Wednesday and Thursday.

Miss de Havilland plays the part of Virginia Cunningham who loses her mind and spends a horrible, hair-raising year in a state institution. Suffering from schizophrenia, the most common mental illness (according to Barker), blame is placed on her inadequate parents.

HERO GLENN

Her husband, which might have been a weak part, is ably played by Stevens. However, the real hero of the picture is British actor Leo Glenn who is the ideal psychoanalyst,— patient, handsome, experienced, and to top it all, endowed with a deep beautiful voice.

WEILL'S OPERA FARE

Opera Workshop is back again in campus news with the announcement of the 1950 production, "Down in the Valley," a one act American folk opera, to be presented January 27.

The opera, written in 1948 by German born Composer Kurt Weill and Librettist Arnold Sundgaard, was one of last season's most popular operas, being produced in 80 separate productions.

"Down in the Valley" requires no scenery, fewer than a dozen singers, none of whom need great voice range or professional training. The main tunes are the well known folk song, "Down in the Valley," "Sourwood Mountain," and "Hop Up, My Ladies."

BUT, JENNIE LOVES BRACK

The conflict of the story lies in the fact that Brack Weaver loves Jennie Parsons, but her father wants her to pay attention to Thomas Bouche, who has him on a financial hook. Jennie refuses and Bouche pulls a knife on Brack. In the fight Brack kills Bouche and the court sentences him to die. Escaping from jail, Brack goes and spends his last few hours with Jennie before going back to his death.

Weill, who was born in Desseau, Germany, wrote his first opera at the age of 13. At 18 he went to Berlin to study with Engelbert Humperdinck, composer of "Hansel and Gretel," and soon after became conductor of the opera at Ludenscheid.

Becoming a great European success, Weill had to flee from Hitler in 1935. Since that time he has lived in the United States. His most popular American operas are "Knickerbocker Holiday," "Lady in the Dark," and now, "Down in the Valley."

Weill intends to write a full-length opera based on United States folk tales and tunes in the near future. He says, "there is plenty of material and the trick in making them successful is to write them so non-professionals can do them."

OPERA IN 'NEWS'

"Hansel and Gretel," presented by the Opera Workshop last year, was listed in the current issue of "Opera News" as one of the two full-length operas given in Tennessee last year and the only one given by a Tennessee college or university.

Among the 31 new books purchased by the library during the past week, is Ellen Thorbecke's new book, "Promised Land," which is the story of Jewish past achievements in Palestine and what they are striving for in the future. It presents the history of Palestine as the Holy Land for three great monotheistic religions. In addition to excellent reading material, it contains 172 photographs and illustrated drawings.

Among the new novels now on the reading shelf is "Thorofare" by Christopher Morley. Taking its name from a winding little street in an ancient English town, it assumes the symbol of the westward instinct in the English-speaking race.

It is a story of Geoffrey Barton, an English lad who came to the United States. Manley got the idea for the story from the hundreds of children that were sent to America during the war, although he sets the story in an earlier period in history, it could well be the story of one of these children .

● LAST SATURDAY'S GAME demonstrated just what a good rooting section can do for a football team. Our Highlanders went into the game two touchdown underdogs only to outrun, outpass, outplay, and most important, outscore the previously undefeated Catamounts. The football boys were psychologically up for this one and a large part of the credit can go to the student body through their fine display of fan spirit. There can be no doubt that the Highlanders were aided and abetted by their rooting section. For the first time this year the students on the hill have shown more than a passing interest in the team. The three parades down town (two impromptu), the pep rally, and the fine spirit shown at the game helped the team play its best game in two years. Let's keep up this fine school spirit for the remaining games. Lest we forget, the rough playing CN Eagles will be here next Saturday night to close out the Maryville home season. If we support the team as well as we did last week we should be able to hand the Eagles another defeat without much trouble.

● IN ALL FAIRNESS TO WESTERN CAROLINA, IT SHOULD BE POINTED out that they lost two of their best backfield men early in the game. Halfback Hamilton had to call it quits after trying to play with three cracked ribs. He only weighes 130 pounds anyway and deserves plenty of credit for trying. Fullback McConnell had to leave early in the first period due to a broken arm. When you lose two of your best backfield men, its pretty hard to generate any kind of offensive. Still, the Highlanders were so keyed up for the game that it's doubtful that the Catamounts could have won even with those men in top shape.

Backfield men Allen Law, Hersh Merriman, and Leon Berrong can take their bows after playing a bang up offensive game for the Honakermen last Saturday night. The whole forward ball which was outweighed but not outmanned by the Catamounts also deserve their share of glory.

● THE SCOTTIES' PASS DEFENSE LOOKED BETTER AGAINST WESTERN Carolina, but the secondary will have a problem on their hands tonight in the form of the two Governor ends, Lincoln and Oakley. Both of these men are six feet four inches tall. Our backfield men are not exactly the tallest around. We have Tubby Calloway at 5 feet 7 inches, King Berrong at 5 feet 9 inches, Ken Shepard at 5 feet 6 inches, Bobby Neff 5 feet 9 inches, and Hersh Merriman 5 feet 7 inches. So it goes down the roster. The tallest man on the squad is end Hap Brahams who is 6 feet 2 inches. Austin Peay's passing could cause a rough evening for the diminutive Scotties.

●THE MARYVILLE DEFENSE HAS BEEN ANYTHING BUT PERFECT this year. The only team that hasn't scored against us is Carson Newman and they have a second chance next Saturday. The season's high against us is the 45 points rolled up by Middle Tennessee State. Emory & Henry scored 5 touchdowns against us and Centre pushed across four. ETS rolled up three TD's and Western Carolina two. This averages out to three touchdowns per game. These statistics may make things sound worse than they really are, for the Scot single wing offense has been keeping up with the parade of enemy touchdowns. They have scored at least twice in every ballgame to date. Scottie's high was against Hiwassee when they scored seven times. Carson Newman and Middle Tennessee have both held Maryville to only two touchdowns. The Highlanders have scored on the average of 3.7 touchdowns per game so far this season. With a tightening of the defenses, especially passing, the Scots should be able to win the remaining games with a little more breathing space between scores.

● EVERY YEAR THIS TIME WE HEAR TALK AROUND CAMPUS FOR promotion of a pep band at basketball games. Nothing ever seems to develop from this idle chatter, but we believe it should be seriously considered by faculty and students alike. A little spirited music, even if it were not of the best quality, will go along way to raise the needed spirit at our hoop encounters. It would help a lot if a petition of some sort could be raised by the students to demonstrate that they really want such a band.

Scots Upset Favored WNC In Smashing 20-13 Victory

A greatly improved Maryville football team wrecked Western Carolina's chances for an unbeaten season by upsetting the heavily favored Catamounts, 20-13, before a wild homecoming crowd at Wilson Field, Saturday.

With 3,000 fans looking on, the Scots completely outplayed the foe to turn the tables on the 14-point favorites. Favored by two touchdowns or more after its scoring parades against ETS and Lenoir-Rhyne, Tom Young's undefeated varsity met its match in speed, fight, ball carrying, and in line play, as the Scots tackled with fierceness and ran with reckless speed and drive.

Cats Lose Two Stars

Losing two of their stars— Pee Wee Hamilton and Ralph McConnell early in the game didn't help the Carolinians a bit, either. McConnell sustained a broken arm early in the first period when he tackled pile-driving Leon Berrong —not being set for the tackle, the jolt nearly tore his arm off.

After pushing each other up and down the field for a greater portion of the first half, Coach Young's team capitalizer on a fumble by Merriman coming off the T to score their first tally. With Hipps and Bowman alternating on carrying the ball, the Catamounts rolled from the 47 to paydirt in nine plays—Bowman taking it into the end zone. Dave Clark's kick for the point was wide.

Callaway Puts Scots Ahead

Coach Honaker then pulled another one out of his sleeve as he inserted Jimmy Callaway for the extra point—Ken Andes being knocked "silly" earlier in the game by a savage charge over him. Callaway, who had performed the stunt only once in his life, calmly booted the ball through the uprights to put the Scot in the lead.

Taking the kickoff on its fourteen, WNC growled to paydirt in eleven plays. Aiding comensurably in the march were two penalties against the Tennesseans—when the Cat atack had all but fizzled out. The first came on a roughing the kicker penalty and the second on an offsides deal. The payoff play was a 30-yard Hipps-to-Winchester pass into the end zone after a 17-yard affair had gained for them out of a fake kick and pass play. Clark planted the ball between the goal posts and once more the lead reverted to WNC.

Exchanging kicks once more, Maryville's passing attack clicked with a pass from Bobby Neff to Hap Brahams on the 23. Blondie Law lost seven on a reverse but Leon Berrong fixed up matters with a 12 yard gain around end to set the stage for the play that in all probability cost the Catamounts the ball game. Leon Berrong tossed a deepie to Brahams in the end zone, but a Teacher player pushed Hap out of the ball's flight. The infraction on the play put the ball on the one, even though Brahams hadn't much of a chance to get the pigskin, when otherwise the Catamounts would have taken the ball over on the next play.

Merriman, Callaway Score

As it was, the play was enough to put the Honaker men back into the ball game. Hershell Merriman then bulled over to tie up the score. Callaway went in again—because Andes was still out—with the noise of the fans ringing in his ears. Waiting for it to subside, he finally was forced to kick the ball after it was snapped with a WNC man deflecting it just enough to make it miss its goal.

But in no time at all, Maryville went out in front to stay. Coach J. D. Davis' line busted through time and time again in stopping the foes attack. Tubby Callaway took over leadership from King Berrong to lead the Scots to the double stripes after their crossing midfield. The big play of the sortie was one Coach Honaker worked some 30 years ago. The whole line and backfield hied over to the right while Callaway drifted down the left side into the Catamount secondary. He took a pass from Neff and advanced to the four. Berrong then circled right end to drive the stands hog-wild. Callaway converted from placement.

Maryville then got another break with Law grabbing his own kick-off after it bounced off a Carolina player on the 36. The heads-up play just about sewed tihngs up. When the Gold and White finally got the ball on their 20, they were forced back to the shadow of their own goalposts as Herb Palmer dragged down Hipps on the three. The game ended a moment later.

Cross Countrymen Swamp TPI 15-50

Undefeated Thinlies Take Fifth Straight

Taking the first seven places again, Maryville swamped TPI, 15-50, at Cookeville, Thursday. The 3.4 mile race, ran in bitter cold was the fifth straight victory of the season for the thinlies. Because of snow there, the Golden Eagles called Maryville to cancel the meet but Coach Johnson's charges had already left. Luckily for all concerned, the snow let up around two o'clock and the meet was run off at 3:30.

Bunching together from the beginning, the "bunion burners" overtook the only TPI contender at the end of the first mile. From here in, the race was just a duel to see who would win as the Maryville contingent went far ahead.

The results are as follows: Del Earisman, 19:55; Bill Menges; George Day; Jimmy Thurston; Ric Rogers; John Baird; and Neale Pearson, all of Maryville; Theron Davis; Charles Adams; Herbert Connley; Willy Anderson; J. T. Hill; Frank Beaver; and Joe Kinnon.

The Scots' next race will be with Sewanee's Purple and White here this coming Saturday. Going after their fourth straight victory over Sewanee, the Scots will be gunning to win that one and the big one of the season—UT. The race will begin at 3:30.

Maryville won the last meet at Sewanee by a 24-32 score.

How Football Died

Given the hindsight we have now in 1960, there was a moment thirteen years ago when one might have foretold the recent debacle at Ann Arbor and the nation-wide collapse of intercollegiate football. That moment occurred very early in the opening game of Michigan's 1947 season. Oddly enough, the scene then was the stadium at Ann Arbor. I cannot recall who the opposing team was. However, having elected to receive, it had just failed to gain on three attempts and, in the orthodox manner, had punted on fourth down. The complete Michigan team then retired from the field, a full fresh team trotted out, and football fans saw a school use two entirely different teams—one for the defensive, the other for the offensive.

The next fateful step leading to the ultimate catastrophy was taken by Notre Dame. It was in 1952 that the Irish came up with the specialized unit trained to execute one, and only one particular play. So well was the secret kept that the opposing teams did not catch on until the season was well along. The new unit was made up of four, five, or six keymend, and was plugged into the offensive team whenever its specialty was required. Similarly, units perfected in breaking up particular plays could be plugged into the defensive team.

The spread of the Notre Dame System meant a further drain on the already depleted football resources of the nation. In the years before 1947, a top-ranking school could get along with a squad of 60 or 70. After the Michigan System came into use, squads jumped to 100 or 120. Now, however, the development of specialized units made it necessary to have a squad of at least 150 and often 200. The coaching staff, too, had to be increased Furthermore, it was not enough to collect simply 150 or 200 players. For no longer were men interchangeable parts on a team. Scouts had to locate not merely a good lineman or back, nor even a good tackle or fullback, but rather a good defensive screen-pass tackle or offensive end-run fullback.

It remained for the original offender, Michigan, to take the final step. Equipment, additional coaches and trainers, travel, and a network of scouts had made of football a major financial operation. Meanwhile, the revenue from football remained approximately stationary.

The trouble lay, everyone readily agreed, in the limited capacity of a stadium seating only 100,000. Yet it was extremely doubtful that the game could be made visible to 200,000 spectators. Already, half the spectators found it impossible to see clear-

Soccer

Pi Lumbago continued its mad rush towards the championship by swamping Pre-Ministerials, 4-0. This gives Pi Lumbago a total of 13 points against opposing teams. Four other teams are tied for second place in total points, each with one.

The other game played this week found the Highlanders and Athenians battling to a 0-0 tie. These two teams are neck and neck in the standings, both trying desperately to get out of the cellar. These teams showed marked improvement over their previous showings this year.

Rain, mud and cold weather postponed the rest of this week's schedule. The bulk of next week's schedule is made up of relays. Soccer officials teams are still needed, the Intramural Office stated.

Intramural Cross Country

The first annual Intramural Cross Country meet will be held November 14 over the mountain course. Instead of the usual two laps before and two at the end, the course will be shortened by the elimination of one lap at the beginning and one at the end.

Sign-up sheets are in the Intramural Office. All men interested in coming out are advised to begin practice Monday for the meet. Lettermen in Cross Country are not eligible for the race.

The winner of the meet will receive 50 points towards an Intramural Medal as will the runner-up. All others who participate in the meet will get ten points.

Scots Hit Road Again As Season's End Nears

Our Maryville Highlanders will be back on the road tonight as they tackle the twice beaten Austin Peay Governors at Clarksville. Austin Peay is one of three new opponents on the schedule for this year. The other two teams are Centre college of Danville, Ky., and the Jacksonville State Teachers college of Jacksonville, Ala.

Governors started the season with four straight wins, but they lost their last two games, one of them to the Jacksonville Teachers. In the Jacksonville game the Governors were favored by two touchdowns, but Alabama upset the dope burket by handing them a 19-7 licking. There may be some excuse for Austin Peay's poor showing since they had to make a 450 mile trip to Troy, Alabama on the previous Saturday and then had to make another long jaunt down to Jacksonville for a Thursday night encounter. That sort of traveling will pull any team down.

SPLIT "T"

According to Coach Davis, the men from Clarksville have a very good team. They can compare to Emory & Henry in that they work out of a split "T". Emory is better on the outside and can work pitch outs or end runs to a greater advantage than Austin Peay, but the Governors are better on the inside. Their fullback, Reeks, is one of the best line crackers Maryville will come up against this year. He is sure to cause the center of the Scot line lots of trouble while he totes the ball.

Austin Peay's quarterback, Frank Rubel, is an excellent passer. He has a couple of good rangy ends to work with, Oakley and Tom Lincoln. Both of these lads are six feet four inches tall. Left half Charley Gentrey is a supurb runner. So far this season he's been the chief ground gainer for the Austin lads. The Scots will have to stop him in order to bog down the Governor's ground attack.

SCOTS OUTWEIGHTED

Austin Peay's team will outweigh the lighter Scotties by 15 pounds per man. The lightest man on their squad tips the scales at 164 pounds while the heaviest member weighes 253 pounds. Our lightest player is 140 pounds and the heaviest is tackle Mitchum at 220 pounds. The Clarksville men will have ten men over 200 on their squad while the most Mary-

'Needle,' 'Happy Journey' First Theatre Production

First two performances of Experimental Theatre for this year were given last night in Bartlett Auditorium. "Happy Journey," and ultra-modern comedy, and "Gammer Gurton's Needle," a pre-Shakespearean comedy, were directed by Bob Holley and Ben Paxton.

"Happy Journey," included the following cast: Phyllis Jackson, Ma Kirby; Claude Cowan, Pa Kirby; Lou Masters, Caroline Kirby; Ray Kuhn, Arthur Kirby; Lois Sealander, Beulah; and Allan Caldwell, stage manager.

Those in the cast of "Gammer Gurton's Needle" were Nancy Lassel, Gammer Gurton; Hugh McSpadden, Diccon; Archie Swarztrauber, Hodge; Dot Stater, Dame Chat; Lynn Melconian, Tib; Johnny Sayer, Cock; Jim Dance, Doctor Rat; and Carroll Stegall, Master Bailey.

Costumes for the plays which included a complete set of pre-Elizabethan period wigs were made by Ethel Hickman and her crew.

Spanish Club Initiates Members In Candlelight, Hear Proverbs Explained

Five new members were initiated into the Spanish Club Thursday evening in Anderson Hall. The ceremonies took place in candlelight with Barbara Blum reading in Spanish the reasons for their acceptance and charging them to carry out its functions and better the Club. Initiated were Bill Faulkner, Alan Fort, Lois Johanson, Mary Butts, and Harriet Brown. Charlotte Wyman was the other new member, but she was unable to attend.

After the candlelight ceremony, new members gave short autobiographies and explained Spanish proverbs. The program was planned and carried out by President Barbara Blum and Neale Pearson.

Ruth Nicholas, a former member, was reinstated by a unanimous voice vote.

Social Board's Committee Rules on Equipment Loans At Student Center

Social Board's Equipment Committee met October 7 to consider the lending of equipment belonging to the Student Center. Committee, composed of Jessie K. Johnson, Mrs. Carmen Marquis and Bill Chalker, made the following recommendations:

1. That the policy regarding the lending of permanent equipment and furniture remain unchanged, namely, that it is not to be loaned.

2. That the P. A. System may be borrowed by a group recognized as a college organization, provided a five-dollar deposit be placed in the hands of the Director of the Student Center and provided that an authorized person be responsible for the use of the machine.

3. That small equipment such as card tables, record albums, cards, and similar items be loaned to groups and organizations, with the provision that a deposit of one dollar be made for tables and albums and twenty-five cents for games and other small equipment.

4. That deposits be forfeited for failure to return borrowed articles to the Student Center in accordance with agreement made at the time of the loan. Forfeited money will be added to Incidental Fund of the Student Center.

Y Radio Workshop Plans Musical Program Monday

A musical program will be presented on Y Radio Workshop Monday night at 9:30 over WGAP. Three numbers will be sung by Herb Keene, "Stout Hearted Men," "The Lord's Prayer," and "Because." Quartet consisting of Charles and Walter Schroeder, Ken Shaffer and Dick Ribble will sing "Joshua Fit De Battle of Jericho" and "Steal Away."

"Tommy and Me," a character sketch will be read by Barbara Blum.

Intramural Cagers Begin Play Soon

Basketball eligibility slips for teams interested in joining the intramural loop can now be obtained in the intramural office. The teams are to consist of 12 men each. Slips must be returned by noon Friday, November 18, to be eligible for league play.

Teams have been asked to submit names of players who will help referee games on days that they are not scheduled to play. These players must know the rules to be considered. Boys who were referees last year will be given first preference. All interested please see Coach Johnson.

STUDENT COUNCIL

One town night violation was reported at Student Council meeting Thursday morning after chapel. No penalty was imposed due to the nature of the violation.

Council's steering committee met Wednesday night to study the Student Body Constitution for possible revisions.

Minutes for council's meeting on October 26 are summarized as follows:

A report from Student-Faculty Senate at Student Council Wednesday night announced that the new Maryville College Playhouse constitution had been formally approved. Senate also approved construction of a new bulletin board by the Book Store.

It is being considered in committee how the societies may become more financially sound since the new Playhouse set-up takes much of their former revenue. The report of the committee of banquets was approved and details will be announced later.

Referred to Council's steering committee were spring elections Committee were plans of constitution changes concerning shortening election procedure, carry-over council members, clarifying of election procedure for May Queen, and adding the Chilhowean editor to the Council.

Four Town Night violators were reported.

Hope Pay Dates Set; 535 Already Pledge $1830

To date five hundred and thirty-four pledges totaling $1830.-80 have been made to the Fred Hope Fund. Of this sum, $896.25 has been paid.

It is requested that the pledges be paid by the end of the first semester, Dec. 21. For convenience in paying, two dates have been set up. The first is Nov. 10, 11 and 12, and the second Dec. 10, 12 and 13. If these dates are not convenient, payments may be made on any other date at the printing office on the first floor of Anderson hall, to Mrs. Johnson.

INTRAMURAL SOCCER

In a hard-fought but clean battle, YMCA and Pi Lumbago tied, 0-0. Friday's contest wasn't helped a bit by the cold and muddy field.

In the opening affair, Alpha Sigma Highlanders and Loafers came out with a 0-0 deadlock. It was the third contest of the season from which Alpha Sig emerged tied with the opposition.

The Scots will also have to cope with the platoon system again. Not only do they have an offensive and defensive team, but Coach Davis says that they have a kickoff and receiving team and a try for extra point eleven. That is really getting specialized.

As for the Scotties, they came out of the Western Carolina fray without any new injuries. Backfield men Baird and Allen are still out with fractured wrists, but the rest of the squad is intact.

LINEUPS

One change will be made in the lineup for the Scotties. Captain Howard Davis will be moved from tackle to his old position at left end, and Mitchum, a junior from Hiwassee, will fill the spot vacated by Davis. Calloway and King Berrong will again alternate at quarterback for the Highlanders.

Tonight's ball game will be broadcast directly from Clarksville over W G A P. The time of broadcast has as yet not been set, but it will be around 8:30 P. M.

The probable lineups for tonight's game are:

Maryville		Austin Peay
Davis (C)	LE	Lincoln
Walker	LT	Quarles
Cate	LG	Self
Holsey	C	Fox
Andes	RG	Snead
Mitchum	RT	Darnell
Miller	RE	Oakley
Calloway or K. Berrong	QB	Rubel
Neff	LHB	Gentrey
Law	RHB	Fendley
Merriman	FB	Reeks

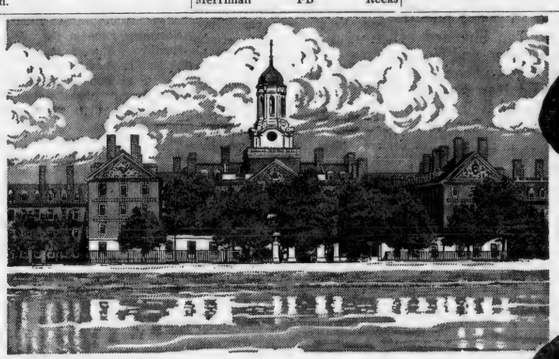
ly what was happening out on the field.

An impasse had been reached, but deliverance came suddenly, and from a most unexpected quarter, in the fall of 1957. The deus ex machina was an assistant professor in the Department of English Literature by the name of J. T. Worthington. What Professor Worthington proposed was that Michigan build a second stadium holding another 100,000, and then play two games simultaneously. At any one time, while the offensive team was playing in one stadium, the defensive team would be playing in the other. An underground tunnel was to connect the stadiums.

To relate the melancholy events of the fatal Saturday just a month ago seems hardly necessary. They are only too well known. The day began fine, the crowds were colorful. The 200,000 rabid fans who had descended on Ann Arbor were getting their money's worth. For the first three quarters the games went off with exceptional smoothness. The score was tied at 14 all in the old stadium, and Michigan led 21 to 20 in the new. Then, during the fourth quarter, through some caprice of fortune or some momentary tangle in the weary brain of one of the coaches, the irrevocable mistake was made. The Michigan offensive team shuttled from the new stadium to the old at the same time that the Notre Dame offensive shuttled from the old to the new. This brought Michigan's offensive against its own defensive, and put Notre Dame in a like predicament.



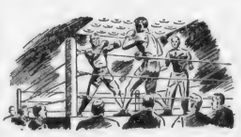
A number of factors prevented the teams from noticing the blunder until it was too late. A drizzle had started to come down in the second half, the fields had been churned to mud, and the uniforms had become unrecognizable. Furthermore, dusk having fallen, the light was poor. And, perhaps most important, the teams had grown so big, with 200 men on each squad, that a player did not know half of his teammates even by sight. Whatever the reasons, thanks to a special trick play, really a brilliant and thrilling maneuver, held in reserve for this very moment, Michigan scored against itself. Only then, after the extra point had been kicked, was the mistake discovered.

Chaos settled over the old stadium. The gridiron was a darkling plain swept with confused alarms of struggle and flight. The players wrangled. The referees could make no decision.

The snarl never was untagled. Both schools claimed the victory, and some of the Michigan alumni raised a fund to carry the case to court.

But cooler heads quickly understood that something far more serious than the score—namely, the future of football itself—was at stake. Across the entire country the stadiums were deserted, and have remained so ever since. Most of the schools have not even bothered to play the scheduled games. A stupor of bewilderment overwhelmed the fans. Apparently their firm faith in football had toppled and they would have no more of it. Most of the big schools have announced that they are quitting the game. With its usual hardheadedness and resourcefulness, Michigan has already put its best minds to work devising uses for the two stadiums at Ann Arbor, so that it need not default on the bonds. Plans are afoot to hold a festival of Greek drama in the new stadium next spring, opening with Euripides' Hercules Distracted.

CRAWFORD and CALDWELL HARDWARE



Major Ed Wall, Harvard, '40 -Flying Executive, U.S. Air Force!

Born in Newark, N. J., he moved to Boston at an early age, graduated from the public Latin high school in 1936, entered Harvard the same year, where he majored in economics and government.

"Active on the campus" — he played football, earned his letter on the boxing team. He worked part-time in a variety of jobs from bouncer to baby sitter, received his AB degree in 1940.

He enrolled in Harvard Law School, left at the beginning of the war to become an Aviation Cadet. In December, 1942, he won his pilot's wings, received a Reserve commission as Second Lieutenant.

Assigned to anti-sub patrol duty, he flew B-25's and B-17's before going overseas in 1944, where he flew 30 missions as a B-24 pilot. Shot down over Germany, he was a prisoner of war for 3 months.

Back in the States with his English wife, he earned his Regular commission. Then he returned to Harvard under the Air Force college training program, receiving his LLB degree in 1949.

Now, he is confident about his future and security. As a pilot and legal officer of Bolling Air Force Base, D. C., Major Ed Wall is a typical U. S. Air Force flying executive . . . with a challenging career.

If you are single, between the ages of 20 and 26½, with at least two years of college, consider a flying career as an officer in the U. S. Air Force. You may be able to meet the high physical and moral requirements and be selected for training as an Aviation Cadet. If you do not complete Aviation Cadet training, you may return to civilian life or have opportunity to train at Officer Candidate School for an important officer assignment in non-flying fields.

Air Force officer procurement teams are visiting many colleges and universities to explain these career opportunities. Watch for their arrival—or get full details at your nearest Air Force Base, local recruiting station, or by writing to the Chief of Staff, U. S. Air Force, Attention: Aviation Cadet Branch, Washington 25, D. C.

News Capsules—

By Don Whelan

Dear Jawn, Dear Alben

More good than bad for a change, this week's news included labor-management olive branches, political laurel, and vice-presidential orange blossoms.

'. . .In Our Time'

Peace on the labor front began when Bethlehem Steel led the way for agreement with Phil Murray's CIO union. As USS and others in big steel fell into line, further tidings came from scowling John Lewis. Along with scathing words for the coal operators, he sent the miners back to work until November 30.

(For the effect of this action on MC's campus, see story on Coal Promised, elsewhere in today's Echo.)

Exec No. 2

Washington's attention was turned more sharply than usual last week to the social activities of Veep Alben Barkley. Rumors flew—as did the No. 2 executive—between the Capitol and St. Louis for weeks before official announcement of his engagement to widowed Mrs. Jane Hadley. They will be married November 18 in St. Louis.

Chanel No. 5?

Less gay was the Civil Aeronautics Board investigation into the November 1 crash at Washington's National Airport. In hearings last week it was brought out that no warning of difficulty had been radioed by the P-38 which hit an airliner, killed 55. The young control tower operator was not sure his warning to the ace Bolivian flyer was in the right channel.

In Doubt

No one knew late yesterday whether Tennessee voters would have a chance to revise their rickety constitution. Balloting for calling a state convention to propose changes was so close the decision will rest with an official count some time next week.

Out

Ex-Knoxville TVA employee J. A. Krug Friday resigned his post as Secretary of Interior. He and Fair Deaelrs had not been getting along very well since last fall's campaign in which his part was thought by liberals in the Democratic camp to have been far too small.

Enfield-McKee Best In Dog Patch Contest Saturday

Jean Enfield and Jim McKee were chosen as the winners in the Daisy Mae-L'il Abner contest last Saturday night at Sadie Hawkins day celebrations. Miss Enfield is a senior from Forest Hill, Md., and McKee, also a senior, is from Centralia, Ill.

John Laney, a junior from Hickory, N. C., was chosen as the most typical Dogpatch hillbilly in his imitation of Hairless Joe. The blue ribbon for the most beautiful and most original corsage was awarded to Janet Whiting, a sophomore from Chatham, N. J., and was worn by Del Poling, a junior from Baltimore, Md.

A short skit under the direction of Lou Masters, Marlene Mauger, and Ruth Davis opened the evening of entertainment.

The cast consisted of Lowell Duffey as L'il Abner, Jessie Dye as Daisy Mae, Lou Masters as Mammy Yokum, Ray Kuhn as Pappy Yokum, James Watt as Marryin' Sam, and Ray Packard as Fearless Fosdick. All the cast are members of the All Girl Choir and Men's Glee Club.

The remainder of the evening was spent in square dancing and Virginia reeling under the direction and calling of Stuart McNiell, senior from Townsend, Tenn.

Dr. Queener Attends Historical Meet

Dr. Verton M. Queener left Wednesday for Williamsburg, Virginia to attend a meeting of the American Historical Society. Dr. Queener is a past president of East Tennessee Historical Society and a present member of the executive committee.

DR. BERNARDIN LEADS VESPERS

Dr. J. B. Bernardin, rector of Saint Andrew's Episcopal Church, will speak at Vesper service tomorrow evening in the library.

Vesper Choir will present two numbers: "Psalm 134," by Sweelinck, and the third movement of Brahms' Motet, "Grant Unto Me the Joy of Thy Salvation."

College Directors' Meeting Tuesday

MC's Board of Directors will hold its annual fall meeting Tuesday at 10:30 a.m. in Anderson Hall.

Officers and committees for the year are elected at the fall meeting, and any other necessary business is transacted. The spring meeting is concerned with routine matters, chiefly awarding degrees.

Officers of the Board are Chairman Samuel O'Grady Houston, Knoxville; Vice-Chairman Frank M. Cross, Birmingham, Ala.; and the late Judge John C. Crawford of Maryville, Recorder.

Class of 1950—Dr. Clifford E. Barbour, Knoxville; Dr. Joseph M. Broady, St. Louis, Mo.; Dr. Charles E. Cathey, Fort Smith, Ark.; Dr. Elmer E. Gabbard, Buckhorn, Ky.; Dr. R. Dale LeCount, Birmingham, Ala.; Chester Fred Leonard, Sneedville; Robert J. Maclellan, Chattanooga; Thomas McCroskey, Knoxville; William Edwin Minnis, New Market; Arthur Evan Mitchell, Knoxville; Clyde T. Murray, Maryville; John Grant Newman, Philadelphia, Pa.;

Class of 1951—F. Edward Barkley, Knoxville; A. M. Brinkley, Jr., Maryville; Dr. Milton Wilbert Brown, Cincinnati, Ohio; Hugh Rankin Crawford, Maryville; A. D. Huddleston, Maryville, Clemmie Jane Henry, Maryville; Dr. John N. Lukens, Birmingham, Ala.; Nellie Pearl McCampbell, Knoxville; Mrs. Paul Moser, New York, N.Y.; Dr. William Barrow Pugh, Philadelphia, Pa.; Dr Donald A. Spencer, Chattanooga; and Dr. Herman Lee Turner, Atlanta, Ga.

Church Leaders Are Next Week's Chapel Speakers

Two nationally known men, Dr. Charles R. Erdman and Dr. George E. Sweazey, will speak to Maryville students at chapel services next week.

Dr. Erdman, a former professor at Princeton Seminary, is the author of many New Testament commentaries and a well-known speaker and lecturer. He is a director of the College, class of 1949. Dr. Erdman will speak at chapel Saturday, November 19.

Dr. Sweazey, secretary of department of evangelism of Board of National Missions, is a director of the New Life Movement and a leader in United Evangelical Advance of principal denominations of the US. Dr. Sweazey, brother of Mrs. Barker, will speak Wednesday, November 16.

'Samson, Deliliah' Y Radio Selection

"Samson and Deliliah" is the radio drama scheduled for Y Radio Workshop Monday night at 9:30 p.m. over WGAP.

Interviews of the show will be the cast of "Laura," the College Playhouse production to be presented Friday and Saturday.

Last week, a musical program "Music You Like" was the workshop presentation. Herb Keene, regular soloist, and the Conquer's Quartet— Charles and Walter Schroeder, Ken Shaffer, and Dick Ribble—were featured in the program of popular and religious music.

Barbara Blum and Bill Starr are directing the workshop. Cast for "Samson and Deliliah" were incomplete as Echo went to press.

JUDGE JOHN C. CRAWFORD

'Romanticism' Is Topic For Muses, New Committee

The Muses, a new Fine Arts committee composed of students and faculty, will present its first program, "Romanticism in the Arts", on Monday, November 21.

The committee which was recently organized is designed to integrate and correlate campus artistic activities and produce programs of general interest to the college.

Muses include Instructor Charlotte Johnson, Ruth Nicholas, Arthur Santmier, Louise Packard, Professor Katharine Davies, Instructor Dorothy Vawter, Laurie Dale, Fred Sieber, Instructor Herman Middleton, Ann Jenkins, Margaret Newland, Assistant Professor Carolyn Blair, Carol Corbett, and Lois Doebler.

MUSES TO JUDGE TABLES

Thanksgiving table decorations this fall are to be judged by the Muses who will award a prize for the best one.

Originality and appropriateness are the qualifications being considered. To be eligible, decoration expenses for a table must not exceed eighty cents. Judging will be done one hour before dinner.

Vols To Hear Womeldorf, National Secretary

Mr. Raymond Womeldorf, traveling secretary for the Student Volunteer Movement, will speak to Student Vols Sunday night at 8 p. m. in Bartlett Auditorium.

Womeldorf, a former missionary to China, comes to Maryville from New York City.

Sunday afternoon he will be here for personal interviews.

'JAZZ NIGHT' FOR SIGS

Alpha Sigma will meet tonight at 6:30 in the YW rooms.

The program, "Jazz Night," will feature Wilbur Selander on the saxophone and clarinet, Charles Flood on the drums, and Johnny Sayre at the piano.

Judge Crawford, MC Director Dies At Maryville Home

Alumnus Was Prominent In Church, Civic Affairs

Judge John Calvin Crawford, Sr., prominent Blount County citizen and member of the Board of Directors at the College for 42 years, died Monday at his home in Maryville. Judge Crawford, who had been in poor health for more than two years, was 74.

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday at New Providence Presbyterian Church. Dr. Thomas A. Graham, Dr. Ralph W. Lloyd, and Dr. George Davies officiated. Interment was in Grandview cemetery. Blount County Bar Association members and College Directors served as honorary pallbearers.

Judge Crawford, whose father was professor of mathematics at the College for many years, was graduated from both the preparatory and college departments at Maryville and from the University of Tennessee College of Law. At UT he was valedictorian of his class and a member of the Pi Kappa Pi fraternity.

Active In Church, Civic Groups

A senior member of the Maryville Bar Association, he served as president and held other offices in the Association. He was also a member of the Tennessee Society of the Sons of the Revolution and of all the Masonic groups in Maryville. In 1903 he was ordained an elder in the New Providence Presbyterian Church. He was a member of the National Missions Committee of Pastoral Relations of Union Presbytery for several years.

He was a director of Maryville College from 1907 until his death Monday. For many years he served as recorder of the group.

In addition, Judge Crawford was active in many civic affairs. From 1903 to 1909 he served as clerk and master of Blount County, and was a state senator from 1913 to 1915. From 1924 to 1934, he was County Judge.

In a recognition service in chapel Wednesday, President Ralph Lloyd stated, "Judge Crawford was a man of fine Christian character, influence, and leadership and we shall miss him greatly."

Judge Crawford's last public appearance was at the ground breaking ceremonies of the new Fine Arts Building on Founders' Day, October 29.

DEBATE TRYOUTS TUESDAY

Tryouts for debate squad will be held next Tuesday with Dr. David Briggs, Jessie K. Johnson, and Arda Walker acting as judges.

The question for debate this year is "Resolved: that the United States should nationalize all basic non-agricultural industries."

1950 Chilhowean Staff Readies To Close Campus Subscription Sales

By Carolyn Miller

"Two days left to reserve your 1950 Chilhowean!" The cry has resounded around campus. Why all the rush when the Chilhowean doesn't come out until May? Well, gather round me, children, while I preach some about the organization of our annual.

You know the Chilhowean is one of the three student publications at MC. It is published by an editorial and business staff selected from the junior class. By the time their efforts are completed, the volume has reached proportations of around 160 pages, which, you see, amounts to a lot of money. This is financed through sales of editorial and business space, $50 from junior and senior classes, and the money you pay in for your subscription.

Therefore you see the little table set up with the business staff members waiting with open hands for your payment. The staff has hoped that every student and faculty member interested has placed a deposit on the 1950 Chilhowean. But only two days are left, and if you haven't reserved your Chilhowean—you must act now.

What's going into the 1950 Chilhowean? People and places, first. But then, in the future, warm recollections may be stirred up by the "things" recorded pictorially—shots of dormitory life, organizations, activities, year's happenings highlighted—every phase of campus life. Work is underway in planning, photographing, and drawing layouts for the 1950 yearbook to help you remember MC when in future years you get into one of those nostalgic moods.

An annual is always one of the most valuable possessions you hold as reminder of college days. Because of this the staff is doing its best to put out the kind of book we will be proud to remember.

But it's essential that we reserve our Chilhowean now in order that the staff may complete a yearbook that will live up to all we want it to be.

'Laura' Arrives At MC Friday

By Phyllis Jackson

Maryville College Playhouse will present its first full-length production, "Laura," Vera Casparay's murder-mystery, in two performances November 18-19 at 8:15 in the Alumni Gymnasium. Drama Instructor Herman Middleton is directing and has designed the portable stage on which "Laura" will be given.

Tickets for "Laura" went on sale yesterday and will continue to be distributed by the College Drama Department. Price is fifty cents and all seats are reserved.

Cast in the title role is Beverly Moore, senior psychology major from Waukesha, Wisconsin. Miss Moore is secretary of Maryville College Playhouse and has had experience with Experimental Theatre productions. Other cast members are Dave Reed, Dramatic Arts major from New York as Mark McPherson, a New York detective; Roger Cowan, Political Science major from New Jersey, as Waldo Lydecker, the role played by Clifton Webb in the motion picture of the same name; Joe Poland, business administration major from Indiana, as Shelby Carpenter, Laura's fiance.

Alan Fort, Art major from Connecticut, plays Danny Dorgan, a teen-ager who is fascinated with Laura, and Sara Jo Emert, Dramatic Arts major from Tennessee, has the role of his mother, Laura's landady. Sally Booth, freshman from Ohio, plays Bessie, the maid while Ben Long, sophomore biology major, plays Olsen, a policeman.

A Christmas present with strings attached, a BB shot that turns up where it shouldn't, a sawed-off shotgun that doesn't turn up where it should—knit together the mystery which surrounds Laura. Who is this Laura Hunt whose murdered body is discovered in her New York apartment? What is the spell of her personality that compells detective Mark McPherson to fall in love with her picture? Why should death strike at Laura and what would be her story if she could return to tell it?

First Production Here

George Sklar has helped Vera Casparay dramtize her story which first appeared in 1942 in The American Magazine as a complete mystery and then in 1943 as a best-selling novel. Following its long run on Broadway, "Laura" was released for amateur production and the Maryville College Playhouse presentation is one of the first in East Tennessee.

Assistant director of the production is Ann Jenkins; stage manager, Howard Cameron; and business manager, James Townsend. The stage, stage mechanism and the setting—Laura's apartment overlooking the rooftops of New York City—were executed by members of the Maryville College Playhouse.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Council Hears Proposed Constitutional Changes

Suggested revisions and clarifications of the Student Body Constitution made by the Steering Committee were presented at the meeting of the Student Council Wednesday night in the Student Center.

These changes concerned the present carryover system of Council members, voting and election procedure, freshmen elections, by-laws concerning senior May Day elections, status of Highland Echo editor on publications committee, and the making of Chilhowean editor a member of Council.

One Town Night violation was reported, a failure to sign in, and the penalty was imposed by vote of the Council.

Letter Causes Comment

A letter concerning failure to impose a penalty for a Town Night offense on a case similar to those who had had penalties imposed was the subject of much discussion. The letter asked for an explanation of the Council's alleged apparent inconsistency in punishing offenses. A statement of "Resolved: The Council was consistent in last week's action" was rejected as an explanation while "Resolved: The Council was justified in its action" was upheld. An explanation that Council was both inconsistent and justified in its action was sent to the writer of the letter.

Also briefly mentioned was the action to be taken on the revised Student Center agreement. A suggestion that the chapel fund be open for student participation in securing funds was made and agreed upon.

Council will meet at 8:00 p. m. next Wednesday, President Nish reported.

Professor Pierce Speaks In Chapel On Education

"This is a Good Time to be a Teacher" was the topic of Dr. Truman Pierce, UT Professor of Education, at Thursday's chapel service.

Dr. Pierce pointed out that education was always an instrument of national policy which can be used to exploit the minds of people as well as free their minds. The type of teachers we want today are those who teach students to be critical thinkers and to look at points of view from an objective standpoint.

Attitudes Change

Attitudes of public toward teachers have changed in recent years, Dr. Pierce told, by pointing out the ways in which teachers are now pictured in movies, over radio, and in books.

In concluding he said, "No other profession deals as completely with the lives of individuals." If one is interested in a field in which there is opportunity for great inventions and discoveries, this is the time to enter the education profession.

This program was sponsored by FTA in observance of National Education Week.

Ray Kirby, president of FTA, read the scripture, and the speaker was introduced by Dr. David H. Briggs.

Superintendents from three school systems in the county, V. F. Goddard, Alcoa; R. A. Harper, Maryville; and L. M. Ross, Blount County—were platform guests.

ART EXHIBIT IN CLAY

An art exhibit of clay models will go on display in Lamar Memorial Library next Tuesday. The work, done by Stone Norton of Alcoa, will be on exhibit through November 30.

Knox College Choir Sings At Y Sunday

The all Negro Knoxville College Choral Ensemble will present a program of solos, duets, and ensemble work at a joint meeting of the Y's tomorrow in the library at 1:30.

The group is composed of eighteen members, and is directed by Dr. Newell C. Fitzpatrick who also serves as accompanist. Soloists for the program include Beatrice Warren, Eulalia Wood, Jeraldine Smalls, Laverna Randell, and Frederick Breedlove.

Selections will include "Mt. Zion Rejoice", a duet of "They Went Astray", group singing of "Lord's Prayer" and "Let Us Break Bread Together", solos of "Didn't My Lord Deliver Daniel" and "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot", group singing of "King Jesus Is A'Listenin" and "Oh What A Beautiful City", solo of "Round About the Mountain", and an ensemble final of "Lord, I Want To Be A Christian" will complete their program.

Following the performance, the group will be guests of the Y cabinets for a reception in the YWCA rooms.

Your Student Activity Fee

The student activity fee—that six dollars each student pays every semester—furnishes money for several extra-curricular activities on the hill. Probably many students go along and take for granted the activities that are financed by the student activity fee. But all students benefit from the use of the fee and are entitled to know how it is used.

To put it in understandable portions of the fee, the money goes to eight accounts including funds for athletics (current), athletics (equipment), forensics, Artist Series, The Highland Echo, music, YM or YW, and Student Center. Until the fall of 1948, the fee was five dollars, but by vote of the student body the sixth dollar was added to finance the Student Center opened in August of that year.

For every student's fee the following division is made:

To the current athletic budget goes $1.95, for permanent athletic equipment, 75c; forensics, 30c; Artist Series, 87.5c; The Highland Echo, 50c; music, 12.5c; YM or YW, 50c; and Student Center, $1.00.

Most of the use of the money is self-explanatory, but a little explanation might be helpful. For instance, by permanent athletic equipment is meant investment in relatively permanent equipment, as the athletic station wagon. For forensics, the main item is the cost of trip expenses for the debate teams to tournaments. Music expenses are for organizations such as the choir, band, and orchestra.

The Arist Series money, for the most part, is being reserved for future series. However, one or more guest artist appearances may be arranged during the year, as last year, which will require current expenditures.

Money for YM and YW is not divided equally between the two organizations, but is done according to the number of men and women students enrolled.

Eight ways, student activity fees provide enlarged extra-curricula programs on the hill.

Inklings of Tradition?

Sometimes students find new patterns of conduct when innovations are made in the activities program of the hill. Whether these are trends that will turn into traditions or not, perhaps nobody can say. But we feel—

That social gatherings in the dormitories will be more frequent now that all the dorms have cooking facilities;

That co-eds at Maryville are pressing for initiative with Sadie Hawkins days re-instated and Monday night dances proceeding from girls' bids;

That a friendly greeting is still the hallmark of the true Maryville atmosphere.

Or should we say that some or most of the above are just inklings of tradition?

Damp Gallantry

Field trips can prove interesting. Ask Dick Thom. With Sir Walter Raleigh hallucinations, he attempted to escort a fellow classmate across the creek (or crek, depending on regional loyalty). Result? Deep place—cold water—mud and slime. Bad case—poor starter—foam and brine.

Nit-Wish (Nish-wit, that is)

Clevah! Clevah! The CN graveyard in front of Thaw—is it made for more than names? You bet.

Nish topped all his classic witicisms with Thursday morning's Chapel remark. For those who cut, I'll repeat it: "Let's make the CN cheering squad sound like the Vesper Choir." Mr. Harter's reply: "All the Choir's mistakes belong to Mr. Nish."

Purple Bet

Those ferocious purple hats—where did they come from! It seems that TPI bet an item of the cross-country team's "wearing apparel" they would beat our last two men. Our team bet them their hats they wouldn't. The wearing apparel is still intact, and the hats? They're competition for the East Tennessee Sun.

Talk of The Week BY ALAN FORT

Voices, Masks, and Shadows

SEASONED

Town night's movie thrillers this week are Capitol's "Act of Violence" and Park's "Dark Past."

Act of Violence is built around the suuspenseful plot of a man with an eye for the past; for our hero, Frank Enley, played by Van Heflin has a mistake or two buried there. Joe Parkson (Robert Ryan) plays the part of the war buddy who knows a little too much about the memoirs of our treasonal Casanora. Janet Leigh is the Mrs. hero. The stew of movie suspense thickens, well seasoned with a dash of Mary Astor as bar fly.

SPICED

William Holden plays the part of a young criminal in "The Dark Past." The underlying idea of the movie is a plea for sympathetic understanding rather than harsh punishment for young criminals. Lee J. Cobb portrays a psychiatrist who attempts to help the criminal. Plot and suspense is good, but insipid details of psychoanalysis tend to make the movie tedious.

"The Dark Past" was originally a play, making its Broadway debut in 1935 and lasting 119 performances its first season. Later it was re-revived. In 1939 it was made into movie form for the first time and starred Chester Morris and Ralph Bellamy.

FILCHED

Playing Wednesday at the Capitol is another borrowed-from Faust production, "Alias Nick Beal." Nick Beal, Ray Milland, a shrewd business man is in reality the devil in disguise. Our victim is snared but rescued by a "Daniel Webster" in a "Nick" of time.

The name, Nick Beal, is in itself derived from Old Nick and Beelzebub.

"News Week" deems it escapist entertainment with a basic plot neutralized by a sulfuric sleight of hand.

REVIVED

Laura—song, movie, novel, play. Friday night will bring again into the spotlight one of the best-loved who dunits of the decade—Laura, presented by the Maryville College Playhouse.

Adapted from Vera Caspory's novel, it is so full of brittle chit chat and swanky appointments that it has been referred to as a "whocommittedit" of higher rank than a whodunit. The plot is double-barreled, making a mystery not only of the killer, but of the killed.

The movie came out about 1944 under the Preminger label and starred Gene Tierney, Dana Andrews, and Clifton Webb. Incidentally, that was Clifton Webb—Belvedere's first movie since 1924

INTRODUCED

Welcome to the Muses, M.C.'s new fine arts group. The purpose of this group is to endeavor to show the relationship between the various fine arts and create artistic interest among the entire student body. It especially urges students who are not taking applied arts but who would like to broaden their knowledge of painting, music, drama, and dancing to attend the meetings.

It has no organization, except a control board, membership dues, or requirements. The first meeting on November 21 will be an informal forum. Among the plans for this year are the sponsorships of the campus art exhibit, and the decorating of Thanksgiving tables in the dining hall.

VARIED

The new book table features for this week titles suggesting The Logic of Belief by David Elton Trueblood and The History of Reynard, the Fox by F. S. Ellis.

Although many books do give by way of simple introduction a famous quotation, few are as startling as that of The Logic of Belief. "The struggle between belief and unbelief is the only thing in the members of humanity worth considering"—Goethe

Other books included in the display are Gestalt Psychology by Dr. Wolfgang and Kobler and Planning Garbage and Refuse Facilities for the Small Community, prepared by Charles Crangle for the Tennessee State Planning Association.

CELEBRATED

This marks the end of American Education Week and Cat Week, but tomorrow begins National Children's Book Week. Celebrations honoring children's books and book festivals are being held all over the United States. —B.R.D.

PACKARD, ATHENIANS SING

Athenian will meet at 6:15 tonight in Bartlett Auditorium for a song-fest. Ray Packard will be in charge of the singing.

Professor Howell: What is the formula for water?"
Jim Frain: "HIJKLMNO."
Howell: "What?"
Frain: "You said, 'H2O."

MC's Band Completes Trip To Robbinsville

MC's Band returned to the campus last night after a trip to Robbinsville, N.C.

After journeying through the Smokies on the 70-mile trip, they arrived in time to play and march in an Armistice Day Parade held there. The band was the only college band to be present.

Reviewers seemed to like the fast-stepping marchers as they paraded down the streets. It was said to be the largest celebration of its kind in that section of North Carolina.

Faculty Recital Given Last Night

Representative pieces of Baroque music were played in the Faculty Recital last night at the New Providence Church.

Curtis Hughes played three groups of organ seelctions, one of which was a biblical sonata by Kuhman.

Bernice Blair and Harry Harter sang selections from Handel. Harter also sang a selection by Alexandro Scarlatti.

Two pieces by Dominico Scarlatti were played by Katharine Davies. The two biblical sonatas by Kuhman are early examples of program music.

The concluding number was a trio sonata with Dorothy Horne and Mrs. Alice Eaddy playing the violins and the piano and cello played reseptively by Doris Somerville and Dan Winter, both of whom are students.

Bainonians Meet In Gym For Athletic Program

The Intramural Gymnasium will be the meeting place of all Bainonians at 4:00 this afternoon. Volleyball will be the main event of the meeting. The Freshmen will play the Juniors and the Sophomores will play the Seniors.

Sports Echoes

By Neal Pearson

● THOUGH OUTMANNED AND OUTWEIGHED, Maryville's Scots were not outplayed in going down before Austin Peay's Governors Saturday. Showing what a team could do with a will to win, the Highlanders almost pulled another one out of the fire. Outstanding in their play were Hershel Merriman and Don Walker.

● MERRIMAN LEFT FEW DOUBTS as to his deserving a place on the Little All America as he banged across his seventh and eighth touchdowns of the year. Peay's coach even remarked that "Happy" was the best back that they had seen in those parts in a long time.

● WALKER PLAYED one of the best games seen at tackle in a long time. He and Hersh were the big men on many a tackle with Don recovering a fumble in the fourth period to halt another drive. Not content with just playing tackle, Don "shifted" to end in the second period to receive a pass from Leon Berrong that moved the ball four yards downfield.

● WE NOW GET TO A POINT that has been pressing our mind all year—the front runningness of Maryville's student body spirit. After the bangup game played at Clarksville, one would have expected that there would have been a general congratulation of the team for their fine performance. Something else that would have helped their morale tremendously would have been an informal meeting by students of the team when they came in to give them a rousing cheer, hollering that they would stick by them through thick and thin. It's true that no one knew the exact time that they were rolling in, but neither did anyone know the time when UT would come in after upsetting North Carolina. The news could have gotten around the dorm pretty fast when they came by and a bunch of guys could have greeted them. This would have been a greater morale builder than any of the Pep Rallies which have done a very great job in rebuilding team spirit in themselves. Any team will have support when it's winning, and it isn't hard to slap a player on the back when his team's winning 40-0, but the time any team needs support is when it's down-and-out.

Whenever the team goes on a trip, there are maybe 25 cohorts, along with the cheerleaders, that have real spirit in them at the sendoff. These same 25 will congratulate the Scots for their fine game played whether they win, lose, or draw. The rest of the student body will cheer them on when they're winning but when losing, it's "Go on home, you big fat bum." What the school needs is a little more of that good old fashioned "win or lose, they're our team" spirit."

Though we haven't had Pep Rallies for other sports such as Cross Country, Basketball, Baseball, or Track, to mention a few, it wouldn't be a bad idea to have sendoffs and rallies for them. Maryville students ought to be proud of the winning records chalked up by these teams and back them to the hilt.

● TONIGHT'S CONTEST will see Carson-Newman on the comeback trail after losing six in a row. Lest Scot supporters get over-confident, let's remember this little quotation from the Orange and Blue, C-N paper. Carson-Newman is . . . a team which gives no quarter to anyone and expects none, and believes in a hard fight for any win, either way, us or them."

● STILL GRINDING OUT YARDAGE methodically, Hersh Merriman passed Blondie Law in the rushing-averages race by picking up 64 yards in 14 tries to go ahead. Bobby Neff still leads the pack though in total yardage gained, with 406 yards—picking up 181 more via 10 completions in 33 passing attempts. Leon Berrong has picked up 110 yards via the air lanes in completing six out of 14 passes.

Statistics, as follows, include all games but Emory & Henry.

Player	Atte.	Ydg.	Ave. Per Try
Bobby Neff	53	225	4.245
Hershel Merriman	55	310	5.636
Leon Berrong	45	212	4.711
Blondie Law	31	274	8.838

● THE OUTCOME OF THE RIFT between UT and MC Cross Countrymen hasn't been settled. It looks like it won't be since UT has been acting like a child that can't get its way. Dean Stone of the Times wrote a very revealing article some weeks ago. Coach Honaker wrote and received information from Bernie Moore of the SEC; UT refused to run against Maryville without Scott. We'll never know whether UT was afraid to run against Coach Johnson's broken-down team or whether they were just acting like spoiled brats.

Harrier-Vol Clash Cancelled by UT

The meet with UT scheduled for Wednesday of next week has been cancelled at UT's request. Previously Maryville had beaten UT here, 20-39, but the Vols had protested the result on the grounds that Maryville hadn't marked the course sufficiently and that they had been misled. From that point on the rift widened as each side hurled charges back and forth.

In his school paper, Louis Schneider said that Maryville had not only lost UT on Maryville's course, but that Sewanee had fallen victims to the same entrapment. Then Dean Stone, writing in the Times, brought forth evidence that Tom Scott, UT's best runner, was inelegible on five counts: he was a two-time transfer student from Penn State and Maryville and under SEC rules the transfer student has to wait a year before running; he also graduated from UT last year and was now a graduate student; this was his fifth year of running; and two other counts.

Coach Honaker wrote Coach Crowell for an explanation of the "set up." Schneider who ran there last year answered him with the statement that our course wasn't sufficiently marked and that their runners had to run through leaves and bushes and over logs and couldn't see the markers. Coach Johnson has said that Maryville would run only if Scott and any other graduate students didn't run—according to NCAA rules which saw that only undergraduates can compete. UT would not do this and subsequently asked to have the meet cancelled.

Intramurals....

by Rolfe Duggar

Fans can look forward to a busy intramural scene this month with three sports just coming on the scene and two finishing up. Soccer, in its last weeks, is finishing up with a bang. Golf is still lagging, with cross country, basketball, and ping-pong on the way in.

Basketball

An urgent cry has been let out from the intramural office for basketball referees. A sign-up sheet is hanging in this office for all interested in acting as referees. This is urgent, since intramural basketball cannot be played without referees.

Friday noon is the deadline for all teams to turn in their eligibility slips. First game is scheduled to be played on November 22.

Golf

This is the last week for intramural linksmen to play their rounds. All signees must play 36 rounds to receive their points. As it now stands, Jerry Sayres will cop first place.

Cross Country

Monday afternoon at four o'clock is starting time for the big intramural cross country meet. Boys who are interested and have not signed up as yet are saved, for this is one sport you can enter at the last minute.

There will be men stationed at different points along the course to make sure runners don't get lost. (UT would probably like to get in on this meet). Each runner will have an "assistant" at

Governors Down Scots 20-14 In Hot Grid Battle

Maryville's lightweight Scotties went down to their third defeat of the season last Saturday night at the hands of the heavier Austin Peay Governors, 20-14. In a hard fought game played at Clarksville's Municipal Stadium, the Governors fought back from behind twice and, with the help of a few breaks, came out on the winning end.

The Scots drew first blood. Maryville, after making one first down, was forced to kick to the Austin 13. After failing to gain, Fendley punted to the Maryville 38, and Bobby Boring made a beautiful runback to the Austin 40. Bob was trapped back on his own 40, but somehow managed to worm his way through half the Austin team for a 22 yard gain. From here, the Scots went on to score. Neff and Merriman combined to move the ball down to the 29 for a first down. Two plays later a Neff to Lewelling pass clicked for a nine yard gain. On last down Neff crashed off tackle for the all important first down. Hersh Merriman than bulled his way down to the eight. Berrong went four and Merriman crashed over to score. Andes added the point.

Governor's Tie Score

Coach Aaron's charges were quick to even things up. After an exchange of kicks, Austin Peay took over on their 30. On the next play, Bob Swope cruised around end for a beautiful 70 yard run and the score. He received downfield blocking and it appeared at the time that every man in the Scot backfield had been cut down by this deadly interference. Fenley added the point that tied the score.

Early in the third quarter, the Scots forged out in front again. Starting on their own 22, the Highlanders, on a sustained march, moved on to score. Leon Berrong and Merriman moved the ball up to the 43. Merriman then crashed the line for five and Leon threw a 17 yard pass to D. M. Miller for another first down. Berrong cracked off tackle for 16 yards to move the pigskin down to the 20. Berrong and Merriman teamed up again to push the ball down to the eight. Merriman then scored his second touchdown of the night by going off tackle from the five. Andes put us seven ahead by adding the extra point.

From there on in, it was apparent that the Scots were tiring badly. The heavier Austin Peay squad, using their platoon system to great effect, began to roll over the battered Highlanders. They took the kickoff and marched with consummate ease from their own 25 to paydirt. Depending entirely on ground play, the Clarksvillemen scored in seven short plays.

Governors Tie Score Again

Fendley and Quarrels broke through the line on three successive plays and moved the ball up to the 47. Fendley broke through the center of the line for 20 yards before being pulled down on the Scot 27. Three plays later, Swope cut off right tackle for 16 yards and his second TD of the night. Fendley kicked the point which made things even again.

The Scots, after picking up a first down, were forced to kick. Boring continued his beautiful punting by kicking out of bounds on the six. From here Austin Peay started a long march which covered 91 yards and brougt the ball to the Maryville three. Don Walker then received an Austin Peay fumble and, for a time, halted Coach Aaron's relentless ground attack.

Later in the fourth quarter, with the Scots bottled in their own

Thinlies Meeting Sewanee Today

Aiming for a sweep of the first seven places, Maryville's harriers will meet the University of the South here at 3:30 this afternoon. The meet, if won by Coach Johnson's men, will be their fifth straight of an unbeaten season and third in a row over Sewanee.

In last year's finale, the thinlies knocked over Sewanee here to begin a streak which they hope to extend to six victories. In that meet, Del Earisman set a course record of 17:43 and he, along with the rest of the team, will be out to break this record.

Previously this year, the "Bunion Burners" defeated the Purple and White at Sewannee, 24-32.

Sewannee's main threat will be Albert Perkins who won the hill-and-dale run there. Running for Maryville today are: Del Earisman, Bill Menges, George Day, Jimmy Thurston, Ric Rogers, John Baird, and Neale Pearson.

MC Wrestlers Hold Official Practice

Coach "J.D." Davis has announced that the first official wrestling practice will be held on Monday, November 21. A squad of twenty men have been working out on their own.

This roster includes five letter men and will be added to by numerous tusslers from the football team, including Captain Merriman, at the close of the grid campaign.

GIRL'S INTRAMURALS STUDY HYGIENE

Since the swimming pool has been closed, the women's intramural classes have started work on personal hygiene. They are keeping individual scrapbooks of their health records.

Emphasis is being placed on good posture and relaxation.

Scots Stalk C-N; Last Home Stand

Carson-Newman's Eagles will fly into Wilson Field tonight loaded for b'ar when they meet our Scotties in a return bout. After winning the first contest at Knoxville, Coach Honaker's men will have their hands full with Frosty Holt's eleven.

Sixteen seniors will be playing their last game on home grounds in this the 25th meeting between the two bitter rivals. Coach Honaker's charges will be after their 18th win of the series, which began back in 1903, while C-N will try a gain to win number seven. The other contest was a 7-7 deadlock in '47.

Nine Are Vets of '46

Nine of these 16 seniors played against the Holtmen in 1946, the first year of the revival of football, and have seen the Eagles go down thrice since. Because he dropped out of school for two semesters to coach, King Berrong, a member of that Tangerine Bowl team, will get another crack at them next season.

The nine veterans of '46 are Jim Baird, Benny Baldwin, Leon Berrong, Bob Boring, Tubby Callaway, Capt. Howard Davis, Ray Holsey, Hershell Merriman, and Bobby Neff. Seven other seniors will also be playing their final home game—Ken Andes, Honk Boyd, Hap Brahams, Blondie Law, Carl Lewelling, Jim McKee, and Co. Capt. D. M. Miller.

Holtmen Heavy and Sly

Frosty Holt's unbalanced line averages 190 pounds per man and has only two men missing from last year's aggregation. Backfield men Wade, Cosson, and Netcher are pretty good and are liable to break loose if they get some blocking. Adding the Split-T and a Spread Formation to their repertoire of tricks, Coach Holt's charges will run a lot of sneaky stuff against the home team. Among their most dependable plays are a cross-buck which has been in use 15 years and jump passes thrown by Netcher.

Charlie Allen Back

With his wrist nearly well, Charlie Allen will be back in his togs tonight and his presence should help a lot. D. M. Miller who was taken out of the Clarksville game is back in shape along with Jack Rorex, King Berrong, and Ray Holsey who were out with slight cases of the flu early this week. Altogether, the Highlanders will be in their best physical shape of the season.

Big Game of Season

Coaches Davis and Honaker are pleased with the way things are looking but are worried lest there be too much overconfidence. "This is the game that will decide whether we have a pretty fair season or a mediocre one. We must win it." Coach Davis emphasized this point all week as the team ran through scrimmage in preparation for two of the season's toughest ball games in C-N and Alabama State Teachers.

Only change in the Eagle lineup is the replacement of Lawson at Right End with James Taylor, a 165 pounder. Maryville's lineup will be the same as that which started against Austin Peay with the exception of Leon Berrong at left half.

Baldwin, Memorial Halls Get New Stoves, Repairs

The college recently installed new electric stoves in the recration rooms of Baldwin and Memorial Halls. The installation followed a suggestion by a house mother to Dr. Lloyd and Miss Massey.

The recreation rooms have been repaired with a new ceiling for Memorial and a new concrete floor for Baldwin. The girls have found curtains, pictures, and other articles to make the rooms look more like home.

Lucy Carrick, Nannette Enloe, Sally Sutton, Edith Lancaster, Ruth Cross, and Doris Somerville, the house committee, enetertained the Baldwin girls with a Hallowe'en Party, Friday night, October 28, honoring the recreation room with a shower of many useful gifts.

Psychology Department Opens Testing Clinic For Backward Children

A clinic for testing backward children is now open in the basement of Thaw under the direction of James Latham and Virginia Schwarz of the psychology department. Backward children in the county are being tested to help teachers better understand the cause for lack of adequate educational progress.

Methods being used to test these children are intelligence, vision, and hearing tests. The psychology department is working in cooperation with the office of the County Superintendent of Schools.

On the testing program, Dr. David H. Briggs, head of the psychology department, commented, "this is only a mild beginning to what we hope sometime to develop into a clinic for the entire community."

FACULTY SEE FILM; HEAR MRS. KRAMER

Mrs. D. S. Kramer spoke at Faculty Club last Monday night.

Speaking on "Trends in Elementary Education," Mrs. Kramer showed ways in which democracy is put to work in schools. Educational programs have become more flexible and informal. Democracy in the schools helps to bring a closer relationship among school administrators, teachers, and the citizens of the community.

Mrs. Kramer showed a film strip entitled "Education for All American Children." This film strip was put out by the National Educational Policies Commission, and showed what could happen in our schools, what we would like to have happen, and what is happening. She also showed slides depicting special projects that have been tried in the local city schools.

Soccer

This week's action on the soccer front found Pi Lumbago and YMCA battling for first place. In case of a tie there will be playoff game Tuesday afternoon at 4:30.

YMCA ran up against a brick wall every time they moved near the Athenian's goal in Monday's opening game. Athenians, however, could not score either, and the game ended in a nothing to nothing tie.

Scotties handed Loafers its first defeat in a close one to nothing game. Both teams played good, clean ball. It was the Scotties' first win.

YMCA overpowered Scotties Wednesday to knock them off the undefeated list. Only YMCA and Pi Lumbago now have the honor of being undefeated. The final score of that tilt was 2-0, It was the first itme YMCA has scored this year in league play; their other win came on a forfeit.

Loafers put a damper on Pi Lumbago's championship drive Thursday by holding the latter to a nothing-to-nothing tie. The Loafers played their hearts out trying for the "upset of the year." Pi Lumbago has now completed its schedule.

SOCCER

Athenians handed Pre-Ministerials their second defeat of the year to drop them into a last place tie with the Highlanders. It was the first victory for the Athenians —1-0.

In an intra-society game the Scotties defeated their brothers, the Highlanders, 2-0. It was a well-played game, but full of friction because both teams wanted this one more than any other.

YMCA took over first place by dropping Pre-Ministerials, 2-0. YMCA has one more game next Monday with hte Loafers, and if they can win this one they will win the championship. If the race should end up in a tie there will be a play-off game Tuesday afternoon.

ALL-STAR GAME

Plans are now being made for the annual soccer all-star game to be held Thanksgiving afternoon. Voting will be held next week for All-Star team players. These players will be picked by position—five forwards, three halfbacks, two fullbacks, and a goalie. The winner of the soccer league will oppose the All-Star team. League players should start thinking now of who htey will vote for.

Austin-Peay Game

territory, a Boring pass play backfired and was intercepted by George Morton of the Clarksville secondary. On the next play, Quarterback Frank Rubel took the ball and scored standing up from the 34. He went through the line on a quarterback sneak, cut to his left and sped down the sideline in back of beautiful interference. Findley's kick was wide.

The Scots gave the Austin Peabody fans one last thrill in the closing minute of play. Bobby Neff faded back and threw a long pass to King Berrong. Berrong caught the ball on about the Scot 40 and raced down to the Governor's 40 before he was caught by the safety man. It appeared for a second that King would break away for a Frank Merriwell finish, and except for that one man he would have been gone. The game ended with Bobby Neff's pass being intercepted by Sam Reeks, Austin fullback.

Just in passing—Reeks, Austin Peay's ace fullback, could not play on offence due to a leg injury but he managed to play on the defensive squad anyway. Bob Swope was the "people's choice" for the Clarksville fans last Saturday. This is his first year in organized football, he scored two touchdowns, and most important, he was married only seven hours before gametime.

Although stopped cold in their passing, the Men from Clarksville ground out 401 yards in a well nigh unstoppable ground attack.

Dr. W.M. Elliott To Lead '50 February Meetings

Dr. Stringham Returns As Music Director

Rev. William M. Elliott, Jr. Ph.D., D.D. of Dallas, Texas, will be the leader of the 74th series of February Meetings, which open on February first.

Dr. Elliott was the leader of the meetings six years ago when he was a pastor in Atlanta. He is a minister in the Presbyterian Church in the United States (Southern).

He was born in Indiana, graduated from Park College in Missouri, and the Presbyterian Seminary in Louisville, Ky., received his Ph.D. degree from the University of Edinburgh, Scotland, and his D.D. degree from Davidson College, N. C.

He is now pastor of the Highland Park Presbyterian Church in Dallas. His church is one of the largest church buildings in the Southwest and has a membership of more than 3,000 and a Sunday School of over 2,000.

Dr. Elliott is 45 years of age and holds many important positions in his denomination.

Singing will again be under the direction of Rev. Sidney E. Stringham, D.D., who is now pastor of the Cabanne Methodist Church, St. Louis, Mo., having gone from Jackson, Mo., to St. Louis since the meetings a year ago.

DR. WILLIAM M. ELLIOTT JR., above, is to lead Maryville's 74th series of February Meetings.

Prominent Church Leaders Address Week-day Chapels

Visiting speakers at MC's chapel services this week included Dr. Stuart Nye Hutchison, Dr. George E. Sweazey, Rev. Ray J. Dollenmayer, and Dr. Charles R. Erdman.

Dr. Hutchison, a director of the college, spoke Tuesday morning on "The Requirements of Following Christ." East Liberty Presbyterian Church, Pittsburgh is his home church. His associate, Rev. Mr. Dollenmayer, read the morning scripture on Tuesday.

Wednesday's chapel speaker was Dr. Sweazey, secretary of the Department of Evangelism of the Board of National Missions, who spoke on the New Life Movement. He is also a leader in United Evangelical Advance of principal denominations of the US. Later Wedensday morning he addressed one of Dr. Orr's philosophy classes and invited guests.

Chapel this morning was led by Dr. Erdman, professor of theology and a member of the college's board of directors.

I-C Council Acts On Club's Charter

At a called meeting of Inter-Club Council Thursday, an affirmative vote was recorded by the group on the proposed Men's M Club, constitution, and a rush week rule drawn up by a council committee.

The Men's M Club, as the new organization soon expected to become active, has the purpose of unifying and fostering matters concerning athletics. The club will consist of varsity lettermen who receive a two-thirds vote of the club's proposed membership.

On the rush week rule—to the effect that Vesper choir may not be used for singing notices of rush week activities—the council passed its ninth stated rule on societies' conduct during rush week.

President Bill Nish appealed to the council to help in a proposed plan to bring the student body in active work in behalf of the college's chapel fund campaign by furnishing posters for promotion of the plan on campus. The council voted to ask each club to be responsible for a suitable poster to be used by December 3.

President Mae Meriweather presided at the meeting, which consists of 22 campus organizations not represented on Student Council. A previous meeting called Tuesday afternoon was postponed due to the absence of a quorum.

REJECTION

CIO United Steel Workers Thursday rejected ALCOA's offer of a strike settlement proposal for some 16,000 employes in nine states who struck in early October in support of pension and insurance demands. However, ALCOA-AFL has reached satisfactory agreements providing for company paid pensions and non-contributory insurance.

CONVICTION

In Atlanta, Hugh D. Gravitt was convited of involuntary manslaughter in the traffic-accident death August 11 of Margaret Mitchell, world-famed author of "Gone With the Wind." The jury recommends that Gravitt be sent to jail from 12 to 18 months. The ex-cabbie was also charged with drunken driving, speeding, driving on the wrong side of the road, to name only a few traffic violations.

CONSULTATION

French Foreign Minister Schuman will confer with Chancellor Adenauer on relations between France and Western Germany. Reports have it that Adenauer refused to permit a Communist-inspired meeting to urge German unity.

FRIENDLY ACHESON

Secretary of State Dean Acheson was optimistic in declining to disclose details of the Western Big Three's Paris talks and his visit with German leaders. His friendliness toward West German leaders has been criticised in Belgium, Holland, and Luxembourg.

UNFRIENDLY ACHESON

United States officials have protested to the Chinese National Government against the shelling of the merchantman Flying Cloud off Shanghai. Secretary of State Dean Acheson announced Wednesday. He also said the US would not even consider the possibility of recognizing the Communists in China until they had freed Consul General Ward and four of his employes. An appeal to Moscow for Soviet intercession is being considered. The Russians agreed to take up with the North Korean regime the release of the ECA officials.

Y Radio Features Readings, Soloists

Program of music and poetry will be presented this week on Y Radio program over WGAP at 9:30 p.m. on Monday night. Both music and poetry will portray the qualities of love, beauty, and contentment as they are found in life.

Herb Keene and Linnea Johnson will be soloists. Johnny Sayre will both solo and accompany on the piano. Readings will be by Carol Corbett and Bill Starr. The entire program is under the direction of Ben Paxton, assisted by Bill Starr and Barbara Blum.

Last week's presentation was a drama, "Samson and Delilah." Cast of Laura was interviewed.

YW's Sunday Program Has Thanksgiving Theme

"Thanksgiving in Scripture and Song" will be the theme of the YW meeting Sunday in the Y Rooms at 1:30 p.m. Beethoven's Ninth Symphony is to be featured on the program.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Revision Proposals, Reports Given At Meet

Senate's report on Student Center Agreement was read Wednesday night at Student Council. The following was reported:

1. Several typographical errors were pointed out.
2. Profits of Y Store were put on a yearly basis.
3. Net profits of the store were defined.
4. Assistants in Y rooms are responsible for cleaning the tables except when not on duty, then the workers in the store are in charge of this.
5. This agreement is in effect until ratified.

The Senate recommended to the Council that the student body not consider the possibilities of joining the National Student Association until after extended consideration.

Steering Committee recommended to consider revisions to the Student Body Constitution instead of making amendments every year.

The following changes in Student Body Constiution were discussed.

1. Whenever a student body meeting is to be held The Echo will publish an announcement immediately preceding the meeting.
2. The Chilhowean Editor should be made within six weeks after the beginning of school and a week later election by ballot be held.
4. Senate-Faculty representatives should be elected from Council in the fall.
5. Election of class officers should be held one week after annual election of Student Body officers.
6. Petition blanks can be gotten on or after the first Monday in April. Whenever there is a run off it has to be held within three days after first election.

The status of The Highland Echo Editor on the Publication Committee was cleared by the Council.

Membership to Steering Committee should be appointed by President of Student Body.

Amendment to election of May Day Queen was discussed. The proposal was made that the Queen's attendants be elected by senior class instead of chosen by the Queen as in the past years.

On December 8 an explanation of how students can be active in promoting the Chapel Fund will be given in chapel. Clubs will be asked to make posters in order to get all the students interested in helping to cooperate in a project to be announced.

Directors Elect Gamble Recorder

Dr. Cross Presiding, Group Adopts Budget

Officers elected for the coming year at the Fall meeting of the college directors Tuesday are Judge S. O. Houston of Knoxville, chairman; Dr. Frank M. Cross of Birmingham, Ala., vice-chairman; and Joe C. Gamble of Maryville, recorder.

Dr. Cross presided in the absence of Chairman Houston, and Joe Gamble served as recorder pro tem in place of the late Judge John C. Crawford. A memorial minute was adopted in honor of Judge Crawford, who served as a director of the college for 42 years, from 1907 until his death. His death came November 7.

Members elected to the Committee on Administration are Dr. Clifford E. Barbour, Knoxville; Clemmie J. Henry, Maryville; A. D. Huddleston, Maryville; and Thomas McCroskey, Knoxville. Members of the committee ex officio are President Ralph W. Lloyd, Judge Houston, and Joe Gamble, newly elected Finance Committee Chariman. The by-laws constitute the president as chairman.

Elected to the Committee on Finance are F. E. Barkley, Knoxville; A. M. Brinkley, Maryville; H. R. Crawford, Maryville, secretary; Joe Gamble, chairman; Robert J. Maclellan, Chattanooga, Clyde T. Murray, Maryville; and President Lloyd, ex-officio.

The Board received reports of all departments on the work of the college for the past year and took action pertaining to administration, instruction, maintenance, and expansion of resources and facilities.

A revised budget for 1950 was adopted. The directors approved plans for completing the Fine Arts Center and for further campaign in behalf of the Chapel.

At chapel preceding the meeting, one of the directors, Rev. Dr. Stuart Nye Hutchinson, former pastor of East Liberty Presbyterian Church, Pittsburgh, Pa., and Moderator of the Presbyterian General Assembly in 1942, led the service.

Athenian-Bainonian Introduce ABCalendar Girls Next Saturday

Former Barnwarming Extravaganzas Exhibit Development In Originality

by Carson Seely

Atlantis, Mars, the Mardi Gras—what thoughts of romance or mystery do they bring to your mind. Perhaps you also at one time or another have wanted to visit other planets, sunken cities, or world famous pageants.

And, as most people do, you have dismissed them with a flourish. Atlantis is a myth; travel to other planets is improbable. Maybe the trip is just too expensive. It is answers like these that can brand you as being a freshman. Now we must not berate the frosh for their lack of knowledge. It is merely that they have not had time to view the capricious whims of MC.

MC can claim the distinction of having had visits by the Mardi Gras, the Big Top, the Old Show Boat. Possibly excelling these would be the conducted tours through Atlantis, Marphasia (Mars, according to science textbooks), or a Futuristic Fair.

But what guiding light, what magnetic attraction is there that brings these colossae to our venerable campus? It is our own YWCA.

In days of yore, when many of us were not, there was no Barnwarming, but there were many homesick students. Showing initiative the girls planned a carnival for Thanksgiving evening. Under the auspices of the YW it became an annual affair.

In 1929, however, the carnival did not meet the deadline and an impromptu barnwarming was held. From that time it has grown and flourished. rivalling even a Cecil B. DeMille epic.

During 1930 two momentous occasions occurred. Dr. Lloyd was inaugurated, and our staid and conservative Echo omitted the news of the Barnwarming. There is no doubt that a barnwarming did occur since Dr. Lloyd spoke during it.

As the years progressed so did the price. Witness 1931's ticket price of 10 cents. 1933 probably was the least expensive—to the boys— it was "Dutch Treat."

Barnwarming for '34 proved quite memorable. Two debuts were made, one by the Boys' Tumbling Team, the other by the first barnwarming king. Evidently some of the former queens complained of being lonely. The faculty has taken part many times in Barnwarming. One of their more popular booths was "House of Horrors" presented in '35.

'County Fair' Opens Thanksgiving Night

YWCA Introduces 1949 Barnwarming King, Queen, Court At Gala Alumni Gym Festival With Sideshows, Booths, 'Average Family' Skit

"County Fair," '49 barnwarming festival sponsored by YWCA, will open its gates at the Alumni Gymnasium November 24 at 7 p.m. The court, which has been kept secret, comprising the king, queen and her attendants, and class sponsors, will be announced by Ben later in the evening. The court will reign throughout the remainder of the program.

Alumni gymnasium, disguised in the garb of a county fair, will be the scene of milling crowds, booths, and sideshows each complete with barkers. Highlighting the entire program will be a skit about the average family and its wanderings through the fair. During the skit, talented acts by campus organizations will be featured. Performers in the skit are Marty Kincaid as Mom, Bill Nish as Pop, Anne Gates as Sis, and Bill Chalker as Bud.

Various Booths

Among the booths, one will find a refreshment booth in charge of Janet Cummings and Thad Godwin, a candy booth by Barbara McNeill and Elaine Smith, a freak show in charge of Jean Davis and Barbara Scott and a cake walk by Dot Lambert.

Other booths are the Fishing Well by Libby Dunn and Carolyn Balch, an Exhibition booth by Louise Lloyd, a livestock booth by Edith Lancaster, a fortune telling booth by Mary Kelton and a ring toss booth by Lucy Carrick and Del Earisman.

Admission to the program is by ticket at 40 cents each, purchased either on campus or downtown. Purchasables at booths are secured by tokens used as 5 cent units and bought at the same price. Lemonade and popcorn are free being paid for by the admission. Everyone, including performers, must have tickets.

Committee Heads

Alice Davenport is co-chairman of the event. Assisting her are Ellen Collins, chairman of Court proceedings; Jane Jessup, business manager; Bob Holley and Eanie Nelson, rehearsal directors; Dan Winter and Carolyn Marshall, music directors and Howard Cameron, lighting.

Winnie Schaumburg is in charge of booths; Pat Love, costumes; Happy Huddleston, properties; Ruth Heaps and Tom Kees, set decorations; Marney Mauger, make-up and Milly Simmons, publicity.

Proceeds from barnwarming go to WSSF. This fund extends to students and professors of American colleges and universities the privilege of insuring education for students abroad. Food, clothing, medical aid, housing and books are the major divisions of the fund.

Barnwarming, an annual pageant since 1926, is the largest program presented during the first semester. It is sponsored by YWCA.

State Department Chooses Pancoast

'49 Alumnus Selected From 700 Applicants; 33 Gain Internships

Edwin C. Pancoast, MC '49, was selected this year for interneship for a position in the Department of State in this country or in the Foreign Service. Out of over 700 applicants, 33 men and women were chosen.

John E. Peurifoy, Deputy Under Secretary of State, explained that over 321 colleges were each invited to nominate not more than three outstanding students with particular interests or abilities in fields pertaining to foreign affairs.

A selection board, set up to screen the applications, chose 147 from educational institutions for personal interviews, and selected 22 to take part in the intern program. In addition, 11 candidates were selected from sources within the Department and the Foreign Service.

Under the direction of the Foreign Service Institute, these interns will participate in planned course work as well as in on-the-job training. The program will run until June 30, 1950; and upon successful completion of the course interns will be assigned to jobs in Washington or at foreign posts.

Following is an excerpt from a letter to Dean F. D. McClelland from Arch K. Jean, Chief of the Division of Departmental Personnel:

"I am most happy indeed to advise you that Mr. Pancoast was accepted for the Intern Program and entered on duty with the Department in August. To date, he has proved to be an exceptionally fine candidate and is participating in the program in a very commendable manner.

"I was very pleased with the excellent quality of the candidate nominated and want to tell you and each of the members of your nominating board how greatly the Department appreciates the excellent cooperation of your college in designating such a fine candidate. We shall look forward to your participation when future intern plans are announced."

UNION SERVICE THANKSGIVING

Annual Union Thanksgiving Service will be held Thursday morning at ten o'clock at New Providence Presbyterian Church.

The Rev. Mark M. Moore, pastor of Broadway Methodist Church, will deliver the sermon.

Playhouse's 'Laura' Final Run Tonight

"Laura," Maryville College Playhouse's first major production goes into its second and final presentation at 8 tonight in Alumni Gymnasium.

Title role in the production is taken by Beverly Moore as Laura, with Roger Cowan as Waldo Lydecker, Dave Reed as Mark McPherson, and Joe Poland as Shelby Carpenter in important supporting roles.

Inauguration of the Playhouse with a new stage and set designed by Instructor Herman Middleton is an important "first" for the new drama organization in its first semester of work.

Other members of the cast include Alan Fort, who plays Ranny Dorgan, a teen-ager who fancies himself in love with Laura; Sara Jo Emert, his mother and Laura's landlady; Sally Booth, Laura's maid, Bessie; and Ben Long, who plays Olsen, a policeman.

Production assistants include Stage Manager George Barber, Electrician Carroll Stegall; House Manager Jim Townsend; and Assistant Director Ann Jenkins.

College's Building Funds Increasing

Fund for the Samuel Tyndale Wilson Chapel has reached a total of $221,299.93 toward the goal of $400,000. The college is depending on alumni to furnish the $180,000 still needed, MC's Alumni Bulletin stated.

To the campaign for a new women's dormitory, costing about $250,000 under the direction of Miss Clemmie J. Henry has been pledged $73,614 of which all but $1,163 has been paid in.

Of the total so far reached, $45,118 has come from individuals or organizations of the Daughters of the American Revolution. The first $25,000 was half of a legacy left to the college by Miss Augusta J. Boone, of Meriden, Conn. The Tennessee State Society, D.A.R., this past summer contributed $7,125 to the fund.

Various other friends of the college have given the other $28,496. The campaign is to be continued until the goal is reached. The new dormitory will house between 75 and 100 girls.

Our Meetings

Announcement this week of the speakers for Maryville's 74th series of the College's historic February Meetings brings to mind the fact that the meetings—in plan and purpose—are designed for the fullest enrichment of our religious life. What the meetings will mean to us will depend on what we mean for the meetings to mean to us.

Our speaker, a man familiar with the Maryville family, will come with a purpose of directing the thoughts of our college community toward those things vital to the Christian life. Wouldn't it be helpful for the organizations on campus expressedly concerned with student religious life to invite suggestions as to what issues of Christian life today concern us as students? Not only would this give the speaker an idea of what permeates the religious thinking of our campus, but also would help individual students think on phases of Christian life.

Other suggestions as to special forum or discussion group meetings that might be arranged by the several organizations should be channeled early to the proper authorities.

After all, February meetings to be most fruitful—must be planned with an end toward opening wide channels of spiritual emphasis that the meaning of the meetings might be manifest to each person on the hill.

It Can Happen Here

A church-related college similar in enrollment and plan to Maryville recently had found that student responsibility attitudes were waning. Instead of enthusiasm and drive marking the activities of the campus, only a certain few students actually did the task-work in the organizations.

As their college paper pointed out: "It appears that the burden of extra-curricular duties is falling upon a small group of students. The results can be disastrous to the people and the organizations. . . . The more people that participate in an organization, the broader and more interesting the organization shall become because of it is more representative. . . . A lingering 'half-death' is foreseeable for many of the campus (organizations). . . . They are closer to death than it appears on the surface. Because they function is no sign they are healthy. Take away from them the few people that are active and inteersted and the bottom will fall out."

The only way any organization on campus will survive in today's situation it that the organization meets a need and the students respond to fill the need with energy and enthusiasm. And how many do participate in activities that give avenues of self-expression, development of intitiative, and proper management of one's capabilities?

A sure death is certain for effective leadership in organizations and for the organizations themselves if students do not put more active force to extra-curricular outlets here at MC, too.

Sound & Fury

Most common of remarks on campus this week since "Act of Violence" seems to be "I'm getting my kicks!" And though we may not all mean the same thing by it, as undoubtedly we don't, it is a mighty pert remark along about this time of the semester. Seniors are still moaning "Special Studies Blues," while underclassmen of all ranks think to themselves that it can't be as hard to take as all that.

Famous Last Words

Along with the various halls of fame spread thin all over the country, Maryville has its annuals of what some of its students said before they fell under the axe. Famous last words which bear repeating—

Don Hyatt—(after a Pep Rally) "Let's go to town!"

Betsy Warren—(not seing Miss Ware standing behind breakfast "cocktail") "Egad, are we having that stuff again?"

Bill Holt— (preceding and during daily chapel referring to our well-earned sabbatical leave) "Today is the day!"

Laurie Dale—(after answering a phone call for her roommate Judy) "It sounds like Andy, but then again it might be just the dial tone."

Dr. Buchanan—(referring to Chinese rebellion) "It was as passive as our football team."

Truth or Consequences

The truth comes out when we least expect it and when it is least wanted. Such was the case with this week's favorite couple. Mrs. Earisman, of Del Earisman fame, while visiting MC this week asked her son if she should kiss Lucy when they met. Del shrugged his shoulders and said, "Go ahead, she's used to it."

No-bell prize of the week goes to Lee Cook who has added to the fast growing list of uses for the library. In his capacity as official piano duster, Lee entertained afternoon study-ers with melody until Miss Grierson interceded in behalf of the students.

Mitchum vs What?

When "Big Mitch" was introduced to Jim Watt the following conversation ensued: "Mitchum's the name."

"Watt's the name."
"Mitchum's the name."
"Watt's the name."
"Look, buddy, Mitchum's the name and that's the last time I repeat it."

To wait or not to wait

And while you're laughing about that, ask "Cuddles" Cuthill how he likes waiting tables or better still ask him the secret of passing for a waiter. Other people have tried and succeeded. How 'bout that, Pat Love?

Menagerie

Eyebrows are being worn at a new level since Carson-Newman invaded the sanctity of Wilson Field with their band. From a purely objective point of view we now have seen the world's fanciest prancing horses with obvious reference to female adherents to C-N's band. Nevertheless, current male opinion is that we ought to have more of what C-N has an adundance of.

On Professors

Again this week there is a steadily growing sentiment that something ought to be done about

Professors who let pop quizes become a daily habit.

Professors who think the only dates a person ever remembers are those found in text books.

Professors.

Bachelor of . . . . ?

There is a fine distinction between the College Student, College Joe, and College Man. The College Student puts hours into homework and seminars, gets good marks, and, unless he's quiet about it, soon has the reputation of being "something out of bookbinding." The College Joe is a survivor of the '20's, is scorned by most college boys as too "rah, rah," and knows all the latest jokes. He says he has a girl in every sorority house . . . and probably has. But being a College Man, a badge of achievement sought by nine out of ten entering freshmen, takes a high degree of talent, front, and versatility, to say nothing of concentration, time and energy. He must achieve good marks with a minimum of effort, shine in poker, and particularly with the women. Above all, he must be "individual."

Business majors

Whatever your need, no matter how absurd you may think it is, some MCer is probably selling it. Mr. and Mrs. Walt Menges, official unbrella distributors, advertise "umbrellas for everyone . . . Ma, granma, sis and that 'girlfriend.'" (unquote Baldwin's bulletin board, Incilentally, the eminent firm of Webb, Kincaid, and McBride have posted on their door that "we are back in business again," to which someone added, "Thank Heavens!"

Parting word

We leave you with these words of wisdom. If at first you don't succeed, try, try again. Then quit. There's no use being a fool about this thing.

Talk of The Week

BY ALAN FORT

Voices, Masks, and Shadows

FOLLIES OF 528 A. D.

Tuesday nighter's will find at the Capitol "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court" starring Bing Crosby, Rhonda Flemming, and William Bendix. A look at that cast, even if one hasn't been reading the advertisements, tells immediately that the picture will be no exception to the usual Crosby escapade.

Bing has at last turned off the Road way and traded in sidekicks Lamour and Hope for new stooges. But the result, in spite of the Mark Twain title and setting, is still largely the same.

"The Yankee" comes complete with plaster castles, drawbridges, knights in clanking hardware, jousts, and beautiful ladies, all wrapped up in "gay, glorious technicolor" (it says here). Of course the inevitable songs are present for Der Bingle to croon at the slightest excuse.

Bing dashes recklessly through court life and tournaments, reforms court evils, and makes love to beautiful Rhonda Flemming—any one of these sufficient material for a complete movie. But Crosby and cast give the impression of a tremendous pleasure out of clowning from one melodramatic peak to another.

It's debateable whether Mark Twain would recognize his masterpiece, but chances are he might not be too disappointed. However, Hollywood, in substituting its idea of humor, has lost most of Twain's delightful satire. Hollywood has given it the usual happy ending (contrary to Twain's version); but then who ever heard of Crosby's playing Hamlet?

This isn't the first time "Yankabably isn't the best performance. kee" has been staged, and it proprobably isn't the best performance. The movie gives no more than it claims—two hours of laughs. Question is: is it worth it?

BELVEDERE AT COLLEGE

Tuesday and Wednesday at the Park Theatre finds the appearance of that gentleman whose knowledge is at times positively obnoxious—yet who has proved himself a very entertaining character to have around. Of course by this we mean Mr. Belvedere, the insufferable genuis of last year's "Sitting Pretty" who is back on the rampage again in his deadpan comedy role.

Hardly more than a full-length encore of this former hit, "Mr. Belvedere Goes to College" comes about because Lynn Belvedere, lesser known as Clifton Webb, has written a prize-winning novel. Unfortunately, he can't collect the award until he can produce a college degree.

From here on out, the picture flourishes like a more refined version of the "Mother Was a Freshman" of a few week's ago.

Belvedere finds himself in a freshman dink, getting hazed, and he ends up as a "hasher" in a girls' sorority house. Those who enjoyed his antics before will again find his visious humor highly enjoyable.

Tom Drake as a BMOC, and Shirley Temple as the school reporter with a past, provide the love element in the movie. If you haven't met Mr. Belvedere, you will probably be charmed by his unusual personality. If you are ore of his "Sitting Pretty" fans you will enjoy meeting him again on the higher education level.

GIVE-AWAYS GIVE OUT

The latest Hooper ratings give good news to those lovers of the so-called human talent on the radio. Give-away programs, which feature money instead of talent, are on the way out! In the Hooper rating of October 30, the first 15 programs include at least one program of each kind except give-away. A year ago, people were predicting "Hollywood Calling" would all but force Jack Benny's show off the air. But according to this latest Hooper rating, the man they love in Waukegon is in second place, barely our of first; and "Hollywood" isn't even on the list. Three cheers for the human comedy—may it reign forever.

THE FACE IN MISTY NIGHT

Now that "Laura" made her debut last night, the general topic of conversation is about the supurb stage set. Moviegoers who saw "Rope" a few weeks back may be struck by the resembiance in the two sets—especially the New York sky-line backdrop. Stage set was designed by Director Middleton; and cast, crews, and students worked to present the striking effect. The oil portrait of Laura done by Art Santmier deserves special mention.

Difficult lighting construction was handled very well; all details were synchronized to the movements of the actors. If you haven't yet seen the play, watch particularly for the light shining in from the kitchen entryway. The very complete stage gives more indication of Maryville students showing adaptability in use of equipment.

LIBRARY EXHIBIT

It might be overlooked, but worthy of a lot of attention is the display of clay sculpture by Stene Norton of Alcoa, on exhibit in the library. Rivaling the pieces themselves in interest to the students is the fine explanation of processes and definition of terms found in sculpturing.

ture's moist affection for MC, the Old Showboat docked at the Alumni gymnasium, and presented students with a display of talent akin to that put on by the General Robert E. Lee or the Natchez.

Panamania, '40, representing an annual festival in Panama, witnessed two lovely young students rescued by Dr. Lloyd after being chased all over "town" by some gobs on leave.

When MC students visited Mars in '41, an interesting revelation was made. Food at Pearsons would be served in the form of little pills, maybe in various colors. While students were learning that, they held their noses—as sulfurous fumes drifted by, emmitted from the slowly descending rocketship in which sat the king and queen.

Ripley's "Believe it or Not" missed an item in '42 when the "Howee Pow-Wow" featured on Indian Hit Parade a quartet by Mrs. Margaret Cummings, Jesse K. Johnson, Dr. Augustus Sisk and Dr. Ralph T. Case.

As we near our own times, Dr. Edwin R. Hunter was seen as Winston Churchill in the '43 "Mazdadaze," a war theme. During the visit to Atlantis in '46, one of the less fortunate members of a singing troupe was devoured by an octopus.

Last year, the Mardi Gras in all its resplendence and glamour paid tribute to MC for an evening. This year we return to a theme befitting a Tennessee locale, "County Fair." Next year—who knows?

"HERSHAL MERRIMAN, SENIOR FULLBACK FROM MARYVILLE COLLEGE is being boosted for a position on the 1949 Little All-American football team." This is the start of a story in Tuesday's Knoxville Journal, a paper which prints all the truth all the time. Seriously, people here on the hill would be delighted to see a home town boy make good. Hersh played three years at Everett High before coming to Maryville College. While at Everett he developed into a triple threat man as he ran, kicked, and passed with equal skill. Coach Honaker has seen fit to use Merriman only as a running fullback, and it has payed off. Whenever important yardage has to be picked up, Hersh is there to go through center, off tackle, or off the guard slot. Merriman has carried the ball 61 times and has picked up 327 yards for a rushing average of 5.36. He is also high scorer for the Scotties, racking up nine touchdowns thus far this season. His closest competitor on the Maryville team is Leon Berrong who has scored five times.

Hersh is light as far as college fullbacks go. He tips the scales at 172 pounds, but makes up for his lightness with a driving, hard running style of running which makes him hard to stop. Merriman also backs up the rather light Scot line on defense and has, on more than one occasion, held the wobbly defenses of the Honakermen together.

Merriman has been on the team for four years and played in the Tangerine Bowl in 1946.

Not only is "Muscles" a top flight footballer, but he is also one of the best matmet on Coach Davis' wrestling team. Hersh wrestles in the 165 pound class, and is one of the most feared grunt and groan men on the squad.

Hershal, a Business Administration major, will be sorely missed by Coach Lombe Honaker. Both Honaker and Line Coach J. D. Davis agree that Merriman is the best fullback in the school's history. Coach Walter Coker of Everett High says that Merriman is the best player he has ever seen. We sure hope that Hersh makes Little All-American after his Yoeman service here at Maryville.

MARYVILLE FACES ONE OF ITS TOUGHEST FOES TONIGHT WHEN THEY TRAVEL to Anniston, Ala. to take on the Jacksonville Teachers. The Highlanders will be 16 point underdogs against the team that beat Austin Peay 20-7. The Scotties had better show some improvement over the Carson-Newman fiasco or the score may even be higher than 16 points.

The Gamecocks will employ a one-armed player against Maryville. His name is Jodie Connel, and he is a freshman from Lakeland, Fla. While playing in high school, he made the All-County, All-State, and All Southern football teams. He kicks off, kicks extra points, and plays on the offensive team for the Alabama Teachers. All in all, he is one of the best players on the Gamecock team.

THE QUESTION OF THE WEEK WAS, "WHA HOPPEN?" How did we ever lose to those guys from Carson-Newman? The answer is very simple indeed The Eagles outplayed, outrushed, outhustled, and most important, outscored the overconfident Highlanders. We should have learned about overconfidence after seeing Western Carolina in action. We were lucky that the Carson-Newman boys didn't wallop us by a worse score than they did. They had the ball on our three when the game ended. Another question, what happened to the fan spirit? It was in evidence when we had a two touchdown lead over CN, but as soon as the Eagles got back in the ballgame the fans stopped cheering. It was the last chance we had to cheer the team on, and we muffed it.

One reason for reduced fan spirit was perhaps due to the fact that we had already played and beaten CN once earlier this season. It is pretty hard to drum up spirit over a defeated opponent. Let's hope that we have no more scheduling of the same team twice in the football season. There are plenty of other opponents play without having any repeats on the schedule.

Here are some statistics on scoring. Hersh Merriman is way out front with nine touchdowns scored. Leon Berrong has five, Law four, Brahams and Miller three a piece, King Berrong two, Neff and Cvetan one apiece. As for extra points, Andes has made 14 out of 20. Neff four out of six, and Jimmy Calloway two out of three.

Just in passing, at least two teams which Maryville has played are headed for post season bowl trips. Emory & Henry, who licked Maryville 38-27, is going to the Burley Bowl. The Wasps also won the Smoky Mountain Conference Championship. Western Carolina's Catamounts (20-13 Maryville) have accepted a bid to the newly formed Smokey Mountain Bowl. Hiwassee is trying to get invited to the Little Rose Bowl in Pasadena, California. This bowl pits the two best junior college teams in the nation together. Maryville knocked off the Tigers 47 to 6 in an opening breather. Another team which should make some sort of bowl is Middle Tennessee. They have one of the best small schools in Tennessee. If they knock off T. P. I. on Thanksgiving Day they will surely get some sort of bowl bid. Maryville's chances? As they say in Flatbush, "Wait'll next year ! ! !"

Honakermen Hit Road To End '49 Grid Season

by Arnold Munn

In the last game of the year for both clubs, the Maryville College Scotties will be the guests of the Jacksonville State College Gamecocks in the Anniston Memorial Stadium tonight. It will be a charity clash, sponsored by the Anniston Quarterback Club for the benefit of the YMCA Building Fund.

This will be the initial meeting of the two clubs and is liable to feature some wide open football. Slinging quarterback Mickie Washburn will be back in the Gamecock lineup after a two week absence, and in spite of the probable loss of fullback Gordon "Big Train" Terry the Jacksonville men are expected to congest the airlines.

Gamecock Team

Jodie Connel, one armed guard, will be thrown against the Honakermen and is a "guard around" specialist. It is Davies' opinion that a lot depends upon the Maryville guards ability to break through and also the stopping of the hard charging Gamecock guards.

This encounter will be a belated respite for the Highlanders from a series of brushes with the platoon system. Jacksonville uses a substitution system similiar to Maryville, and the Scots will at least relish battling only one team.

Austin-Peay Score

In the only game to which comparable scores can be given, the Jacksonville eleven clipped Austin Peay 20-7 while the Maryville squad ("Lest We Forget") dropped to the Governors 20-14.

Jacksonville operates from the T and Notre Dame, while the Scotties will use their familiar single wing. The probable starting line for the Gamecocks averages 190 which isn't too great a margin over the Scottie tonnage. Benny Baldwin is not going to make the trip because of injuries and Bobby Neff will be seriously slowed by a pulled muscle in his side.

Last Game

The Scottie squad left yesterday at 1:00 PM. They are full of spirit for his their last game and the last collegiate game for seventeen seniors.

Jacksonville State's last game was a loss to Southeastern on a disputed penalty 20-14. Injured in the game was their ace booter Smith, and also center Nelson Williams.

Varsity Netmen, Matmen Practice

Monday, both the wrestling and basketball teams start their regular practices. Wrestlers start pointing for their December 9, encounter with the Knoxville "Y", and the basketeers for their game the same day with King College.

On The Hardwood

The prospects are good for the basketball team this year with eight of last year's nine lettermen returning. Only Brick Brahams is among the missing. These eight—Hamil, Boring, Hap Brahams, Buckley, Reynolds, Crisp, Roberts and Allen are all practicing along with some other members of last year's squad and several good prospects from the freshman class. Some of the most promising of the freshmen are: Shields, Miller, Beatty, Haylock, Downs, McMahan, DeLozier, and Schaumberg.

On The Mat

The wrestling team could have its finest year this time, with a man returning for every position, last year's third place SECAAU team could easily better its position and become one of the most feared aggregations in the South. The opening bout with Knox Y will probably give an indication of what the team will do.

Although official practice starts Monday for the matmen, several members of the team have been working regularly for several days. Football players who are wrestlers will be on hand Monday for Coach J.D. Davis as preparations for the season's wrestling gets under way.

Scotty Thin-Clads End Perfect Season

Last Saturday's 23-35 win over Sewanee on the home course ended a perfect season for Coach Ken Johnson's able cross country team. The Scots walked off with second, third, fifth, sixth, seventh, and eighth places in taking their second victory of the season from the Purple and Black. Arthur Perkins of Sewanee set a new course record of 16 minutes and 47 seconds. Tom Scott of UT held the previous record of 17:13.

Bill Menges and Del Earisman finished second third followed by George Day, Jim Thurston, Ric Rogers and John Baird who finished fifth, sixth, seventh, and eighth respectively.

Season's Work

Now for a brief summary of the season's work. On October seventh the first meet was held here at Maryville. At that time the thinlies licked a tough University of Tennessee team 20-39. Tom Scott of UT finished first with a 17:19 time, a new record —at the time—for the course. Delbert Earisman, Scot Captain, finished second.

Maryville runners ran from second to seventh to rack up a low score of 20 points and victory. It was on this meet that some of the UT lads became confused and failed to finish. How the meet might have finished if they had stayed on the course is still a matter of conjecture.

T. P. I.

The next encounter was again held on the Maryville course against a weak TPI team. Date of the meet was October 12, when the Scotties took all seven positions and walked off with a 15-50 win. Bill Menges was first with a 18:02 mark, followed by Earisman, Thurston, and Day.

On October 22 the Scots found things a little tougher when they journeyed down to Sewanee for a meet with the University of the South performers. The hill and dalers were able to win 24 to 32 even though first place was grabbed by Arthur Perkins, Sewanee ace. Perkins ran the course in 13:13 with our second man, George Day, a minute behind. The Sewanee course is only 2:8 miles long.

Cookeville

November third the Scots journeyed to Cookeville for a return match with T.P.I. Maryville again swamped the Golden Eagles by the identical score of 15-50. Earisman, Menges and Day finished one, two, three for the Johnsonmen.

Last Saturday's meet finished the season for the team. A scheduled meet with UT was cancelled because the Vols wished to run an ineligible man.

This is the second straight undefeated team that Johnson has coached. It will be remembered that last Spring his tennis team ran through an undefeated season.

Best Times

The best home time was set here by Arthur Perkins in the last meet. All in all ,the Scots garnered two firsts, five seconds, five thirds, four fourths, four fifths, five sixths, and four sevenths. Total points for the season are, Maryville, 97, Opponents 206. Like golf, the low score wins. The first seven men lettered. Bill Menges earned 44 points, the highest number. Earisman was one behind Menges with 43, George Day had 36, Jim Thurston had 30, Ric Rogers 22, John Baird and Neal Pearson 14 apiece. Ten points are necessary to letter.

Menges and Earisman were two of the best performers for the season. Menges had one first, two seconds, and two thirds. Earisman had one first, two seconds, a third and a fourth.

Coach Johnson will have the same team back next year as all the runners are underclassmen. After putting this season under their belts, the boys should have another successful year in store for them.

SOCCER

YMCA won the soccer championship Monday by defeating Loafers, 2-1. The undermanned Loafers almost upset the powerful YMCA teams applecart with their spirited play. This automatically puts the YMCA team on the Thanksgiving Day soccer program against the All-Stars.

Scotties clinched third place Tuesday by nosing out Pre-Ministerials, 1-0. The game was hard fought as the Pre-Ministerials were trying desperately for their first win.

Pre-Ministerials broke a four game losing streak by beating Highlanders, 1-0. This win moved them out of last place and dumped Highlanders into the cellar. The game was played mostly in the Pre-Ministerials territory, but Highlanders couldn't score when the chips were down.

Scotties ran all over Athenians Thursday, but could score only once to win, 1-0. This game wound up the regular soccer season.

Final Soccer Standings:

	Won	Lost	Ties
YMCA	4	0	2
Pi Lumbago	3	0	3
Scotties	4	1	1
Loafers	1	2	3
Athenians	1	3	2
Pre-Ministerials	1	4	1
Highlanders	0	4	2

GOLF

Jerry Sayres won the intramural golf crown in a two-man field. The only man who would match strokes against Sayres was Everett Zabriskie. Sayres had a 57-57 for a total of 114. Zabriskie had a 78-76 for a total of 154.

This marks the second straight year that Sayres has won this crown. Both boys will receive fifty points towards their intramural medal.

PING-PONG

Sign-up sheets are now hanging in the Student Center for intramural ping-pong tournaments. There is to be three tournaments, a men's singles, a men's doubles, and a mixed doubles.

CROSS COUNTRY

A surprise number of kibitzers turned out for the intramural cross country meet Monday. Many of the 23 men that ran had laughed at the apparent simpleness of cross country running. It turned out that half of them walked across the finish line, staggered, and fell into the arms of the waiting varsity cross country men.

Tom Kelly took first place honors with a time of 15.43 minutes for the 2.7 mile course. Dick Kerr and Jay Bright finished second and third respectively. Their times were 15.52.5 and 16.-01.5 minutes. These three boys had practiced with the cross country team.

The following boys finished the top ten: Walt English; Tasker Robinette; Paul McNiell; C. L. Hager; Preston Mulford; and Sid Lambert.

All-Star Soccer Game

Thanksgiving Day afternoon is the big day for the YMCA vs. All Star soccer game. It will be held on Wilson Field at three o'clock. The following boys were elect-

Eagles Rally, Conquer MC Highlanders, 20-12

A hard-driving and passing Carson-Newman eleven blasted Scothopes of a good season Saturday night with a 20-12 victory—coming from behind to win. In the second meeting of these teams this year, Eagle quarterback Jack Netcher proved an outstanding passer in completing eight of ten passes for 82 yards and a touchdown. C-N ended a nine-year victory with Maryville by winning.

Frosty Holt's men were being outplayed by a wide margin in the opening period when D .M. Miller was scoring Maryville's second touchdown. Just three plays earlier, Hershell Merriman, Maryville's prize back, had banged across from the two.

Carson-Newman won the toss and elected to receive, but could not gain and so kicked. Coming downfield with a sustained drive of 57 yards—covered in seven plays— Maryville's Highlanders were the first to score as Merriman plunged over the goal line for the tenth time this year. Ken Andes' kick for the point was wide.

Miller Tallies No. Two

Blondie Law then kicked off to the goal line and Baldy Cosson returned 27 yards only to lose the ball when he was tackled hard. The ball squirted from his grasp and Don Walker fell on it. In two shots, Miller went over—number one being a two-yard gain by Merriman. Leon Berrong faded back on number two and located the end between the safety and the sidelines. Straight as an arrow, his toes went to the mark. Miller cut to the left and raced untouched to the end zone—the play covering 34 yards. In what must have been a forecast of things to come, Andes' try from placement was again wide, but no one thought for the worse.

Once again C-N couldn't move the ball against the MC forward wall; the Highlanders took over on their own 32. Punching out two first downs in the process, they moved to the Eagle 11-yard stripe, where they were stopped cold. Four times, MC runs were halted, and C-N took the ball on downs on their 15.

Tide Changes

From here on, the tide of the ball game changed. Never again were the Scots able to get any closer to paydirt, nor were they to pick up yardage so easily. Fired by their goal-line stand, C-N marched to the Scot ten where they, in turn, were halted.

But Frosty Holt's eleven wasn't to be denied for they took Leon Berrong's punt and marched for their initial tally with Netcher sneaking over from the quarterback slot. Instead of kicking, Woolwine backed up and tossed to Lance for the all-important extra point.

Pushing each other around in the waning minutes of the second period, both teams looked as if they might end the ball game with the half-time score on the books as a final. Both kept up their same pace of play after the intermission until the end of the third canto.

C-N Goes Ahead To Win

With less than two mintues to go, C-N made up the six-point difference when Jennings registered a touchdown on a pass from Netcher, ending a 55-yard drive. Woolwine's kick was blocked by Capt. Davis, but C-N still led, 13-12.

Turning the game into an Alphonse and Gaston act, each team exchanged possession of the ball by intercepting one another's passes. A Bobby Neff toss back-

Varsity Debate Team Takes 20, From All Classes

Twenty varsity debate members were selected in competitive try-outs this week, Dr. Vernon M. Queener, forensic coach announced. Of the twenty, seven are freshmen, six are sophomores, three juniors, and four seniors.

Phi Kappa Delta debate topic for the current season is as follows: "Resolved: That the United States should nationalize all basic, non-agricultural industries."

Team members, by classes, are as follows:

Freshmen—Bill Caldwell, Maryville; George Queener, Maryville; Ruth Reeves, Atlanta; Dan Thamisch, Great Notch, N. J.; Ginger Tufvander, Coffeeville, Miss.; and Bob Worthington, Clinton.

Sophomores— Robert Cuthill, Buffalo, N. Y.; Tom Kelly, Morris Plains, N. J.; Thomas Kennedy, Covington, Ky.; Carolyn Miller, Monmouth, Ill.; Bill Shields, Maryville, and Newell Witherspoon, Chattanooga;

Juniors— Carol Corbett, Jacksonville, Fla.; Lewis Evans, Binghampton, N. Y.; and Elenor Kramer, Maryville;

Seniors—Roger Cowan, Woodbury Heights, N. J.; Carl Lindsey, Honesdale, Pa.; Eric Meadows, Beaver, Pa.; and Dot Stater, Trenton, Mich.

Approximately thirty students participated in the debate tryouts.

fired, though, and was turned into the final score. Jennings intercepted on the 30 and went 39 yards down the middle until he was pulled down from behind on the MC 31.

That was the start of a 70-yard drive that brought the Eagles their seventh win in the 46-year-old series. Jennings and Caldwell built up the drive with another Netcher pass in between to drive the Eagle across with Jenning's in the hero's or villian's seat. This time Woolwine's kick was good and it hurt doubly because it meant the Scots would have to score twice in order to overcome the deficit.

C-N Line Tough

Maryville found the C-N line virtually impregnable in the last half as the hard-charging Eagle linemen limited the Maryville ground attack to a net total of 15 yards in that half. The waning minutes were no exception as C-N intercepted a Callaway pass and drove to the three before the final whistle ended the unhappy contest. MC had been defeated but twice in the last four years on home ground and the game's outcome could be sensed in the facial expressions of each team's partisans.

Merriman Shines

Only bright spots in the MC game were Hershell Merriman's continued fine play on offense and defense, Hersh making nearly half the tackles in the last half. Maryville's secondary was consistently outfaked in the game with Netcher having no trouble in completing his passes to the flat. It was a sad day for the Scottie.

Captain of the All-Star team will be Ken Yunkers. Bill Menges will be co-captain.

FENCING

Earl Shellkopf has organized an intramural fencing team. Men with experience and those who would like to learn are invited to attend the meeting on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons at Bartlett auditorium at 3:30. Plans are being pushed to have three or four teams with approximately four men on each.

BASKETBALL

Intramural basketball season opens Monday afternoon at 3:35 in Bartlett gym with the largest league in its history.

The following rules will apply: All games will end at time specified. No game will go over time limit. Each team has five minutes to appear after time schedules or will forfeit.

If both teams appear late, they will play a short game. If both teams fail to appear at any time, they will be counted as a double loss.

Any captain desiring to have an illegal player on his team for a game must get permission from an opposing captain. If no permission is granted and the game is played, the opposing team can protest and cause a forfeit. If the captain of the opposing team grants permission, the player may be used for that game only.

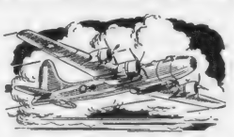
Major Norm Hays, Oklahoma A&M, '40 -Aviation Executive, U.S. Air Force!

A native of Grove, Oklahoma, Norman Hays graduated from Grove High School in 1935. The following year he entered Oklahoma A&M, where he majored in engineering; also took public speaking.



Active in national 4H Club work while in college, he helped organize its statewide activities, won a national 4H championship in Public Speaking. In 1940 he received his BS degree in engineering.

A month later he began navigator training as an Aviation Cadet. In 1941, he received his navigator's wings and a commission as Second Lieutenant . . . married his college sweetheart.

Sent to an RAF Navigation School in Canada, he graduated with the highest possible rating of Specialist. Norman served overseas for 18 months in the Aleutians, Italy and Saipan.

Accepting a regular commission after the war, he was assigned to development of navigation instruments; navigated the B-29 "Pacusan Dreamboat" on its famed Hawaii-Cairo non-stop flight in 1946.

Typical of college graduates who have found their place in the U. S. Air Force, Major Hays is Chief, Navigation Section, at Headquarters in Washington . . . with a secure career . . . a promising future.

If you are single, between the ages of 20 and 26½, with at least two years of college, consider a flying career as an officer in the U. S. Air Force. You may be able to meet the high physical and moral requirements and be selected for training. If you do not complete Aviation Cadet training, you may return to civilian life or have opportunity to train for an important officer assignment in non-flying fields.

Air Force officer procurement teams are visiting many colleges and universities to explain about these career opportunities. Watch for their arrival or get full details at your nearest Air Force Base, local recruiting station, or by writing to the Chief of Staff, U. S. Air Force, Attention: Aviation Cadet Branch, Washington 25, D. C.

MC's 37 Piece Symphony Orchestra Gives Concert Performance Tonight

W. Curtis Hughes will conduct MC's Symphony Orchestra, in the first concert of the year tonight in Alumni Gym, at 8 p. m.

The Roman Carnival Overture by Hector Berlioz, a gay, festive piece, is to be the first number played. One of the better known symphonies of Wolfgang Mozart, Symphony No. 40 in G Minor, will follow.

Closing the program is the Concerto number 2 in D Minor by Edward Mac Dowell which features Ruth Helen Bird, a senior piano major from Greenville, Tenn., as soloist. According to Hughes this is one of the better known and most beautiful of all romantic concertos.

The orchestra consists of 37 members who have been practicing together since the first of the year.

News Capsules—

By Ruth Davis

The Virginian

John L. Lewis—the name on the lips of the laboring of would-be-laboring peoples of the U. S. with both unfavorable and indifferent comments. Most of the laboring class, despite all their suffering, still hold the great John L. as their king. Most are confused and bewildered about him.

One West Virginia coaler stated in his own back-woods dialect: "That John, he be the greatest man of the 20th century, but . . . . we'uns can't figure him out this time. . . .I think John be a thinkin' o'hisself."

Stranger Than Faction

The Republican Party is worried agin. But this time it is different, the democrats are worried, too—about the Republicans! Election returns showed in several instances that the Grand Old Party's Rock of Gibralter—Republican strongsholds—had fallen into the hands of the invading Democrats. Said National Chairman Bill Boyle: "I earnestly pray that these figures will persuade the Republican Party that it must deevlop a program of its own if it wishes to preserve not only its own political party but the two-party system."

It Takes A Thief . . .

It just goes to prove that a little knowledge is a bad thing, especially in the case of a prisoner in Ohio Penitentiary. Tried first in 1947 by a jury which could not reach a verdict, Cecil Yankey pleaded guilty to the crowbar murder of Leroy Woodland. For the next two and a half years in the penitentiary he studied law in his spare time. Yankey at last appealed for a new trial, using some of the legal knowledge he had gained. He won a new trial with a jury verdict: "Guilty"—with no recommendation of mercy.

Beauty in The Rough

Montreal is at it again! It seems that just as one nude statue disappears, another takes its place to horrify its citizens. The latest is called "Family Group" by its sculptor, Robert Roussil. The first one that caused such a commotion was a plaster cast of the "Discobolus" in 1898. After it was banished, Novelist Samuel Butler wrote a sitirical ode to the city:

"Beauty crieth in an attic and no man regardeth.

O God, O Montreal."

NEW BANQUET RULES ARE NOW EFFECTIVE

New banquet rules covering the organizations on campus as drawn up by a special Student-Faculty Committee and passed by groups concerned. Notification was given this week of the following rules which go into effect immediately:

1. Attendance is not compulsory;
2. Expenses will not be a part of dues;
3. Following service organizations will be allowed to have one banquet a year:
   Vesper Choir; Theta Alpha Phi; Pi Kappa Kelta; The Highland Echo; Ministerial Association; the four societies;
4. It is recommended that arrangements for banquets be cleared through Miss Massey's office and expenses be kept to a minimum.

Classes Register For New Semester Until December 15

In a bulletin issued this past week, the Personnel Office gave instructions for second semester registration. The registration for the second semester by all students now in attendance is required before the close of the first semester.

Registration schedules are as follows:

Seniors this past week, at the Personnel Office.

Juniors will register November 29 to December 1 at the Personnel Office with the late registration fee charged after December 1.

Sophomores will register December 6-8 at the Personnel Office with the late registration fee charged aftre December 8.

Freshmen will register December 13-17 at the Personnel Office with the late registration fee charged after December 15.

Freshmen schedules will usually be a continuation of the first semester schedules. Necessary changes will be made at the time of registration. Schedule cards are avilable at the Personnel Office December 13-15.

The regular day for schedule changes in schedules after registration will be Friday, January 13.

Any student who will change classification at mid-year should register within the period designated for the class in which he will be next semester.

The late registration fee of $2.50 will be charged for those students now in attendance who do not register within the designated period.

THANKSGIVING YWCA THEME

YWCA will meet Sunday in the Y Rooms at 1:30. Thanksgiving Ideals is to be the theme of the program.

Dining Hall Serves 712 Hungry Students Daily

By Phyllis Jackson

Bells ringing, books flying, and people running—such is the scene at noon each day when MC students make for Pearsons on the double. Three times a day resident students stream, 712 strong, through the doors into the dining hall.

College students are noted for their appetites and Maryville students are no exception. They consume several tons of food in one school semester. Take, for example, a typical meal when 352 pounds of dressed chicken are used to make chicken a la king. Along with this the dining hall crowd downs seven bushels of potatoes, 85 loaves of bread, and 180 quarts of milk. For dessert they eat 62 dozen do-nuts.

Food supplies come from the Knoxville warehouses of such well-known companies as Swift, Armour, Kraft, Heinz, and National Biscuit. Milk comes from Pet Milk Company while Southern Dairies supply the ice cream.

From Mass. to Calif.

Kitchen help who prepare the food consists of five men and one woman. John, a favorite among students, has been with the college as a cook for 22 years. His sister, Agnes, has been here for 20 years. Food is served by 89 waiters and waitresses who come from Massachusetts to California. If you think you've done a few dishes in your day, listen to this. They wash over two thousand dishes each meal, not counting glasses and silverware.

Miss Margaret Suzanna Ware, college dietitian, has been with the college for 15 years. Each day finds her making arrangements for the following days' breakfasts, lunches, and suppers. She has the entire responsibility of not only the dining hall which includes managing the waiters and waitresses as well as the students and keeping the hall attractive, but also complete charge of the kitchen. In all it's no small job. Miss Ware received her education at Asheville Normal School and New York University.

The dining hall is as vital a part of Maryville's campus life as is the sound of Anderson's bell. There students get not only physical refreshment but also friendly fellowship. No one forgets the experience of having his birthday remembered by his table or being ment by the entire dining hall. There also the "Sweetheart Serenade" fills the air when a couple's secret is out. The dining hall becomes home at Thanksgiving time when dinner with all the trimmings is served. A contest is held for the best table decoration at that time.

So whether you've got lots to say about the way the hall is run or whether you're too busy eating to say anything, you'll all agree that "Pearsons is the place for me."

At Barnwarming—

King Bob, Queen Alice Reign

Vols View Missions, Aid Grad in Chile

Lois Johanson will discuss missionaries that pioneered in foreign countries at Student Vols Sunday at 8 p. m. She will tell of their problems and work in learning the languages and translating the Bible into them.

Last Sunday evening, Rev. D. L. Engelhardt presented the Student Volunteer project for the year. Vols will help Rev. and Mrs. Paul Evaul, missionaries in the mountainous mining region of Chile.

Rev. Evaul graduated from Maryville in 1941, and his wife in 1939. He took his seminary work in San Anselmo, California, and then returned to Maryville to take charge of Sunnybrook, Home Ave. nue, and Houston Memorial Chapels. Houston Memorial has since become a church. While here, Rev. Mr. Evaul also coached the wrestling team.

The project will include financial and material help. The needs of Rev. Evaul will be presented at Vol meetings as they are learned through correspondence.

FACULTY RECITAL PLANNED

The second faculty recital will be given next semester on February 24. The music will be by composers of the classic period.

Alumni Gymnasium Scene of Show 'County Fair' For WSSF Benefit

Alice Davenport and Bob Boring reigned over the "County Fair," Maryville College's 1949 Barnwarming, Thursday night in Alumni Gymnasium.

The King and Queen were elected by Student Body. Miss Davenport is a sociology major from Marietta, Ga. Boring, physical education major, is from Friendsville.

Members of the court were elected by their various classes. Hilda Roberts, dresed in red, was sponsor of senior class. Miss Roberts from Marianna, Fla., is a home economics major.

Junior class sponsor was Judy Breen who wore a green dress. Miss Breen is an English major from West Palm Beach, Fla.

Frances Moore, an English major from Chattham, N. J., was sophomore sponsor. Miss Moore wore a blue evening dress.

Entertainment began at 7 p.m. by visiting the fair booths which had fortune telling, fishing well, exhibition, livestock, ring toss, musical cake, candy, and refreshments.

At 8 p.m. the main show began by Ben Paxton announcing the 1949 Barnwarming Court. The program, composed of song and dancing, began with "Come to the Fair" and closed with the musical "There Is No Business Like Show Business."

Tickets for Barnwarming were 40 cents. All proceeds go to WSSF which helps students abroad with food, clothing, medical aid, housing, and books.

Students Lead Church Schools

College students who will lead the devotional services in the various Maryville churches Sunday are as follows:

Broadway Methodist will have Clarence Reaser as leader and Conrad Eaddy will furnish special music.

Maurice Moore, a student from Emory and Henry College, will lead the opening worship service at the First Methodist Church.

St. Andrew's Sunday School's opening service will be led by George Wood.

Peggy Williams is in charge for First Baptist's class, while Webster Fue is class president at New Providence.

THANKSGIVING SERVICE

The Annual Union Thanksgiving Service was held in the First Methodist Church with the Rev Mark M. Moore, pastor of the Broadway Methodist Church, delivering the message. The ministers of all the churches participated in the program.

SUNRISE SERVICE

A very impressive talk on "The Fields Are White Unto Harvest" was given by George Day at the annual Thanksgiving Sunrise Service held at the Baptist Church Thursday.

Special music was furnished by Conrad Eaddy who sang "Thanks Be to God" and Charles and Wally Schroeder who sang "When They Ring Those Golden Bells."

The entire program consisted of MC students with Peggy Williams at the organ and Bill Varker as chorister.

Miss Johnson, Bill Starr To Read At Workshop

Dr. Edwin R. Hunter and Art Santmier read at Writers' Workshop last Wednesday. Dr. Hunter read "My Grandfather's Speech" which was criticized by Craig Fisher, and Art Santmier read a collection of poems entitled "Night Thought", criticized by Instructor Caroline Blair.

Next week's readers will be Assistant Professor Jessie K. Johnson whose critic is Bill Starr, and Marian McBride with Charles Williams criticizing.

Peggy Cummings Leads All-Campus Prayer Group

Peggy Cummings will lead All-Campus Prayer Meeting next Thursday in the Y rooms at 9:30. Lincoln Shimomura will speak the following week.

No prayer meeting was held this week because of Thanksgiving holiday.

Concert For January 20 Will Mark Resumption Of MC's Artist Series

Appearance of Earl Spicer, baritone, on January 20, 1950, in Alumni Gym will mark the reestablishment of the Artist Series, Chairman Dorothy Horne announced this week. This year's YWCA and YMCA sponsored series will be the first since April, 1947 and is under the direction of a student-faculty committee.

Howard Thomas, art lecturer, will be on campus for the second of the three programs, March 2 and 3. University of Alabama String Quartet will make an appearance the last week of March.

Earl Spicer has been guest soloist with leading symphony orchestras both here and in England. For three years he was featured vocalist on the Fuller Brush Program over NBC with Donald Vorhees' orchestra. He is now making concert appearances in colleges and universities. Traditional ballads, songs from Shakespeare and Gilbert and Sullivan are his specialization.

Art Included

Howard Thomas is professor of art at the University of Georgia. Before excepting that position, he was Director of the Art Department at Milwaukee State Teachers College and reorganized the art department of Agnes Scott College. He was awarded the Milwaukee Art Institute medal for his oil "Haymarket Square" in 1936 and received first prices for water colors again in 1938 and 1941. His work has been exhibited in many Eastern Art Galleries.

Thomas will be on campus for two days holding demonstrations and private talks. A formal lecture will culminate his visit.

University of Alabama String Quartet is under the leadership of Ottokar Cadek, who is a former member of the New York String Quartet and former head of the violin department at the National Music Camp at Interlochen, Michigan. Cadek is now head of the string department at the University of Alabama.

Fire Stopped Series

The chapel fire was the immediate cause of discontinuance of Artist Series. Until a suitable auditorium is available, the series will be smaller and more modest than they have been in the past.

Former celebrated artists who visited the campus are Helen Jepson, soprano, Josef Hoffman, pianist, Alexander Kipnis, bass, and the Trapp Family Choir.

"For the first time," said Miss Horne, "something besides music is being presented. In the future, we hope to expand and broaden the series to include every aspect of fine arts."

Social Board Sets Dance on Saturday

"Winter Wonderland" will be the theme of the annual fall dance sponsored by Social Board which will be held on next Saturday, at 8 p. m. in the Alumni Gymnasium. Carol Mitchell is planning the music.

As stated in the regulations governing campus dancing, the dance will be informal. Men will wear coats and ties while women will dress semi-formally. Rules say no to corsages, programs, admission charge, and tuxedos. Attendance may be either with or without an escort.

Refreshments are being planned by Jean Anderson and Frances Moore is arranging decorations.

Anyone wishing to bring a date who is not from the college must secure approval from the Dean of Women.

Church Magazine Names Maid Shop

The news of Youth section of current "Presbyterian Life," official publication of the Presbyterian Church USA, includes an article on Maryville's world-famous College Maid Shop.

Entitled "College Students Establish National Business," the story reviews the history of the shop and explains its purpose. It points out that the girls who work there earn part of their college expenses in making choir robes and nurses uniforms which have become internationally known.

Present shop director is Mrs. L. L. Williams.

Police Chief Lectures To Criminology Class

Maryville's assistant chief of police, James R. Beeler, lectured Tuesday morning to Dr. Ralph T. Case's class in criminology.

Chief Beeler, a graduate of the Federal Bureau of Investigation Academy, gave a brief history of criminal investigation and identification as it has progressed in foreign countries and the United States.

The talk concerned fingerprinting and the process by which suspects are identified through their fingerprints. Beeler displayed two complete sets of fingerprinting equipment, two cameras and photo equipment and a post mortem kit.

World Students And You

As you watched Barnwarming festivities on Thursday night you probably didn't think much about the fact that your admission fee went to the World Student Service Fund. Or, if you did, it probably struck you as just another fund.

To some maybe it is just a fund but to the recipients it is the only means whereby they can get the college education we may so thoughtlessly take for granted. Somehow it seems fitting that a Thanksgiving show should benefit such a cause, for high on the collegiate's list of things to be thankful for should be his educational opportunity.

WSSF gives American students and professors a chance to help insure an education for students abroad. Provisions for medical aid, books, clothing, housing, and food are made by this fund. You help the building and reconstruction of universities wrecked by war when you give to WSSF.

The more thought one gives to the fact that he is privileged in getting a college education the more determinedly he will strive toward that end.

—P.A.J.

Between Us

"What is going to be in The Echo this week?" one student asks as another chimes in, "Yea, what's going in the rag this time?" Some such comment is often addressed at an Echo staff member during a week.

However disdainfully put, the interest is gratifying. But the point is this: what goes into The Echo that is newsworthy depends on what students and organization heads cooperate in advance in giving staff members for publication.

The Echo (with some twenty reporters) trys to cover the whole campus weekly for what is of interest to the student body at large. The extent of our success, however is dependant on the response we have in seeking informaion.

Next time ask: What about such and such going into The Echo this week?

Your co-operation counts.

To Those Behind The Lights

"My, didn't she portray her part well," or "Wasn't the leading character excellent?" are comments often heard after productions which we put on as a college group. These statements are true. Praise should be given ot those who have had outstanding leads, but in all the excitement in passing out compliments we should not forget those who did their part behind the scenes. The boys who spent nights perfecting lighting effects, students who spent many afternons sweating in attics working on scenery, and artistic people who spent many hours working on posters and thinking up various methods of publicity, all too often become the forgotten students on our campus.

Next time read twice the names of those usually found on the back page of the printed program under a list of committees. Remember that some of them have spent as many, if not more, hours as those who appeared in the limelight and that without them the production could not have been given.

—E.K.

Great Scot !

In a Little Red School House

"A college education," said William Bryan of Indiana U., "is one of the things a person is willing to pay for and not get." When we first read this, we were indignant; but with recent actions of MC students coming to the fore, we are beginning to wonder . . . .

When Mrs. Pieper asked her sociology class "What is the good of education?", Elenor Kramer was heard to mutter: "That's what I want to know!"

And then we have the time a few days ago that Miss Johnson was drilling her freshman English class on prefixes. You know, post, a prefix, meaning "after" as in postmortem . . . postdate . . . postscript . . . . and "Post Toasties," added Hayden Bryant from the back of the room.

* * * * *

I Didn't Know . . .

We hear at times a little ripple of conversation about many MC Rules and Regulations. Our answer to this is— be glad you're at Maryville, as the song approximately goes.

For example, if you were in Winchester, Mass. at the present time, you absolutely could not dance on a tightrope, except in a church. Nope, it's illegal. Yet nowhere in the M Book do you find any restricting clause preventing you from tightroping any time you feel that old urge.

A North Carolina statute prohibits the use of elephants for plowing a field; and in California it's a misdemeanor to shoot any kind of animal from an automobile or airplane—except a whale, that is. We females at MC however, stand firmly behind Indiana when it says "A moustache is a known carrier of germs, and a man cannot wear one if he habitually kisses human beings." Hear that now?

We're quoting these laws so that you may never be hauled into court for violation of one of them. So watch your step. But in case you've lost faith in the ultimate goodness of mankind, here's a reassuring law from New Yawk which prohibits the arrest of a dead man for debt.

* * * * *

Mother, May I Take a Swim?

Dr. Briggs beloved head of the Education and Psychology departments, didn't ask permission last week—he just dived over the side of the boat into Loudon Lake while on a fishing trip. He says the —boat came out from under him, and however that may be, he found the water very chilly. Ask him how he enjoys fishing from the bank while his clothes are drying on the proverbial hickory limb. We understand that the next time the good professor went to fish for bass, Mrs. Briggs went along to fish for her husband.

* * * * *

A Fish Story

Then we have Dr. Williams, famous contemporary of Dr. Briggs. Dr. Williams has placed a sign on the door of his biology lab which reads more or less like this: " Notice—please keep this lab open till 5:30 on Tuesdays for make-up" After all, this takes time, you know.

* * * * *

Oh, Henry!

All good stories, it seems, have three parts—Introductio (or beginning), Action, or middle), and Conclusion (or end). For the education of our readers—if there's any left by now—we have divided this story into the three parts so you may better follow the plot.

Louise Lloyd (introduction) upon returning very late from a visit to Atlanta, crept up to her Pearsons room, being careful not to wake any of the sleeping dormites. However, she couldn't supress an exclaimation of surprise at finding all three beds in her room occupied.

"Are Happy and Janet having company?" (action) she wondered. By the feeble gleam of a tiny flashlight borrowed from the room across the hall, she detected a dark head burrowing in her pillow. Louise fled across to her parent's home, and there spent the rest of the night.

But becoming braver by daylight, she went up to her room next morning and found the dark head in her bed belonged to her teddybear! (conclusion)

Personality, For a Change

Carol Corbett objects to being used as an example so much. For instance in the history of philosophy class, Mrs. Swenson was talking about personalities — unchanging personalities, that is. "For example take Miss Corbett," she explained. "She is Miss Corbett now, and she will always be Miss Corbett." To which the startled and shocked "Miss" Corbett replied, "My goodness, I hope not!"

Talk of The Week

BY ALAN FORT

Voices, Masks, and Shadows

We realize that Maryville's Capitol Theater is not Radio City Music Hall. We understand the problems and difficulties of a comparatively small theater in a comparatively small town. But in spite of all our understanding, we simply do not see why the Capitol insists on turning itself into a dude ranch on Town Night—the only time most MC'ers get to attend what we're tempted to call here the illegitimate stage.

Dragged out from somewhere for next Monday and Tuesday is "The Walking Hills," a western of no originality, inspiration, talent, or appeal—except, perhaps, to the most faithful of the horse opera cult. The only advantage to it all we can see is Ella Rains. And attired in uninspiring cowboy gear, even she loses her appeal.

If there happen to be any who missed one of the 3,213 Broadway performances of "Life With Father" (which is, incidentally, an all-time Gay White Way record) don't pass up the Hollywood version at the Capitol on Wednesday and Thursday.

William Powell and Irene Dunn are tops as Father and Mother Day of Clarence Jr.'s immortal essays. Technicolor accenting the plush '80's, Father is colorful in surroundings as well as personality.

It is treated with all the care and resepct due the biggest hit in the history of the stage. See it if you can; and if you can't ask the management why it does not have a good picture on Tuesday night—just once to break the monotony.

MASKS

Knoxville Journal drama critic Malcolm Miller had good things to say about the Maryville Playhouse production of "Laura" last week. The approval of Knoxville's own Brooks Atkinson is not necessarily accredited publicity, but this time columnist Miller happened to be right; "Laura" was good.

He said the stage set indicated "considerable ingenuity and artistry." "Cowan," he went on to say, "gave a smooth, disarming, sinister performance" and Beverly Moore was "sinuous and graceful."

The only discrepency Miller could find was the varied pronunciation of detective Mark McPherson's family name. If slight errors of this type are the only criticism of a professional judge, the Playhouse has certainly made an excellent beginning, and gives promise of a successful future for campus dramatic productions.

THE BOOKSHELF

New in the library this week are several books which look better than average. Especially valuable seems "An American Jew Speaks" by G. George Fox. In his introduction, the author says his book serves as a "basis for a just evaluation of the slander one hears, as well as to convey a general knowledge regarding our Jewish fellow-citizens."

Despite the largeness of the order, Fox does just that—and in a brief and readable way. "An American Jew Speaks" is required reading for anyone who wants to develop a real understanding for his fellows.

Also on the new book list are "Reason In the Art of Living," James Pratt; "Jesus Then and Now," Willard Sperry; "Religious Art," Emile Male; "Trouble Spots In Taxation," Harold Groves; "Symphonies of Mozart," Georges de Saint-Foix; and "Personality in Nature, Society, and Culture," edited by Kluckholm and Murray.

VOICES

A crowded vesper service last week was evidence of MC's appreciation of the Knoxville College choir and its director, Newell Coleridge Fitzpartick. Especially godo was soloist Frederick Breedlove, the best tenor Maryville has heard in a long time.

President Ralph Lloyd Weekends in Pittsburgh

Dr. Ralph W. Lloyd is in Pittsburgh, Pa., this weekend. Tomorrow he will deliver the morning sermon in Edgewood Presbyterian Church, where he held a pastorate until 1930, when he came to Maryville College.

EXCHANGES . . . .

Now that classes are well under way and teachers have started giving quizes, here is an item that every student should read. The University of Akron's publication used this article under the title "Rules on How to Stay in College."

1—"Bring the professor newspaper clipping dealing with his subject. If you can't find clippings dealing with his subject, bring in any clippings at all. He thinks everything deals with his subject.

2—"Look alert. Take notes eagerly. If you look at your watch, don't stare at it unbelievingly and shake it.

3—"Nod frequently and murmur 'how true, how true.' To you, this seems exaggerated. To him, its quite objective.

4—"Laugh at his jokes. You CAN tell. If he looks up from his notes and smiles expectantly, he has told a joke.

5—"Ask for outside readings. You don't have to read it, just ask.

6—"If you must sleep, arrange to be called at the end of the hour. It creates an unfavorable impression if the rest of the class has left and you sit there dozing.

7—"As for working during the year, the question is highly controversial, so this is left up to the individual!"

Here are a few Collegiate Quotes selected from various campus papers:

"Legend: a lie that has attained the dignity of age."

"A pinch of salt is greatly improved by dropping it into a stein of beer."

"About the only thing that can lay down on the job and get results is a hen."

A columnist on the Central Michigan College paper came up with a new idea. "I suggest that a course called the 'practical use of crutches in everyday life' be incorporated in Personnel 101, because you never can tell when it will be your turn. Also, it would add a certain aesthetic 'money's worth' quality to the course."

QUESTIONS OF THE WEEK— "Where was the officiating last Saturday night?" Many a Scot supporter found himself asking this question after turning off his radio or leaving the game in Anniston, as the case may be. Maryville was nabbed three times for having backfield men in motion, but the one that really hurt was a five-yard setback for a supposedly-illegal formation. From the press box, it looked to us as though the formation, a spread, was all right. The Scots shifted into Coach Honaker's version of the spread and picked up eight vital yards. But, tweet, the whistle blew, and the referee paced off five. When Captain Davis cornered said official later and asked why the play was illegal (it had been run before for a sizeable gain), said man in stripes came forth with the statement that quarterback King Berrong was out of position and in motion (?). Sometime later, in a belated attempt to register a final period touchdown, Leon Berrong seemingly carried over but the official ruled that he had stepped over the sidelines on the two. Previous to that, D. M. Miller had fumbled when tackled after snagging an Allen-pass with Ray Hosey recovering in the end zone. This time, the whistle had already blown.

QUESTION NUMBER TWO, "Why didn't they give Merriman the ball when they were on the one?" Knocking on the doors of what would have been a great comeback to victory, the Highlanders failed to score when the ball was resting on the one. In a great tribute to "Stumpy," Carnegie students, despite blinking lights, were hollering for Merriman to take it over. Leon Berrong had gone out of bounds on the two—losing a yard—and Hershel had bucked to the two-foot line. Then Leon was elected to try end and was thrown for another loss. This is where speculation enters the situation. The Gamecocks, expecting a plunge through the middle, had lined up in an 8-3 defense preparatory to the snap. If Berrong had received the blocking Allen had had on his 42-yard jaunt along with Merriman's protection on his 3-yard slicer, he might have gone over; not a question would have been raised, but praises would have risen for a smart quarterbacking job. Only Fate knows what would have happened had Merriman taken the ball on a smash. Fans must remember that many a question was running through Coach Honaker's and King Berrong's minds when the situation turned up. He did what he thought was best under the circumstances and that's all there was to it!

AS THIS CORNER sees it, Jacksonville didn't have an outstanding team but took the ball along with a couple of breaks to score. We are very much afraid that had the Gamecocks been forced to play Carson-Newman, they would have lost track of the ball amidst the razzle-dazzle of Frosty Holt's T. They scored thrice, though, on good drives and one has to give them credit for holding on the one, officials or no.

THUS, FOOTBALL COMES TO A CLOSE with Maryville having its ups and downs. The highest up coming against Western Carolina and the lowest against C-N. Next year's outlook isn't too bright, but perhaps things will take a turn for the better.

ONCE AGAIN, that pillar of truth, the Knoxville Journal has doped off and said that Tom Scott holds the records at Maryville and sundry other cross-country courses. T'would be very nasty to tell Scott and the Journal that Albert Perkins has beaten Scott's time by 16 seconds. Incidentally, UT's mighty team (of graduates) won the SEC championship Monday by some ten points over their nearest competitor, Georgia Tech. So, Maryville must have a pretty good team after all, Huh?

Gamecocks Hold In Last Quarter To Beat Scots

Officials Calling Poor In Hard-Fought Game

Maryville Scottie hopes which rose to an all time high with WNC seemed to be in for a new face lifting against Jacksonville State Teachers in Anniston, Alabama, but the Gamecocks held at an important time to win, 20-14. With only one yard separating them from the tying touchdown and perhaps the winning score, Maryville's Highlanders were frustrated when Coach Don Salls game team stiffened and held to knock the props from under the Scot ship of state.

Trailing by what turned out to be the final score, Coach Honaker's eleven had advanced to the one in their chance of a lifetime to really finish the season in glory.

Other Team Fumbles

For the first time in many a game, the other team had fumbled and the Scots had recovered and capitalized on the breaks. Jacksonville had begun early in the game to make what might soon turn into a rout. Maryville bounced back, though, right before the end of the half by making a break to go ahead, 14-13.

Soon after the halftime period was over, the Gamecocks showed that they meant business and registered another score to put them in the lead. From there on, the way Maryville was playing, it seemed to be just a question of time before the Highlanders would count, being inside the Gamecock three times in the last priod. But the Alabamans rose to the occassion and smothered all Scot attempts to light the fire.

Jax Draws First Blood

Both teams began the game in a manner reminiscent of finding the capabilities of the other as they crossed the midfield stripes but didn't go any further. Not content to do just this, Jacksonville began playing rough and made the first drive which had any potency. This was the one that hurt. Beginning on their 11, the Alabama eleven ground out eight successive first downs to score, with John Williams shooting over. Aiding greatly in the drive were a pass from Terry Hodges to Roberts which was good for 21 yards and runs by the former drum major, Hodges. Jody Connell came in and the one-armed guard split the uprights to make it 7-0.

Maryville received the kickoff and could do no good with the ball. Leon Berrong aimed for the sidelines, but his kick angled too much and went out of bounds after only 13-yards.

Hodges again was the workhorse and he danced around end for 11 yards to make it 13_0, sendging a 44-yard drive. Connell's kick from placement was wide.

Berrong Stomped

Conell then kicked off to Leon Berrong who returned 17 yards only to meet a swarm of tacklers who hit him. When the dust had cleared from the field, Berrong was found hurt and was taken from the game, returning only in an attempt to put the ball over in the fateful fourth. The lack of blocking on the play must have been a forecast of what was to come when the Scot backs found themselves later without interference.

Allen Goes All The Way

Showing then its first signs of life, the Scots woke up and Merriman and Allen cooperated to take it to the 42. Callaway crossed up the league with a 12-yard quarterback sneak. Pulling off the unexpected once again, a T-play was called. Callaway took the snap, faked a handoff, and pitched to Allen scurrying for end. Behind excellent downfield blocking, Charlie turned on the steam and sped 42 yards for the counter. Andes came in and placed the kick between the posts.

Happy Hits Hard

On the kickoff, Wynn didn't have a chance when Merriman hit him. He folded up like an accordion and the ball squirted from his grasp. Clarence Shepard fell on the pigskin on the 20. Merriman and Allen alternated on toting the ball and moved it down to the four. Merriman then swept to his right and spun into the end zone. Kicking the point that put the Scots ahead was Andes.

All-Star vs. YMCA

It looks as if Coach Davis has lost a promising matman, for this year at least. Scrappy All-Star Willie Morse was the first and last intramural soccer player to be seriously hurt this year. It was one of those unprecedented happenings that occur late in the third quarter. His leg evidently hit another players leg as both charged the ball and somehow it snapped.

He was rushed to Blount Memorial Hospital where his leg was set in a cast. He is expected to be moved to the infirmary by Saturday. We know he likes company, so let's see you all there during visiting hours.

The game started out in a beautiful fashion. From the starting whistle action was fast and furious. Both teams were well matched. All-Stars took off to a fast 2-0 lead in the first quarter, thanks to the Menges brothers.

First co-captain Bill Menges scored a long one from the left side of the goal. A few minutes later Walt Menges kicked in another point. In the second quarter Bill Springfield put YMCA back into the game by kicking the first YMCA point. The half ended 2-1.

The third quarter saw much sea-sawing and no scoring. Willie's accident broke up the game with a draw being called.

BASKETBALL

Intramural basketball season opened Monday with the largest loop on record. Twenty teams are participating this year.

There is to be a meeting Tuesday at one o'clock in Bartlett gym for all league players. Rules will be the subject of this meeting and all are urged to attend.

The basketball round-up:

Monday: Minnies and PB's started the season off by engaging in an extra long game. It went two overtime periods and then a sudden death period before Ken Newell broke the ice by sinking a foul shot. Final score was 21-20.

Schlops took a 22-12 win from Athenian A's. Frank Farmer led Rabies to a win over Kikes by a 27-17 count in a rough and tumble affair.

Grapplers And Cagers Start Practice Sessions

Maryville's winter sports will go into action in the next few weeks with basketball and wrestling. Coaches Davis and Honaker have released rosters of the teams.

Coach Honaker's basketballers will be sporting some of the best talent in years with 14 men back from last year's varsity and B teams.

BASKETBALL

Team men who have been working out for the past few weeks are Hugh Hamil, George Handley, Gene Reynolds, Jim Lillard, Jack Buckley, Charlie Roberts, Vernon Hyde, L. A. Campbell, Galynn Johnson, Meano Shields, B .R. Crisp, Stanley Downs, Buster Haylock, Beatty, Hugh DeLozier, Wesley Miles, Ralph Thiesse, Miller, Buz Cardozo, and Bill Stinnett.

Since the completion of football season, Bob Boring, Charlie Allen, Hap Brahams, Leon Berrong, Bill Gibson, Clarence Shepard, McMahan, John Schaumberg, J. Campbell, and Gene Upton have joined the squad. The practive sessions which were under Coach Johnson's tutelage for the first few weeks have now been turned over to Coach Honaker.

WRESTLING

While several grapplers from football are enjoying a week of leisure in re-adjusting themselves to civilian life, the following group of men are being put Don Benton, Paul McNiell, J. D. Davis: Chesley Anderson, Clyde McCampbell, Dick Black, James Marvin, Don McDonald, Don Benton, Paul McNniell, J. A. Cameron, Dean Risher, Curtis Willbanks, and Robert Niell.

MORSE OUT

Bill Morse, who was expected to make a battle of it with Jim Marvin for the 121-pound class, broke his leg in an intramural soccer game and will be out for the rest of the season.

FOOTBALL STATISTICS

With the exception of the Emory and Henry fray, statistics show that Bobby Neff came out on top of the pile in the total ground-gaining contest with 446 yeards—256 on the ground and 190 more through the air from 11 completions in 36 attempts. Leon Berrong finished second with 387 three-footers—adding 149 yards in passing to 238 gained on the ground.

Hersh Merriman won the strictly-rushing race grinding out 385 yards. In averages D. M. Miller was tops with a 15-yard average to show for two end arounds. Strictly-Speaking, for the number of times that the ball was carried, Blondie Law was the leader in covering at least 6.583 yards on each rush.

Final Statistics, with the exception of E & H:

Hap Tops Pass Catchers

Statistics show that Hap Brahams caught six passes for 145 yards and D. M. Miller caught ten for 113 yards to top that field. All the other operatives in this field caught one apiece ranging from Don Walker's four-yarder to one caught by Kenny Shepard that gained 38 yards.

Kick-off Plays

Blondie Law outkicked the kicker-offers with a 52.50 average for two kickoffs.

Bobby Neff led those who returned kickoffs with 83 yards of three runbacks for a 27.67 average. Leon Berrong carried the most—seven—in coming back seven times for 118 yards and a 16.857 medium. Charlie Allen returned five times for a 21.4 average.

Punts

Also leading the punters, Bob Boring booted 38 kicks for a 41.31 average. Leon Berrong and Charlie Allen were the other entrants in this race with 37 and 32-yard averages on 12 and five kicks, respec-

Scot Eleven Ends 50-50 Schedule

BY TOM KELLY

Maryville College's Highlanders finished the 1949 football season last Saturday with a five up and five down record. The percentage was the same as last year's when we split eight decisions. The Scotties received many tough breaks, in fact thy were ahead in the second half of almost all of the ball games in which they came out on the loser's end.

For the season's total, the Scots rolled up 208 points, two more than our opponents scored against us, 206. That 206 figure is third highest in the history of the college. In 1912 we had 295 points racked up against us. That was the year that Vanderbilt walloped the Scots 100-3.

In 1914 the opponents scored 207 points, one more than this season's enemies did. In that year the University of Kentucky knocked us off by the sweet score of 88-0. Now for a summary of the season's games for you.

Scots Wallop Hiwassee

Our first game was played here on September 17 against Hiwassee Junior College. It was strictly a warmup affair, Maryville winning 47-6. The Scots put the game away early by scoring three times in the first period. From there on in they attempted to hold the score down. Scoring honors were held by Leon Berrong, who scored twice, King Berrong, Neff, Merriman, Brahams, and Cvetan. This was destined to be the only game in which Coach Honaker's men would be able to take it easy.

September 24 the Scots journeyed to Duff Field, Knoxville to gain their second win 13-0. The game was one of the roughest of the year with both teams playing hard if not too clean football. The Scots scored twice in the second quarter to put the game on ice. The first score came about through a sustained march from the Scot 40, which was culminated when Leon Berrong took it over from the seven. The second score came about through Blondie Law's beautiful 87-yard run.

Blue Raiders

On Friday, September 30, the Highlanders journeyed to Murfreesboro for an encounter with the Middle Tennessee Blue Raiders. The Scots might just as well have stayed home as they were "Proctorized" by the Raiders to the tune of 47-6. Proctor, a UT castoff, was just too much for the outclassed Scots as he ran and passed the Midle Tennessee boys to victory. Middle Tennessee racked up 463 yards gained to our 256. Both Scot scores came in the first half. The first was the result of a Leon Berrong to Hap Brahams pass play which covered 40 yards ,and the second was due to an 11-yard run by Hersh Merriman. Incidently, this was the worst postwar beating that the Scots have taken.

Honakermen Edge Centre

On October eighth, the Scots, still on the road, traveled to Danville, Ky. for a game with the Praying Colonels of Centre College. The footballers won 28-25, but only after some hair-raising plays. In the first period, the Colonels scored three times and appeared as if they were going to make it worse than the preceding week's fiasco. The Scotties fought back, though, and pulled it out of the fire. The first Scot score came about as King Berrong intercepted a Centre pitch-out and raced downfield to score. This was in the first period when Maryville was behind 19-0. Coach Honaker's men scored again in the second period on a Neff to Baldwin pass. A Neff-to-Baldwin pass, and a Merriman line plunge, both of which came in the last period, pulled the game out of the fire for the Highlanders.

The Scots returned home October 15 for an encounter with the East Tennessee Bucs. The Scotties scored three times in the first half to go out in front 20-0. The Pirates came roaring back in the second half and just missed tying the score. The final was 20-19 in favor of Maryville. Scoring honors go to D. M. Miller on a pass from Leon Berrong, Allen Law, and Hershal Merriman.

Saturday, October 22, the Scots traveled to Emory, Va. to lose to an inspired Emory & Henry Wasps 38 to 27. Emory scored three touchdowns in the last five minutes to win the game. Maryville touchdowns were scored by Merriman, Howard Davis, Miller, and Blondie Law. A Scot fumble in the closing minutes proved to be the break needed to give the Emory & Henry lads victory.

W N C

On October 29 the Scottie eleven played host to unbeaten Western North Carolina, in the annual homecoming game. The Highlanders played inspired ball to whip the heavily favored Catamounts, 20-13. The Maryville line played its best game of the year in stopping the Carolina ground attack. The Highlanders were held scoreless until the second half when they unloaded for three touchdowns. Law, Berrong, and Merriman all scored TDs.

Scotties Drop Three In Row

The Scotties lost the next three games in a row although they were ahead in the second half of each ball game.

On November fifth the Scots lost to Austin Peay at Clarksville, 20-14. The two touchdowns scored by Merriman were not enough for the Scotties.

Carson-Newman visited Maryville for the last home game of the season and knocked off a heavily favored Maryville 20-12. Maryville led at one point in the game 12_0 but the Eagles caught up and passed the Scots in the second half. Merriman and Miller scored for the Scotties, Miller on a pass from Leon Berrong.

Alabama Wins Final

Last Saturday, November 19, the Scots played the Jacksonville Teachers in Anniston, Ala. to close out a so-so season. Mary-

Earl Wilson has the right idea in his article in this month's "Cosmopolitan," "My week has 8 days." However, to fit into the average Maryvillian's schedule it needs a bit of revision in quite a few situations. With all apologies to the Wilson boy, as he is referred to so congenially by presumably a cosmopolitan editor, we devise a scheme of our own:

Time Savers: a. Get up when you wake up (times six days)—2 hrs. saved; b. Dress 10 minutes faster—1 hour saved; c. Save ten minutes by carefully laying out day—1 hour saved; d. Cut lunch hours by 20 minutes—2 hours saved; e. Be 10 minutes late to 12 classes each week—2 hours saved; f. Quit quarrelling with roommate—1 hour saved; g. Quit gossiping with roommate—3 hours saved; h. Quit talking with roommate—3 hours saved; i. Avoid political, religious, sports arguments—1 hour saved; j. Stop reading worthless mail—1 hour saved; k. Go later to social events—and leave earlier—4 hours saved; m. Shop systematically, not socially—1 hour saved; n. Save time by doing homework for preceding class in preceding one—2 hours saved.

Total hours saved: 24.

Incidentally, it was suggested that the extra day be called "Earlsday."

According to the Journal of the American Medical Association, the best thing for a common cold is rest in bed. Nose drops and aspirin properly used relieve symptoms but do not cure and should not be overused. Special diets, vitamins, fluids beyond dictates of thirst, oral vaccines, and gargles are considered ineffective.

All of civilization or at least mankind in general has been marked by trends. One such milestone in history has been known as the Dark Ages of Chivalry—not to be confused with the history textbook Dark Ages. Whether or not it has been stated by some popular authority, opinion seems to have it that the Dark Ages are being enlightened — chivalry is dying.

After its having been tortured by beasts of "snakes, snails, and puppy dog tails" the hands of chivalry which here-to-fore have been tied are being bitten by the mouths they feed—the fair (fare) sex are helping to gather faggots for the stake at which the unfortunate personification of chivalry is to be burned.

Some degradations come in packages disguised as writings. Several articles approximating this type have been published in leading magazines recently. "Women Are Intellectually Inferior" is "American Mercury's" contribution this month, having been written by a man—Waverly Root. "Reader's Digest" condensed two such articles in October and September issues: "What's Wrong with American Women" from "Esquire" and "Should Your Wife be Fired" complements of "American Magazine." And from the woman's view point of Florence Howitt in October "Good Housekeeping," "Women Don't Give Women a Chance."

All the world's a stage (of some kind or another) and the people merely players . . . but offstage they're watching other people's lines or picking up pins—sometimes they scratch, sometimes there's a pearl attached. Sometimes its the smaller things that count . . for smaller people.

In this week's "Life" about twenty-five letters-to-the-editor were written ideaing the resemblance between the picture of Cosimo de Medici which appeared in October 3 issue under "Britain Cuts the Pound" and Bob Hope. Ten letters were written correcting "Life" in its mistaking Cosimo for his grandson, Lorenzo, whose picture was published. (But he does look like Bob Hope!)

There's no mistaking that Fall's in full swing now—football and crunchy leaves afoot. Fall brings fashion, soft colors and fabrics. According to the latest Fashion releases, wool's the fabric and brown's the color, seconded by fireman's red. But the requisite for that new Fall outfit is the trim "Autumn figure", created only by the will power of a minimum amount of sweets that leads to a tiny waist, flat tummy, and smooth shoulder line. Specifically, the fashion frats are rounded shoulders (even less padding), and nipped in waists. Skirts are narrow, coats are casual, belted, fitted, or with restrained fullness. Pockets are important.

Richard Ebelacker, Ex-'50 Receives Navy Air Wings

Midshipman Richard M. Ebelacker ex '50, has received his wings as a naval aviator on November 16 at the Naval Air Station, Corpus Christi, Texas.

Midshipman Ebelacker, a graduate of Beaver Falls high school in the class of 1946, joined the Navy in June of that year, and then attended Maryville College until entering flight training in June, 1948. Preflight and basic flight training was taken at the Naval Air Station, Pensacola, Fla., and advanced aviation training was taken aboard the Naval Air Station, Corpus Christi in multi-engine aircraft.

After spending a few days leave with his parents he will report to the Commander, Air Forces Atlantic Fleet, Norfolk, Virginia, for duty.

BASKETBALL RESULTS

Tuesday: Globetrotters, on the strength of Bennie Baldwin's first period shooting, beat Cavaliers. 23-19. Shuda's beat YMCA by rolling up a one-sided first half score then coasted during the second half. Dick Hyatt, YMCA, was high point man of the game. Final score was 24-18. Whizzers, led by Earl Valentine, nosed out Athenian B, 19-18.

Wednesday: Ex-Scrubbs whalloped Highlanders by an overwhelming score of 53-8. Joe McNiell hit the bucket ten times, six of them came in the third period when the Ex-Scrubbs scored 30 counters.

Minnows and New Highs hit a low in total points as New High won, 14-8. Scotties came through to whip Loafers, 31-16. Both Jim Kren and Dick Jones led the Scotties with their timely shots.

Friday: Buz Cardoza led the Wheels to a close one point victory over the Locals. The score 20-19. Rabbies, led by Frank Farmer, displayed their power by whipping Schlops, 45-14.

Dick Hyatt led the YMCA to a 36-10 win over Highlanders. Shuda's took a close one from Kikes by an 18-11 count. Globetrotters ran all over PB's, 51-18. Dick Lebold led Cavaliers to a 33-8 win over Athenian A in a one-sided affair.

tively.

Leon Berrong led the punt returners with an 18.66 average on three runbacks. Bob Boring and Benny Baldwin both topped him, though, if one wants to get technical, by bringing back one punt, apiece, for 22 and 25 yards, respectively. Charlie Allen brought back the most—eight—for 58 yards and 7.25.

Errant Heaves

King Berrong intercepted two passes for two touchdowns to colead the interceptors with D. M. Miller, who scored a touchdown on one of his two interceptions. All in all, Maryville defenders intercepted ten awry passes while the opposition grabbed off 13 Maryville flingings.

13 Score 30

Merriman, as was expected, finished out on top in the scoring parade with ten forays into the end zone with Leon Berrong next at four. Hap Brahams scored two while Blondie Law tallied four times. Ken Andes kicked 16 tries from 22 placements to rank fifth just ahead of King Berrong and D. M. Miller who registered twice. Bobby Neff kicked four extra points along with one touchdown to have a ten-point tally for the season. Tony Cvetan, Capt. Howard Davis, Benny Baldwin, and Charlie Allen scored the other touchdowns—Charlie's being the last of the season. Jimmy Callaway booted two extra points for his scoring year.

Chillies Top Howies To End Win Streak

Marianna Brogden's Chillies upset Elaine Smith's Howies for the first time in two years in winning the volley ball tournament Tuesday, 28-23.

This year the Howies won the soccer and aerial darts tournament, and the Chillies succeeded in defeating the Howies three out of five games in the volley ball tournament.

The volley ball game consisting of two 15 minute halves was played in Bartlett gym. Mary Jane Spencer was manager for the Chillies and Ann Leeder for the back. With close play and team work, the Chillies succeeded in winning their third win out of Howies.

At the half the Chillies held a 14-5 lead over the Howies.

In the second period the Howies began to really play ball and had a four point lead at one time. But the Chillies just couldn't be held five and victory.

Each group will return to its regular meeting time next Tuesday and begin practice for stunts.

SCOT ELEVEN

ville lost a heartbreaker, 20-14. Hershel Merriman (who else?) scored his tenth and Charley Allen his first touchdown of the season. Maryville had a golden opportunity to pull the game out of the fire in the last quarter. They had the ball on the Jacksonville one-yard line on second down, but couldn't score. That failure seemed to accentuate the season's pattern for the Honakermen. Success was always so near, but yet so far. If Maryville had made the most of their breaks they could have had a 9-1 record instead of a rather disappointing 5-5 tally.

With 17 graduating seniors the Scots seem to be in for a rough time next year, but let's hope that Coaches Honaker and Davis come up with something, somehow.

Gamecocks Hold

and began passing furiously in an attempt to recover the lead. But all went for naught as Merriman again tackled Hodges with the same result as before. He fumbled and Andes recovered with the gun sounding that ended the half.

Alabama All To Blame

Both teams came back after the intermission period pepped up, and neither scored. Then Jacksonville put on a sustained drive with Hodges and Williams doing most of the work to score. Moving from their 49, they ground out yardage to the eight where Williams hit the line for the remaining yardage. Connell kicked the point.

Officiating (?)

Soon after that Maryville gained possession of the ball and vainly tried to bang over the touchdown had clobbered Williams and retha that would mean victory. Andes covered the bouncing ball on the ten. Berrong hit Miller with a pass and he was hit, dropping the ball with Holsey recovering in the end zone. This brought up another of many disputes as the officials put the ball on the one.

Berrong then tried an end run which looked like the real stuff but the men in blue said his foot went out on the two. Merriman pushed to the one before Berrong again tried end. Like the first one, it ended in failure. From there on the game was history, though Maryville got the ball once again on the 24. However, an Allen toss was intercepted and Jacksonville ran the clock out.

Lacking in the game was the usual spirited blocking that might have meant the difference in a victory over the 14-point favorites. The men played hard games, but it wasn't enough to win.

"Winter Wonderland"

VOLUME 35 | MARYVILLE, TENNESSEE, DECEMBER 3, 1949 | NUMBER 13

MC Will Dance In 'Wonderland'

Alumni Gym Is Scene Of Second Fall Hop; Wallin Heads Affair

By Phil Jackson

Alumni Gym will become a "Winter Wonderland" tonight for the second annual fall dance sponsored by the Social Board. Dancing will continue from 8 until 11.

Plans for the evening have been directed by Barbara Wallin, dance chairman, and Carol Mitchell and Ruth Davis, music chairmen.

Because of the informality of the occasion, there will be no admission charge and those attending will not be required to have a date. Dress for the evening calls for coats and ties for the boys, while girls will wear "heels 'n' hose." Rules governing the dance say no flowers for the girl and that all non-students will be admitted only by obtaining guest cards through Miss Massey's office.

Decorations for the "Winter Wonderland" theme will be directed by Frances Moore, chairman of the decorations committee. Assisting her on the committee are Jackie Smith, Jessie Dye, and Bob Cuthill.

Refreshments will be served by Jean Anderson, chairman of the refreshment committee, and her committee members, Virginia Cooper, Mildred Cooper, and Bobby James.

Music Recorded

Publicity for "Winter Wonderland" has been in charge of Don Whelan and Phyl Jackson.

Music for the dance is by record.

Faculty chaperones for the evening include Dr. and Mrs. Horace E. Orr. Dr. and Mrs. Ralph T. Case, Dr. and Mrs. J.D. Buchanan, and Professor Katharine C. Davies.

Here are a few selected rules of etiquette that are acceptable anywhere and particularly at tonight's dance.

1. On arrival, after leaving your wraps, immediately greet the chaperones. Before leaving, it

Cancels Strike

John L Lewis concelled the coal strike which was to be effective Monday. Instead, he announced a three-day work week which will be reinstated in the hard and soft coal mines across the country beginning December 5.

Angus Ward

Before Consul-General Angus Ward and his American staff can leave Communist-run Mukden, the United States may have to pay a stiff price to the Chinese consulate employes.

28 Killed

Twenty-eight persons were killed November 30, when an American Airlines DC-6 crashed and burned while landing with disabled engines at Dallas, Tex. Eighteen other persons escaped, with many injuries.

New Atom Test

A new test of atomic weapons will be made at Eniwetok on an unspecified date, it was announced by Washington during the first of this week.

Thomas Sentence

Representative J. Parnell Thomas, New Jersey Republican, withdrew his plea of not guilty to the charges of payroll padding and receiving kick-backs from fictitious employes. He will be sentenced on December 6.

Nationalists Win

After fourteen years of Socialist rule, New Zealanders have ousted their Labor Government in favor of the Nationalist party.

This upset came in the Parliamentary election of the British commonwealth.

The national party won 46 out of 80 seats in the House of Representatives.

The nationalist party won 46 out taxes, reduce state controls, and promote free enterpirse.

Constructors Pour FAC Footings

Workmen constructing the new Fine Arts Center began to pour concrete last Thursday for foundation footings in various parts of the building. Excavation has been carried on for the past ten days and will continue until the completion of reinforced concrete footings make possible the laying of bricks.

The type and color of brick to be used has been selected and samples may be seen near the North gate. The type nearest to it already in use on campus is that of which the dining hall addition is constructed. A light grey mortar has been decided upon.

Work will continue all winter.

Bainonian Elects, May Change Rules

Bainonians's election of next semester officers will be held on Wednesday, December 7.

The following nominees were selected by the nominations committee: President, Winnie Schaumburg and Betty Jo Smith; Vice-President, Edna Burkins and Ruby Jean Harris; Secretary, Cora Anthony and Edith Lancaster; Treasurer, Kathryn Blackburn and Judy Matterson; Program Chairmen, Betty Carol, Hazel Holm, Ruth McSween, and Janet Whiting; and Skit Night, Libby Dunn, Beverly Jacobi, Carolyn Miller, and Rosie Pascal.

An amendment to the Constitution will be voted on at the same time. It is to the effect that first semester's president should be reconsidered before another is nominated for president during the second semester.

Galyon, McBride Read For Writers' Workshop; Business Session Called

Aubrey Galyon and Marian McBride read at Writers' Workshop Wednesday. Carroll Stegall led the criticism of Galyon's "Schemata" and "Myself Justified, I Stand in the Crowd."

Criticism of Miss McBride's "Life Atom" was led by Ginny Schwarz.

Marian McBride, chairman of the Governing Board, stated that a very important business meeting of the Workshop will be held December 7, at 4:30. No new papers are to be read at that meeting.

Two Writers' Workshop selections were presented by Y over WGAP last Monday at 9:30.

They were Assistant Professor Carolyn Blair's "The Year's at the Spring" and Duncan Bennett's "Apocalypse."

Council

Dances, Routine Items Occupy Council; Chapel Fund Publicity Planned

At its regular Wednesday night meeting, the Student Council discussed and passed the following:

Men's M Club constitution was read and approved.

Amendments (or revisions), which make it possible to revise the body of the constitution when only trivial matters are concerned instead of having to make a new amendment each time.

Proceeds from the spring dance will be divided equally among the four societies. The fall dance this year is under the control of the Social Board, which will sponsor and pay for it. The societies, as sponsors of the dances, are asked not to be elaborate. First choice is to be decided by drawing lots.

Need of a permanent meeting place for the societies was discussed and the College Officials were asked to keep this in mind whenever rooms are available.

'Thank You'

A personal letter from Nettie L. Spraker, president of the hospital auxiliary, was read, thanking the Student Council for their float in the hospital parade.

Announcement was made of a new chapel fund drive. There are to be posters, library displays, and newspaper stories, in addition to a Student Council chapel program "to arouse enthusiasm" for the drive.

Instruction sheets and pledge cards are to be given to the student body.

Eight students have been elected to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities in a very close vote. The number is limited to eight this year because of a tie among several suggested students. The number of votes these received was considerably below that of those selected.

Y Airs 'Messiah' Writing, History

Y radio program presents the life of George Frederick Handel, his writing of 'Messiah', and the history of the Messiah chorus at MC over WGAP at 9:30 p. m. on Monday night.

Soloists from the Messiah chorus will sing during the program with June Hood accompanying. "Come Unto Me" is one of the selections to be sung.

Mary Holly Webb, Linnea Johnson and Conrad Eaddy are to sing.

The entire program is under the direction of Bill Starr and Barbara Blum. Ben Paxton announces, and Irv Kenner handles the sound effects.

Concensus Favors Monday Night Girl Bid Dances--But Less Often

by Sally Brown

After several weeks' trial, the practice of girl bid and break at the Monday night dances has been discontinued.

In a survey taken by The Echo, the following answers were given to the question, "What do you think of girl bid and break at Monday night dances?"

Mrs. Marquis: "I want the young people to be happy with the arrangements, but I do think it is a good mixer."

Sally Kemp: "It's nice about twice a month."

Alan Caldwell: "I'm in favor of it, but let's not have it too often."

Dick Newman: "I'm for it, one hundred per cent!"

Vi Marshall: "I don't particularly like it. It's a man's world."

Don Winslow: "It's fine! I believe in equal rights for all."

Jackie Smith: "It's fun once in a while."

Mary Lyerly: "It's a lot of fun, if it isn't carried too far."

Jerry Sayres: "It's all right, even every week."

Ruthie Garst: "Why not wait until leap year?"

Bob Sprague: "I'm for it, if the girls like it."

Peggy Knox: "I don't like it."

Jean Enfield: "Once or twice a month would be often enough."

Jim Frain: "I don't like it too frequently."

Margaret Ann Warren: "It's one way to get a man to dance with you."

Webster Fue: "I'm all for it."

Pinky Ahler: "It's a good idea once in a while, but let's not run it into the ground."

Barbara Scott: "I don't like it. After all, Sadie Hawkins Day is over."

Phyl Jackson: "It gives us a chance to see how the other half lives."

Rolfe Duggar: "I'm all for it, anytime."

Opinion ran generally in favor of the girl-bid, break plan, but "not quite so often as in the past."

Sets and designs to be done by Instructor Charlotte Johnson of the art department, and the entire production is directed by Assistant Professor Harry H. Harter, Opera Workshop Director.

Athenian Society Presents Girls For '50 Calendar

Athenian presented its six 1950 calendar girls in a program Saturday night, November 26.

Pictured for January and February is LaDonna Baylor. During her presentation a girls' trio composed of Alice Jo Larson, Shirley Postlethwaite, and Lois Sealander sang "Winter Wonderland."

May and April's representative is Beryl Stewart. Ella Swift played 'April Showers" on the accordian in honor of Miss Stewart.

Frances Postlethwaite will be pictured on the calendar page for May and June. Herb Keene and Sally Kemp dueted "Linda" for Miss Postlethwaite.

July and August's calendar girl is Barbara Blum. A quartet of Roger Cowan, Walter English, Ray Packard, and John Shew sang "Summertime."

Lois Lerch was presented for September and October, during which "September Song" was rendered by the Athenian Sympathy Orchestra with Bob Kees conducting.

November and December claims Nancy Rose for its calendar page. While Miss Rose was presented a quartet composed of the Schoeders, Wally and Charles, Ken Schaffer, and Dick Ribble sang "White Christmas."

Each calendar girl was presented with a corsage by Athenian president, Don Hyatt; the corsages were pinned on by Mary Mills, president of Bainonian.

Campus Leaders Cited For Academic, Extra Activities, Future

By Carolyn Miller

Eight Maryville College seniors have been accepted for recognition in the 1949-1950 edition of "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities."

Students awarded this year's honor are Robert Boring, Henry Callaway, William Chalker, Margaret Cummings, Raymond Holsey, Dorothy Holverson, William Nish, and Virginia Schwarz.

Students recognized in this edition, representing over 600 colleges and universities, are nominated by their respective schools and approved by the Who's Who Board.

Maryville representatives were chosen by Student Council and Executive Council of the Faculty on the basis of scholarship, leadership, and participation in academic and extra-curricular activities, citizenship and service to the school, and promise of future usefulness.

Each student accepted by the organization is awarded a certificate of recognition and is entitled to benefits of the Student Placement Service offered by Who's Who.

Bob Boring is a physical education major from Friendsville and has played varsity football, basketball, and baseball, being captain of last year's basketball team. Past president of the Athletic Board of Control, he has been an ABC member for two years. He was a Student Council member his junior year, and made the honor roll for two years.

Tubby Callaway, pre-med major from Maryville, was treasurer of his sophomore class and is president of the senior class. He has been treasurer and vice-president of YMCA, and during his junior and senior years was a member of the MSO Coordinating Council and Student Council. He has been a member of the varsity football and wrestling teams for three years.

Bill Chalker, philosophy major from Birmingham, Ala., attended the University of Alabama his freshman year. He is present president of YMCA and was president of the junior class last year. He has been a member of the Student-Faculty Senate and Student Council for two years, and has been on the honor roll every year.

Peggy Cummings, from Maryville is an English major and has been on the honor roll all three years. She was class treasurer her freshman year, a Nu Gamma Leader her sophomore year, and has been on YWCA cabinet for two years. She is a member of Tau Kappa Chi, Pi Kappa Delta, Pi Gamma, and was on the Debate squad her freshman and sophomore years.

Hurt Morse May Return To Classes on Thursday If X-Ray Shows Leg OK

Freshman William Morse, who broke two bones of his right leg in the Y-All-Star Thanksgiving soccer game, is still a patient in the college infirmary.

He spent three days in Blount county Hospital and will be allowed to return to classes Thursday if an X-ray on Wednesday shows satisfactory improvement. He was an All-Star forward.

Also in the infirmary this week are senior Wanda Onifer with a strep sore throat, and junior Ruth Humes who has had a tooth extracted.

FTA Entertained: 3 Named To Outline Next Term's Projects

Maryville Chapter of Future Teachers was entertained last Thursday night with a Christmas program of music, readings, and carols.

Judy Breen read "Is There a Santa Claus?" Fred Sieber played a selection from Cole Porter's musical, "Kiss Me, Kate;" Jane McMillan gave a second reading, "'Twas the Night Before Christmas;" and a selection of carols closed the program.

The entertainment was planned by Ruth Rogers, Jean Hunt, and Grady Carroll.

Plans were announced for intensive study and work on FTA projects for next semester. Projects under consideration are the preparation of a bulletin board for the chapter, the organization of high school FTA clubs, and the visiting of nearby schools to study their procedures and problems.

Dot Johnston, Joy Parker, and Bob Lehr were appointed to a committee to outline these plans.

Ensemble Numbers To Mark Friday Chilhowee Recital

Next Friday's student recital features ensemble numbers. It begins at 4:30 December 9, in Chilhowee Club House.

Selections are "Wohin?" by Schubert, sung by Linnea Johnson and accompanied by Thelma Nelson, music instructor:

Concerto in G Minor, Opus 25, by Mendelssohn, played by Patty Regan with Professor Katherine Davies, Chairman of the Fine Arts Division, at the second piano; Verdi's "Ave Maria" from "Othello," sung by Evalyn Smith accompanied by Carolyn Marshall;

Concerto in C Major, Opus 15, and Allegro con Brio, by Beethoven, played by Irene Launitz with Miss Davies at the second piano; and Concerto in C Minor, Opus 18, and Moderato, by Rachmaninoff, played by Fred Sieber with Mrs. Conrad Eaddy at the second piano.

The Madrigal Singers will sing "Sleep, Baby, Sleep," a Czech Carol; "Ding-Dong! Merrily on High," a French Carol, and "Cradle Song of the Shepherds," listed on the program as a Glotz Carol.

Dan Winter will play Concerto in D Minor (K. 466) and Allegro, by Mozart, with Miss Davies at the second piano.

Why Study

The semester is almost over; soon grades will be out, and we wager that there will be many surprised students, shocked to find a C on their report card instead of the expected A. Before they start complaining about Maryville's high scholastic standing, or the curve, or that teacher, they should think a minute. Has school work been receiving all the attention it demands, or has it been generally crammed into little vacant corners of the day's activities?

Now no one is speaking against extra-curricular activities. They occupy a most necessary and important place in MC life. However, the M Book truly gives words of wisdom, although they are generally unheeded, when it says, "You'll be tempted to join all the fascinating clubs and organizations the campus boasts. But book learning comes first. . . ." Remember?

This advice is primarily directed toward freshman, but it won't hurt other students to listen in. We should apportion, and limit if necessary, our activities so that we still have time for the studying required to maintain desirable marks. After all, high grades look far more impressive on the college record than the fact that one afternoon, after 12 hands of bridge, you finally made a grand slam.

You will find, if you really work at it, a few hours concentrated study can do wonders to spiral those grade points higher and higher. A cum laude degree is not as intangible as it appears. You may find one tacked on your name some day.

C.M.

Insight In The I's

Initiative in investgation. . . interest in information. . . . integration in intensification—such are traits that may be developed through one's careful completion of an MC special studies work-project. Granted there are many objectives and objections concerning special studies currently being discussed, there are two major benefits we believe, to be gained in the course which are especially good.

In the first place, the special studies program works on a cooperative plane; faculty supervisor and the studies student have opportunity to consider plans and purposes of a paper together. The personal conference procedure utilizes a principle in education that the class lecture course may not allow.

In the second place, the discipline of the program—a practical course in cultivation of capacity—opens an avenue of educational approach that may be continued through a lifetime. .

The studies, which are relatively new to the Maryville tradition, will, we hope, become more meaningful to students and supervisors as future December firsts and May sixths go by.

—H.M.M.

Great Scot !

What with the days getting shorter now and the evening shadows gathering earlier, Circle Drive strolling has become one of the more interesting of after-dinner sports.

These are the days when we feel like letting go with a song and taking a long walk because Special Studies end has loomed into view. Speaking of long walks, we like them. . . . especially when they are taken by people who annoy us.

Seniors wear those my-S. S.-are-all-done-and-I-live-again smiles, smiles that could eat a banana sideways.

A boy for you, A girl for me

Handing out cigars and wearing those we-did-it again looks, Arthur Bushing and Marvin Minear, faculty contemporaries, became proud papas this week. The senior class sang "Rockaby Baby" to the two in chapel on Wednesday. One frosh when he heard Mr. B. had an heiress said. "What, again? He just had one last Monday!"

And at the same time we are all wondering just what bachelor Long is celebrating as he hands out pencils on the same day.

Lost: One Week End

In frosh English class Barbara Porter was choosing the proper word to be put in a sentence reading, "He doesn't teach very (well, good) when he comes back from those long week ends." Barbara chose "well," and, when asked why by Teacher Blair, she added, "Because of his condition," after a moment's hesitation.

When the roll is called

Dr. Barker was taking attendance in Abnormal Psychology class and summarized his findings with, "Stegall and Postlethwaite are not here today. If anyone else is absent, will he or she please speak up."

Which reminds us of the absent-minded professor who hurriedly looked into the hair brush and exclaimed, "My, I need a shave!"

Dr. Barker also has a General Psychology course and told us the other day that he was five lectures behind the classes' reading and that there were some heavy bets on the back row that he wouldn't catch up to them before finals. With odds like that, we'd like to know where the line forms.

Barn Warmed?

One college joe was describing Queen Alice's gown as she wore it at Barnwarming last week to another joe who hadn't been there. "You know the kind. It was one of those affairs held up by a deep breath and an anxious look."

Double or Nothing

We think we have heard of everything until something like this comes along. This week there seems to be a shortage of chairs in Dr. Hunter's Church School class because Bill Starr and Art Haaf (back to MC for celebrations) both sat on one chair. Maybe the attic of Thaw might yield a few items to help out.

X-Ray Vision

During French 101, Professor Cooper asked one of the boys to lower the shade in the Baldwin side of the room, thus shutting out the glare He explained that the shiny noses in Baldwin were blinding him. This should serve as fair warning to Baldwin damsels.

Learned from experience

Jean Enfield was giving Philosophy 217 her views on Francis Bacon's views on "Investigation of Forms" and wound up with, "Everyone knows that it's the coldest when there is a full moon." We doubt if there would be a unanimous agreement on that, Jean, but don't let that change your mind.

Just musing

When you jump out of bed in the morning and find that you have slept through two breakfast bells and the alarm, when later on in the morning you emerge from the third straight hour with three quizzes having been popped on you and because of the "good movie" at the Capitol on Town Night you haven't opened a book, when you and your roommate disagree on which one of her sweaters you are going to wear to supper, and when the mailgirl passes your door for the sixth time that week, then you begin to wonder if being with the Foreign Legion in the Sahara would be so bad.

Dance with the dolly

Tonight is the budding Arthur Murray's chance to show all the girls that he's the one they've been waiting for. Remembering that the theme will be "Winter Wonderland," we're betting that tomorrow some of the stag line will be writing their memoirs, "Malice in Wonderland."

More Moanings

Sonny Short was trying to convince a classmate not to drop math because then there would be no one to keep the curve down and he couldn't keep up his high mark. That's the newest angle on getting grades and, worthy or not, we've mentioned it.

Give a woman enough rope and she'll ring a wedding bell with it.

Talk of The Week

BY ALAN FORT

Voices, Masks, and Shadows

Capitol Classics

Humphrey Bogart, as producer and actor of "Knock On Any Door" will shine forth from the Capitol screen on Monday and Tuesday. Lawyer Bogart defends Nick "Pretty Boy" Romano (John Derek) on a charge of moider, believing him to be innocent.

Through thin and unconvincing flashbacks of Nickie boy's childhood slum life, Bogart attempts to water the jury and prove that its all society's fault. It's a dud as social propaganda, but Bogart does a commendable job, and manages to pull it together.

Wednesday and Thursday will crash forth with "Calamity Jane and Sam Bass" making love in the midst of bullets. Howard Duff, as Sam, trips out to the West without wiping the naive Eastern dust from his shoulders. He runs smack into Kathy (Dorothy Hart), sweet and young and kin to the sheriff and Jane (Yvonne DeCarlo) chic and fashionable and kin to pistols. Duff, amid gun fights and technicolored scenery, ends up a bank robber and dies an outlaw. There are always reliable horses.

'41 Jokes

If you missed it when you were in rompers, have no fear—it's back in all its glory. Park, on Tuesday and Wednesday presents "Keep 'Em Flying." Abbott and Costello weave in and out of a silly plot involving barnstorming stunt flier (Dick Foran), rival (William Gargan) and inevitable womanhood (Carol Bruce).

Our joke men do a sad and bit stale tackling job of the Air Corps; a pilot-training school is background; poor songs provide relief; and Martha Raye plays twins.

Campus Culture

MC's orchestra, for one of its size, minces no notes, as those who witnessed Saturday's concert will agree. Ruth Helen Bird did MacDowell's concerto up in a satin ribbon with supple and agile fingers. How about some more concerts with Miss Bird tuning, or even one without the other would be fine.

"Messiah" rehearsal, the organ in Chapel—when do the bells begin their Christmas chiming?

Theatre Art

Fred Allen declined an invitation to appear in the forthcoming NYC Center drama season: "I cannot act. Nothing I've done in radio has . . . developed my histrionic potential. If you can use an usher, or an attendant in the washroom, I'm paid up at Equity and am at your services," reported the NY Times.

Jazz and Trivia

Spiritual and pedantic literature grace the new book table this week, including works by Rudi Blesh, Ruth Fedder and Goethe. Blesh, leading this motley crew, has produced a history of jazz, which, aside from being dedicated to "My Daughter Hilary and her Tailgate Trombone," proves to be quite on the upbeat. "Shining Trumpets" is the name.

Trivia for the college bookshelf is "A Girl Grows Up." 'Tis a noble job on Miss Fedder's part, but . . .! Other extreme is well-represented with Geethe's "Wisdom and Experience" and Selected Writings and Speeches of Edmund Burke.

Freud and Asylums

Mental equilibrium department is restocked with "Masks of Love and Life" by Dr. Hanns Sachs. The good doctor is a follower of Freud and has here delved into the philosophical basis of psychoanalysis. John Bawley, M. D., has illumined the field with "Personality and Mental Illness," now on our bookshelves. Condition of our state hospitals from Philly to Cal., is revealingly depicted in Albert Deutsch's "The Shame of the States."

Bustles and Bones

Chapel Hill has burst forth with an autography of one of its beloveds, entitled "The Woman Who Ran the Bell" by Phillips Russel.. Contents: Mrs. Spencer's Sayings, Mrs. Spencer's Essays, Mrs. Spencer's Journal, No More Crumbs, and Grandmother.

A real purty picture of a couple of skeletons holding hands and entitled "The Spirit of Comparative Anatomy" adorns the front page of the third edition of Walter and Sayles' "Biology of the Vertebrate."

Revealed Truth

"The Vatican in World Politics" by Avro Manhatten reveals historical facts which have been kept secret and discloses the Vatican's part in the confusion of the world. Other books are "Filmstrips" by Vera M. Falconer, "Portrait of Latin America," "The Consumer and the Economic Order" by Waite and Cassady, and three pamphlets: "Penicillin," "Printing in America and American Type Founders" and "Origin and Development of Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad Company."

Thanksgiving Grace

Of all good things our thanks to rend
The most should go to those who send
Books back to those who lend.
Amen.

Echo Forum

Dear Maryville Collegeans:

We imagine Barnwarming is on Thanksgiving day for several good reasons, but now we want to express our thanks to each of you.

We want to thank the cast and their escorts for looking so marvelous.

We want to thank everyone in the cast and the crowd for their patient attendance at each rehearsal and their willing cooperation that was an invaluable help to us.

We want to thank everyone who worked on the set, the lights, the properties, the booths, the business, the costumes, the court, the music and in any other capacity behind the scenes. We realize that without your help Barnwarming could never have been.

We want to thank our student directors and assistants and those who helped with the script. Your whole-hearted interest in the show was a tremendous help to us.

We want to thank all the faculty participants who did their part so nobly in the Freak Show. We hear it was one of the high-spots of the evening.

We want to thank all the people from town who helped us put on Barnwarming and to whom we are always indebted so much.

It was truly your Barnwarming and we hope you all enjoyed it as much as we enjoyed working with you to put it on.

Sincerely yours,
Alice Davenport

'Studies' Seniors Sing To Juniors

Approximately 80 seniors gathered on the baseball field around a bonfire Thursday night at 9 to celebrate the completion of Special Studies.

Given words to a song, "I've Been Working on Special Studies," by Ellen Collins, the group sang while remnants of special studies notes were burned.

Into The Library

Marching snake-line fashion into Lamar Memorial Library shortly afterwards, the studies seniors deposited books on the main desk while continuing the singing. Library staffers began moving books to an adjacent table while the snake-line of seniors went winding around library tables singing to the juniors.

Friday morning before chapel, seniors sang "Buckle Down, You Juniors" to complete the Special Studies escapade.

Special Studies Editor Mrs. W. H. Swenson received around 140 books by the noon Thursday deadline. Works ranged from 37 to 600 pages in size.

Sports Echoes

By Duncan Bennett

JUST WHEN the sports staff of your Highland Echo gets used to writing football stories we have to make a fast changeover and take up basketball. It is with regret that all of us give up what is probably our favorite college game, but sports change with the seasons and we'll soon be wrapped up in wrestling matches and fast-scoring basketball games. Sports writers all over the country are at that "awkward stage" right now — no football to write and not much of anything else for a week or two, and Ye Echoe is no better off.

WANNA KNOW what men our own Highlanders thought were best this year? The all-opponents team has been chosen so take a glance over to the right and see if you agree. Let's hope the Scots don't meet a team as good as that next year. Especially since Coach Honaker is about to lose 17 men this spring.

HERSH MERRIMAN'S done it again!

COACH JOHNSON'S intramural basketeers are already rolling strong. Some pretty good basketball can be seen in the Intramural Gym almost any afternoon now. It's too early to predict much yet, but team standings will soon begin to show where the power lies.

THAT STUFFED and satisfied expression on the faces of the football team is the result of Miss Heron's efforts on their behalf. Every year about this time the Scot gridders journey to the Heron's Roost in Miller's Cove to put on the feed bag and enjoy the fruits of victory.

VARSITY BASKETBALL got under way last night with a warm-up session. Reliable Motors is only one of the independent semi-pro outfits which Coach Honaker will probably schedule this season. Last year it was Adams Parking Lot in Knoxville and Gulf Refiners of Maryville. Incidentally, the Refiners were made up largely of ex-Maryville hoopsters who managed to trounce the alma mater boys pretty regularly.

WRESTLERS get under way come Friday evening too, when the first of a series of basketball-wrestling doubleheaders get under way. Lead-off opponent, the Knoxville YMCA, has been out-wrestled for years by MC matmen, but some of the later bouts this season will see some stiff competition.

AN "M" CLUB for men is well on its way to becoming a reality here on the hill. A proposed constitution for the organization passed Student Council and is on its way to the Student-Faculty Senate for final approval. The need for such an organization has long been felt, especially since the men somehow lost out of the original "M" club which then became exclusively a women's organization. Eligibility is determined by possession of a letter in some varsity sport.

SPORTS AT A GLANCE. For the benefit of those of us who have trouble keeping up with MC sports events past and present, here is the box score to date.

THE CHAMPIONS

Grapplers Strain To Get In Shape For Knox Y Scrap

The wrestling squad has been undergoing intensive workouts in prepartion for their initial bout with Knox Y on December 9.

Since the squad has a letterman returning in every position, as good, if not a better record than last year's 4-3 score is anticipated. Last year's results were defeats from Arkansas State, 8-21, Chattanooga, 14-17, and Auburn, 9-19; the victories were over Chattanooga, 19-11, Georgia Tech, 21-10, and Knox Y, 25-8 and 30-8.

MISS HERON FETES FOOTBALL SQUAD

Miss Jessie Heron, Maryville's number one football fan, entertained the football boys with a dinner last Thursday and Friday nights at her cabin in Miller's Cove up in the heart of the Smokies. Due to the size of the squad, dinner was served on both nights. Coaches Davis and Honaker and Dr. Lee Callaway also attended.

Emphasis Is On Stunts For Women's Varsity

Women's Varsity is placing an emphasis on stunts for three meetings, beginning November 29th. Among the stunts being practiced are novelty walks, forward rolls, knee dips, heel clicks, head stands, and free stands.

Basketball season for the Chilies and Howies will begin early next semester.

For the remainder of this semester, Women's Varsity will meet in Bartlett Gymnasium.

ABC Makes Awards Aids Men's M Club

Maryville's Athletic Board of Control met Thursday morning after Chapel in Coach Honaker's office in Bartlett Hall. Main item of business was awarding of letters to the members of the football and cross country squads.

A total of 31 men lettered in football, and seven more letters were awarded to members of Coach Johnson's cross country team.

The proposed Men's "M" Club was discussed. A constitution for the organization has already passed Student Council and will be considered in a meeting of the Student-Faculty Senate Friday. Officers have been elected for the organization which, at present, has an active membership of 47.

All Maryville lettermen in varsity sports are eligible for membership in the organization including those who letter this year.

SCOTS PICK ALL-OPPONENTS

ALL-STAR LINE-UP

	WB Miller (E&H)	FB Brummet (Center) QB Rubel (A-P)		TB Proctor (MTS)
LE	LT	LG	C	RG	RT	RE
Varallo (MTS)	Adams (JST)	Cash (JST) Miller (MTS)	Earp (E&H)	Byrd WNC)	Humphries (WNC)	Phillips (WNC) Oakley (A-P)

The lineup above represents Maryville Highlander's all opponent team as chosen by members of this season's squad. Tie votes were cast for Miller of Middle Tennessee State and Cash of Jacksonville State Teachers at left guard, and for Phillips of Western North Carolina and Oakley of Austin-Peay.

Unanimous Choice

Only unanimous choice was Middle Tennessee State's Vic Varallo at left end. Emory & Henry's Blue Wasps placed three men on the mythical team, as did Western North Carolina and the MTS Blue Raiders. Austin-Peay received two positions and Jacksonville State two, with Centre College placing one.

East Tennessee's Buccaneers and Carson-Newman's Eagles, who placed five men on last year's aggregation failed even to come close as Brown of ETS, Cosson of C-N, and Wade of C-N were not in the running.

Byrd and Earp Repeat

Only repeaters were Byrd who polled 25 votes and Earp who was last year's pivot man. Closest race of them all was at the tackles with five men figuring in the scramble. Paul Adams made a comeback on the last group of ballots and overhauled Art Schreiber of Centre's Colonels and the Wasps Jim Niblett on the final vote. The final score stood nine for Adams and eight for Schreiber and Niblett.

Buffalo Humpries of Western Carolina's Catmounts also got the bid on the last vote to win the right tackle race, eight votes to seven over Jacksonville's James White.

Another Tie

Charles Oakley of Austin Peay also picked up a vote on the last ballot to pull into a tie with Jack Phillips in a race with seven other candidates. The count in this race was six and six.

One race that wasn't decided, though, on the last group of ballots was that of the left guard position. Nine men were given votes but Jacksonville's Gamecock Irby Cash and Middle Tennessee's Miller grabbed off five votes at the beginning and the count stayed there till the end. Byrd was practically the only man to be selected for the right guard, Austin Peay's Julius Sneed receiving two votes.

Lots of Backs

The backfield conglomeration was a beaut too. When the smoke had cleared, it saw two halfbacks and two quarterbacks out on top with another halfback close behind. Colonel Joe Brummet was the recipient of 21 votes for the top backfield count. Emory and Henry's Bob Miller, one of the nation's high scorers, was next with 19 votes. Coming up with a mad rush that saw him advance from fifth to third was MTS's J. B. Proctor. Austin Peay's Frank Rubel was the other quarterback selected. Middle Tennessee's other star back, Maxie Runion, was supplanted in Proctor's mad rush to the top.

7 MC Trackmen Awarded Letters

Seven Cross Country runners received their letters this past week upon recommendation by the Athletic Board of Control and confirmation by Coach Honaker. Defeating UT, TPI, and Sewanee in five meets, they will attempt to make it six in a row as they charge the banquet table this coming Tuesday at Noah's Ark.

Lettering for Maryville this year were Del Earisman (Capt.), Bill Menges, George Day, Ric Rogers, Jimmy Thurston, John Baird and Neale Pearson. Four other men who came out and ran their hearts off, though not lettering will attend the supper, also. They are Tom Kelley, J. Bright, Dave Hellwig, and Dick Kerr.

Coaching them for the second year in a row was Coach Kenneth Johnson who has a 7 won, 2 lost record for these two years.

BASKETBALL

What happened to those boys who are always complaining about the rules and referees? Coach Johnson held a meeting Tuesday to discuss rules, so what happens—not even twenty boys show up. There will be another meeting next Tuesday for a discussion of rules at one o'clock. After that there should be no excuse for ignorance.

Captains, you must get permission from the opposing captain before you can use an ineligible player. Any violation of this rule can lead to a forfeiture of the game. It may not be too late to forfeit last week's games if the offended teams' captains complain.

Locals 52, Loafers 21

Vernon Petree led Locals to a whalloping 52-21 win over Loafers. Petree sunk 14 points.

Scotties 24, New High 9

Scotties outclassed New High by a 24-9 count Monday. Bob Kay was high point man for the winners with nine.

PB's 22, Athenian A 13

PB's recorded their first win of the season by dumping Athenian A, 22-13. It was the third straight loss for the Athenian team.

Whizzers Over Minnows

Whizzers rolled over Minnows by a 34-5 count as Junior Johnson hit the bucket for 16 points.

Wheels Over Minnies

Jack Bayliss pulled the Wheels out of the fire by sinking a free shot in a sudden death period to give them a 33-31 victory over Minnies. Neither team could score in two over time periods. Clement Bowman was high point man for the losing team with 16 points while Buz Cardozo wasf high for the winners with 11.

RELIABLE MOTORS

Reliable Motors of Knoxville opened the 1949-1950 basketball season at the Alumni gym last night. They are a semi-pro team from Knoxville, and have, during recent years, proved themselves in East Tennessee competition. This is the first time that Maryville has played Reliable.

The game was designed as a warm up for the Scotties before they tackle a tough King college team next Friday night. The Honakermen will, throughout the season, schedule games with various semi-pro and industrial teams to fill any lulls in the schedule. These games are far from dull, and in some cases, the best opposition is found in these semi-pro clubs. Some of last year's semi-pro teams were Adam's Parking Lots of Knoxville; Carbon-Carbide of Oak Ridge, Sweetwater VFW, and Gulf Refiners. Adams and the Refiners handed the Scots two of their defeats of last season. Adams came out on top by a score of 67-57, and the Gulf Refiners knocked us off 51-41. We licked Carbon Carbide twice 63-39 and 67-50. Sweetwater was also overpowered twice by scores of 67-46 and 51-35.

UT FROSH

Freshmen of the University of Tennessee play host to the Maryville B team in their opening game of the season Monday evening. The Jayvees were fairly successful last year over such teams as Overton's Preachers and the Maryville VFW five, although they lost to Everett High School by a close 50-48 after having taken a preliminary from them earlier in the season.

Team Roster

B Team members for this season's hardwood bouts are John Shields, Stanley Downes, Arthur Haylock, Bruce Beatty, Tom DeLozier, Wes Miles, Ralph Thiese, John Schaumberg, Ken Sheperd, Gener Upton, James Campbell, Bill Gibson, and Bill McMahon.

Coach Kenneth Johnson has been training the Maryville JV team since head coach L. S. Honaker took over varsity basketball.

KING COLLEGE

Friday evening, December 9, marks the opening of the intercollegiate basketball season, when the Maryville Scotties take on King College's Tornadoes. King's aggregation fell twice to the Scots last year—the first time in Bristol by a 78-69 run-around, and the second time here in the Alumni Gym when the score was a slightly closer 59-52.

Varsity Roster

The complete roster for the 1949-50 hoop squad is as follows: Gene Reynolds, Jack Buckley, Jim Lillard, Hugh Hamil, Bob Boring, Hap Brahams, Charley Roberts, Leon Berrong, Charley Allen, B. R. Crisp, George Handley, Gene Kerr, and Bill Stinnet. Starting lineups have not yet been released for the game.

Band Marches Last Time In Christmas Parade, Dances At Tuesday Party

Maryville College Band made its last appearance this semester as a marching band last Saturday morning in the Christmas Parade held in Maryville.

The parade began at 10:15 at Fort Craig School and went through Maryville to Montvale Pike.

Last Tuesday night, the band met in Intramural Gym for a party. Appearing on the program were Dan Winter, Ray Smith, Fred Sieber, Margie Newland, and Wilbur Sealander.

After the program, Ric Rogers was caller for square dancing, which alternated with Virginia Reels.

Barbara Rosensteel and Barbara Santos were in charge of arrangements and program.

Madrigal Singers To Sing For YM

YM will hear the Madrigal Singers, directed by Assistant Professor H. H. Harter in Bartlett Auditorium tomorrow at 1:30. The program will include Christmas carols.

This will be the Group's first appearnce since their reorganization in the fall of 1947.

Those comprising the group are Linnea Johnson, Lois Doebler, Evalyn Smith, Gloria Measamer, Patricia Cox, Mary Holly Webb, Herbert Keene, Jim Akin, James Dooley, Jack Reid, and George Howell.

Vols Set Consecration Service Sunday Night

Student Vols' final meeting for the semester is to be held after Vespers Sunday night. It will be the annual Consecration Service.

The program, of readings and music, will be held in Bartlett Auditorium.

IRC Hears Book Review, 'Russia Since The War'

"Soviet Russia Since the War," by Dr. Hewlett Johnson, the Dean of Canterbury, will reviewed by Dick Newman at IRC, Wednesday night.

The meeting will be held at 6:45 in the Chemistry Lecture Room, Fayerweather.

'Wonderland'

is polite to say goodnight and thank them for being there.

2. It is not necessary to be an excellent dancer, but it is advisable at least to know your way around the floor before attempting to lead a girl. It will save you from being a wallflower.

3. Conversation during dances is entirely a matter of choice and not of etiquette. Your primary reason for attending was to dance and not to be a clever conversationalist.

Helpful Hints

4. Having started a dance with a girl, a man must complete it. It is the girl's prerogative to suggest that they sit it out.

5. The first and last dance is always had with the girl the boy escorted to the dance and she saves those for him.

6. Do not exhibit your "skill" on the dance floor. Others are there for their own enjoyment and will not appreciate your monopolizing the floor. Cheek to cheek dancing with your eyes closed may seem romantic to you but looks stupid to others.

7. When food is served, don't take things into your hands, even in a school gym. If it is buffet style, the girl always precedes the boy. In other cases, the boy serves the girl who is seated somewhere on the sidelines.

8. Always remember that a girl is as responsible for her partner's actions as he is and that any unseemly behavior reflects on her. In short, anything that attracts too much attention is in bad taste.

Remember that good manners are in good taste always. Common sense dictates that.

Girls' Choir, Glee Club Plan Kid Party Tuesday

Intramural Gym will be the scene of the All-Girl Choir and Men's Glee Club "Kid" Party Tuesday, December 6, at 7:30 p. m. Each member is to come dressed as a "kid" and is asked to bring a stocking for Santa to fill.

Ken Garrison and Marney Mauger are general chairmen.

Co-chairmen of committees include Hazel Holm and Rav Packard, decoration; Clara Miller and Charles Williams, refreshments; and Ruth Davis and Tony Haturo, recreation.

Mental Work At Pre-Med

Sue Althouse and Don Winslow will relate summer experiences in a Pennsylvania mental institution at December 8 meeting of Pre-Med Club, 6:45 p.m. in Fayerweather.

A Christmas party will follow the program.

PEGGY CUMMINGS LEADS PRAYER MEETING THURSDAY

Peggy Cummings will lead All-Campus prayer meeting Thursday in the Y Rooms at 9:30. Records of "Star of Bethlehem," carols and scripture will be featured.

Vespers Has Former Moderator, Glee Club

Dr. Joseph A. Vance, pastor, writer, and former USA Presbyterian Moderator, will be the speaker at Vespers tomorrow night at seven, Lamar Library.

Now interim minister of the First Presbyterian Church of Bristol, Dr. Vance has held pastorates at Chicago's Hyde Park Presbyterian and First Presbyterian, Detroit, Mich.

Anthems "Adoramus Te" by Palestrin and Bach's "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring" are to be sung by the 46-voice Men's Glee Club. Instructor Curtis Hughes is director of the group.

Professor Katherine Davies, chairman of the Division of Fine Arts, is pianist for the evening.

ALPHA SIGMA

Alpha Sigma will have as their guests tonight Dan Winter and Irene Launitz, who will play selections of classical music. The club will meet as usual in the Y rooms at 6:15 p.m.

ATHENIAN

Tonight's Athenian program will feature an exhibit of tumbling by the College tumbling team. The meeting will be at 6:15 p.m. in Bartlett Auditorium

THETA

Girls from Memorial will present a short play at Theta tonight at 6:15. Norma Boyd is in charge of the play. Also as part of the program will be the Andrews Sisters—Beverly Moore, Margie Newland, and Phyllis Jackson—who will present several selections.

French Club Officers To Be Elected Thursday

French Club officers for next semester will be elected at the club's meeting Thursday, December 8, at 6:45 in the YW rooms. New members are to be elected at the same meeting.

A Christmas party consisting of carols, readings, games, and refreshments will climax the evening.

Vesper Choir Schedules Christmas Party Tuesday

Vesper Choir members will have their Christmas Party Tuesday, December 6, in the Y Rooms at 7:30 p.m.

The following committees are in charge of the evening's entertainment: Christmas Tree, Wally Schroeder, chairman; decorations, Ruth Nicholas, chairman; refreshment, Fred Sieber, chairman; invitations, Nina Ruth Gillette, chairman; and program, John Shew, chairman.

Enough MC Coal Chances Seen Good

Maintenance Director L. A. Black announced this week that the College has on hand seven carloads of coal—enough to last about three and half weeks.

With the coal strike called off Thursday, prospects are good that the several carloads ordered will see the school through the semester at least. It was pointed out, however, that severe cold weather could rapidly deplete the supply.

Consonata Electric Organ Being Used In Chapel

The Consonata electronic organ now being used in chapel services is on trial for purchase by the Fine Arts Department. It will be here until after Christmas, and will be used in "Messiah" and other Christmas programs.

Raymond Holsey, philosophy major from Baltimore, Md., is president of MSO this year, and has been both vice-president and president of Ministerial Association. A member of YM Cabinet for two years, he was vice-president last year. During his junior year he was a member of Student Council and the MSO Coordinating Council and has been the football team for four years.

Dorothy Holverson, English major from Monticello, Ind., is president of YWCA, having been secretary last year. She was editor of the 1949 Chilhowean. Miss Holverson belongs to Theta Alpha Phi, Writers' Workshop, and Vesper Choir.

William Nish, student body president, is from Santa Cruz, Cal., and his major field is psychology. He was president of his sophomore class, vice-president of Athenian, and a Y Cabinet member that year. Last year he was president of YMCA, a member of Theta Alpha Phi, Student Council, and Student-Faculty Senate. He has been on the honor roll all through college, and is a member of the Maryville College Playhouse.

Virginia Schwarz, Glenside, Pa., is a psychology major. She is president of WSGA and secretary of Student-Faculty Senate. Miss Schwarz has been a Student Council member, vice-president of Theta Epsilon, an officer in All-Girls Choir and French Club, a members of Writers' Workshop, and a cabinet member of YWCA.

to a smashing victory, this time over Athenian B by a 34-15 count. McNeill hit for 13 points in another warm-up affair before Saturdays "big" game.

Minnies Over Loafers

Minnies handed Loafers their third straight loss with a 20-10 victory. It was the Minnies second win against one loss.

Globtrotters Over Wheels

Wheels almost upset Globtrotters with only four men in a hard fought game. Benie Baldwin was high for the winners with nine points; Buz Cardozo again led the losers with eight points. Final score, Globtrotters 34-27 over Wheels.

Rabbies Over Cavaliers

Frank Morton and Thad Godwin teamed up to lead Rabbies to a 27-13 win over Cavaliers. It was their third win of the young season.

Whizzers Over Scotties

Whizzers rolled to an overwhelming 23-2 half-time score then coasted in the second half to win 28-12. Junior Johnson and Jim Kren, winner and loser respectively, shared high point honors with seven each. It was the third win for the Whizzers and the first loss for the losers.

Shudas Over Schlops

Howard Gress and Bill Shields each sunk eight points as they led their team to a 33-13 win over Schlöps. The win kept the Shudas in the win column with three victories and no defeats.

FACULTY CLUB MEETING POSTPONED UNTIL 13TH

Faculty Club meeting originally scheduled for Tuesday, has been postponed until December 13, according to word received from the President's office. Professor Katherine Davies will have the program at that time.

200 Voices Combine In MC's 'Messiah' Presentation Tomorrow

Maryville's seventeenth annual presentation of Handel's "Messiah" will be given tomorrow at 3 o'clock in Alumni Gymnasium. A chorus of over 200 voices, accompanied by the College symphony orchestra, a piano, and an organ will take part.

Harry H. Harter, assistant professor of music, will direct the performance. Katharine Davies, professor of music, is organist, and Garnet Manges, prominent local music instructor, is pianist. Dorothy Horne, associate professor of music, is Concert mistress.

Ten soloists, chosen from the Student Body, are as follows: sopranos, Ruth Humes, Linnea Johnson, Rosalie Munson, and

Evalyn Smith; altos, Gloria Measamer and Mary Holly Webb; tenors, Conrad Eaddy and Kenneth Shaffer; basses, Ross Dooley and Dick Ribble.

Handel divided his famous work into three sections. Part I contains the prophecy and the narrative of the navity; Part II tells the story of the passion and resurrection, reaching its climax with the mighty "Hallelujah Chorus"; and Part II deals with man's hope of his own resurrection.

The history of the "Messiah" is an interesting one. It was first completed on September 14, 1741 after less than 24 days work. The text was selected from the Bible by a clergyman named Pooley.

Schaumburg Heads Bainonian Officers For Next Semester

President of Bainonian for spring semester is Winnie Schaumburg from San Antonio, Texas. Vice-president is Edna Burkins, secretary is Cora Anthony, and Judy Matterson is treasurer. Program Chairmen are Betty Carroll and Hazel Holm; skit night chairmen are Beverly Jacobi and Carolyn Miller. Vote for a constitutional change was affirmative.

Miss Schaumburg, senior sociology major, has served on the Student Council, Y-Cabinet and as Nu Gamma chairman. Vice-president Edna Burkins is a senior physical education major from Street, Maryland. She has been program chairman in the Girls' Choir and was Bainonian program chairman last year.

Cora Anthony, secretary, is a sophomore math major from Ripley, and was a Nu Gamma leader. Judy Matterson is a sophomore sociology major from Syracuse, New York. Miss Matterson served as vice-president of Hi Society and as a Nu Gamma leader.

Program Chairman, Betty Carroll, sociology major from Oak Ridge, was a Nu Gamma leader. Hazel Holm, a junior sociology major from Bartow, Fla., is a Bainonian chapter leader. Skit night chairman, Beverly Jacobi, is a sophomore elementary education major from Point Pleasant, N. J. Carolyn Miller, from Monmouth, Ill., is a sociology major and member of the debate team and The Highland Echo.

President Durant To Lead Thetas

Newly elected Theta Epsilon president for 1950 is Sarah Durant. Other officers elected last Tuesday are Vice-President, Jean Davis; Secretary, Jackie Lenderman; and Treasurer, Phyllis Jackson. Sergeant-at-arms is Betty Hunter, and program chairmen are Gerry Hopkins and Sara Jo Emert.

Miss Durant, senior education major from Birmingham, Ala., was vice-president of Theta in her sophomore year, vice-president of her junior class, and is secretary of B.G. At present she is a member of Student Council and Y Cabinet.

Vice-president Jean Davis, secretary of the class. is a sophomore physical education major from Seymour. Jackie Lenderman, secretary, is a junior sociology major from Birmingham, Ala. She was Theta program chairman last year.

Treasurer Phyllis Jackson, junior psychology major from Boston, Mass., was publicity chairman for Theta Rush Week. Sergeant-at-arms, Betty Hunter is a junior psychology major from Sanford, Fla.

Gerry Hopkins, program chairman, is a junior education major from Fort Valley, Ga. Sara Jo Emert, drama major from Maryville is a transfer from Tennessee Wesleyan.

Over 500 Students At 'Winter Wonderland' Fall Dance Saturday

More than 500 students attended the second annual fall dance sponsored by the Social Board held last Saturday evening in Alumni Gym.

Decorations included a huge cotton snowman in the center of the floor, accentuated by a ceiling spot light and helped carry out the dance theme of "Winter Wonderland." Evergreens encircled the floor and blue crepe paper created a sky-like ceiling. Decorations were planned and directed by Fran Moore.

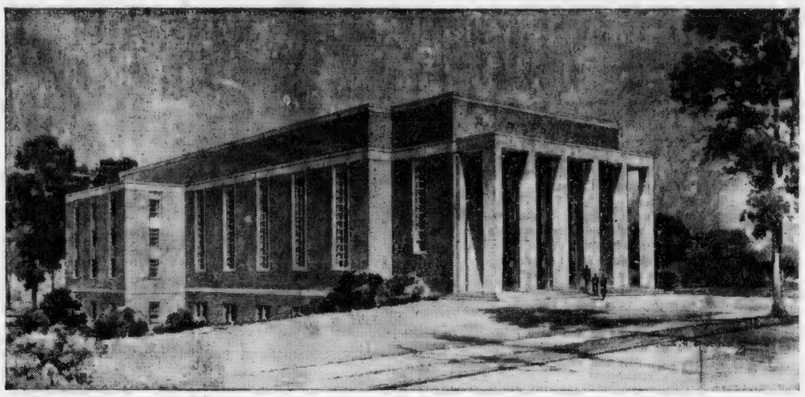
Jean Anderson headed the refreshment committee; Carol Mitchell was in charge of music; and Don Whelan directed the publicity campaign. Barbara Wallin was general dance chairman.

Chaperones were Dr and Mrs J. D. Buchanan, Dr. and Mrs. H. E. Orr, and Dr. and Mrs. Ralph T. Case.

Muses To Sponsor 'Art Is My Hobby' Exhibit In January

Muses will sponsor an art exhibition called "Art is My Hobby" January 17-31 in the library. Rules for entering are set up by the Muses as follows:

1. All drawings or paintings must be framed or matted.



2. A label should be affixed on the back of each work with the following information: Artist's name and address, Title of work, Medium (oils, watercolors, charcoal, etc.).

3. Entries may be paintings—oil, watercolor, gouache; handicrafts—leather work, metal weaving, tapestry, embroidery, clay, etc.; sculpture.

4. No painting or sculpture entries will be accepted that are from the art classes.

5. All of the Campus Community (students, faculty, staff) are eligible and invited.

6. Entry blanks can be obtained at 23 Anderson (art studio) at any time and must be turned in before December 17.

This tentative architect's drawing, above, shows the proposed new chapel which will replace the Elizabeth R. Voorhees Chapel destroyed by fire in March, 1947. The chapel is named in honor of Dr. Samuel Tyndale Wilson, fifth president of Maryville College.

Book Store Hours, Regulations Told

Unsealed Christmas cards require two cents postage and cannot be forwarded, students were reminded this week by F. A. Griffitts, manager of the College Book Store. This regulation went into effect last January.

Book Store will be open for general service and the returning of books all day on exam days, except the afternoon of Saturday, December 17. All textbooks on a rental basis must be returned by Wednesday, December 21. A fine will be assessed to any book returned after that date.

It is suggested that books be returned after each exam to prevent the formation of long lines on the last day. Christmas parcels should be mailed early.

Book line will form the first day of the semester, January 12, and will run for two days.

Club Constitution, Reports Before Council

At an abbreviated session Wednesday night, Student Council heard a report from Student-Faculty senate on the Men's M Club Constitution, awaited the return of proposed revisions in the student body constitution from senate, and acted on one Town Night violation.

Minor changes in the Men's M Club constitution regarding appointment of committees and eligibility requirements for the club were passed by Council after Senate's approval.

President Nish reported that the Y's will sponsor the World Student Service Fund campaign on campus in the spring. Social Chairman James Dance reported that the Saturday social calendar for the coming semester has been completed except for one date: April 26.

Council adjourned early to prepare publicity for the Student Chapel Fund Drive announced Thursday morning at chapel.

'The Other Wise Man' Is Final Y Radio Program

Y Radio Workshop program, which will be broadcast next Monday night over station WGAP at 9:30, will feature a dramatization of "The Other Wise Man" by Henry Van Dyke.

This program winds up the Workshop's series for this year. Any students interested in participating in the series next semester should cotnact directors Bill Starr or Barbara Blum.

Frosh Register December 13-15

Freshmen will register for next semester classes Tuesday through Thursday of next week. The late registration fee of $2.50 will be charged for those freshmen now in attendance who have not registered by Thursday.

Senior, junior, and sophomore classes have completed their registration for the second semester.

Necessary changes in the schedules will be made at the time of registration. Schedule cards will be available at the Personnel Office Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

The day for schedule changes after registration will be Friday, January 13.

German Club Elects A.E. Galyon Next Prexy

A. E. Galyon, senior Greek major from Knoxville, was elected president of German Club and next semester at the club's last meeting for this year Monday night.

Other officers are junior Harold Winkelman, vice-president; and freshman Fannie Weber, secretary-treasurer.

'Babes In Toyland' Tonight's Musical, Intramural Gym

"Babes in Toyland," a musical revue suggested by Victor Herbert's operetta, will be presented tonight at 8 in Intramural Gym. A Christmas Carol sing preceding the show will begin at 7:30.

More than 40 MC personalities appear as singers, dancers, and entertainers in this all-campus activity sponsored by the Social Board. The sketches of the revue consist of modernized nursery rhymes and fairy tales, with songs and dances fitted in to carry out the theme. The revue is partly a burlesque of children's Christmas programs.

Santa Claus and Toyland

The plot deals with the adventures of two seven-year-old children who have been brought up by their wealthy parents apart from such normal childhood activities as the use of toys and games. Learning about Santa Claus and Toyland from their governess, the boys decide to try to find this fabulous country, and the rest of the revue reveals their adventures.

"Babes In Toyland" was written and directed by Jim Dance, assisted by Charles Williams. Jim Townsend produced the set, and Charles Gahagan will direct lighting. Music will be played by Barbara Stidham at the piano and Jim Dance at the organ; Carolyn Marshall and John Sayer will accompany some numbers.

Student Art Work Displayed In Thaw

Exhibits of student work from art classes 101 and 81 are on display in Lamar Memorial Library in Thaw Hall for two weeks, December 7-20.

Students of Art 101 have been studying the history of architectural problems. Original plans and sketches for a house were made by William Addy, Evelyn Caldwell, Florence Clark, Beverly Edwards, Jack Kidd, Nancy Lassell, and Walter Nutting. Through work in the laboratory the following made sculptures in clay modeling: William Addy, Evelyn Caldwell, Florence Clark, Mary E. Crawford, Beverly Edwards, Jack Kidd, Robert Kimmel, Nancy Lassell, Walter Nutting, and Barbara Porter. Relief Carvings were made by William Addy, Florence Clark, Mary E. Crawford, Beverly Edwards, and Nancy Lassell.

The advance students in Art 81 are exhibiting paintings which show various art media—oil, water color, and Casceu Gouache. The Oil Techniques are by Mary Hamelman, Betty Hunter, Arthur Santmier, and Clifford Smith. Water color Techniques are by Alan Fort, Mary Hamelman, Arthur Santmier, Margaret Shields, Clifford Smith, James Smith, and Charlotte Johnson of the Faculty.

Nish Outlines Need, Campaign

Opening a student drive to solicit funds for the building of a new chapel, Student Body President Bill Nish spoke in chapel on Thursday morning. "We are the ones who lose the most by not having a chapel and will gain the most by having a new chapel," he said.

"The idea of the drive is that each student make contacts for the fund in his or her own home town during the Christmas holidays. The student project can have very far reaching effects if we are all willing to do our part. It is a real opportunity to help ourselves and the college."

Outlines Need For Chapel

Nish continued to explain what a gap the loss of the chapel left on the campus and the resulting general overcrowding of all other campus buildings. The loss of the chapel means that there is no real center of worship, no place for the presentation of musical and dramatic productions, and no auditorium for student activiites.

Although extensive campaigns have been carried on in Marvville and Knoxville since the destruction of the chapel, there is still $150,000 to be raised. The present financial status of the college does not permit the building of the chapel to start until funds are assured.

Nish urged that each student do his or her part in securing pledges and cash during the holiday campaign, which was planned by the Student Council. He pointed out that it is only through the whole hearted co-operation of everyone of the student body that this drive can be a success. Every student knows at least one person who is interested enough in him or in the work that Maryville College is doing to help in our campaign, he asserted.

Campus-wide Publicity

Information concerning the chapel drive and history were distributed to each student. This information was prepared by the Student Council. Each organization on campus has given a poster to be used in the campaign and publicity has been placed in all important places on campus. Displays of the proposed chapel in pictures and plans can be seen in Pearsons and Thaw lobbies while a display in the library will feature action pictures of the burning of the chapel.

"The campaign from here out depends on you. Each of you will be a campaign in himself when you go home for the holidays. If we all do our part, I think we can look forward to a "chapel on the hill again," he concluded.

Debaters Begin, Form Committees

The debate team, which has been meeting nightly from 7 to 8, began this week on the analysis of the question: "Resolved: that the United States should nationalize all basic non-agricultural industries." The team has divided into committees which are now reporting their findings on what is wrong with management and control in basic non-agricultural industries.

Christmas Carols Chime From Anderson Tower

Christmas carols are being played from Anderson tower from 5:30 to 6. Having started last Tuesday, they will continue until December 20.

Howard Cameron set up the equipment, the loudspeakers in the tower and the other equipment in the Alumni Association office. Jim Townsend and Don Winslow are assisting Cameron. Records were loaned by Rev. F. R. Watt.

For Our College and Campus

Maryville College needs a chapel. Students on the hill need a place to congregate for activities that are vital for the full realization of the program carried on here at MC.

What the student drive for funds for the Samuel Tyndale Wilson Memorial Chapel will mean to our college and student-body, no one can estimate now. With the whole-hearted efforts of Maryville's 895 students, the success of the drive can be a great step in realizing the objective of "A chapel on the hill again."

That students might help promote the material progress of the school is not new for Maryville. Bartlett Hall, the oldest college YMCA building in the South, was built largely as a result of student efforts under the leadership of Kin Takahashi. Kin and has fellow students saw a need; they combined resources to erect a building to serve the college and student body.

Maryville students today feel a need—that a chapel should be on the hill again.

As students, we may never know what our individual efforts to find means for the completion of a chapel on the hill again may mean to our college and campus until we get out and try.

Students & Duty

No one likes to go begging. Certainly it would be nice if Maryville had a fraction of the resources of many of the great universities—Duke, Harvard, Chicago.

On the other hand, we feel, we have something these schools lack. It is on the effect of that spirit that we are going to depend for success in the Student Chapel Fund Campaign.

Before we dismiss our responsibility with a shrug, let us recall the benefits of the Chapel and to whom they go. Students, who are to conduct this part of the effort to replace Voorhees Chapel, need not be told wherein we gain, but may need urging to realize the importance of our part.

Alumni certainly will want to have a part of it. Some students may feel able to participate directly. But emphasis should be on our duty to take the facts—need and worth of the undertaking —those we know "back home."

We can do no less than try.

—D.E.W.

Great Scot !

Exiles?

Was it the thought of coming finals that prompted Doc Griffitts to suggest to his freshman chemistry class that there are great opportunities in the field of salt mining in Siberia?

Credit Where Credit Is Due.

Congratulations to P.A.J. for showing such genius and originality in her poster reading: "Winter Wonderland—No admission!"

Was Her Face Red!

In Dr. Brigg's psychology class, girls were tellinging characteristics they liked in men. When the characteristic "handsomeness" was read, Beryl Stewart raised her hand. From the back of the room came, "Aw, Beryl, he's not handsome."

Cross-country

On Tuesday night the members of the Cross-country team and their dates were walking to the banquet at Noah's Ark. Seeing the group, Jim Cates called, "What's this, Cross-country?" "Yep!" answered Jim Thurston. "Fastest bunch of females I've ever seen!"

Orange and Garnet

Coach Johnson was trying on the natty orange and garnet jacket his Cross-country team had given him. "This is fine," he murmured, "I hope Coach Honaker doesn't take it away from me and give it to his basketball team."

Girls Will Be—

From "Devil's Wing," third floor, Baldwin, the following words were heard sung to the tune of a well-known Christmas carol.

Hark we Baldwin devils shout.
Ten more days 'til we'll be out!
Peace on third and mercy mild,
Let us out we're going wild.
Now our Frankie is relieved,
When we devils up and leave.
Hark we Baldwin devils shout
Ten more days and we'll be out!

Class Work

Said Mr. Ainsworth in political science class, 'The State Department work is divided into two types—that done in foreign service, called 'field work,' and that done in Washington. . . . . .

"Called home work," supplied David Nolen.

Too Many Cooks . . . . .

The Classic Cooking Class, better known by the general term, "Grooms' Course," officially ended its experimental cookery Tuesday night with a banquet prepared by the fellows themselves. The five course dinner menu included such things as Scotch broth made by Jim Lester with the help of "some share-cropper up North named Campbell" and an exotic dessert combination named "Melody Pie."

The banquet which started out to be very formal soon lost most of its imposed formality as cookery comments sped from one end of the long table to the other, criticizing the food, and telling who cooked what and how. Mr. and Mrs. Ray Holsey who served as host and hostess for the banquet soon caught on and the official signal to begin the next course became a violent wave of the silverware from host to hostess when all were served.

Fifteen fellows certainly love Miss Meiselwitz if red roses truly mean "I love you"—that's just what they gave her—one dozen!

The question is: Is the grooms' course teaching our campus guys to be helpful husbands or is it endeavoring to make them self sufficient bachelors?

You Can't Take It With You!

Biology 203 FL is one of the few biology courses in which the students may eat their specimens after experimenting with them. That's, the general botany class which Mrs. George Brown teaches, and the specimens are fruits which the class is now studying. At one recent lab Mrs. Brown desperately provided the class with mints to save the fruits until after lab work was finished. Even with all this, nothing seemed to stop Tom Kennedy as he bit his way into a pickled fig—pickled in formaldehyde. Memorial services were held for him last Thursday afternoon.

Monkey Business

Sophomore Betty Lou (Tommy) Thomas is just about to be awarded the Nobel Prize for electrical wizardry in the field of physics pending a two weeks trial period for Dr. Lloyd's electric clock which Tommy repaired. Tommy is the little gal who in earlier childhood took apart her parents' electric stove and didn't get it back together. We haven't heard about the punishment inflicted upon her cadaver, but we know it was much more severe than the time she left the iron in the same fix.

Talk of The Week

BY ALAN FORT

Voices, Masks, and Shadows

'Messiah' History

Handel worked with unusual speed on the composition. He completed the first part in six days. Nine days later, on September 9, he finished the second part. The third part took but six days. Then for two days, ending September 12, the final details on the score were worked out and the"Messiah" was ready for production.

Shortly after the completion of the "Messiah" Handel received an invitation, which he gladly accepted, to viist Ireland. At that time his compositions were received with decided indifference by the London public. For three months he appeared in Ireland.

On March 23, 1743, the "Messiah" was first sung at Covent Garden. On the two following presentations there it attracted little of the praise it had commanded at Dublin.

However, King George II, attended the London premiere, and, like others in the audience, was reported to have been exceedingly struck and affected by the music in general. When the chorus began the "For the Lord God Omnipotent" in the Hallelujah Chorus, they were all so moved that they all, including the King, stood and remained standing until the end.

At any rate, regardless of the authenticity of the facts, we of the present day audiences the world over follow the tradition supposedly set by King George II at the first Covent Garden performance and stand during the singing of the "Hallelujah Chorus."

This is not liturgical music, but is has had a definite place in the music of the church. In the words of the critic Rafael Kammerer, who wrote on the occasion of the work's bicentennial in 1942, "In the 200 years that have come and gone since the "Messiah" first brought tears to the eyes of its creator and filled him with a vision of heaven and the great God himself, it has moved and thrilled more music lovers perhaps than any other choral work in the repertoire of choral societies, sacred or secular."

On The Screen

For the benefit of all A students who will have extra time on their hands next week, "Down to the Sea in Ships" and "The Swordsman" will be shown at the Capitol.

On Monday and Tuesday "Down to the Sea in Ships" will be given. It was first filmed in 1922 by Director Elmer Clifton who chartered a real whaler and set out for the Caribbean to catch real whales.

The new version directed by Henry Hathaway rarely gets much nearer to a real whale than a few tons of refrigerated blubber. To offset this handicap, Hathaway has concentrated on character study, backed by careful and straightforward camera work.

The story, which does not reassemble the 1922 script, concerns three males. On the eve of his last voyage old Captain Joy (Lionel Barryinore) must decide

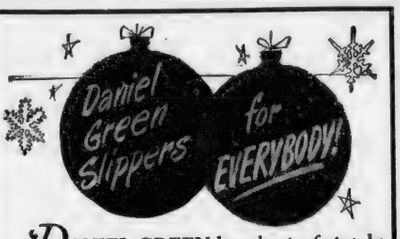
ECHO FORUM

To The Editor of The Echo:

During the past week I have received many complimentary comments on the Fall Dance of last Saturday night. Most of those who attended seemed to think that the dance was quite successful and I appreciate the remarks of those who enjoyed the evening.

However, credit should be given where credit is due. The decorations were capably handled by Fran Moore and her committee. The focal point of the gym was the snow man which was a masterpiece of construction by Bob Cuthill, Austin Van Pelt and Lee Cook.



Jean Anderson's crew of refreshment makers refute the statement that too many cooks spoil the broth for she had several "cooks" and the "broth" turned out to be both different and good.

Last, but certainly not least are the electricians. Tommy Kees kept the records spinning while Ed Vanderslice, Chuck Gahagan and George Barber managed the lights.

Thanks are also due to our willing and capable chaperones and the couples who served as welcoming committee.

If the dance was a success it was due to the diligent help of all those behind the scenes who made it that way.

Dance Chairman.

Sports Echoes

BY TOM KELLY

● THE 1949-50 WRESTLING season officially began last night with Knox Y. Most Maryville College sport fans, we believe, are very interested in this sport, but a majority of them do not know of the background of the grunt and groan men here on the hill.

Wrestling was inaugurated here in the 1930-31 season and has been carried on successfully up to the present time. In all these seasons, numbering 15, Maryville had but one season below the .500 mark. From 1930 to 1935 the Highlanders did not lose a single match while winning 29 straight. They were stopped by the Appalachian Teachers in 1935 by a score of 17-13 for the first defeat in Maryville history. Up to date, the Scotties had had five undefeated seasons.

The Maryville squad has taken all comers. They have successfully wrestled against such teams as Tennessee, Georgia Tech, Auburn, Arkansas State, Vanderbilt, Kansas, and Chattanooga—all larger schools and schools which, by the way, subsidize their athletes. Our record against UT in wrestling is 15 wins, one defeat, and one tie. Wonder why they did away with wrestling at UT? The overall record for Scottie Wrestlers is 78 wins, 25 defeats, and four ties for a percentage of .680.

Since 1931 the Scots have captured 11 state championships and tied with Vandy for another. Not bad for a school that wrestles against the kind of opposition that Maryville encounters. Coach Davis now coaches wrestling and he has kept the sport at its same high standing as before the war.

●THE HIGHLANDER FOOTBALL Team will be rewarded next Monday for their season's work with a dinner in Pearsons Hall. Letters will be given out, a new captain will be chosen, and Coach Honaker will tell his perennial jokes. It will be a good dinner anyway.

●SOME OF THESE SEMI-PRO Teams are not pushovers. Witness last Friday's painful defeat at the hands of the Reliable Motors. Some of the best games of the year are wtih these semi-pro clubs.

●THE BANQUET LEAGUE is in full swing now that Winter has set in. A week ago last Thursday and Friday it was the footballers at Heron's Roost, last Tuesday The Cross Country team up at Noah's Ark, and Monday it's the annual football banquet. Some of the boys will put on those extra pounds lost in training. The Harriers gave Coach Johnson an Orange and Garnet sweater which was really snazzy. The coach was in the process of showing it off to all and sundry last week by wearing it in place of the old faded corduroy. Incidently, seven men lettered this fall for the hill and dalers including Jim Thurston who hopes that this time he can keep his letter. Bill Menges, one of the best runners seen around here in a long time, was elected captain for the 1950 season.

● WE ARE GLAD TO SEE that J.B. Proctor made the Scot All Oponent football team. He is one of the best quarterbacks that Maryville will ever have to face. One play in particular stands out in my mind when I think of Proctor. It was in this year's encounter at Murfreesboro. Proctor faded back to pass and a whole host of Blue Raiders went out to the right drawing the Scot secondary with them. Proctor faked beautifully to the right and then whirled and passed nonchalantly to the left to a waiting end who gathered the ball in and romped downfield for a TD without a Honakerman within 20 yards of him. It was a beautifully executed play even though it was against our beloved Scotties.

●HIGHLIGHTS OF the 1949 Football Season. Maryville's comeback at Centre, the WNC win, Merriman's running and receiving honorable mention in Little All-American team, Bob Boring's beautiful kicking, and the stalwart play of the whole forward wall. Last but not least the band for their 198 beat a minute marching step, and their brilliant performances at all of our home football games.

Squad Banquets Monday Night

Members of the 1949 Highlander grid squad will be feted Monday evening in the annual football banquet. The celebration is a joint undertaking of the college and the City of Maryville, and is designed to take the place of the two banquets, one by the college and one by the City, which have been the rule for the past several years.

Pearsons Hall is the scene of the banquet this year, which is scheduled to begin at 7:00 p. m. Main events of the evening are awarding of 32 football letters and election of next year's captain.

Program

Toastmaster for the occasion is Mr. Albert Brinkley, President of the Bank of Maryville; aiding Mr. Brinkley will be another representative of the City as yet unnamed. The invocation will be given by Ray Holsey, member of the graduating class of 1950 and four-year center for the Highlanders. Coach Honaker is to review the '49 football season, followed by the introduction this year's lettermen by Coach Davis. The '50 captain will be elected during the banquet and will be presented to the group by this year's captain Howard Davis.

High Schools Attend

Innovation this year in the combination banquet will be the presence of senior football players and their coaches from the surroundnig Blount County high schools. The coaches are to present their own players during the ceremonies. Also on hand will be the members of the Faculty Committee on Athletics composed of Dean Frank D. McClelland, Louis Black, Marvin Minear, Paul Henry, and Coach L. S. Honaker.

Miss Heron of the English department is also invited in recognition of her outstanding support and undeviating loyalty to the to the squad.

Lettermen

Thirty-one players and manager Bo Henry are to receive letters at the banquet. The complete list is as follows: Benton Baldwin, Henry Calloway, King Berrong, Kenneth Shepard, Bob Neff, Charlie Allen, Clarence Shepard, Jack Henry, Hershell Merriman, Leon Berrong, Allen Law, Hap Brahams.

PING-PONG

Play moved into the quarter finals of the intramural ping-pong singles tournament as the week-end rolled near. Quarter finalists at the time of this column's writing were as follows: Bill Shields is to meet Tom Yeaworth, Wesley Miles vs Bob Boring, Everett Zabriskie will face an opponent as yet unnamed, and the last two players have not as yet been determined.

FENCING

The intramural fencing team will put on a ten-minute program during half-time of the Union game next Friday.

B's Bounced Twice In Close Contest

Trailing 26-9 at the half, the Maryville College B squad outscored a Wildwood five in the second half, only to be nipped in the closing minutes, 36-34. The clash was played in the Alumni Gym on December 2.

Bill Shields was high man for MC with six field goals for 12 points. Teammate McMahon, with three field goals and three fouls, tallied 9.

MC B—U-T FROSH

Playing on foreign hardwood, MC's B team was defeated Monday by the U-T Frosh, 57-49. Atkins of the U-T quintent shared scoring laurels with Bill Shields of the losers as each scored 16. Little of UT, and Beatty of Maryville were close behind as they hit the cords for 15 and 13, respectively.

Scot-Union Tilt Scheduled Friday

Patching up a relationship which broke off in 1941, Maryville's Scots will take on Union College Friday.

Faced with a three game losing streak against the Bulldogs of Barbourville, Ky., Coach Honaker's men will be out to break this streak which began in 1923.

Down through the years, the Honakermen have yet to come out on the top end of a cage game, losing, 24-29, in 1924, 21-22, in 1928, and 40-43, in 1941.

Continuing the trend of Indiana athletes playing for southern schools, Coach Bolyard has four Hoosiers on his team. Standing six feet, six, Dick Beeson, their center, has most of the kinks out of his playing and should give Scot players a rough time.

Another Indianan, Bill Brewer, made All-Kentucky last year as a freshman—the first time a freshman ever had the honor. Brewer is a measly six-feet-four. The last two refugees from Indiana are Keith Hodgin at six feet, one inch, and Max Pinkerton. Pinkerton was the boy who really shined against Milligan last Monday by swishing the nets for 19 points.

High-Point Man

Another high scorer for the Kentuckians is Harold Barker, one of three seniors on the squad, who led their team in scoring last year with a 13-point average for some twenty games. Woody Crum, the only Junior on their team according to reports, really electrified the crowds with left-handed hooks.

Matmen Open; Scots vs. King

MC Grapplers Open With Knox YMCA

Bout Precedes King College Basketball

Maryville wrestlers took to the mats last night against Knox Y with a somewhat jumbled lineup. Most of the weights have been shifted with only Cameron Callaway, and Lawrence Major, holding down their old spots.

In the 121 pound class is Paul McNeil, a newcomer to that weight. J. A. Cameron holds down his old 128 pound spot in which he fared so well last season.

Chesley Anderson was out there last night in the 136 pound class. Last year's 136 section was held down by Tom Yeaworth.

Tubby Callaway goes back to his old post as the 145 pound terror. Lawrence Major returned to the 155 pound slot from which he operated last season .

John Lewis will displace Captain Hershall Merriman at the 165 pound weight. Hersh moved up to the 175 pound class.

Herb Palmer, last year's 175 pound star, has been moved up to the heavyweight division.

Last Year

In last year's encounters with Y, Maryville grapplers came out on the long end of 25-8 and 30-8 scores. As for some of the individual results of last year's meets J.A. Cameron decisioned and pinned West in his two encounters with him. Ches Anderson decisioned and pinned S. Smith and Walker in his two meets.

Callaway pinned Lucas and R. Smith, Lucas in the first and Smith in the second meet. Merriman pinned both of his men, Ottinger and Brady.

Herb Palmer decisioned Reddick 4-0 in his first meet, but lost to Bailey in the second.

Lewis of Maryville and Castlebury of Knox Y exchanged exhibition decisions, Lewis taking the first and Castlebury the second.

Up to last night's meet, the Scots have lost but one decision to Knox Y. Intercollegiate wrestling was instituted at Maryville in 1930, and since that date the Scots have taken 25 decisions from the boys from Knoxville, while losing only one time.

MC Hoopsters Meet Tornadoes of King

Maryville's Scots officially opened their hoop season last night with King College. The contest with the Tornadoes was the 28th of a series which began in 1926-27. Of these 28 games, Maryville won 20 while losing only seven.

The Tornadoes came to town minus two of their best players from last year. Joe Lambert and Bob Stone, who combined to make 47 points against Maryville, were lost through graduation, but this didn't deter the team's spirit one bit.

Vets Back For King

Back from last year's aggregation were nine men who went down in defeat twice to the Scots, 78-69, and 59-52. Outstanding of these veterans was Arlie Johnson, who racked up 27 points in the two contests. Others back were Chick Thorington, Richard Harr, Ray Deweese, Bill Gillespie, Fred Gray, Jimmy Flannagan, Jack McCarty, and Fred Emmert.

Final game for both teams will be their clash of February 24 at Bristol. King will have finished a 17-game schedule while the Scots will have finished one somewhat longer consisting of twenty-one games.

At halftime, fans were treated to a tumbling match by the Gym Club.

Scots Go Down In Lid-Lifter, 74-68

With Joe Eldridge, former U-T star, pouring 33 points through the hoops, Reliable Motors of Knoxville lifted the lid off the 1949-50 Cage Season in defeating Maryville's Scots, 74-68, at Alumni Gym, Saturday.

Putting on an exhibition that was thrilling to all eyes, the lithe Eldridge was the big difference in the game. Surprising thing was the fact that he piled up four fouls in the first five minutes, yet never had another called on him for the rest of the game.

The game finished as it started, rough. Running like mad up and down the court, both teams made sure that the referees had their hands full.

A total of 44 fouls were called, 18 against the Scots and 26 against the Mechanics.

From the game's outset it looked like a runaway for the Knoxvillians as they jumped out to a quick lead. They held it through out the half, though, after Maryville made a slight comeback, led by Hap Brahams and Hugh Hamil. Going out at the half with the score 36-31 in favor of the visitors, Coach Honaker's men came back fighting to go ahead on Bob Boring's stellar play, 46-40, but before they could consolidate this short-lived lead, the Motor-men bounced back behind Jim Mabry to rack up nine points in no time at all. The Highlanders never knew what hit them.

After his, there was no question as to the game's outcome, for the Knoxvillians kept a suitable distance between themselves and the Scots. During this time, Eldridge began making some very fancy shots that had the Scot fans in an uproar. Still pecking away determinedly, the Scots banged in ten points in the last minutes of play, with Bob Boring driving in for some beautiful crip shots.

The Scots were definitely off as they sank only 26 shots out of 93 taken. The only thing that kept the Scots in the game was their ability to sink crips, for the longs were bouncing all over the backboard and floor.

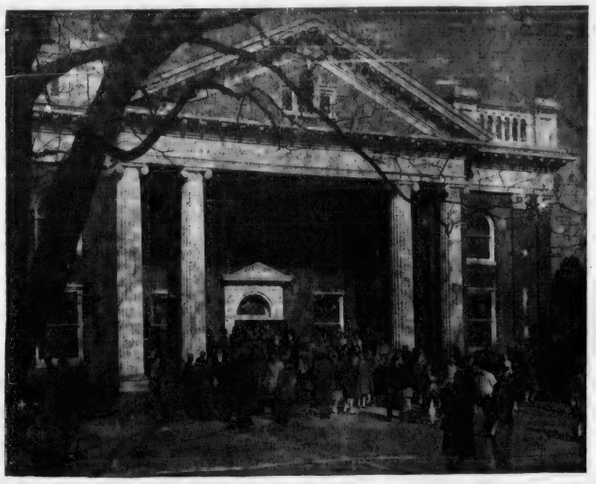
Loss of Elizabeth R. Voorhees Chapel Felt Deeply By Maryville

Building Plans Nationel Campaign Now In Progress

By Phyl Jackson

Maryville's students have for three years known what it means to be without a center of worship. Our chapel was destroyed by fire on the night of March 26, 1947, after forty years of being the hub around which student activities revolved. The Elizabeth R. Voorhees chapel since 1907 had rendered an invaluable service to the campus.

Daily chapel services, Sunday Vespers, February Meetings, Commencement, and other all-campus gatherings were held there. In the same building were the music and dramatic arts facilities. The chapel housed a pipe organ and a radio control room also. The loss of the chapel left a yawning chasm in student activities.



Of course, the building and its contents were insured and the insurance was paid. However, the attractive structure was not fireproof. Because of the original cost of the building, its age and type of construction, the amount of the insurance was only a fraction of the sum required to build a larger, fireproof building, considering the present cost of building materials.

The first gifts toward rebuilding came spontaneously when the news of the disaster was heard. Because of the variety of local campaigns, however, it did not seem advisable to launch a campaign for funds on the community. This accounts for the fact that it was not until the fall of 1948 that a community-wide intensive program was conducted. During this time subscriptions totaling $100,000 were received in Maryville and Knoxville. Meanwhile funds were coming in from alumni and friends, and plans were laid to appeal to all alumni and friends of the college.

Regional Campaigns

Since then there have been organized campaigns among the alumni of the College in a number of centers. In those regional campaigns alumni formed committees and attempted to see all fellow alumni who lived in the area. So far such efforts have been launched in Washington, Philadelphia, Baltimore, New York, northern New Jersey, Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Chattanooga, Birmingham, and Atlanta.

It is estimated that a chapel of the size and type needed will cost approximately $400,000. The cash and pledges on hand now total approximately $250,000, leaving $150,000 yet to be found. Since many of Maryville's alumni, like many of Maryville's students, do not have a great deal of money, it is necessary to depend on many gifts of moderate size rather than on a few gifts of large proportion. The directors of the college have thought that the people most closely related to the College and its program are the ones who really wish to rebuild the chapel. Those who have been students or are students are those who can see just how much the chapel means to the campus life and how desperately needed it is at present.

Shown above is a typical after-chapel crowd in front of Maryville's much-used Elizabeth R. Voorhees Chapel. Erected in 1905-1906, it served the College and its students in many ways during its 40-year history.

Pictured at right is the Voorhees Chapel fire of March 26, 1947, which completely destroyed the building and equipment, and left Maryville without a center of worship and an all-campus meeting place.

New Chapel Plans

Present plans call for building the chapel on the same location with the exception that the front of the chapel will be set back from the street and will be on the level of Carnegie Hall. The new chapel is designed to seat 1200 people whereas the old chapel accomodated about 850. Because it must be used for general meetings, for concerts, and for dramatic productions, the new chapel cannot be built as a church. The aim is to design an auditorium which will serve for all these purposes—be adapted to all these uses and be appropriate in appearance to all of them. Special attention is being given to the stage.

Inner Structure

Since the building will be on a hillside there will be necessarily a full floor above the ground but below the auditorium to be used chiefly for drama. There will be an experimental theatre, drama and speech teaching studios and practice rooms, storage rooms, dressing rooms, and a large rehearsal room for the choir whose activities will center in the chapel.

It is planned to construct the chapel of similar brick to that which is being used on the Fine Arts Center. The outside style and appearance have not quite been decided as yet.

Report from President

One of the questions always asked concerns the time the chapel is to be built. "It is impossible to give a definite answer," according to a report from the President's office. "We must have enough money in sight to justify the beginning. That we do not have. Every effort to secure additional funds will be an effort to advance the date of construction."

Therefore, the first task in connection with the chapel is to secure the remaining funds needed. Every loyal Maryville alumni and undergraduates who give or secure funds from others who believe in the kind of work Maryville Colloge is doing and in the kind of people who attend college here, will b doing a great service to the institution and its future students. Let's all get behind the wheel and push for—A Chapel On The Hill Again.

once again whether to take along his orphaned, sea-struck grandson (Dean Stockwell) or leave him ashore to catch up on his book learnin'. Boston-trained Dan Lunceford (Richard Widmark) has enough schol to keep both a ship and Little Jed's education afloat so the three set sail for the whaling grounds and a few stern lessons in character building.

"Down to the Sea"i is not a great picture, but is sewed up enough to be seaworthy and give an occasional real sea smell. Its big moments have a fast-moving drive and conviction.

"The Swordsman" will be shown on Wednesday. It is a pleasant and highly entertaining Western, which takes place in Scotland at turn of the eighteenth century.

Larry Parks appears clad in the colors of the Mac Arden clan and as lover of a lass—Ellen Drew—who belongs to the antagonistic Glowan Clan. After much "Feudin' and Fightin'," complete clan annihilation is barely averted when two factions bury their words, leaving the way free for two lovers to marry.

The plot of "The Swordsman" is pretty weak, but flavor is added with bagpipe music and colorful tartaus.

Recognition Service Tuesday Will Acclaim 14 Mid-Year Graduates

Fourteen seniors, who have completed graduation requirements this semester, will be recognized at the regular chapel service Tuesday morning, December 20. The service will be only of recognition of their graduation, and diplomas will not be presented until the regular graduation exercises in May, 1950.

The fourteen are as follows:

Kenneth Andes, Robert Eastman, John Fouche, Charles Keeler, Charles Krueger, Dillon Moroney, Herbert Parsons, Clifford Porterfield, Noble Pribble, Arthur Santmier, Muriel Headrick Smith, Carroll Stegall, Mary Mitchell Wooldridge, and William Young.

Kenneth Andes is a business administration major from Alcoa. He is a member of the football team who formerly attended Los Angeles City College.

Robert Eastman is an English major from Newport News, Va. He is a ministerial student and was vice-president of the Ministerial Association last year.

John Fouche is a business administration major from Maryville. He formerly attended the University of Tennessee.

Charles Keeler majored in sociology. He is from Asheville, N. C., and came to Maryville from Asheville-Biltmore Jr. College.

Charles Krueger is a Bible and Religious Education major and a ministerial student. He is from University City, Md.

Dillon Moroney is a physical education major from Maryville. He attended the University of Tennessee.

Parsons, Porterfield

Herbert Parsons is a ministerial student who majored in religious education. He is from Hollywood, Florida.

Clifford Porterfield is a physical education major from Butler, Pa.

Noble Pribble is a physics major from Macfarlan, W. Va.

Arthur Santmier is an art major from Friendsville. He is a member of Writers' Workshop and has attended the University of Tennessee.

Muriel Headrick Smith is an elementary education major from Dalton, Ga. She is a member of the Future Teachers of America.

Stegall, Wooldridge

Carroll Stegall is a psychology major from Belgian Congo, Africa. He was last year's president of Student Volunteers and Camera Club. He also served as secretary and publicity chairman of IRC his sophomore and junior years.

Mary Mitchell Wooldridge is a dramatic art major from Harrodsburg, Ky. She has been a member of Pi Kappa Delta for four years, and was secretary of the organization her sophomore year. She is a member of Theta Alpha Phi and was last year's president. Miss Wooldridge is president of Theta Epsilon this semester and is a member of the BG club.

William Young is a biology major from Maryville.

McNeil, Menges Lead Alpha Sigs

Alpha Sigmas elected a new slate of officers for the second semester last Tuesday.

Paul McNeil, president-elect is a sociology major from Knoxville; Bill Menges, vice-president-elect, is a physics major from Kennett Square, Pa.; Charlie Flood, secretary-elect, is a biology major from Manosquan, N. J.; and Bob Holley, program chairman-elect is a drama major from Dover, N. J.

New Arrival

Born Tuesday, December 13, to Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Kramer, a son, Lloyd Stephen, 6 pounds 9 ounces.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Kramer graduated in the MC class of '47. Mrs. Kramer, the former Ruth Bell Lloyd, is the daughter of President and Mrs. Ralph W. Lloyd.

Dr. Lloyd Attends Church Meetings, School Convocation

Dr. Ralph W. Lloyd will represent MC at several meetings and a convocation to be held in Cincinnati during the opening week of the second semester. Last Tuesday he left by plane for Greenwich, Connecticut to attend a meeting of the various Protestant denominations held at Seabury House from December 14-16.

He will attend the convocation of Presbyterian college leaders with Frank D. McClelland and Joe C. Gamble, recorder of MC Board of Directors.

The meetings attended will be the Commission on Christian Higher Education held January 7-9, the Association of American Colleges held the 9-11, the Presbyterian College Union on the 12th, and the National Protestant Council.

Yesterday Dr. Lloyd was in Greenwich at the denominational meetings. The purpose of the meeting, stated Dr. Mark A. Dawber, council's co-executive secretary, is "to explore several proposals which will be submitted to interested denominations for a united church of Christ in America."

Theta Installs New Officers At Party; Durant Elected Prexy

Mary Mitch Wooldridge, President of Theta, installed the newly elected officers of Theta Epsilon Thursday night at a party given in Student Center.

Those installed are Sarah Durant, president; Jean Davis, vice-president; Jackie Lenderman, secretary; Phyllis Jackson, treasurer; Betty Hunter, sergeant-at-arms; and Gerry Hopkins and Sara Jo Emert, program chairmen.

The following people were in charge of the party: program, Dot Johnston and Ginger Tufvander; refreshments, Mary Jo Pribble and Charlotte Wyman; publicity, Mary Kennedy and Alita Bryant.

Mrs. G.B. Brown Attends Science Academy Meeting

Mrs. George Brown, assistant professor of biology, attended the 59th annual meeting of the Tennessee Academy of Science at Southwestern-at-Memphis, December 2-3. The Tennessee division is affiliated with the National Academy.

Over 100 present at the meeting discussed current trends and experiments in the fields of zoology, botany, physics, and chemistry.

Next year's meeting will be held in Johnson City at East Tennessee State College.

At Council— Town Night Ruling; President's Letter Read

No regular Town Night is scheduled for next Tuesday, it was announced by Council at its regular Wednesday night meeting in the Student Center.

Permission to go to town Tuesday night must be granted by the dormitory matron.

Most of this week's meeting time was taken in addressing cards to be sent to each student during the Christmas vacation; they are reminders of the Student Home-Town Chapel Fund Drive.

Council heard a letter from the President of the college commending the student body and particularly the Council for its part in the raising money for Wilson Chapel. The letter, which was addressed to the student body president, follows:

Dear Bill:

May I express to you and through you to all who are participating in the Student Campaign for the Chapel Fund my own sincere appreciation and the appreciation of the Board of Directors.

The plan is well conceived and the interest and purpose of the student body are encouraging to all of us. Our hearty good wishes follow you and your fellow-students in this praiseworthy undertaking.

A merry Christmas and a successful New Year to everyone.

Cordially yours,
Ralph Waldo Lloyd

Dr. Hill Shine, Ex-MC Professor, Publishes Book

Dr. Hill Shine, former MC associate professor of English, is the author of "The Quarterly Review Under Gifford" published recently by University of North Carolina Press. The book, a bibliography, deals with the identification of contributors to "The Quarterly Review" from 1809, when it was founded, to 1824.

Dr. Shine is currently teaching at MacMurray College, Jacksonville, Ill. He has held positions with the English departments of University of Louisville, University of North Carolina, University of Tennessee, and Biarritz American University. He was at Maryville from 1932-45.

Authority on Carlyle

Considered an international authority on Carlyle, Dr. Shine is also the author of "Carlyle's Fusion for Poetry, History, and Religion by 1834" and "Carlyle and the Saint-Simonians."

He was assisted with his present book by his wife, Helen Chadwick Shine, and they are now collaborating on the second volume.

Athenians Elect McKee President

Athenians elected their slate of second semester officers in their meeting last Saturday.

Officers elected were Jim McKee, president-elect, math major from Centralia, Ill.; Jim Watt, vice-president-elect, from Maryville; Chuck Holsinger, secretary-elect, from Beverly Shores, Ind.; and Bob Kees, program chairman-elect, from Philadelphia, Pa.

'Messiah' Given Seventeenth Time Sunday Afternoon

Chorus of 215 Voices Sing Famed Oratorio

Last Sunday afternoon, Handel's "Messiah" was presented for the seventeenth consecutive year at Maryville College. A chorus of 215 voices, accompanied by the College symphony orchestra, Garnet Manges at the piano, and Professor Katharine Davies at the organ, participated. Harry H. Harter, assistant professor of music, directed the performance.

The program was opened with prayer by President Lloyd, and closed with an informal carol sing. Station WGAP, Maryville, broadcast the presentation.

Ten soloists took part. Tenor solos, "Comfort Ye My People" and "Every Valley" were sung by Conrad Eaddy. "Thus Saith the Lord" and "But Who May Abide," bass solos, were sung by Dick Ribble. Alto Gloria Measamer sang "Behold a Virgin" and "He Was Despised."

10 Soloists

Rosalie Munson sang the soprano solos, "And Lo The Angel" and "And Suddenly There Was." Soprano Ruth Humes sang "There Were Shepherds" and "And The Angel Said." Alto Mary Holly Webb sang "Then Shall The Eyes" and "He Shall Feed His Flock." Linnea Johnson sang the soprano solo, "Come Unto Him." Tenor solos, "The Rebuke Hath Broken His Heart" and "Behold and See" were sung by Kenneth Shaffer. Soprano Evalyn Smith sang "I Know That My Redeemer Liveth." Ross Dooley sang the bass solos "Behold I Tell You" and "The Trumpet Shall Sound." "Pastoral Symphony" was played by the College Symphony orchestra.

The annual presentation of the "Messiah" at Maryville College has become traditionally a major all-community program. Other presentations of Handel's famous work in this area were at Jefferson City and Oak Ridge.

TRUST?

Southern Coal Producers Association asked President Truman Thursday to use Taft-Hartley law to bring coal mining back into full production. The operators also asked the administration to consider anti-trust proceedings against United Mine Workers.

NO TRUST

An FBI inspector revealed in a New York court that FBI agents had destroyed records of many alleged conversations they had heard by illegally tapping wires of Judith Coplon and Valentin Gubitchev who face trial for conspiracy and espionage.

DISUNITY

Conflict between Israel and the UN over internationalization of Jerusalem heightened when Israeli Prime Minister Ben-Gurion said last week that the transfer of the seat of government to Jerusalem was continuing. At Lake Success, the Trusteeship Council over strong US and British opposition voted preparation of a statute placing the Holy City under international rule.

UNITY?

Tennessee Senator Estes Kefauver last week in Buffalo, N.Y., proposed one "limited union" of the US and other North Atlantic democracies as a step toward permanent peace. The Alantic Pact, he said, is a nineteenth century method, as he urged union based on this country's own federation experiences.

AMA LEVIES DUES

American Medical Association meeting in Washington last week voted to levy dues of $25 a year on its members to wage an all-out propaganda war on President Truman's national health insurance program. AMA's press agent's spent well over a million in the last eight months and no price seemed too great.

Choral Groups Featured In MC's Christmas Vespers

Alumni Gym Is Scene of Traditional Candlelight Service of Muisc, Sermonette

Maryville's traditional Christmas Vespers will be held at seven o'clock tomorrow night in Alumni Gymnasium.

Taking part in the service are the All Girl Choir, the Madrigal Singers, and the Vesper Choir.

Tom Wheeler, MC '48, will play the oboe obbligato in "Terli, Terlow," which will be sung by MC's Madrigals.

Evalyn Smith is to sing the soprano solo in "The Shepherd Had An Angel" with the Vesper Choir. Dorothy Horne plays the viola part.

An alto solo in "From Heav'n Above" will be sung by Nina Ruth Gillette.

A candlelight processional by the Vesper and All Girl Choirs will begin the service.

Dr. Lloyd's Sermonette

President Ralph W. Lloyd is to give the invocation and preach a sermonette entitled, "Let Us Go Over to Bethlehem."

For the first time since the burning of Voorhees Chapel an organ will be used at this service. Professor Katharine Davies is organist.

The combined choirs will sing "O Tell Us, Shepherds," a Polish carol arranged especially for this program by Harry H. Harter, who will direct.

Anthems for the program are arranged in three groups. The first is by the All Girl Choir, the second by the Madrigal Singers, and the third by the Vesper Choir.

Five hymns are scheduled for congregational singing. The Bach "In Dulci Jubilo" and a Lithuanian carol for the prelude, and Abt's "Light of Bethlehem" is the Introit.

The All Girl Choir will sing "Angleus ad pastores ait" by Monteverdi, four Slovak Christmas Carols, and Bampton's "Christmas Bells."

Madrigals Sing

Selections by the Madrigals include "Sleep, Baby, Sleep," "Ding Dong, Merrily on High," "Cradle Song of the Shepherds," and the Melville Smith Shepherd's Song, "Terli, Terlow."

In addition to the two anthems with solos, the Vesper Choir will sing Cevaert's "Slumber Song of the Infant Jesus" and "Nunc Dimittis" by Gretchainoff.

The choral benediction is "Silent Night, Holy Night."

WSGA Dorm Officers Chosen

WSGA dorm officers for spring of '50 have been elected, announced President, Ginnie Schwarz. Carol Jones is incoming vice-house chairman of Baldwin, and secretary-treasurer is Sue Watson. Floor chairman include Jackie Smith, first; Barbara Rogers, second; and Mary Butts, third. Co-fire captain is Mary Edith McMillan .

Vice-house chairman of Memorial is Ella Swift. LaDonna Baylor is secertary-treasurer, and fire captain is Doris Holt. Third floor chairman is Lena McGaha, and chairman of second floor is Mary Ann Hicks. Jane Rector and Barbara Porter tied for first floor.

Nominated for vice-president of Pearsons are Margie Newland, Phyl Jackson and Anne Gates. Secretary-treasurer nominees are Ellen Collins and Martha Kincaid. Fire captains will be either Mary Wills, Sally Kemp or Laura Dale.

Floor chairmen nominations include Ruth Nichols and Elenor Kramer, for second; Edna Burkins, Mary Hammelman and Ruth McSween, third; and Eanie Nelson, Ruth Rogers and Dolores Green, fourth.

Memorial held a Christmas party Saturday night. Fran Knabb was in charge of decorations; Betty Lester, refreshments; Judy Johnson, recreation; and Fannie Weber, Christmas gifts.

Christmas Themes In Sunday Schools

Students will hear Christmas programs at the various Sunday School services tomorrow morning.

Tom Jones is in charge of the service at the Broadway Methodist Sunday School.

At the First Methodist service, Ben Paxton will give a Christmas reading and Edwin Goddard, music director for the church, will present a program of Christmas music.

George Ogle, Mary Kelton, and Wally Schroeder of the Crusaders Class are on the program for Sunday School at New Providence.

Christmas music will be featured on the program at St. Andrew's Episcopal service.

First Baptist Sunday School Class is planning a Christmas program with Bill Varker leading in singing carols.

'Muses' Group Hear Trio In Fine Arts Program

The Muses, a group of students and faculty, met last Monday night for a program on several phrases of fine arts.

Judy Breen read "The Monster," a paper written for Writers' Workshop, which described a Florida hurricane.

"Mort D'Arthur," written for special studies and presented last year by a group from the music department at New Providence Presbyterian Church, was played and explained by Charles Huffman.

Arthur Santmier talked about the type of art and mood in which several of his paintings were made.

About The Chapel Drive—

OPINION In QUOTES

—What Campus Leaders Say:

QUESTION: "How do you feel about the Student Chapel Campaign?"

John Baird: (Student Vols president, Hometown—Berkeley, Calif.)

If every student really puts his whole heart into it, I feel confident that there will be a chapel on the hill again.

Bill Chalker: (YMCA president, Hometown—Birmingham, Ala.)

The possibilities are unlimited if every student cooperates.

Jim Dance: (Social Board Chairman, Hometown—Knoxville)

I want the new chapel campaign to have all the success it deserves. After all the many times I have told people to bring blankets to a show it will be nice to have chairs.

Del Earisman: (Vice-president of the Student Body, Hometown—New Cumberland, Pa.)

It won't be easy but if we all do something I'm sure the combined effort will result in a big step toward getting our new chapel.

Ray Holsey: (President of MSO, Hometown—Baltimore, Md.)

It's a good idea and I'm sure it will work.

Dot Holverson: (President of YWCA, Hometown—Monticello, Ind.)

The Y is all for it. It is a very good thing and I am convinced that a substantial sum will come in if the program is presented in the right manner.

The idea is fine and needs everyone's coopration.

Mary Lyerly: (Editor, 1950 Chilhowean, Hometown—Apopka, Fla.)

I think that some students will have particularly good opportunities to help the chapel drive—those who live in areas where the Presbyterian Church USA is strong and those who live where there are large groups of alumni.

Joe McNeill: (President of junior class, Hometown—Townsend)

It's a good thing. Students ought to have a greater interest and should be the people who are most behind it. Half the battle is getting cooperation from students. I'm sure there are a lot of people who will give.

With everyone helping, we'll all have an interest in the chapel. It ought to go over in a big way.

Ginni Schwartz: (WSGA president, Hometown—Glenside, Pa.)

I'll bet we'll all be amazed at the amount of good we'll do if we'll just be a little excited about it. Let's really get a chapel on the hill again—right now!

Social Board's, 'Babes In Toyland' Staged Saturday

"Babes in Toyland," a musical fantasy in twelve scenes, was presented on Saturday, December 10 in Intramural Gym. Fred Sieber and Herbert Keene starred as Percy and Reginald, the babes, whose adventures in Toyland formed the story. Santa Claus was Bob Holley.

In Nursery Rhyme Land, the babes met Mother Goose, played by Nannette Enloe, and her gander, Lou Masters. Phyllis Jackson, Beverly Jacobi, Wilber Selander, Wally Shroeder, George Day, Lee Cook, Chuck Holsinger, Hayden Bryant, and Irving Kenner appeared as other nursery rhyme people.

The babes were introduced to the Seven Dwarfs by Gloria Measamer, as Snow White. Jody Richardson, as the Wolf, pursued Red Riding Hood, Gracie Scruggs, as they sang "Baby, It's Cold Outside." Carol Mitchell and Ric Rogers danced in a ballroom scene from Cinderella. John Savre, as Pinocchio, was built by Bob Larson, as Geopetto, and brought to life by Evalyn Smith, as the Blue Fairy.

Choreography was by Lois Deobler and Charles Williams. The script was by Jim Dance; the set, Jim Townsend; costumes, Mary Taylor Hicks; music Barbara Stidham and Jim Dance; and prompter was Don Whelan.

The Christ of Christmas

With only eight more days until Christmas, what have you done to renew the true meaning of Christmas within your own life?

How often have you thought of how Christmas is commercialized in America today? To all too many, Christmas has only a Santa Claus meaning—presents, a tree, eggnog, and a turkey dinner.

These things are all well and good, but America, indeed the whole world, would do well to stop amid all the tinsel and holly to think more on the truer, the deeper, meaning of Christmas. Christmas is not just the birthdate of another baby, it is the birthdate of Him who was to become the Savior of the world.

So let's remember the real meaning of the Holy Birthday, the Christ of Christmas, and of what He means to you personally and to others with whom you will share His tiding of "peace on earth, good will to men."

—M.M.

Progress & Purpose

Not like many mid-year holidays, home-bound collegians this year will have opportunity to serve the college during the vacation period. We have special interests and reasons to remember the hill and what a new chapel will mean to us.

Again, there are numerous things that may turn our thoughts back to MC—the progress in building of the Fine Arts Center . . . how our grid-iron eleven turned Western North Carolina back at Homecoming . . . Barnwarming . . . our sixty-stepping band parading . . . chapel addresses: President Turk, Dr. Lautenschlager . . . Vespers . . . The Messiah, and other highlights of our many and versatile campus spiritual, scholastic, and social settings.

Our thoughts of what these mean to us and what a chapel on the hill again will mean to our and future generations should make us more anxious to press the Student Chapel Fund drive with earnestness.

For Toil & Trouble

With exams in the order of the week, MC is turning toward review. So too, some semester review of extra-curricular activity may be in order. For the Echo's part, the semester's experience has been varied, difficult-at-times, trying—but interesting.

The Echo, as are other regularly scheduled activities, is all too often taken for granted. Except for the 27 students who shoulder a share of effort each week in its publication, the full extent of hours and work required is not realized by students in general.

To these 27, the campus owes what it is served in a weekly college publication. To them goes the appreciation of the senior Echo staffers who know better than anyone else what couldn't be done without them.

Great Scot !

Ah, Christmas. . . . the time when a girl wants her past fogotten and her present remembered. In a few days we'll all be leaving these tranquil ivied walls and our old, jaundiced textbooks to go out into the stern realities of the outside. Wonder how it will feel?

We can't help wondering what goes through the minds of the fellows who sweep the campus lawns. It seems that they get a large pile of leaves together when the wind plays havoc with the heap. To them we dedicate the saying, "Oh, my rakin' back!"

Tongue Trouble

Ken Garrison was briefing the oft-mentioned Abnormal Psychology class about such things as "picket pocking" and "gambling grandmothers of gardenias." It seemed that he was pretty well up on both of the subjects.

On Ex-Scrubs, Down the Floor

The Ex-Scrubs were heading for a game in Loudon but were waiting for Sug Handley. He explained that he was saying goodby to his girl when he came out and that's what had taken him so long. "For Pete's sake," retorted Lester, "you don't have to marry her while you are at it."

Just a reminder that there are six more shopping days left before Christmas and just enough space left for us to wish you all the merriest of holidays. See you next year!

In Passing

We are heartened by the expression of interest recorded in this week's Echo Forum. On such, a newspaper must depend for guidance in presenting a more genuine campus coverage.

Talk of The Week

—A REPRINT

From The Highland Echo, December 15, 1948, by Jean Almy, MC '47.

Voices, Masks, and Shadows

SHADOWS

Probably not many Tuesday nighters will be watching the flickerings on the screens of Maryville's Broadway next week, but force of habit makes us state the bill of fare at the Capitol Monday and Tuesday.

Students who don't believe in cramming for tests, or those who missed bus and train connections, may witness Alan Ladd as "The Great Gatsby" in the second screen adaptation of E. G. Fitzgerald's novel.

Ladd plays a tough bootlegger of the Roaring Twenties who finds himself involved with even tougher Long Island society folk. Ladd portrays this serious role (the movie is billed a "tragedy" at that) with the same poker-faced expression he displays while shooting thugs or cops in his usual run of who-dunnits.

Christmas Vespers

The cream of MC's vocal talent, will take part in the annual Christmas Vespers Service tomorrow night. All Girls Choir, Vesper Choir, and the Madrigal Singers will each present selections and then combine personnel for a Polish Carol arranged especially for this occasion.

More Shadows

The 17th annual presentation of Handel's "Messiah" Sunday was broadcast by local station WGAP and Knoxville's by WROL-FM.

Student Art Exhibit in the library boasted some out-of-the-ordinary features. Aside from the regular show of oils, casein gouache, and watercolors, there was also a series of architectural drawings and a show case of clay sculptures and relief carvings.

The Madrigal Singers, who amused themselves at their banquet by singing together, were honored by having station WGAP record their vocalizings for later broadcasting.

Y Radio Workshop closed another successful semester Monday night with a dramatization of Henry Van Dyke's "The Other Wise Man." There are openings in next semester's activities for students interested in radio work.

All spectators enjoyed last week's clever performance of "Babes in Toyland." However, we are wondering just how far must we regress into our childhood memories? Social Board comes out with the slate of movies for tonight's entertainment, and topping the list is "Huckleberry Finn," starring Mickey Rooney.

Just for the record we looked up the reviews of Huck in the magazines of ten years ago. We found: "'Huckleberry Finn' is probably the hardest picture in the world to make." Since then harder pictures have been found, but our guess is that the 28-year-old Rooney of today is still as juvenile as the 18-year-old Mickey who played Huck Fill. Consolation—there will be four comedies thrown in too.

BOOK ENDS

To prove that Christmas is a time for the young in heart, the library bulletin board comes out with these suggestions for holiday reading: "Why the Chimes Rang," "Bird's Christmas Carol," "Little Angel," Dicken's "Christmas Carol." You might read again some of these favorites and recapture some of those Christmas stars that shine in a child's eyes on that morning.

On The Shelf

Several interesting-looking new books have been added to the library which would make good reading during those long and lonesome Christmas vacation hours.

A Star Pointed North by Edmund Fuller is a novel with swift and exciting action. This is a historical novel about Frederick Douglass, the first American Negro to become a great leader of his people. It takes place in the tumultuous years during 1830's when slavery was still abroad in the land.

Douglass became a public figure in his speech-making which lashed a troubled nation into furious wrangling over the slave question. Meeting many rejections and defeats, he finally realized that at the best he could only start a beginning for his people.

Those particularly interested in science, social science, and psychology fields should read The Proper Study of Mankind by Stuart Chase. "Can the scientific method also be applied to human relations?" is the question which many are asking today and which Chase writes about. The book summarizes material which has been gathered by anthropologists, sociologists, psychologists, economists, political scientists, and other social scientists, in a kind of giant balance sheet.

Echo Forum–

To The Editor of The Echo:

A part of every good periodical designed for people of average or above-average intellect should be of critical esthetic attitude. We mean an intelligent, mature attitude, neither completely sympathetic nor unduly harsh. This attitude is admirably held by The Echo in regard to current movies and other off-campus productions.

However, entertainment furnished by Maryville students is reported with a blase type of journalism unworthy of a college publication. This is unfortunate. No one is so credulous as to think that the productions at the college are not susceptible to criticism, either adverse or otherwise.

This attitude would certainly be a stimulus to greater creative effort and a subsequent raising of standards. This is especially important inasmuch as we have not as great a choice of entertainment as would be available in some other situations.

We feel sure that honest critical comment would be a long step toward programs designed for intelligent, mature students and carried out in a manner befitting a college situation.

Sincerely,
Del Earisman, et als.

Sports Echoes

By Neal Pearson

AFTER FRIDAY NIGHT'S affair with Knoxville Y, the better qualities of the wrestling squad are still an unknown factor because of the competition faced. By Jan. 21 and the meet with Chattanooga's Moccasins, the real potentialities of the team should be known.

Paul McNiell is really making a race for the 121-pound class honors and may take over Jim Marvin's laurels unless the latter gets in shape. Many a Scot rooter was glad to see Paul win after working hard for the chance the last three years.

J. A. Cameron looked good but he should improve a whale of a lot before the season is over. Another mtach that made hearts feel food was Jimmy Callaway's win over Murphy in the 145-pound division.

Stepping up into higher classes, Lawrence Major, Tubby Callaway, Hersh Merriman, and Herb Palmer also showed up well. Major almost had a pin but couldn't quite make it, while Tubby slapped down his opponent for one early. Hersh did right well for himself in outgrunting Ralph Willocks, who was expected to, and did, give him quite a tussel. Another big surprise was Herb Palmer's decision over Andy Castleberry who outweighed "Fat-boy" some 60-70 pounds. It was a case of experience and brains versus brawn.

● SPEAKING OF WRESTLING in higher classes, most students don't know the reason why Coach Davis is having his men do so. Making the change from football to wrestling last year really hurt the squad in its meet with Arkansas State three days after its opener with Knox Y. This year Coach Davis is starting them out early in the brackets above and letting them work themselves into shape easy-like.

●THE BIGGEST DILEMMA facing Coach Davis is his lack of a good (and heavy) heaveyweight. Having the same trouble in the upper division is Chattanooga, which has only a measley nine men listed for the top three classes but which wants more out to increase the inter-squad competition. Not only does this build up a reserve for the coming years but it also stirs up team rivalry and makes a man go all-out to try to better his competitors. So, if you're over 175, contact Coach Davis and go out and give it the old college try.

●LOOKING LIKE a different team than the one of the previous week, the Scot basketballers really showed some nifty teamwork against King. At this time last year and up to about halfway in the season, the Highlander's floor games looked more or less like a football game or boxing match rather than the scientific game of Dr. Naismith. Catching fire from the very start, the Scots really worked the ball around nice and showed a defense that tethered the Tornadoes. This defense really showed up well in the last half with King getting only 18 shots at the bucket and connecting on just four. For the whole game, it was slightly better with the Bristol-boys making 12 out or 45. The Scots in the meantime hit on 22 out of 76 shots. Adding these figures to the 27 out of 88 in the Reliable Motors game, the team's average is 49 out of 164 for a 298.

● TOP MAN in the scoring race is Hugh Hamil with 32 counters and the best average, closely followed by Bob Boring. Statistics as follows for the season's two games:

Player	FGA	FG	Pct.	FT	FP	TP
Brahams	23	8	.347	7	6	22
Reynolds	19	2	.105	10	5	9
Roberts	13	4	.307	1	1	9
Handley	10	4	.400	3	3	11
Lillard	4	1	.250	5	0	2
Boring	40	11	.275	15	9	31
Hamil	34	15	.441	6	4	32

● ANOTHER PIECE OF NEWS picked up was from The White Topper of Emory & Henry. Members of the Wasps' teams (offensive and defensive) were polled and rated Maryville as their third-toughest dominated the "Best back" selection. Hershell Merriman, Maryville's fullback, got a majority of their votes for his "all-around ability" with Baldy Cosson of Carson-Newman a close second.

A final bit of interesting news was the announcement of Coach Hooper Eblen's resignation at Tennessee Tech. The Eagles completed one of their most disastrous seasons in years, losing six of nine games, despite these facts which ought to do the backers or denouncers of subsidation much good, depending on whose side they are. To give a few facts from the Tech Oracle, we would like to mention these: the Tech-men had 67 gridiron warriors on scholarships (Lombe would go nuts if he had half as many); "adequate financial resources; an athletic plant and facilities superior and are soon to be second to none" (stand by Bartlett); "a student body that will support a winning team) more than any other school" they know of; and "a squad of several potentially great ball players, ones who could easily make good in the 'big leagues.'"

The student body (inspired by these words of wisdom) got together with representatives of the school and town, it seems, and gave the coach the bounce. Another article along the same line is "Are Football Coaches Worms? in the Nov. 26 Colliers. Both of which show that it's pretty hard to please people nowadays.

Hoopsters Blast Tornadoes, 62-38

After sustaining a defeat the week before, Maryville's Scotties got back on their right foot Friday night in walloping King College, 62-38.

The score could have been worse, for it doesn't tell the whole story of the game. Leading at halftime by a 35-20 score, Coach Lombe S. Honaker inserted a freshman and sophomore team which held its own for some ten minutes of the 2nd half matching score for score with the bigger Tornadoes.

Game Close At Outset

From the beginning it looked like a slam-bang contest with Joe Byrd making a free throw for the game's first tally. Hap Brahams then scored two on a hook and the resultant foul goal for a foul incurred on the shot.

Arlie Johnson, the Tornadoes best man against Maryville for the past three years, then sunk a field goal which combined with one by Ray Deweese gave them a short-lived lead. This was not to last long, for Bob Boring, Hugh Hamil, and Gene Reynolds drove in for buckets that changed it the other way, 8-5.

Bill Gillespie and Hugh Hamil exchanged shots and Johnson and DeWeese hung up three more on a free throw and a longie to tie up the count, ten and ten. This was too much for Boring and Hamil, so they combined their talents to make the next six baskets.

From here on in to the half, play was substantially the same. The Scots banged in 13 bucket-ringers to the Bristol-men's five to take a comfortable 35-20 lead to the dressing room.

Subs Charge King

After the 15-minute rest period occupied by the tumblers, the King-team fell apart at the seams, especially on shooting. Still scoring remarkably well, the count to 26-9 with ten minutes gone and ten to go. At this point, Coach Honaker inserted Bruce Beatty, Ray Keny, Meano Shields, Bill Gibson, B. R. Crisp and the "Old Man" of the team, Leon Berrong, to let them try their handiwork. Their greenness was attested to as they missed a couple of easy shots, but they got over the jitters quickly and with Beatty and Shields leading the way played the Nadoes to a standstill.

Now ahead by the comfortable margin of 56-34, Coach Honaker substituted the first-stringers for the novices and they finished out the game's last two minutes. During restricted playing period, Hugh Hamil fired two and connected to raise his total for the night to 19 points on nine field goals and one free throw.

Good Offense, Defense

All in all, the Scots played a very good ball game showing some good footwork and defensive play. As usual Bob Boring grabbed a couple of passes from the guards to the forwards and dribbled all the way down court for markers that aided immeasurably.

Boring also began to hit on his longs, a fact which should make the forthcoming opposition pretty wary of him. Another dandy of the set shot, Charlie Roberts, also Intramurals....

BASKETBALL RULES

Tuesday's intramural meeting brought out several noteworthy rules that should be passed on. One was a revised rule on ineligible players. Any team caught during the game or after with an ineligible player playing for them will lose by forfeit.

That brings up this new rule on transferring players. Any player wishing to leave his team and play for another must first go before the meeting of team managers on Tuesdays. They will vote on his transfer. If passed, he may play for his new team, but not before then. Four players were officially transferred Tuesday. Remember, you must have a good reason to transfer.

Back court and "back and over" were brought up for a lengthy debate which was finally won by Coach Johnson when he produced a rule book which supported his argument. Front court is the court immediately under the basket your team is shooting at, ending at the near edge of the center stripe. In bringing the ball over you may put one foot into the front court and withdraw it without losing possession of the ball. Once your body is completely over the center line into the front court you can not go back without losing possession of the ball.

Other rules were mentioned, such as holding up your hand when you commit a foul, and the fact that a referee can call a technical foul anytime he sees

Hoopmen Face Six Opponents Before Next Echo, Jan. 20

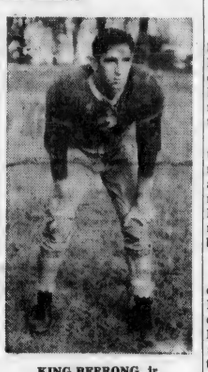
Before another issue of The Echo is published January 20, the Highlander quintet will meet a total of six adversaries. The six tilts will be Milligan—Jan. 9, East Tennessee State College, Jan. 10, Emory and Henry—Jan. 13, Tusculum—Jan. 14, Western Carolina—Jan. 17, and Hiwassee—Jan 18.

Only the E and H and the Western Carolina clashes will be on familiar hardwood.

In last year's games with these teams, MC scored double victories over Western Carolina, 45-41 and 61-59, Tusculum, 70-63, Hiwassee, 75-60 and 66-49, and split a two-game series with Emory and Henry, 66-71 and 69-54.

With games on January 9, 10, 13, 14, 17, and 18 the pressure will be on regardless of the apparent ease with which the Honakermen handled these teams last year. Particularly feared will be the away games with Milligan and ETS since no recent concrete information can be compared with Scot performances.

WOMEN'S VARSITY STUNTS



Women's Varsity completed the fall semester with a test in stunts. Second semester will begin January 17 with basketball. The schedule for the remainder of the year is swimming February 25-March 7; softball March 17-April 6; and track April 11-20.

Gridiron Squad Holds Post-Season Banquet

1950 LEADERS

DONALD WALKER,

KING BERRONG, Jr.

Walker, Berrong To Lead Scots

At the college's annual football banquet in Pearson's Hall last Monday evening Don Walker was elected captain of the 1950 Highlander football squad. King Berrong is to fill the position of alternate captain.

Highlight of the evening was the presentation of letters to 31 members of the squad and to manager Bo Henry. Dave McArthur, representing the business men of Maryville, awarded 16 graduating members of the team gold footballs.

Program

Program for the occasion included the invocation by center Ray Holsey, followed by introduction of the high school coaches of Blount County, who, in turn, presented the senior members of their squads. Coach Honaker then reviewed the 1949 grid season, saying that Maryville, this year, played one of the strongest schedules in its history. Fullback Hersh Merriman came in for a couple of compliments, among others that he is the best fullback ever to play for Maryville.

Coach J. D. Davis introduced the lettermen, and captain Howard Davis introduced his successor Don Walker. Alternate captain D. M. Miller presented King Berrong.

Comedy

Joe Canaday of Knoxville vied with Coach Honaker's jokes in providing the evening's entertainment. He presented a program in which he acted out several popular songs of the Spike Jones—Phil Harris variety such as "Cocktails for Two" and "Dark Town Poker Club."

HS Seniors Presented

Dave Proffitt introduced high school coaches of Alcoa, Everett, Lanier, Maryville, Porter, Townsend, and Walland. Fifty seniors from these high schools of the area attended the banquet.

Toastmaster of the evening Al Brinkley presented Miss Ware

UC IS COMING MAT FOE NEXT JAN. 21

The fourth meeting between the University of Chattanooga and the MC matmen will come off January 21 at Chattanooga. UC took second place in the SEAAU tournament held at Georgia Tech.

These two teams split victories last year, Maryville winning the first, 19-9, and UC taking the second, 14-13. In the four years Maryville has met the grapplers from UC our boys have come out on top three times, lost one, and tied one.

Nine Mocs Back

This years squad at UC consists of nine returning lettermen plus a group of up-and-coming freshmen. Last year's SEAAU champion in the 115 pound class, George Owens, is the captain of this year's team.

Melvin Haskins, Walt Corneluis, and Owens met MC last year. Haskins, who wrestled in the 128 pound class last year will wrestle in the 145 pound class this year.

MC Men's M Club Becomes Reality

With 45 charter members, the men's "M" club has at last become a reality on Maryville Campus. The organization's constitution won final approval of the Student-Faculty Senate last Friday afternoon.

Officers of the new, "for men only", athletic organization are President Jim Lester, Vice-preslent Hugh Hamil, Treasurer Don Walker, and Secretary Jack Buckley.

It was decided in a meeting Wednesday morning after chapel that this year's football and cross counrty letterman, and all other lettermen not charter members of the organization, are to be admitted early next semester. An initiation ceremony consisting of a week of informal initiation followed by a formal acceptance of the new member will take place at that time.

Matmen Hit YMCA In 30-0 Opener

Maryville's wrestlers opened their 1949-50 season in grand style Friday night by defeating the Knox Y. grapplers by the lopsided score of 30-0. The Scots won two matches by pins, one by default, and the others by decision.

McNiely Wins First

Paul McNiel started things off in the 121 pound event by pinning Ralph Radcliffe in 47 seconds of the first period. It was the first time that Paul has wrestled before the home crowd in a regular match, and he certainly made good in his debut.

In the 128 pound class, J. A. Cameron won his match from Crittenden 4-2. Cameron just missed a pin several times as the clock ran out on him.

Ches Anderson won by default in the 136 class as his opponent, Walker, had to retire due to a bad elbow. Anderson was leading at the time by a score of 2-0.

Callaway Scores

Jimmy Calloway, also making his debut as a wrestler, outpointed Murphey of Y by an 8-5 tally. Calloway had two takedowns and two reverses for his eight points while Murphey had a takedown, a reverse, and an escape for five. Jimmy was wrestling in the 145 pound class.

Heavies Move Up, Win

Tubby Calloway pinned Pete Fox in 2:08 minutes of the first period to sew up the 155 pound event. Tubby was wrestling out of his weight class—he usually wrestles 145.

Laurence Major, wrestling 165, beat Brady of Knox Y 4-1. Major earned two points in a reverse and got in three nice longs.

Gene Reynolds, still having trouble with his shots around the circle, was, nevertheless, hitting on free throws and was a cracker-jack on defense getting rebounds with Hamil and Handley.

Handlye scored only two points, both coming via the foul-lane route, but his backboard play left little to be desired. Also in for his share of the ball-stealing tactics was Hap Brahams who stole a couple and dribbled in for easy baskets.

Johnson Alone

For the visitors, it was all Johnson, with the tall forward swishing the cords for six field goals and one free throw in three attempts. Joe Byrd and Ray Deweese played good ball also but were handicapped in getting four fouls early to put themselves behind the eight-ball in trying to get the ball.

Finally, they fouled up, and had to leave the game. Only players for Maryville to come close were Reynolds and Handley who were tooted four times apiece.

MC Dead on Free Shots

The final thing that showed Scot superiority was at the foul line. Maryville sank 16 out of 21, good in any man's league, while King was hitting only 12 from 27.

Both teams meet again at Bristol on February 24 in the final games of the season for both.

Library Staff Sups At Christmas Party Friday

Maryville College's Library Staff had a Christmas Party December 9 in the Y Rooms with supper beginning at 5:30 p.m.

Committees in charge of arrangements were decorations, Jim Dance, Peggy Kettles, and Mary Lois McConnell; food, Barbara Eggleston, Peggy Cummings, and Bob Holley; entertainment, Mary Holly Webb and Tom Lang; clean-up, Doris Somerville, Clarence Reaser, Claude Cowan, Austin Van Pelt, and Sue Althouse.

Librarians Ruth Grierson, Mary Miles, Esther Swenson, and Barbara Eggleston helped with all phases of the party.

two points riding time, while Brady was given a point for an illegal hold by Major.

Captain Merriman found plenty of trouble in the 175 pound class as he outpointed Ralph Willocks, a former Maryvillian, 4-0. Hersh was given two points for a takedown and two for a reverse to earn the decision.

In the feature event of the night, heavyweight (?) Herb Palmer decisioned Castlebury of Y 4-0. Palmer gave Castlebury a 40 pound weight advanage, but made it look easy as he scored two points in a takedown and two in a reverse to come out victorious.

Lewis Wins Exhibition

In an exhibition John Lewis (155), of Maryville, pinned Hylanger (165) in 1:58 minutes of the first period.

All in all, there are four men wrestling in a heavier weight class this year. Tubby Calloway moved up to 155, Major to 165, Merriman to 175, and Palmer from 175 to heavyweight.

Spanish Party Ends Semester's Activities

Spanish Club celebrated its final meeting of the year with a party in the Student Center last Thursday. Two plays presented by Instructor Stone's class were featured in the program and the breaking of a pinnata.

Ralph Thiesse as master of ceremonies presented the troupe. In a skit entitled "La Primera Disputa," were John Harris as Eduardo, Eveline Harmon as Tia Manuela, and La Donna Baylor as Isabel.

Rosalie Munson sang three Spanish compositions, "La Habanera," "La Estrellita," and "Cavelitos" from "The Barber of Seville." Her accompanist was Louise Lloyd.

Lou Klein as Rosina and Harold Sutton as Figaro presented a short scene from an adaptation by Beaumarchais of "The Barber of Seville."

To end the night's festivities, a pinnata was hung up and broken following a round of songs.

Meetings Leader Elliott Writes President Lloyd

Dr. William M. Elliott, Dallas, Tex., leader of this year's February Meetings, has written President Lloyd of his anticipation of coming to the Maryville campus again. He was the leader in 1943.

The Meetings will open three weeks after the return from Christmas vacation and will extend from February 1 to 9. They are given the right of way during that period, and no other events are scheduled which will conflict with them.

Two services will be held daily, one at the middle of the morning and one in the evening.

CHILHOWEAN DEADLINE

February 14 has been set as the deadline at which time all work must be completed.

Treasurers Reminded Organization Books Due

Treasureres of student organizations are reminded to hand in final financial reports to faculty sponsors. Organizations' books must be turned in for auditing before Christmas vacation begins.

For names of faculty sponsors, club officers should see Mary Matlock Watt or Dr. L. L. Williams of the biology department.

VOLUME 35 MARYVILLE, TENNESSEE, JANUARY 20, 1950 NUMBER 16

Opera Workshop Sings 'Down In Valley' Jan. 27

Two Performances Friday at 7 and 9

By Carolyn Miller

Combined personnel of Opera Workshop and Maryville Playhouse will present two performances of the American folk opera, "Down in the Valley," Friday, January 27, in the Alumni Gym at 7 and 9 p.m.

Performance is under supervision of directors of Workshop and Playhouse, Harry Harter and Herman Middleton, and Charlotte Johnson of the Art Department. Freshman art classes have designed the sets and are painting them. Bob Holley is the student director.

"Down in the Valley" is an opera based on these folk tunes: "The Lonesome Dove," "Little Black Train," "Hop Up, My Ladies," "Sour Wood Mountain," and the familiar "Down in the Valley."

Operatic Folk Tunes

Kurt Weill, who wrote the words, has also done such hits as "Lady in the Dark" and Maxwell Anderson's latest success, "Lost in the Stars." Libretto is by Arnold Sundgaard. The opera was first produced three years ago by the Lemonade Opera Company in New York and met with immediate success.

There will be two pianos accompanying the performances. For the first performance, Fred Sieber and Ruth Helen Bird, and for the latter, instructors Dorothy Vawter and Mrs. Conrad Eaddy.

Cast is composed of voice students and those interested in opera chosen by tryouts. The leading roles of Jenny Parsons and Brack Weaver will be played by Linnea Johnson and Ken Shaffer in the first show, and Lois Deobler and Conrad Eaddy for the second.

Two Casts Perform

The other dual role, that of Leader, will be carried by William Robinson and Hayden Bryant. Other members of the cast are as follows: Preacher, Donald Brakebill; Thomas Bouche, Ross Dooley; Guard, Herb Keene; Peters, Jim Akin; Jenny's Father, Joe Poland; two men Wally Schoeder and Jack Reid; and two women, Mary [illegible] and Evelyn Smith.

The chorus for both performances includes Mary Holly Webb, Evelyn [illegible]h Linnea Johnson, Lois Deobler and Rosalie Munson, sopranos; Gloria Measamer, Pat Cox, Nina Ruth Gillette, and Alice Teeter, altos; Conrad Eaddy, Herb Keene, Jim Akin, Don Brakebill, Wally Schroeder, and Ken Shaffer, tenors; Hayden Bryant, Jack Reid, Ross Deobler, Dick Ribble, and Bill Robinson, basses.

Dr. and Mrs. John B. Weir, former Presbyterian missionaries in India, are guests on campus this week-end. They will speak at Student Vols' retreat tomorrow.

Wiers, Ex-Missionaries To India Speak At Vespers; Vols' Retreat

Dr. and Mrs. John B. Weir, former missionaries to India, will be guest leaders for a Student Volunteers retreat at Montvale Springs beginning tomorrow after chapel. Mrs. Weir will also speak at Vespers on Sunday night and Dr. Weir will address the Student Vols meeting after Vespers.

The group at the Vols retreat will meet together under Dr. and Mrs. Weir in the morning to survey the work and needs of the mission field abroad and at home. In the afternoon, they will probably divide into smaller groups, Dr. Weir leading the boys, and Mrs. Weir, the girls.

Taught in India

The announced theme of the day is "Our Strength Cometh." Concerning the retreat, John Baird, president of Student Vols, said, "This is partly a planning conference, but is principally for inspirational value, and to gain a wider vision of the missionary enterprise of the Church in the world."

Ruth Mason is program chairman of the group.

Mrs. Weir spent over thirty years in educational work at the Punjab Mission of India. She brings to American audiences a clear and vivid picture of the Indian struggle for independence and of the adjustment of the people to their new form of government. Before going to India in 1918 Mrs. Weir taught music in high school.

Secretary of Missions Board

Dr. John B. Weir, Central Area Secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church, U. S. A., was a missionary to India for more than 30 years. He went to Lahore, India, in 1914 for a short term to teach in Forman Christian College. Returning to the United States, he completed his theological training and, in March, 1918, was appointed for service with the Punjab Missions.

In 1937, Dr. Weir was appointed secretary of the India Council for North India, the Punjab, and Western India Missions with headquarters in Dehra Dun. He held this position through the war and the Indian liberation.

Speaks In Saturday Chapel

Dr. Weir was only recently appointed Secretary of the Board. He will also speak at chapel tomorrow morning.

At the meeting last Sunday, Louis A. Black, sponsor, presented the Short Term plan of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions.

Special emphasis was made on the letter from C. B. Fisher of the American Mission at Teheran, Iran. Fisher is especially anxious to have one or two from Maryville to teach in the Community School, and to be available at the opening of the school in September of this year.

Craig Fisher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fisher spoke briefly about the country, the people, and the work of the school.

Persons interested may secure additional information from Craig Fisher or from the Director of Maintenance.

Ministerials Plan Semester Program

"Learning Through Christ" is the theme of the Preministerial programs this semester, according to a schedule of meeting recently announced.

Beginning with a rededication program next Wednesday the group's February programs will be a special forum during the February Meetings on February 9, and a speaker on counseling on February 23.

A series of three programs begins in March. The first is The Ecumenical Movement, the second is The Missionary Movement, and the third is The Evangelistic Movement; on March ninth, 23, and April 13, respectively.

The subject for the meeting of April 27 will be "Prospects of Summer Jobs", and on May 11 a play will be presented.

Pre-Ministerials will entertain the Columbia Theological Seminary basketball team Sunday morning with a Fellowship breakfast at 7:30 in the YWCA rooms. Carl Lazenby, MC '49 is a member of this group.

Composer's Forum Announcement Made

Annual Composer's Forum will be held this semester at a date to be announced later. Dorothy Horne, associate professor of music, urges all student composers wishing to have their works performed to turn complete scores over to her as soon as possible.

The forum was held for the first time last year. It is open to any student who wishes to hear his composition performed.

ECHO TRY-OUTS

Students in the freshman or junior classes who would like to write for The Highland Echo should meet this afternoon at 3:30 in Thaw 206. Freshmen or sophomores interested in joining The Echo business staff should leave their names in The Echo office by Monday noon.

Four Maryville Debaters Attend Sewanee Trials

MC To Enter State Meet In February

A four-man delegation of Maryville debaters participated in a pre-school debate tournament at Sewanee, January 6-7.

Twenty-six regional colleges and universities were at the meet, in which MC debate coach Dr. V. M. Queener entered two frosh, a sophomore, and a junior.

Bill Caldwell, Bill Shields, Newell Witherspoon and Bob Worthington entered their first intercollegiate debate run for the season at Sewanee.

This year's debate question is "Resolved: that the US should nationalize all basic non-agricultural industries."

Second Annual Event

Sewanee's pre-season tournament was sponsored by the University Debate Council for the second year. It is to be an annual affair.

Finals winners, according to The Sewanee Purple, were Vanderbilt's team, representing the affirmative, and University of Tennessee's team, representing the negative. They received the tournament trophies from Harold Prowse, Sewanee's Blue Key president.

Maryville's debaters are now preparing—five evenings a week—for the Tennessee State Tournament which will be held February 16-17 at Austin Peay College, Clarksville.

The state tournament is sponsored by the Tennessee Tournament Association and consists of both debates and individual speaking contests, such as oratory and extemporaneous.

Experimental Play Tryouts, Monday In Bartlett At 8

Director Herman Middleton announced this week the tryouts for the next experimental theater play "Theatre of the Soul" by the late Russian N. N. Yewienov will be held Monday night at 8:00 in Bartlett Auditorium.

Tryouts will be Monday because special expressionistic music is being composed by the music department under Miss Horne's direction and rehearsal for the two songs and dances must begin early.

Performances for the play will be at 7:30 and 9 p. m. on February 25.

Announcement of the other one act play to be presented on this program will be made at a later date. Scripts are available at the Library.

Lamar Exhibits 'Art Is My Hobby'

Show By Non-Enrolled Art Fans Run To 31st

"Art Is My Hobby," an all-campus art exhibit sponsored by The Muses, will be shown in Lamar Memorial Library here until January 31.

The exhibit is an effort to draw in especially those students who are interested in art but who are not enrolled in one of the art courses.

Phases of art represented in the exhibit are painting—oil, watercolor, charcoal, and pastel; sculpture—original castings, copies, and relief carving; textiles; and jewelry—shell and sculpstone.

Those who entered items in the exhibit are Walter English, Clifford Smith, William Swenson, James Watt, Alan Fort, Ruth Nicholas, Mary Gladys Pieper, Arda Walker, Bobbie Porter, Alice Teeter, James Smith, Charlotte Johnson, Sue Althouse, Betty Crawford, Anne Gates, Ruth Heaps, Gertrude Meiselwitz, Ruth Rogers, Alberta Ahler and Jack Reed.

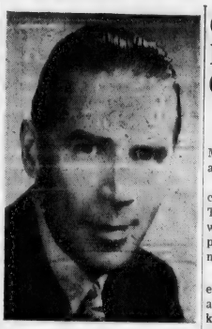
Four of the entrants are on the MC faculty.

The sponsoring organization, The Muses, is a student-faculty group interested in the fine arts.

'The Three Lepers' Is Y Radio Drama



Y Radio Workshop will resume its weekly broadcasts Monday night, January 23 with the presentation of "The Three Lepers of Suk-El-Garah" over WGAP at 9:00. This is a prize winning play by Colin Clements.

Barbara Blum and Bill Starr are directors this semester and Ben Paxton will serve as producer and announcer. Herb Keene will be the soloist.

A variety of programs has been scheduled for the year including poetry and music, interviews, original radio scripts and perhaps a faculty night. Anyone interested in participating or contributing material should contact Bill Starr.

HOPE FUND NOW AT $1335

Fred Hope Fund has received $1335.05 to date. A total of 535 pledges are registered with a value of $1849.30. Pledges may be paid at any time.

Baritone Earle Spicer, ballad singer, will initiate the 1950 Artist Series in Alumni Gym tonight.

Student Activity Fees Support New Series Programs

The six-dollar student activity fee paid by every student each semester aids in the support of several MC extra-curricular activities. One of the most outstanding is Artist Series, which has brought a number of prominent entertainers to the Hill.

From the six-dollar fee, 87.5 cents is apportioned to the Artist Series fund.

The cost of major entertainers made necessary discontinuing the series after Voorhees Chapel burned, since much of the revenue came from town people. Insufficient seating facilities now limits "town" attendance.

Current emphasis is on talent both interesting and good rather than "big names" until the completion of new Wilson Chapel allows for more outside interest and financial participation.

The 20-cent admission charge pays for federal entertainment taxes, printing, and the seat reservation service.

Plans are now being made for both next semester's series and the first series in the chapel, when the financial reserve which has been built up over the past few years is to be used for especially outstanding programs.

Current talent is being carefully chosen from university music faculties. Besides baritone Earl Spicer, who appears in Alumni Gym at eight this evening, this season will include the University of Alabama string quartet and a University of Georgia art professor.

Concert First of 3 In Renewed Series Of Musicians, Art

By Don Whelan

Baritone Earle Spicer opens MC's 1950 Artist Series tonight at eight in Alumni Gymnasium.

Seat reservations for the concert were available beginning Tuesday at 20 cents. This fee, which includes federal tax, is the price of student non-reserved admission at the door tonight.

A Canadian by birth, Spicer is especially interested in American and English folk music. Best known as a singer of ballads, particularly "Frankie and Johnny," he is his own arranger for most of the folk music.

This concert, the first of three programs this spring, continues the full-scale annual series, which have not been presented since the burning of Voorhees Chapel in 1947.

The program is in three parts: traditional English ballads, selections from Shakespeare and from Gilbert and Sullivan, and American ballads and folk-songs.

Mrs. Alice Eaddy of Maryville's music department will accompany Spicer for two selections in the second part of his program.

Best known of the English ballads is the story of the beautiful but cruel girl who spurns the affection of her dying lover. Not long after, however, death calls on her too, but not before she has repented of her cruelty: "Since my love died for me today, I'll die for him tomorrow."

Others in the group are "The Rich Old Woman," "The Golden Vanity," "The Ardent Fisherman," and "Because I Were Shy."

The Shakespeare selections in Group II are William Byrd's music to "Willow, O Willow" from "Othello" and Caliban's Song from "The Tempest" by Thomas Morley.

Both composers are contempories of Shakespeare.

Spicer will sing Gilbert's witty lyrics, accompanied by Sir Arthur Sullivan's music for The Nightmare's Song from "Tolanthe." The sprightly "When I Was a Lad" from Gilbert and Sullivan's satire on the Royal Navy, "H.M.S. Pinafore," precedes the intermission.

A quartet of college students will sing with Spicer in the "Pinafore song. They are Charles Huffman, MC '49, sophomores Herb Keene, and Herb Hoover, and junior Bob Holley.

The American ballads and folk songs include Spicer's own arrangements of "The Erie Canal" and "The Quaker's Wooing." He will also sing "The Little Mawhee," arranged by Bartholomew, Ernst Bacon's arrangement of "My Lulu," and the Norfleet arrangement of the "Tune the Old Cow Died On."

Earle Spicer was born on a farm in Acadia, made famous by Longfellow's "Evangeline." In college he studied voice, piano, and organ and played bass viol in the school orchestra.

After college he continued the study of voice in London and in New York and later appeared in many concerts on both sides of

DR. LLOYD WILL SPEAK AT ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH

MC President Ralph Waldo Lloyd will speak on "The Religions of the World" at St. Andrew's Episcopal Sunday School January 22 at 9:30 a. m.

Scheduled to speak on "The Early Beginnings of Judaism" on January 29 is Rabbi Leo J. Stillpass of Knoxville's Temple Beth-El. Maryville senior Ben Sheldon will speak on "The Christian Religion" February 5.

Weekly Paper Records 35 Years Of College Growth, Its Students

By Barbara Wallin

In November, 1915, the hard fighting Maryville eleven chugged to a 13-0 victory over Chattanooga University. Maryvillians were justly proud and happy. To celebrate this big event they wrote up the games published as a lead story in a brand new college paper called The Highland Echo.

On Wednesday, November 4, 1915, Volume 1, Number 1 hit the campus, and now after 35 eventful years we have Volume 35, Number 16. Turning through early Echo editions and other sources we find many interesting sidelights on M.C.:

'15 was quite a year. Just the year before, "Eddie" Hunter had graduated with high laurels. The annual predicted that he would "go far." (If being Dean of Curriculum and head of the language department at a certain well-known college is an indication of going far, then he's gone.)

Maryville's new swimming pool was dedicated on November 1 of that year. A senior—one of the Lloyd boys—was on the student committee to raise funds for it. He must have been good at it for the college brought him back later to raise more funds.

Three Terms—No Semesters

In those days there were three terms instead of two semesters. The courses were the same except there were fewer of them. In the philosophy department ethics was required the same as now, but there was a prerequisite of one psychology course. Two courses have been dropped since then—Hebrew and geology and minerology. A large part of the student body has disappeared also with the discontinuing of the preparatory and sub-preparatory departments.

Perhaps there are more clubs on campus these days but 1915 had it over 1950 in club variety. Back then, with the enrollment smaller, students from the different states banded together and formed state clubs. There were the Missouri Show-Me's, and clubs for Alabama, Kentucky, Michigan, and North Carolina pictured in the annual. There were the Chess Club, the Boxing Club, the Pythagorean Club, and the Tattling Tatters, a group of young ladies who enjoyed nothing better than tatting their time away.

H.C.L. In Evidence

In the early 'teens of the new century, money wasn't so abundant and fees were much smaller. Tuition was only $6.00 and text books could be rented for an average of $1.75 per term. Room rent was $10 each term and board averaged $1.95 per week in the Cooperative Boarding Club which had its headquarters in Pearsons. A few years previously this latter club was established on first floor Baldwin. Seen on one Pearsons menu were hash au yesterday and beans al la every day. Cow milk and pump water were liquid refreshments.

Three Maryville faculty members have weathered the stormy years since 1915 and are still active at professoring. E. W. Davis came in 1915 and has been pounding Greek into sometimes unwilling brains ever since. In 1906 a new biology teacher named Susan Green arrived on campus. In 1946 she decided she'd

150 Seniors Have Finished 'Studies' In Major Fields

A total of 277 students have completed their Special Studies since December, 1948, announced Dean E. R. Hunter, chairman of the committee on Special Studies this week. In December, 1949, 150 students completed their Special Studies.

"Probably the December, 1949, number is the greatest we shall have, but the normal number will probably be about 135 or 140," commented Dean Hunter.

All the subject fields except German, Latin, and Spanish were represented in this group of 150. Nineteen fields were represented. The grade range is as follows: A, 12; A-, 26; B+, 33; B, 27; B-, 26; C+, 14; C, 10; C-, 1; D, none; 1 incomplete; and 2 failures.

Thirty-one faculty members worked as supervisors of Special Studies.

With These Four

Today's edition of The Highland Echo marks the thirty-fifth anniversary of the founding of this paper. Much has changed in the period that the Echo, through its continuing staffs, has served the College.

After the return of the century, Maryville College was launching into a program of expansion through a Centennial Forward Fund in the years 1916-1919. The Carnegie Fire of 1916 was a setback to these plans for immediate expansion of the college's facilities. Then, World War I interrupted the program—just as World War II during the Forties required special service and sacrifice by the College and Student Body.

Voorhees Chapel, dedicated in 1905, stood as the first new landmark on the hill in the new century. At half-century, progress is being made toward a new Chapel and Fine Arts Center. Physical progress for Maryville is going forward.

Maryville's academic standards, fostered by a century-old heritage of sound Presbyterian teaching before 1919, were recognized as superior for accredization by the leading accrediting agencies —during the early quarter of this half-century.

Today, on the threshhold of a new decade and half-century, Maryville maintains a "core of essentials" for excellence in liberal arts education as President Lloyd said in a recent chapel address.

As described by one of Maryville's most revered guiding spirits, the late Dr. Samuel T. Wilson, the College's future lies in its continued adherence to four worthy qualities: scholarship, sympathy, spirituality, and service.

About That Organ

Since the fire which cost us Voorhees Chapel, we have been without practice organs as well as the fine main organ which added so much to worship services in that building.

Arrangements with the town churches for use of their instruments have been unsatisfactory. To use them was inconvenient for students—who sometimes had to practice in cold buildings, and for the churches—whose activities sometimes were interfered with by the roaring of the sanctuary organ.

As in 1947 and 1948 when "Messiah" had to be given in Alumni Gymnasium, an organ was borrowed this December—through the courtesy of one of the music companies in Knoxville. The companies could hardly have wanted the college to buy it much more than students and faculty who hear it. Something of the former spirit of chapel worship was brought back each year when the organ was also used for the morning services in the Gym.

It was hoped this semester that the College would buy the fine little electronic organ. Information reaching us—and the judgment of our untrained ear—was that the electronic was an excellent and versatile instrument and one that would still be useful for practice after the College had a big new pipe organ in the new Wilson Chapel.

Many medium and smaller-sized churches have adopted the electronic organ for their sanctuary music. It seems to us that this new-type instrument could furnish valuable experience for MC students who will someday be organists in such churches.

We liked the organs that have been lent to the college in the past—for "Messiah," for programs like the tuneful "Springtime Serenade," and for chapel.

Yes, we need many things: high on the list is an electronic organ.

Scots & Soda

Along with Kaltenborn, Pegler, Winchell, and Truman, we have prepared a few prognostications for the year 2000 A.D. which we defy the 85th anniversary edition of the Highland Echo to print. A few law suits might ensue.

Year—2000 A.D. at Maryville

Bill Nish the third, Jim Black the fifth, and an E.J. Cotton descendent will compete in the coming elections for Student Body President. Their platforms all hinge on some phase of the topic, "The Constitutionality of Constitutions," a campaign which has weathered many a semester and is close to becoming a tradition here at Maryville.

A cable from Paris and Freddie Sieber announces that his Vesper Choir is taking that part of the world by storm during their Eureopean tour. The choir was granted a semester's leave of absence for an all-expense paid trip abroad. The purpose was to propagate Maryville in the countries a former MC travelling president, left untouched.

Big news of the day includes the final completion of the Fine Arts Center and an announcement from Dean Jay Bright that the dedication ceremonies will follow shortly. Meanwhile all classes are suspended and a week of festivities begins in commemoration of this longed-for event.

The studios of Getro, Moldwyn, and Mayer have announced plans to shoot scenes for their newest to-be-released at Maryville College and the whole campus is going wild. The name of the movie is "America and the Stone Age," and will co-star President Johnson Dodd with Dean of Women Ruthie Garst.

Pranks and Parties

A few last minute glances around campus show a large airfield over behind the million dollar science quadrangle where student planes are "parked." Pi Lumbago, fraternity extraordinaire, has recently erected its house, raising the number of houses on fraternity row to six. We see a bulletin board outside Fayerweather announcing a regatta to be held on the newly enlarged fish pond. The student union is now serving full course dinners,, having recently enlarged its banquet hall. It is rumored that the center is giving the dining hall a hard time. The Student Council has called a hasty meeting to discuss a raise in the President's salary. So with 2000, A. D.—for man.

Of trips and people—1950

Students left by the busload before Chrismas and returned looking a little worn for the experience. Rog Cowan left carrying a sign, "She lives in Philadelphia," in hopes of getting a ride up to Yankeeland. Carl Lindsay had a harrowing experience when Jim Davis' can of peanuts tumbled from the bus shelf, hit him on the head, and showered all over him. "Say something to me," anxiously asked Jim. "Aw nuts," was all Carl would proffer.

Voices, Masks, and Shadows

OPERA PREVIEW

A Saturday afternoon stroll near Anderson Hall is rewarded with an intoxicating preview of Opera Workshop's coming performance. Harmony and rhythm emanate from the open windows with the precision and beauty of a Broadway hit.

"Down in the Valley," under the direction of Harry Harter, Bob Holley, student director and Herman Middleton, drama coach, is sure to be an all-time high on MC's talent and show parade.

Everyone is expressly happy over the re-establishment of the Artist Series. Baritone Earl Spicer will without doubt capture the admiration and respect of his audience tonight with folk ballads and Shakespeare and Gilbert and Sullivan selections.

MC is extremely fortunate in being host to Spicer in this year's series. Chairman Dorothy Horne deserves a bow and an applaud for the Artist Series' task.

"Down in the Valley" was produce dthree years ago by the New York Lemonade Opera Co., a group of professional musicians with unconventional tastes.

The song "Down in the Valley" has many variations and imitations, has crossed geographical and background boundaries and has become national property along with "You Are My Sunshine" and "Home On The Range." Its stanzas are a distillation of many love songs and might even make one cry if blown solftly on a harmonica.

"Sourwood Mountain," one of the other folksongs incorporated into the opera, is a lifting and fiddling piece from the Southern mountains (up by Gatlinburg) which tells of a lover gazing over the green tangle of hills to his sweetheart's cabin dreaming of popping the question to her father, and promptly decides he wouldn't have her for sour apples.

"No-star" principle is an interesting aspect of the theater and one which MC's Opera Workshop seems to have adopted in a modified form. Members of the company are assured roles in accordance with their talents, thus tonite's lead may have only a walk-on part next week. Moreover, they all pitch in to make scenery, handle props and sweep the floor.

DID WE KNOW that Jack Benny was named "Mr. Thrift of 1850" by the National Thrift Week Committee?" We do now.

that Gary Crosby made his premiere as soloist on his papa's show last Sunday?

that Kurt Weill's "Down in the Valley" is being plunged into by NBC tomorrow night at 10? This is the first of a monthly series of operas in English. They're on television too, if you happen to have brought your Xmas present back to school with you.

Barter Theater, now touring the South, presented a clever comedy by George Kelley entitled the "Show-Off" at Maryville High School last week. Appealing human interest, rich humor and pleasantly etched characters made life in a middle-class Philadelphia family pleasant and refreshing to witness.

Genesis of the Barter Theater was in 1932 when jobs were scarce and food desirable. Robert Porterfield after winding up a tour of "Cyrano de Bergerac" and finding no prospects of future acting employment hit on the idea of swapping talent for food.

Abingdon, Virginia, his home town with an abundance of food and shelter and little opportunity to witness live actors on a real stage, seemed the logical place to begin bartering.

The theater is under state subsidy, making it possible for every city and town of consequence in Virginia able to enjoy a repertory of good plays.

SOUTHERN TOUR

Eminent in the musical world are the Boston University Seminary Singers. Now making one of their extensive tours, the group presented an inspiring concert last week at Everett High School.

Under the direction of Dr. James R. Houghton, the singers are classed by nation-wide critics as among America's finest male choruses. Among the selections sung by the singers were "The Creation" (Genesis 1:1-3) by Willy Richter; Handel's "Then Round about the Starry Throne" and Chajes' "Song of Galilee."

One inspiring interlude consisting of "Credo" by Gretchaninof and Bortniansky's "Lo, a Song of Cherubim" was created by the Quartet.

The concert was well received by the audience of approximately 1200.

been Green long enough so she was persuaded to change it to Black. E. R. Walker came in 1909 and because of his position in math and physics, often had witty(?) statements attributed to him. It was said that once, in answer to the question, "What is the temperature of moonshine?", professor Walker replied, "Two in the shade."

Items and Adds

Some of the advertisements in the Echo of those days would bring forth an assortment of chuckles now. One for the Dreamland Theater extolled "serials, educational comedies, and western features a specialty. New electri piano modernly equipped".

Another thought-provoking item of one of the first Echos was headed "Date Bureau to be Established." It ran something like this: A boon to insomnia, open to all reputable persons. Anyone wishing dates with the opposite sex apply at our office in person or writing. In either case furnish recommendations from a nerve specialist, also bring photo for future use. Special fee for standing date. All over 25 years and mental dyspeptics need not apply. Carnegie, room 38

Rules and Routine

One rule listed in the College Handbook then was in regard to the Sabbath. As is true now, students were required to attend Sunday they were not allowed to occupied a large part of their time. But in their spare ime on Sunday the ywere not allowed to patronize the Sunday trains or to visit the railway stations. Sunday visits were disapproved. Nowadays most students don't even know Maryville has railway stations.

Quoted below is one of "Miss Molly's Bi-Weekly Lectures" which should give a short insight into he social life at Maryville in 1915. Miss Molly was a matron.

"No girls shall be seen moonshining on the campus, on the stile, on the steps of the library, belo wthe brow of the hill, at the foot of the campus, under the persimmon tree, in the laboratories, on the walk to Professor Gilman's, back of Science Hall, in the new chapel, or any other place, with the co-eds, except with written permission from parent or guardian."

All in all, things haven't changed too drastically at Maryville since 1915. It is true that the college is bigger and better in a great many ways, but we find that what Maryville had to make it a leader then is combined with more to make it a leader now.

BROYLES STUDIES, TEACHES

Sam C. Broyles, MC, '49 is teaching a class in sociology at UT on a fellowship while working there for his master's degree. Mrs. Broyles is secretary in the Student Help Office here.

BROADWAY ELECTS JONES

Tom Jones was elected president of the Broadway Methodist Sunday School in an election, January 15. Other officers for the coming year are Thad Godwin, Vice-President; Morna Wright, Secretary; Marie Richards, Program Chairman; and Beryl Stewart, Social Chairman.

Howard Hannaford Speaks At Chapel

The Reverend Howard D. Hannaford, missionary-teacher, lecturer, and writer was guest speaker at Tuesday's chapel.

Using as a subject, frames of reference on Japan, he enumerated important points of the Japanese recovery following the end of hostilities. A conquered nation, General McArthur's social reforms, America as a land of abundance, and the Christian concern were phases reviewed by the speaker.

Rev. Mr. Hannaford was in Maryville for a Presbyterian Men's meeting. Next summer he is to return to Japan as a faculty member of the Men's College in Toyko.

Graham New Moderator

Dr. Thomas A. Graham, pastor of Maryville's New Providence Presbyterian Church, was elected moderator of Union Presbytery which met Monday in Knoxville. He replaces Rev. Morris Hunt, pastor of Fort Sanders Presbyterian Church, Knoxville.

Sports Echoes

By Duncan Bennett

● LOOKING BACKWARD. This issue of The Highland Echo marks the 35th year of publication and complete coverage of news and events on the campus. Thirty-five years ago the date 1915. Back then Coach Z. Jay Stanley headed the Scot grid contingent. The schedule and scores are out of this world.

University of Kentucky is second on the list—the score was MC-0, Kentucky-80. Central High of Knoxville led the list in those days. We beat them 77-7. UC took the Scots for a 35-7 ride, Tusculum lost 7-6, and, wonder of wonders, Carson-Newman won 3-0. (Take heart Frosty, maybe you can do it again!) All told, the boys won six out of ten games that season.

MC'S CAGERS back in 1915 played twelve games, won seven, lost four, and tied one. Some of the opponents were the University of Kentucky, Tusculum, King, and Cumberland.

●BASEBALLERS BACK IN THEM DAZE had a little better luck. They won 15 and lost three in 1915. One game in a three-game series with Cumberland University lasted 17 innings when Cumberland won 2-1. The Cleveland Indians took one from us that year too by a score of 10-1.

●THERE'S FEUDIN' in the air these days between the Tarheels of our neighboring state of North Carolina and the East Tennessee Ridge Runnerts. Western North Carolina State Teachers College has served notice that the two scheduled basketball games with Maryville are cancelled, and that "the football relationship is cancelled," as of now. It seems that coach Tom Young is dissatisfied over the officials used in WNC games played here, especially the gridiron tussles.

On the face of it, the quarrel apparently centers around an official named Farmer, who, Coach Young believes, served in the Scot-Catamount football game here last fall when WNC received a 20-13 licking. As a matter of fact, Farmer did not call the game, since Coach Honaker deferred to Coach Young's wishes in the matter and obtained a substitute for the match. The officials were Doug Watkins of Loudon, Sam Venable of U.T., and Benson and Jones of Knoxville. Coach Young agreed to all of these men in a telephone call Tuesday before the game.

The general complaint of Coach Young's letter was that Coach Honaker was using local officials for our home games with WNC. Young says that he had requested that officials from the Appalachian Booking Office be used, but that the officials used were local men from the Southern Association.

Could it be that Coach Young is making an excuse to bow disgracefully out of a painful situation? The Scots have rather consistently given his team a beating on the football field and on the basketball court. WNC has had good football teams and the games have all been fairly close, but as Coach Young so succinctly remarked in his letter "enough is enough." Apparently it is for him.

●COACH DAVIS' WRESTLERS are working themselves into shape for a tough match Saturday night with the matmen of Chattanooga. The team is still in need of a real heavyweight, and this late in the season there is little or no hope of getting one. Herb Palmer, who usually holds down the 175 lb. class successfully, has had to take over the heavier echelon. At any rate, wrestling fans should have enough this week since a previously unscheduled return bout with the Knoxville YMCA has been arranged for Thursday evening.

Echo Sports

Hoopsters Meet Bucs In Return Cage Battle

Tomorrow night in Alumni Gym, Coach Lombe S. Honaker's Scots will take to the floor in an attempt to get back in the win column with a victory over East Tennessee State. Not boasting of their record which stands at two won and five lost, the Highlanders will be facing an old nemesis with whom there has been a constant basketball fellowship since 1917-1918 when the series innaugaral was begun with a 46-23 Scot victory. Since that time, however, things have not been so easy. For with one exceptioin—that of 1923-24—there hasn't been much spread between the winning and losing teams. One other notable feature about the 1923-24 contests was that both games ended with the Scots winning, 49-13. Over the years the series stands with Maryville having won 20 and the Bucs of ETS 12.

Teams Exchange Wins

Since 1941, each win by one of the two opponents has been matched by the other in the second fray of that year. In 1942, scores were 25-45 and 42-30. In 1946, ETS came out on top in the first fray, 52-35, but the Scots bounced back to win 56-49, while the games of '47-48 saw East Tennessee go under, 43-36, in the first battle, only to have the Pirates come back roaring in an adding-machine game to win 85-82. So far this year, the Johnson City school has taken the Scots measure with a 64-57 triumph there; therefore, if any one wants to take into consideration, previous scores, tomorrow night ought to see the Scots really shine.

ETS Facts

Now for a few notes on the players. ETS really has it this year with all of their starters being three-year veterans. Their biggest man is Seaton who naturally plays center. Seaton isn't an outstanding shot but his height is a tremendous asset. Jack Vest, ETS prize quarterback, and Maxey at forward are the Buc's top scorers and floormen. Another footballer, Gene Quarles, plays at the other guard position and Edens at the opposite forward. "They're a fast breaking team that takes a lot of one-handed shots and then runs," says Coach Honaker, "but I don't believe they're as as good as Milligan." Well, let's hope that they take their one-handed shots and then run the other way by Maryville's getting the rebounds.

Scots In Shape

For the Scots, they will have three-day rest behind them with the whole team intact and on the rebound from the Tusculum affair. Babe Keny has shown a great improvement at center and if he can play as good a game tomorrow night as he did last Friday, no one will say for the worse. Bob Boring is finding the range once again along with Gene Reynolds while not much more should be expected from Brahams and Hamil who have been the standouts in the past games.

In the preliminary affair, the B team of Coach Johnson will play Columbia Theological Seminary of Decatur, Georgia. The team which has been coached by Harvey Overton, former Highlander athletic manager, will be missing his presence on the home court. Overton, according to reports, was stricken with a case of double anemia and has been hospitalized for some time. Last year's game saw the JV's turn back the "Preachers" by a 65-45 count. This year's version of CTS is not known but by the way the B's have been playing, it should turn out to be an interesting affair. Game time is at 6:45 for the preliminary and 8 for the varsity.

Scots Kicked Over By Hiwassee, 66-51

In the biggest upset of the year, Hiwassee's Tigers overwhelmed Maryville's Scots, 66-51, on the Madisonville Court, Wednesday night. For the second game in a row, the Scots were up against a team that was hot and for the second night in a row, also, the Scots weren't.

Hiwassee Never Lags

Going ahead from the very beginning, Coach Al Thomas' cagers kept adding to their score until at halftime, they led by a 31-25 score. The second half was much the same although Maryville outpointed the Tigers, 26-25, in that period. Final Score was 66-51 with a discrepancy of four points in the Hiwassee scoring—four points being added to their team score but not to the players'.

JV's Down TMI, Measure KBC

With Meano Shields sinking 23 points, Coach Kenneth Johnson's team got back into the win column as they whipped Tennessee Military Institute there Monday afternoon. It was their second win against three losses.

In games over the holidays, they defeated Knoxville Business college, 55-30, and went down under on a last-minute field goal to the Frinedsville Farmers, 45-44.

Buffaloes

Taking to the road for the first time this year, the Scots traveled to Johnson City where they were handed a 63-47 licking by Milligan. Trailing 29-23 at halftime, the Buffaloes put on a scoring exhibition during the scond half that had the crowd wild. Previously they had defeated Union by a big score and were undefeated.

Scots Lead At First

Getting off to a quick start the Scots were paced by Boring and Hamil wih 11 and eight points, respectively, in the first 20 minutes. Boring was playing forward in the absence of Gene Reynolds who did not make the trip along with Hap Brahams and several others. Boring fouled out early in the second half and his absence was felt greatly as the Honakermen managed to sink only 18 points to Milligan's 40. Middleton and Hyder who had been shackled pretty effectively during the first half broke forth in a rash of shots to overcome the Scot lead and go ahead.

Center Leads, Shooting

High man for the night was Middleton, Buff center, who totaled 18 while MC's highest was Hamil with 15. Charlie Allen, starting for the first time this year, gave a good account of himself by swishing the nets for 11, but their efforts weren't enough to overcome the absence

Buccaneers

Bad luck again dogged the Scots when they commuted to East Tennessee State where they lost 64-57 to the Bucs. It was the Scots third in a row. The game was the second holiday game for the men who stayed at MC.

Hurting the team's chances again as the absence of Brahams and Reynolds—whose presence might have turned the tide.

ETS Takes Lead

Unlike the game of the night before the Scots were ahead only at first and had to relinquish their lead to Coach Brooks' men. At half time, the score was a fairly close 32-27 in favor of the Buccaneers. During the second half, Maryville lost Boring and Lillard due to fouls—no doubt this aided the Pirates in their outscoring of the Scots.

Boring Top Scorer

For once, the winning team didn't have the high scorer for the night—Boring came through with 19 before he left the game. Hugh Hamil and Ray Keny with 17 and 11 points, respectively, were the only other men with large contributions for the cause. However, ETS had four men with 11 or more points and two others whose totals were that same lucky 11 to overcome any scoring deficiencies they might have had.

Babe Keny, who has previously been playing forward, was switched to center and put in ten

Bulldogs

In a game that was nip and tuck all the way, Union College's Bulldogs edged out the Scots, 47-45 in the last game before the holidays. Behind, 42-32 with the second half nearly gone, the Highlanders began hitting on their shots, and, had the game continued any longer, they might have overcome the Barbourville boys.

Back and Forth

Union was the first to regiser with Pat Dickinson's field goal, but Maryville quickly pulled up with Gene Reynolds putting in a free throw followed by Bob Boring doing the same. Coach Bill Bolyard's five went ahead again on baskets by Beeson and Crum but these were nullified by four buckets from Boring and Hamil. Matching each other point for point both teams were in the thick of it until, with some two minues left in the first half and the score tied at 21-all, Union racked up four straight goals to leave the court with a 28-21 lead.

Scot's Shots Off

Coming back from their halftime rest, Coach Honaker's men still found difficulty in hitting their shots with the result that Union in two short spurts added 12 more points to their lead. Maryville got in a pot-shot now and then but it wasn't until the clock was nearing the ten-minute mark that the Scot attack began to click. Hap Brahams and Hugh Hamil collaborated to start the rally hat was to culminate in their pulling up to within two points of the victors.

With the second half midway gone, the score stood at 42-32 and Lombe's men began closing the gap, with Bob Boring stealing the ball and driving in for layups and Hamil hitting from just beyond the circle.

The score was narrowed down to the final margin and Boring was whistled to the foul line for a freethrow, but on the play he had fouled the other player for his fifth. George Handley went in but missed his try and Union successfully froze the ball for the last minute.

Tall Team

Hurting the Scot offense greatly wa sheir drop in a accurracy atthe foul-line. When they had made 16 for 21 the week before against King, the total Scot contribution via this route was only 13 for 28. Aiding commensurably also, in Union's cause was

Scots Take Wasps 61-58; Drop Next 62-50 To Pioneers

Maryville's basketballers started things off on the right foot, or should I say sneaker, last Friday night by walloping the Emory & Henry Wasps, 61-58, here on the home court.

The play was even throughout the first half, as both teams clicked off some good scoring thrusts. The Scots walked off with a six-point halftime lead and, later in the third quarter, increased that margin to some 13 points.

However, the Wasps caught and passed the Highlanders in the last canto, and MC had to rally in the closing minutes to pull the game out of the fire.

Sub forward Hap Brahams led Maryville scoring with six field goals and two fouls for 14 points. Hugh Hamil was runner-up to Brahams for Maryville with 11 points on four goals and a pair of fouls.

High man for the game was forward Dixon of Emory with ten goals and five fouls for 25 points. The other forward, Mason, was runner-up for game high with eight goals and one foul for 17 points.

This is the first time this season that the diminutive Scotties have not been bothered by height as the Emory boys averaged about the same as Maryville.

SCOTS VS. TUSCULUM

The following night the Honakermen traveled to Greeneville to encounter the Tusculum Pioneers. Tusculum knocked off the Scots, 62-50, before a large crowd.

The Pioneers displayed an air-tight defense in the first nine minutes in which time the punchless Scots racked up exactly 0 points. From there on in the Tusculum boys coasted through to an easy victory.

Again it was sub Hap Brahams who led Scot scoring, and, in fact, both teams. Hap threw 21 points. He was the only Mary-

Meet Follows Bouts With Knoxville YM

With only a half day's rest behind them, Coach John A. Davis' matmen took off for Chattanooga today and a match with the Moccasins of Chattanooga U.

Last night, the Scots journeyed to Knoxville where they faced the Y team whom they had previously beaten, 30-0. Because of the toughness of tonight's matches, several wrestlers were relieved by others in their classes.

McNiel Has It Rough

Paul McNiel wrestled last night in the 121-pound class and will do so tonight. He will probably have to face George Owens, Southern AAU champ in the 115 pound class. Jim Marvin who is slowly working his weight down tangled with Crittendon last night while J. A. Cameron will probably wrestle Walt Cornelius in the 128-pound division. Last year, J. A. pinned Cornelius in the first period.

Chesley Anderson wil also be up against it tonight after having grappled last night. His opponent, Ed Tankesley, 136-pounds, decisioned Tom Yeaworth twice in matches last year. In the 145 pound class, there was also a splitting up of the chores. Last night Jimmy Callaway took on Knox Y's Murphy while tonight Yeaworth probably will take on Melvin Haskins, who wrestled in the 128-pound division last year.

Tubby Takes Time Out, Too

Wrestling back in his old spot the 155's last night was Lawrence Major who was giving Tubby Callaway a chance to rest. Tonight Callaway will face a newcomer from the group of Jim Higgin, John Dodd, Fred Anderson, or Frank Williams.

Williams wrestled Tubby in the AAU macth at Atlanta last year, defeating him, 6-4, but did not face him in regular season competition.

"Maj" And Hersh Switch

Hersh Merriman grappled last night in the 155-pound affair and tonight will relinquish that spot to "Burrhead" Major while he moves on up to the 175-pounders. Major will probably wrestle Bill Hill or Williams who is also pulling the stunt of switching divisions as the season goes along. Merriman wil have it rough tonight in facing Doc McGee after his bout with Brady last night. In the 175 pound class last night freshman Bill Cates or upperclassman Willard Rahn were slat-

Last year was the worst in the natino's history in terms of new polio cases. There were more cases. . . . in more places and more money was needed to care for them. . . so much more that the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis had to hold an emergency fund drive last September. The polio victims of this epidemic and of past epidemics still require care. Other funds are needed for research to track down the causes of this dread disease. Your help will accomplish these things, so give now, give generously.

3 Faculty, Staff, 30 New Students Join MC for Term 2

Three new members joined the faculty and staff of the college for the second semester, which opened January 11.

Mrs. John Kennedy, MC '39, is teaching two courses in underclassman English. She holds a master's in English from the University of Tennessee.

Mrs. A. B. Waggoner, Jr., MC '45, is teaching a course in business law. Mrs. Waggoner is a practicing attorney in Maryville.

Mrs. John A. Davis, whose husband is associate professor of physical education, began full-time work as an assistant in the Personnel Office.

About 30 new students are registered for this semester.

First guest speaker in chapel for 1950 was the Rev. James M. Windham, pastor of Maryville's First Baptist Church.

HOLDING tightly to her trophy is Delores Ruth Medlin, 16, of Miami, who was chosen as the 1950 Florida "Swim for Health Queen." Delores weighs 121 pounds, and all of it is where it should be. (International)

Palmer Heavy Again (?)

Herb Palmer, still scratching his head over being in the heavyweight class when he steps on the scales, will face either of two newcomers in Gilbert Boyd or Bill Watts. McGee may also jump into the "unlimited" class if he sees fit.

Coach Carpenter has lost a couple of good men in Smith and McCoy, who turned the tide with a last minute pin of John Briggs in the heavyweight match to eke out a 14-13 win, but the others won't be easy. So far this year, the Moccasins have wrestled Vanderbilt and Georgia Tech, but scores on these matches aren't available.

When scores come back tomorrow on the match, Scot supporters may well be able to judge to potentialities of this year's squad and compare last night's results with Chattanooga's showing against Tech and Vandy.

ABOUT FENCING

The MC curriculum not only trains future teachers, preachers, and the like, but some member of the student body could be a future Doug Fairbanks. Fencing is Doug's claim to fame and fencing is the subject of this article. The main piece of equipment is a foil, an instrument made like a hatpin only about three feet long. Next in importance would be the mask and pads, and lastly, an opponent.

Fencing is primarily a game of quickness and skill, not power. There is no prime age in fencing; the older you get the better you get.

Thre are eight positions for the attack, and a defence for each part of the body. The object of the game being to touch the other fellow five times before he touches you the same number. The judges are set on each side of the fencer, two watching on man in order to call the number of touches.

Long before foils were invented and a gentleman's game made of fencing, it was used chiefly in wars, the object of that game being to hack or kill the other fellow before he had a chance to do the same thing to you. This didn't require so much skill because the blades were much larger and were more effective when swung with tremendous force. This was great sport, so some man decided to use the swords as dueling instruments; this was practiced mostly by the rich. The poor couldn't afford time for learning, and the few who tried it didn't live long enough to learn by experience. Now that dueling is outlawed, the main use for fencing, outside amateur athletics, is the making of Robin Hood melodramas.

The sport of fencing in America is not so popular as in Europe. In dueling times, when the sport was developing, the Indians had us preoccupied; since they didn't know the fine points of fencing, we didn't want to take advantage of them.

Fencing is one of the best exercises for slimming the legs and hips—it is not a sport just for men. The champion fencer of Austria is a woman.

Fencing is one of the fast moving games, if not the fastest. Don't take the movie version of fencing too seriously, because in a normal duel between two fine swordsmen the verdict would be decided in 30 to 45 seconds. In fencing with the foils, a point is scored in 30 seconds or less. The men in a show pass the offence back and forth to build up suspense.

the Atlantic. He has appeared with many oratorio societies in this country and in England, and has also given programs for the Governor-General of Canada and at the White House.

For three years he was featured soloist with Donald Voorhees and his orchestra on NBC.

Becoming interested in the folk music of England and America, Spicer gave up his formal concert programs and in recent years has devoted his time to presenting programs of ballads to college audiences.

He has appeared seven times at Lafayette College and several times at the Universities of Minnesota, Maine, and Texas and at Columbia. This fall he presented concerts at Stanford, Washington State, and Porland, Ore. His last appearance was at the University of Delaware.

Traditionally, Artist Series is a formal affair. It is, however, optional.

Chesley Anderson nosed out Frank Farmer for the ping-pong championship in the finals that ended just before Christmas vacation. Anderson gained the finals by defeating Tom Yeaworth, and Farmer by defeating Wesley Miles.

BASKETBALL REVIEW

The first week of the second semester intramural basketball campaign found the league off to a fast start. Whizzers moved out ahead of the rest of the field in the intramural basketball league Wednesday by defeating the second place Shuda's, 23-18.

Rabbies moved into a second place tie with the Shuda's by upsetting the Ex-Scrubbs, last year champions, by a score of 24-20. Another big upset was scored by Athenian B's over the Wheels, 33-30.

A check of the standings shows that the Scotties have moved from the number 13 spot to seventh by virtue of a four-game win streak. It also shows the Cavaliers have dropped six notches by losing their last three games.

Ken Newell has asked that all basketball equipment be returned to the intramural office immediately after it has been used.

"If equipment continues to turn up missing, we'll be forced to use poor equipment for games," he said. In the past few days several balls have been found in places other than the intramural office.

NEW career opportunities for you in the U. S. AIR FORCE as an OFFICER AND NAVIGATOR

In this era of long range flights, the role of the navigator has become increasingly important.

The U. S. Air Force now offers new opportunities to young college men between the ages of 20 and 26½ who are single and can qualify for such training.

If you can meet the high physical and educational standards (at least two years of college), and are selected, you can be among the first to attend the new one-year navigator training course at Ellington Air Force Base near Houston, Texas. A new class begins each month!

You'll be an Aviation Cadet! And, you'll receive the best available training—including 184 hours in the new T-29 "Flying Classroom."

Then, graduation! You'll win your wings as a navigator . . . and a commission as a Second Lieutenant in the Air Force. After a 30-day leave with pay, you'll be ready for challenging assignments as navigator with one of the famous commands in the U. S. Air Force. Your office will be the "front office" of mighty bombers or long-range transports!

Be among the first to win your wings as a U. S. Air Force navigator under the new navigator training program—be a key man on the Air Force team!

Air Force officer procurement teams are visiting many colleges and universities to explain these career opportunities. Watch for their arrival—or get full details at your nearest Air Force Base, U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting Station, or by writing to the Chief of Staff, U. S. Air Force, Attention: Aviation Cadet Branch, Washington 25, D. C.

Other Flying, Non-Flying Careers

Aviation Cadet pilot training is also available to young men between the ages of 20 and 26 1/2. See about the many nonflying assignments, too! Never before in peacetime has there been such a good opportunity for college-trained men and women to obtain regular commissions in the United States Air Force.

VOLUME 35 MARYVILLE, TENNESSEE, JANUARY 28, 1950 NUMBER 17

Major Playhouse Plays Announced For Spring

"Hedda Gabler" and "Joan of Lorraine" are this semester's two big productions to be sponsored by the Maryville College Playhouse, it was announced this week by Director Herman Middleton.

They were selected by the Board of Control of the Playhouse just before the Christmas holidays.

"Hedda Gabler," scheduled for March 17-18 ,was written by Norway's Henrik Ibsen. Some critics have called it the best of his social dramas.

"Hedda Gabler" is a character study. Ibsen does not pass judgment upon the character of Hedda Gabler; rather he paints a full portrait with scientific impassiveness in swerving insight, brilliant coloring, and fine telling technique.

Ibsen's Purpose

"What I principally wanted to do was to depict human beings, human emotions, and human destinies upon a grand work of certain of social conditions and principles of the present day," said Ibsen in a letter to Sweden's Count Carl Soroilsky in June, 1890.

"Hedda Gabler" was first given on January, 1891, in Numich, Norway. Since that time it has always been popular, and is one role which many great actresses would like to play. Two years ago Eva Le Galliene played the part on Broadway.

The play is international. It could be a scene from the suburbs of any great city. The characters have universal qualities which make us feel we know people like them, but Ibsen handles them in such a way that gives them great statute and grandeur. In this way the play reaches the classic proportions.

Tryouts for "Hedda Gabler" will be held on February 9. There are three parts for men and four parts for women.

Joan of Lorraine

"Joan of Lorraine," written by Maxwell Anderson, will be the commencement play. There are 18 men's parts and five parts for women.

This play, which is a play within a play, tells of Joan of Arc's rise in France.

"This story of Joan's visions and pilgrimage to court, her restoring faith to the French, and the victory she wins is beautifully dramtized but Maxwell Anderson also has interwoven in the Joan of Arc story a parallel action, which takes place outside the Joan play proper, in which he shows a meaning of faith today and the necessity of believing in God."

Ingrid Bergman co-starred with Sam Wamamaker in "Joan of Lorraine" when it was presented on Broadway. Also starring in the play when on tour was Louise Ranier, Diana Barrymore, and Mirian Hopkins.

Y Radio Broadast 9:30 Mon., WGAP

"The Three Lepers of Suk-El-Garah" will be the presentation of the Y Radio Workshop on Monday, January 30, at 9:30 p.m. over station WGAP.

A prize-winning play by Colin Clements, it will star John Shew, Bill Starr, and Herb Keene in title roles. Ben Paxton will be the producer, Barbara Blum and Bill Star, the directors, and Herb Keene, the soloist.

The play, scheduled for last week, was postponed because of the broadcast of the Maryville-Friendsville High School basketball game.

Spanish Officers, Members Elected

Spanish Club held its first meeting of the semester Thursday in Sennor Schwam's classroom electing officers and new members.

The following were elected new members: Dick Kerr; Ruth Burgos; Karole Kapp; Grace Greenwalt; Trudy Singleton; Barbara Rogers; La Donna Baylor; and David Helwig.

Bill Faulkner was elected program chairman and Jeanne Pelton was elected Treasurer. Bill Shields, publicity chairman, was elected vice-president to combine the two offices and Archie Swarztrauber assumed the office of president to fill a vacancy caused by Barbara Blum's resignation.

Van Nest Represents Off-Campus Transients

Bob Van Nest, junior from Dunellen, N. J., was elected a representative for the off-campus transient group in the MSO election held Tuesday. The election was held to replace Tom Lang who did not return this semester.

MSO election committee reported that 248 of the eligible men voted.

At the meeting of the Union Presbytery last week, Dr. F. A. Griffitts of the Maryville Faculty was elected a lay delegate to the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church USA to be held in Cincinnati, Ohio beginning May 18.

Dr. Griffitts is professor of chemistry and manager of the Book Store. He also has served as clerk of the Session of New Providence Presbyterian Church.

Episcopal Sunday School To Hear Rabbi Stillpass

Rabbi Leo J. Stillpass of Knoxville's Beth-El will speak on "The Early Beginnings of Judiasm" at St. Andrew's Episcopal Sunday School Sunday morning at 9:30. George Barber will be song leader.

MC President R. W. Lloyd spoke last week on "The Religions of the World," and next week senior Ben Sheldon will talk on "Christianity."

Mrs. Cora Huffstetler, Sister of Miss Henry, Dies Suddenly Sunday

Mrs. Cora Huffstetler, 71, sister of Clemmie J. Henry, MC's director of Student Help, died suddenly at her home in Maryville, Sunday.

Mrs. Huffstetler taught the Marthenian class at the First Methodist Church for over 20 years, until she was forced to discontinue her teaching recently because of ill health. She was also well-known in Blount County as a Bible teacher.

Funeral services were held Tuesday at 2 p.m. Dr. E. E. Wiley, Jr. and Dr. O. R. Tarwater officiated.

In addition to Miss Henry, survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Victor Rowan; son, W. J., Jr., both of Maryville; sisters, Mrs. L. C. Olin, Maryville, and Mrs. Roy Hitch of California; brothers James Henry of Texas, and H. B Henry of Maryville.

MILLER EDITS '51 CHILHOWEAN

Carolyn Miller, sophomore sociology major from Monmouth, Ill., was elected editor of the 1951 Chilhowean as a result of balloting held all day yesterday by the sophomore class. She defeated sophomore English major Peggy Kettles from Pittsburgh, Pa., by a vote of 60 to 41.

Miss Miller was for two years a member of the staff of her high school annual, the Fairfield, Ia., Quill, and art editor her senior year. She has worked on the editorial staff of the The Highland Echo since last semester, and now holds the rank of sophomore reporter.

She is skit night chairman of Bainonian and a member of the debate squad.

A nominating committee of sophomore class officers proposed the names of Miss Kettles and Tom Kennedy at a class meeting Thrusday after chapel. Kennedy is sophomore English major from Covington, Ky.

Miss Miller was nominated from the floor, and she and Miss Kettles defeated Kennedy in the run-off.

Mary Lyerly, editor of the '50 Chilhowean, offered "My heartiest congratulations. She'll do a fine job, I'm sure, and I wish her all the luck she deserves and will need."

In an exclusive Echo interview last night, the new editor said, "I sincerely appreciate the honor of being elected '51 Chilhowean editor and promise to do my best to make next year's annual a complete success."

'Down In Valley' Folk Opera Given By 2 MC Groups

Maryville's Division of Fine Arts and Maryville Playhouse presented "Down In The Valley," an American folk opera by Kurt Weill and Arnold Sundgaard, in two performances last night in Alumni Gymnasium.

Production was under the supervision of directors of Opera Workshop and College Playhouse, Harry Harter and Herman Middleton, and Charlotte Johnson of the Art Department. Choreographer was Lois Doebler and sets were designed and painted by members of art classes.

Playing the lead roles in the first performance were Ken Shaffer as Brach and Lynn Johnson as Jenny; second performance, Conrad Eaddy as Brach and Lois Deobler as Jenny.

Plot behind the opera is based on the love of Brach Weaver, a condemned convict, for Jenny Parsons, his sweetheart. Brach breaks from jail the night before he is to hang to see Jenny.

With her in the still of the night, he recounts the events of their courtship and of the killing of Bouche, a rival for Jenny's affections, in a struggle over Jenny. The end comes as Brach leaves to meet his executors and Jenny sings her love for him,

"Roses love sunshine,
Violets love dew,
Angels in heaven
Know I love you."

Committee Chairmen who helped with the production are George Barber, stage manager; Roger Cowan and Beverly Moore, house chairmen; James Townsend, stage construction; Ed Vanderslice and Chuck Gahagan, lighting; Janice Landstrom and Marshe Beebe, costumes; Marie Richards, make-up; Phyl Jackson, publicity; Ed Vanderslice and Ray Kuhn, programs; and Ruth Nicholas, tickets.

Ushers were Roger Cowan and Beverly Moore, Del Eairisman and Lucy Carrick, Robert Kay and Janice Landstrom, Maynard Noble and Peggy Sangster, and Al Springfield and Wanda Onifer.

Thetas, Sigs Win Right To Sponsor '50 Spring Formal

Alpha Sigma and Theta Epsilon societies will be in charge of the spring formal according to the new society dance plan which this week passed through the final approving channels. Brother and sister societies drew lots Thursday to decide which would begin the new dance set-up.

The formal this year will be held on the evening of May Day. Last spring it was conducted by the Social Board and attracted over 150 couples.

Theta and Alpha Sig will also be responsible for next fall's informal dance, which has until now been controlled by social board. Next year's spring formal will be in charge of Athenian and Bainonian, as will the fall dance of the following year.

Profits from the spring formals will be distributed among all four societies.

Interclub Council originated the new plan to make up for the financial deficits which come as a result of consolidating all dramatic productions under the new Maryville College Playhouse.

The fall dance is given without charge and expenses are paid by the Social Board.

McClelland Cites Theft, Urges Care With Money

A jar containing contribution money for flowers for the funeral of Van Holland's father, who died last Monday morning, was taken from the Carnegie lobby the evening of the same day during the supper hour, it was announced in chapel Wednesday by Dean of Students Frank McClelland.

Dean McClelland warned students to be on the alert for any other thefts that might take place, especially at basketball games. He also urged students to be careful not to leave money in their rooms.

Two Services Daily; Stringham Directs Singing 28th Year

The Rev. Dr. William M. Elliott, Jr., pastor of the Highland Park Presbyterian Church, Dallas, Texas, will be the leader of the 74th series of February Meetings beginning next Wednesday morning at 9:45 in Alumni Gym.

There will be morning services in the gym every day except Sunday, including Monday. Services will also be held each evening except Saturday at New Providence Church at 7:10 p.m.

MORNING SCHEDULE

A period— 8:00- 8:45
B Period— 8:50- 9:35
Chapel— 9:45-10:40
C period—10:45-11:30
D period—11:35-12:20
Lunch—12:30

As in former years, a special introductory service will be held at the regular morning worship service at New Providence Church this Sunday, January 29. Dr. Graham will conduct the service; President Lloyd will preach the sermon on the topic, "The Voice of Christ—Midway in the Century"; the Vesper Choir will sing.

Stringham Leads Singing

Dr. Sidney E. Stringham is to lead the singing for the 28th time. He is now pastor of the Cabanne Methodist Church, St. Louis, Mo.

This is the second time the Rev. Elliott has led the Meetings; the first was in 1943.

After graduating from Park College, Missouri, and Louisville (Kentucky) Presbyterian Seminary, he went to Edinburgh, Scotland to study and he received the Ph.D. degree from the University of Edinburgh. He also holds the honorary D.D. and L.H.D.

Dr. Elliott's previous pastorates have been the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church, Knoxville; the Druid Hills Presbyterian Church, Atlanta, Ga. He was pastor of the latter church when he led the Meetings seven years ago.

The Highland Park Presbyterian Church of Dallas, where he is now pastor, is one of the largest in the U. S. Presbyterian Church (Southern), with a membership of more than 3,200 and a Sunday School enrollment of more than 2,000.

Prayer Groups To Meet

Prayer groups, planned under a joint student-faculty committee, will meet before and during the Meetings. The day immediately preceding the opening date will be special Day of Prayer arranged by the Student Volunteers, with individual students signing up for 15-minute periods of prayer in a designated prayer room in Thaw Hall, from 8:30 a.m. to 10:00 p.m.

As in former years the public pravers in the services will be by students, the schedule being made and carried through with the cooperation of the YWCA and YMCA. The student-faculty committee on Personal Interviews will announce the schedule after consulting Dr. Elliott.

At Council—

Reports Heard; SC Votes Constitutional Revision

Bill Faulkner and Herbert McCallum reported on the Intercollegiate Forum held at Southwestern at Memphis last month which they attended as MC delegates. Several Forum discussions thought helpful to Council were outlined.

One town night violation was reported and the penalty applied.

President Nish reported that the society-sponsored dance plan has been fully approved and is ready to go into effect. He also reminded Council of its responsibility concerning evening study hours.

Council discussed the possibility of improving college-student relationships, and also urged that everyone pay class dues promptly in order that Council might collect its operating funds.

Drama department regulations concerning the use of drama equipment were distributed. Council voted to include with proposed constitutional revisions a clause naming the Dean of Curriculum a member of the Social Board.

Two weeks ago, Council reviewed its accomplishments of the past year.

Some Thoughts Concerning These Efficiencists And The New Order

By Duncan Bennett

There is arisen among us today a new breed of men, a "Generation of Vipers" which the world is being forced to nourish at its breast despite the pitiable cries of a decreaisng number of individuals to the effect that the course which they would have us follow is the most effectual garrote to individual initiative and integrity yet devised by the mind of man.

I would not call them Communists, nor yet Socialists, nor yet even welfare staters, although the end professed by these ideologies is the very end for which our new "class" aspires. I doubt that there is a term for them as yet, so, for want of a better word I choose to call them "efficiencists."

A Product of Machine Age

The efficienecist is, without doubt, a direct product of our enlightened machine age, and as long as they wish to quarrel with the machine I have no criticism to offer. However, of late years they have seen fit to enter government and other fields of organized human activity in great numbers. The efficienicist is in a class by himself. He sets himself up as the planner for humanity and in the same breath tells us that we need only to follow his plan and the millenium will be upon us at once.

Is the old bogeyman Capitalism treading on the toes of Labor? The efficienicist can fix it right up—we just won't have any Capitalist.

Do the poor present a problem desperately in need of solution? The efficienicist has the answer—we'll all be poor.

Does the hired help in the office or factory have a tendency to loaf on the job? The efficienicist can tell you how to crack the whip and set them all scurrying. In short, the efficienicist can cure the world's ills in a trice; just let him make the plan and then carry it out.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR of campus-wide interest will be given consideration only if signed. Such letters should show thoughtful, representative criticism or appreciation on subjects of general interest. The editor reserves the right to edit letters for convenience of publiction. In certain cases, names may be withheld in publication.

On Schedule

Student Body President Bill Nish discussed with Student Council last Wednesday evening a problem that is of concern to all students and faculty on the hill: the fact that increasingly, it seems, the work-play schedule of the college is moving toward a point where "other engagements" conflict with study-time.

The placement of talents and time, particularly, are becoming unbalanced between extra- and intra-curricular pursuits. Evening study hours, for instance, tend to have second place to appointments incurred in the social or "activities" realm of campus life.

True ,with Maryville's close situation in regard to social activities in general, one must choose between this schedule or that to be in one of several organizations. Much has been done to correlate the desire of students for a wider sphere of social interaction toward a plan to make each activity conform to a general pattern.

It appears this is not enough. With the possible exception of students in the forensic and publication phases of extra-curricula activity, there seems to be sufficient latitude for modifying the present order for both social and activity appointments.

The possibilities for change in the prevailing situation should be mapped out by a student-faculty committee.

Rigidity of routine is essential to carry through a complete scholastic, spiritual, and social program here on the hill; nevertheless, it seems that current practice in allotment of time on the calendar, especially for the evening schedule, is somewhat out of line with the spirit of right emphasis for thoroughness in the college's work.

First Step

The National Student Association's NSA News reported last fall, "Thieves have been finding students an easy mark this fall." Their headline ran, "Students Suckers for Thieves." Further details in the monthly News indicated that small colleges come in for their share—along with the larger universities, which, it was alleged here when MC was talikng of joining NSA, dominate the organization.

The suggestion made here recently by the Dean of Students is in line with what seems to be The News' view: don't give the thief chance." If it's valuable—lock it up, take it home, or nail it down.

But is this a satisfactory solution? It seems the only expedient one, but other schools—admittedly few—have been successful at the honor system. Notable among them is the la-da-da Washington and Lee, where selling is carried on by leaving merchandise with a money receptacle about the campus. Quite evidently neither this nor most other institutions would find such a system practicable.

Yet is a goal. It may very well be that stamping out the habitual thief by vigilantly refusing to trust even small amounts within his orbit is the first step toward the Honor System.

TALENT DEPARTMENT

This graduating class of 1950 is truely a remarkable assemblage. Several seniors who like the character in the famous limerick are "killing themselves by degrees" expect to graduate cum laude. Of course, there are always those like P. B. Miller, who at latest report will be graduating "thank Laude"!

Talent is not confined to the graduating class, however. Junior Barbara McNiell entered a contest over WROL during the holidays and came out with a prize of a 54-piece set of Interational silver. Some people have all the luck. Santa also brought her a new cedar chest. Sounds like plans are in the air. . . .

BUREAU OF BONERS

The oft-quoted and oft-quoted-about Dr. Orr is again the subject of our Outstanding Faculty Performance of the Week. It happened, per usual, in his philosophy class when the patient professor was illustrating the method of determining what is Truth. He recited to the class a tall story relating his experience the other morning when he nimbly leaped over Anderson tower. When he asked the class how they could tell it wasn't true, Betty Jane Smith had the answer ready. "Well," she said, brightly quoting the text book, "first you've got to consider the source."

GRAMMAR AS SUCH

We've found the most versatile word in the English language, called to our attention by one of these new freshman students. Naturally, the word is "kiss" which may be used as all parts of speech.

It is a noun because it is common and proper.
It is a verb for it may be active or passive.
It is an adverb when it makes an explanation.
And an adjective when it denotes attention and sense.
A kiss is a pronoun because "she" stands for it.
It is a conjuction in that it brings together and connects.
An interjection because it shows sudden and strong emotion,
And last of all it is a preposition for it must have an object.

DEPARTMENT OF SIMILES

As blood curdling as Pepper's scream at midnight when she found the straying turtle crawling up her leg.
As authentic as Mr. Bushing's sultry version of Mae West.
As telltale as blueberry stains on students' teeth after cobbler dessert.
As balmy as—the weather.
As unuusally amazing as a serious chapel talk by Lombe.

Voices, Masks, and Shadows

SINGING

Earle Spicer won the hearts of the College audience with his recital of rare educational and musical interest presented recently by the Maryville College Artist Series. Singing a group of English and American ballads and folk songs, he displayed unusual interpretative ability and a completely engaging personality.

Spicer played his own piano accompaniments for all the numbers except "Because I Were Shy," "When I Was a Lad," and "Model of a Modern Major General." For these numbers he was accompanied by Mrs. Alice Eaddy of the faculty.

Before each number, Spicer gave interesting, annotative descriptions of the balalds. In connection with the Shakespeare group, he held a quiz in which the audience participated by answering with the names of Shakespearean plays.

His renditions of "When I Was a Lad," and the encore "Model of a Modern Major General" were parodies in which well known figures on the college campus were involved. He was assisted in these numbers by a chorus composed of Bob Holley, Herbert Keene, Herbert Hoover, and Charles Huffman.

SHOWING

At the Capitol this week "John Loves Mary", starring Ronald Reagan and Patricia Neal will be shown Monday and Tuesday followed with "Come to the Stables" on Wednesday and Thursday.

The story of "John Loves Mary" is about a returning veteran's muddled love life.

John comes back from Europe to marry pining Mary. He has already had an adventure in marriage once before only to bring his bride to the United States and have her marry her long-lost love and his old buddy (Jack Carson). Things get more confused when it turns out that Carson has already married someone else.

"The picture's chief blunder is the miscasting of Patricia Neal, an able young Broadway actress whose throaty, stagy intensity in this featherweight role suggests a tigress in a cat show."

Loretta Young and Celeste Holm play the leading role of two nuns in "Come to the Stables."

The picture is mixed with chuckles and tears into a light hearted parable of faith showing that innocence and piety triumph over worldliness and greed.

After spending the war days in France, the sisters come to New England with their hearts set on one purpose—to found a children's hospital. Neither the fact that they had no money or the support of the bishop worried them.

READING

Every week one can find interesting and educational looking books on the New Book Table. in fact there is probably a week that never passes that every student could not find at least one book which would attract his attention.

Two of the books found there this past week are Jefferson In Power and Women of the Old Testament.

Jefferson in Power, by Claude G. Bowers, is a sequel to Jefferson and Hamilton which tells the story of Jefferson's eight years as President. The exciting struggle between Jefferson and Hamilton, telling of Hamilton's death is one of the subjects covered in this book. Also discussed is the Federalist secession movement, treason and trial of Aaron Burr, Jefferson's dramatic conflict with John Marshall, and the Federal Judiciary, the impeachment of Chase, and how we tried to out the European war by an embargo on foreign trade. The book concludes with a chapter describing Jefferson's later years at Monticello.

Women of the Old Testament, written by Norah Lofts, portrays 20 outstanding women of the Old Testament in colorful, vivid prose. These women, who differ sharply from each other, range from simple women of desert to magnificent princesses. The author makes the characters stand out as living against a vivid background of their time.

THE NEW ORDER . . . .

Lost: Right to Call Self a Man

In the field of government the efficiencist shines forth in the realm of fiscal affairs. He believes that all we need is some plan whereby the nation's money, or the nation's goods, can be distributed equitably among the common man, and he stands ready with the plan through which this noble enterprise is to be brought to actuality.

The common man, or more particularly the common man who does not possess what he considers his fair share of the wealth, is easily duped into following the plan. He has "nothing to lose but his chains," although what he actually loses is the right to call himself a man.

In a like manner the efficiencist stands ready with a plan for almost everything else, although first he must stand around, the very epitome of efficiency, and watch through narrowed eyes the performance of poor misguided mortals beneath him. This is the first stage in plan making, although it is soon followed by the later stages, the end result of which is a chart or diagram, complete with the great god statistic to support it.

Mankind is well on the way already down the path which will put him completley under the misguided direction of the efficiencist. We are all to become perfectly functioning machines who take orders like automatons and carry them out strictly according to plan. When that happens, mankind will truly have sold his birthright for a mess of efficiency.

Sports Echoes

By Neal Pearson

●FIRST THING off the bat is that we want to clear up a few misunderstandings caused by articles in last week's paper. One of which happened was that in the year 1915 we were unscored upon and unbeaten. Getting the good word from Dr. Briggs, a member of that team, we checked up on our files and found out that wonder of wonders, an unbeaten, unscored upon Scot football team. Evidently 1914's results had been mixed up with those of the following year.

Here they are and hold your breath: Maryville tromped Knoxville Central, 49-0; defeated Washington College, 41-0; Chattanooga U went down, 13-0; King was mastered, 25-0; and our old nemesis C-N, was no such thing that year by reason of a 99-0 defeat plastered on them by Briggs and Company. However, just before the C-N game, Tusculum's Pioneers went back to the woods after holding out to a 0-0 tie. We're sure glad to hear from Dr. Briggs for this gentle hint.

●SEVERAL OF THE WRESTLERS have been "griping" also because of what was said, but it was wound up with what wasn't said. Their beef centered around this section from last week's wrestling story concerning Tubby Callaway and rightly so, for they too had a good point. It seems that the sentence in question read "Williams wrestled Tubby in the AAU match in Atlanta last year, defeating him, 6-4. . . ." Well, we loked at the sentence and right away understood. The sentence could and probably was read mistakenly but what would have cleared up the situation was that the word "Tubby" had been inadverdantly omitted from the phrase "defeating him." Tubby had indeed beaten Williams of Chattanooga and had gone onto to the finals of the tourney losing only to Auburn's Smith in what many said was the best match of the year.

Again we say that we're sorry it happened but it shows that some people are still up on their toes. Any kind of comment is greatly appreciated, for it is only by these discussions that action is taken and stimulated.

●THE SUN'S SHINING for the first time in the wrestling room, again. Coming out for the Heavyweight division the past week were three men, any of whom could be the long-lost man Coach Davis has been looking for. They are Maynard "Punjab" Noble, Bob White, the ex-footballer, and James Darough, a Philly boy. All three have that necessary pre-requisite—weight—and if they can absorb some of J.D.'s coaching, we may have a crop of heavyweights. Well, here's good luck to them and we hope they stay out.

●THE MOON WAS SHINING when the wrestling team got back from Chattanooga last Saturday morning or Friday night, whenever you want to call it, but one could say that the sun was shining on that front, also. Prospects are looking good for the future after the Moccasin match because the Scots really rolled up a score. Chattanooga had a young team but when they return for another match, they will have a little more experience behind them. What looked good from another side was the fact that this same Chattanooga team had derailed Vandy's Commodores, 17-11 and had gone under by a slight 17-14 margin to Georgia Tech's Engineers. Yes, sirree, things are gonna be tough all over for somebody soon.

●MYSTERY OF THE YEAR is what's wrong with the basketball team. With nine lettermen back it would seem possible for the Scots to field an all-winning five. Well, brother, you and I agree on that, but don't forget that the team lost one man whom it is going to find hard to replace. Center Brick Brahams was a greater help than we have given him credit for being, because the Scot's need has been that of a center. We have been woefully weak on rebounds because of this sad lack of height, and, as a result, there have been such disasters as that of Monday night. Hiwassee just ran away from us during the first half and for the greater part of what would normally be called the third quarter. Babe Keny has been the man who the load has fallen upo nand has been doing pretty good. Let's hope that big Babe can take over where Brick left off.

Another factor that might possibly enter is this—could the fact that the fellows have been anxious to make good also have been a hindrance? Against Hiwassee in the last minute, with the count knotted at 63-all, the Scots got a couple of shots but couldn't make them; a fact which also occurred at the free throw lane when the Highlanders missed seven charity tosses in the last half. We don't know but we're hoping that everything works out all right, for it seems that the Scots are making a comeback which began against ETS.

●ANOTHER UNKNOWN is whether or not Hiwassee's Rogers made the game's so called winning shot before or after or during the sounding of the horn. The crowd was in such an uproar that no one heard it go off. Some fans contended that the horn had blown before he was in the act of shooting, while others sorrowfully admit that they thought it was good. We'll never know.

●WE MAKE A PLEA HERE for less noise by the fans when the players are taking their free throws—it certainly doesn't help a ball player any to hear a bunch of girls screaming in his ears, "make that shot, Johnny!" So let's have less noise when charity tosses are being taken, and that goes for the

Pioneer, Vandy Squads On Cage-Mat Schedule

BASKETBALL

Tonight at seven o'clock the lid will be lifted on the first big double affair of the year when the Scots take the floor against Tusculum's Pioneers. Following this, Coach John A. Davis' wrestlers will take to the mats for a bout with the Vanderbilt Commodores.

Lombe's Zombies Mad

In the opener, Coach Lombe Honaker's five will be out for revenge against a Tusculum quintet which whipped them, 62-50. Missing on that road game was a Scot offense which was held scoreless for the first nine minutes of the fray. If the games since that time are any indication of what might happen, baskets will be sounding on the scoreboard from the opening whistle. Another thing which makes the game attractive is that when comparative scores are added up, one wonders why in the world Tusculum ever did beat Maryville.

An ancient rivalry, almost as long as that of Carson-Newman in football, with Tusculum got off on the wrong side of the book when the Pioneers whupped us 21-45 back in 1910. Since that time, though, this first defeat has been repaid and repaid plenty. Starting with a 23-13 win in 1913, Scot hoopsters rang up a total of 36 wins against only eight losses—good in any man's league. Biggest and widest score of the rivalry was an 83-15 lowering of the boom in 1916. Also breaking into the picture was a 27-27 tie in 1915 and in a game where one hardly expects to find a tie. Last year, the final scores were 70-63 in the final meeting of the two teams at Greeneville, and 63-29 in the initial tilt here.

WRESTLING

While the basketeers figure to have their hands full, figuratively speaking, the wrestlers of Coach Davis will have their hands full, literally, and shouldn't have too much trouble in disposing of Vanderbilt (Wishful thinking).

Vandy From Y to MC

Coming from Knoxville where they engaged the Y, Vanderbilt's Commodores will really have to go some, for Merriman & Co. are out for their fourth straight victory of the year and their eighth win in 13 starts against Vandy—one of these being a 15-15 tie in 1935.

Unlike other sports, Vanderbilt and Maryville haven't had their contract in wrestling for long, though they've had it ever since wrestling was started at the Maryville end of the deal. MC began mat matches with Vandy in 1931-32 with MC winning. After 1933-34, from the score, one would think that they, like U-T, might break off mat affairs with MC because of an astounding 40-0 score, but the next year after succumbing, 23-9, they dragged themselves forth into that immortal 15-15 tie. This marks the second time since the war the teams ahve met. Maryville beat the Nashville School, 27-3, in 1947, and will be out to start another winning streak.

Vandy Looking

Vanderbilt, having the same trouble in wrestling as in football, has had a rough go so far this season on the mat front in losing to Chattanooga, 17-11, and then facing a Maryville team which clobbered that same Chattanooga team, 22-7.

Maryville will be wrestling the same squad tonight as in her other match save for the 121-

JV's Vanquish Everett, 34-31

For the first time this season, JV's of Coach Johnson got on the right side of the ledger by winning a 34-31 victory over the Everett High Bull Dogs in the preliminary Monday. Everett, sporting one of the best clubs in this section, let themselves go behind at first when the ever-reliable Meano Shields sank three in a row to give the Scots a 11-6 lead. Coach Spence Renfro's five pulled up from behind to knot it up just before the half, only to see MC lead at intermission time, 19-16.

The second half was played much the same way with the score being tied at 28-all. Towards the end, though, Coach Johnson's men began working together again, and with Pasquale Shields again the big gun, went out ahead 30-28.

In the semi-finals, Miss Kemp defeated Jane McMillan and Miss Spencer conquered Ruth Rogers. Finals were scheduled yesterday at the Student Center.

B Team Clips 63-36 Game From Colum

The Maryville B boys racked up an easy 63 to 36 victory over Columbia Seminary last Saturday night in a prelude to the East Tennessee game. The junior Scots led at halftime by a score of 31 to 21, but really laid it on in the second half by outscoring the hapless ministers 32-16. High man in the game was Shields of Maryville, with 17 points to his credit. Iverson and Hopper of Columbia had 12 and 14 points respectively for runnerup honors.

Scot-Railsplitter Cage Tournament Monday Evening

Coming to Alumni Gym Monday night, will be the Railsplitters of Lincoln Memorial University in the first clash of the two teams this year. Having only two lettermen back from last year's fine team, Coach Dean Bailey will really have it rough against a group of MC men who will be out to return damage for two losses inflicted last year.

LMU New

LMU is faced with the problem of building a new team entirely, with the exception of Lester McCarter, forward, who dumped in 16 points in the 55-54 derailment of the Scots at Alumni Gym last year. Gone from the "Big Blue" are such stalwarts as Brownell Bryant, Martin Peters, J. B. Myers, and Emerson Watson, the team, which knocked the props out from under the Scots in their first showing at Harrogate last year, 72-68.

Mac The Man To Watch

For the Harrogate team, McCarter will be the boy to watch. One of the coolest players on this team, which has lost several games because of sophomore-jitteritis, is J. L. Cantrell, 6-foot two forward from Sweetwater. When one looks at his 24 years the reason is apparent.

Honakermen Avenge Pre-Christmas Defeat

The Maryville Scotties roared back last Saturday night to knock off the East Tennessee Staters by a score of 64-61. Not only was this the third victory for the Scotties, but it also avenged a 64-57 drubbing handed us by the Bucs during the pre-Christmas season.

Hugh Hamil opened Highlander scoring with a set shot, but after the first 6½ minutes the Staters jumped in front by a 10-7 count. The lead changed hands several times before halftime. With two minutes to go before the half ended Maryville trailed 28-24. A field goal by Brahams, his first, and a subsequent foul shot made it 28-27 at the midway point.

Hard Fighting

In the second half, the lead again switched hands several times, with both teams fighting hard to pull away. With three minutes to go, the Buccaneers led 56-55, but Hamil, Boring, and Reynolds poured on the lead with successive baskets to put the game on ice.

High man for the game was Maryville guard Bob Boring with 21 points. Forward Jack Maxey and guard Jack Vest both had 16 points for the losers.

Matmen Take Two, 25-5; 22-7

By Tom Kelly

Maryville's grapplers, after a long vacation, came back in fine form last Thursday and Friday nights to take successive meets from Knox Y and the University of Chattanooga. Both meets were one sided with the Scots winning out 25-5 against Knoxville and 22-7 with the Moccasins.

Knox Meet

Paul McNiell at 121 won over Knott of Knox by forfeit. Jim Marvin decisioned Critteneden 7 to 2 on a reverse and two takedowns. Crittenden got two points on a reverse. Ches Anderson, in 136, decisioned West 3-1 on a reverse, two near falls, and a take down. West earned one point on an escape.

Merriman Wins

Captain Hersh Merriman, who moved down to the 165 puond bracket, decisioned Brady of Knox 8-1. Merriman collected four points for reverses and four for takedowns. Brady escaped once. In the heavyweight tussle, "Fat Boy" Palmer of Maryville decisioned the much heavier Castlebury by a score of 6-4. Herb earned four points on reverses and two on a near fall. Castlebury earned two on a reverse and two on a take-down.

SUMMARY:

121 Class—forfeit giving Maryville five points.
128 Class—Marvin, MC, decisioned Crittenden, K, 7-2.
136 Class—Anderson, decisioned West, K, 8-1.
145 Class—J. Callaway, M., decisioned Monday, K, 2-1.
155 Class—H .Callaway , pinned Fox, K, in 2:41 of second.
165 Class—Merriman, M, decisioned Brady, K, 8-1.
175 Class—Willocks, K, pinned Rahn, M, in 2:03 of first.
Heavyweight—Palmer, M, decisioned Castlebury, K, 6-4.

MOCS

On the following evening, the Scots journeyed South to tackle the tough Chattanooga Moccasins. The Mocs started off as if they were out to make things rough for the visitors. Paul McNiell was pinned in 2:11 of the first round to give Chattanooga a 5-0 lead. It was destined to be the only match in which they were to win, as the Scotties took all remaining events except a heavyweight draw. "Old Reliable" J. A. Cameron pinned Cornelius of Chattanooga in 0:45 of the second round. Ches Anderson at 136 took an easy decision over Hodges of the Mocs by the score of 9-2. He got credit for two reverses, a takedown, and a near fall. Anderson also was given a point for riding time. Hodges was given two points for a tricky reverse.

Scots Look Good

At 145 Tom Yeaworth shut out Hackers by five to 0. Yeaworth was given two for a takedown, awarded two on a penalty, and 1 point for riding time. Tubby Callaway walked away with his match, in the 145 poumd field, by a lopsided score of 9-0. Three takedowns, an escape and riding time accounted for the points.

165 Class

In 165, Laurence Major won a decision over Bert of the Mocs 6-2. Major had a penalty and two takedowns against two escapes for Bert. Captain Merriman moved back up to the 175 pound slot in one night and decisioned McGhee by the respectable score of 4-1. Merriman had a reverse and a two-minute time advantage while McGhee was awarded one point on a penalty.

SUMMARY:

121—Owen, C, pinned McNiell, M, in 2:11 of first.
128—Cameron, M, pinned Cornelius, C, in 0:45 of second.
136—Anderson, M, decisioned Hodges, C, 9-2.
145—Yeaworth, M, decisioned Hacker, C, 5-0.
155—Callaway, M. decisioned Williams, C, 9-0.
165—Major, M, decisioned Bert, C, 6-2.
175—Merriman, M, decisioned McGhee, C, 4-1.
Heavyweight—Palmer, M, and Myers, C, wrestled to a draw 8-8.

Coming Sports

A foul shooting contest will be held on Monday, January 30, in the Alumni gymnasium, anytime between three-thirty and five o'clock. There will be no sign-up sheet. Participants will be given twenty-five shots.

VOLLEYBALL

Team sign-up sheets are now available in the intramural office. League play starts February 13.

BADMINTON

The Badminton tourney starts February 21 for both single and double play. A sign-up sheet is now in the intramural office for all interested. Opponents will be determined by the draw system. Participants are to play during the day whenever they can get together.

WRESTLING

Boys planning on entering the intramural wrestling tournament should start working out in the near future. The tournament starts on March 7.

BASKETBALL REVIEW

Let's hope that in the future no person takes it upon himself to change the basketball schedule as happened this week. Several complaints have been heard around the campus, and a check at the intramural office proved that it was not done by anyone with the power to make such changes.

Whizzers ran into a little too much on Wednesday afternoon when they met Ex-Scrubbs and the short end of a 36-13 count. The loss of Galen Johnson, who dislocated his left arm Monday in a fall on the hard-wood, was felt by the Whizzers as they tried without success to pick rebounds off the backboard.

Scotties now hold the longest win streak, a seven-game string which includes a thrilling upset win over the Wheels this week, 32-30.

Highlanders won their first game of the year against New High to take undisputed possession of nineteenth place.

Scots Tag TWC 66-62 In Thriller

Tennessee Wesleyan dedicated a new gym last night, but the ceremonies turned sour when Maryville's Scotties took the Bulldogs for a 66-62 ride. Coach Lombe S. Honaker's men were ahead from the game's initial horn, and quickly had a lead fluctuating around ten points. By half time the score was 37-24 and the distance stayed spread that far well nigh into the third quarter.

Subs Sink

Coming off the bench to play nearly the last 10 minutes of the second half, the subs played good ball, but were nearly victims of a Wesleyan rally. Fifteen points separated the two teams with some 10 minutes turned on the clock, but the Bulldogs kept pecking away until they had reduced it to four where it stayed.

High man for Maryville was Bob Boring with 14, while on another fuzzy, Jim Lillard swooshed 6 free throws in that many tries.

Scots Drop Close 65-63 Hoop Event

Running hard all the way, Gordon Rogers dropped in a crip shot accompanied by the sound of a roaring crowd and a blowing horn to give Hiwassee a 65-63 victory over Maryville Monday night. With the score at 63-61, Hugh Hamil unloosed a long that swished the nets. Rogers intercepted a pass when Maryville had the ball near mid court and raced down court to sink the winning counter.

Close Only at Outset

At the game's outset it looked as though Maryville might avenge her 66-51 licking at Madisonville last Wednesday by sticking close to the Tigers or vice-versa. Rogers, who made the last shot of the game, also connected with the game's first followed by Jesse Steele—both were from the side and running shots resulting from passes cross-court. Then Babe Keny tipped one in for Maryville and Hap Brahams followed suit with one from the foul circle. Gene Reynolds looped in a free throw and Maryville led for the first and last time in the ball game when Bob Clevenger corded one of six straight baskets by the Tigers.

Calling time out, Maryville found herself trailing by a 22-10 score.

Scots Fight Back

Coming back roaring mad, Coach Honaker's men kept matching Coach Thomas' five point for point and now and then getting one more till the score read 45-37. At this point Maryville closed the gap slowly but surely until the score read 49-45 and Hiwassee called for her fourth time out. Thus was the game to continue to its final moment. Each team would score only to have the other sink one. It was also at this juncture that the Scots finally got their rebounding to work after letting the Madisonville team nearly control the boards.

Columbia Students Dine With Preministerials

Students from Columbia Seminary were guests at a breakfast held by Preministerials last Sunday in the Y-Rooms. Food was prepared by Ted Beasley, assisted by Russ Owens, Bill Starr, Charles Cash, and John Shew. Ken Newell presided. Forty-five were present.

Hot and Close

With some four minutes to go every fan stood on his seat as both teams barrelled up and down the court. With Bob Boring carrying the greater part of the load on his long shots, the Highlanders crept nearer and nearer till they lacked only two points of tieing the contest up. Hamil then knotted the count with some 40 seconds to go and the stands were shaking with rooters for both sides expecting a slam-bang overtime period. Maryville had received a couple of breaks in getting free throws but just couldn't sink them when they were needed most.

Rogers Ends It

Rogers then came through with his glory act and the Hiwassee cheering section poured onto the court.

Looking back over the game, one saw that Hiwassee had completely outrun the Scots during the first half and had also gotten away with a lot of roughstuff and delaying of the game when they needed it to catch their wind. Hiwassee had a total of 16 fouls tooted against them, while the Scots had nine; six of these coming in the last half.

SPORTS ECHOES

other team, too, when they are at the line.

Continuing our crusade for better conduct at basketball games is our disgust at the attitude exercised by one of the Hiwassee players—all know of whom we speak. It isn't very ethical to mention names ,but the outspoken attitude of Hiwassee's Moses was certainly very uncomplimentary to his surname. His actions with the officials were not on a very high plane, either, with said player continually questioning in strong language their calling of the game (Hiwassee having nearly twice as many personal fouls as MC). We very easily think that he should have gotten the heave-ho early in the game, for it was one time when the officials let the game get out of had.

The aforementioned player had also caused some trouble at Madisonville last week with the same football tactics against Babe Keny which he used against Keny and Gene Reynolds Monday. In both games he had persisted in coming into the circle with his knees high and bowling over Keny and Reynolds. Keny nearly was killed when his head bounced off the floor there, and Reynolds naturally had taken offense at the play whereupon Hiwassee Coach Thomas came out. Continuing a habit that has become very well known around here, el Fatso walked out to get his two cents worth in. He grabbed Reynolds and told him to lay off his "deah" boy. We will, no doubt, get to see more of this same thing this spring when Coach Thomas brings his baseballers here, but then he will be using the umps as ratbait.

●THE GAME with Hiwassee was very rough and it could be that they not only outran us for the greater part of the game but also out-roughed us or shall we say out-dirtied us. When Maryville started using the Tigers' own tactics late in the game, Hiwassee seemed to simmer down a little.

Nowadays, people, and especially some coaches, complain about the two-minute rule very vociferously, and that the officials are calling them too close. That's all well and good, but when a team consistently plays dirty ball and gets away with it, I say that the officials are letting the game get out of hand; for whistles are to be blown on an infraction of the rules and not used for facial adornment. We must sympathize with the officials, though, for they really had a tough time of it.

●TONIGHT, the first big doubleheader of the year will be held in Alumni Gym as the cagers and wrestlers take on the contingents from Tusculum and Vanderbilt. Going out on the same limb we went last week, tonight may see the Pioneers going back with a defeat. While the basketball team will have its hands full with Tusculum, Coach John Davis' wrestlers will be using theirs against a Vanderbilt team which succumbed to Chattanooga's young team, 17-11. Coming from Knoxville where they faced the Y last night, the Commodores will be in the same fix as the Scots were when they went down to Chattanooga.

Here again we have the complexing situation whereby scores should show that Maryville will beat Tusculum. Let's hope the score bears out the facts.

Pioneers Have Vets

Back for the Pioneers are eight lettermen from last season's five. Coach Don Spargo in trying to set up a winning combination has Bill Caton and Bob Bingham of Kingsport as veterans and another, one Bob Mathias, from that same town. Mathias, a bespectacled lad, and Caton haven't too much height but look it because of their thinness. Charlie (Pinhead) Pierce, a stringbean has been the big man in the scoring column in several games this year and in one particularly was he hot—that being MC where he had 18 to his credit. One of several migrants from Ohio on the team, Big Bill Blake also was doing some scoring against Maryville, 15 in one game last year and eight in this year's meeting. Blake is about their best man on rebounds and if Babe Keny can control him, the situation ought to clear up all right.

Scots Ready

Going after the Pioneers with their axes for the Orange and Garnet will be Hap Brahms and Gene Reynolds at the forwards, Babe Keny, Lombe's new find at center, and Bob Boring and Hugh Hamil at the guards. Reynolds really cut lose with some high-scoring games last year, and from the looks of his averages of the last games (9 for 19), Gene "oughta" take up some of the slack. Brahams had a field day against Tusculum there in scoring 21, but no one else . hit, while Keny, having some more experience under his belt, may give Caton a tussle for his money.

Bob Boring, on whose shoulders the team goes, was really off in the Pioneer game (0) points, but with his showing against Hiwassee when he almost singlehandedly brought to victory, his should be a different showing, too. Hugh Hamil, like Old Man River, just keeps rolling along and will give another good performance.

Bench Ready

On the bench, Charlie Allen, B. R. Crisp, and Charlie Roberts, will probably see lot of action and if Roberts should ever get hot, woe be it to Tusculum.

The probable line-ups for tonight's game are:

MC		Tusculum
Brahams	F	Bingham
Reynolds	F	Boatright
Keny	C	Blake
Boring	G	Caton
Hamil	G	Mathias

pound division in which Jim Marvin will take over from Paul McNiell, who has been holding down the fort so well this season. Jim will just make it into the 121-pound class while Paul has been grappling in a class in which he is hardly heavy enough to make the weight with lead shoes on. It doesn't look too big on the chart but a weight difference of six pounds is tremendous asset to a fellow when he's trying to pin someone else. Marvin who had trouble in getting down to the weight last year worked himself down easily. This year he may give the Scots a good one-two punch at the match's outset. J. A. Cameron, the number two man, has been knocking off opponents left and right; so far and he and Jim ought to put MC in the lead to stay.

Out of Class

For the rest of the way up, it will be Chesley Anderson in the 136'ers followed by Tom Yeaworth in the 145-lbs. class. Tubby Callaway, Lawrence Major, Hershel Merriman, and "Heavyweight" Tubby Palmer will all be wrestling in weights above their usual (last year's, that is) class, and that should knock off a little weight in their matches.

Little is known about the Vandy team save their team members and the fact that they lost to Chattanooga by the aforesaid score and to Auburn, 30-6.

Probable starting lineups for tonight's wrestling match is:

MC	Weight	Vandy
Marvin	121	Frierson
Cameron	128	Crews
Anderson	136	Anaston
Yeaworth	145	Jennings
Callaway	155	Sensing
Major	165	Putnam
Merriman	175	Hudson
Palmer	Heavyweight	Caldwell

Scot-Railsplitter

one year, Sophomore "Mac" Mosley, 6-3, will get the nod at center position. Bargo is a little taller at 6-4½ and will probably split pivot duties with Mosley. Firing the team from the guard posts will be Juniors Jack Wells and Bruce Austin, both being Kentucky boys, with Austin the oldest man on the team at 25 and Wells a 6-2'er. Backing them up from the bench will be George Clawson, W. N. Beverley, and Phillip Reasor. Both Beverley and Reasor are also up in the clouds.

On the whole, LMU has an inexperienced team that appears to be about a year away, and as the season has gone along scores have pointed this out. Union turned back the Railsplitters, 51-46, and as the season went along LMU dropped to U-T, 66-49, then beat Pikeville, Ky., 51-47, and Cumberland in two, 68-58, and 66-59. Going into the bigger class, they topped Chattanooga, 59-49, and since then have had games with Emory & Henry and Milligan.

Plenty of Plenty

Forty-one to thirty-three was the score of the first MC-LMU cage encounter in 1926 and the latest was the 55-54 flooring handed us last year with 30 other games in between of which Maryville won 19 and lost 11.

To Veterans
Who Are Expecting Government Checks For Insurance Refund
We Would Be Glad To Cash Your Check or Accept All or Part Of It For Deposit Subject To Your Withdrawal At Any Time
We Suggest The Following Precautions in The Handling of Your Check:
1.—If you are expecting a check, make sure that your mail box is in good condition and firmly fastened in place.
2.—See that your box is properly marked, it should have your name on it.
3.—Tell your carrier to ring the door bell, or in the country to blow his automobile horn when delivering your government check.
4.—Don't leave the mail in your box a minute longer than necessary, brown envelopes left in mail boxes have proved to be big temptations.
5.—After you get your check handle it carefully as you would currency, a surprising number of checks are destroyed or defaced.
6.—Do not endorse it until you are in the presence of the person who is going to cash it for you or in the bank where you are going to deposit it.
7.—If you are not personally known by the party cashing the check be sure to have someone with you who can identify you or have with you some form of identification which would be acceptable.
8.—If your check is lost or stolen, refer the matter to the Veterans Administration giving your army serial number and the number of your insurance policy. Do not write in until you are sure that all of the checks in the area have been distributed.
9.—If your check becomes mutilated or if the amount has become obliterated, so that you cannot cash it, return it to the Division of Disbursement, U. S. Treasury Department, Washington, D. C., and ask for a duplicate check.

VOLUME 35 MARYVILLE, TENNESSEE, FEBRUARY 4, 1950 NUMBER 18

Dr. W. M. Elliott Continues Meeting Series Tomorrow

Town Services Mark Fifth Day of Revival

Dr. William M. Elliott leader of Maryville's 74th series of February Meetings, will preach tomorrow morning at 10:30 in New Providence Presbyterian Church on "Fortunate Misfortune."

At Vesper services in New Providence at 7 p.m., he will speak on "Are You Morally Passing The Buck?" the third in a series of five evening sermons on the Parable of the Lost Son.

Tomorrow will mark the fifth day of the week-long meetings which began last Wednesday in chapel. Singing will be led by Dr. Sidney Stringham, who arrived at Maryville Thursday.

Curtis Hughes is organist at the church and is, as usual, at the piano in chapel.

Topics for next Monday morning in chapel and Monday evening in New Providence are "He Profits Most Who Serves Best" and "How God Treats A Repentant Sinner." On Tuesday, Dr. Elliott will preach on "For Those Who Feel Their Limitations" and "The Prodigal's Brother."

"Choosing Your Life Work" and "God Is At The Door" are the titles for Wednesday, and the meetings will close Thursday morning after Dr. Elliott's last sermon, "On Getting Rid of Da-ion."

'Happiness'

In his initial chapel talk last Wednesday morning, Dr. Elliott discussed "Happiness." Happiness, a by-product of life, he said, is dependent on the manner of man's inner life, independent of circumstances, and the fruit of self denunciation. Singing was led by Vesper Choir director, Harry H. Harter.

Dr. Elliott chose "If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, take up his cross, and follow me," as his Wednesday evening text. Jesus was talking about the death of self will, he explained, and went on to say that Christians must be willing to do more than society demands.

Edward Hamilton of Knoxville led singing.

Thursday morning, Dr. Elliott discussed the tendency to follow the crowd, and said that real independence involved loyalty to one's own soul. That evening he began his series on the Prodigal Son with "One Request God Will Never Refuse."

Dr. Stringham led singing for the first time at a morning service Friday.

"Your Declaration of Independence" was the sermon Friday morning. In the evening he spoke on "On Making God A Last Resort," and led a forum sponsored by YWCA on marriage and family relationships after the service.

The topic this morning was "In the World, But Not of It." No services are scheduled for tonight.

Lots of Dough

President Truman has ordered the AEC to start development of the H-bomb. Congress approved the move, causing a furore in the UN because no workable atomic energy controls have been constructed.

The cost is estimated at $1-4 million. Scientists consider the bomb useful only for military purposes.

Negotiations Go

Contract negotiations between John L. Lewis and the coal operators were broken off after a one day resumption.

Truman had previously asked for a 70-day coal strike truce while a fact-finding board was set up. He told reporters that the truce would not rule out possible T-H action in event of a national emergency.

Mighty Mo

The mighty Missouri, 45,000 ton battlewagon, is free once again after being aground for two weeks on a sand bar at Hampton Roads, Va. During the two weeks, four unsuccessful tries were made, and numerous suggestions were amde, and numerous suggestions, practical and otherwise, poured in from the whole nation.

Rain and Snow

Heavy rains during the past week have flooded the Ohio river in several states. Thousands of people fled their homes, 19,750 being homeless in eastern Arkansas alone. In the Pacific Northwest, frigid weather, reminiscent of last February's freeze, has set in, paralyzing traffic.

Plane Doesn't Show

US and Canadian planes continued their search for a C-54 missing a week in Canadian territory with 44 aboard. Nearly a hundred planes have searched without luck and only occasional glimmers of hope. A radio distress was reported Thursday which raised the searchers' hopes.

Experimentals Announce Crews, Cast For Two Plays

'Boy Home,' 'Theatre' Production To Combine Expressionism, Comedy

Casts of the two Experimental Theatre plays "Theatre of the Soul" and "Boy Comes Home" were announced this week by Directors Herman Middleton and Mrs. Curtis Hughes.

Cast of "Theatre of the Soul" includes The Professor, Ben Paxton; Rational Entity, Dave Reed; Emotional Entity, Craig Fisher; Sublimal Entity, Ed Vanderslice; First Concept of Wife, Mary Holly Webb; Second Concept of Wife, Norma Lou Loetz; First Concept of Dancer, Lois Deobler; Second Concept of Dancer, Beverly Moore; The Porter, Hugh McSpadden. Others in the cast will be announced later.

Cast of "Boy Comes Home" will include Phillip, Herbert Marks; Uncle James, Claude Cowan; Aunt Emily, Sally Sutton; Mrs. Higgins, Mary McAfee; Mary, Kathryn Shelton.

Production

The production staff of both plays will include stage manager, Jim Townsend; lights, George Barber; sound effects, Charles Gahagan; business manager, Allan Caldwell; program and ticket sales, Mary McAfee; props, Jim Dance, chairman; and costumes, Bobbie Porter.

Chairman of all committees are asked to see Director Middleton during next week at their convenience.

"Theatre of the Soul" is an expressionistic play by the late Russian author, N. N. Yewienov. Special music has been written by Dorothy Horne of the music department.

"Boy Comes Home" is a comedy in one act by A. A. Milne.

Performances for the two plays will be at 7:30 and 9 p.m. on February 25.

Alpha Sigma Has Annual Dinner At Chilhowee Inn

Alpha Sigma society held its annual banquet at the Chilhowee Inn, Tuesday. Taking a chartered bus to Walland, the Alpha Sigs enjoyed a chicken dinner and humorous readings followed by a round of songs.

In a short business meeting afterwards, President Paul McNiel brought up and members discussed plans for the coming spring formal to be sponsored by Alpha Sigma and Theta Epsilon.

Plans were also made for an Alpha Sigma week-end trip to the mountains.

Joe Claude was in charge of arrangements, and Aubrey Galyon was toastmaster.

The banquet was attended by 27 members.

THETAS HAVE CONTESTS

Games and contests comprise the Theta program tonight at 6:30 in Theta Hall. A grand prize will be given to the winner of one of these games, according to program chairmen Sara Jo Emert and Gerry Hopkins.

The program chairmen would like to remind all members to bring a pencil to use for the games.

Tryouts For 'Gabler' Scheduled for Thurs.

Try-outs for the Maryville College Playhouse production of Henrik's Ibsen's "Hedda Gabler" will be Thursday at 8 p.m. in Bartlett Auditorium. The play calls for parts for four women and three men. Those wanting production jobs for the play are asked to apply at that time also, Director Middleton said.

"Hedda Gabler" will be presented March 15 and 16. Copies are on reserve at the library.

Students Lead Church Schools

College students who will lead the devotional services in the various Maryville churches Sunday are as follows:

"Building" will be the theme at tomorrow's Sunday School at New Providence Presbyterian Church. Helen Worrilow will provide the special music, accompanied by Alice Huddleston at the piano.

Song leader is Wesley Miles, with David Grubbs reading the scripture and Trudy Singleton leading the prayer. The meeting will begin at 9:15 a.m.

At the Broadway Methodist Sunday School tomorrow morning Edith Lancaster and Ruth Keefer will have charge of the program. The class will continue their discussion of the origin and development of the different religious sects.

Jay Bright will lead the Sunday School worship service tomorrow at the First Methodist Church at 9:15. Kenneth Blaes will teach the lesson.

Episcopalians To Hear Sheldon On 'Christianity'

Ben Sheldon will climax a series of talks on religion at the college class of St. Andrew's Church School Sunday at 9:30. He will speak on "Christianity." John Baxter will lead singing.

Last Sunday Rabbi Leo Stillpass of Temple Beth-El in Knoxville spoke on "The Early Beginnings of Judaism."

STUDENT VOLS POSTPONE SUNDAY NIGHT PROGRAM

Student Vols will not meet tomorrow night because of the February Meetings. Next Sunday, the regular meeting will be held in Bartlett Auditorium following Vespers. The program for next Sunday's meeting is not yet announced.

The Reverend Hal Lloyd, who has just finished a term of Mission Work in the Philippines spoke and showed slides of his work at last Sunday's meeting.

Echo Invites Sophomore Try-Outs

Following the resignation of Carolyn Miller, editor-elect of the 1951 Chilhowean, a vacancy exists on the sophomore staff of The Highland Echo. Sophomores interested in trying out for Echo's editorial staff should meet at The Echo office Monday at 1 p.m.

MC Grad Makes Mark In Illinois Biology

Dr. Leland Shaner, '35, has been recently elected Secretary of the Illinois State Academy of Science. He is also on the editorial State Academy of Science. He is also on the editorial committee of the Illinois Biological Monographs and is the department's representative on the graduate committee which administers the program in Plant Pathology.

Professor Shaner has had several papers published on the discovery and development of minute exoparasites of common red ants. A recent issue of the magazine "The Science Teacher" contains an article by him on the fungi which grow on insects.

Incomplete Count On Student Drive Tallies $2,539.25

To date, funds collected in the Student Chapel Fund Drive total $2539.25 according to figures released by the Treasurer's office this week.

However, the office reported that some money is being received along from pledges secured over the holidays and from further contacts by students. Futhermore, according to information received, it is known that several rather large gifts are expected in forthcoming donations not now in the Treasurer's hands.

The Student Council has stated that they wish to thank all who participated in the drive, although they feel that the number of participants could have been greater. "This is based on the fact that only 129 gifts were received, with a maximum of 14% of the student body paritcipating in the drive," according to President Bill Nish.

"Because of these rather discouraging figures that any one who knows of a possible source of money is urged to continue his efforts for the drive," he continued.

Further results of the drive will be announced as they are known.

Mrs. Barker Writes Race Relations Article For 'Social Progress'

Catherine S. Barker, wife of MC psychology professor Lincoln Barker, is the author of "Practice What You Pray" in the February isue of Social Progress. The magazine is the official publication of the Division of Social Education and Action of the Presbyterian Church USA Board of Christian Education.

With the entire issue devoted to the Christian approach to race relations, Mrs. Barker's article deals with Maryville's interracial Council of Church Women, organized "for the purpose of promoting Christian fellowship and mutual understanding."

She describes the worship services and social hours of Maryville's Negro and white church women and how these activities have developed a greater spirit of understanding and good will.

Breen And Holt Read For Writer's Workshop

Next Wednesday afternoon at Writer's Workshop two new members, Judy Breen and Bill Holt will present their work.

Because of the February Meetings there was no workshop last Wednesday.

210 On Dean's List; Somerville, Blum Make 9.0

23 Percent Of Maryville Student Body Achieve First Semester Honor Listing

A total of 210 students, or roughly 23 per cent, made the first semester honor roll of the academic year 1948-49. Two students, Barbara Blum and Doris Somerville, had a perfect 9.0 average according to standings released this week by the personnel office.

Others high on the scholastic score-card included seniors Charles Mabry, 8.7; and William Nish, 8.4; juniors, Joseph McNiell, 8.5; sophomores, Carolyn Marshall, 8.5; and Jeanne Pelton, 8.7; and freshman Van Holland, 8.5.

A break down of the honor roll shows 57 seniors, 45 juniors, 51 sophomores, and 57 freshmen, making a total of 210 of the 896 enrolled as full-time students. Of this number, 26 have an average of 8.0 or above.

Comparative percentages of the Student Body on the Honor Roll for the past three semesters are as follows:

Fall, 1948—21.82%
Spring, 1949—25.35%
Fall, 1949—23.59%

To make the honor roll, one must have a 6.0 or a B average. Preministerials Announce Plans For Visitation

Student Teams Aid Neighboring Churches

Preministerials announce the planned organization of as many interested students as possible for a program of religious education visitation in the neighborhood churches.

Richard Waka, secretary for the project, announced that all students who are interested in helping should attend the first meeting of the group on February 10. Time, place to be announced later.

The Preministerial project has the arpproval of the college authorities and is open to both men and women students. The program is independent of the Parish Project, but is organized on a similar plan.

Teams To Be Available to Churches

Individual teams will be available to any church at a reasonable distance that desires aid in Sunday School, youth groups; and Sunday evening services. Each team will be composed of from five to seven students, a team captain, and a faculty advisor.

Waka stated that, inasmuch as Maryville was a Christian college, teams of this type could constitute a vital part in the life of students. The teams will be composed of students with speaking, dramatic, or musical ability. They will be transported in the parish wagon, the faculty advisor's car, or facilities provided by the church being served. The program offers opportunities of helping churches of this community in their programs ad services. It is open to any student desiring to help in the project.

The advisory board, of which Waka is secretary, and Hubert Buehler assistant secertary, will serve to assist and assign the individual teams in their work. It is composed of both student and faculty members.

Dr. Elliott Says Student Problems Chiefly Moral

By Frances Moore

With his informal manner, engaging grin, apt quotations, to say nothing of wise messages, Dr. William M. Elliott has captured the warm and rapt attention of 1950 MC students—as he did before in 1943.

Only 700 students were here at his last visit. The ex-GI's were just beginning to come onto our campus.

Dr. Elliott mentioned other changes in the material aspects of the school, but he finds no difference in the spirit. "The students are still vitally interested in their spiritual development," he feels.

He went on to say that he found the main problems of students not to be intellectual ones, as most professors believe, but rather those of a moral nature, centering around love and courtship.

Three Children

As a student in Missouri's Park College, his spare moments were taken up by basketball and singing. He was married in 1928 and has three children—Joe, 18, Carol, 15, and seven-year-old Jeannette, who was a week old when he was here in 1943. Their home is in Dallas, Texas.

This year's Meetings' leader studied in Edinburg, taught in a seminary, and held pastorates in Knoxville and Atlanta before being called to his present church.

Among pastoral obligations, he finds time for golf, trout fishing, and listens to music. His listening favorites are symphonies and piano and violin concertos. Radio singing commercials are the bugaboo of his life.

With emphasis Dr. Elliott declared the future of church-related colleges to be "brighter than it's ever been." Educational circles have taken a fresh interest in the small, independent school."

He pointed out that smallness and spiritual emphasis are being recognized as important factors in liberal arts colleges.

Nevertheless, said Dr. Elliott, "The hope of the world is not in science and education or military and physical prowess, but in moral judgment."

Songleader

"Now all together on the third . . ."

Dr. Sidney Stringham, now pastor of the Cabanne Methodist Church in St. Louis, Mo., returned to Maryville Thursday afternoon to lead singing that night

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 4, 1950

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR of campus-wide interest will be given consideration only if signed. Such letters should show thoughtful, representative criticism or appreciation on subjects of general interest. The editor reserves the right to edit letters for convenience of publiction. In certain cases, names may be withheld in publication.

Interest and Voting

The election last week of the 1951 Chilhowean editor brought forth two suggestions on campus which deserve editorial mention and comment.

Out of a total class membership last September of 230, a mere 101 sophomores voted in an election important not only to the class but the entire student body as well. Even allowing for an enrollment drop this second semester, election results still show that less than half the class participated in voting. With an indifferent attitude as obvious as this one, the class has made anything but a good showing as far as group participation goes. Only with a greater degree of individual interest can the sophomores hope to achieve the class unity necessary to real accomplishment.

Also, it has been suggested that Student Council plan election nominations and balloting so that there can be time between for class members to become really acquainted with the qualifications of nominees. If The Echo could have the opportunity to publish information pertinant to any election and those running for office, some balloting indecision might be more easily settled. As it is, The Echo, hard pressed for time, is barely able to print election results.

These two problems deserve both individual and group thought and action. Only then can Maryville voting be as effective and significant as should.

February Challenge

February Meetings each year should present a challenge to everyone connected with this college. Too often an event which has been held year after year tends to degenerate to the level of "here we go again." Whether our annual series is routine or important is up to us.

Many of us are, certainly, repulsed by religion typified in "sawdust trail, Amen corner, and 'Sing that chorus a little louder, Brother!'" But our meetings each year need not be that.

Let us hope that we can continue making campus religious emphasis relevent to our own day. If we do, in the future we can be assured that the place of the church-related college, for our part, will be a vital, meaningful one.

Allowing either bane of 20th century Christianity—the pall of super-respectability or, on the other hand, the cheapness of sensation—to take over, we would lose what should be the spirit of Maryville College's February Meetings.

Weather Forecast

Rain tonight . . . rain tomorrow . . .rain Monday, probably followed by Tuesday and another week of looking forward to fair days, if we aren't submerged. This is the most successful attempt at a monsoon that Maryville has ever made.

Oh, The Weather Outside Is Frightful

Editor Herb and Managing Editor Don were preparing to brave the outside of Anderson when the latter nudged the former and said, "It's raining out that door, Herb. Let's use the front one."

Weather Snaps

Booted and hooded females sloshing to class with slickered males. . . . walks looking like foot bridges over the lakes outside Pearsons in the darkness. . . . Pistol Creek roaring along at flood proportions threatening its dikes. . . . . soggy umbrellas stacked five deep in chapel seeming to enforce the "check your weapons at the door" custom.

What Did She Say?

Sally Kemp breezed in behind the Y store counter and desperately pleaded for two dollars until pay day. "Okay," said Ruth (less) Heaps, "but you'll have to get a note signed by a notary public first."

"A note signed by another Republican? What on earth for?" Sally puzzled. When hysteria subsided, Sally was left to figure it out. P. S. She got her two dollars.

Wanted: An Alarm Clock

Ross Dooley stumbled into Mrs. Cummings' 314C class and tried to find his way to a seat among all the strangers one morning. It finally dawned on him that he didn't belong there at that particular hour and he asked, "What time is it?" When told it was 10:30, he groaned audibly that he thought it was 11:30, having just rolled out of bed. He left everyone wondering just where he belonged at 11:30 and earnestly hoping that he woke up in time to get there.

Obtuse Observations

Professors who arrive late to class are usually men of distinction. At least they are in a class by themselves.

Love is not blind—it sees more, not less; but because it sees more, it is willing to see less.

Then we've come to the conclusion that big shots are little shots who are always shooting.

Ask 'Em Yourself

Mr. "Mac" about the various techniques of making noise in Carnegie. . . . Marion "Troy" McBride about making picturesque secretary's reports in Pearsons house meeting. . . Mary Lee Snodderly about pinning diapers on six foot four babies. . . . Senor Schwam about wearing a hair ribbon.

Last Resort

While thumbing a magazine section of a newspaper, Hazel Holm came across an advertisement for women-only resorts. "Women's resorts," she scoffed; "that would have to be a last resort."

More Observations

Someone has said that if Europeans only knew the US as they saw it in the cinema, great would be the disillusionment. A British citizen wrote an article on just what America looked like to those who have never seen it.

The leading national pastimes are baseball, jive, riding on rollar coasters and necking. Necking is most important, however, and can't be started at too early an age. As soon as the little girl is old enough to be kissed by the boy next door and whistled after on the street, she is sent away to school to study necking properly.

College, which follows school and is practically indistinguishable from it, is simply designed to offer a more advanced course in necking. The curriculum is so arranged that nothing is allowed to interfere with this main pursuit. A little light attending of classes, carrying of books, and possibly a mild crush on the young English professor are the most that can be required of the coed who is determined to make the grade.

A smart girl, by the time she's through school and college, has learned all there is to know and is really ready for the world. She can jitterbug, ride, skate, mix a highball, and croon a throaty torch song. She knows the two ways of life—the American Way and the wrong way; she can read the larger headlines in the newspaper. She has heard of Hitler, Superman, Sinatra, Freud, Lincoln, and Bach. If she's really smart she can toss of a few lines of Keats and Omar Khayam, besides recognizing the balcony scene from "Romeo and Juliet."

Theme Song

Someone suggested that an appropriate hymn for last Tuesday's chapel would have been "This Is My Father's World."

Talk of The Week

—By Jim Dance

Voices, Masks, and Shadows

ON THE SCREEN

At the Capitol this week, "Look For The Silver Lining," starring June Haver and Ray Bolger will be shown Monday and Tuesday. Wednesday's attraction will be "Her Husband's Affairs" and on Thursday and Friday "Thieves' Highway" will be shown. "Marshall of Lorado" will be the Saturday movie.

"Look For The Silver Lining," one of Hollywood's tender recollections of Broadway's glamorous past, tells the life story of the late Marilyn Miller. Sandwiched into the story are colorful chunks of half a dozen of Broadway's best remembered shows, samplings of their tune hits, dance routines, and assorted slapstick.

Miss Haver is never quite convincing as Broadway's toast of the '20's, but Ray Bolger turns in a brilliant performance as Jack Donahue. Whenever Bolger is on hand, "Silver Lining" turns to pure gold; otherwise it is richly colored, but only medium grade ore.

"Thieves' Highway" is a tale of the woes encountered by men in the trucking business in California. Richard Conte, Jack Oakie, Millard Mitchell, and Joseph Pevney portray truck drivers who are as handy with their fists as they are skillful on the road. Lee Cobb is the tricky, unscrupulous merchant and Barbara Lawrence is Conte's fiancee.

Technically "Thieve's Highway" is first rate, but the violence it depicts and its doubtful moral standards detract from its effectiveness as satisfying entertainment.

At the Park this week, "Leather Gloves" will be shown Monday, "Daughter of the West" on Tuesday and Wednesday, and "Good Sam" on Thursday and Friday.

ON THE SHELF

Two interesting and educational biographies may be found on the New Book Table this week.

Perhaps the most outstanding is John Milton, Englishman, by James Hanford. Hanford, professor of English literature at Western Reserve University, is the recognized dean of American Milton scholars. In his book, Hanford depicts Milton the poet, the liberal, the patriot, and the public figure.

Edward Arlington Robinson, was written by Emory Neff out of his great admiration for Robinson as a man and as a poet.

Although not new to the library, Dr. William Elliott, Jr.'s book, Coming To Terms With Life, will be of interest to everyone. The book, published in 1944, is a collection of 15 sermons written by the leader of the 1950 February Meetings.

●AT TONIGHT'S DOUBLEHEADER THE SCOTS WILL try to extend winning streaks in both wrestling and basketball. The Maryville basketballers have finally hit their stride having won the last three games in a row and pulling within one game of .500 ball. The record so far: six wins and seven defeats. Tonight's fray with Tennessee Wesleyan should make it four straight for the scrapping Scotties. A week ago last Friday night the Honakermen ruined a dedication ceremony down in the Methodist's new gym with a 66-62 win. Things ought to be easier tonight as we catch them up on our home court.

Coach Davis and his boys should find things a bit tougher on the mats tonight as they go up against the Chattanooga Mocs in a return engagement. The grapplers had little trouble in outpointing the Chattanoga boys, 22-7, a couple of weeks back. Before we go getting overconfident we ought to remember last year's home meet with the Mocs. We had licked them two weeks earlier by eight points and were overwhelming favorites to cop the meet. Instead, the Scots were hung up with a one point defeat, the final score being 14-13. Let's hope that history does not repeat itself tonight.

Come to think about it, that was the night that the Scottie basketball team pulled a resounding upset in the first part of the twinbill by walloping the Chattanooga boys 69-49 to avenge an earlier 83-41 Chattanooga win. The odds-makers were sure wrong on those calls.

●COACH HERON AND HER FACULTY TEAM pulled a real upset last Saturday night when they defeated a powerful Bainonian team, 11-0. The Intramural Gym was packed to capacity, in fact, every window was taken. After the game, "Coach"' let us in on her secret strategy. "We knew that we couldn't win the game legitimately so we decided to laugh the other team off the floor and thus pick ourselves the victory." Pay heed, Lombe, it worked didn't it?

●COACH HONAKER FELT PRETTY GOOD after last Monday's defeat of LMU. He treated the basketballers to a dinner down at Cates and, what is more important, he called practice off the next day. The boys deserved those few niceties after their astounding manner of play in the game. Don't forget, they were the same team who held the Tennessee Vols to a 67-62 score. The Railsplittrs were off last Monday and the return engagment at Harrogate should provide the Scotties with a real test. LMU has a tall, fast, sophomore team and seem to be but one year away from real stardom.

●SINCE THIS IS THE MIDDLE of the basketball season, the Intramural schedule is in full swing. Those students taking part really risk life and limb out on the court. We can think of easier ways of relaxation than the intramural courts. Some smart ones go out for varsity sports like wrestling where it is a lot safer; while others find diversion at "Green Top Loge." Let's hope that intramural basketball goes back to the realm of the hardwood instead of relegating itself to the theory of the survival of the fittest.

●WE WERE LOOKING THROUGH SOME OF last year's files when we found a very interesting document entitled "The Rasslin' Ritual." It was printed by last year's Echo sports staff for general use of the students in better understanding the procedure and scoring of college wrestling. We think that a few main points could be reprinted in order to clear up some hazy spots in the average fan's mind.

There are three ways to rack up points for your team. The first is the decision by points. When neither wrestler has been able to pin the other during the three three-minute rounds.

●THE REASON VANDY was unable to supply a heavyweight to match with our Mr. Palmer was a very valid one indeed. It seems that the regular heavyweight is a married man. Now there is nothing strange about being married, in fact it seems to be in vogue nowadays, but said husband's wife rules the roost with an iron hand. She has a particular aversion to her husband taking road trips, especially into the wilds of East Tennessee. As a result, Vandy's heavyweight stayed at home and the team forfeited five points to the Scotties. There must be a moral in this story somewhere!

Tusculum, LMU Feel Scots Hoopster Power

Tusculum

For the seventh time this season, a game was decided in the closing minutes of play in Maryville's scuttling of Tusculum, 62-61, on the strength of Hap Brahams' crip made with 15 seconds to go.

With only five tick-tocks left, Bill Caton, highman for the game, got a chance to tie up the ball game with the Pioneers trailing, 62-60. But he failed to come through in the clutch, missing his first shot, making the second.

Greeneville's Greenies took the ball out at mid-court and fired, but Hugh Hamil recovered the rebound and held it long enough for the horn to sound the Scots' second in a row. It made up for the 61-50 defeat inflicted there, but it left no doubt as to the Pioneers' having a very, very good ball club.

Pioneers Bust Open

Tusculum started the ball game off on what was her right foot, meaning to show that its victory two weeks ago was no fluke and with Big Bill Caton in the driver's seat took a 16-12 lead by the time the first half was shy ten minutes of being finished.

The next ten minutes of the first half saw some of the fastest shooting ever seen with both teams divying up a total of 34 points and Tusculum staying ahead, 33-29, at the intermission period.

Lombe Peps Up MC

After listening to Coach Honaker's fiery pep talk at halftime, Maryville returned in the second half to the floor. Finally beginning to hit on some of their wild shots, MC knotted the count at 37-37; then it went to 39-37, following two corders by Brahams and Hamil.

Up and down the court flew each team to match baskets of the other with Lillard breaking a 50-50 tie. Raynolds then made a 56-56 tie, and Boring broke it,

LMU

Taking advantage of veteran experience, Maryville's Scots overcame Lincoln Memorial University, 67-57, Monday to take win number three in a row.

The MC win—number 6 of the season—brought them closer and closer to the .500 mark making them need only two more wins to top that.

LMU came out on the floor with a young and somewhat inexperienced team which really looked good in pre-game practice, sinking shots from all over the court and tapping in rebounds; figure-8 warm up plays.

It furthermre looked like they had the beans with them when the game started in Bruce Austin's fire-engine shots from the side whic hstacked up a four-nothing lead in one minute of play. Gene Reynolds sank one from the free-throw lane only to see Austin slap in another. This had gone far enough; so MC called time.

The timeout must have done them good for they came back to loop in three baskets with Hugh Hamil tying it up on another free throw.

MC Forges

Returning from their bench after the minute-rest, Coach Dean Bailey's men dogged it along again, and at this juncture Maryville's cage experience began to pay off as the Scots began pulling ahead.

But the man who started it wasn't a vet. Charlie Allen, sophomore guard, started the parade off when he had a shot of his "slapped" in by a Railsplitter player slapping his arm when in the act of shooting.

From here on in, LUM showed its greatest weakness in not being able to handle the ball, and MC men took advantage of their fumblings to make six baskets in a row and take a 28-20 lead. Interspersed at the end were baskets by both teams and they had

Wrestlers Wrap Up Commodores, 22-6

Coach Davis' Men Take Fourth Straight

Coach Davis and his high-flying wrestling team made it four straight last Saturday night with a 22-6 win over Vanderbilt University here in Alumni Gym. The grapplers took all but two events in rather slow, one-sided meet.

Things looked bad for the Scotties at the outset, as the lads from Vanderbilt walked off with the first two decisions in the 121 and 128- pound class.

Jimmy Marvin, after sweating off some excess poundage, went back into action for the first time this year and found Frierson of Vandy too rough for him.

Frierson won the match 5-3 on a reverse, a takedown, and an escape. Marvin canned two points for a reverse and one for an escape.

J. A. Camerson was upset in the 128-pound clash by Crews of the Commodores by a one-point margin. The tally was 5-4 with Crews earning two points for a takedown, two points for two escapes, and one point for time advantage. J. A. had a reverse and a takedown to his credit.

Anderson Turns Tide

Ches Anderson squared things around for Maryville in the 136 pound class. He shut out Anaston of Vandy, 4-0, on a reverse which counted two, and he also earned two points riding time.

Yeaworth at 145 won his match from Jim Jennings by the same score as Anderson's 4-0. He, too, received his points in a reverse and riding time.

Tubby's Easy

Tubby Callaway had an easy time of it at 155 as he outpointed his man Sensing, 5-1. Tubby had two takedowns and an escape for five, while Sensing squirmed out of Tubby's grasp for his point.

In the 165-pound class, Lawrence Major had a rough time in outlasting Earl Hudson but he brought home the bacon with an 8-5 win. Lawrence took two points for time advantage, and two each

Twin Bill Brings TWC, Moccasins

This evening's twin bill will afford Maryville athletes in the basketball and wrestling departments ample opportunities to strut their stuff. Tennessee Wesleyan, another extremely rough junior college (remember Hiwassee) will be out to avenge a previous 66-62 Maryville victory in the former's new gym.

WRESTLING

Coach Davis' wrestlers will be laying their unblemished record on the line tonight when they engage in a return bout with the Chattanoga Mocs. The first match held down at Chattanooga, proved to be an easy time for the Scotties as they took a 22-7 decision from the Southern boys. Only Paul McNiell, in the 121 pound class, was defeated as Owen pinned him in the first round. Herb Palmer, Coach's erstwhile heavyweight, wrestled to an exciting eight to eight draw with Myers of the Moccasins, but since then Herb has been moved down to his usual 175 slot.

The Chattanooga line-up will remain essentially the same, but Coach Davis will present a new lineup for tonight's grunt and groan affair.

The 121 and 128 classes will not be altered with Jim Marvin and J. A. Cameron wrestling in those respective slots. It will be interesting to see how Marvin comes out against Owen as he pinned the other Maryville representative in their previous match. Since that time Marvin has taken over the lightweight class and should give the Moc man plenty of trouble.

J. A. pinned his man down at Chattanooga and should get back onto winning ways against the same Mr. Cornelius tonight.

Anderson Gets Nod

Ches Anderson will go at 136 after wrestling the position from Tom Yeaworth during the week. Their match was very close as Anderson only decisioned Tom by 3-1. Ches decisioned Hodges at Chattanooga by the somewhat lopsided score of 9-2.

The next five weights, 145 through heavyweight, have all been affected by Coach Davis' latest move, that of moving Palmer

BASKETBALL

Tonight's the night that will tell whether or not Maryville's Scots will climb above the .500 mark and up, depending on the result of their game with Tennessee Wesleyan's Bulldogs here at 7:15.

Maryville went down to Athens two weeks ago to dedicate a new Gym for the Methodist school and ruined the ceremonies as far as TWC was concerned. Therefore, one can expect the Junior College team to throw the book at Lombe's men tonight.

Scots Took One

Winning the contest there, 66-62, MC was on the second loop of a four-game winning streak and will attempt to make it five in a row tonight.

Starting for Maryville tonight will probably be the same line-up that commenced proceedings against LMU: Brahams and Reynolds at the forwards; Lillard at the pivot spot; and Boring and Hamil at the guards. These men along with Babe Keny did all right against the Bulldogs on their new floors and should be able to do something tomorrow night judging from way they played ball Monday. Alumni's big floor won't be much an asset for the Scots, for the new Wesleyan Gymn was a big'un, too.

TWC Team

Coach Hudson will rely mostly on Smith and Partin, his best guard and forward, respectively, for his offense. These two did most of their damage with the subs in, so their definite possibilities aren't too well known. Like every other team which the Scots have played, the Bulldogs aren't short on height.

Lineups

Sporting a team that is big and fast, they have one of the better Junior Colleges in this area.

INTRAMURAL INFO

by Rolfe Duggar

FOUL SHOOTING CONTEST

They say everything can be blamed on a woman, and in Tasker Robinette's case this holds true. Tasker, who plays for the nineteenth place Highlanders, was the winner of the intramural foul shooting contest. He gives all the credit to his girl, who, he says, taught him to shoot foul shots.

For an hour and a half fifty-six boys took their turns at the foul shot line. One by one they finished, some hopeful, some disgusted, and some just wanted ten more points towards their intramural medal. When it was over it was learned that there were three winners; Bill Menges, Sugar Handley, and Robinette, each with twenty baskets out of twenty-five shots.

In the first run-off Handley dropped out, but Menges and Robinette were still tied with twenty out of twenty-five. In the next round Menges finished with twenty out of twenty-five again; Tasker had twelve out of seventeen and it looked like he was through. But to everyone's amazement Tasker sunk the next eight to again tie Menges. In the final run-off Robinette sunk eighteen to Menges' seventeen.

Handley won the thirty-second shooting contest hands down. He sunk twenty-one shots from under the basket in thirty seconds, a mighty fast rate.

BASKETBALL TOURNAMENT

All teams who do NOT wish to participate in a basketball tournament are asked to contact Ken Newell. The contest will begin on the 13th of this month, and be played on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday. Since the tournament was asked for by you fellows it is necessary that many boys who know how to officiate be willing to give up some time to put this tournament over.

down to his regular 175 weight and installing a new heavyweight.

Tubby Callaway will return to his regular 145 class to take on Hacker of Chattanooga. Yeaworth decisioned Hacker, 5-0, in the first meet. Tonight's meeting should be easy pickings for Tubby.

Major Also Moves

Laurence Major will also take advantage of the shift to move down to his regular 155 place. Callaway overwhelmed Williams when he wrestled 155, 9-0, so it should prove comparatively easy for Maj tonight.

Captain Hershal Merriman and "Fats" Palmer both move down a notch for their meets. Hersh won in the 175 bracket and should find little trouble at 165 while Palmer tied at heavyweight.

Coach Davis is still undecided as to whom he will start at heavyweight tonight. The choice probably will lay between Jim Cates and Bob White for the honor. Neither man has had any wrestling experience to speak of, and Myers will be the favorite out on the mats.

Davis Strengthens Club

Even though Coach Davis will be weakening the heavyweight division, he will be strengthening the rest of the weights all along the line. Every wrestler from Callaway to Palmer will ease down to his usual weight and in that way bolster the team. Also, both Cates and White are freshmen with three more years to go. It pays to begin seasoning early instead of waiting for next year.

The Scots have taken four straight matches and have yet to be pushed much in winning. They have, along the victory trail, knocked off Knox Y twice by scores of 30-0 and 25-5, Chattanooga 22-7, and last week Vandy by 22-6.

Maryville has five undefeated wrestlers ready for tonight's fray. Ches Anderson has won four decisions, one by default, Tubby Callaway has two decisions and two pins, Laurence Major three decisions, Captain Merriman two decisions and a pin, Herb Palmer two decisions and a tie. The Scots have averaged hardly more than one pin a match this season. This could be remedied tonight as the boys return to their regular posts.

Four Have Pins

In the matter of pins Paul McNiell has one to his credit, J.A. Cameron one, Tubby Callaway two and Hersh Merriman one. Let's hope that the boys will continue the good work tonight.

Friendsville Bows To B Team, 58-33

It's Fourth Straight JV Win; Beatty Top

Continuing their winning streak to four games in a row were Coach Johnson's JV's as they took another victory this week, beating Friendsville High, 58-33.

The victory was win number five for the season against three setbacks and was enhanced by the fact that the Friendsville boys were practically lost on the big Alumni Gym court, Monday, for nearly three-fourths of the game.

Bruce Beatty went mad in the first half throwing in 16 points, and for a while Grandpa Leon Berrong equaled him in scoring. Never behind, the B team led all the way and went out at halftime with a 35-12 lead.

MC Slows Down

In the second half, the MC juniors stressed passing. Though occasionally driving in for a shot they never tried to push the score up.

Friendsville, befuddled for the greater portion of the first half began playing good ball in the latter stages of the game and gave the JV's a good run for their money. The damage was done, though, and Friendsville came out on the short end of the 58-33 score.

Beatty, who did all his shooting in the first half along with Berrong, didn't tally at all in the second, but his was tops for the game.

Meano Shields picked up eight in the last stanza to be second high with 14.

High man for Friendsville was Taylor with nine, compiled on several artful longs.

MC JV's	Pos.	F. High

Swim Class Begins Life Saving February 20

Beginning and advanced swimming classes for men and women have been conducted in the college pool since January 23 and will be continued until January 31. Mrs. Largen, in charge of the instruction, has released sign-up sheets for these and the intermediate class of both men and women, which will be held from February 9 to February 17. Following this will be a women's Senior Life Saving and Pre-Instructor Course from Feb. 20 to March 3. A similar men's course will take place from March 6 to March 18. All these classes will take place on week-day evenings from 7 to 9.

Mr. Glaze, Red Cross Area Representative from Atlanta, will conduct a 15 hour course in water safety and first aid starting Monday, March 20.

Hoopsters Journey For Moc Contest

Facing a team which has had some tough breaks this year will be Maryville's Scots when they attempt to tack on another victory at the expense of Chattanooga's Moc's Thursday in the latter's gym.

LMU, in one of their steadier moments, chopped up the Chattanooga team in a fast game at Harrogate 51-49, putting on a last minute sprint to do the trick.

No Altitude

In a fix similar to that of Coach Bailey at LMU is Coach Billy O'Brien of the Lower Bend team. O'Brien lost his center Cootie Kollmansperger from last year's team and thus lost a lot of height, which leaves him in the same fix as Lombe.

They do have back Howard Sompayrac whom many around Chattanooga call the "best basketball player around there." Sompayrac is a ball handler and has not been shooting too much because of a broken ankle from which he has just recuperated, but by Thursday he may have tested the limb out enough to go ahead and play on it hard.

Moc Squad

One of four football players on the squad is George Carden, their best scorer who has averaged 12 points per game in 14 games to rack up 170 points. Herman Welch, Bill Cooper, Harry Cash, and Gordon Atchley are the other veterans back from last year's team which administered the Scots a whipping down there but on a return match in Alumni Gym were pounded unmercifully

Atchley, Gridder & Cager

Atchley is about their tallest man, and he not only plays center on the hoop squad but also was first string center on the Moc's gridiron squad. He reaches up to 6'3. Houser is another three-year man and he showed it as he dumped in 13 points against the Railsplitters.

Welch and Cooper are the second high scorers on the team and Jimmy Jumper is an end on the football team to round out the starting team.

58-56, only to have Charlie (Pinhead) Pierce tie it up again with a southpaw slant from alongside the backboard.

All through the game Maryville had been using a zone defense which worked to combat Tusculum's offense beautifully but wasn't winning the ball game.

Abandoning the zone style, they switched to a man-for-man defense under which they took such a beating at Greeneville. But this time the plan worked, and Brahams got a pass to go up and under to knock the props from Coach Don Spargo's men.

Charity Pays Off

Winning the ball game for MC was a total of 16 free throws made—one more than Tusculum made. Both teams were equal in field goals connected, but the Highlanders got the break of making a charity toss at the right time.

Tusculum had a beaut of a field goal average in tagging 23 of 67 heaves, while Maryville had an atrocious 23 for 94. If the Pioneers had taken more shots, there's no telling what might have happened.

Another odd thing about the game was that Coach Spargo never substituted till the second half and had his starting five in for all but three minutes of the game.

for a reverse, a takedown, and two on a near fall. Hudson had a reverse, a takedown, and an escape for five points.

In the best match of the night, Hershal Merriman of Maryville pinned Emmett Putnam of Vandy in 1:15 of the second round. Merriman was on the offense all the way and seemed particularly eager for a pin.

Hersh already had earned two points on a takedown before getting the fatal hold. Putnam was pinned the night before by Willocks of Knox Y.

Seconds In Second Half

Much the same was the second half with Maryville streching her lead to ten points; at one time the spread was 62-48. Coach Honaker then substituted his second stringers and they showed up well, but so did the Big Blue from Harrogate which finally got her workings together.

When the curtain rang down MC had axed the Railsplitters, 67-57, and the Scots were possessors of a three-game winning streak.

After having been off for the past several weeks, the Maryville quintet finally found the range in rocking up a very respectable 21 field goals from 60 shots taken. Against Tusculum's Pioneers, Maryville had taken an unbelievably high number of 94 shots and connected on only 24. It was a great improvement.

Another field in which they showed remarkable success was the free throw lane. Twenty-five swishes were the net result of 32 attempts, and this was most graitfying after Hiwassee connected in which the Highlanders sank to a new low of 11 for 22.

MC-LMU There, Feb. 14

By the time Maryville returns to Harrogate on the 14th of February, LMU will have three more games under its belt and may have picked up some of the necessary experience which hurt them Monday.

To Veterans
Who Are Expecting Government Checks For Insurance Refund We Would Be Glad To Cash Your Check or Accept All or Part Of It For Deposit Subject To Your Withdrawal At Any Time

We Suggest The Following Precautions in The Handling of Your Check:

1.—If you are expecting a check, make sure that your mail box is in good condition and firmly fastened in place.
2.—See that your box is properly marked, it should have your name on it.
3.—Tell your carrier to ring the door bell, or in the country to blow his automobile horn when delivering your government check.
4.—Don't leave the mail in your box a minute longer than necessary, brown envelopes left in mail boxes have proved to be big temptations.
5.—After you get your check handle it carefully as you would currency, a surprising number of checks are destroyed or defaced.
6.—Do not endorse it until you are in the presence of the person who is going to cash it for you or in the bank where you are going to deposit it.
7.—If you are not personally known by the party cashing the check be sure to have someone with you who can identify you or have with you some form of identification which would be acceptable.
8.—If your check is lost or stolen, refer the matter to the Veterans Administration giving your army serial number and the number of your insurance policy. Do not write in until you are sure that all of the checks in the area have been distributed.
9.—If your check becomes mutilated or if the amount has become obliterated, so that you cannot cash it, return it to the Division of Disbursement, U. S. Treasury Department, Washington, D. C., and ask for a duplicate check.

Fine Arts Division Commemorates J. S. Bach

ET Chemical Society Meets Here Thursday

Dr. Eyring To Speak; Group Dines At Pearsons

About 600 East Tennessee members of the American Chemical Society will hear Dr. Henry Eyring (rimes with tiring) Thursday night at dinner meeting at Pearsons Hall. MC Chemistry Professors Fred A. Griffitts and George D. Howell are hosts for the meet. Dr. Griffitts served as secretary of the East Tennessee Section during 1949.

Theory of liquids and theory of reaction rates is to be the topic of after-dinner speech.

Dr. Eyring, a citizen of this country, was born in Chihuahua, Mexico. His undergraduate education was at the University of Arizona. For his graduate work he was awarded a Master's and Doctor's degree from the University of California.

A National Research Fellow at Berlin University in 1929, and recipient of the award of the American Association for the Advancement of Science in 1933, Dr. Eyring possesses many honors in recognition of his work in theoretical physical chemistry.

Dr. Eyring has taught at the Universities of Arizona, California, Wisconsin, and Princeton University, where he was Professor of Chemistry when he resigned in 1946 to become Dean of the Graduate School and Professor of Chemistry at the University of Utah at Salt Lake City.

Now a member of the National Academy of Sciences, during the war the O.S.R.D. boasted his services. Research has enabled him to make important contributions to such topics as radioactivity, application of quantum mechanics to chemistry and theory of liquids and reaction rates.

Meeting was arranged here at the invitation of the College and the cooperation of Miss Margaret Ware, dietitian of the dining hall.

In charge of arrangements are the three local members of the Society, viz.: Professor G. D. Howell, Dr. F. A. Griffitts, and Walter Lee Dean, senior chemistry major. Dean was awarded his membership this year by the local section for having the best four-year record in chemistry at Maryville.

Dr. Griffitts, during 1949, served as chairman of the East Tennessee section, whose meetings are held in Knoxville and Oak Ridge.

Dr. Henry Eyring of National Academy of Sciences will speak at American Chemical Society dinner Thursday.

Future Teachers Plan Activities, Map Forum, Movie

Highlights of Maryville's Future Teacher Association programs for the semester will include a movie on parliamentary procedure, a forum, a social for high-school FTA clubs and prospective members, President Ray Kirby announces.

Future Meeting

Next meeting of the Chapter will be February 16 in Thaw 201. During the business session Dorothy Johnston and Joy Parker will discuss projects and merit points. Suggestions for other projects will be received at this time.

Program committeemen, Ruth Rogers, Jean Hunt, and Grady Carroll, have planned a forum on "The Essential Characteristics of an Effective Teacher" for this meeting.

Art Display Includes Famous Master's Works

The Art Department will display their collection of colored reproductions of famous paintings in Lamar Library, February 14-March 4.

The collection includes works from such masters as Giotto, Roger Van Dei Weyden, Hokusai, Bellini, Rembrandt, Van Rijn, Peter Bruegel, Jan Vermeer, Pablo Piacasso, Vincent Van Gogh, Raoul Dufy, Henri Rousseau, Paul Gaupin, Georges Braque, and Edgar Degas.

Dr. Elliott Closes February Series Thursday Morning

"God Is At The Door" was Dr. William M. Elliott's topic for the last sermon of Maryville's 74th series of February Meetings, in Thursday Chaple.

In this sermon, Dr. Elliott stressed the fact that God is seeking us and that all we must do is to show Him where we are. Dr. Sidney Stringham lead in the singing of a final hymn, "The Doxology," and Dr. Elliott pronounced the benediction.

Shortly after the closing service Dr. Elliott returned to Dallas, Texas by plane, and Dr. Stringham left for St. Louis, by train.

At the Monday morning service, Dr. Elliott spoke on "He Profits Most Who Serves Best." The main thought of this sermon was how much more blessed it is to give than to receive.

Prodigal Son Series

Monday evening the topic was "How God Treats A Repentant Sinner." This was the third of a series on the Prodigal Son.

"For Those Who Feel Their Limitations" was Tuesday morning's sermon topic. Dr. Elliott stressed that we could do all things if we would "Put on the whole armor of God."

Tuesday evening brought a continuation of the sermons about the Prodigal Son, the topic being "The Prodigal's Brother." In this sermon it was shown that, although the brother was a good man, he never achieved happiness because he lacked a loving and forgiving spirit.

Choosing Life Work

On Wednesday morning, Dr. Elliott preached on "Choosing Your Life Work." The point emphasized was that God has a plan for our lives if we are willing to seek it, and upon finding it, to accept that plan.

Wednesday evening, the final evening service of the Meetings, Dr. Elliott's topic was "On Getting Rid of Dagon." In this sermon he told of a house that was rid of demons, but when it was not filled with something else, the demons returned and took possession of it. This illustrated that merely refraining from evil is not enough; one must also do good.

At this service the Vesper Choir, under the direction of Harry Harter sang "There Is A Balm in Gilead." Dr. Stringham made a tape recording of this selection.

"Maryville students are friendly, receptive, and courteous," according to February Meetings leader

Dr. C. F. Davies Speaks At Vols' Tehran School Needs Mission Teachers

Dr. George E. Davies will speak on "National Missions" tomorrow evening at the Student Vols program after Vesners.

Dr. Davies, father of Professor Davies of the MC faculty, was formally head of the Board of National Missions for 24 years.

John Baird, president of Student Vols reminds any student interested in serving on the mission field of the request of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Fisher, of the American Mission at Teheran, Iran, for one or two from Maryville to teach in their Community School, to be available at the opening of the school in September of this year.

The openings are for teaching replacements in high school math, grades three, four, and seven to eleven and Latin.

Anyone interested in additional information should see Louis A. Black, Student Vols sponsor, or Craig Fisher.

Tumblers, Quartet Will Perform For Thetas

Theta meets tonight in Bartlett Gym for a tumbling team exhibition and songs by a men's quartet. Margie Newland, hostess, will greet members at the meeting place at 6:30 p.m.

Tumbling team members include George Day, George Kinn, Paul Maier, Joe Poland, and Ric Rogers.

Martha Graham's Ballet Troupe Appears At Maryville High Friday

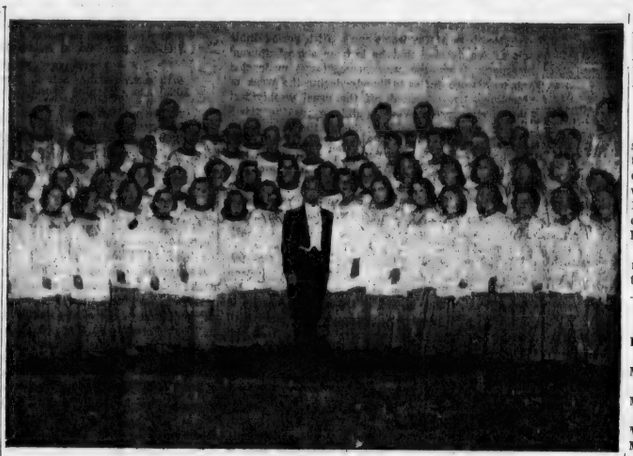
Martha Graham, the ballet dancer who received nation-wide publicity in the Truth or Consequences "Miss Hush" contest two years ago, will appear at the Maryville High School auditorium, Friday, February 17, at 8:00 p.m.

Miss Graham has long been one of the known and established artists in the theatre. One critic said "she is an artist of almost unique self-discipline who has completely restated the purpose of dancing."

Dancing, to Martha Graham, is the direct communication of emotion by means of bodily movements. Her dancing is primarily intended to say something, not to look good. It has been said by some that once you understand what is being said, it often begins to look good too.

The Martha Graham troupe is perhaps the foremost company of American artists. They appeared recently at Tusculum College and have appeared in East Tennessee several times in the past.

The ballet next week is under the auspices of Beta Beta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi. Tickets may be obtained at Byrne Drug Store or at the door for $2.40.



Martha Graham, nationally famous ballet dancer, will appear at Maryville High School, February 17.

Athenian 'Stranger'

A skit entitled "The Lone Stranger" will be presented at Athenian's weekly meeting tonight at 6:15 in Bartlett Auditorium.

Athenians will present an Amateur Show on March 4. Anyone wanting to take part should contact Bob Kees.

Vesper Choir will sing "Liturgical Year" selections and cantata, "Christ Lag in Todesbanden" commemorating Bach Bicentennial to be held here from February 14 to May 7.

Gabler Cast Announced Newland, Starr in Lead Gates; Student Director

Director Herman Middleton has announced the cast for "Hedda Gabler" following tryouts on Thursday night.

The cast is as follows: Hedda Tesman—Margie Newland; George Tesman—Bill Starr; Miss Juliana Tesman—Sara Jo Emert; Mrs. Elvsted—Dot Holverson; Judge Brack—Bob Holley; Eilert Louborg—Ben Paxton; and Berta—Grace Meyers.

The production crew is as follows: assistant director—Anne Gates, stage manager—Ed Vanderslice, business manager—Charles Gahagan, and lighting chairman, Dave Reed.

Frosh Pianist Holt Wins Welsh '50 Eisteddfod Music Prize in Philly

Doris Holt, freshman piano major from Philadelphia, Pa., won first place in a music contest held in Philadelphia last month.

The contest, the Welsh New Year's Eisteddfod, was held at the Girard Avenue-Welsh Presbyterian Church. Contests are held in the divisions of voice, piano, and Welsh-English translations.

Miss Holt won the Piano prize for ages 16-19. Judge for the contest was Herbert T. Davies of Cincinnati, Ohio.

Art Dept. To Show Flemish Painters Film

Two movies on the work of 15th century Flemish painters Van Eyck and Memling will be shown by the Art Department Friday at 6:45 p.m. in the Chemistry lecture room in Science Hall.

These 20-minute films will be shown with a musical background played by ancient instruments.

Attendance is required of all art students. Any faculty members and other students who are interested are cordially invited to attend.

Y Airs 'Youth Creed' 9:30 Monday On WGAP

"Creed for Youth" will be the theme for Y Radio Monday night at 9:30 over WGAP. Poetry and music interludes will be included on the program.

Those reading poetry are Susie Martin, John Shew, Bill Starr, Herb Keene and Carol Corbett. Keene also will be heard in two songs.

On February 20 an original drama, "Shadows," by John Shew will be presented.

THETA TRIO AT ALPHA SIG

Margie Newland, Sally Booth, and Sara Jo Emert will be guest artists at Alpha Sigma's weekly meeting tonight at 6:45 in the YW rooms. Margie Newland will give readings and Sally Booth, monologues. Sara Jo Emert will present musical sketches.

Fact Finding Board

Truman's soft-coal fact-finding board abruptly ended its hearing Thursday, paving the way for the President to seek a court order sending striking miners back to work.

The board, assigned under the Taft-Hartley Act, arranged the hearings in an effort to get peace in the coal fields without court action under that law.

After the expected report to the White House this week end, the President can then direct the attorney general to seek a Federal injuction to return the miners to the pits for about 80 days.

Twelve of the nation's leading atomic scientists, confirming that it was possible to develop a hydrogen bomb a thousand times more destructive than present atomic bombs, urged the nation to pledge not to use such a weapon unless it was first used against us by an enemy in warfare.

French Government

Premier Georges Bidault's weakened French government has won a back-handed vote of confidence on internal policies despite the abstention of the powerful Socialist Party. Only the solid Communist block of 186 votes ooposed Bidault, who split with the Socialists over a bonus plan for lowpaid workers which would bring their monthly salary to $48.57. The Socialists wanted more. The National Assembly approved Bidault's reshuffled government, 230 to 186, on an informal confidence motion.

May Grads Register With Alumni Office

Alumni Office announced this week that graduating seniors should register with the Committee on Recommendations. This service is to help graduates secure positions and is offered free of charge.

Recommendations remain confidential and are never shown to candidates.

To register, a senior must fill out a form, secure the names of three faculty members, and have six photos.

Forms will be handed out, or may be had at the Alumni Office. The Alumni Office will also offer suggestions on securing photos.

Church School Worship Leaders, Themes Given

Students participating in Maryville's downtown church schools tomorrow include the following:

Ray Kirby and Ray Kuhn will lead the worship service at Broadway Methodist. Ruth Humes will sing "The Creation" with Barbara Stidham as accompanist. A class Valentine party is planned Tuesday night.

New Proivdence's class worship theme tomorrow is "He Cares." Program includes call to worship and scripture, Ann Leeder; prayer, George Ogle; solo, Nina Ruth Gillette; accompanist, Barbara Sandos; pianist, Susie Martin, songleader, Wally Schroedar.

Karole Kapp will read the scripture at the First Methodist Sunday School tomorrow morning.

L. A. Black will be the speaker at the College Sunday School Class at St. Andrew's Episcopal Church this Sunday. George Day will be soloist and song leader.

A meeting of the Baptist Student Union Greater Council will be held Thursday at 7 p.m. in Dorothy Horne's classroom in Anderson Annex.

Doris Cook, DRE, Will Speak At YW Tomorrow

Doris Cook, Director of Religious Education at the New Providence Presbyterian Church, will speak at the YW meeting tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 in the Y rooms. Her topic is "What Am I Getting Into?" and will relate to youth work as the YW is currently observing Youth Week.

A solo will be given by Helen Worrilow, accompanied by Charlotte Wyman. Student participants on the program are prospective DRE's.

Spanish Club Inducts 8 New Members Thursday

Spanish Club initiated eight new members in a candlelight ceremony Thursday. La Donna Baylor, Ruth Burgos, Grace Greenwald, David Helwig, Karole Kapp, Dick Kerr, Trudy Singleton, and Alberto Hernandez made autobiographical speeches as initiation ritual for the club.

A devotional service in Spanish consisting of the Lord's Prayer, a scripture reading, and the singing of "Onward Christian Soldiers" and "The Doxology" completed the meeting.

Arias, Recitatives Mark Festival Beginning Tuesday

Phyllis Jackson

MC's Division of Fine Arts will sponsor a festival commemorating the 200th anniversary of the death of Johann Sebastian Bach, who died in Liepzig, Germany, in 1750. The festival begins on Tuesday, February 14, and will end May 7.

The celebration is one of the many being held this year throughout the world so that Bach's music will be heard more frequently. It is the only series of its kind being held in east Tennessee.

The seven programs of the Maryville College festival will include every form in which the great German organist-composer wrote.

Next Tuesday a program of arias and recitatives from Bach's sacred and secular contatas will be presented at 4:30 in the Y Rooms.

On the same program are solos from the Christmas Oratorio and the B Minor Mass. The latter has been called some of the greatest music ever written.

Students taking part on that afternoon are Lynn Johnson, Lois Doebler, Mary Holly Webb, Pat Cox, Gloria Meassamer, Evalyn Smith, Conrad Eaddy, Rosalie Munson, and Kathryn Shelton.

Keyboard Music

At the same time and place on March 14, an afternoon of keyboard music will include two- and three-part inventions, a gavotte, a fantasie, a French suite, and preludes and fugues from "The Well-Tempered Clavichord." This last work was written to prove the value of the new system of tuning, which, by the way, is still in use today.

Many of these selections were written for his own enjoyment and the instruction of his children.

Piano students participating are Lesta Merrick, Barbara Scott, Ruth Crothers, Lena McGaha, Louise Lloyd, Dan Winter, Herbert Hoover, Barbara Sandos, John Sayre, Doris Holt, Harry Merrill, Patty Regan, and Ruth Helen Bird.

The Vesper Choir under the direction of Harry Harter with Curtis Hughes at the organ will present chorales and chorale preludes from "The Liturgical Year," a series of church chorales written for each day in the Christian year of the Lutheran church.

This program will be given in New Providence Church at 7 p.m. on March 26.

Chamber Music

On May 4 at New Providence Church the complete "Musical Offering" ("Ein Musikalesches Opfer") will be presented in a program of chamber music. Participants are Dorothy Horne, violin and viola; Alice Eaddy, Ruby Jean Harris and Dorothy Stater, violins; Doris Somerville, cello; Dan Winter, piano; and Curtis Hughes at the organ.

For the "Musical Offering" Bach used a theme given to him by Frederic the Great as the subject for a whole volume of contrapuntal compositions dedicated as a musical offering to the king.

Brandenburg Concerto

Maryville College Symphony Orchestra will present a program May 6 under the direction of W. Curtis Hughes in the Alumni Gymnasium at 8 p.m.

The program will include the

My Brother's Brother

Dr. Jesse Belmont Barber, Associate Director of the Presbyterian Church USA Institute on Racial and Cultural Relations, writes in the February Social Progress, "Brotherhood is, for humanity, a goal far short of attainment. Like Arnall's democracy it is "a shore dimly seen." He goes on to say, "I would never desire to be my brother's keeper. . . (it) is despotic, brutal. I could never be content to be only his helper. . .(that) is detached and impersonal. I am my brother's brother. . . .(that) alone is Christian"

Tomorrow is designated by the major denominations and the Federal Council of Churches as Race Relations Sunday. The Christian approach to race relations is often not the easy one. But the leaders of the churches have realized the tremendous responsibilties that are theirs in that field, and are attempting to develop that same realization among the people.

The Presbyterian General Assembly has stated the position of that church as "The ideal is a non-segregated church in a non-segregated society." That ideal is high, but not unattainably high. And if we are serious in wanting a world based on a morally just foundation, there can be no other standard but that.

Dr. Barber, who is also the Dean of Lincoln University Theological Seminary, writes "It is true that we vary greatly—in race and culture, in attitude and aptitude; in physical, mental, social, ethical, and spiritual characteristics, but there are no variations so wide or difference so deep that can destroy the truth estblished by fact and faith, of the essential oneness of humanity."

Only when the meaning and spirit of Race Relations Sunday reaches each individual church and each communicant member, will the deep social implications of the gospel be fully realized. It is our responsibility.

Apology Owed

A firecracker late in the night awakened most Carnegie residents one night this week. That firecracker was placed by some person in the vicinity of the guest room of the dormitory. Hospitality accorded geusts calls for courteous, thoughful consideration.

Carnegie residents, as a body, owe Dr. Stringham—who was occupying the guest's quarters at that time—an apology for an unfortunate incident.

Scots & Soda

February Meetings have gone and students are again becoming accustomed to the same old routine of classes as usual. That has its advantages but there are also disadvantages. People with first periods free can't enjoy another hour of unaccustomed sleep, no more shorter classes, no more dashing from one building to another to make the next class on time (a few track stars have been developed in the past week) especially among members of Dr. Queener's second period history class, and no more assurance that no announced tests are to be given.

What, No Test?

Members of Dr. Buchanan's fifth period Bible class have decided that he is truly a most unusual teacher.. When the announcement was made that no tests were to be inflicted during the week of Meetings, Dr. B. called off the usual weekly test in his class.. However, he did reserve the privilege of giving one pop quiz during the week. The week passed and no pop quiz; students began to breathe in class again. Then on Wednesday this teacher of teachers apologized for not giving one. Explaining that since he had promised one, he hated to go back on his word, but would they please forgive him this time. Needless to say, they did.

Top or Bottom?

The power plant has been doing a fine job lately. So fine that the classrooms have been most comfortable for some and oven-like for others. Jean Hunt is one of the others. Tuesday in Dr. Hunter's class she became everly warm and decided to remove her sweater. She had four buttons unbuttoned before she realized that she was not wearing a blouse underneath. Failing in an effort to be as discreet as possible in reporting this, we were unable to ascertain whether she started from the top or the bottom.

Happy Birthday, Elenor

Elenor Kramer is aging by leaps and bounds. During the past three weeks she has been sung to each and every day by her ever-thoughtful tablemates. Her real birthday was during the holidays, but just to prove they love her, they even gave her a party plus cake.

Vivacious, Maybe?

If you're one of the avid followers of local disc-jockey programs, perhaps you've already heard this one. In advertising a popular cream shampoo, said platter pusher commented "Use it often, it gives you that young, vicious look."

Euthanasia

MC freshmen are currently in the midst of panel discussions. One class was voting on a number of topics to choose those to be used in class. One of the list was euthanasia which has been much in the news lately. Several students were in favor of it, but one perplexed frosh came forth with a vote for "Youth in Asia".

Mercy killings seem to be quite popular as a discussion topic in other classes too. One frosh-ette, trying to be helpful, commented, "I know all about mercy killings. We had one in high school". When the laughter died down she explained that she meant a discussion.

Wake Up!

Poor waitresses. No more sleeping late. No more missing breakfast. No more sending table-mates in search of other breakfastnooks. Miss Ware decided that the waitress-cooperation wasn't the best so she removed the sleeping privilege.

Toujours L'amour

Some people have all the luck. This week Miss Blair and Barbara Blum found identical letters in their mail. The letters were dripping with purple puddles and spoke of undying love. Blum and Blair had trouble deciding which one could have him if his identity is ever revealed. At last report Blair is ahead because, quoting Blum "she needs him more."

Some parts of the letters seem to be worthy of quoting here. Such as:

"There seems to be a formidable dike between us and the pain of it all seems to make life unbearable. Your beauty is like the sun slipping into the azure sea, but still sending out crimson shafts to warm my heart. Your spirit reminds me oft of yon blue gushing pistol creek.

"Dearest, I cannot stand the anguish of all this guilty love, but the guilt is mine. You just keep as pure as the lily, as bright as the rose, as fresh as the tulip, and as sweet as air-wick.

"Alas, Cupid has released his deadly shaft, and a once innocent heart now bears his sharp splinters.

"I hope some day you will see me as your lover, but till then I'll be patient. Yours for an eternity of love, the unrequited lover."

Another note of toujours l'amour. Surely you've seen Mary Holly floating around campus lately. When asked the cause of her pink cloud walking, she replied, "It isn't pink, it's a rusty shade of red."

Voices, Masks, and Shadows

ON THE SCREEN

It's another one with whiskers at the Capitol this week. Dragged out from the store room, dusted off, and back in the old projector is "Task Force" with Gary Cooper, a re-re-release we remember only vaguely from the days of our youth. It's the Monday and Tuesday hit, and ought to be good, for even those who have seen it before will have forgotten it by this time.

Even though February Meetings ended here on the hill last Thursday, it seems they're still whooping it up downtown. Capitol's Wednesday-Thursday offering is "Hellfire" and the star is, you guessed it, one William Elliott.

Whether or not it's the same Texan who appeared at MC for a week, this isn't the best picture to hit Maryville this season. Call it heresy, but, frankly, "Hellfire" isn't so hot.

Monday at the Park is "Amazing Guest," and "Blood on The Moon" shows Town Night and Wednesday.

Bob "Marijuana" Mitchum is "Blood's" hero, and it's the same tired, old, Grade B western plot. Hollywood cowboy Mitchum is pretty good, though. In fact, he's good enough to redeem what other wise woud be a pretty sad fiasco. Barbara Bel Geddes helps things out, too but just by being around.

Comic-strip fans will like "Blondie's Reward" at the Park Thursday and Friday. And both Maryville houses get shot up with fast-action gunplay when they bring out the shoot-em-ups Saturday.

A two-page spread in Life mag last week advertised Ingrid Bergman in the much publicized, new "Stromboli," directed by Roberto Rossellini. Movie review boards across the country are contemplating censorship, and in many cities it appeared that the film would actually be banned.

Despite a private life with which the general public is not in complete sympathy, the simple fact remains that Miss Bergman is a great actress. Regardless of the hue and cry, that still seems to be foremost.

The papers most seriously condemning her are the same ones capitalizing the most on the Bergman story, the same ones who are selling every possible newstand copy with blaring and sensational headlines. Any paper that would devote column after column to a story of this type which is no longer real news, is pretty obviousy bent on selling papers rather than on moral reform.

Because of Miss Bergman's prominence and influence, the public has a right to criticism. But her pictures remain tops, and deserve a judgment entirely divorced from one of her private life.

TOWN AND COUNTRY

Excellent and distinctive was Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo in the UT concert series last Monday. Combining light and serious elements, the troupe presented a really outstanding program.

Next in the series is pianist Vladimir Horowitz on February 24. Tickets are still available from University Concerts, Inc., UT, Knoxville.

At the MHS auditorium Friday the 17th, Maryville's Beta Beta chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority presents modern dancer Martha Graham. With her psychological ballet, she is probably the greatest dance innovator of our day.

Life calls her "the foremost figure in the world of US dancing." Tickets at $2.40 are at Byrne Drug Store. See the news columns of The Echo for a complete story.

IN LAMAR MEMORIAL

New at Lamar Library this week are several top additions to MC's book list, which is, incidentally, nearing the 90,000 mark.

Especially noteworthy are "'50 Information Please Almanac" edited by know-it-all John Kieran; "'49 Yearbook of American Churches" which describes and lists statistics for everything from National Baptist Evangelical Life and Soul Saving Assembly of the USA to a group which simply calls itself Holiness Church of God, Inc.

Also in the statistical line is "'49 Negro Handbook" edited by Florence Murray and N. W. Ayer's "'49 Directory of Newspapers and Periodicals in the US."

New in drama are current Broadway hits "Death of a Salesman" by Arthur Miller, and Sidney Kingsley's "Detective Story."

Added this week also are Elton Mayo's "Social Problems of an Industrial Civilization" and theologian Karl Barth's "Dogmatics In Outline."

D.N.

BACH FESTIVAL . . . .

Bach Brandenburg Concerto No. 2 and the Suite in D Major. A Vivaldi concerto and a Mozart concerto complete the program.

The Brandenburg concerto was one of the six dedicated by Bach to the Markgrave of Brandenburg and is one of his chief orchestral works. The piece was written for the orchestra of Prince Leopold, a band of some eighteen players.

It is a concerto grosso, that is, one in which a group of instruments have the solo part.

Concluding the festival on May 7 in New Providence Church at 7 p.m., the cantata, "Christ Lag in Todesbanden," will be presented as a large part of the regular Vesper service. The Vesper Choir will be directed by Harry Harter and accompanied by a small orchestra and organ.

Crew Completes Renovations

Renovations in Thaw to provide a utility room for library use and in Pearsons to make student kitchen facilities more accessible have been completed by the college maintenance crew Director L. A. Black revealed recently.

February Meetings . . . .

William Elliott in an interview before he left Thursday.

When questioned on union between the Presbyterian Churches US and USA, Dr. Elliott answered, "Personally, I am for union if it will advance the Kingdom of God." He went on to say that fear, prejudice, and suspicion were the main factors in preventing union, although there were a few basic theological differences between the two churches.

Speaking as a presbyter of the Southern Presbyterian Church, Dr. Elliott said that he would vote for union if the plan presented were wise, fair and timely.

"Union, when it comes," emphasized Dr. Elliott, "must be spiritual, not merely organizational."

So far, the plans for union involve only the Presbyterian Churches US and USA, excluding the United, Reformed, and Cumberland Presbyterian Churches.

●AGGRESSIVENESS PAYS OFF in wrestling, as Scot mat supporters witnessed in last week's match with Chattanooga Mocs. The only really aggressive men of Coach Ken Carpenter were his first two—Cornelius and Owens. From there on up, it was MC all the way. For some of the Mocmatters, the side-mats (those outside the regular playing area) were their goal every time an MC grappler got the referee's position.

This same attitude of goin' out and gettin' 'em was in evidence when Bob White charged out. In a match greatly akin to those staged over at the Lyric, "Whizzer" gave the jam-packed Gym their money's worth in his determination to win. Though it was his first match, Bob will develop into something sooner or later. He really had the crowd and Coach Davis in an uproar when he and Drake tried to outsqueeze each other like Men Mountain Deans but Drake wasn't enjoying it. White nearly got out of Drake's pinhold with his bridging and had he held out a little more, he would have had the bell to come to his rescue.

●SCOT SCRAPS—Bits of info picked up hyar and thar. One of the shortest escapes ever seen on Alumni Gym in a wrestling match was that of Lawrence Major in his scrap with Frank Williams. It took just three seconds after Julius Nicely's slap on the mat for Burrhead to elude Williams' grasp and to pick up a lot of riding time. . .Another gentle hold was that applied by Tubby Callaway on the Moc's Melvin Haskins. Haskins was really mad after referee Nicely had slapped Tubby's elbow off of said Haskins. Somehow, the crotch of Callaway's elbow had gotten in the wrong place—gagging Haskins' mouth and preventing his breathing from either nose or mouth. . . .

Waiting on fans at the high school cage tournament held here sometime later this month will be the Men's letter club, which has got the soft drink and what-ever-else-you-call-it concession. For the first time in many a year, an M club for the Men has been formed and is getting off to a great start, providing a means of revenue for a Lettermen's Room and other worthwhile projects. . . Needless to say, the initiation for this same lettermen's club was held last night with this department and others well represented. We may see some of the results for days to come. . . . One of the funniest names ever slapped on a Coach has been that applied to Union's Bill Bolyard whom his players call the Big Moose in the Green Goose because of Bolyard's lead foot when driving. . . Observed back on the basketball court was Charlie Roberts who has been out for some time with a case of the flu. Charlie hit one in his first try but then provoked many a moan for missing a crip after faking his opponent clear out of the gym on said crip. Charlie, last year, was one of the deadest set shots around but he hasn't hit his stride yet. Let's hope he does so soon. . . On February 21, in the preliminary to the Alcoa High-B team game the annual "Stinking Shoe Classic" will be held between Athenian and Alpha Sigma. Last year, the A-S's won by one pernt and will be hard-pressed to repeat in this big game. Memento for the occasion has been donated by this corner and it is hoped that the same Blind Toms who officiated last year's fray —Jim Lester and Bob Larson—can be coaxed into incurring the wrath of both societies.

●STATISTICS SHOW that Hugh Hamil is the best shot on the Maryville Cage squad—at home with a .401 field goal average compiled on 67 hits out of 112 attempts in Alumni Gym. Bob Boring is high man in the total points race with 190 and should break 250 at least. Percentages also show that the home court has favored MC in that the Scots have made 206 fg's out of 658 tries for a pretty fair .310 net, while opponents have found it tougher—having only 166 for 642 and .258. The same thing shows at the free throw line for the season—MC swishing 189 for 341 and .554, while opponents had 166 for 305 and .544. Statistics for home field goals and total season field goals and free throws save for Chattanooga game, there.

"If we can get by this week-end without getting beat, we'll finish out the season undefeated." This was the general consesus of opinion held by Coach Davis' wrestlers. We agree with them and wish them the best of luck in this their toughest schedule of the year.

The best is the cheapest—always

Scots Journey For Crucial Tilts With API, Georgia Tech, C-N

Cagers Hit Road For Tough Tilts

Scots Meet Union, LMU There, Buffs at MC

Following tomorrow's game with Carson-Newman, the Maryville basketeers will play three tilts in four days.

On February 13 and 14, they journey to Union College, and LMU, respectively. They return to face Milligan in Alumni Gym, Thursday.

MC has previously met the Union Bulldogs in four games and the Scotties have yet to win. On December 16 the Bulldogs played the ungracious guest when they nipped the Scotties, 47-45.

The Union five averages 6'1" and features 6'6" Dick Beeson at center and 6'4" Bill Brewer. In the last clash, the Scotties were very poor on fouls, missed crip shots, and in spite of this were rapidly gaining on the Bulldogs at the final buzzer.

Monday's battle of the breeds will give Union the advantage of familiar wood and Crum (he really isn't) may give the Scotties trouble with his left handed hook shots.

The evening after the Union fray, Honakermen will attempt to duplicate their January 30 performance of defeating Lincoln Memorial, 67-57. The LMU squad was green and inexperienced at this meeting and has since then accumulated the experience of several more games.

Austin and McCarter, LMU scoring aces, will be out for revenge, and, if they've gotten over their "fumblitis," may wear out the cords.

In the previous meeting between the two clubs, the Milligan Buffalos soundly defeated the Maryville squad, 63-47. Gene Reynolds and Hap Brahams did not make the trip to Johnson City. Boring went out on fouls early in the second half.

Buffaloes Middleton (18 points) and Hyder (17 points) paid their respects in the second half and Maryville was outscored, 40-18.

With the team working together better than ever and bulwarked once again by Brahams and Reynolds, the Scots might upset the dope and turn in another victory on the home floor.

Scots Maul Mocs In Fifth Straight

Maryville grapplers extended their streak to five straight last Saturday night as they took another one-sided meet from the University of Chattanooga 21-10. It marked the second time this season that the Scots have taken the measure of the Mocs; the first time it was 22-7.

The Chattanooga boys pulled a "shrewdie" on Coach Davis and his crew by switching the 121 and 128 pound lads, Cornelius and Owens. Cornelius moved down to 121 and Owens up to 128. It worked out quite well as Cornelius won by decision and Owens earned a tie.

Cornelius Decisions Marvin

Walter Cornelius took a close 9-7 decision from Jim Marvin in the lightest class. Cornelius earned six poitns on reverses, two for a take down, and one for an escape. Marvin had three reverses and a point for time advantage to give him a total of seven points.

J. A. Cameron and George Owens locked horns in the 128 class wrestling to a 2-2 tie. Each boy earned his points on takedowns.

As in the Vanderbilt meet, the Maryville fans had to wait until the 136 match before coming up with a win. Ches Anderson took Bill Hodges over the coals with a 10-3 victory, and he did it seemingly with little strain. Ches had two reverses, two takedowns, and earned two points for riding time while Hodges had a reverse and an escape for three.

Callaway Gets Third

Tubby Callaway got the Scots only pin of the night when he leveled Melvin Haskins' shoulders to the mat in 22 seconds of the third period. This was Tubby's third pin in five meets as he celebrated his return to the 145 bracket.

Lawrence Major decisioned Frank Williams of Chattanooga by a count of 6-2. "Maj" who moved down from 165 to 155 for tonight's meet, had a reverse, a takedown, and two points for time advantage. This victory makes it four straight decisions for Major this season.

Chattanooga Mocs Bite Cagers, 72-57

Busting up MC's defense from the first toot of the whistle, Chattanooga's Mocs levelled the Scots 72-57, Thursday night, in Chattanooga. For the first time this year, Coach Billy O'Brien's team was hitting and they showed their form early.

George Carden, the Mocs stellar guard was hot as a firecracker in the first half and slapped in 16, but when confronted with a man-to-man style, he couldn't do a thing. Howard Sompayrac, last year's leading scorer, returned from the bench with his ankle healed and had 22.

Chatanooga took a 43-23 lead at halftime, but with the switch in defense Maryville began shooting and outhitting the Mocs but the 20 points lead was impossible to overhaul.

High men for Maryville were Hap Brahams and Bob Boring with 14 and 13 points.

INTRAMURALS

By Rolfe Duggar

DEFENDING THE HARDWOOD

Almost everybody complains about something during a game and then forgets about it, but there are always a few who continually gripe. Besides getting on nerves they show poor sportsmanship. It is too bad that there isn't a Utopia to send them to.

Those who think intramurals too rough could always referee games, but to date few have tried. It is a hard job, and any referee, no matter how good, is going to miss fouls and make mistakes. We certainly can't have professional referees. It is noted, though, that these gripers always show up for their games. Do they gripe just to get their two cents in? There have been meetings held every Tuesday afternoon where these gripers could unload, but they don't.

To take the defense though, let us take a look at the hardwood this year. True, one arm was thrown out of joint in an unavoidable accident, and the usual number of sprained ankles and fingers. That certainly is not a bad record for one or two teams, but, remember, we have 20.

With as large a league as we have, Bartlett must be used often.

Matmen Grapple Auburn, Techmen In Week-end Bouts

Coach Davis' undefeated wrestlers will be in for one of their roughest week-ends when they tackle Auburn and Georgia Tech this Friday and Saturday night.

Last night the boys wrestled a powerful Alabama Polytechnic Institute down on Auburn's mat.

So far, the Tigers have lost but one match, that to Appalachian Teachers by a 25 to 5 count. It was one of the first meets of the season for the Tigers, and they were not ready for such tough competition. According to Coach Davis, Appalachian has one of the best wrestling teams in the country. Except for that match, the Auburn boys have been unstoppable.

They have knocked over Georgia Tech, 24-8. Emory, 34-0, and Vanderbilt, 31-3. The only comparative score is with Vanderbilt. As everybody knows, we licked Vandy two weeks ago by a score of 22-6, losing only in the 121 and 128 classes.

The only Vandy man to come out on the winning side of the ledger against Auburn was Wilber Sensing who won a decision in the 155 bracket. Callaway outpointed Sensing, 5-1, but since then has moved down to 145 pounds.

Switch Brackets

In an attempt to strengthen the line-up, Coach Davis has again scrambled the heavier brackets. Herb Palmer has moved back to heavyweight and a newcomer, Willard Rahn, has taken over the 175-pound slot.

Captain Merriman remains at 165 as does Tubby Callaway at 145.

The Auburn line-up will be somewhat changed from the one that knocked off the Scotties last year by a 19-9 count. A newcomer, John McGill, will start at 121. So far, he has won decisions from Emory and Vandy, but has lost to Georgia Tech.

The Vandy 121 pounder, Frier-

Highlanders Meet Carson-Newman Eagles In Year's First Contest At Jefferson City

In one of the season's biggest games, Maryville's Scots will play Carson-Newman there tonight. The contest with the Eagles in Jefferson City will tell whether or not the Scotties can get up and above the .500 mark in preparation for some sterner competition next week against Union and Milligan.

Facing Frosty Holt's cagers for the first time this year, Coach Honaker's men will try to make it victory number 25 in a series which began way back in 1911 with MC coming out on top, 9-16.

Since that time, however, victories have been stacked up pretty neatly by each side, Maryville having a 24-20 game edge—a great deal better record for C-N than for her gridders.

Biggest score ever rung up was back in 1916 when the Highlanders waltzed off the floor after administering a 71-14 pummeling to the Baptist school. This has been the exception, though, rather than the rule, wtih many a game decided in the last minutes of play by a one-to-five point margin.

Even, Steeven

Last year's game here was no exception as the Eagles clawed their way to a 55-53 victory, but they had to sulk back to their roost after absorbing a 67-39 shellacking when the Scots went there in the final game for both.

Tall Vets

Coach Frosty has the material this year, and his tall team has gotten some pretty fair games under its belt, especially that one in which they dropped Tusculum, 52-31, on the Jefferson City Court. (LMU plucked them bad, though, 55-38).

Carrying the colors once again for C-N will be Joe Shipley, Howard Haecker, Jimmy Dew, Jack Wade, Gilbert Lance, Sid Levi, "Deedle" Walker. Backing them up with frosh talent from last year are Fred Love, and Earl Crawford.

Shipley, a sophomore, has been the offensive and defensive whiz for the Orange and Blue while Howard Haeckel at the opposite forward has been their most consistent man for long shots.

Timber!

An unassuming chap with big feet and a basketball-type-build is Fred Love, the Eagles gigantic center. Standing 6'7" in his bare feet, Love hits the scales for 200 pounds and provides plenty of height for rebounds.

Love attended Kentucky before deciding to become a minister

Hoopsters Tag TW 66-41 In Crip Game

Finally reaching their stride and making it over the hump were Maryville's cagers in their walloping Tennessee Wesleyan, 66-41, last Saturday night in Alumni Gym. The win, number seven of the season, was not only a tie-maker in the season's averages, but also number four on the hip since the 63-61 edging of ETS.

Too Bad

Wesleyan's Bulldogs had a chance to draw first blood in the ball game but missed their opening when Ralph White missed a layup and then a free throw. Bob Boring got Maryville's first lick in by making just what White missed—a crip and a charity toss. Coach Rankin Hudson's boys then called timeout, but it did no good for the Scots were off to the races. When time was called in once again, the Scots proceeded to five more tallies and an 8-0 lead before Bob Stevenson sank his second of two free throws to avoid a shutout. By the time the first hand of the scoreboard clock had gone half-way around the score had banged-away until it was 17-10.

Putting his subs in early, Coach Honaker got the jimmies for awhile when the Bulldogs sneaked the score up to 17-12, but the subs quickly commenced a little scoring spree for themselves and made it 27-12 with about a minute to go in the first half. With the clock in the red, both teams scored on two field goals apiece to leave the floor with the Highlanders in the fore, 31-16.

Roll Over, Rollo

Tumblers Ric Rogers, Joe Poland, and George Kipp, took over during the intermission period and treated fans to an exhibition of rolls and fancy handstands.

Apparently satisfied with their play, Coach Lombe sent his starters back in for a brief while then pulled them out for a long respite while the B team took over. At ten minutes of the last half the contest stood at 54-30 with the JV's in. The Athens' quints finally began to click but couldn't hit the hoop; leaving all their efforts to no avail.

Oh, Oh!

Scoring was nearly at a standstill during the middle stages of the second half, but personal fouls, of all things, were being signalled at a rapid pace. James Pangle was the recipient of most of the fouls incurred by MC's Berrong and Crisp while Berrong took advantage of his being erred upon to make four for four—tops for the game and the season in percentages.

As the game went into its last stages and the two-minute period went into effect, the regulars came back onto the court to keep from getting stale and ended the game at 66-41.

Swish, Swoosh, Swash

Once again, Scot shooting was on the ball in swooshing 24 for 74 on attempted two-pointers 18 for 29 one one-pointers. One thing can be said, though, the Tennessee Wesleyans had enough shots to win the ball game but couldn't hit the broad side of a barn door when it came to swishing the net—the Bulldogs took 76 shots and hit on only 14 for a very poor average. Free throws for the Junior College team were also having a bad night—the Athens team making only 13 for 30.

The game, last one of a three-fray homestand was the easiest and will probably be the easiest for a long time as the Scots began going into the last half of the cage schedule with some big uns coming up.

off as both Chattanooga 65'ers came up with injuries, and were also juggled the Chattanooga squad was hampered with various troubles. Herb Palmer found it easy goin' as he returned to the 175 pound wars. He wrestled Bill VanSchafft of Chattanooga and easily decisioned him, 6-0. Herb came two for a reverse, two for a take down, and two points for riding time. It was one of the most one-sided matches of the season, as the Moccasin boy was hampered by inexperience.

Drake Pins White

In the clowning event of the night, Tom Drake, Chattanooga's second string heavyweight, pinned Bob "Whizzer" White of Maryville in 23 seconds of the second round. It was apparent from the outset that this was Whizzer's first match as he was bufooned into a pin in very short order. White did earn two points as Drake was penalized for an illegal hold.

son, decisioned Marvin of Maryville, 5-3.

Sonny Dragoin of Auburn is back at 128. He was decisioned by Cameron last year, but so far this season he has three pins to his credit.

Richard Belfonti of Auburn is another new man for the Maryville men to handle. So far this season he holds pins over Tech, Vandy, and Emory. He will be wrestling 136.

McKenzie vs. Tubby

Another three pinner, John McKenzie, will go against Maryville's best, Henry Callaway. This should be one of the best meets of the night as Tubby also has three pins to show for the season's work. McKenzie wrestled 136 against Maryville last year.

At 155 we find Robin Baker back from last year's squad. Baker decisioned Lawrence Major last year so "Maj" will be seeking revenge.

In the next three weights, 165, 175, and heavyweight, we find all new men. Robert Long will go against Hersh Merriman, at 165. Both these men pinned Putnam of Vanderbilt, only difference being that it took Hersh about a minute longer.

Dan Matrone will be another new man at the 175 shot, as will the heavyweight, Jim Bottoms. Bottoms has been pinned by the Tech man and won by forfeit from Vanderbilt's team. He should not prove too tough for an experienced man like Palmer, even though Herb will be surrendering a weight advantage.

The Scots will be looking for their first win over Auburn having lost to them three times since the series was inaugurated back in 1947.

Ga. Tech Tonight

As for Georgia Tech, the team that we wrestle tonight, they have had a so-so season so far. The Yellowjackets dropped a meet to Auburn, 24-8, and drew a tie with Duke.

Only three men are back from last year's squad. They are Gardner Ivey at 128, a man whom J. A. Cameron pinned twice in one match under last year's rules; Harold Zell who has moved down to 155 after wrestling 175 last year; and Gene Franklin who was decisioned by Merriman at 165. If the Scots can get through the Auburn match in good condition, they should have another win.

So far in the series between these two mat foes, the Scots have four wins against one loss and two ties. The worst defeat was back in 1943 when the Highlanders won 28-8.

Intramurals....

The intramural office knows well that Bartlett is very small for ten men to play. Most players seem to agree that if it weren't for Bartlett intramural basketball would not be "the survival of the fittest." But no matter what court you play on basketball is too fast to go without some body contact.

Coach Johnson, in the intramural meeting held Tuesday afternoon, announced that next year Bartlett will not be used. Present plans call for two leagues next year if there are very many teams wanting to enter the league.

BASKETBALL TOURNAMENT

Beginning Wednesday, February 15, the intramural basketball tournament will get under way. All teams but the Athenian A's are entered in the tourney which will be held on Mondays, Wednesdays, Fridays, and Saturdays until the finals are reached.

All games will be played in the intramural gym, except on Saturday, February 18, when the Alumni gym will also be used. After the first round Wednesday all games will be regulation length, two a day, beginning at 3:35 and at 4:35.

A chart is hanging on the intramural office dor for all to watch the progress of the tournament. The first eight teams are seeded in the order that they appeared in the standings of last Saturday's Echo.

First round games Wednesday finds the Minnows against Highlanders, Wheels meet the Kikes, and Loafers run into Athenian B.

VOLLEY BALL

Volleyball has been postponed unti lthe end of the intramural basketball tournament. Lists have been turned in and the volleyball schedule is in the progress of being made up.

BASKETBALL REVIEW

Rabbis were the first team to complete their league schedule. They wound up their schedule by swamping Minnows 41-12. . . . Highlanders turned the iron-man stunt of baseball into a double basketball win Wednesday. They swamped Minnows 38-10 and then defeated the Globetrotters, 39-27, both of whom had only three men. Schlops, who have certainly been finding themsleves lately, dumped the YMCA 20-13. . Dick Dosker hit the bucket in the first overtime period to give the Minnies a 29-27 upset win over the Scoties. This is their fifth overtime game of the year. . . . Bill Shields went wild against Athenian A by dropping in 26 counters as Shudas won, 63-18. . . Ex-Scrubs took the defensive lead by holding their opponents to two less points than the Shudas have through 17 games. The Ex-Scrubs also hold the offensive record by scoring 629 points in 17 games.

C-N Eagles

and wound up at C-N. Backing him up at the pivot spot will be Joe Levi, a veteran, but not so tall.

Working as a close-knit team in the guard slots are Jack Wade and Gilbert Lance, veteran hoopsters and footballers. Wade was fullback for the gridiron warriors and will have plenty of weight to throw around in case he gets hot. Lance is another 6-footer and cavorted at end for Frosty.

Dew Down

One of several frosh who have come up from last year's team, Jimmy "Wah Wah" Dew has kept Lance and Wade on their toes by being ready to step in and take either's place. Dew has also been high man in several games when supplanted Lance.

His specialty is an out-from-under-layup from the side or around the horn and is a pretty hard shot to stop. This is the same shot that Bob Boring has worked down pat when going down the side around the forwards and up and under from the side.

From the looks of things, Holt will plan to use the single pivot style of play centered around Love and lots of breaking stuff built on a weave pattern. He's been giving Lombe fits for many a year, and this contest ought to be another hot cookie, especially since it is being held in the C-N gym.

Maryville's lineup will have a team determined to win, there, with Brahams and Reynolds at the forwards, Lillard or Keny at center, and Boring and Hamil working from the guards.

'Music In The Church' YW Theme Tomorrow

Miss Thelma Nelson and Mrs. Conrad Eaddy, music instructors, will present a program entitled "Music in the Church" at YM Sunday. The meeting is at 1:30 in Bartlett Auditorium.

Bainonian Banquet Will Feature Varied Program

Seventy Bainonians will attend a "Valentine's Day" Banquet at Lyon's Restaurant at seven o'clock tonight.

Mrs. Lynn Ramsey, guest speaker, will be introduced by Wanda Onifer, Mistress of Ceremonies.

Also included on the program are: a skit by Nannette Enloe and Marie Richards; a trio, Nina Ruth Gillette, Louise Packard, and Lois Sealander; a reading, Mary Wilkes; and a piano solo by Lena McGaha.

SPECIAL M CLUB MEETING

Mae Meriwether, M Club president, has called a meeting of M Club girls for Monday at 6:30 in Mrs. Queener's office.

The meeting is called to discuss the constitution and the spring hike.

Echo Tops Other College Weeklies In Tennessee

Report Shows Size, Circulation Largest

The Highland Echo was compared with other collegiate papers in Tennessee this week with the addition to Lamar Memorial Library of "The '49 Directory of Newspapers and Periodicals in the US" compiled and published by N.W. Ayer and Son.

The Echo is one of the two full-sized college papers published weekly in the state, and its circulation exceeds that of the other, UT's Orange and White. The O&W does, however, publish Wednesday and Friday editions.

Of the 18 collegiate publications in Tennessee, only five, including The Echo, have seven columns. LMU's Blue and Gray does have eight, but it is published only every two weeks. The other two are Middle Tennessee State's Sidelines, and Chattanooga's University Echo.

Only four papers exceed Echo's circulation of 1,100. These are The Blue and Gray, Sidelines, University Echo, and Tennessee Poly's Tech Oracle.

A majority of 11 print tabloid, or five-column, papers. Most come out every two weeks and several only monthly.

Dormitory 'Open House' Schedule Announced

Dormitory "Open House" plans were announced this week by Social Chairman Jim Dance. Different days are set for men's and women's dormitory opening. Women's dorms will be open March 4, and men's dorms March 5.

Hostess chairmen of nightly dancing are Snooky Mills and Ellen Collins, replacing Mary Mitchell Woolridge who graduated last semester. First program of the semester was "Topper's Return," a movie.

Host couples for nightly dancing during the week of February 20-24 will be George Handley and Barbara McNiel and Wanda Onifer and Al Springfield.

FTA Considers Effective Teaching; Maps Plans

"The Essential Characteristics of an Effective Teacher" was FTA's program topic Thursday night. Ruth Heaps, chairman, lead the discussion in which Jeanne Pelton, Rosie Pascal, Bob Lehr, and Dr. D. H. Briggs took part.

A move to change the program to a bi-monthly meeting, the collection of dues each semester, and approval of extensive projects were voted by the club.

One particular activity, organization of high school FTAs in cooperation with Mu chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma, Miss Lota Dougherty, president, topped the club's projected plans.

Cathecism Examinations Will Be Held February 23

Announcement of five available Westminster Shorter Catechism College Scholarships for 1950 has been made recently. These scholarships are open to students enrolled for the first time in a Presbyterian, USA college. To qualify a contestant must recite all the 107 answers of the Westminster Shorter Catechism.

Seven contestants who made application in September are ready to compete at this time but it is also open to any others who might feel qualified to try. The examination will be held Thursday evening, February 23, at 7 p.m. in room 201 Thaw Hall. Winners of the contest will be announced later in the Highland Echo.

Maryville Grad To Speak At Tomorrow's Vespers

Speaker at the Vesper service tomorrow night is the Rev. Charles N. Sharpe, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Cookeville. The Rev. Sharpe is a graduate of Maryville College.

Hhe Vesper Choir will sing "The Nicene Creed" by Gretchaninoff and "Hosanna in the Highest" by Sodermann.

Prejudice Has No Place in College Emphasis For Brotherhood Week

By Dick Newman

Using as its collegiate theme, "Prejudice Has No Place in the College-Trained Mind," The National Conference of Christians and Jews again this year is sponsoring Brotherhood Week from February 19 to 25.

Incrasingly significant as an annual observance, national emphasis is being placed on a brotherhood theme in churches, newspapers, and organizations.

According to the Knoxville Round Table of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, Brotherhood Week is "a period of rights, esential to our way of life; "a time to dramatize practical tihngs people can do to promote an understanding and realization of these ideals; an opportunity to enlist more Americans in year 'round practices and activities to build brotherhood."

A leter from President Truman, honorary chairman of Brotherhood Week, says in part "Respect for human dignity is the cetnral issue in the world struggle today.

"America is dedicated to the conviction that all men are entitled, by the gift of God, to equal rights and freedoms even though they may differ in religious persuasion, in social and politcal views, or in racial origin. Our greatness is, and will be measured by, the degree of our recognition of this fundamental truth."

French Club To See 'Beauty And The Beast'

French Club is sponsoring a trip for members to see "Beauty and The Beast" Wednesday night at the University of Tennessee.

The French movie, one of three in a series, presented at U-T, will be attended by two bus loads of MC students. Any students now or formally enrolled in French classes and who are interested in going are asked to see Miss Wilkinson, the program chairman advised. Cost for movie and transportation will be one dollar.

At the club's last meeting, February 9 a group of slides on Paris were shown with comments by Rosa Pascal.

Expressionistic Music Presented at Disc Club

At the Disc Club meeting Thursday, Professor Katherine Davies and Associate Professor Dorothy Horne presented a program of expressionistic music.

Straw Vote Shows Confidence of Men In MSO Activities

MSO held a meeting Monday evening in Bartlett auditorium to answer the question, "Can MSO as an organization make an agreement and live up to it."

Ray Holsey, MSO president, explained the purpose and gave a brief history of MSO which was formed in the spring of '48 to carry out the will of the majority of men students.

A list of improvements obtained during the two years of MSO was given by Tubby Callaway. These included new lobby furniture, mirrows in bathrooms, laundry rooms in the basement, hardwood reflooring of two floors and a refurnished guestroom. To provide a homey atmosphere, a house mother was requested. Altoegther, $4,000 was spent that would not have been spent otherwise.

Improvements in Carnegie have not been as much as possible because of the expense in repairing Carnegie due to certain lawless elements. MSO assumed the responsibility of protecting improvements in Carnegie.

Purpose Explained

George Ogle explained the purpose of MSO which "shall be to provide an organizational structure which can fairly and adequately represent the points of view and interests, and execute the will of the majority of the men of the college in accordance with the provisions of this Constitution."

Some misunderstanding concerning MSO has been considered caused by lack of knowledge concerning it. A vote taken showed that the majority of men want MSO to continue to represent them.

Maryville Debate Team Attends State Tourney

Squad Matches TPI at Cookeville; Enters State Event at Clarksville

Competition began Thursday afternoon and continues through this morning. The squad, with its adviser Dr. Verton M. Queener, expected to return to Maryville this afternoon.

The MC debaters spent Wednesday night at TPI, Cookeville, where they debated this year's question on the nationalizing of basic industries with the Tennessee Poly squad.

Besides debating the nationalization question at the state tourney, each MC representative was entered in another type of speaking competition.

Carol Corbett took part in oratory and after dinner; Carolyn Miller, oratory; Elenor Kramer, impromptu; Dot Stater, oratory and extemporaneous;

Carol Lindsay, impromptu; Louis Evans, after dinner; Eric Meadows, extemporaneous; and Roger Cowan, extemporaneous and impromptu.

The team was assisted in preparation by Dr. Queener and Assistant Professor Arda Walker.

At Council—

Election Ethics Revised By Committee Head

Student council heard a report from Student Body President Bill Nish on progress of constitutional changes which are now "being processed" by Student Faculty senate.

Other reports to council included plans to improve student-faculty relations. Following council meeting, Delbert Earisman called a meeting of the elections comimttee to revise general ethics for campaigns for student body officers.

Concerning the campus election procedure, Earisman said that petitions will not go out before Monday, April 3, and must be returned by or before midnight Thursday, April 6. The elections will take place Tuesday and Wednesday, April 11-12. Forty signatures are required on each petition, and duplication of signatures on petitions for similar offices are not allowed.

Nine rules on campaign ethics were outlined by Earisman, as follows:

1. The candidate's name will be automatically included on the ballot upon return of the signed petition.

2. The person securing the nominating petition form shall be regarded as manager. He and the candidate shall be held responsible for any infractions of the following procedure.

3. There shall be no publicity (posters, announcements, etc.,) at any regular student meetings or activities, i.e., chapel, classes, dining hall. (This does not include wearing lapel tags, etc., but does include their distribution.)

4. No publicity shall begin until after midnight of the first Monday in April, and then only if the signed petition is in the hands of the elections committee.

5. All publicity shall terminate by midnight of election eve. (This precludes any advertising which cannot be removed at that time.)

6. Rules in effect the rest of the year concerning the placing of posters shall be observed during election week.

7. Expenditures for the entire campaign shall not exceed five dollars. All itemized expense accounts shall be in the hands of the chairman of the elections committee by six o'clock on the eve of the first day of balloting.

8. The elections committee shall be the judge of anything regarded as an infraction of the stated rulings. Any infractions of the above procedure will be made known to the student body prior to the balloting.

9. General good sportsmanship shall be expected of all candidates and their managers.

50 Sign Up For Church Deputation; More Needed

Fifty people have signed up for the Pre-Ministerial deputations, about twenty girls and thirty boys. More volunteers are still needed, especially those with musical talent. Those interested should see Jack Waka, the secretary or Ken Newell.

Approximately 200 letters will be sent out to neighboring churches next week, and the deputations will start as soon as calls come in from the churches. It is hoped that the teams will be complete at the end of next week, and an announcement will be made. There will be five to seven persons on each of the six to eight teams. These deputations will not conflict with classes.

Three Musicians Play In Recital

Three sophomores will be presented Tuesday at 4:30 in the Chilhowee Club House, in a student recital.

Piano major Carolyn Marshall will play Beethoven's Sonata Opus 4 no. 2 and Preludes in E major no. 9, F mapor no. 22, and G minor no. 22 from Chopin's Opus 28.

June Hood, also a piano major, will play Sonata Opus 10 no. 3 by Beethoven, "Night Winds" by Griffis, and Prelude from "Pour Le Piano Suite" by Debussy.

"Beau Soir" by Debussy, "Fileuse" by Britten, "Le Miroir" by Ferrari, and "Vision Fugitive" from Heradiade by Massenet will be sung by voice major Conrad Eaddy. Mrs. Conrad Eaddy will be the accompanist.

'Interview With Satan' Feature Drama, Y Radio

Y Radio Workshop will present "Intreview with Satan" Monday night at 9:30 over WGAP.

Included in the drama are Joe Poland, John Shew, Bill Starr, Susie Martin, and Mary Wills. Herb Keene is vocalist.

Last Monday Y Radio presented a program of music and poetry.

Pre-Ministerials Hear Cameron Thursday Night

Speaker at Pre-ministerial meeting Thursday, February 23 at 6:45 in the Y Rooms will be Howard Cameron. The Church Ecumenical Movement will be the subject of his talk.

At meeting for deputation teams on Wednesday after chapel, approximately twenty showed up. Jack Waka announced project plans.

Sunday School Leaders, Programs For Tomorrow

College students who will lead the devotional services in Maryville church schools tomorrow are as follows:

St. Andrews' college class will hear Dr. Bassett, former Greek and Latin professor at Southwestern-at-Memphis, speak on the parable of "The King's Marriage Feast," Greg Howard is to direct the singing.

Joan Williams and Ric Rogers will participate as devotional and song leaders at First Baptist. At New Providence, Ebba Jones and John Kerr will have charge of the devotional program.

Broadway Methodist will continue their discussion of the "Origin and Development of the Different Religious Sects," under the guidance of Bill Kneeland, teacher.

First Methodist's college class devotions will be lead by Dick Kerr and Jimmy Britton is to be songleader.

'FRIENDSHIP GROUP' PLANS

An International Friendship Group is being organized by the Religious Education 216 class. All students who are writing to someone in another country or have addresses, are urged by the class to turn in the addresses, and their own names to David Englehart early next week. Sign-up sheets are posted in the dorms for those interested in the project who can contribute to the address fund.

'JAMES OF GALILEE' AT YM

YMCA will present a play, "James of Galilee" at its regular meeting in Bartlett Hall at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow. The play will star Margie Newland, Bill Nish and Joe Poland.

Music, Good-will Form Undertones For Coming Dramatic Productions

Theatre Month—

Part of the observance of International Theater Month—March 1950—will be the two Experimental plays, "Theater of the Soul", "Boy Comes Home," and Maryville College Playhouse production, "Hedda Gabler." Sopnsored on the campus by Theta Alpha Phi, the MC Playhouse is cooperating in this way.

All three plays are one of the standard tvne being presented the country over. The plays must either deal directly with the subject of international understanding, with the theme of peace and human dignity, or of foreign customs and way of life. A qualification may also be that of foreign authorship.

International Theater Month, co-sponsored by the U.S. National Commission for UNESCO and the American National Theater and Academy, was launched at the Second National Conference on UNESCO in Cleveland last spring.

The idea is to focus, during the month of March, 1950, the footlights of America on plays, pageants or special dance and music programs which will in some

Musical Mode—

By Barbara Blum

The coming of the Experimental Theater play, "Theater of the Soul," brings into the limelight its own expressionistic music, composed esepcially for the play by Miss Dorothy Horne. The play, directed by Herman D. Middleton, is schedule dto appear on Saturday, February 25.

Expressionistic music, of which Miss Horne's composition is the important at the present, is now no longer fashionable, but in 1912, at the time Theater of the Soul was written, it was quite popular. The height of the movement of expressionistic music was reached at about the time the first World War was in progress.

The chief expressionistic movement for music took place in Germany, where Arnold Schoenberg was its chief exponent. Miss Horne made use of some of Schoenberg's technical devices in her composition. One feature of the expressionistic type of music is that it is atonal and highly dissonant. It does not have a tonal center in the same sense that modern music does.

The music is expressionistic purely from a tonal point; that is, the expressionism is inherent within the music itself; it is not expressed in the performance. The technical device used in the composition of this type of music is the twelve tone row. All melodies and chords are developed from the original twelve tone group. There can be any combination of a successive group of notes to form a chord or melody; therefore, all the harmony is also derived from the original pattern in different arrangements.

There are four parts to the music composed for the Theater of the Soul production; they are a prelude, a lullaby, a waltz song, and a can-can. The music itself stands alone and is not used as a background for the dialogue of the play.

It seems that no one writes expressionistic music much any more; however, composers still use little bits of this technique in their modern compositions. Schoenberg's technique has even influenced Hollywood composers; Stan Kenton is one of the better known band leaders who uses bits of the expressionistic form.

Miss Horne gave the opinion that while there were probably several expressionistic composi-

Theatre and Peace

If the H-Bomb is to be controlled and curtailed, international good will and understanding is a "must" now. The theatre, able to reach the masses of people, plays a vital part in spreading international good will.

Next month is International Theatre Month, which is to be a nation-wide demonstration of the theatre's desire and ability to serve the cause of international understanding and to play its part in UNESCO's all-important program of "building the defenses of peace in the mind of men."

The International Theatre Month, dedicated to UNESCO's ideals, has encouraged the production, in college, community, and high school theatres, of plays, pageants, dance and music programs emphasizing the broad themes of world understanding and universal rights of man.

MC's major participation in this meaningful undertaking are the three plays now under production. Two are by foreign authors and the third deals with a boy's struggle against a tyrannical family.

As Jaime Torres Bodet, Director General of UNESCO, has said: "From Sophocles to Goethe, from Aristophanes to Moliere, from Shakespeare to Ibsen, what great dramatic poet has not immortalized humanity's struggle against despotism, intolerance, injustice, ignorance and fear?"

There's More

Sunday, February 19, marks the first day of Brotherhood Week. Because the preceding Sunday is Race Relations Day with its protestations of inter-racial good will, we may be aware of only one phase of brotherhood.

Certainly this emphasis was the chief one, and rightly so, by those promoting the Day.

But, we feel sure, sponsors of the Week, the National Conference of Christians and Jews, will not object to another approach we would make.

The quality of brotherhood need not be limited to US race relations. Whether we as a nation stand for Marshall aid and private help to stricken areas, whether we are for people's governments rather than tyrannical aristocracies, whether we want to work with other people for peace—all of these are matters of brotherhood.

Issuing ultimata to our fellow nations, boasting of boomerrang-potential bombs, and instituting witch hunts against our fellow citizens are also not evidences of willingness to be our brothers' brother.

Brotherhood is considerably more than be-kind-to-minorities.

Scots & Soda

Early morning chapel, international scandals, quizzes, left-overs, more rain, and cold weather—they hit us with the force of H-bomb this week. Surprisingly enough though, campus wit was thin soup for the columnist, but read on if you dare.

It Does Pay

They tell us that some things put in here are a crime. This week a crime paid off in rich dividends then. When Sally Kemp's parents read of her financial difficulties as reviewed here two weeks ago, they promptly sent her a check. Still looking for Republicans, Sally?

Be Mine, Valentine?

Pearsonians and those who are interested in Pearsonians saw with amusement a large red heart valentine on the first floor bulletin board. On the outside was the question, "Do I want you for my Valentine?" to which the inside answered very emphatically, "Nope!" Just above it adorning a lost and found notice was a large broken heart with lost written on it along with an equally large on boasting an arrow and reading, "found."

Attention, UAC

Court Street: Danger!

Wednesday night two cars collided on Court Street near the East gate near the campus's main traffic artery toward town. Luckily no one was seriously injured in this collision which was apparently the happenstance of speedy driving. However, speeders seem to race along Court Street now without any regard for a residential or school zone.

Crossing the intersection at the foot of The Steps has become a hazard for even cautious pedestrians. A traffic light would be an important safety precaution at this point. If a light were installed, it would mean that more drivers would consciously slacken speed along Court Street.

The Maryville Enterprise this Wednesday revealed that the City of Maryville has recently conducted a traffic study under the direction of Lloyd A. Bowman, Oak Ridge traffic engineer. Engineer Bowman will present the results of the surey to the city board the first Tuesday of March.

The interests of the College and its students should be represented at this meeting for the safety of student-pedestrians.

Talk of The Week — By Arch Swartztrauber

Voices, Masks, and Shadows

ON THE SCREEN

Movie fans this week will see two excellent films when the Capitol brings to the screen "Hasty Heart" on Monday and Tuesday and "Prince of Foxes" on Wednesday and Thursday.

"Hasty Heart," starring Ronald Regan and Patricia Neal, is based on the play by John Patrick. The boy, Lachie, played by Richard Todd, is not sent home with his regiment after the War because he has only a few weeks to live. The plot is centered around the efforts of a group of Allied soldiers in a Burma hospital camp to make Lachie's last week's pleasant. The difficulties of making frineds with the stubborn Scot add many moments of comedy to a story that will tug at your heartstrings. Incidentally, the performance of Todd in this movie is supposed to be one of the best of the year.

"Prince of Foxes," is an Italian-made dramatization of Samuel Shellabarger's novel of the same name. Orson Welles plays Cesare, the impatient man who tries to make his sister a widow so she can marry the Duke of Ferrara, and eventually, himself, falls in love with another man's wife. Tyrone Power co-stars as the quick-witted and personable Orsine, a peasant-born adventurer who has borrowed a great family name to further his social and political ambitions. In spite of it all, however, "Prince of Foxes" takes a melodramatic turn for the better.

Playing at the Park Monday is "Return of the Wild Fire," starring Richard Arlen and Patricia Morrison; and Tuesday and Wednesday, "State Department, File 649," starring William Lundigan and Virginia Bruce. "Big Clock" with Charles Laughton and Ray Milligan plays Thursday and Friday.

ON THE STAGE

The Martha Graham ballet last night proved an evening of fine entertainment for all. Included in the dances were "Diversion of Angels," "Deaths and Entrances." The purgatorial history of Shakespeare's King Lear was portrayed in "Eye of Anguish." "Every Soul is a Circus" added satire and comedy to climax an eventful evening.

Those hearing the concert by the Charles M. Hall High School Sunday night at the First Methodist experienced with them the spirit and vitality of the Negro spirituals. Particularly enjoyable was the duet, "Whispering Hope" by the director Mrs. Emmitt West and Professor West, and the solo, "Didn't It Rain" by Mrs. West. This concert is an annual Race Relations program sponsored by that church.

Vladimir Horowitz, pianist, will appear at the UT Alumni Memorial Auditorium Friday, February 24, at 8:15 p.m. Tickets may be obtained at the U-T YMCA, or at Clark and Jones, Knoxville, for $1.20 up (tax included).

The Vesper Choir, under the direction of Harry H. Harter, will be presented in concert at the First Methodist Church, February 27, at 7:30.

Third in the series of Civic Music Concerts is scheduled for February 28, in the Everett Auditorium. Floyd Worthington is an American baritone of widely diversified talent. His accomplishments in opera, musical comedy, radio, concert, and oratorio place him in the front rank of singing actors. His really outstanding singing and acting ability, coupled with a distinctive personality and friendly informal manner, make him a favorite with his audiences.

ON THE SHELF

Most notable among the new books added to the Library this week is John T. Flynn's "The Road Ahead." This book has been in the news of late because of what the author calls "the trend in the US toward Socialism." In it, he charges all liberals, reformers, critics of capitalism, and all advocates of economic planning with engaging in a gigantic conspiracy to "sneak" America into Socialism. Some feel the book leaves one "up in the air" with all too many questions not answered, but it certainly is a book one can't afford to pass up.

Also among the books on the New Book Table is David Lilienthal's "This I Do Believe," D. F. Fleming's "The United States and the World Court," Emil Ludwig's "Goethe," and Vincent Sheean's "Lead, Kindly Light."

tions which can be expected to live as great works, much of this type of music has been mediocre. It is still classified as modern, but it definitely is not contemporary. Expressionistic music, according to Miss Horne, is comparatively easy to write because the process is quite mechanical.

She composed the music entirely for piano for the sake of convenience and in order that a great number of people need not be involved in the performance. Miss Horne also stated that although she cannot say that she likes or dislikes expressionistic music as a type, she thinks that if the music is great the language in which it was written does not matter. Theater of the Soul promises to be a startling play with some unusual and original musical compositions.

●'TIS SPRING, AGAIN, and once again our thoughts turn to baseball, track, and tennis, not to mention other things. With the trend of the hoop season drawing near, Scot fans will be able to see only one more game, that between C-N and MC on the home court, Thursday. Following that, the Scots will journey to King and Emory-Henry to close out what some have called "a disastrous season." Well, if we can take next week's games like we took those at the end of last year, the season won't be bad after all.

●HERE'S MORE DOPE on the Men's M Club which has just finished a rather spurious week of initiation. Funds raised by the M Club by means of its concession at the Tournament will be used for something that most people never thought of before—insurance for athletes at Maryville College. This is just one of many worthwhile projects (besides shoe-shining) which the members have thought up. We all ought to go out and help them all the way, for if they can achieve their goal of insurance on every athlete, MC won't have to worry about losing athletes who get hurt and can't pay their scholastic bills after paying the doctor.

●SCOT SCRAPS—Lawrence Major, who pulled off a slick escape in his last bout here also fooled the crowd down Auburn way when he pinned his opponent. Burrhead's really going after them this year.

Tubby Callaway was the victim of misfortune, there, too, as was Herb Palmer. Tubby was ahead on points, but when both men were neutral, McKenzie made a fake and boom, Tubby was pinned.

Herb, though, was "doublecrossed" in that the man Willie Rahn wrestled was one he had beaten before. Brnilovich, Auburn's heavyweight deluxe and Southeastern 191-pound champ, had been out all season because of a leg injury suffered while playing for Earl Brown's gridiron team. Coach Umbach fouled up the works, and slapped in "Tito" against Herb. As a result we had eight points flit away in the breeze instead of two.

Tubby's opponent, "Spider" McKenzie, Southeastern AAU champ in Chesley Anderson's class, from all reports, is the clown of the Auburn team. He has the background for a wrestler, though, for his great uncle Matthew was heavyweight wrestling champion of Scotland. Other interesting facts about the character are that he likes to eat following a match and likes to hunt snakes in the Everglades.

●THE SEAAU MEET will be held in Auburn this year on the 5-6 of March. Auburn has won the last three matches and is figured to take this ont. Maryville, which entered a team two years ago, has shown up well in both—having taken second place in 1948 an da third place tie with Georgia Tech in 1949's meet at Atlanta.

The Meet is really interesting to see, and, if nothing else, will take the poundage off like nobody's business. As long as you're winning, you'll only get about an hour's rest in between. Whenever a wrestler wins this, brother, he really deserves it and has put out for it.

Maryville is entering her whole team and several others who haven't wrestled consistently.

● WITH AN EYE TO THE FUTURE, Coach Davis has scheduled a match between MC's (what-you-would-call) JV's and Knoxville Y to be held at the Y, Tuesday. It will do the boys a lot of good and some interestings things may develop from the results of the match.

●TUESDAY NIGHT, is also the scene of the annual "Stinking Shoe" Classic between Alpha Sigma and Athenian's representatives in the Intramural League. Last year's "beer bottle" game was won by the Sigs, 20-18.

So far this year, the Athenian B team (their best) has won two from the Scotties and Highlanders of A-S, while two A-S squads have beaten the Athenian A team (their scrubs), twice. Gametime will be at 6:15 because of the scheduling of the Maryville JV-Alcoa high game at 7:30.

This year's Alcoa aggregation will field a very good squad, having eked out a win over Everett the other night. (Everett had previously lost to the Bees, 34-31). It really ought to shape up as a slambang double-header.

Melt-in-your-mouth pastry goodness for snacks or parties! And with no fuss and worry for you! Make it a habit to keep our delicious pastries on hand always!

Scot Matmen Take Tech By 19-11 Tally; Drop First Meet To Auburn, 22-8

MC's undefeated wrestling team went down for the first time last Friday evening before the Auburn Tigers by a score of 22-8. The Tigers are rated one of the best teams in the area, having lost but one match this season by a 25-5 count with Appalachian Teacher's College.

Auburn's meet with the Scots was the second in a series of three meets away from home. Georgia Teeh being the last opponent.

Newcomer

Willard Rahn was added in the 175 lb. slot by Coach Davis before the trip. The new lineup permitted Palmer to go back into the heavy class.

Lawrence Major, 155, scored the only pin of the evening against Robert Baker in 7.13 minutes. In the 145 lb. class Tubby Callaway suffered a pin at the hands of Auburn's Spider McKenzie in 6.26 minutes, and Will Rahn went down for the count under Dan Mantrone in the 175's.

Summary

121 Class—McGill (A) decisioned Marvin (M), 8-0.
128 Class—Dragion (A) decisioned J. A. Cameron (M), 8-2.
136 Class—Anderson (M) decisioned Dick Delfonti (A), 5-4.
145 Class—McKenzie pinned Callaway, 6.26 minutes
155 Class—Major pinned Baker, 7.13 minutes.
165 Class—Long (A) decisioned Merriman (M) 8-5.
175 Class—Mantrone pinned Rahn, 7.32 minutes.
HW Class—Brnilovich (A) decisioned Palmer (M), 8-0.

Saturday evening after a rugged Friday night at Auburn, the Scot matmen under Coach J. D. Davis defeated the wrestlers of Georgia Tech on home grounds by a score of 19-11. Tubby Callaway, wrestling in his usual 145 lb. slot more than made up for his bad night at Auburn by pinning Ben Erb of the Engineers in 5.4 minutes. Only other pin of the evening came when Heavyweight Ray Back of the Tech Squad pinned Herb Palmer in 1.10 minutes.

Major Close

In the 121 pound class Jim Marvin won a forfeit from the Techmen because their 121 pounder could not reduce his weight in time to qualify. Harold Zell and Lawrence Major in the 155 class battled it out to a close 5-4 decision for Zell since he had two more seconds riding time.

Summary

121 Class—Marvin (M) won by forfeit.
128 Class—Cameron (M) decisioned Ivy (T), 3-0.
136 Class—Anderson (M) decisioned Garrard (T), 8-5.
145 Class—Callaway pinned Erb, 5-4 minutes
155 Class—Zell (T) decisioned Major (M), 5-4
165 Class—Merriman (M) decisioned Cone (T), 7-5
175 Class—Rhodes (T) decisioned Rahn (M), 8-0
HW Class—Beck pinned Palmer in 1.10 minutes.

Arkansas Matmen Battle Scot Grapplers Tonight

JV's Share Bill In Alumni Gym

Following a warmup B game, Maryville's wrestling squad will take to the mats for a match with the Indians of Arkansas State.

Coach Harold J. Nichols will bring a more or less mystery team to Alumni Gym, tonight. Coach Davis sent to the State College team for information regarding their squad, but the Indians haven't sent anything. All that is known is that some four wrestlers who wrestled here last year and were underclassmen are back.

Captain

Captain of last year's squad was Jake Durham, a 121-pounder from Granite City, Illinois who is again bestowed with the honor. Durham was undefeated last year and suffered his first loss in four years in the State AAU matches there last year. Typifying the general spirit of the State team, Durham is an aggressive wrestler who presses his man at the start to gain the advantage position.

Last year, Durham pinned Jim Marvin in 23 seconds of the second period and will be out for a repeater.

J. A.'s Back

Julius Palone, who wrestles in J. A. Cameron's class in another "carpetbagger" working in the South. Palone hails from New York City and is a sophomore and was a novice at the art last year, but went on ahead to win nine straight matches and the state AAU 121 pound title. His usual weight is 128 and in his encounter with Cameron last year, Palone gained a 3-1 decision.

Another boy from Granite City, Illinois, is Walter Wilson who was in the 155's last year. Another veteran of the mat wars, Wilson had four years of wrestling in Illinois and was sectional champion for two. He was a winner, too, in the State AAU contest and in his match with Major, pinned the latter in 43 seconds of the second period.

Another "Carpetbagger"

Final man on whom we have some dope is Karl Greenwald who tangled and won with Palmer last year, 4-1. Greenwald, like Hersh Merriman, was the background of their football team playing fullback and picking up about 100 yards every game.

Grenwald also hails from, you guessed it, Granite City, Illinois, and looks like a hunk of the stuff. Greenwald was an experienced wrestler before he came to the Arkansas school and put in four years of high school wrestling and two as an all-stater. He went to the University of Illinois for one year and lettered in wrestling and probably tagged alnog with his own hometown boys when they went to Arkansas State.

Aggressive

As a whole, the Indians have an aggressive team which will be out there from the opening slap to the last.

Maryville's line-up is not known yet, depending probably on how the Arkansas State team came out last night against Appalachian State.

MC Ready

Lawrence Major who has improved tremendously this year may turn the tables on Wilson, while Tubby Callaway and Merriman who walked off with decisions last year in the 21-8 defeat may repeat, too. Another surprise for the Indian may be that in the person of Chesley Anderson who is undefeated this year. The Heavyweight and 175 situation is still muddled up and won't be known to mat-time.

In the preliminary, Coach Kenneth Johnson's JV's will take to the floor in an attempt to make it victory number seven of the season against the National Business College of Knoxville whom they upseated 55-30 previously this season. The Bees have been playing better ball since then and dropped a Lanier High quintet, Thursday, 54-27. High men were B. R. Crisp and Bill Gibson with 12 apiece. Behind them were Boring, 8; McMahan, 8; Thiesse, 7; and Shields, 7.

Starting lineups for the Preliminary game which begins at 6:45 for Maryville will be Shields and Gibson at forwards, Crisp at center, and McMahon and Berrong at the guards.

Highlander Hoopsters Take One From Eagles; Drop Three Straight To Union, LMU, and Milligan

BUFFALOES

Kenny Hyder was the man, and he sunk six straight shots to pull Milligan's Buffaloes from a six-point deficit to a commanding six-point lead and a 65-61 win over Maryville, Thursday.

Maryville trailed at the beginning of the game because of shots by this self-same Hyder and Kyle Middleton, the Buff's skyscraper center, who was cleaning off the backboards from everywhere.

MC Goes Ahead

With about eight minutes to go in the first half, Maryville began to really click and sunk everything with Bob Boring tying up the score at 17-17. Hugh Hamil then followed up with a tie-breaking free throw to make it 18-17.

MC, hitting on all four cylinders, raised this score minute-by-minute, and both teams left the court with the Scots in the fore, 33-25.

When the second half began, the Highlanders kept up the good work and the only thing that saved the Buffaloes of Coach Eddie Olds were the free throws and field goals made by Syd Hathaway.

Timber Comes Back

The clock had gone half way around in the second half and Maryville was still ahead, 50-40. Middleton, who Coach Olds had removed because of four personal fouls early in the second half, came back in and the Johnson City team started a roll or weave which will remain the minds of all who attended.

The Sad Part

After working the ball back and forth out in the backcourt for about five times, Hathaway would either get the ball and dribble in for a bucket or Hyder woul dtake a set from about 35 feet out and connect.

Hyder made his memorable six in a row and Hathaway threw in eight, too. Final count Milligan 65, Maryville, 61.

Also helpful was Milligan's accuracy at the free throw line in making her last six charity tosses while Maryville hit on only four out of her last seven. Milligan also had a great deal of trouble in hitting the basket in the first half by making only 10 out of 35 shots. They did much better in the second, though, in connecting on 16 on 38. Maryille's average was 22 for 66—fair enough, but not good enough.

Buffs Good

All in all, Milligan really had a great ball club, and this was shown in their ability to come from behind to hand the Scots their 11th loss against eight triumphs.

The damage:

MC 61	Pos.	Milligan 65
Brahams, 11	F	Hathaway, 19
Reynolds, 7	F	Hyder, 18
Keny	C	Middleton, 16
Hamil, 18	G	Gouge, 4
Boring, 18	G	Forbes, 2

SUBS: MC—Roberts, 2; Lillard, 3; Allen, 2; and Berrong. Milligan—Pridon, 4; Kennedy, 2; and Wright.

RAILSPITTERS

LMU's Railsplitters turned the tables on Maryville's Scots who were on the third lap of a road tourney, and Scots got axed, 63-55. On the home court the Honaker-men had clipped the Big Blue, 67-57, however, in that game, LMU had field-goaled more than MC and had lost the game on free throws. In this game, LMU out-totaled the Scots in not only the field-goal department, but also in the free throw division.

Coach Dean Bailey's five bounced out in front quickly and held a 30-22 lead when the teams left the court at halftime. In the second portion of the ballgame, each team matched point for point and neither outscored the other.

Less Not Least

Big man for the Big Blue was Captain McCarter who pushed in 18 with his spinning jump shot from the side. Maryville's guards Boring and Hamil fell off a little on their production of the night before, and could get only 16 and 12. Forward Jack Wells, and a McKinley Mosely, center, were the other big axes in dumping in 14 apiece.

MC 55	Pos.	LMU 63
Brahams, 10	F	McCarter, 18
Reynolds, 7	F	Wells, 14
Keny, 4	C	Mosely, 14
Boring, 16	G	Butterini, 3
Hamil, 12	G	Clawson, 1

SUBS: MC—Roberts, 2; Lillard, 2; Allen, 2, and Crisp. LMU—Cantrell, 5; Bargo; and Wright, 8.

EAGLES

Maryville's Scotties went to Jefferson City for an encounter with Carson-Newman last Saturday night and couldn't miss in taking a 66-54 decision. The win brought MC back up to an even-all record of wins and losses at eight.

Scots Score

Sparkling from the first, the Scots drew first blood and caged the Eagles right away to take a 37-20 lead at halftime. Hugh Hamil did most of the dirty work for the Highlanders with 15 counters.

Whereas the first half had been relatively peaceful, the second was much rougher and to top things off, MC received a technical foul. It was during the second half that the other half of the scoring duo, Boring, got hot and sunk 10 to bring his total up to 18 and tops for the night.

C-N Topmen

Joe Shipley, ex-forward, playing center for the Eagles was one of their top two along with Jimmy Dew who scored a like number.

MC	Pos.	C-N
Brahams, 14	F	Dew, 14
Reynolds, 7	F	Haecker, 11
Keny, 6	C	Shipley, 14
Boring, 18	G	Lance
Hamil, 7	G	Walker, 4

SUBS MC—Allen, 4; Lillard and Crisp. C-N—Beans, 2; Blankenship, Levi, 6; Love; Wade, 2; and Crawford.

BULLDOGS

Union made it two in a row over the Scots this season as the Scots traveled to Barbourville, only to get romped 77-64, in so doing. The victory was number six in a row and still left the Scots without having defeated a Bulldog quintet since 1921.

Bulldogs Hold Tight

Coach Bill Bolyard's team held on like their nicknames in the early portions of the game, and had the Scots at 8-0 before MC scored. By halftime the score reached 40-23 with Maryville looking as if she were out of the running.

During the second half, Maryville caught fire somewhat and wound up outscoring the Union team 41-37 but 'twas no good for the good ball club from Bar-

Methodists Hear Hall High Chorus

Charles M. Hall high school chorus presented a concert of sacred and secular music at First Methodist church Sunday at 7:30 p.m. The annual program is in observance of Race Relations Sunday.

Three spirituals, "Lord, Lord, Lord," "Blow, Gabriel," and "Sinner You Know" were sung by the chorus. The Girls' Glee Club sang "Done Paid My Vow To the Lord," "I'm A-Rollin," "Look Away," and "Dark Water."

The Boys' Glee Club sang "Kentucky Babe," "Story of a Tack," "Behold That Star," "Amen," "Steal Away," "Witness," and "Ezekiel Saw the Wheel," "Cherubim Song," by Bortniansky, and "Carol of the Bells," by Wilhousky.

Mrs. Emmitt West, director of the group sang "Keep Me From Sinking Down" and "Didn't It Rain". She joined with Professor West to sing "Whispering Hope" and "Weep, Little Mary."

Soloists for the evening were Dorothy Jenkins and Mrs. West, sopranos; Willis Swan and Emmitt West, tenors. Cheita Lenoir is the accompanist of the group.

E.T. Chemists Guests on Campus

Nearly 200 members of the East Tennessee Chapter of the American Chemical Society were guests on the Hill Thursday night.

The group had dinner in Pearson Hall, where Dr. Fred A. Griffitts and Professor George D. Howell were hosts. Several Chemistry majors attended the dinner as special guests. Dr. E. R. Hunter and Dr. Augustus Sisk were other MC faculty members present.

Dr. Henry Eyring, of the National Academy of Science, was the guest speaker lecturing on the thery of liquids and of reaction rates.

This is the first time Maryville has been host to the Society, which usually meets in Oak Ridge or Knoxville.

Chillies Win Tourney; Swimming Begins Mon.

The Chillie team, captained by Sally Kemp and managed by Gracie Scruggs, won the basketball tournament by virtue of a 44-34 win over the Howies. The tournament was to be the best three out of five games but the Chillies needed only four games to defeat the Howies, whose captain and maanger were Alice Davenport and Zan Emery respectively.

The next sport to be taken up by the Varsity is swimming which will start this week.

Swimming, Senior Life-saving lessons for all women start on Monday, February 20 at 7 p.m. The lessons will be two hours long and will continue for two weeks.

Magazine Lists MC Good, Small Colleges Listing

The February number of Good Housekeeping magazine listed Maryville in its annual survey of "Good Small Colleges." The listing, prepared under the direction of James W. Hampton, stressed the fact that it is still possible "for a worthy boy or girl to obtain a thorough training in a first-rate college at moderate expense.

Criteria for selection of colleges included:

"1. Each college enjoys high academic standing and was on the final accreditation list of the American Association of American Universities when that agency discontinued its policies of accrediting undergraduate institutions, slightly over a year ago.

"2. Each college operates with a normal enrolment of fewer than two thousand students.

"3. Each college listed is in the "thousand-dollar range" for the basic costs of board, room, and tuition. Such items as clothing, personal and traveling expenses are not estimated."

Maryville is listed as a "coed type college with an estimated enrollment of 905 and average cost of $525."

Final Home Game With C-N Eagles

Thursday Marks Last Of 1950 Basketball Scheduled in Big Gym

The 1950 basketball year comes very close to its end Thursday night when Maryville's Scot quintet welcomes the Eagles of Carson-Newman in the last home game of the season.

This year, the two C-N games are close together, the first being played February 11 on Eagle homewood at Jefferson City. MC came off winner there by a comfortable 66-54 tally, which made the Eagle pull his claws a little farther in. The Eagle's loss last year makes them exactly five games behind for the total number played. Since 1916 Maryville has won 23 games, C-N has taken 20.

Hi Men

Center Joe Shipley of the Eagle quint shared top scoring honors with Jimmy Dew at forward in last wek's game. Each player accounted for 14 points.

Last year's tilts with the Eagles resulted in a split season. MC's Scots dropped a close first game to the Eagles in a 55-53 tussle, but came back a few week's later to tromp the Holtmen 67-39.

Lineups

Probable starting lineups will be:

MC	Pos.	C-N
Brahams	F	Dew
Reynolds	F	Haecker
Keny	C	Shipley
Berrong	G	Love
Hamil	G	Walker

Two Left

Last two games of the season are scheduled with Emory and Henry and King College. The E. and H. tilt was close here in the Alumni Gym as the Wasps of Emory and Henry piled up score. A last minute rally by MC's hoopsters saved the day and ended the game at a 61-58 score.

King College provided the Scots first scheduled game of the season on December 9, when they came here to be beaten 62-38.

BULLDOGS

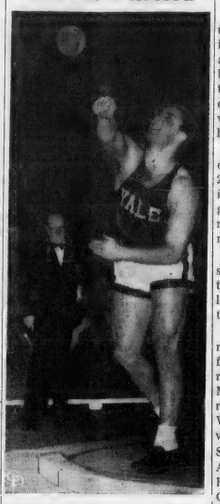
bourville had a big enough lead not to worry.

Coach Bolyard also cleared off his bench and his subs played a greot deal.

Not helping the cause either was the fact that Gene Reynlods, who held up the losing cause in the first half, fouled out early in the second.



Crum Not Crumby

Union's lead was built up primarily on the efforts of one Woody Crum who goal-sucked 25 points. Big Dick Beeson, the Bulldog's elongated center swooped off the backboards and fired it to the waiting left-hander who turned around and fired it in. The Crum(b) fired in 25 and that was all that was needed. Boring and Hamil were again Maryville's tops, but the two couldn't hit enough often enough.

MC 64	Pos.	Union 77
Brahams, 5	F.	Dickinson, 9
Reynolds, 13	F	Pinkerton, 8
Keny	C	Beeson, 10
Hamil, 18	G	Crum, 25
Boring, 19	G	Swim, 4

SUBS: MC—Roberts, 6; Lillard, Allen, 1; and Crisp. Union—Licare, 1; Turner, 1; Rogers; Treodway, Hurt; Hodgin; Barker, 9; and Brewer, 9.

Sets New Record

YALE'S husky Jim Fuchs is shown as he set a new world's record for the 16-pound shot put during the New York Athletic Club meet at Madison Square Garden. Heaving the shot 57 feet, 7¾ inches, Fuchs beat the old record mark by more than a foot. (International) days, barring possibilities of interruptions. . . The season seemed to be a complete success, with few permanent gripes heard. . . One of the loudest yells seems to be, "Why did it have to end so soon?" . . . It seems as if many of the players would like to play all year around, and that sounds like a good idea. . . . However more intramural sports are on the way in, and it is hoped that they are as successful as the basketball season was. . . . Volleyball, track, softball, badminton, swimming, and wrestling are on the agenda.

Intramurals . . . .

BASKETBALL TOURNAMENT

Only three games were scheduled in the first round of the intramural basketball tournament as the rest of the teams drew bye's. Athenian B rolled over the Loafers, 40-16, to konck them out of the tourney. Allen Caldwell was high for the B's as he hit the hoop for 13 points.

Highlanders had a rough time of it as they nosed out Minnows, 20-18. Bill Brodt, who's crib shot in the closing minutes of the game gave the Highlanders their margin of victory, was high point man with 10.

Wheels avenged a regular season loss to the Kikes by whipping them, 29-14. Jim Campbell again led the Wheels to victory, this time scoring 11 counters.

Whizzers, Champions of the regular season play, were the first team to enter the third round of play by dropping the Minnies, 42-21. Leaky Campbell notched 13 points to lead the Whizzers to their first tourney victory.

Meet Maryville's Unique Spades

By Trudy Furman

Have you heard about the new family which has made its way to the campus? Perhaps you have wondered how the "Card family" started and how it grew.

There are six branches of the Card family tree, appropriately named Spades, Hearts, Diamonds, Clubs, Jokers, and Instructions. The family began when three of the dining hall waitresses, each having her own family sitting at her table, decided to combine to form a big family, called the card family. The parents, Barbara Rosensteel and Gene Carden, became Spades. One of their thirteen children, Betty Roach, married into the Heart family, and one of her daughters, Joan Platt, married a Diamond.

After this more or less spectacular start, the family grew by including in its number little sisters, roommates, and some that just seemed to fit into the family. Trudy Furman, (here's how I came in) Betty Roach's little sister, married into the Clubs and became the head of that branch of the family. Dot Johnston and Tex Schwenkie became the Jokers and Great-aunt Susie (Miss Ware) and her sister, Carolyn (Miss Blair) became the Instructors. The family has now a grand total of forty-two members as shown on the family tree.

Last Wednesday night, the Card Family had a big reunion in the Y roms. Refreshments, including homemade cookies shaped as spades ,hearts, diamonds, and clubs, were served. Along with the delicious food, games and songs combined to make a gala evening for all "the Cards."

By March 1, 1950, when the Red Cross National Blood Program will be approximately 2 years old, it is estimated that 1,800 hospitals and 100 clinics will be supplied with blood and blood derivates.

Experimentals Present 'Theatre Of Soul,' 'Boy'

3 Showings Scheduled Tonight In Bartlett

By Mary McConnell

First two productions celebrating International Theatre Month on Maryville's campus, "Theatre of the Soul" and "Boy Comes Home," will be presented tonight in Bartlett Hall at 7:30, 9:30 and 10:30.

Both plays are representative of certain schools of drama. "Theatre of the Soul" is an expressionistic play by the Russian author, N. N. Yewienov. "Boy Comes Home" is a light comedy of A. A. Milne.

"Theatre of the Soul" is a mono-drama starring Ben Paxton as the Professor. The others, who play parts of the soul of the Professor, are Rational Entity, Dave Reed; Emotional Entity, Craig Fisher; Sublimal Entity, Ed Vanderslice; First Concept of Wife, Mary Holly Webb; Second Concept of Wife, Norma Lou Loetz; First Concept of Dancer, Lois Deobler; Second Concept of Dancer, Beverly Moore; The Porter, Hugh McSpadden.

Conflict In Soul

The play shows conflict within the soul of man. The Professor wants to run away with the dancer. The whole play takes place in one-half second.

Expressionism in the theatre calls for a bold use of props, lighting, sound effects, and music to symbolize what the author is saying. It requires a different way of acting in that everything is unrealistic.

"Theatre of the Soul" was first produced in England in 1915. It has not been produced a great deal since then because it requires special production, music, dancing, and acting.

"Boy Comes Home" concerns an ex-soldier who comes home from the war to find his uncle still running his household. In his revolt against the uncle's rule, the boy shows the eternal fight of an individual for his own rights.

The play stars Phillip, Herbert Marks; Uncle James, Claude Cowan; Aunt Emily, Janice Landstrom; Mrs. Higgins, Mary McAfee; Mary, Kathryn Shelton.

The setting of "Boy Comes Home" is in no particular country. The play was written in 1918.

Production staffs for both plays are as follows: stage manager, Jim Townsend; business manager, Allan Caldwell; lights, George Barber; sound effects, Charles Gahagan; program and ticket sales, Mary McAfee; properties chairman, Jim Dance; and costumes, Bobbie Porter.

Herman D. Middleton is director of "Theatre of the Soul" and Mrs. Curtis Hughes directs "Boy Comes Home." Special music for "Theatre of the Soul" has been written by Associate Professor Dorothy Horne of the Fine Arts Division.

Choir Festival To Feature String Trio From College

Two Maryville students, Doris Somerville, and Dan Winter, with Associate Professor Dorothy Horne of the faculty, will be featured in a string trio at the combined choir festival at the New Providence Presbyterian Church, Sunday, March 5 at four o'clock. The combined choirs, which will contain some 300 voices, have been rehearsing under the leadership of their respective directors and organists for the past six weeks.

Adult choirs taking part in the festival are Broadway Methodist, First Baptist, First Methodist, Maryville College Vesper, New Providence Presbyterian, and St. Andrew's Episcopal.

Junior choirs are Broadway Methodist, First Baptist, First Methodist and New Providence Presbyterian.

Mrs. George Lowry is chairman of the committee from the Maryville-Alcoa Music Club which is sponsoring the festival.

News Capsules—

LIFE OR DEATH?

Dr. Herman N. Sander, the New Hampshire doctor accused of murder in the death of Mrs. Abbie Borroto, has been taken on a visit to the Hillsboro County Hospital where he is accused of having injected into the patient's veins "10 cubic centimeters of air four times in close succession, well knowing the said air injections to be sufficient to cause death."

DELAYED STRIKE

The president of the CIO Communications Workers of America has issued a statement that the executive board of the union has agreed to President Truman's request for a 60-day postponement of a nation-wide telephone strike.

President Truman has also asked for no interruption of work or of the nation's telephone communications.

STILL DEFYING COURT

The local unions of the UMW have again refused to obey the court order requiring them to return to work. The strike has laid off over 88,000 workers in industries using soft coal.

A miner in southwestern Pennsylvania has declared "We'll go back to work under two conditions. One—if we get a contract. Two if the government seizes the mines." This seems to be the general feeling among the soft coal miners now on strike.

PARALYSED

Snow and ice have covered most of the northeast to such an extent that transportation, already hampered by the coal strike, has been further delayed and cut down. Trains were delayed as much as there hours; highways glazed with ice which snarled traffic; schools were closed in many of the northeastern states; and commercial airlines grounded.

DENIAL

Harold R. Christoffel, a former Milwaukee union leader, has been convicted by a federal court jury of lying under oath to the House Labor Committee. This conviction, by a jury of eight women and four men, is the second for Christoffel. His first conviction was in 1948.

Students To Lead Church Schools

Services at Maryville Sunday Schools are as follows: "Brotherhood" will be the theme led by Dr. Johnson at New Providence college class. Carol Mitchell will give the Scripture, and Lincoln Shimomura the prayer. Dr. E. R. Hunter will lead the Crusader Class.

The theme at First Methodist is "Love" with the worship service being led by Millard Stephens. Jimmy Britton leads the song service.

Mrs. M. M. Cummings will speak on "The Foolish Virgin" at St. Andrew's Episcopal Church. The song leader will be Greg Howard.

Joe Poland, Tom Kees, and Archie Swartzrauber will conduct the opening services at Broadway Methodist Church.

A. J. Smith's group has charge of the services at First Baptist Church. Mrs. G. H. Traylor is teacher, and Ric Rogers is song leader.

Bill Jones, student at Memphis State College, and Rogers M. Smith, State Bantist Student Union secretary, will be in Maryville to consult with the Bantist students tomorrow. Jones will speak at the evening services at the First Baptist Church tomorrow.

Echo Distribution

The Echo will be delivered to the dormitories during the first period on Saturday. Off-campus students may obtain papers in Thaw Lobby, the Student Center, or Carnegie Lobby immediately after chapel.

Professor Howard Thomas of the University of Georgia, above, is shown at work, on a landscape. He is to lecture on art at Maryville March 2-3 as a part of the 1950 Artist Series. Thomas' first lecture is scheduled for 8 a.m. Thursday in Alumni Gym.

Maryville Debate Squad Captures Five Top Awards At State Tourney

Maryville's debate team walked away with the major share of honors at Tennessee's annual forensic tournament held at Austin Peay College, Clarksville, last week-end.

Over 100 students from 12 Tennessee colleges and universities participated in the three-day competition. Maryville took five of the 11 first places.

Lincoln Memorial University's debate squad met the Maryville team here Friday night. The question was the socialization of basic industries. Representing MC were Elenor Kramer, Ruth Reeves, Bill Caldwell, and Bill Shields.

Another Maryville team will journey to LMU Monday and continue competition on this year's question. They will be Tom Kelly, Bob Cuthill, Daniel Thamisch, and Walter Ogilvie.

Carolyn Miller and Carol Corbett won first place in the women's debate division and Miss Corbett won first place in the women's division of original oratory competition.

Roger Cowan won in the men's original oratory division; Eric Meadows took first place in the men's division of after-dinner speaking, and Cowan placed first in peace oratory.

Other first place winners were from Tennessee Polytechnic Institute, Peabody College, and David Lipscomb College.

They received trophies provided by Clarksville businessmen and presented by President Halbert Harville of Austin Peay.

Second and third place results are not yet available. The entire tournament was directed by Margaret Ward, Austin Peay speech instructor.

TPI at Cookeville was chosen by the exectuive committee as the site of the 1951 tournament.

Coaches of Maryville's winning team are Dr. Verton M. Queener and Assistant Professor Arda Walker.

Miss Davies Represents Maryville At Music Meet

Professor Katherine C. Davies, Chairman of the Fine Arts Division, is in Cleveland this week-end.

She is attending a meeting of the National Association of Schools of Music, of which Maryville is an accredited liberal arts member, and the National Association of Music Teachers. The meeting will extend from February 24 to 28.

Catechism Awards Earned By 4 Students

Four freshmen have been awarded Westminster Scholarships for qualifying in the catechism exams given last Thursday night.

Those who won these $50 scholarships are Robert Coles, Scranton, Pa., Barbara Murphy, Glen Ridge, N. J., Betty Boyer, Richmond, Va., and Trudy Singleton, Senecaville, Ohio.

Five scholarships were offered and this leaves one available for anyone who might be interested in applying next semester.

Former China Missionary To Speak at Vespers

Speaker at Vespers Sunday night at 7:00 in the library will be Mrs. Wilmot Boone from the Sunset Gap School in Newport. Mrs. Boone has been a missionary in China and is on furlough this year.

Anthems sung by the Vesper Choir will be Grieg's "God's Son Has Made Me Free" and "Go to Dark Gethsemene" by Noble.

Y Radio Presents Music and Story

Y Radio Workshop will present a program climaxing Brotherhood Week over WGAP Monday nigtt at 9:30.

The emphasis for the presentation will be placed on Negro-White relationship. Featured on the program will be the narration of an original story by Barbara Blum. "Only A Burnt Match."

Herb Keene is vocalist with John Sayre accompanist. The program is produced by Bill Starr and Barbara Blum.

"An Interview with Satan" was presented last Monday night. Plans for a program of faculty participants are in progress.

Athenians To See Sport Movies In Bartlett Hall

Athenians will see two sport movies tonight in Bartlett at 6:15. The movies are entitled "Sport Thrills of 1949" and "Basketball Thrills of 1949."

Program chairman Bob Kees requests all interested in taking part in the amateur show to be given on March 4 to see him immediately.

Artist Series Art Lecturer Speaks At Thursday Chapel

Howard Thomas of the University of Georgia Will Present Demonstration in 2-Day Program

By Don Whelan

Art lecturer Howard Thomas, second in the 1950 MC Artist Series, is to be on campus next Thrusday and Friday for a two-day program program of discussion, demonstration, and talks to students and faculty. Professor Thomas, head of the art department in the University of Georgia at Athens, will speak to the entire student body in the 8 a.m. Chapel service on March 2. He will discuss art topics of general interest at this Alumni Gym program.

Thursday night at 7:30 he will deal with his views on art and his own work, which has brought him top awards in several states. The discussion, expected to be illustrated, will take place in Bartlett Auditorium.

Gouache Demonstration

Using pigments, some of them his own preparation, Professor Thomas will demonstrate the gouache painting process in a formal lecture at Lamar Library Friday night. He will discuss the medium, which is done with opaque colors ground in water and prepared with gum, and its technique.

As for each lecture of the series, anyone free at the scheduled hour may attend this program at 7:30 p.m. During the day on Thursday and Friday certain classes will hear the artist at their regular meeting hours.

A native of Ohio, Thomas studied at Ohio State University and the Chicago Art Institute under such artists as George Bellows, Randall Davey, and Joseph Binder. After a period of study in Europe, he turned to art teaching at Milwaukee State Teachers College, where he painted some of his most vigorous watercolors and oils.

Holds Art Medal

In 1936 he was awarded the Milwaukee Art Institute medal for his oil "Haymarket Square"; the painting was added to the permanent collection of the Art Institute. He received first prize twice in annual University of Wisconsin water color competition.

Since joining the faculty at Georgia, Thomas has taken first places in art shows in that state and has done research in gathering and grinding his own pigments. He is president of the Southeastern College Art Association.

For two years he and his artist wife have been at work on a book about design for college students.

Will Speak To Classes

At 9:30 Thursday, Thomas will speak to the art and music appreciation classes in Anderson Annex 23. He is to talk to the advanced painting class at 1:30 in the same room off the art studio.

On Friday the beginning painting class will hear him at 8:30 and the modern architecture and sculpture class at 2:30 in the art gallery.

He will speak in Thaw 201 at 11:30 to the class in estheties. Philosophy 314.

It is expected that the painting he is to demonstrate Friday night in the Library will be started that afternoon, so that his audience may see more of the actual process.

This part of the Artist Series is in cooperation with the Campus Visitors plan of the Association of American Colleges' Arts Program.

Season ticket holders will have the same seats reserved in about the same section for the Library lecture-demonstration as for the programs of the '50 Artist Series which take place in Alumni Gym.

Hours Announced For Open House

Open house for the campus residences this year is being held on Saturday, March 4 and Sunday, March 5 by the sponsoring organizations MSO and WSGA. The women's dormitories will be open from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. on Saturday with the men's residences open Sunday from 2:30 p. m. to 3:30 p.m.

Schedules for the various dormitories is as follows: Memorial—7 to 8 p.m. Saturday; Baldwin—8 to 9 p.m. Saturday; Pearsons—9 to 10 p.m. Saturday; and Carnegie and Bartlett—2:30 to 3:30 p.m. Sunday.

Dr. Lloyd Writes On Church Meeting For Organic Union

President Ralph Lloyd is the author of "Grenwich Conference On Union" in the February issue of The Presbyterian Tribune.

The Grenwich Conference, attended by representatives, observers, and consultants of major American Protestant denominations, discussed organic church union and organized a permanent Conference on Church Union. Dr. Lloyd was one of three representatives of the Presbyterian USA Church.

Their official statement said, in part, "We believe that the time has now come for the Churches of America to formulate a plan for organic union, by which we may outwardly and concretely express that spiritual union which already exists among the Churches which acknowledge Jesus Christ as Lord and Saviour."

Common Convictions, Concerns

The statement also said that the basic values of existing types of organization found in the denominations must be preserved. "In the perspective of the world scene, and in view of our great common convictions and concerns, some of our denominational differences seem inconsequential," it continued.

Presbyterian USA delegates with Dr. Lloyd were Dr. William Barrow Pugh, stated clerk of the General Assembly; and Dr. Joseph A. Vance, former moderator of the General Assembly.

President Lloyd, who is also chairman of the Presbyterian USA Committee on Church Cooperation and Union, concludes with, "Our General Assembly has stated over and over again that we stand for the unity of the Church and that our church desires to follow every leading of the spirit towards that unity."

JOINT Y MEETING TOMORROW

YM and YW will have a joint meeting in Thaw at 1:30 tomorrow. A program of inspirational music by the Girls' Choir and the Men's Glee Club is planned.

Choir Opens Series Of Concerts Mon. At First Methodist

Other Concerts In Area Announced This Week

Vesper choir will present its first concert of the season Monday night at First Methodist Church in Maryville at 7:30.

The concert, directed by Assistant Professor Harry Harter, is sponsored by the Maryville Ministerial Association. The program, which will be followed in concert series this spring, includes selections in four groups, as follow:

Group I: "The Bells of Speyer," Senfli; "Crucifixus," Lotti; "Exultate Deo," A. Scarlatti; Group II: "Agnus Dei," Kalinikoff; "Let Thy Holy Spirit," Tschesnokoff; and "Credo," Gretchaninoff.

Time and Plans

One important by-product of college should be training in the managment of time. Time for work, time for relaxation—balance in the system of seeking mental and physical activity. Certain limitations, however, may tend to disrupt one's pattern for convenient allocation of work for mind and muscle.

One even-recurring limitation is the required six weeks' test schedule. Tests, like work are necessary for evidence of academic progress. Both teacher and student feel the pinch of test papers.

It is as much to the students', as well as the teachers' benefit, that scheduling of tests is fitted harmoniously into the week's pattern of work as it may best fit the majority. Most students are thankful for professors who plan tests in advance and with a mind to avoiding conflicts already placed on the calendar.

Grace and Respect

The dining hall bell clangs and approximately fifty percent of those present reverently bow their heads while grace is offered for the meal. The other half and those who never seem to make it to meals on time are curiously surveying the table contents, their lips pursed for a gripe the minute the Amen is said.

How inconsistently we bow our heads in thanksgiving and yet continue to ask "Where did she get this stuff? or What on earth is it tonight?" I wonder if we ever stop to divide three meals a day into what we pay for our board and if we do why we do not realize how difficult a job it must be to feed eight hundred students on such a small sum.

We are all guilty of speaking before we think of what we are saying. But now that the facts have been presented, think it over. Any suggestions for a better running of the dining hall will probably be gratefully received in the dietician's office.

While we are on the subject of dining hall behavior, there is one more thing of which we are all guilty at one time or another—that of not being more reverent during prayer. Scores of people are still coming in through Pearsons doors while grace is being said and prevent the prayer from ever getting past the middle half of the hall. Some are shoving the fellow in front in a marathon for the end seat, others are curiously gazing about or laughing at someone else having an equally good time.

Our actions reflect on our home and even more on our parents. If we want to give the impression that we are ignorant about such a common thing as reverence, then the general idea would be to make as much noise as possible. Most of us, however, would like others to be more favorably impressed with our homes. Then we should remember that that bell is a call for respect and to act accordingly.

Obituary

Georgie is gone. He was murdered mercilessly by being torn into three disjointed sections. In December, George lizard came to live on the second floor of Memorial Hall. He made many friends and was loved by all.

His wife and two children arrived from Lily Pond last week to witness the trial and attend the funeral. The longest procession of weeping women ever known followed George to the site of the burial. Sympathy cards from all parts of the country poured in, and we here on the staff want to add our deepest sympathies to the bereaved of our dear slimy friend.

Debators delight

There's no conceit in this school—our debators have it all. After receiving their well-earned trophies last week, they returned to the hotel and arranged them with pride in the hotel lobby.

Roger Cowan, unable to attend the movies with his colleagues, rated an "In Memoriam" plaque above the trophy display. Much explanation and convincing had to be done insuring the local residents that Mr. Cowan was alive and kicking.

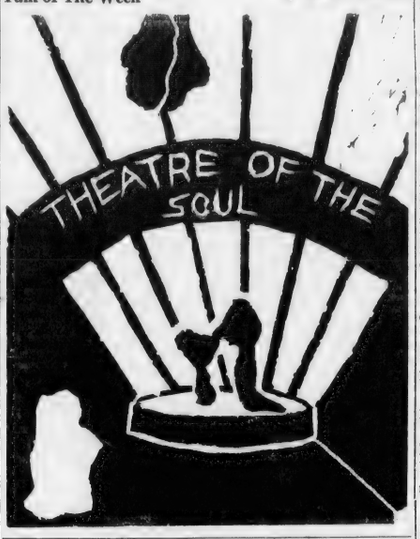
Filler quoted from "Quote"



A little girl decided to draw a picture of the Nativity. First she drew the stable at Bethlehem, and Mary and Joseph, then a few shepherds and a farm animal. After some consideration she added a roof to the stable, a tree, and a star.

Still the picture seemed incomplete. There was a lot of white space at the top of the paper. This was a problem, but she solved it. In large but quite neat letters she filled in the legend. "Drink Molson's Beer."

Talk of The Week

By WALT NUTTING

Voices, Masks, and Shadows

READING—

Heading the new book list at Lamar Memorial Library this week is "The Aspirin Age," edited by Isabel Leighton. This book contains the great, the comic, and the tragic events of American life in the years between two World Wars as told by 22 outstanding writers. Among the contributors to this collection are John Lardner, Samuel Adams, Gene Tunney, and Jonathan Daniels.

Of great interest to all readers is Isaac Deutscher's "Stalin: A Political Biography." Deutscher shows clearly and objectively the forces that have shaped Stalin's life and have placed him in the dominating position on the Russian scene and in the Communist movement for more than a quarter of a century.

The book is neither an apology for nor an indictment of Stalin, but an attempt to describe and analyze his complex role and personality with as much detachment as is possible. Deutscher treats Stalin as a historical object and not as the hero or villain of current politics.

Based for the most part on documentary sources, "Stalin: A Political Biography" is the result of the most thorough research and the most painstaking care in checking contradictory material. The author has been aided by his inside knoweldge of Soviet Russia and his acquaintance with statesmen and diplomats.

Perhaps a good book to follow in the wake of the one just mentioned would be: "Liberty; A Path To Its Recovery" by F. A. Harper.

After examining individual liberty in all its facets, the author explores its relationship to government, democracy, peace, progres, and prosperity.

Far from being abstract and theoretical, the book contains a measurement of the status of liberty in America today, and presents a positive program to be followed by those who want to regain and preserve their liberty.

This book was not written placidly and it cannot be read placidly.

SHOWING—

The screen at the Capitol this week will feature "The Lady Gambles" on Monday and Tuesday, "The Accused" on Wednesday, "In The Good Old Summertime" on Thursday and Friday, and "Frontier Investigator" on Saturday.

"The Lady Gambles," starring Barbara Stanwyck, is the old story of a decent person consumed by a hopeless passion for gambling. Barbara's downfall begins when, during a visit to Las Vegas, she mets a suave professional gambler (Stephen McNally).

The story's old, but the acting and camera work are good.

"In the Good Old Summertime" is another good Metro musical. It is in turn-of-the-century costume and features Van Johnson and Jury Garland.

The story concerns a young man, Van Johnson, who during the day clerks in a Chicago music store and at night carries on an anonymous lonely-hearts correspondence with an unknown lady. Judy Garland portrays a salesgirl in the same store, who is also writing to an unknown lover. The happenings when the two discover that they are writing one another make for interesting watching.

At the Park it's "The Lone Wolf and His Lady" on Monday, "Hollywood Barndance" on Tuesday and Wednesday, and "Mother Was A Freshman" on Thursday and Friday.

"Mother Was a Freshman," starring Lorretta Young and Van Johnson, is the hilarious account of a mother who accompanies her daughter to college.

"La Belle et la Bete" ("Beauty and the Beast"), second in a series of three French films to be given at the University of Tennessee, was shown Wednesday night.

"Beauty and the Beast" is Jean Cocteau's adaptation of a fairy tale by Madame de Beaumont. It tells the story of a poor merchant and his three daughters, Adelaide, Felecite and Belle.

One day, the merchant comes upon an enchanted castle, whose owner is a strange being, half man, half beast. In order to pay for a rose he has taken from the mysterious garden, the merchant has to send the beast one of his daughters. Belle offers to sacrifice herself. She is at first frightened by the beast, but touched by his kindness, gradually becomes fond of him.

Upon learning of her father's illness through a magic mirror which the beast has given her, Beauty returns home after having promised to come back to the castle within a few days. Weeks pass, however, and still she remains with her father until she discovers that the beast is dying of heartbreak. She then hastens to his side and the expression of love on her part transforms the Beast into a handsome prince.

Since the French poet Cocteau wishes to convey the idea that women pursue with obstinacy the same kind of man, the three men in Beauty's life, that is, her fiance, the Beast, and the Prince, are portrayed by the same actor.

Echo Sports

Sports Echoes

By Duncan Bennett

●AS THE END of February approaches, sports fans all over the country are getting ready for another shift in emphasis as baseball once more starts the fore. Track and tennis won't be far behind, and the closing basketball and wrestling seasons will soon be matters for the Echo files and the Chilhowean.

●IF (notice we say if) the hoopsters can win from Carson-Newman, King, and Emory and Henry, they stand a chance to tie up the season with a .500 average. To date for the basketballers it's eight up; 11 down with three games to go in the season. The C-N show Thursday was the last for homewood, and Saturday evening at King ends a mediocre season.

●SIX OF THE MEN who play in tonight's game at King will be playing for the last time for MC. All six of them, Bob Boring, Hugh Hamil, Hap Brahams, Gene Reynolds, Jim Lillard, and Charlie Roberts, represent some of the best basketball material hereabouts.

●BIG NEWS for the mermen who were misfits when MC's swimming team went out of business is the announcement that a new swimming coach has been procured and Maryville is again back in the business. Coach Leo Rayl of Alcoa is to take charge of the swimming team and whip something into shape for the first meet with U-T. Supposedly there's some pretty good frosh talent hanging around campus—hope somebody can get MC out of the hole in swimming.

●MATMEN will be all through next week after the AAU tourney. Tonight is the last intercollegiate meet of the season with the Commodores of Vandy. If it's like the last one, it oughta' be easy.

●DAME RUMOR has had it for several days now that MC's footballers had received a bid to play the University of Kentucky—and for once she was right. We did, or rather Coach Honaker did, receive a telegram last Monday wanting to know did we wann' play and suggesting a couple of dates. The Scots used to play Kentucky's Colonels away back when, and it seems that for next year the blue grass boys had a hole in the schedule which they wanted to plug with a breather. Coach Honaker is not having any, thanks.

AND SPEAKING of football the 1950 schedule is made up with only one open spot, on October 28. It is probable that the date will remain open, since there is apparently going to be a Thanksgiving game next year for the Scots. It's almost a sure thing that Georgetown will be the opponent at Middlesboro, Kentucky.

BASEBALLERS are starting to work already; at least the pitchers and catchers are. Not much going on yet though except a few fundamentals. Practice will probably begin in earnest about the first of March in preparation for the first game of the season on March 31. Below is the 1950 baseball schedule, not yet quite complete. The week of April 17-22 will probably be filled with engagements with semi-pro teams of the area such as Kingsport, Johnson City, etc. There is also to be a pair of games with Union—date undecided—and another game with Hiwassee.

The 1950 Highlander basketball squad, pictured above, winds up its season this week in a game with King College of Bristol. Pictured are: front row left to right—Gene Reynolds, Gene Lillard, Hap Brahams, Ray Keny, Bob Boring, and Hugh Hamil; back row—Coach Lamble Honaker, Leon Berrong, Clarence Shepard, Charlie Allen, Ralph Thiesse Bruce Beatty, Bill Gibson, John Shields Burt McMahon, B. Maryville Matmen Meet Vanderbilt In Season's Final Intercollegiate Bout

By Neale Pearson

Maryville's wrestlers will come to the close of one of the most successful mat seasons since the war tonight as they leave home to meet Vanderbilt at Nashville.

In the first meeting of the two teams Maryville bounced the Commodores, 22-6. Since that time, though, Vanderbilt has improved and Maryville will have a closer match.

Another Slip-in

Running in the same vein as the other match, Coach Davis will make another substitution— this time in the 136-pound class. In that match, Jim Marvin replaced Paul McNiell in the 121's, only to meet defeat, 5-3. However, Jim has improved in every match and by earning a tie last week, is destined to take tonight's match from Frierson.

Tom Tapped

Tom Yeaworth, losing weight like the rest of the matmen, will take Ches Anderson's place in the 136'ers against Anaston whom Anderson displaced, 4-0.

Yeaworth has been out of action for three weeks with a boil on his chest and in the meanwhile has reduced from 145 down to 136. Coach Davis is letting Anderson off so that Yeaworth can get back into the snap of things for the SEAAU wrestling tournament in Auburn next week.

Otherwise, the lineup will be the same the rest of the way. J. A. Cameron, Tubby Callaway, Lawrence Major, Hershel Merriman, Herb Palmer, and Bob White will take over in their regular weights.

White's Chance

Whizzer, who has improved with every match didn't face the Vanderbilt heavy, Caldwell, here. Because the Vandy man had to stay home, White will really have to shoot the works if he wants to pick up a win.

Last Matches

Though Coach Davis will lose some men by way of graduation, he will not be hit as hard as the basketballers. Gone forever after next week will be Marvin, Callaway, and Merriman—but their departure will hurt.

BASKETBALL TOURNAMENT

Globetrotters, led by Howard Davis who dropped in 11 counters, ran over Athenian B by a score of 45-29. Both Bo Henry and Clarence Shepard scored 10 points for the winners, while Allen Caldwell scored 8 for the losers.

New High knocked YMCA out of the tourney by a 31-23 count. Sug Handley was the big gun for the surpriisng New Highs as he dropped in 18 points. Dick Hyatt led the loser's with 10 points.

Don Hyatt sunk six baskets for 12 points as the Ex-Scrubbs dumned the Locals, 53-29. George Stanfill and Dick Isenberg racked up 10 points apiece for the winners.

Bob Kay, with the help of some intercepted pases, ran up a total of 14 points in the first alf; he took it easy in the second half to take high point honors with 18, as the Scotties whipped the PB's, 55-19.

Cavaliers came from the short end of a half-time score of 8-7 to beat out the Highlanders, 25-20. Oliver Gill was high point man for the winners wtih 11, while Bill Brodt led the losers with 8.

Wheels upset the Rabbis, 51-39, as Jimmy Campbell sunk 20 points. Buz Cardoza racked up 13 counters for the winners, while Ken Yonkers scored 12 for the losers.

VOLLEYBALL

Volleyball officials are urgently needed. All boys interested are requested to see Ken Newell. Only Bartlett gym will be used; so if enough boys want to referee they will only have to work maybe once every two weeks.

The league opens Monday with three games; they will be played on the same schedule as basketball: 3:35, 4:15, and 4:55. Care will be taken to assure boys still in the basketball tournament that they will not have to play volleyball until after the basketball finals.

Volleyball schedule sheets will be hung in Carnegie, Student Center, and on the door of the intramural office.

WRESTLING

Sign-up sheet for intramural wrestling is hanging in the training room. All boys interested are urged to sign up immediately.

BADMINTON

The intramural badminton tournament sheet is now hanging on the intramural office door. Participants may play at any time that is convenient for them except from 3:30-6:30.

The best two out of three games wins. A game consists of 15 points. Racquets and shuttlecocks may be obtained from the equipment room.

Coach Leo Rayl Comes To Campus As Swim Mentor

Varsity swimming, which went out last year, is back in again with the addition to the coaching staff of Leo Rayl. Two meets with U-T have been scheduled and more are in the booking.

Rayl, now working out at the Aluminum plant, offered his services and they were accepted. He attended Illinois Wesleyan and Purdue University where he earned letters in swimming, and graduated from the Boilermaker school.

The specialty for the new coach is the breast stroke, for which he broke the school record at Illinois.

Not New

Rayl is not absolutely new, but has been helping out with the Men's Senior Life Saving Course which will start on March 6th. At the present time, the women's division is being run off.

The first meet with UT will be held in the Vols' pool on March 25 in the afternoon, with the mermen returning for a match on April 7. Practice sessions are on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays, for the next few weeks, at 4:30; but will be advanced to sessions every day beginning in March.

Fifteen men attended the first session, Tuesday, and all who can flap the water even a little bit are urged to come out and give it a try.

Matmen Drop To Arkansas Indians By 19-8 End Tally

Maryville's high string wrestlers lost a 19-8 match to the powerful Arkansas Indians last Saturday night. The Indians took all but the 121, 145, and 175 classes as they swept through Coach Davis' charges. Coach Nichols' boys had just finished a tough meet with Appalachian Teachers losing 20-11, but they were set for last Saturday's meet.

Marvin Draws

Jim Marvin and Gomez of State fought it out to a 1-1 draw in the lightweight event. Both boys earned their points on escapes. Neither had enough riding time although Gomez fell seconds short of getting a point's credit.

Julius Palone decisioned J.A. Cameron in the 128 affair. Palone had five points on a reverse, an escape, and a time advantage. J.A. gathered his two on a neat reverse .

136's Lost

At 136 Jake Durham won a 4-1 decision from Ches Anderson of Maryville. Jake, undefeated in the 121 pound class last year, was given two on a reverse and

Big Gym Will Be Scene Of Annual High School Basketball Tournament

Maryville College will play host to the Blount County annual district basketball tournament to be held here in the Alumni Gym February 27 through March 4. The tourney is under the direction of Coach Lombe S. Honaker, and is the play-off among the high schools of the area.

Both boys' and girls' teams will be represented from the local high schols. Games are to be played Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday nights with no game on Wednesday. Admission will be 50c until Friday when admission will be 75c for the semi-finals.

Scots Tip Eagles 66-50 To End Home Games For Season

Carson-Newman's Eagles came here in the last home game of the season, Thursday, and probably wished that it wasn't after they fell before the Scots by a 66-50 score.

Frosty Holt's cagers took a short lead, which exchanged hands for the greater portion of the first half, but with some three minutse to go, MC hoopsters tossed four field goals in a row to lead, 28-21.

The only thing that kept Carson-Newman in the ball game was her accuracy at the free throw lane. The Baptist boys made only seven field goals but hit on seven for nine free swings, while Maryville could make only two for eight.

Second Half

The second half was almost a runaway with Maryville pulling out all the stoppers to go ahead and win 66-50. The last four minutes of the ball game saw what will probably be next year's squad. Coach Honaker, last night, saw seven of his men play for the last time on a home court.

Six Scot Warriors Lost To Squad

By Neal Pearson

Maryville's ill-fated Scotties will try and make a bad season come to a good end when they tackle the Tornadoes of King, tonight, in a game at Bristol. Last night the Highlanders took on the Blue Wasps of Emory & Henry on the Emory, Va. court.

Wins Will Help

Going into last night's fray, the Scots had a nine-and-eleven record but were hopeful of tacking on two more wins because of past performances against these two teams.

In a game early this season, the Scots blew out the Tornadoes, 62-38, in a game here. The Tornadoes evidenced few signs of worrying the Scots, but have improved greatly since then.

High men for the 'Nadoes was, as usual, Arlie Johnson, who has been acting in the same capacity for the last three years. Joe Byrd and Ray DeWeese were the other players who gave Scot supporters a run for their money, but they weren't enough.

Wasps Sting

Emory & Henry played the Scots a much better game in their stand here, dropping only by a 61-58, which the Scots pulled out of the fire in the last minutes of the game. Another horn in the Scots side who has kept up the good work for his team was Sam Dixon, who dropped in 25 in the encounter which MC won.

However, Maryville had a break in that the Wasp team was faced with the same situation that has plagued the Scots all year—a lack of height; so MC may do all right in these, the last two games of the season.

MC Flag Lowering

On the sidelines is the fact—that this will also be the last game for some six veterans of the hoop wars—Bob Boring, Hugh Hamil, Hap Brahams, Gene Reynolds, Jim Lillard, and Charlie Roberts. They will surely be missed and Coach Honaker is really going to have to pull something out of his hat to replace them, but that worry will come next year.

Teacher Workshop Begins Monday For Third Term

The third workshop for teachers begins at MC Monday, February 27. Registration is scheduled for before 5 p.m. on that date, and classes meet at 5:15 in Thaw Hall.

Six courses are being offered at this session. Two of the fields are limited to the number that can be accomodated. Nutrition, taught by Gertrude Meiselwitz, will be limited to 16 students. This course consists of practical experience in choosing and serving balanced meals.

The course in practice teaching will be directed by Mrs. Thelma Kramer and will be limited to 15.

Elsie Burrell, supervisor of the Blount County Schools, will teach a course in elementary science which will include field trips, discussions of the various types of materials applicable to elementary education and suggestions as to how to teach scinece to children in the public schols. Mrs. Margaret Cummings will teach the course in children's literature which is of interest to both parents and teachers.

C. W. Hughes will have a group in music appreciation which has no prerequisite and would be of interest and value to people not interested in teaching and is open to them as well as public school teachers.

Dr. Lincoln Barker will conduct the course in child psychology, which is another course that would be interesting to parents as well as public school teachers.

The first teachers' workshop held early in the fall had 133 teachers from Blount, Sevier, Monroe, Loudon and Knox counties. The workshop which closed Monday of this week had an enrollment of 93.

Civil Service Offers Exams For Positions In Technology, Electronics

US Civil Service Commission announced this week examinations for positions as laboratory electronic mechanics and technologists open in Washington.

Application forms should be sent to the Commission's Washington office not later than March 14.

M Club Runs Concession For Basketball Tourney

A concession will be operated on campus by the Maryville College M Club during the prep school basketball tournament next week. This was decided at the meeting held last Saturday after the Arkansas State wrestling match. The meeting took place in Bartlett and refreshments were served.

Lists of M Club members who will participate have been posted and Jim Lester, president has urged lettermen to consult them. It was also decided that Neale Pearson's initiation is over, and he can return the mule if he isn't too attached to it.

two for riding time. Ches escaped once to avoid a shutout.

Tubby Callaway took a rather easy 7-2 decision from Carmody of Arkansas in the 145 event. Tubby had two reverses for four, an escape for one, and two points for riding time. Carmody pulled an escape to earn two. Callaway just missed a pin in the second period when the whistle blew as Tubby was about to add his crusher.

Major Fights

Carpetbagger Walt Wilson took a hardfought 5-1 decision from Maryville's Lawrence Major. Wilson, at 155, had a reverse, an escape, and two points for riding time. Major had one on an escape.

In one of the best matches of the evening, Karl Greenwald at 165 took a close three to one decision from Maryville's Captain Hersh Merriman. Greenwald had a takedown and an escape for his points while Hersh managed to get an escape.

At 175 Herb Palmer of the Scotties eked out a close 2-1 decision from Fogle of Arkansas State. Both boys had escapes, but Herb earned his winning point on riding time. Fogle almost broke loose as Herb hung on to him well over the initial minute.

Only Pin

In the heavyweight class, Palumbo of Arkansas acquired the only pin of the night, as he put Bob White's shoulders to the mats in 1:30 of the second round. Palumbo already had four points on White by virtue of a reverse and a takedown.

White showed up much better in his second meet. He had Palumbo worried a couple of times due to his aggressive tactics, and after a little more seasoning "Whizzer" should develop into a pretty good wrestler.

SUMMARY

121 Class—Marvin (M) and Gomez (A) wrestled to a 1-1 tie.
128 Class—Palone (A), decisioned Cameron (M) 5-2.
136 Class—Durham (A), decisioned Anderson (M) 4-1.
145 Class—Callaway (M), decisioned Carmody (A) 7-2.
155 Class—Wilson (A), decisioned Major (M) 5-1.
165 Class—Greenwald (A), decisioned Merriman (M), 3-1.
175 Class—Palmer (M), decisioned Fogle (A) 2-1.
HEAVYWEIGHT—Palumbo (A), decisioned White (M) in 1:30 of the second round.

JV's Take Snaps From NBC by 57-39 And Alcoa, 51-42

Coach Kenneth Johnson's Frosh team extended its winning streak to seven in a row with their tromping of National Business College and Alcoa High, Saturday and Tuesday.

The Flashes defeated the Knoxville team 57-39 in a fast game Saturday by grabbing the lead at the first and holding it the rest of the way. Tell-tale evidence of the game was the fact that the red-shirted Business College team wasn't in very good shape they called four time outs in the first half to rest their weary frames.

Maryville left the court at half time with a 30-18 lead built up on the shooting of Shields and B.R. Crisp.

In the second half, the Knoxville team began to settle down and the ball game was somewhat closer.

In the big game of the night, Tuesday, the Flashes met a rebounding Alcoa High quintet and took their measure, 51-42. Once again it was the ex-guard, B.R. Crisp who was responsible and he peppered the basket for ten in the first half as the Frosh left the board ahead, 23-19.

In the second half, Coach Monk Dodd's five began cleaning off the backboards better and put themselves back in the ball game. But they couldn't hold down the pesky little Meano Shields, who threw in 12 to keep the distance between the two. At the end it was 51-42 with Alcoa pulling up, but not close enough.

I love the paper,
I think it's swell.
On Friday mornings
I run pell mell
To get my copy,
And read each line
The stories and columns
I think are fine.
I laugh at the jokes,
I read all the ads;
I note all the news,
I take up all the fads.
When I praise the paper,
I scorn those who laugh.
I'm really most loyal—

New Providence Starts Services For Lent Season

New Providence Church will observe the Lenten season this year with special services on Wednesday evenings at 7:15. Dr. Graham will preach a series of sermons dealing with people whom Jesus met during the course of his earthly life. The series will begin this Ash Wednesday, and Dr. Graham's sermon theme is "The Man Whose Dream Came True." The themes for the remaining Wednesday evenings during Lent will be March 1—The Woman Who Sat Still; March 8—The Man of Many Devils; March 15—The Woman Who Had Faith; March 22—The Man Who Climbed a Tree; March 29—The Man Who Went to the Point.

On Sunday mornings Dr. Graham will preach a series entitled "The Life in Christ"; February 26—The Motivation; March 5—The Essentials; March 12—The Manifestations; March 19—The Disciplines; March 26—The Pillars; April 2—The Rowards.

Holy Week will be observed with the community services each morning at 8:10 at New Providence Church. On April fifth a service of preparation for Communion will be held and the sermon theme is "The Man Who Was Drafted." On April sixth, Maundy Thursday, the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be given ,and on Good Friday at 7:30 the combined choirs of Broadway Methodist, First Methodist, and New Providence will present "The Seven Last Words of Christ" by Duboie. The Lenten series will be brought to a climax with the service of praise and thanksgiving on Easter Sunday morning at 10:30.

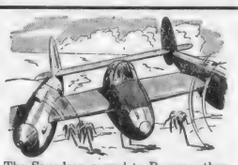
Major Bill Reynolds, Oregon '40
Pilot-Professor, U. S. Air Force!

Bill was an all-round athlete. He chose football as his favorite sport, made the varsity teams at Pomona Junior College and also at the University of Oregon.



A Theta Chi, Bill enjoyed campus social life. Found that it eased the pressure of rugged athletics and his heavy study schedule in Personnel Management.

Upon graduation, Bill chose a future in the Air Force. He "flew" his first Link trainer as an Aviation Cadet in 1940. By March, 1941, he had won his pilot wings.

The 1st Observation Squadron, Fort Riley, Kansas was Lieutenant Reynolds' first assignment. While there he met the future Mrs. Reynolds. They married a year later and now have two fine sons.

The Squadron moved to Panama, then to the Pacific. Bill advanced from pilot to operations officer to squadron commander. He came home a Major and qualified for a Regular Commission.

Recently commended for peacetime work—organizing and improving instruction techniques—Major Reynolds, a "Pilot-Professor", looks forward to a long and gainful career in the U. S. Air Force.

If you are single, between the ages of 20 and 26½, with at least two years of college, consider the many career opportunities as a pilot or navigator in the U. S. Air Force. Procurement Teams are visiting many colleges and universities to explain these career opportunities. Watch for them. You may also get full details at your nearest Air Force Base or U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting Station, or by writing to the Chief of Staff, U. S. Air Force, Att: Aviation Cadet Branch, Washington 25, D. C.

Thomas Lectures To Student Body

Demonstrates Method; Gives Views In Chapel

Opening his two-day lecture series on campus, Professor Howard Thomas, head of the art department of the University of Georgia, spoke in chapel Thursday morning on general public interest in art.

Culture must be of the simplest form for the rudest mind. Our democratic faith is the belief that widespread education will give way to new sets of values, he said. In a letter to his wife, former President John Adams was quoted as saying that he must study war and politics so that his sons might study mathematics, philosophy, history and geography. Then their sons will be free to study the arts—poetry, painting, literature, and music.

Art is not nature, he said, but rather nature's spiritual complement. As the musician is inspired by some great piece of musical composition, so the artist must trace his inspiration back to some emotional experience.

Professor Thomas expressed the belief that art appreciation could be taught. He said that understanding art would lead to an appreciation of it. Art is never an isolated phenomenon. It is a matter of evolution, is retive, groping and sometimes painfully slow. We are all responsible for our art, he concluded.

Continuing to deal with his views on art, Professor Thomas lectured on Thursday evening in Bartlett Hall. He illustrated his talk with his own work which has brought him national awards.

A demonstration of gouache painting was presented in his formal lecture on Friday evening in Lamar Library. He discussed the technique of the medium which is done with opaque colors ground in water and prepared with gum, while using pigments of his own preparation.

NO COMMENT

The Indiana Republicans in Congress, for lack of something better to discuss, have been pondering the possibility of starting impeachment proceedings against President Truman due to his stand on the coal crisis dispute. "There have been discussions but no decision," said Indiana's senator Jenner. Their feelings seem to be that Truman should have invoked the Taft-Hartley law much sooner than he did. The White House had no comment.

SPY HUNT

The trial of Dr. Klaus Fuchs, the atomic science wizard, seems to have set off a chain of events that is likely to lead to a large international spy hunt. The highlight of his trial was the statement that he had given information which presumably could set off a hunt for his Soviet contacts in the US and Britain.

REST IN PEACE

Leo the leaping leonard will be stuffed and put on display to commemorate Oklahoma's greatest wild animal hunt. The freedom loving, 175-pound jungle killer died Tuesday after eating an overdose of sleeping pills which had been doped into some bait placed out for him by zoo officials.

EUTHANASIA

The mercy killing trial of Dr. Hermann Sander goes on and on with anew slant cropping up every other day. Latest witness is Elsie Borroto, 19-year-old daughter of the woman Sander is accused of murdering. She testified that "he seemed to feel almost as badly as I did" when Mrs. Borroto died. Sander is scheduled to take the stand soon to admit making the air injections even though "he was satisfied she was already dead."

At Council -

Fund Drive Increases; Discussion on Dates

Funds to date received in the Student Chapel Fund Drive amount to $3,054 President Nish reported to Student Council Wednesday evening. This new figure shows an increase in the chapel fund of $514 in the total amount as last reported.

During the session, council voted to pass on to Student-Faculty Senate for approval eight topics for possible discussion before the student body at chapel. Topics included general background information on the college's policy on endowment funds, religious requirements, general social atmosphere, the curriculum, and student-faculty relationsships.

Plans for presentation of the discussions are dependant on senate's reception of the idea and upon programing the discussion with the faculty, president Nish indicated.

Minor alternations in the wording of the constitution, including changes in election procedure (as outlined in the February 18 Echo) which have been ratified at senate were read at council. Incidentals such as naming the "May Day Queen" the "May Queen" were included were included in senate's ratifications.

Town Night Parlors

Other business included a discussion of parlor date privileges on Town Nights, which were recognized to be similar to other weke-day nights and a vote that something might be done to call attention to Maryville's city council of the need for a traffic signal at the college steps intersection with Court street.

Council also heard read a letter of appreciation for use of Student Center facilities during the recent Chemical Society meeting and that refreshments were being planned for the coming Wednesday meeting by Mrs. Carmen Marquis, Student Center director.

Jim Dance, Social Board Chairman announced that on March 11 and April 1, the Student Center will be open in the evening from 6 to 10:00 for the students on campus. The Y Store will open at the usual hours.

Four MC Teachers Attend TPA Meet

Four faculty members are attending the forty-ninth annual meeting of the Tennessee Philological Association at Memphis yesterday and today. Attending are president, Catherine Wilkinson, Arthur Bushing, Paul Cooper, and Etta C. Kennedy.

The latter two are reading papers. Assistant Professor Cooper will read "The Role of Christianity in the Development of the Romance Languages" and Mrs. Kennedy's topic is "An Analysis of Browning's Technique in Writing. Prince Hohenstein-Schwangau."

Hosts of the meeting are Southwestern and Memphis State College.

The society met here last year and presented the "Beggar's Opera" production. Miss Wilkinson, retiring president, presided at the meeting yesterday.

Instructor Howard Schwam will also attend the TPA meeting, Echo learned late Thursday.

13 Serenade Soloists Chosen For Spring Show

April 21-22 Scheduled For Third Annual Sing

By Richard Newman

Springtime Serenade will be presented for the third annual season by All Girl Choir and Men's Glee Club on April 21 and 22 in Alumni Gym. Director is W. Curtis Hughes. All profits will benefit the chapel fund.

Two performances are planned this spring following the popularity the production received last year the director announced.

Work on a set of modern design has already been begun by stage manager Jim Townsend and assistant Howard Cameron.

Fowler Brothers of Knoxville are to furnish a concert model Hammond organ. Director Hughes is organist and pianists are Sarah Durant and Peggy Cummings. The combined choirs will total 88 voices.

Irene Mellon is business manager; Charles Williams, publicity chairman; and Bill Starr will serve as commentator for the concert.

Rehearsals has begun on numbers which have been selected from popular musical productions. These include "South Pacific," "The Student Prince," "Desert Song," "Oh, Kay!" "Carousel," "Kiss Me, Kate," "Allegro," "New Moon," "Roberta," "My Maryland."

Solos and small ensembles will be featured throughout the performance. Soloists are Peggy Williams, Gracie Scruggs, June Holsey, Helen Worrilow, Ruth McQuilkin, Sally Sutton, Charles Williams, Larry Thompson, Don Hyatt, Jim Darroch, Jim Townsend, Bob Worthington, and Ray Holsey.

College Students Leaders In Tomorrow's S. Schools

Services at Maryville Sunday Schools are as follows: Claire Bolton, Dick Waka, Jim Akin, Carol Mitchell, and Barbara Stidham will lead the opening services at New Providence.

Ken Garrison will have the devotional meditation at First Methodist and Jimmy Britton will lead the singing.

Dr. Buchanan will speak at St. Andrew's Episcopal Church on the parable of "The Sower."

Broadway Methodist Sunday School will be led by Ruth Helen Bird and Betty Jo Smith who will give a program of special music and a devotional meditation.

"Brotherhood" will be the theme at the First Bantist. Joan Williams, A. C. Smith, Helen Pedford, and Glenn Gentry will lead the discussion and worship. Ric Rogers will lead the singing.

YWCA Continues Panel On Interracial Problems

YW's Brotherhood Panel will continue a discussion on interracial problems tomorrow afternoon in the Y rooms at 1:30 p.m.

The discussion is based on the Christian approach to the problem, taking in the points of view of the sociologist and the psychologist toward the majority-minority welfare. The program will also be open for discussion.

This continuation of the discussion is being held by popular request.

DEBATERS ENTER SOUTH ATLANTIC TOURNAMENT

MC Sends Two Men's, Two Women's Squads To 60-Team Contest

By Glenn Gentry

Four teams of debators are representing Maryville College during the three-day South Atlantic Debate Tournament at Hickory, North Carolina. Sixty teams from the Southeast are participating in the tournament, sponsored annually by Lenoir-Rhyne College.

Maryville's two women's and two men's teams left Thursday and are expected back tonight from the 17th annual event.

The MC squad includes Carolyn Miller and Carol Corbett, women's affirmative; Ruth Reeves and Elenor Kramer, women's negative; Tom Kelly and Tom Kennedy, men's affirmative; and Roger Cowan and Eric Meadows, men's negative.

Three of the group, Roger Cowan, Eric Meadows, and Carol Corbett, attended the national tourney last year at Bradley University in Peoria Illinois.

Corbett, Miller Even at State

Carolyn Miller and Carol Corbett were first place winners in the women's division at the State meet at Cookeville, February 17, 18 where Maryville College team took six of eleven first places.

Results of second and third place wins at TPI meet have not been received at Maryville this week.

Accompanying the teams are Dr. Verton M. Queener, debate coach, and instructor Mary Gladys Plexer. The—MC'ers will also participate in oratory, after-dinner, extemporaneous, and impromptu speaking.

Waynesburg Debates Here

Monday a non-decision debate will be held here with Waynesboro College, Waynesburg, Pennsylvania. It will begin at 7:00 in Thaw 214, and is open to the public. The speeches will be shortened so that the audience may ask questions at the end of each one. Maryville speakers for the occasion are Carl Lindsay and Louis Evans. Accompanying the Waynesburg team is their coach, Professor A. M. Mentiar, who taught history at Maryville College in 1924. The group is to arrive tonight and remain on campus until Tuesday.

LMU Visited

Last Monday a non-decision debate with Lincoln Memorial University was held at Harrogate; following one held here Friday, February 24. The squad that made the trip to LMU consisted of Walter Ogilvie and Dan Thamish, negative; and Bob Cuthill and Tom Kelly, affirmative. Those who debated here Monday night were Bill Caldwell and Bill Shields, affirmative; and Ruth Reeves and Elenor Kramer, negative.

The question this year is "Resolved: that the United States should nationalize all basic non-agricultural industries."

14 Junior Girls Named To Form Daisy Chain Line

By Phyllis Jackson

Carol Corbett, vice president of the junior class, has announced 14 members of the 1950 Daisy Chain which will be presented at commencement in May. Girls selected represent a cross-section of the junior class. The vice president is automatically in the chain.

Leading the procession will be Pat Love, an Elementary Education major from Oak Ridge. Miss Love was a May Day attendant in her sophomore year, served on Theta Epsilon Rush Week committee, and is present Historian for FTA. Walking with her will be Jacqueline Lenderman, sociology major from Birmingham, Ala. Miss Lenderman is treasurer of Theta Epsilon and was last year's program chairman. She was also active on Barnwarming and Rush Week committees.

Kemp and Huddleston

Following them will be Sally Kemp, a physical education major from Acworth, Ga. An ABC calendar girl, Miss Kemp was also class sponsor in her sophomore year. She has been a Nu Gamma leader and is a member of BG Club, secretary of M Club, and secretary of Athletic Board of Control. With her will walk Alice Huddleston, an English major from Maryville. Miss Huddleston was a May Day attendant in her freshman year and an ABC Calendar girl in her sophomore year. She is Student Council secretary and serves on Co-odrinating Council of WSGA.

Third couple in the procession will be Alberta Ahler and Mary Lyerly. Miss Ahler is from Harriman and majors in Home Economics. She has been a Nu Gamma leader, a member of Baldwin Hall house committee in her sophomore year, a band member, and Bainonian program chairman. She was also a 1949 ABC Calendar girl. 1950 Chilhowean Editor, Mary Lyerly is an English major from Apopka, Fla. Besides serving on Barnwarming and May Day committees, she was a member of the Echo editorial staff and is active in Bainonian.

Corbett With Landstrom

Janice Landstrom and Carol Corbett will follow. Miss Landstrom, an Elementary Education major from McKeesport, Pa., is active in Maryville College Playhouse, Theta Epsilon, M Club, and FTA. Miss Corbett, an English major from Jacksonville, Fla., is vice president of the junior class and Pi Kappa Delta.

Next in the Chain will be Mary Hammelman and Irene Mellon. Miss Hammelman, an Art major from Riverton, N. J., has been treasurer of Camera Club, program chairman for Art Club, and is a member of Pearsons House Committee. Miss Mellon is a business administration major from East McKeepsort, Pa. She is business manager of All-Girl Choir's Springtime Serenade of 1950 and is active in Theta Epsilon.

Vesper Choir Will Sing In Community Choir Festival

Maryville's Vesper Choir will join the combined junior and adult choirs of five Maryville downtown churches to present a program of sacred music Sunday afternoon at 4 p.m. at New Providence Presbyterian church.

The program for the afternoon includes "A Mighty Fortress Is Our God," by Bach; "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring," by Bach; "Rest in Peace," Schubert, Mrs. Marion Blair, soprano soloist; "The Omnipotence," Schubert, Evalyn Smith, soprano soloist.

The string ensemble composed of Dorothy Horne, violinist; Doris Somerville, cellist; and Daniel Winter, pianist, will play "Andante" trio in E major K542 by Mozart.

Favorite hymns to be sung are 'Spirit of God," "O Come, O Come, Emmanuel," "He Leadeth Me," "Savior, Thy Dying Love," and "Christ the Lord Is Risen Today." The directors of the adult choirs will be featured as soloists in each of the hymns.

The combined chorus will conclude the program with "Glorious Fover," Rachmaninoff; and "Thy Church, O God, Her Heart to Thee Upraiseth," Thiman.

The chorus will be directed by Harry H. Harter, accompanied by Katharine Davies, pianist, and W. Curtis Hughes, organist.

In preceding years the Festival has been a concert in which each choir presented several anthems. The combined choir this year is one which, according to the director, "will be more pleasing in every way."

Musicians Present Composer's Forum

At the Composer's Forum, which will be held at 6:45 March 9, room 21, Anderson annex, four works by Maryvillians will be performed.

The compositions are: Song from Schiller's "Wilhelm Tell," by Herbert Hoover, sung by Conrad Eaddy; two songs from the cycle "Yesteryear," written and sung by Lois Jean Deobler; "Invention in G Minor," by Randall LeQuire, performed by Dan Winter.

Others include "Design for a String Quartet," by Dorothy Vawter, played by Dorothy Stater, violin; Ruby Jean Harris, violin; Dorothy Horne, violin; and Doris Somerville, cello.

Each composer will give a brief explanation of his work, after which it will be performed and criticized. The forum is under the direction of Associate Professor Dorothy D. Horne, and is open to all interested persons.

Keep It Clean

Tonight is the third annual Open House at Maryville College. When the idea was first brought up it seemed almost unheard of. Most were hopeful of successful results; many were skeptical. But, the outcome proved a happy one and it looks as if it's here to stay—another Maryville tradition.

We're glad to see the fellows cooperating so enthusiastically again this year. It hardly seemed fair the first year when the Carnegieites held closed house and refused admission to the curious gals. It's good to see the men take as much pride in showing off their living quarters as do the coeds.

This is the one time in the year when each MCer tries to undo every other by seeing which can exhibit the best housekeeping. It's amazing what a little elbow grease can do to a room stacked high with last year's homework and next week's wash. We might say here that it would be nice if things could stay this way.

You worked hard to make your room look nice and it probably does. Why not keep it that way?

Campus Courtesy

We're always in a hurry. When the bell rings we slam our books shut and shuffle our feet hoping the professor will take the hint and dismiss class.

After class has been dismissed, we make a rush for the door. In entrance passage-ways, we try to beat each other through the door.

So far today we make two enemies—and the day is only half over. At this rate, we'll probably have made five or six at the end of the day. We intended to make friends when we came to college, but it doesn't look as if we're doing so well.

Isn't there some way we can stop making enemies and start making frends? Yes, matter of fact, there is. It's called the Golden Rule. "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you." That's all there is to it.

Also, we can drop a kind word here and there around campus to let people know we're thinking about them. A cheerful "good morning" and a smile will help.

It doesn't matter whether we're football players, chess champions, poker players or just plain college students, the application of the Golden Rule will help us in our quest for friends.

Talk of The Week

BY WALT ENGLISH

Voices, Masks, and Shadows

MOVIES

Half a day after High Noon on Broadway is the theme for Maryville's Capitol Theatre this Town Night. "Twelve O'Clock High" is a considerable cut above most of the post-war war pictures.

It is the story of a stubborn flying general's mission: to hike the morale of his disheartened bomber group; to knock out a sizable chunk of Third Reich Luftwaffe.

With the inner torment of a man of good will, he initiates an inhuman regime, gains the resentment of all in his command, and further gains the desired esprit de corps they needed.

Top-flight acting is not the least merit of Zanuck's latest film. To cinch the success, Greg Peck is starring.

On Wednesday "New Orleans" moves into Maryville for a one-day stand at the Capitol. It is the story of early jazz, its birth, growth and tribulations. Trying to capture the spirit of N.O.'s red-lighted Storyville, "where jazz was born," is not quite successful, as Arturo de Cordova, Irene Rich, and several other pro- or con-jazzers listen to a lot of music during the course of the picture.

The best part of the show is, in fact, the music and musicians, notably the very jazz-conscious Louis Armstrong.

"The Fighting Kentuckian," who starts slugging Thursday at the Capitol and lasts through Friday, recounts the traditional "little-known episode in American history."

The French who settled in Alabama after the defeat of Napoleon, it seems, were getting pushed around more than a Pennsylvania missionary until big, brave, homespun John Wayne arrives.

From there on, all plot breaks lose. When complications end, it's still a little-known incident in American History.

On Saturday the Capitol offers an "Ambush" of some sort in opposition to the Park's "The Man from" somewhere.

The Park has something big scheduled for Monday, "Grand Canyon." The Town Night special is "Geronimo," which is reviewed prominently in a late 1939 issue of St. Nicholas magazine, in addition to a shorter notice in an early 1940 Scholastic. The title is derived from a copper-colored cigar salesman left over from the Saturday show.

"Slattery's Hurricane" blows into town at the Park on Thursday and Friday. It is what Hollywood no doubt considers a pat on the back to the unsung Navy air arm hurricane scouts.

The result is more like a kick where it hurts, with a poor version of the mean guy gets good quick like everything theme.

BOOKS

Brotherhood Week or Month left flock of foreign-and-so-on affairs boks at Lamar Library's What's New table.

As usual, those Roosians are most noticeable. Bedell Smith, ex-ambassador to Moscow—in the days of a mostly-military US state department— tells about "My Three Years in Moscow."

At least, three years is more time than most self-styled Inter- a flock of foreign-and-so-on affairs preters-General for All the Russias have spent before writing their version of what really goes on behind the real or imagined steel drapes.

Another ex-wheel in the government, Edward R. Stettinius, handsome former Secretary of State, writes of what went on at the Yalta conference. "Roosevelt and the Russians" refutes the charges of surrender to the Reds.

Stettinius' point is that more was conceded by the Stalinists than by our own delegation.

It is granted that the author probably does know considerably more about the goings on at Yalta than the Demophobes who have been screaming "Yaltese Cross!"

The French collection had a three-volume anthology of the French theatre added to it this week. It had been marked up from 480 to 500 francs.

Andre Maurois is the author of a two-volume work on French literature, and several other books in that language are new.

Also in this week's crop are an armful of business volumes—on marketing, office management, and that sort of thing.

Another in the fact-filled Public Affairs series is a pamphlet on "Race and Religion: Barriers to College?"

ART

Among the most compelling of the informative words spread about campus this week by art lecturer Howard Thomas were his commentaries on contemporary life.

When most campusites heard him first Saturday morning, they were particularly impressed by his indictment of current American low ideals in music, literature, and art.

When, in each of these fields, an urge that Lucy wear shoes, the sudden marriage of a murderous "comic" detective, and monstrous china lamps for homes are considered highest respectively in present-day values, US culture is in need of repair.

In other talks during his two-day stay, Professor Thomas made clear some principles of painting—contemporary and traditional.

Perhaps the most important—and hardest to grasp—fact about modern painting, he told one group, is that it is not a mimic of nature. Until the layman can remember that, he will not understand—and therefore not appreciate—contemporary art.

MC's new Fine Arts Center, Thomas said, is a sensible departure from run-of-the-campus architecture. A few will be shocked, but, once they are conditioned to a building not designed for Medieval monks or colonial dames, they will agree that functional architecture is right. . . for colleges and everybody.

Sports Echoes

By Duncan Bennett

●SPRING MAY BE HERE, and spring practice for most sports is supposed to start Monday, weather permititng. Right now, however, it's a little too cold to tihnk of baseball, track, and tennis. Speaking of spring baseball practice, one of the fledgling pitchers was griping mad the other day because it was too cold to throw outdoors and intramurals and wrestling had the whole indoors occupied.

●BY THE TIME The Echo goes to press, football training for next fall's team will be under way. The meeting in Chapel last Thursday morning was to sign up for shoes and other trappings. Coach Davis will have the mill grinding at a more rapid pace soon.

●NEAL PEARSON, star staffer of Ye Highlande Echoe is to be thanked for his excellent labors on behalf of the great god statistic. Statistics, whether one believes that they mean a whole lot or not, are always interesting to look at; and, in some measure, it is true that they do show performance. However, it is always wise to remember that statistics are never the whole story of a basketball team or a government bureau.

●WHEN THE final statistical tables come rolling in it's the end of another season for sure. We missed it a little last week folks, but only by a bad break. Before the King and Emory and Henry games the Scots had a chance to break even for the '50 season—they finished up one game behind the mid-point when King took their last game by as close a score as it's possible to have.

●COACH "J.D." DAVIS took off the other afternoon with MC's top-notch wrestling team for the SEAAU meets. The boys are going to meet a lot of stiff competition down there from the individual members of teams they've met before, and from some they have probably never seen. The matches are sometimes arranged so that there is almost no rest between, and the men who come out with titles for the given weight classes really earn them. Coach Davis, before he left, seemed to be in a rather optimistic mood over Scot chances at the tourney. With some of the talent shown this year Maryville ought to come back with a couple of crowns.

●DEFINITE track and tennis information should be along by the time next week's issue of The Echo is published. Schedules are a little slow in taking shape for these sports, and really concentrated team practice has not yet started.

●CONSIDERABLE CONFUSFION has been engenered here on the hill over the non-existent swimming team. Last week we announced that Coach Leo Rayl of Alcoa was coming to take charge of Maryville's mermen. However, the swimming team was voted out of existence last semester, and there is no official swimming organization on campus.

For the benefit of those who want to swim, Coach Rayl will be here at the pool to give instruction, but Maryville will swim in no team meets this year. Individuals may enter the open individual invtational meet at U-T which is to be held March 25.

SCOTS TAKE KING 75-68; DROP TO WASPS 83-82

Emory & Henry

Maryville's Scotties took to the road for their last two games of the year and took back one defeat along with one victory. King was defeated by a 75-68 score, but Emory & Henry stung us, 83-82, in the best game of the season.

Not only was the last game the highest scoring game in which an MC quintet has played, it was the highest score ever racked up by a Scottie team since basketball was instituted at Maryville, save for two high school games back in the 1910's when MC came out on a long end of the score.

E.&H Hot and High

Emory & Henry also put away safely 83 points and the distinction of scoring the most points ever on a Highlander cage team. It was really a ball game.

A foul throw made with 20 seconds to go did it for the Wasps. Neither team was in command thoughout the game and the lead changed hands umpteen times during the fracas. Seeking revenge for the defeat handed to them earlier this year, Conley Snidow's Blue and Yellow sharpshooters weren't to be outdone.

Hamil Hashed Up

But the break of the night came when Hugh Hamil had to leave the game in the first half because of a sprained ankle. Defense was generally below par for both teams and Hamil's success in stopping the Wasp's fast break several times by himself paid huge dividends till the fatal step.

Boring, Dixon

From there on, it was practically a two-man show with Bob Boring and Sam Dixon of the Virginians staging a dual. The half time score of 47-42, E.&H., shows that the White Toppers weren't disposed at all to let the visiting Tennesseans run away with the ball game.

Fouls Are Foul

The Scots had to fight not only against the opposing quintet but also against the ever-present foul plague which once again was the ball game. Emory & Henry totalled 12 out of 16 in the second half to MC's four for nine and this was it.

The Scots were a little more successful in field goals, 35 to 32, but the free throws paid off in closing the curtains on another season.

SUBS—MC: Roberts, 6; Allen, 10; Lillard; Crisp; and Berrong. E&H: Davis, 8; Meblett; Cline 7; Kiser; and Hoback.

King

The night before wasn't so bad the day after, because the Scots took the wind out of the Tornadoes, 75-68. Grant Johnson's boys were out to make trouble and they did. The game was touch-and-go all the way with Maryville being in front the longest time at halftime, 42-40.

Johnson Jolts 'Em

Arlie Johnson was everything for the Bristol team. The little forward rang up 20 points in hanging up his shoes for the final time. What hurt was that Johnson did all his scoring (20 points) in the first half and to all purposes must have convinced his teammates that Maryville could be beaten.

However, in the second half, MC pulled ahead enough so that when their dear old friend, Five-Fouls, caught up with them, they coasted in. Pinched this time were Brahams, Keny, Boring, and Hamil, with Reynolds right behind with four.

MC 75	Pos.	King 68
Brahams, 8	F	Johnson, 23
Reynolds, 14	F	Byrd, 10
Keny, 8	C	Brady, 12

Hamli, 23	G	Butler, 8

SUBS—MC: Roberts, 2; Allen, 2; Lillard, Crisp, and Berrong. King: Briscoe, 1; Barron, 1; and Thomas.

Scotistics

Statistics show that Bob Boring and Hugh Hamil just about split honors in the different events for the past year. Boring was high man on the totem pole in scoring as he swished the nets for 333 points in 22 games for a average of 15.1 points per game. Boring was also top man in the field goal and free throw division.

Hamil at Home

Hamil was the best shot on the home floor. Hap Brahams was the best man in charity affairs in making 41 free throws for 55 tries and a 745 average.

Grandpa Leon Berrong, however, was perfect by virtue of swishing four-for-four against Tusculum.

Percentages

On a team basis, Maryville outpercentagized visiting quintets by chalking up 251 field goals, 797 shots and 502 points, while opposing squads made 208 two-pointers from 789 shots and 416 points. Percentage for the Scotties was .3149 and that for opponents, .2653.

Free Throws

At the free throw line, the Highlanders were out-pointed and out-averaged as other schools made 297 down-and-uppers from 498 chances for a commendable .598 average. Maryville's was 281 for 499 and .563.

In total scoring for the year though, her record was the other way around, Maryville scored 1355 points to other teams' 1311. In the matter of field goals, it was as expected, they connected on 539 while MC had 532 field goals to her credit.

Statistics for the year:

MC Grapplers Journey For Wrestling Tourney

Scots Take Vandy 16-13 For 7 of 9

Coach John A. Davis' team of wrestlers came from behind once again in capsizing Vanderbilt's Commodores, 16-13, at Vandy. The victory was the seventh in nine matches this season. Not only did the win finish up another fine season, but from this angle it looks like the Scot grapplers have State Title number thirteen just about sewed up.

To start things off, Jim Marvin ran into another brick wall when he met up with Bill Frierson. Frierson laid away a 4-2 decision which he picked up on riding time—each man eluding the other with reverses. Frierson had 4:24 on top while Marvin had a minute and a half.

A Tie

Travis Crews, who upset J. A. Cameron when the Vandy team wrestled in Alumni Gym with extra riding time, had none of the sort Saturday and had to be content with a draw. Crews had one takedown and 3.43 minutes on top while Cameron busted out twice and had one period of time on top.

Tom Yeaworth, who won at 145 against Jennings at Maryville, went in stale at 136 against Tom Anaston after a three week layoff and lost—also on riding time. Both men scored on reverses but Anaston had 4 minutes and 35 seconds time advantage to Yeaworth 1:20.

Tubby Tabs One

Tubby Callaway went after things fast in his encounter with the novice, Jennings, and quickly slammed out a pin in one minute and 40 seconds of the first period. The fatal hold was a crotch and half-nelson.

With the team score now at 8-7 in favor of Vandy, Lawrence Major came back to put MC in the top position by mainting himself in the top position on Wilbur Sensing for a one and three quarter minutes—one minute and 20 seconds longer than Sensing. Sensing had a reverse in the second period and Major had two escapes to make the decision rest on the amount of time each had.

Hersh Merriman went out in his match to widen the margin and did. Earl Hudson was the victim of a takedown but got out with a reverse. Beginning the second period with Hudson on top, Merriman strained his way out and was on top for two minutes of the second period and all of the third for a 6-2 win.

Palmer Palmed Off

Herb Palmer faced Emmet Putnam and walked off with six minutes riding time to 27 seconds for the latter. Fatboy also had a reverse to give him a -0 shutout.

Bob White flew like the bird of his name and pulled a reverse and an escape on Vandy's Bill Caldwell, but Dame Fate caught up with him. Caldwell, also possessing two reverses, had two takedowns on him and the last one was the fatal one. Caldwell applied a crotch and half nelson hold and got his pin in one minute of the final period.

Final score: MC—16, Vanderbilt—13.

Summary

121 Class—Frierson (V) decisioned Marvin (M), 4-2.
128 Class—Crews (V.) vs. Cameron (M), draw.
136 Class—Anaston (V) decisioned Yeaworth (M), 4-2.
145 Class—Callaway (M) pinned Jennings (V), 1:40.
155 Class—Major (M) decisioned Sensing (V), 3-2.
165 Class—Merriman (M) decisioned Hudson (V), 6-2.
175 Class—Palmer (M) decisioned Putnam (V), 4-0.
HW Class—Caldwell (V) pinned White (M), 7:00.

Intramurals....

By Rolfe Duggar

Badminton

A badminton clinic will be held in Bartlett Tuesday at one o'clock. All players must be there for an explanation of rules, scoring and technique.

Wrestling

After several changes of plans, the intramural wrestling tournament will get under way on Monday. Weigh-ins will be held during Monday morning, any time. First rounds begin on Monday afternoon 3:30.

Basketball Tournament

Globetrotters, seeded fifth, turned back the Ex-Scrubs in a grueling battle Wednesday afternoon to win the 1950 intramural basketball tournament. They turned back the second seeded team by a score of 25-22.

The game was kept clean by the referees, but fast play accounted for 33 fouls. The Globetrotters could score only 7 foul-shots out of a total of 15 tries. Ex-Scrubs, on the other hand, made 12 of their points on foul shots out of a possible 18.

Globetrotters turned back first seeded Whizzers Monday afternoon by a 30-20 count to gain the finals. Ex-Scrubs beat out a 33-25 triumph from the New Highs to enter the finals.

Other tournament games found the Whizzers turning back the surprising New Highs, 38-31, to take third place in the tournament. New Highs, an unseeded team, on the strength of Sug Handley's shooting ended up in fourth place. New High had previously beaten two seeded teams, YMCA and Shudas, to gain the semi-finals.

VOLLEY BALL

Winners of Tuesday's intramural volley ball games are Cavaliers, 16, Shamrocks, 14; Cavaliers, 7, Shamrocks 15; Cavaliers.

Matmen Are Off To SEAAU Meet

Eleven members of Maryville's wrestling squad left for Auburn the other day and the SEAAU Wrestling Tournament. Matches started last night and will end up tonight. If some of the Maryville wrestlers are seeded and given byes, things may turn out a bit easier for them, since the lower in the brackets you are, the more you have to wrestle. Time out between matches is from 5-minutes to an hour, depending on the rush.

Pull For Paul

For Maryville in the 115-pound class was Paul McNiell. McNiell lasted to the semi-finals last year, but he probably won't have to face George Owens of Chattanooga who won it last year. Owens has been wrestling in the 128 and 121 pound divisions this year, which should give Paul very good chance to win.

Jim Marvin will go in the 121 pound class and will be faced with some rough competition. J. A. Cameron lost out to Auburn's Sonny Dragoin in the semi-finals before the latter went on to win. It may run into him again this year.

A Tough Trio

At 136 pounds, Maryville will have a full house and might win it on the sheer basis of numbers. Chesley Anderson, Tom Yeaworth, and Jimmy Callaway, will represent MC and could conceivably win dup in an all-Maryville finals.

Tubby Callaway lost by a pin to Spider McKenzie in the finals last year, and McKenzie has beaten Callaway in a match this year, though Tubby was ahead of him on points when disaster overtook him.

Lawrence Major will represent the Highlanders in the 155's and should go further than the quarter finals to which he went last year.

Duo Due

Two men will go on the mats for Coach Davis in the 165 division. Hershel Merriman, the regular at that weight, lost to Smith last year in the finals but will not have to contend with him this year. Willard Rahn, who started out as MC's heavyweight has been sweating off so much poundage lately that he will go in the same class as Merriman.

Herb Palmer has definitely given up the idea of wrestling amongst the heavyweights and will go after the 175-pound laurels which he took two years ago. No heavyweights will go for MC.

Auburn Favored

Strongest contender for the team championship ribbon will be Auburn, which won the contest for the last three years, and which topped MC, Chattanooga, Georgia Tech and others that will be in that match.

Professors Favor Unsegregated Grad Training In South

Maryville College was listed in a recent issue of The Southern Patriot, which reported results of a poll taken among Southern educators on the elimination of segregation at the graduate level.

Of the 29 MC instructors polled,27 favored opening "existing graduate and professional schools to Negroes without segregation." Seventy per cent of all replies favored this plan.

Two Maryvillians supported the Southern Governor's Plan to "establish regional, segregated graduate schools for Negroes." Twenty-four percent of all answers were in favor of this system.

The poll was conducted by the Southern Conference Educational Fund, Inc. Its president is Aubrey Williams, editor of The Southern Farmer, and a former Maryville student. Vice president is Benjamin E. Mays, president of Morehouse College, and a speaker last year to Maryville's Faculty Club.

Four Freshmen Elected To Highland Echo Staff

Four freshmen were elected to the editorial staff of The Highland Echo this week by the student-faculty committee on publications.

Jimmy Britton, Greeneville, Tenn.; Trudy Furman, Mattituck, N. Y.; Claire Hoffman, Wilmington, Del.; and Mary Sue Munson, Falls Church, Va., were elected freshmen apprentices on Echo's staff following a four-week tryout period.

Britton and Miss Furman served on the irrespective high school paper staffs. The former edited Greenevill High's Crusader and the later was associate editor of The Mattitalk of the Mattituck High School on Long Island.

Faculty Hears Howell

Professor of Chemistry George D. Howell will speak to the Faculty Club Monday at its regular meeting in the Home Economics Rooms at 7:30 p.m.

He will use as his topic "Blood Will Tell."

Shew Reads At Workshop Plans Start For 'Chips'

John Shew is to read next Wednesday afternoon at the Writers' Workshop.

At this week's meeting, Janet Cummings read a short story, "Poverty," and Bill Starr gave "Love's Labors Lost," which was a story of the psychological murder type.

Plans are being made for "Chips," which is the Workshop publication published annually in the spring.

IRC To Hear 4 Discuss Welfare State Monday

"A Discussion of the Welfare State" will be the program theme at International Relations Club Monday night in Bartlett at 6:45. Paul McNeil, program chairman, will moderate for the session in which Ross Dooley, Rogan Cowan, and Duncan Bennett will participate.

Plans for the IRC regional convention at Madison College in Virginia will be discussed at the meeting.

Lloyd, Marshall, And Smith In Junior Recital

A Junior recital will be given at 4:30 Monday afternoon at the Chilhowee Clubhouse. Performers are Louise Lloyd, pianist, Evalyn Smith, soprano, and Carolyn Marshall, accompanist.

The program includes "Scenes by Childhood" by Robert Schumann, a group of songs by Brahms, "Andante" in F Major by Beethoven, three Venezuelan songs, three miniatures by Turina, and "Depuis le jour" (from "Louise"), by Charpentier.

Sophomores Play In Friday Recital

Two sophomores, Irene Launitz and Jodie Richardson, will be presented in recital at 4:30, Friday, March 10, at the Chilhowee Clubhouse. Both Miss Launitz and Miss Richardson are pupils of Professor Katherine C. Davies, Chairman of the Fine Arts Division.

Miss Launitz will play "Prelude in B flat Minor" by Bach, preludes nos. 1, 4, and 18 from Chopin's Opus 28, "Etude in C sharp Minor," Opus 2, by Scriabin, and "Marche," Opus 33 from the opera "Love of the Three Oranges" by Prokofieff.

Miss Richardson will render a three part invention by Bach ('No. 6 Allegro "alla gigue"), the Allegretto movement from Beethoven's Sonata Opus 10, No. 2; two preludes from Chopin's Opus 28, (Prelude in C sharp minor, no. 10, and Prelude in F sharp Major, no. 13); and the allegretto and andantino movements from Shostakovich's Opus 1.

Chillies Win Tourney; Intramural Square Dance

Winning team of Varsity basketball tournament are the Chillies. Last Tuesday the girls started swimming, which will last for two weeks. Beverly Musick is in charge.

After the swimming, the Varsity will have soft-ball, directed by Mae Meriweather and will finish the semester with track. Betty Jo Clemens is student director.

Girls' Intramurals will begin square dancing this week and will continue this program for the month of March. So far, they have practiced the Virginia Reel and a quadrille.

Future Teachers See Movie, Plan April Social

Future Teacher's Club saw a movie, "Parliamentary Procedure in Action," at their meeting Thursday night in Thaw 201. Grady Carroll outlined the movie's principal points and Mrs. D. S. Kramer, chapter sponsor, lead the discussion following the film.

Next FTA meeting date is March 16 at which time plans for a social for high school students and prospective club members for early April will be completed, club president Ray Kirby announced.

VOLUME 35 MARYVILLE, TENNESSEE, MARCH 11, 1950 MARCH 11,1950

Alice, MC Visit In Wonderland

Dance Names Officials For Spring Pageant

"Alice in Wonderland" will be the theme of 1950 May Day Pageant, produced by Maryville College Fine Arts Division in cooperation with Maryville College Playhouse and Muses, it was announced this week by Jim Dance, Social Board chairman.

Herman Middleton, drama department, will direct the pageant; Charlotte Johnson, art department, will supervise scenery and art work; Geneva Robinson, home economics department, will supervise the costumes construction; and Evelyn Queener, physical education department, will organize the dances.

Men's Glee Club and All Girl Choir will sing under the direction of W. Curtis Hughes, with Dorothy Horne, music department, as music advisor. Carolyn Blair of the English department will be in charge of May Queen coronation.

Cast of "Alice in Wonderland" will include Lois Doebler, a dancer, as Alice whose adventures are the theme of Lewis Carroll's book. Original music and adaptations have been done by Fred Sieber who will be accompanied by Thelma Nelson, music department, on a twin piano. John Sayre will be rehearsal pianist.

"Alice" will contain many of the characters and scenes from the original book, including live chess people, living deck of cards, Alice's going through the looking glass, White Rabit, mad tea party, and Jabberwocky bird. Lobster quadrille, waltz of the flowers, and traditional May Pole will be among the dances.

Sieber's original music will be supplemented with melodies from Tchaikowsky's Children's Suite. Dorothy Vawter, music department, is the business and publicity manager.

Blount Farmers Dine In Pearsons

The annual meeting and dinner of the Blount County Farmers' Association will be held Monday evening at 7 p.m. in Pearsons dining hall.

At the meeting, the Directors of the Farm Bureau and the Home and Community Chairmen will be elected. The guest speaker will be Dr. H. S. Randolph of the Department of Rural Church USA.

C. C. Proffitt, the secretary of the Association, is in charge of the program, and approximately 600 people are expected to be at the meeting, which has been held at the College for the past several years. About 40 co-eds will wait on the tables during the dinner.

Brown, Shimomura Will Attend Regional IRC

Bob Brown and Lincoln Shimomura will represent MC's International Relations Club at the South Atlantic IRC Regional Conference being held at Madison College, Harrisburg, Va., on March 17 and 18.

There are four round table discussions at the meeting. In the discussion on "The New Far East" Lincoln Shimomura will read a paper on "The Role of Japan and Korea in the Future of Asia."

Bob Brown will present his paper "Revitalizing Christianity" in the discussion "Means of Insuring World Peace." The other two discussions are "The Expansion of Communism" and "The Problems of Western Europe and the Near East."

YMCA WILL HEAR MARQUIS

The YMCA program for tomorrow will be a talk by Mrs. Marquis, "English Cathedrals." This was to have been the program for last Sunday's meeting but was postponed because of Open House.

There will be special music and all members are welcome.

Fred Hope Fund Pledge Payments Still Short of Mark

Maryville students and faculty have a balance of $500 to fill in order to meet individual pledges to this year's Fred Hope Fund, it was announced this week by the fund treasurer.

With approximately two months remaining in the academic year, more than 75 per cent of the fund goal has been reached. Payments to date amount to $1300 of a total of $1800 pledged.

Pledges are payable at the Printing Office, first floor Anderson, between 8 and 5. The $1300 now received should be raised to the $1800 goal by May 17 by the completion of the individual pledges before that date.

The fund, although named for its first recipient, Fred Hope, will be used for the support of Mary Edna Smith, who is now teaching in the Hong Kong Branch of the True Light Middle School in Hong Kong, China, under the direction of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions.

Miss Smith is an MC graduate of the class of '48. Her home is in Grove City, Pennsylvania. During her student days at Maryville she was active in Student Vols, IRC, and Bainonian. Following her graduation in May, 1948, she attended the Outgoing Conference of the Presbyterian Church, USA, for short-term missionaries and arrived at Fuh Siang Girl's School in Changsha, China, on September 13. On Thanksgiving Day she was forced to flee southward by the approach of the Communists.

Her next assignment was at the American School in Shanghai where she remained until February 18, 1949, when she was again forced to move by the nearness of the Communists. From Shanghai she was sent to the Canton branch of the True Light School. Then in September, 1949, Communist threat forced her to move for the third time. This time she was assigned to the Hong Kong Branch of the True Light School, where she is now located.

News Capsules—

By Dick Newman

ON THE BANDWAGON

Senator McCarthy (R., Wis.) jumped on the red-scare bandwagon this week, accusing former State Department official Dorothy Kenyon of having "coolaborated" with 28 alleged Communist-front organizations. 62-year-old spinster Kenyon said she'd never heard of most of the organizations, admitted having made speeches to all kinds of groups 'including Republicans."

ON WITH THE WAR

Dean Acheson disclosed Thursday that Western Big 3 foreign ministers will probably meet in April or May in connection with a conference of the 12-nation North Atlantic Pact Council. The important Cold War strategy confab will probably take place in Paris.

ON WHICH SIDE

Senate approved Wednesday the bill to take federal taxes off oleomargarine. Only the President's signature is now necessary and Mr. Truman is on record for tax removal. Wisconsin Senator Wiley forsaw "grass. . . in the streets of industrial regions" but the general consensus is that it's a pretty good thing.

ON GENEROSITY

Winnie Churchill offered victorious British Labourites a truce Tuesday, asking that the government not try to implement steel nationalization until after the next general election. Liberal leader Davies saw "no point" in the suggestion and House Leader Morrison took a dim view of the whole thing.

ON JOE'S PAYROLL

Former Department of Justice employee Judy Coplon was found guilty of spying for the Soviet Union this week, as was a third secretary of the Soviet Ministry of Foreign Affairs named Gubitchev. Government prosecutors hailed the convictions as a warning against subversive activities and a vindication of illegal FBI wire-tapping. Defense attorneys announced plans for appeals.

DANCE HOSTS NAMED

Nightly dance hosts for the coming week will include Ray Smith, Dick Norris, Peggy Sangster and Maynard Noble, social committee sub-chairman Mary Mills has announced.

Scribe Finds Drama Workshop's Improvisations Are Interesting

By Hugh McSpadden

On a visit to the drama workshop on the third floor of Bartlett this week, I was impressed by the flurry of activity in the construction of scenery for "Hedda Gabler," MC Playhouse's forthcoming production.

In the workshop some students were painting the "flats" for the walls in Hedda Gabler" in a mid-Victorian style; others were making new props, such as the fireplace; and others were mixing paints.

The paints used on the flats is the regular theatrical paint which is purchased as dry pigment in eight colors and black and white. From these ten pigments any needed color may be prepared.

Papier-mache

Another interesting work is in the making of papier-mache. Strips of newspapers are dipped in glue, pressed into the shape desired, and left to dry. After the papier-mache is thoroughly dry, it is painted in the desired color. Uses of papier-mache this semester have included the stump in "Down in the Valley," which was a barrel covered with finished papier-mache; the heart, telephone stand, and chair in "The Theatre of the Soul," which were nothing more than wood and chicken-wire frame with papier-mache covering; and other forms which will be used for door decorations in "Hedda Gabler."

Problems In Staging

With the great variety in types of Experimental and Playhouse productions, the workshop is faced with many problems of set construction. "Laura" was very modernistic while "Gammer Gurton's Needle" was 16th century English. "Happy Journey" used no scenery and "The Theatre of the Soul" used expressionistic props. "The Boy Comes Home" was early 20th century.

Variety and Ingenuity

Next week's "Hedda Gabler" has a mid-Victorian setting and the commencement production, "Joan of Lorraine" will be similar to 'Down in the Valley" in the use of only enough scenery to suggest a location. While this range of background scenery makes the productions more appealing to the audiences, it taxes the ingenuity of the workshop crews in setting up the required scenes.

"General manager" of the workshop is Dave Reed, who serves as student assistant to the drama director, Herman Middleton. Keeping records on all equipment in process, loaned or rented out is a major duty of the student assistant.

Some of the newest additions in the way of equipment to the drama properties include the lighting effects, especially the variac dimmer. With these dimmers any degree of light intensity may be obtained. They were of particular importance in three productions this semester when the lighting was made to fade on in one area and fade out in another.

Drama workshop maintains a regular schedule each week from 1:30 to 4:30 on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays and is open to any one who wishes to help.

MC Debate Squad In Forensic Meet On March 20, 21

Four Squads Place Third In Hickory Tournament

MC varsity debators will journey to Pi Kappa Delta Tournament in Athens, Ga., March 20-21. Those making the trip will be Eric Meadows, Carl Lindsay, Roger Cowan, Tom Kennedy, Dorothy Stater, Elenor Kramer, Carolyn Miller, and Carol Corbett.

Four debate squads took third place in South Atlantic Debate Tournament held at Lenoir-Rhyne College in Hickory, N .C., March 2-4. Women's affirmative team was composed of Carolyn Miller and Carol Corbett; women's negative, Ruth Reeves and Elenor Kramer. Tom Kelly and Tom Kennedy were on men's affirmative and Roger Cowan and Eric Meadows on men's negative.

Individual prizes were held by Carol Corbett, placing first in women's oratory and Carolyn Miller, second. Roger Cowan took first place in situation oratory. Carolyn Miller placed first in women's after-dinner speaking, while Eric Meadows was second in men's after-dinner speaking.

A non-decision debate was held here Monday night, March 6, with visiting debators from Waynesburg College, Waynesburg, Pa., on the national question of nationalization of basic industries.

AAUW Presents Exhibit Of Early Reproductions

Maryville chapter of AAUW will present a loan exhibit from the Museum of Modern Art in New York on the Maryville campus. This display of reproductions of early American painting will be in the Library beginning April 3 through April 17. Professor Gertrude Meiselwitz is president of the sponsoring Maryville group.

A town and college cooperative movement will bring an art display to the Library on April 18 to May 1. Mrs. Charles West is president of the Junior Chilhowee Club which is sponsoring the exhibit.

School Official Speaks To FTA Club Thursday

Elsie Burrell, supervisor of Blount County Schools, will speak at FTA meeting, Thursday evening, March 16, at 6:45 in Thaw 201. Miss Burrell, a graduate of Middle Tennessee State College and the University of Tennessee, has had broad experience in the education field and has participated in MC's Teachers' Workshops. Her subject will be "Teaching as a Profession."

Final plans will be made for a social, April 6, for high school FTA Clubs and prospective members. Ray Kirby, FTA president stated.

Senorita Emilia Moralies Speaks At Spanish Club

"Colombia, her customs, people, and resources" was the general theme spoken on before the Spanish Club, Thursday, by Emilia Moralies Afanados, a student from Colombia attending UT. Sneaking in Spanish before the club she also spoke about the resources and schools and showing the many differences in life here and there.

Miss Moralies was accompanied here by her mother and Silvio Clark, UT student from Cuba, in the program held in the Y rooms. Refreshments were served after a question and answer period in which members and Miss Moradies participated.

Archie Swartztrauber, Spanish Club president, announced that the next meeting will be a joint meeting with the French and German clubs on March 30 when Club International will be held.

DISC CLUB HEARS SHELTON DISCUSS HARRIS SYMPHONY

"Symphony No. 3." by Roy Harris, will be featured at Disc Club's meeting this Thursday, March 16. Commentator is Wayne Shelton. The meeting is to be held in room 21, Anderson, at 7 p.m.

Players To Stage 'Gabler' 2 Nights

Playhouse Group Sets Alumni Gym At 8 For Henrik Ibsen's Psychological Drama

By Barbara Wallin

"Hedda Gabler," spring production of the Maryville Playhouse will be presented Friday and Saturday nights, March 17 and 18, at 8 p.m. in the Alumni Gym. The cast is headed by Margie Newland, who plays the title role, and Bill Starr, who portrays Hedda's husband, George Tesman.

Miss Newland, a senior English major from Flint, Michigan, has been cast in such plays as "Enchanted Cottage," "Papa Is All," "Pipes of Dunbar," and "The Widow's Plight." She is also active in Theta Alpha Phi, Experimental Theatre, The Muses, and Theta Epsilon.

Starr is a junior English major from Balitmore, Md., and has taken leading parts in "The Merchant of Venice," and "Ten Little Indians." He, too, is active in Experimental Theatre and Theta Alpha Phi.

Supporting Cast

Supporting players are Dorothy Holverson, senior English major from Monticello, Ind., as Mrs. Elvsted, and Sara Jo Emert, dramatic arts major from Maryville, as Aunt Juliana. Both have done work in past Playhouse productions.

Ben Paxton, dramatic arts major from Pleasant Ridge, Mich., will play the part of Eilert Lovborg. Paxton is president of Playhouse and Theta Alpha Phi. Bob Holley, junior English major from Dover, N.J., is cast as Judge Brack. Grace Myers, who plays the part of Berta, is a freshman from West Springfield, Pa.

The play is directed by Herman Middleton of the Fine Arts department. Assistant director Anne Gates is a senior English major from Fulton, Mo. She has participated in Experimental Theatre plays and on production crews for "Papa Is All." "Laura," and "Wuthering Heights."

Character Study

"Hedda Gabler" is a character study which shows a woman maladiusted to her environment. The little comedy contianed in it adds to making it extremely an difficult play to produce.

Hedda, gay in her youth, is now in her early thirties and feels her heyday is over. Married to a middle class scholar, George Tesman, she is now dissatisfied with him and doesn't like her home.

She has idealized Eilert Lovborg and thinks of him as having "vine leaves" in his hair, as did Dionysius, the Greek god of virility. Lovborg is a likeable young man with a questionable past.

Hedda keeps him within her grasp because she always wanted destinv. She toys with him, urging him to kill himself. Suspense and romance are carefully woven into the plot.

Play Committees

Ed Vanderslice will act as stage manager with Jim Townsend as assistant, business manager is Charles Gahagan. Dave Reed and George Barber will handle the lighting. Script and sound effects will be in charge of Austin Van Pelt.

Other play committees are, properties, Bobbie Porter, chairman. Mary Wilkes; make-up, John Ferris, chariman, Beverly Moore and Dot Stater; programs, Ray Kuhn, chairman. Jim Dance; ticket sales, Archie Swarztrauber, chairman, Joe Poland, Evelyn O'Dell, and Norma Lou Loetz; publicity, Phyllis Jackson, chairman, Ben Gearhart, Sally Booth and Miriam Chahbandour; costumes, Marsha Beebe, chairman, Diana Mirshak, Norma Boyd.

In this production, the Maryville Playhouse is cooperating with the Tennessee Delta chapter of Theta Alpha Phi, local sponsor of International Theatre Month during March. "Hedda Gabler" will culminate the participation which began with "Boy Comes Home' 'and "Theatre of the Soul."

All seats will be reserved and admission will be 60 cents.

National Cathedral Canon Wedel Speaks At Chapel

Speaker in next Thursday's chapel is to be the Rev. Canon Dr. Theodore O. Wedel, Warden of the College of Preachers in Washington Cathedral.

A former professor of English, Dr. Wedel left teaching in 1929 to become a clergyman in the Protestant Episcopal Church. In 1939 he was appointed canon of Washington Cathedral and has been Warden of the College of Preachers since 1942.

Before entering the ministry, he was author of "The Medieval Attitude toward Astrology" and edited an edition of Addison's essays.

Dr. Wedel's master's is from Harvard, his Ph.D. from Yale. He holds the degree of doctor of sacred theology from Seabury-Western Seminary.

'Brotherhood,' 'Missions' Themes at Sunday School

Two of the Maryville churches will feature "Missions" topics, with another featuring "Brotherhood," tomorrow at the Sunday School hour.

First Baptist Sunday School leaders this week are John Lanev, devotions and Jack Waka, scripture reading. Special music is by Larry Wallace. The theme of the service is "Brotherhood."

Dr. Dorothy Ferris, MC graduate who is now serving as a missionary in India, will be the speaker at First Methodist Sunday School tomorrow. John Ferris, brother of Dr. Ferris, is in charge of the program and George Day is guest song leader.

At St. Andrew's Episcopal Sunday School tomorrow, Dr. George K. Davies will speak on Home Missions. Ross Dooley is the soloist.

Grace Osborne is the leader at New Providence Sunday School this week. Others in the program are Russell Owens, prayer; Jessie Lou Emerson, pianist; Lesta Merrick, special music; and Charles Williams, song leader.

Richard Thom is the leader of the Sunday School services tomorrow at Broadway Methodist Church. Irene Launitz will play the special music.

Tau Kappa Chi Members French Club Thursday

"La Surprise o'Isidore," a one act comedy set in a mental hospital, was presented at French Club's meeting Thursday, March 9, in Andreson 206.

The cast included Walter Chambers as Isidore, John Harris as Adolphe Picard, Hazel Wood as Suzanne, Nancy Russell as Mme. Duval, and Sue Althouse as Jeanne.

Athenian, Bainonian Societies Square Dance

Athenian and Bainonian will square dance tonight at 6:15 in the Alumni Gymnasium.

Music will be recorded and Ben Russell of Maryville will call the dances.

At Council -

Constitutional Revision, Traffic Report Heard

Student Council passed on the rewording of Article VIII, section 3 of the student body constitution. This is concerned with the representation on the council publications committee and, along with other revisions passed last Wednesday, must pass the Executive council of the faculty before final ratification by student body vote.

Topics for discussion before the student body in chapel have been presented to Dean F. D. McClelland, who is working on them. Persons who will participate in the discussions are still to be chosen.

The recommendation for a traffic light at the intersection of Lamar and Court Street was presented by Herbert McCallum to Police Chief Bluford. It was reported that the Maryville police department was to study the problems to make recommendations to the city council.

Parlor dating on town night was recognized as a privilege and the rules for other nights remain in effect on Tuesdays. Between 9:30 and 10:30, however, it is not necessary to sign for the parlor.

Council's meeting closed with refreshments served by Mrs. Carmen Marquis, Student Center director.

'Romanticism' Is Topic For Muses

"Romanticism in the Arts" is the topic to be presented by the Muses in Bartlett Auditorium Monday, March 13, at 7 p.m. Music, poetry, and painting are the fields being represented in the Romantic Period.

Several poems illustrating the romantic poetry characteristics will be read by Sara Jo Emert, dramatics art major, and commented on by Miss Jessie K. Johnson, assistant professo rin English.

Professor Katharine C. Davies of the Fine Arts Division will discuss the romantic mood in music expression using Chopin's music for illustration.

Miss Charlotte B. Johnson, art instructor, will illustrate the romantic expression in art with several French paintings.

Dr. Dorothy Ferris Will Speak Tomorrow at Vols

Dorothy Ferris, MC '28, now a missionary in India will speak of her work there at Student Vols tomorrow night following Vespers in Bartlett Auditorium.

There will also be special music as well as group singing.

Dr. Ferris spoke in chapel this morning.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR of campus-wide interest will be given consideration only if signed. Such letters should show thoughtful, representative criticism or appreciation on subjects of general interest. The editor reserves the right to edit letters for convenience of publiction. In certain cases, names may be withheld in publication.

Representatives Abroad

If extra-curricula activities may be classed as "sidelines" for institutions of higher learning whose main functions are to educate along a prescribed curriculum, there are many advantages in such sidelines doing constructive work. Perhaps the most prominent tasks ofthese sidelines is to reflect the program and leadership of the college and to exhibit to the public examples of the capabilities of the student body.

Many sideline programs represent Maryville in the community, to neighboring schools, and in regional events. They touch every phase of the college curriculum: the newly-organized deputation teams will represent the college's program in surrounding community churches; the choirs, and other musical and fine arts groups are engaged in many off-campus productions; the debators represent a part of the Maryville program at various meets; athletic teams—both in mapor and minor sports—have numerous out-of-town contests; and other organizations have members or faculty-student groups which made off-campus appearances.

A college is known to many circles by the calibre of its undergraduates representatives who enter in the several activities which compete with other colleges or simply provide entertainment and/or enlightment away from the campus.

Maryville should be proud of its "representatives abroad" and each representative should remember the dutiful obligation of representing the best of Maryville to the public at large.

A Gallev of Types

Not everybody in his short college career has the ability to become a drip. For the benefit of those who are desirous of the title of "Public Mess No. 1" the following galley of types is presented:

Type one: Let us designate him as the Let-me-tell-you student. He never asks a question; he always tells one to the teacher. In the guise of seeking information he subtly passes on a cherished bit of useless knowledge he has picked up and hopes he has left the impression that he is the Informed One. Method of handling: Never tell him anything, for he already knows; never ask him anything, or you will have a long beard by the time he is finished.

Type two: This we shall call the Chinese philosopher, On Too Long. Give him a word to spell and he will make an oration out of it. Ask him a question and you receive an encyclopediac answer. Ask him to add two and two and he comes out with a syposium on the abstract qualities of counting with a base two. Method of handling: Don't.

Type three: Commonly known as the Cave Man, he is thoroughly convinced in the mastery of Brawn over Brain. He needs only enough algebra to tell him how to measure his biceps; his history consists of all the important facts concerning every pugilist since the days of Cicero, but try asking him who fought in the Revolutions! None of this sissified study for him—let him show his prowess on the gym floor. Method of handling: Keep all glass jaws well protected and wear a sturdy pair of diamond studded brass knuckles.

Type One-A—Neither a radical nor wishy-washy but a staunch middle-of-the-roader who will defend his views but respects those of others. His education consists not of a smattering of a little of everything and a lot of nothing, but his studying is done in earnest with the best intentions in mind. He doesn't mind having a little fun, but molasses down a fellow's back isn't his idea of fun. Method of treatment: Make friends with this one, brother—you may not find his like again. Cultivate his friendship and lend a helping hand.

—The Babbler, David Lipscomb College.

Scots & Soda

Scots and Soda

All was peaceful and looking very scrubbed and under-inspectionish on Saturday and Sunday during Open House. A few stolen glimpses of what was swept under the rug, shoved under the bed, or hidden in the closet proved a lot of it to be five-minute-before stuff. But from the very first male to cross into the inner sanctum of Memorial Hall to the very last one to taste the strange brew served in Pearsons lobby, fun was the general idea. For a few indellible reminders of what went on, there are some priceless photos around. What were you doing?

Waste baskets, paper-lined and full of popcorn. . . walls adorned with you-know-whos. . . . waxed floors and grinning hosts. . . . all received admiring glances and, in some cases, averted eyes in Carnegie, A few awards go to the Kirby-Kuhn room with its red, red bed, the Neff-Taylor room with its art treasures, the Flood-Kelly room with its assorted refreshment ads, and the Cowan-Packard-Holley room with its rare collection of New Jersey stalagmites.

Prediction

As this is the miscellaneous column, we feel free to stick our necks out and predict an early end to the Canasta craze and the advent of a new game called Duel. Duel, or Bridge carried to its logical conclusion, is enjoying considerable success up north and is bound to hit us soon.

Thanks, "Cosmos"

One big advantage to a movie date, according to Coe College's "Cosmos," is that it gives you something to do while eating popcorn. With the recent avalanche of new Broadway releases at the Capitol, we doubt whether other activity is needed to ease the strain of a movie.

"She doesn't always think about men. But when she thinks, she thinks about men."

"Most children don't mean to be mischievous, just destructive."

One Fifth Guessing

This week still leaves us wondering how, and why there were a dozen or so cases which, according to the labels, contained some questionable refreshment stacked outside the treasurer's office.

Post Script

As an after-thought on a letter to her Maryville college son, an enterprising mother added "was going to send you the ten dollars you asked for but had this letter mailed before I thought of it."

Women Wanted

A call for "blond, beautiful, and brazen women" was issued by the Waynesburg debators who were visiting here over the week-end. The three out on a sight-seeing tour during Open House hours at Carnegie, left note cards on their desk, asking for filler for their little back books. Wonder how they made out and who the conceited girls were?

Oh, Charlie, My Boy

That's quite a "shiner" Charlie Schroeder is sporting this week. We wonder if Alice had as much to do with it as did the bleachers in the gym.

What Was It?

That strange phenomenon sitting at one of the front tables during lunch the other day was not something Dr. Ferris brought back from India. It was Margie Newland (plug-star of "Hedda Gabler," given here on campus the 17th and 18th—tickets 60 cents) under the kerchief and crew hat, trying to guarantee that she would have curls for a publicity picture taken that afternoon.

Poll Number 999

Everyone has views on just what the dream girl or boy should be like but few know where to find that elusive character. We asked unsuspecting students just "What Are The Specifications For The Man or Woman In Your Life?"

Marty Kincaid: "I'm not proud!"
Claude Cowan: "What on earth?"
Marion McBride: "A stranger!"
Jim Thurston: "Green eyes."
Mag Warren: "Just a man, I guess."
Tubby Callaway: "I don't know!"
Dot Holverson: "What in the world is that?"
George Ogle: (loud sneer).
Betty Hunter: "A brain in his head and I don't mean half way, either."
Jim Latham: "What am I doing now?"
Carol Corbett: "Just so he's in my life only."
Paul Kidder: "What a question!"
Carl Lindsay: (lighting up like a flourescent lamp) "Is this an Echo poll?"
Sally Kemp: "I've yet to find out."
Janet Kilgren: "Good heavens, he's got to have humor."
Mary Holly Webb: "Red hair!"
George Stanfill: "What do you want me to tell you for?"

What A Ghastly Thought

Chuck Holsinger breathlessly told his tablemates that WSGA had removed all the benches from campus lawns. "It's true, it's true," he assured the doubters. He breathed easier when he found out that the benches were merely being painted in anticipation of the busy spring season just around the corner.

Talk of The Week

—BY BOB KEES

Voices, Masks, and Shadows

MOVIES

Blond and stupid, "My Friend Irma" (Marie Wilson) is just as her radio fans would have her—alluringly dumb. Monday and Tuesday at the Capitol she will be found keeping the butter in the oven, the egg beater under a sofa cushion and fouling up plans of John Lund and Diana Lynn nicely. Since all ends happily, one concludes that stupidity is merely the longest way round to happiness.

Recreated on the Capitol screen Wednesday through Friday is the legendary battle of World War 2, Batle of the Bulge. M-G-M has transformed its glamor boys, Johnson, Hodiak, Murphy, Courtland and others into sweaty, muddy, dejected soldiers to play "Battleground."

The story follows some riflemen from an airborne division into battle, where they have to fight knee-deep in snow, surrounded by an enemy whose white-robed patrols loom up like ghosts to attack them.

Both cynical and sentimental, the film is best recreating the gripes, fears, heroism and sudden death of the ordinary soldier of the last—or any other—war.

BOOKS

Gracing the new book table this week is a collection of tried and true international epistles mingled with business enterprise and art reproductions. "Soviet Russia Since the War" by the Very Reverend Dr. Hewlett Johnson, Dean of Canterbury, is another in the series of "let's understand our neighbors."

It deals with "many and various aspects of Soviet civilian life and concludes with a discussion of Russia's relation to her immediate neighbors and to the outer world in general."

In two volumes is a military study of the Civil War by Kenneth P. Williams entitled "Lincoln Finds a General." Grant is the general. It might be grounds for a yankee-rebel feud.

French culture has made its way to the bok table with a series of reproductions of Rubens. It's an inspiring and worthwhile addition. The illustrations, however, are not titled, leaving the laymen to guess.

Continuing across Europe, we find a unique paper-cover mistle of Spain, entitled "Esperar Contra todo Esperanra" by Hugo Wast. To read between the pages one will need a pair of scissors or razor blade.

Also included among the new books is a technicolor bit of propaganda published by the Chrysler Corporation of Detroit, Michigan called "Mobilized." Others include "Contemporary Thinking about Paul by Kepler, more French engravings compiled by Roger and Marx, "The American Nation," a text by John D. Hicks, and East Tennessee State's Alumni Rostrum.

"Cheaper by the Dozen" addicts will be pleased to know they can now read of the life of its author. "Frank and Lillian Gilbreth, Partners for Life" by Edna Yost will not cause chuckles from the depth of the armchair, but for interesting reading of the progress of management it might be worth of spare moment.

U-T CONCERT

Four hundred extra chairs were used to bring the U-T auditorium to a maximum capacity last Monday night for the "greatest single concert in Knoxville's musical history." Lauritz Melchoir and Helen Traubel, singing major excerpts from Wafner's "Tristan und Isolde" with the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra, thrilled many MC'ers. Reports are that Melchoir had a cold, but by the third act, he had warmed up sufficiently and did a magnificent job.

LITTLE THEATRE

"The Bat," an adoption of Mary Roberts Rineheart's novel "The Circular Staircase," was presented last night by the Alcoa Litle Theater. A three-act mystery-comedy by Avery Hopwood, the plot centered around scared servants, mysterious criminal bats, and delicious murders. Stanley Phillips of the Division of Social Sciences ably contributed to its success.

ALLEN TIDBIT

Refusing to join the stampede to television, Fred Allen said, "Pioneers never make any money. Take Daniel Boone. He went through all those forests and did not make a dime. Then the lumber companies came in and cleaned up."

FOR NEW YORKERS

Leonard Bernstein's "Agé of Anxiety" won an ovation from the audinece but the N.Y. Times critic found it "wholly exterior" . . . The Dessoff Chorus under Paul Boepple, gave a "vastly moving" performance of Bach's "St. John Passion," with Leslie Chabay being outstanding as the Evangelist. . . . outstanding recitals were given by pianists Robert Casadesus and 'cellist Edmund Kurtz. . . Robert Goss used his baritone voice with finesse in a program of American songs. . . The New Friends of Music completed its fourteenth season and announced it would feature Schubert, Haydn, Bach and assorted contemporairies in 1950-51.

FRENCH WISDOM

French novelist and philosopher Francois Mauriac claims "It is not what separates the U.S. and the Soviet Union that should frighten us, but what they have in common. Those two technocracies that think themselves antagonists are dragging humanity in the same direction of dehumanization."

Dr. Dorothy Ferris Speaks At Vespers

Dr. Dorothy Ferris, medical missionary to India, will speak in the College Vesper Service tomorrow night at 7, Lamar Library.

A graduate of Maryville in the class of '28, Dr. Ferris is head of Ferozepur, India, Hospital. She was appointed to India in 1935.

After leaving MC, she took her medical degree at the University of Cincinnati College of Medicine. She did additional work at Columbia University.

MC senior John Ferris is her brother.

Men's, Women's Dorms Observe Open House

MSO and WSGA sponsored open house was held for the third consecutive year last Saturday and Sunday.

Rosemary Gamble and Pat Love supervised WSGA refreshments at Pearsons, while Louise Lloyd and Happy Huddleston attended to decorations there.

Carnegie's receiving line consisted of E. E. McCurry, supervisor of Carnegie, Mrs. McCurry, Mrs. Katherine Kolter, Carnegie housemother, and Ray Holsey, MSO president. Refreshments were in Bob Holley's charge, Dave Reed supplied music, and Tom Kees looked after the maintenance committee.

Women's dorms were open Saturday night, and men's were opened Sunday afternoon.

Sports Echoes

By Rolfe Duggar

●OUR HEARTIEST congratulations go to Henry (Tubby) Callaway who, after trying for four years, finally hit the top and he rightly deserves it too. To most Scot fans he has been the tops, but until this year's SAAU tournament he had not attained outside top honors. This year brings to a close his colorful career which started back in prep school at Baylor and stretched over four years here at Maryville.

●TUBBY MET only one defeat this year, that at the hands of Spider McKenzie of Auburn. However Tubby received a chance to get back at Spider in the finals of the SAAU and really tore into him. In Tubby's sophomore and junior years he came within a win of winning the 145 pound title. Now with the title, and cup for outstanding wrestler of the tournament, Tubby can retire in full glory.

●THE OTHER BOYS who made up the wrestling team deserve a hearty slap on the back for a job well done. This goes double for the seniors who, for the most part, have finished their wrestling days. These are Hershell Merriman, Jimmy Marvin, Paul McNiel, Lawrence Major and Callaway. These, with those who will be back next year, certainly gave Scot fans a fine wrestling season.

●SCOT BASEBALL fans can look forward to a whale of ball season if Coach Honaker can find a few good pitchers in the "rookie" crop. Leon Berrong and Jim Kren, last year's returning lettermen, should carry the blunt of the pitching chores, but they will need some support with the tough schedule Coach Honaker has arranged. With all the other positions filled by returning veterans the diamonders should improve their better-than-average record of last year, a 13 won and 7 lost slate.

●WITH A LITTLE of that good warm sunshine that Maryville is famous for the team should whip into fine shape in no time. They open the season March 31 and April 1 against the Red-Skins from Miami University (Oxford, Ohio) who dropped the Scots twice last year., 10-4 and 3-2.

●NOW THAT TENNIS practice has started (when the weather permits) the net-men can start looking forward to what we hope is a bright future. All but two of last year's team are back with plenty of good freshman talent trying to climb up the ladder. aLst year the Scots roared through nine meest to come out undefeated. This year's schedule has been altered and should provide a little more punch, especially with UT as a practice match. Chattanooga might be a real threat this year wih Volgers, who last year gave the racquetmen a real tussle when he played for Tennessee Wesleyan, on the team. The Scots last met Chattanooga in 1948 when they dropped two to the Mocs, 5-4 and 6-1.

●IN PASSING we wish to note that from here on in the Athletic Board of Control will be known by its right name, the Executive Committee o fthe Athletic Association. At the last meeting of the ABC (now the ECAA) Dean McClelland brought up the fact that it is not a board of control and therefore should go by its constituional name.

BADMINTON

Badminton singles are lined up this year with thirty-two trying for top place. Two out of three games is a victory. Fifteen points is a game. All first rounds must be played off by March 20. You may secure rackets and shuttlecocks from the equipment room. Clyde McCampbell, Ric Rogers, Chesley Anderson, Wesley Miles and Rolfe Duggar make up the Badminton Committee. The seeded list is Chesley Anderson, Wesley Miles, Clyde McCampbell, and Glenn Gage.

WRESTLING

The intramural wrestling tournament ended Wednesday after enthusiastic participation by wrestlers and spectators. In the 128 pound class were Jones, McCampbell, Thruston and Bright. Jones beat McCampbell and Bright beat Thurston. Bright took the championship over Jones in the finals.

In the 136 pound class were Rasdell, Farmer, and Mac Donald. Farmer beat Rasdell. , Mac Donald took the championship over Farmer in the finals.

In the 145 pound class were Bendon, Frain, and Maeir. Frain beat Bendon. Frain took the champion over Maier in the finals.

In the 155 class were Poland, Medford, and McKee. Poland beat Medford. Poland took the Championship over McKee in the finals.

In the 175 class were Poole, Bailey ,and Lambert. Bailey beat Pole. Lambert took the championship in the final over Bailey.

In the 165 pound class were Duffy, Richer, and Earisman. Duffy beat Earisman. Earisman took the championship over Duffy in the finals.

In the heavy weight final Bob Proffit took the championship over Robert White.

VOLLEY BALL

In the Orange League the Cavilears and the Nine Balls are leading with both holding three wins. In second place are the Athenian Olympics.

The Prodigals are leading the Garnet League with three wins over the Yo Yos, the Faculty, and the Simple Six following up with two wins each.

Be sure to check the Volley Ball schedule posted in Bartlett for game times and dates.

Scot Tennis Team Begins Workouts

Maryville's Scot tennis team is organizing under Coach Kenneth Johnson for the spring court season. A ten-game schedule has been arranged with a practice "warm-up" meet with the Orange and White U-T racquetmen on March 24 at Knoxville.

Matmen Rank Second In SEAAU Tournament

By Tom Kelly

Maryville's wrestlers journeyed to Auburn last Friday and Saturday to enter the SEAAU tournament. The Scots took second place with 29 points to their credit, while Auburn cruised into first with a 52 mark. Other participating teams were, Georgia Tech 19, Chattanooga 16, and Emory 12. Four Scot wrestlers made the finals and two the semi-finals in the finale of the wrestling season.

Tubby Callaway, last year's captain, took first honors in the 145 bracket as he won from Rice of Tech, Price of Coral Gables AC, and finally Spider McKenzie of Auburn. It was strictly sweet revenege for Tubby as he defeated McKenzie 9-4; because Spider pinned Tubby earlier in the year when the Scots were visiting down at Auburn to hand Callaway his only loss of the season. In addition to first place honors, Tubby was awarded a cup for outstanding wrestler at the tournament. A fitting climax on a great college wrestling career.

Marvin

Jimmy Marvin, Maryville's light weighter, pulled a surprise as he made it to the finals in the 121 pound class. Marvin drew a bye in the first round but decisioned Cornelius of Chattanooga in the second. Marvin ran up against Pound of Emory in the finals and succumbed to a pin.

Cameron

J. A. Cameron made all the Maryville cohorts happy as he fought his way to the finals in tournament competition. J. A. beat McGaher of Emory, and Cressops of Auburn to gain the finals, but lost to Sonney Dragoin in the stellar event.

Major

Laurence Major, at 155, gained the semi-finals by defeating Dan Welsh of Atlanta YMCA and Howard Wilcox of Auburn. However, he lost to Charley Borum, another Auburn man, in the semi-finals. Major was decisioned by Harold Zell of Georgia Tech in the consolation round.

Hershel Came Close

Captain Hershell Merriman worked his way into the finals of the tussle by defeating Ramsey Karrah of Emory, Lee Traylor, and Ralph Cone of Georgia Tech. Hersh lost to Robert Long of Auburn in the finals by the margin of some 35 seconds riding time. Hersh was leading in points when the match ended, but Long evened the count with time advantage. Mr. Long had the 35 extra seconds of riding time thrown in to hand him the decision.

Palmer

Another Maryvillian, Herb Palmer, gained the semi-finals in the 175 class. Herb defeated John Glynn of Auburn in the first match but lost to Rally Rhodea in the semi-final tussle. Herb had to be content with

WRESTLING

By Neale Pearson

With the final team scores being announced for the SEAAU wrestling tournament. Maryville's wrestlers will hang up their well used leotards satisfied that they have done a good job.

Knox Y K.O.ed.

Coach John A. Davis started the season off with six lettermen and a veteran in each position. Knoxville's YMCA was the first (two) victims by virtue of the Scots pinning them down, 30-0 and 25-7.

This match also showed a new change in wrestling procedure as Coach Davis started his men out slow and didn't force several of the wrestlers to grapple in their accustomed weights.

Paul McNiel took honors in the 121-pound class with J. A. Cameron the victor in the 128-pound division. Chesley Andersen took over the 136'ers while Jimmy Callaway, also new, won in the 145 pound class.

Two Platoons

From the 155's on up, J. D.'s two-platoon system went into effect.

Tubby Callaway got a pin in the 155's; Lawrence Major a decision in the 165 pound bracket, Hersh Merriman likewise in the 175's, and Herb Palmer amongst the heavyweights.

In the second meeting of the two squads, the only differences in outcomes were in the 175-pound class and the 128-pound class.

Willard Rahn went for MC in the former and lost to ex-MCer Ralph Willocks while Jim Marvin making the long grind downward toward his former spot among the 21 pounders took a decision in the 128 class.

Mocs Meet Match

Chattanoga in a road trip gave plenty of trouble at first as George Owens pinned McNiel, but from there on, MC took every spot save in the Heavyweight where Myers wrestled Palmer to a draw.

In the Moc match, there, which Maryville won, 22-7, Tom Yeaworth took a decision in the 145 pound class in taking over from

BASKETBALL

With the end of football last year, Coach Honaker issued the call for basketball to begin and a small group of men started to work out for a season which they know was going to be tough.

Eight men came back to carry the colors and to give the Scotties the nucleus of a fine ball club. One thing was lacking though—height.

Bad Omen

Reliable Motors of Knoxville came to Maryville with Joe Eldridge ,and the former U-T star left a sour taste in the mouths of Scot partisans by swishing the nets for 33 points.

King's Tornadoes then came to town and the Scots got back on their right foot by flooring them, 62-38. Hugh Hamil was the big gun with 18 while Arlie Johnson hit 13.

In a return match in Bristol in the next to the last game of the season, Johnson hit for 23, but Boring with 18 and Hamil with an amount equal to Johnson's made the Scots a winner, 75-68.

E.&H. Stung

Two more games in Alumni gym marked the last stands before the Christmas holidays with the Scots splitting. Emory & Henry's Blue Wasps buzzed onto the court and buzzed off after being defeated, 61-58.

Union College's Bulldogs were the next opponents; they grabbed a 47-45 win with the Scots hitting their shots too late in the game to do any good. Boring's 16 was tops for both teams.

Pioneers Pin One

In a road game following the E&H encounter, the Highlanders trekked to Tusculum to tangle with the Pioneers. The Pioneers displayed an airtight defense for nine minutes, not permitting one Scot field goal to be caged and won, 62-50. Brahams threw in 21 for MC while Pierce did a likewise with 18 for the Green team.

In return matches with the three squads, MC reversed the tables in one, had them reversed

Baseball Practice Starts; Roster Out

A total of 35 men are now working out with Coach Honaker for the oncoming baseball season. Included in this group are 11 lettermen from last year, ten of them seniors.

Pitchers

There are nine pitchers and five catchers getting their arms tuned up, with but two holdovers from last year's hurdling corps. They are Jim Kren, who had a two and two record last year, and Leon Berrong, who also had an even two and two count. Berrong is again a doubtful starter as he was last season due to arm trouble.

Catchers

Maryville seems well stocked with receivers. The first and second string men, Gene Reynolds and Jim Baird, are both ready to take up the catching assignment.

Infield

The infield will have four seasoned starters back in it. Walt Pentz will be ready at first, King Berrong, after a year's layoff, will be back at second, Bobby Boring, the homerun hitter, will have his old position at short sewed up, and Jack Buckley, will be back in his old station the hot corner.

Outfield

Coach Honaker's outfield also boasts its three starters from last year. In right field is Bobby Neff, in center Hugh Hamil, another slugger, and in left Benny Baldwin.

Coach Honaker is extremely fortunate in having his whole team back intact from last year. If Honaker can find someone to help Kren and Berrong along on the pitching staff, he should come up with another crack team. Last year's squad, by the way, won 13 and dropped seven in a highly successful season's play.

54 Answer Call For '50 Football

Fifty-four footballers answered the call to spring training issued by Coach Davis. Training started last Tuesday and will run up through April Fool's day. Coach Davis will stress the bare fundamentals of the game in the four week period for the benefit of any newcomers to the squad and as a review for the older squadmembers. Good old-fashioned hard work is promised to all.

Lettermen

Fifteen lettermen, Ken and Clarence Shepard, Charley Allen, Bill Gibson, Herb Palmer, Bill Vananda, Bob Proffitt, Richard Isenberg, Ray Keny, Roy Kramer, Robert Larson, James Lester, Jimmy Cates, Captain Donald Walker and Bob White, have returned from last year's team. In addition to these, four Maryville High seniors, Bob McClelland, Jerry King, Frank Garren, and Bill Gilbert, are working out with the squad. At this early date it is hard to make any long range predictions, but it seems that every position and especially backfield positions, are wide open for prospective candidates. Coaches Davis and Honaker hope to have at least a hazy idea of next year's squad at the end of this training season.

Committee Meets To Award Letters; Managers Elected

Executive Committee of Athletic Association met Thursday morning in Coach Honaker's office in Bartlett Hall to elect baseball and track managers for the '50 season and to award letters to eligible members of the basketball and wrestling teams.

Team Managers

Team managers, elected upon recommendation of the coaches, are Xen Motsinger for track and Tom Boyd for baseball.

Coach "J.D." Davis nominated eight men from this year's mat squad for wrestling letters and upon his recommendation the committee awarded letters to James Marvin, J. A. Cameron, Chesley Anderson, Henry Callaway, Lawrence Major, Hershal Merriman, Herbert Palmer, and Paul McNiel.

Basketball

Basketball Coach Lombe Honaker recommended nine men of the cage squad plus manager Leon Berrong as '50 lettremen. Letters were awarded to Gene Reynolds, Hap Brahams, Ray Keny, Jim Lillard, Bob Boring, Hugh Hamil, Charlie Allen, B. R. Crisp, Charlie Roberts, and Leon Berrong.

Committee Chairman Jim Lester called attention to the proposed changes in the Executive Committee's constitution which will be discussed at the next meeting. Cheerleader letters will be awarded at the next meeting upon recommendation of Pep Committee chairman Webster Fue.

ABC Discarded

Dean McClelland called attention to the misnomer in the name "Athletic Board of Control." True name of the organization is Executive Committee of the Athletic Association. The function of the Committee is not control of athletics, which is vested in the faculty.

As the last suggestion brought before the committee Coach Davis recomended that the football manager be elected in the spring this year instead of in the fall.

fourth as he was decisioned by Lyman Blackmar in the consolation round.

All in all the Scotties had 11 entries in the meet.

Winners

The final division winners were:

115 Class—George Owens, Chattanooga
121 Class—Ed Pound, Emory
128 Class—Sonny Dragoin, Auburn
136 Class—George Philopoulous, Georgia Tech
145 Class—Henry Callaway, Maryville
155 Class—Robin Baker, Auburn
165 Class—Robert Long, Auburn
175 Class—John Matrione, Auburn
181 Class—John Branilovich, Auburn
Heavyweight—Bill Caldwell, Vanderbilt.

Wrestling . . . .

Jimmy Callaway, who wrestled at Knoxville the night before.

Vandy Sinks

High-flying by now, the matmen then took on Vanderbilt's Commodores and sunk them, 22-6. This match started off bad, too, but MC overcame the Vandy lead to go ahead and win with Tubby Callaway's decisioning of Sensing.

Jim Marvin, wrestling for the first time in the 121-pound class, lost on a decision and J. A. Cameron lost his first. Anderson, Major, Merriman, and Palmer (on a forfeit) were the other MC victors.

Number Two

Maryville travelled to Vanderbilt for the season's last match and this was closer yet, MC coming out on top only, 16-13.

Marvin and Cameron lost to Frierson and Crews as did Tom Yeaworth coming back from a three-week layoff to go in the 136-pound class.

Captain Callaway started things back on the right track with a pin and Major, Merriman, and Palmer followed suit with victories in their old weights.

Newcomer Bob White lost to the new Southern heavyweight champ by a decision but showed much improvement.

Mocs Cut Twice

In a second encounter with Chattanooga, MC again came out on top, also by a smaller margin, 21-10. Chatanooga's coach pulled a "shrewdie" on the Scots by switching his men around with the result that Marvin lost. Cameron was held to a draw and White was pinned. Everyone else won for MC.

Auburn Axes Us

Then came the first of two defeats as the Scots journeyed to mighty Alabama Polytechnic Institute to meet a 22-8 decision. MC bounced back the next night, though, to whip Georgia Tech 19-11 and tears were turned into grins.

Bright spots of the Auburn match were Chesley Anderson's win and an even greater one was Lawrence Major's pin of Robin Baker. There were sad thoughts, though, for Tubby Callaway was pinned for his only loss of the year by McKenzie of Auburn.

Willard Rahn was added into the 175 slot as Palmer went into the heavies again and he showed up well though losing in both matches.

Tech Stopped

In the Tech affair which had a sparse attendance for such a big school, Marvin, Cameron, Callaway and Merriman got back into the win column while Palmer lost for the first time in a pin.

Indians Happy

A regular pro aggregation then came in the form of Arkansas State's Indians and they took 19 scalps while losing only 8.

In this contest, Marvin showed up well for the first itme this year by getting a draw. Chesley Anderson lost for the first this year to Jake Durham, as captain, while Palmer won MC's only other bout.

Seven And Two

Maryville then took the aforementioned tilt from Vanderbilt and went on to the SEAAU matches at Auburn. The season's record was seven wins and two defeats with the Scots racking up 163 points to 74 by opponents.

For the individual men: Paul McNiel had one pin to his credit and was the victim of one; Jim Marvin won one match on a decision and lost four via the same route with one draw in between; and J.A. Cameron had one pin, two decisioners for, four against and one draw.

Tom Yeaworth had two wins by decisions and lost one. Chesley Anderson had a very successful season with six decisions for and only decision going the wrong way. Jimmy Callaway getting ready to take on where Tubby left off took two matches by decision and lost none.

Tubby Takes 'Em

Captain Callaway, ending a fine career, slammed out five men on pins, took three decisions and lost one—on a pin.

Lawrence Major, another senior, also surprised everyone by banging out a pin against Auburn, garnering six more wins on decisions and losing only two by decisions.

Hersh Harsh

Hersh Merriman, last year's captain, had a pin to his credit, five wins in which he outscored his man, one forfeit win and two losses on decisions.

Willard Rahn lost two matches by pins and another on points.

Palmer 175-er

Herb Palmer took a pin in his final match, four arm raisers, another one forfeit, a draw, and lost one by decision and one by a pin, but both were while wrestling against heavyweights.

Bob White, the up-and-coming freshman had a bad time of it in losing two matches by pins and one by decision, but things should be brighter next year, not only for him but for the whole team.

Students Present Second In Bach Festival Series

A Bach piano music recital, the second program in the Bach festival series at Maryville College to commemorate the 200th anniversary of the death of Johann Sebastian Bach, will be presented Tuesday, March 14, at 4:30 p.m. in the Chilhowee Clubhouse.

The program, which consists entirely of keyboard music written by Bach, is as follows: "Gavott ein D minor," Herbert Hoover; Two Part Inventions, including "No. 8 in F major," Lesta Merrick, "No. 13 in A minor," Barbara Scott, and "No. 14 in B flat major," Ruth Crothers; Three Part Inventions, including "No. 3 in E major," Lena Belle McGaha, "No. 4 in D major," Louise Lloyd, and "No. 2 in C minor" and "No. 8 in F major," Dan Winter.

"Fantasia in C minor," Patty Regan; from "French Suite No. 4 in E flat major," "Allemand," "Courante," "Sarabande," and "Gigue," played by Ruth Helen Bird; and from "Well Tempered Clavichord Book I," "Prelude No. 21 in B flat major," Doris Holt, "Fugue No. 4 in C sharp minor," Barbara Sandos, "Fugue No. 5 in D major," John Sayre, and "Prelude and Fugue No. 8 in 7 flat minor," Harry Merrill.

A Chorale and Chorale Prelude program, the next in the Bach series, will take place on Sunday, March 26, at 7 p.m. in the New Providence Presbyterian Church. Chorales will be sung by the Vesper Choir, and W. Curtis Hughes, organist, is to play chorale preludes.

Everett

Emory & Henry took advantage of a sprained ankle incurred by Hugh Hamil and took an 83-82 win to close the drapes for this season. It was the highest score game ever seen or participated in by a Maryville team. Boring took home 29 points for the home team while Sam Dixon tacked on 25 to his season's total.

Union Wins Again

Union made it two in a row over the Scots when the two clashed in Barbourville, romping along to a 77-64 victory.

Playing in the absence of Reynolds and Brahams at Johnson City ,the Scots were handed two lickings by the schools situated in that town.

Milligan couldn't miss and put on a scoring exhibition in the second half that had the crowd wild to win, 63-47. Crossing town, Coach Honaker's quintet took on an East Tennessee State team that slapped on loss number three in a row, 64-57.

Boring again was high with 19 against ETS while Hamil had 15 against the Buffs. Middleton broke forth in a rash of 18 points for Milligan while Vest pocketed 16 in the ETS game.

Crepe and Velvet

Then came a black day. Hiwassee's Tigers overwhelmed the Scots in the season's low ebb, 66-51. Nothing worked at all to stop them.

Hiwassee came here for a return engagement and it looked like the victors of the previous game would again have an easy one. MC puckered up though and had a tie game with one second to go. Gordon Rogers of the Hiwassians then grabbed the ball and shot to give his side a 65-63 win.

Tennessee Wesleyan suffered two losses to give Scot supporters a little encouragement when she dropped 66-62 and 66-41 games.

Hooray

In the return game against ETS here, Boring latched on to 21 points and the Scots took an avenging 64-57 win.

LMU followed up with an inexperienced, though tall squad, and experience paid off, 67-57.

LMU settled down, though, between the two games and the Railsplitters chopped up a 63-55 game at Harrogate. McCarter was high for the Big Blue in both games, while Boring was Maryville's top man.

In a single contest there, Chattanooga's Moccasins also found themselves for the first time this year, and the Scots took a 72-57 biting.

C-N Canned

Carson-Newman was the only school left to play on the schedule at home and the Eagles probably wished they had stayed home when they lost here 66-50; and that MC shouldn't have left her abode when the Scots won there, 66-54.

Before the C-N contests, Milligan closed out her home-and away schedules with MC. Milligan really made a comeback in the game here, coming from behind to win 65-61 after Kenny Hyder made six in a row to overcome a 10-point deficit. Hamil and Boring had 18 apiece, but Hyder had Hathaway's 21 to beat them.

Ten and Twelve

Thus, when the season was over and all the uniforms had been put away in storage, the Scots were possessors of a 10 and 12 mark. A big letdown from last year's team, it also showed a foretaste that next year's team, losing seven man from this one, will also lack the big thing in basketball today, tall timber.

Sophomore Recital Features Pianists

Irene Launitz and Jody Richardson, sophomores, were presented in recital yesterday at the Chilhowee Clubhouse at 4:30 p. m. Both Miss Launitz and Miss Richardson are pupils of Professor Katharine C. Davies, Chairman of the Fine Arts Division.

Miss Launitz played "Ahi troppo non duro" by Monteverde, and "Marche," Opus 33, from the opera "Love for Three Oranges" by Prokofieff.

"Prelude in B flat Minor" by Bach, preludes nos. 1, 4, and 18 from Chopin's Opus 28, and "Etude in C sharp Minor," Opus 2, by Scraibin were played by Miss Richardson.

Also included in the program were Katherine Shelton, accompanied by Wayne Shelton, rendering "Why," Opus 75, No. 7 by Palmgrin and Carol Barnett, who played prleudes nos. 10 and 13, Opus 28 by Chopin and Shostakovich's "Fantastic Dances," Opus 1.

'Blood Will Tell' Topic At Faculty Club Monday

Professor George D. Howell of the Division of Science spoke on the topic "Blood Will Tell", dealing with the chemistry of blood at Faculty Club meeting last Monday night in Fayerweather Hall.

While speaking of the power of the blood to overcome disease germs, Professor Howell concentrated his talk on anti-histamine, the new drug which has hope of curing the common cold.

Salad, dessert and coffee were served by home economics students.

'Surprise' Presented At Initiated On Thursday

Tau Kappa Chi, women's music organization, held a formal initiation of its new members on Thursday evening, March 9, in President Lloyd's home. Four new members were initiated into the society on the basis of their outstanding work in music.

Those received were Ruth Helen Bird, piano major from Greeneville; Linnea Johnson, voice major from McKees Rocks. Pa.; Carolyn Marshall, piano major from Sevierville; and June Hood, piano major from Knoxville.

YW, YM Bring WSSF Fund Appeal To Campus

Campus Groups Sonsor Drive To Aid Needy Fellow Students Abroad

MC's World Student Service Fund drive will begin tomorrow and continue for a week climaxed by the minstrel show on the 25th. A program sponsored jointly by YM and YW will open the drive. During the week, other organizations will present programs and publicity in connection with the drive.

WSSF is the organization which raises the funds for World Student Relief. WSR apportions these funds to needy students throughout various countries. Funds are used for food, clothing, housing, medical supplies and books.

For the past six years MC has pledged to the WSSF. This year much of it will again be raised by a minstrel show which will be presented in Alumni Gym, March 25 at 8 p.m. Tickets are 50 cents, but there is also a space on the ticket to pledge an extra contribution if the student so desires.

Y Radio Presents WSSF

Fifteen acts will be presented. These include dance numbers, songs, the Dixieland band, a quartet, solos and duets. The chorus will sing two novelty numbers.

Roger Cowan is interlocutor. Bob Larson, Jim Lester, Bill Nish and Ray Holsey are the end men. The chorus is composed of 22 men.

Y Radio is cooperating with the WSSF drive and will present a special program over WGAP Monday night at 9:30. It will include interviews with students who have been in foreign countries and a short skit of the minstrel show.

MOVIE TOMORROW

YM and YW in a combined program will show a movie, "This is Your Life," tomorrow in Bartlett Auditorium at 1:30. This program is in cooperation with the WSSF drive. The movie was prepared by WSSF as a service to help organizations with drives.

Religious Themes In Sunday Schools, Church Announced

Sunday School programs and sermon topics for Maryville's downtown churches tomorrow are as follows:

Nannette Enloe and Morna Wright will lead the Broadway Methodist College Class at the Sunday School hour tomorrow. George Day is soloist. At the morning worship, Dr. Dean C. Dutton will be the guest speaker. He will use as his topic "Adventure With Masterpieces."

Dot Johnston is in charge of the First Bantist opening worship. Rev. James M. Windham has chosen "In Hades He Lifted Up His Eyes" for his sermon. The Church service will be broadcast over radio station WGAP.

'The Soul's Serenade'

Howard Lawson will lead the First Methodist opening worship. Jimmy Britton is song leader and Charlie Reid is pianist. "The Soul's Serenade" is the topic of the minister, Dr. E. E. Wiley, Jr. at the church hour.

Frances Moore is in charge of the service at New Providence Presbyterian. Isabel Leitch will lead the scripture, Sally Kotz will offer the prayer, and special music will be rendered by John Baxter and Clarence Reasor. Lucy Carrick is song leader.

Dr. Thomas Graham's sermon topic is "The Life In Christ. 4. The Disciplines."

St. Andrew's Episcopal College Class will have a special program at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow to hear two missionaries from the Church of Latter Day Saints. Elder Wayne L. Clarke of Morgan, Utah, and Elder Darrell W. Nield of Montpelier, Idaho. This program will take the place of the regular Sunday School. Dr. J. B. Bernardin, Rector, will use "God's Judgment in History" at the Morning Worship hour tomorrow.

RESTORED?

The Christian Social Party in Belgium has asked for a joint session of the lower house and the Senate in order to rescind the 1945 law exiling King Leopold. He had announced previous to last Sunday's election that if 55 percent of the people wanted him, he would return. Fifty-seven percent of the voters were in favor of the King.

REDUCED

The Navy has announced through the House Appropiations Committee that it will have to fall back on its second line planes next year so that anti-submarine defenses can be stepped up this year.

NOT GUILTY?

Dorothy Kenyon has denied under oath "any connection of any kind with Communism or its adherents" and has presented evidence of her claims. Miss Kenyon has been accused by Senator McCarthy (R., Wis.) of subversive and disloyal acts.

RAIN?

New York City's Board of Estimate has voted $50,000 for a six-month experiment in rain making. There will be four units. Two of these will be ground units producing silver iodide smoke. The other two are airborne units producing either silver iodide smoke or dry ice seeding.

HOUSING

The Senate has knocked the key plank out of President Truman's housing program with a 43-to-38 vote against a $1,000,000,000 cooperative loan plan for the "middle income" families. The Senate then passed and sent to the House a bill providing authority for about $3,000,000,000 of government loans and insurance in a variety of housing projects.

HOMEWARD

John Stewart Service, the United States diplomat in India accused by Senator McCarthy as pro-Communist, has been called home to testify in a new review of his loyalty record. This recall is said not to mean that Service is under suspicion but that he should "speak for himself."

GUILTY

J. Albert Guay has been found guilty of a fantastic murder plot. He time-bombed an airliner so that he could marry another woman. The bomb caused the crash of a DC-3 airliner last September 9. The jury deliberated only 20 minutes before returning a verdict of guilty. Guay was sentenced to hang on July 23.

Faculty Members Present Recital Of Classic Music

A recital of music from the classic period will be presented by the Maryville College Music Faculty on Friday, March 24, at 8 p.m. in the Chilhowee Clubhouse. During the program, which is a continuation of a series of Collegium Musicum recitals, Miss Thelma Nelson, instructor in music, will give historical notes and comments about the period and the representative numbers.

Included in the program are Mozart's "Trio in E major," "Andante Grazioso," and "Allegro," played by Dorothy Horne, violin; Doris Sommerville, cello, and Dan Winters, piano; "Andante con Variazioni in F minor," by Haydn, Katherine Davies.

"Deh vieni, non tardar," and "Voi che sapete" from Mozart's "Le Nozze di Figaro," Bernice Blair, accompanied by Thelma Nelson; "Sonata op. 24 in F major," ("Spring",) by Beethoven, Dorothy Horne, violin, and Katherine Davies, piano; "Adalaide" by Beethoven, Harry Harter, accompanied by Alice Eaddy; and Mozart's "Sonata in D major for two pianos," Dorothy Vawter and Alice Eaddy.

Arts Center Said Right On Time, Ready In Summer

In a statement to The Highland Echo this week, President R. W. Lloyd announced that contractors Johnson and Willard expect to complete the fine arts building on schedule.

This means that the building should be ready for the music and art departments by the middle of the summer.

Although abnormally heavy rains during January prevented regular work and there was some delay in delivery of structural steel, such delays were foreseen in making the schedule.

Structural steel, reinforcing steel, brick, and other materials needed are now on the ground or are available at any time.

Construction will proceed as steadily as weather permits, the President announced.

Middleton Edits Drama Bulletin

Drama Instructor Herman Middleton was elected editor of Southeastern Theatre Conference Bulletin, a quarterly publication of the Southeastern Theatre Conference, at their meeting last week at Rollins College, Winter Park, Florida.

Accompanying Middleton was Ben Paxton, senior dramatic arts major who is president of Maryville College Playhouse and Theta Alpha Phi. Discussions and constitution changes were the main topics discussed.

Southeastern Theatre Conference, newly organized in 1949, was attended by approximately 75 people connected with theatrical productions.

'Echo,' 'Little Prison' Tryouts Thursday at 8

Tryouts for two Experimental Theatre productions to be given April 15 by Maryville College Playhouse will be held Thursday, March 23, at 8 p.m. in Bartlett Hall.

"Echo," an experiment in time by Robert Kasper, calls for two women and three men and will be directed by John Ferris.

"Little Prison," a farce-comedy by Milton Savage, will cast five women. The story takes place in an elevator stalled between floor of a large department store. Director will be announced later.

Social Board States Rules For Skit Night

Social Board Chairman Jim Dance announces the following rules concerning skit night to be held April 8, in the Alumni Gymnasium.

1. Societies are limited to a total expenditure of $5. since emphasis will be placed on ingenuity and originality, not on extravagance.

2. Skits should not exceed 20 minutes in length.

Social Board will provide footlights, one spot light, and a background of trellises for the stage.

Judges, to be announced later, will be one faculty member and four townspeople.

A trophy, now in possession of Theta Epsilon, 1949 victors, will be presented to the winners.

VOLS TO HEAR OF AFRICA

Mrs. Margaret Cummings, assistant professor of Bible and Religious Education, will speak on her brother's mission work tomorrow night at Student Volunteers in Bartlett Hall following Vespers. Her brother, John McClure, is a missionary in the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, Africa.

Alpha Gamma Sigma Taps 18 Prospective Graduates

College Honorary Scholastic Organization Elects Students Of Character, 6.5 Average

By Fran Moore

Elected to Alpha Gamma Sigma, scholarship honor society of Maryville College, are 18 members of the class of 1950. This group composed of nine men and nine women, is ten per cent of the prospective 182 to graduate in May.

Those elected are Sue Althouse, Duncan Bennett, Jack Buckley, William Chalker, Margaret Cummings, Walter Dean, Helen Disbrow, Ruth Heaps, Sarah Heinekamp, Martha Kincaid, Charles Mabry, Eric Meadows, William Nish, Mary Annis Pearson, Benjamin Sheldon, Caryl Stovell, Jo-Ann Stroud, and Daniel Winter.

Sue Althouse, from Gladwyne, Pa., is a sociology major. A transfer from Temple University, she is active in the YW Bible School and French Club.

Duncan Bennett, an English major from Grandview, is a member of Writers' Workshop and sports editor of The Highland Echo. Before coming to MC, Bennett attended the University of Pennsylvania.

Jack Buckley is a major in biology and comes from East Butler, Pa. An Athenian, he is on the baseball team, Student Council, and Student-Faculty Senate. He was treasurer of his junior class and is now treasurer of YM.

William Chalker, a philosophy major from Birmingham, Ala., is president of YMCA, listed in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities, and was president of the junior class. Chalker, an Athenian is a member of Student Council, Student-Faculty Senate, and Social Board.

Margaret Cummings is an English major from Maryville. A member of Tau Kappa Chi, Pi Kappa Delta, and Y Cabinet, Miss Cummings served on the debate team her first two years, and was treasurer of YW last year. Pi Gamma and Bainonian also are among her activities.

Pre-Med

A chemistry major from Morristown, Walter Dean is an Athenian and serves as president of the Pre-Med Club. Dean is a newly elected member of the East Tennessee Chemical Society, awarded for excellence in that field.

Helen A. Disbrow, an employee in the Personnel Office is an English major from Pulteney, N. Y.

String Quartet Booked For Final Artist Series Event

The University of Alabama String Quartet has been scheduled for the third and final program in this year's Artist Series.

Their concert at Maryville will be held in Alumni Gymnasium, Monday, March 27. It will include Haydn's Quartet in B flat major, Opus 76, number 4—the so-called "Sunrise" Quartet, one of the greatest of the Austrian master's later quartets;

The beloved Andante Cantabile from the Quartet in D major by Tschaikowsky; the Scherzo from the Quartet in E flat minor also by Tschaikowsky; and the contemporary Samuel Barber's Quartet, opus 11.

Single Tickets

For those who do not hold activity cards, single tickets for the program are $1.10 and may be obtained in advance (reserved seat) from Dorothy Horne of the College fine arts division.

Founded in 1944 by professor of music Ottokar Cadek, the quartet consists of faculty members Margaret Christy, cellist; Emily Searcy, second violinist; and Henry Barrett, viola.

After their concert here, the group will go to the University of Chattanooga and to Kentucky State at Bowling Green, Ky.

Canon T. O. Wedel Preaches On Hell, Talks Eschatology

The Rev. Canon Dr. Theodore O. Wedel, Warden of the College of Preachers, Washington Cathedral, said in chapel Thursday that we should return to the eschatological theology of "the Middle Ages and Dante."

Speaking on "The Good News of Judgment Day," the Canon emphasized the last judgment which he called "the neglected doctrine of the Christian Church." The lack of belief in heaven and hell, he explained, would result in a social order dominated by "atheistic Communists."

In East Tennessee for a series of Lenten services, Canon Wedel spoke Wednesday at Maryville's St. Andrew's Church. He holds degrees from Oberlin, Harvard, Yale, and Seabury-Western Seminary.

Curtain Rises At 8 On Second Showing Of Ibsen's Gabler

Initial performance of "Hedda Gabler," Maryville College Playhouse's first spring play, was presented last night to a full house at 8 p.m. in Alumni Gymnasium. Cast in the title role was Margaret Newland who played the part of Hedda Tessman and co-starred with Miss Newland was Bill Starr as Hedda's husband, George Tessman.

Miss Newland has acted in other college productions as "Papa Is All," "Enchanted Cottage," "Pipes of Dunbar," and "The Widow's Plight." She is a senior English major from Flint Michigan and is a member of Theta Alpha Phi, The Muses, and Theta Epsilon.

Starr, a junior English major from Baltimore, Md., has had leading parts in "The Merchant of Venice," and "Ten Little Indians." A member of Theta Alpha Phi, he is also active in other Experimental productions.

Supporting Players

Dorothy Holverson, a supporting player, is a senior English major from Monticello, Ind., and plays the part of Mrs. Elvsted whom Hedda thinks is attracted to George, her husband. Miss Holverson has taken several roles in various Experimental plays. Sara Jo Emert, junior dramatic arts major from Maryville, as Aunt Julia plays the part of George's adoring aunt whom Hedda detests. Miss Emert gained recognition in last semester's major presentation, "Laura."

Senior dramatic arts major Ben Paxton from Pleasant Ridge, Michigan, plays the part of Eilert Lovborg whom Hedda idealizes because of a former love affair with him. She defies Eilert to renew their acquaintance on the old basis while she secretly is self-satisfied with the power she holds over him. Bob Holley, junior English major from Dover, N.J., portrays Judge Brack with whom Hedda shares a few amusing lines. Holley has played parts in several major plays.

Playing the part of a new maid, Berta, is Grace Myers, freshman from West Springfield, Pa.

A belle and village beauty who could have had her choice from many suitors, Hedda is married to an extremely boring though highly intellectual scholar, George Tessman. She is dissatisfied with her life and colors the scenes with her vehement emotions, amusing herself and the audience by taunting both Lovborg and Brack.

Directors And Crews

Directing the play is Herman Middleton, drama director, and Anne Gates, student director from Fulton, Mo. Miss Gates is active in Playhouse and Experimental Theatre, having been on crews for "Papa Is All," "Laura," and "Wuthering Heights."

Committee chairmen have been Ed Vanderslice, stage manager; Jim Townsend, assistant stage manager; Chuck Gahagan, business manager; George Barber, lighting; and Austin Van Pelt, sound. Other committeemen have been Bobbie Porter, props; John Ferris, make-up; Ray Kuhn, programs; costumes, Marsha Beebe.

Lavender To Speak

The Rev. Dr. B. B. Lavender, Washington College, will speak at Vespers, Sunday, March 19, in Lamar Library at 7:00 p.m.

4 Echo Staff Members Will Edit Weekly Editions

Beginning with next week's Echo, four staff members will serve in turn as "editor-of-the week" for the weekly publication. Mary McConnell will edit next week's edition, and Frances Moore will edit the following Echo issue of April 1.

Richard Newman is to edit the April 15 issue of The Echo and Phyllis Jackson will edit the April 22 issue.

This is an annual policy to allow staff members the experience of editing and the opportunity to better understand the organization of the paper.

World Student Relief Provides Global Opportunity for Service

By Carson Seeley

Again the minstrel show visits MC. This time, as last year, it is the climax of the drive which World Student Service Fund sponsors to raise funds for student aid.. Although the show itself is lighthearted and gay, we must remember the seriousness of the work which we may not be aware of. To help us gain a better perspective, the following will present the highlights of WSSF.

For more than a decade, World Student Relief has been helping students throughout the world. WSSF, the fund raising agency of WSR, enables US college professors and students to help materially and spiritually. Sponsoring WSSF are B'nai B'rith, Hillel Foundations, Newman Club Federation, US National Student Association, and the United Student Christian Council, which represents Protestant denominations including the student YM and YW.

International Work

The work of WSSF has been highly praised by UNESCO, CARE, the Commission of Educational Reconstruction, the American Council on Education, Association of American Colleges, and the Association of American Junior Colleges. WSSF appeals for funds only to prep-school, college, and university students and professors, so the success or failure is determined by the enthusiasm with which it is received.

An increasing need for these funds has occurred during the past decade because of the war. In many cases university libraries are greatly depleted, and the remaining textbooks are outdated. Costly medical and scientific equipment had been either removed by governments for war purposes, or destroyed during the fighting.

Currency devaluation and rising prices have drastically reduced buying power and in some cases have wiped out savings. Many residences were destroyed and reconstruction will not replace them for a long time.

The DP problem, itself, is one of the greatest since they are often a greater burden on a people than the people's own problems. In all of these cases, WSSF is trying to help students continue their studies and become self-sufficient to restore their countries.

Aids To Students

An understanding of the problems can be had when it is realized how the factors affect WSSF. China, because of the civil war, is the hardest in which to distribute supplies, and she is most needful of them. The split between Pakistan and India caused other supply and distribution problems.

Currency reforms often cause temporary problems and cause students to leave universities for lack of money. Professors are occasionally being attracted to the higher paying reconstruction jobs. One of the bright spots in the picture is that even though the relations between Russian-controlled countries and other countries are strained, WSR aids students in Poland, Finland, Hungary, Rumania, Bulgaria and Austria.

WSR Distributing Agency

After the funds are raised, they are distributed by WSR on the basis of need in different countries for the following aids: food, clothing, housing, medical aid.

Town-College Cooperation

The use this past week of Pearsons dining hall for the annual meeting of the Blount County Farmers' Association is but another example of the cooperation and interdependence of this college and this community.

The city of Maryville and Blount County owe a great deal to Maryville College. Beyond the obvious use of equipment and facilities (as Alumni Gym for the recent basketball tournaments) lie the intangible, and really important, things—the value of ideas and the storing and use of organized knowledge. This college serves as the center of intellectual and cultural activity for this area. With the very existence of our society and our civilization dependent on these same intangibles, their worth becomes beyond count.

And the college is in debt to the community. Financial aid has long come from the immediate area and been significant in the advancing growth and progressive development of the school. Interest and support from town and county people has meant much in morale building and in the encouragement of the college's presentation of a better scholastic and cultural program.

The spirit of cooperation between Maryville College and this community is an excellent one, better than most schools could boast. For the continuance of the very best in the community-college relationship both groups have the obligation of living up to the ideals of mutual respect and appreciation.

—D.N.

On Criticism

One of those inalienable rights we possess as Americans is the right to offer criticism, complimentary or otherwise, to those we feel deserve it—from the President of our nation on down to our family or neighbors. That right belongs way up at the top in the bracket with such assurances as freedom of religion and press. It is vital to our way of life, for by criticizing the things we do not like and praising those we approve of we are guaranteeing the stability of democratic governments in the nation, our colleges and churches.

Since so many of the organizations in our country are conducted democratically, the value of public opinion cannot be overlooked. Any group attempting to serve the public is anxious to please and therefore will welcome constructive criticism on any phase of its work.

Let Me Call You Sweetheart

Ruth Helen Bird and Stan Smathers seem to have set a precedent of some sort or other. Stan came up from Mississippi to help Ruth Helen celebrate her birthday and give her his present—a diamond sparkler. When they came into Pearsons Sunday night flocks of Pearsonites were waiting at the top of the stairs to ooh and aah. Then the happy couple were serenaded by the pajama-clad gals. Not to be outdone, the fellows added the final touch to it all by singing to them at breakfast, no less.

Cake Capers

Culminating an already big week-end, Ruth Helen invited the third floor Pearsons residents to a birthday party Monday night. Mrs. Bird had baked the most stupendous cake you've ever seen. It was two tiers high and very intricately decorated—good, too. Betty Jo Smith, Ruth's roommate, helped the party spirit along by telling everyone to "take another piece of the icing as you pass out."

The Canasta craze has hit the campus and is beginning to cool down now. But there are still a few who have gotten the bug and are having trouble getting rid of it. It is a fascinating game, but who wants to look at a bunch of dots on a bunch of cards, though, there are still those among us who can't figure out what could possibly be "bridge carried to its logical conclusion."

Which Are You?

There are six kinds of roommates according to the Harding Bison. One is the ideal kind, who is always willing to help; then there is the eager kind who is willing to be a friend of anyone; third, the patient, understanding, sympathetic type; fourth, the love-sick roommate; the silent type who rarely speaks except when you pry them; and last, the arrogant overbearing, I'll-do-anything-for-as-long-as-it-benefits-me type.

Fu Manchu Du

If you want an interesting, yet stupid conversation, ask any of the practice teachers to relate some of their amusing experiences. Sarah Du is good at that, especially now that she's leading her kiddies in a study of China. Just ask her—she'll sing you a Chinese song, speak Chinese for you, write some Chinese words or eat with chopsticks. She doesn't know what it all means but her students don't know that.

Oh, Say Can You See

Wednesday night the dorm was quiet and monitor Mary Ann Brown was serene. All of a sudden out of the still of the night came the strains of the "Star Spangled Banner" being sung. Mary Ann, always the conscientious one, didn't know where it was coming from and didn't know what to do about it. So, she sought out Mrs. Butcher for advice. Quotes Mrs. B. "That's simple. Don't you know you're always to stand at attention during the "Star Spangled Banner." Thus instructed, Mary Ann stood at attention and things were soon back to normal.

Insane Indications?

One Social Problems class has been discussing mental health, and there must be some question about some members of the class. One day this week Mrs. Pieper was returning some test papers. Before handing them out, she made the comment that after the papers were returned there would be a discussion of feeble-mindedness. Maybe she has something there.

Have You Heard This?

Jokes may be international, but their appreciation isn't. We've heard it broken down into nationalities this way: the English enjoy a joke twice, once when they hear it and once when they understand it; the French enjoy it once, when they hear it; Germans seldom enjoy a joke for they don't like to be told anything; and Americans never nejoy one for they've always heard it before.

Talk of The Week

BY JIM DANCE

"Authoritarianism and the Individual" by Metz and Thompson and published by often-right-wing Brookings' Institute, discusses the world's political systems and their attitudes toward man's freedoms.

New for the subversive department is "Russian Epic Studies" edited by Jakobson and Simmons and published by American Folklore Society, an obvious red front. And it has a red cover, too!

The economics department adds a half-dozen volumes this week, mostly on labor relations. "The Readers' Encyclopedia" edited by William Rose Benet is just that, a big book with info on just about every book but the Bobbsey twin series.

David Boder presents a moving story in "I Did Not Interview the Dead," the account in question and answer form of his interviews with DPs after the war. "Clothes Make Magic" is, we assume, for the home ec department. "The Peabody Sisters of Salem" is the story of the two sisters who married Nathaniel Hawthorne and Horace Mann.

ON FREUD

By no means new, but one of the library's most significant volumes is Sigmund Freud's "The Interpretation of Dreams," brought to mind by a new Modern Library edition published last month.

Freud's discovery that the dream is a means by which the unconscious can be explained is one of the most revolutionary steps in the history of modern psychology. Dreams, according to this theory, repersent the hidden fulfillment of unconscious wishes; ability to interpret them opens a completely new realm of investigation, especially valuable in the treatment of neuroses.

Authors as important as Freud and books as significant as this deserve reading.

A learned tome, published this week by MC'c English faculty and for sale at 90c at the Bookstore is "Review Outlines and Reference Lists for Students of English and American Literature." Compiled primarily for English majors to review for approaching comps, it's a valuable addition to any library.

Voices, Masks, and Shadows

THE POPCORN CIRCUIT

The popcorn circuit really breaks loose in town this week; four top-notch films are scheduled for Maryville's movie palaces—a record-breaking display of quality for local cinema.

It's RKO's "Roseanna McCoy" at the Capitol Monday and Tuesday, a mellerdrammer of Kentucky's feuding Hatfields and McCoys of song, story—and now—movie fame. Lead is 15-year-old, precocious Joan Evans as Roseanna; only question about it all is how the menfolks can waste their time in gunplay with her around.

Wednesday is "That Wonderful Urge," and with a title like that it doesn't even need a review.

The Thursday-Friday offering is terrific "On The Town." Three sailors, with, naturally, three girls, see New York in a funny, refreshing, exberant music-comedy.. Stars are Gene Kelly, Frank Sinatra, and nine million New Yorkers.

"Wild Horses" gallop in, and right back out, of the Park Monday, give way to "City Across the River" on Town Night and Wednesday.

Based on Irving Shulman's "The Amboy Dukes," "City" is a drama of a tough street gang filmed in the immortal place always represented in audience participation shows—fabulous Brooklyn. Hammed up by introducer Drew Pearson, the picture still depicts delinquency convincingly and realistically.

Calloused New Yorker cinema reviewer John McCarten (who can keep his tongue in his cheek longer than any other man in the business) wonders if Hollywood has lost faith in the Great American Dream of rags to riches. We think not; they just broke down and gave us a realistic pilot and setting for once. It's a top picture; see it.

Park's Thursday-Friday contribution is a comeback of "Letter to Three Wives." When it showed at the Capitol last September, the Echo reviewer went all out, talked about it for two weeks, even donated orchids.

It's still good. In fact, critical Life mag, rethinking its '49 reviews apologized early this month for not playing it up enough.

Both the Park and Capitol turn into dude ranches Saturday for the cowboy crowd. At the first, it's a thriller called "Thunder River Feud," and the Capitol brings on fast-shooting "Fighting Ranger."

THE QUIET ZONE

Biggest thing in the library this week, both in quantity and quality, is the 22-volume set of "Defoe's Review," reproduced from the original edition and published by the Facsimile Text Society for Columbia U's Press.

Best known for "Robinson Cruso," Defoe authored serial pamphlets commenting on political, economic, and social affairs of his day, the first part of the eighteenth century.. A prominent Whig, Defoe furthered that cause along with urging union with Scotland and the advance of English trade.

Although not having much in common with the better known "Tatler," Defoe thought that his moralizing and the "Review's" section called "Advice from the Scandalous Club" did influence that magazine. Well worth looking into, "Defoe's Review" is an adition valuable to all fields as a critical analysis of that period.

Also new and also good is Harold Zink's "City Bosses in the US," a study of 20, from famous Boss Tweed on up and down.

Bainonians Hear Hits At Tonight's Meeting

Bainonian will meet at 6:30 p.m. tonight in Bainonian Hall. Zeta chapter is in charge of the program which will feature a Hit Parade.

Six songs found to be top favorites of Bainonians will be sung by soloists George Day, Helen Worrilow, and Wanda Onifer.

Hap Brahams, Ray Rose, J. Bright, and Wally and Charlie Schroeder will sing the extras.

●AFTER TWO WEEKS of instruction the Senior Life Saving Ciass, numbering about twenty-five boys, finally held its last session last night. Exams was the theme of the final meeting the outcome of which will show who deserve the certificates and who do not. Many of the boys enrolled in this class are planning, if they pass, to enter the Instructors Course which will be held next week.

●CONGRATULATIONS to Herbie Palmer and Chesley Anderson for their being elected co-captains for the 1951 wrestling team. After two run-offs, which failed to pick a winner, it was decided to have co-captains, the first time this has ever happened at Maryville. Both boys deserve the honor for their spelndid work during the past season.

●HERBIE, a 175-pounder, won six matches, lost one and had a draw to his credit for the past season. He lost out in the semi-finals in the SEAAU meets at Auburn. Chesley, an 136-pounder, did just a little better with his bang-up record of six wins and only one defeat. Both should do well in leading our matmen to another great season next year.

●MARYVILLE'S TRACK team has started training for another season with thirteen lettermen back to form the backbone of this year's squad. Last year's team had a remarkable record. With last year's experience under their belts and with some help from some good freshmen, the trackmen should be able to do even better this year.

●AGAIN THIS YEAR the thin-clads will enter the Milligan Relays in which last year they tied for first place with Wofford. They should meet with plenty of stiff competition in this meet, as well as in the State Meet at Sewanee University. Last year Maryville was nosed out of third place in the State Meet by Sewanee by the slim margin of one point.

●EAST TENNESSEE STATE is replacing Tennessee Tech this year with a meet here. Last year the tracksters had little trouble with Tech as they overwhelmed them by a 110.5 to 20.5 score. Following State Teachers comes Chattanooga University. Last year the Moccasins gave the cindermen a real scare, but finally fell by a 80-51 score. With many Moc stars back this year we should see a close meet with loads of thrills. Time will tell, but from here it looks (and we hope that come May we won't have to eat our words) like we should be in for another fine year on the cinders.

●INTRAMURAL SWIMMING will take the place of the varsity team this year for all boys interested. The intramural meet is set for the 29th of this month—all fellows interested should be getting in shape. It won't be the same as a varsity team, but there should be plenty of thrills and chills if enough boys are in shape. At any rate it will be good competition. Maybe next year the splashers will be able to find some good compeition, and be able to form a team.

●NEXT FRIDAY is the day of the big test for the netmen. They journey to Knoxville to meet UT in a practice meet that should give MC fans an idea of the type of team we will have this year. This year's team should be good, and while UT is slightly favored in this practice session, this meet should be exciting enough to warrant considerable attention as to the results. We wish the netters all the luck possible 'cause we sure would like to see an upset.

●ONLY TWO WEEKS before the first baseball game against Miami University. Time is getting short, and so is the squad roster. Coach Honaker has been chopping off extra men in an attempt to get the squad to a workable size, and with the help of the weather should be able to field a pretty good outfit. However, next year a freshmen team would be of considerable value. The boys seem interested, but as yet have not been able to find a place to practice, nor any official word that the school would favor such an idea. Here's hoping that answers will be forthcoming soon.

TUBBY WINS

TUBBY GETS TROPHY—Henry "Tubby" Callaway, Maryville's ace grappler is shown receiving the Most Valuable Wrestler Award from Coach Arnold Umbach after the last match of the SEAAU Tournament. The Auburn coach awarded the gold-plated trophy to the 145-pounder for his sterling performance at the tournament held in Auburn. The trophy is an award given annually to the best wrestler and remains in his permahent possession.

Track Team Takes To Field For '50 Season

Intramurals....

By Jimmy Britton

SOFTBALL

The deadline for entries in this year's intramural softball league is set for Tuesday, March 21. Entry blanks may be obtained from the intramural office.

Experienced referees should see Ken Newell right away. Games will begin officially on March 30.

SWIMMING

Attention Swimmers! The intramural swimming meet is scheduled for Wednesday, March 29. Sign-up sheets are on the intramural door in Bartlett. Get your name in as soon as possible.

The meet is divided into three events. In the first participants will use the breast stroke, 50 and 100 yards; the back stroke, 50 and 100 yards; and the free style, 50, 100, and 200 yards.

Diving calls for five dives, three of which are compulsory—the swan, the front-jack, and the back-jack. The other two may be a front-flip, a one-and-a-half, a back-flip, a back-dive or a back cut-away.

BADMINTON

Only about half of the first quarter games have been played. They must be played off by Monday, March 20.

Weatherman Jinx Baseball Practice

Following a precedent which has become customary for the past few years, bad weather has jinxed baseball practice day-in-and-day-out.

Coach Honaker has had his big baseball squad working out in the big gym for over a week, and hoped that he would be able to take to the diamond for some hitting practice this week. However, the ever present East Tennessee rain dampened all hopes after one session was held out in the open air.

Opener

With the season's opener against Miami University only two weeks off, Honaker has been wielding the ax in the necessity of cutting the squad down to a flexible twenty-three.

Biggest cut will probably come in the pitching department where 11 men are vieing for five spots on the staff. Two men, Leon Berrong and Jim Kren, have theirs virtually sewn down and are beginning to throw hard and "cute."

Catchers

Catchers Jim Baird and Gene Reynolds' arms seem to be in good shape, but without batting practice having been held, their potentialities at the plate are not yet known. The same goes for the rest of the team in that arms are slowly turning into shape while batting eyes are way off.

Primarily in the fore over the past week has been stressing of fundamentals such as picking off base, stealing on the pitcher, moving around the infield and outfield, and bunting—all of which were accomplished in daily gym sessions.

Weather

If the weather will make a change for the better, infield and outfield practice will be the number one assignment for the coming week along with batting practice.

Coach Honaker has also stated that if the weather will stay good and if the sun comes out, a couple of games may be slated with Hiwassee before the Miami game. The Miami team has been working out in their spacious filed house and will have a couple of games under her belt before she comes to town.

58 Men Report For Grid Practice

The roster of boys who are taking part in this year's spring football practice has been issued. Fifty-eight make up the squad, including six high school gridders. By positions, they are

Ends—James Callaway, Ralph Greaser, Raymond Keny, Bert McMahan, Bill Grinstead, Arnold Munn, Howard Frane, Tom Jones, Bob McClelland (HS), Frank Garren (HS), and Ham Traylor (HS);

Guards—Herbert Palmer, Robert Proffitt, Richard Isenberg, James Lester, James Cates, Harold Everett, Gene Russell, K. E. Allen, Hugh Tipton, and Hugh Walker;

Tackles—Jack Rorex, Roy Kramer, Robert Larson, Donald Walker, Joe Bender, John Field, Duane Mason, and Art Dixon;

Centers— Homer Garren, Bob White, O. B. Harris, and Lawrence Major;

Backfield (not listed by position—Ken Shepard, James Campbell, Charlie Allen, Clarence Shepard, Paul Merwin, Bill Gibson, Don Merwin, Paul Ledbetter; George Stanfill, Chuck Holsinger, Arthur Haylock, and Bill Williams (HS); John Schaumberg, Everett Zabriskie and Jerry King (HS), Howard Gress and Hugh Buehler, Bill Caldwell, Bill Vananda, Steve Bailey, Ray Rose, Brannon Boyd, Bud Gilbert (HS) and George Simerly.

30 Cindermen Report For Togs

Thirty prospective cindermen have reported to Coach John A. Davis for assignments this week. These include 13 lettermen from last year's track and cross country teams.

Lettermen from last year's track and cross country teams include Charlie Allen, John Baird, Hap Brahams, George Day, Delbert Earisman, Walter English, Bob Kay, Sid Lambert, Charles Mabry, Bill Menges, Neale Pearson, Ric Rogers and James Thurston. Lambert is captain of this year's cinder squad. Brahams is the alternate captain.

The following is the roster by events:

Two Miles—Rogers, Earisman, Pearson, Mabry, Jay Bright, Tom Kelly, Dave Helwig, and Dick Kerr.

Mile—Rogers, Day, Earisman, Menges, Bright, Kelly, Mabry, Pearson Dillion, Causley, and Emerson Flerkey.

880—Day, Thurston, Baird, Menges, Flerkey, Bert McMahan, Tasker Robinette, Harold Narron, and Dick Dosker.

440—English, Lambert, Thurston, Baird, McMahan, Narron, and Howard Lawson.

Sprintmen— Allen, Clarence Reaser, David Foskey, Bill Poovey, and Harold Winkleman.

Hurdles—Kay and Brahams.

High Jump—Charlie Williams and Oliver Gill.

Several boys who are now out for spring football will join the squad in a few weeks. The nucleus of the field-event men will be made up of football men, and will report after spring practice.

THE SUBSIDIZERS

By Duncan Bennett

Many and biter have been the words written and spoken on both sides of the unending controversy on subsidized athletics. The subsidizer wants to pay college athletes because in so doing one attracts better football and basketball talent, and, theoretically, the dear old Alma Mater is enabled to win more games.

Of course, to the man who proposes to subsidize college athletes, the whole point to any intercollegiate sport is winning. To him, if your team hasn't won it would probably be far better if it hadn't played.

Finance

Too, there is the matter of financial interest. In many areas today, football, and to a lesser extent basketball, are almost synonymous with money. A crowd of 100,000 fans, each of whom has paid at least $1.50 for a seat, produces a kitty not to be sneezed at.

There is, however, a growing tendency among those who have to do with the Empyrean realms of the administration of higher education to think that just may-be something is amiss. Some intrepid souls have even had the termerity to ask whether an athlete goes to school to play football or to be educated. They are even bold enough to call an athletic scholarship a contradiction in terms. And then too, there are always the killjoys who point to Cal Tech and the University of Chicago as two big schools which have no intercollegiate athletics at all, either with or without "athletic scholarships."

Professional?

Some college professors (even at Maryville) have been heard to wax rather bitter on the subject of subsidy vs. unsubsidy. In any argument, those who stand staunchly behind the subsidized idea are bound to come off second best. A man who is paid to come to college and play football is not a college student but a professional athlete.

The fiction persists, even among respected savants of higher education, that a good athlete is a good scholar, per se. It has been said that "there is a close correlation between football talent and general scholastic ability." If this is the case, one could be led to some rather sarcastic speculation on the Kantian philosophy which must be discussed in the dressing rooms of the Chicago Bears, or the discoveries in theoretical physics made by the Philadelphia Eagles.

There is nothing strange in this day and age in the idea that to promote almost anything properly it must be subsidized. The whole social and economic philosophy of the age is in line with the idea of subsidization. After all, if the government can subsidize farmers, public utilities, and other much less mundane and much more assinine ventures, why should not our universities and colleges support the poor, starving, and brilliant athlete with a paltry few hundred dollars?

Problem Remains

The problem of subsidization, like many others, is one which much be faced squarely some day

by those who are responsible for its promotion. It will matter little then what provided the motivation, whether money, equality, or the desire to win.

Maryville, and a relatively large number of other small colleges in the country, have steadfastly refused to support any form of the "athletic scholarship." If we never win another football or basketball game, it is to be hoped that at least we will continue to lose them without recourse to professional athletes.

books. University menus are supplemented with food. Rest centers for undernourished students are set up: tubercular students placed in sanatoriums. To speed recovery and self-sufficiency, self-help hostels and community centers are being created.

Supplementing and replacing outdated textbooks is done through CARE, which sends them overseas to be distributed. Besides the regular aid, DP students are being granted scholarships and expense waivers by various colleges and universities to enable them to complete their education. Last year, 200 DP students were enrolled in approximately one hundred colleges. American students are given the opportunity to study specific subjects and make student contacts in foreign countries by planned study tours by the International Student Service with which WSSF collaborates.

The value of American money can be seen in these examples. The cost for providing hot breakfasts during the coldest three months for an Austrian student suffering from malnutrition is $6.65. Twenty-five dollars pays for a month's treatment for a girl at Moni Pendeli, the WSSF TB preventorium in Greece. Three dollars will buy a necessary textbook for a student, and $1575 will maintain a cooperative student hostel in one of the main university cities in India.

Elections will be held at the March 30 meeting. Only paid members are eligible to vote.

Those wishing to go to the Pre-Ministerial banquet at the Chilhowee Inn, April 16, should see Bob Williams, President Ken Newell announced.

School Supervisor Speaks To FTA

Elsie Burrell, Supervisor of Blount County Schools, spoke on "Teaching As A Profession" at the FTA meeting Thursday. Miss Burrell stressed as requirements for the profession good training, service as a motivation, growth, recruitment of young people, happiness in work, control of the licensing of teachers, and a code of ethics.

Libby King, chairman, Bob Lehr, Rosie Pascal, and Beryl Stewart were appointed on the nominating committee.

Bob Lehr discussed the WSSF and urged the Maryville chapter of FTA to support it on campus.

Ray Kirby, president, reminds all committees planning for the April 6 social for high school FTA chapters and prospective members to meet Monday afternoon at 3:30 p.m. in Thaw 205.

Dr. McClelland Urges Cooperative Library Program

A cooperative program between students and library staff was urged by Dean Frank McClelland in Chapel Tuesday, in order to increase the efficiency in the use of the library facilities and to make it a better place for studying.

Dean McClelland brought out main points in which the library efficiency is decreased by thoughtlessness; first, in the matter of noiseness, when some make it impossible for those who wish to do so to study effectively; second, when books are taken out of the library without being properly charged out at the circulation or reserve desks.

Full Cooperation

Students are reminded that the library is not a place for visiting, dating, having committee meetings, and, above all, not for studying aloud. The privilege of using the library for reading and studying is not for those students who cannot refrain from unnecessary talking.

"The most efficient services to you depend on your cooperation in making the library the best possible," concluded Dean McClelland.

"It will take the full cooperation of both library staff and student body to make the library a quiet place for undisturbed study. The best service is not possible when the staff has to watch the reading room," stated librarian Ruth Grierson. "If the student body will cooerate in returning books promptly and in charging out books properly, the attention of the library staff can be devoted to giving better service."

"We of the library staff appreciate the cooperation we have received from the student body this week. We believe students have been making a real effort to keep the library quieter," continued Miss Grierson.

U. of Ala. String Quartet Plays In Concert Monday

Ensemble Appears In Final Program Of Artist Series

The University of Alabama String Quartet, the last presentation in this season's Artist Series, will appear in concert Monday evening at 8 p. m. in Alumni Gym. Reserved seats are still available at 20 cents to students who hold activity cards.

The concert will include Haydn's Quartet in B flat major, Opus 76, number 4, the so-called "Sunrise" Quartet, one of Haydn's greatest; the Andante Cantabile from Tschaikowsky's Quartet in D major; Tschaikowsky's Cherzo from the Quartet in E flat minor; and contemporary Samuel Barber's Quartet, Opus 11.

Barber, whose newest sonata was performed recently in Knoxville by Vladimir Horowitz, is a former pupil of Curtis Institute, a Prix de Rome, and twice winner of the Pulitzer Prize for music (1935, 1936).

The University of Alabama String Quartet was founded in 1944 by Ottokar Cadek, professor of music at the university, and for 14 years first violinist of the New York String Quartet. Other members of the group, all on the university faculty, are Margaret Christy, cellist; Emily Searcy, second violinist; and Henry Barrett, viola.

After their concert here, the quartet is scheduled for performances at the University of Chattanooga and Western Kentucky State College at Bowling Green.

Single tickets for those who do not hold activity cards are available at $1.10 from Dorothy Horne of the Artist Series committee.

The University of Alabama String Quartet, shown above, are to appear in concert for the final program in this year's College Artist Series, Alumni Gym, Monday at eight.

Nine Participate In Music Recital

MC's music faculty presented its second recital in the Collegium Musicum series at Chilhowee Clubhouse last evening at 8:00 p. m. Instructor Thelma Nelson supplied oral annotations.

The program included Mozart's "Trio in E-major," "Allergo," "Adante Grazioso," and "Allegro" played by Associate Professor Dorothy Horne, violinist; Doris Sommerville, cellist; and Dan Winter, pianist.

Professor Katharine Davies, pianist, played Haydn's "Andante con Variazioni in F-minor." Instructor Bernice Blair, soprano, accompanied by Instructor Thelma Nelson, sang from Mozart's "Le Nozze di Figaro," "Deh Vieni, Non Tardar?" and "Voi Che Sapete?"

Miss Horne and Miss Davies played Beethoven's "Sonata in F major, Op. 24, (Spring.) Assistant Professor Harry Harter, tenor, accompanied by Instructor Alice Eaddy, sang Beethoven's "Adalaide."

Instructor Dorothy Vawter and Instructor Alice Eaddy, pianists, played Mozart's "Sonata in D-major for two pianos K 448."

Six Attend Band Clinic

Six MC band members attended the band reading clinic held at UT in connection with the program of the Tennessee Education Association Wednesday afternoon and all day yesterday.

Presiding was Dr. Alvin R. Edgar, director of music at Iowa State Teachers College. Attending were Berbara Rosensteel, Clarence Reaser, Bill Selander, Randall LeQuire, Ray Smith, and George Carpenter.

HOPE PLEDGES STILL DUE

College Printing office announced this week that $1509.80 have been paid in to the Fred Hope Fund. This leaves only $300 in unpaid pledges.

Debaters Take Top Place In Pi Kappa Regional Tilt

Maryville's debate team received four out of nine first places in the Southeastern Regional Tourney of Pi Kappa Delta at the University of Georgia last week. Those who went to Athens were Roger Cowan, Tom Kennedy, Eric Meadows, Carl Lindsay, Carol Corbett, Carolyn Miller, Elenor Kramer, and Dorothy Stater.

Maryville men's team, both negative and affirmative, composed of Kennedy, Cowan, Lindsay, and Meadows tied for first with Lenoir-Rhyne.

Cowan won first in oratory with "Democracy on Trial," an oration about racial prejudice. Miss Corbett placed first in extemporaneous speaking. With an hour's preparation, she spoke on property tax and the electoral college. Placing third in oratory, Miss Corbett's oration was "Fear."

Democracy On Trial

Miss Miller received second in oratory, which was about educational freedom; and second in impromptu speaking. She had one minute to prepare two four-minute talks on displaced persons and American-Canadian relationships respectively.

Representing eight states, schools included University of Carolina, Miami University, Alabama College, Southern Mississippi, Citadel Military School of North Carolina, Lenoir-Rhyne, Tennessee Polytechnic Institute, Wake Forest and University of Georgia.

Accompanied by Assistant Professor Arda Walker, two men's teams, composed of Tom Kelly and Bob Cuthill; Newell Witherspoon and Louis Evans, left Friday at 6 a.m. for Georgetown, Ky.

Men Connete This Year In Alexander Oratory Set For Wednesday

T. T. Alexander Oratorical Contest preliminary speeches will be given Wedensday at 3:30 in Thaw 214, Dr. Horace Orr, chairman of the committee announced.

From the competing men, two will be chosen for prizes and delivering their speeches in Chapel.

The Alexander prize fund was established by a friend of the college who desires to remain anonymous and to have the prize named in honor of one of Maryville's foreign missionaries.

The first and second prizes were awarded annually to winners of an oratorical contest conducted by the Bible and Religious Education faculty.

Library Sells Old Books, Prices Low

Lamar Memorial Library will hold a book sale in Thaw Lobby, beginning Monday, March 27, through Friday, March 31. The books are duplicate copies of books now in use in the library. Prices range from five cents to a quarter each for single volumes with some sets priced up to $1.50.

The fololwing hours will be observed during the sale: Monday, 10:30-11:20, 1:00-1:30; Tuesday, 9:30-10:20, 1:00-1:30; Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, 1:00-1:30.

Among the books offered for sale are a set of Gibbons' "Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire," works of Chaucer, Keats, Burns, and several individual commentaries of the Cambridge edition Bible.

"Lorna Doone," Cooper's "Leather-Stocking Tales", and novels by Dickens, Shakespeare, Scott and Van Dyke will also be sold. About 300 books, all in good condition, will be put on sale during these days.

Peggy Cummings is in charge.

Middleton Sets Tryouts For 'Joan Of Lorraine'

Try-outs for the Playhouse production "Joan of Lorraine" have been announced by Director Herman Middleton for Thursday, March 30, at 8:00 p.m. in Bartlett Hall. The cast calls for 18 men and five women.

Copies of the play are available in the library. Director Middleton said that no rehearsals would be scheduled during the comprehensive examinations or the Y retreat.

"Joan," written by Maxwell Anderson, is to be the commencement play. The story, a play within a play, tells of her rise in France. Ingrid Bergman starred with Sam Wanamaker in the Broadway production.

Measamer, Cox Sing In Recital

Gloria Measamer, contralto; and Patricia Cox, mezzo-soprano, accompanied by John Sayre and Irene Launitz, will be presented in a junior recital at Chilhowee Clubhouse Tuesday, March 28, at 4:30 p.m.

Miss Measamre will sing "Sento nel core," "Se Florino e fedele," and "Se il ciel mi divide" (from "Alessandor nelle Indie") by Scaralatti;

"Tag meines Lebens," "Elfensang," and "Meeresstille" by Erich Wolff; and three Biblical songs by Dvorak, "God Is My Shepherd." "Lord, Thou Art My Refuge." "I Will Sing New Songs of Gladness."

Miss Cox will sing "Lasciatchi 'o pianza" (from "Rinaldo") by Handel; three Venezuelan songs. "La noche del llano abajo." "Cuando el caballo se para." "Hilando el copo del viento" by Plaza;

"Du bist wie eine Blume" by Rubinstein; "Unsmonst," "Fur Einen," and "Zwei welk Reosen" by Franz; two Gypsy songs by Dvorak. "Silent and Lone," and "Freer Is the Gypsy"; "Velvet Shoes" Thompson; "The Pasture," Naginski.

At Council — Student Council Outlines Town Night Procedure

Town night sign out procedure was the main topic of discussion at the regular meeting of Student Council Wednesday night. It was stressed that the girls should be reminded to sign out only on the special sheet provided for Town Night. Any special privilege other than the regular town night privilege should be signed out on another sheet so as not to be confused. Nothing like going to the library, visiting another dormitory, or visiting friends in town should be signed on the town night sheet.

Also, any person with permission to go out of town night bounds should report this permission to either the secretary, Alice Huddleston, or the president, Bill Nish, of the Council. If this permission is not reported, that person is liable to be turned in as a violator of the town night privilege.

Councils Approve Change In Student Body Constitution

Student Body To Meet Friday To Consider

The following changes in the Student Body Constitution have been approved by the Student Council and the Executive Council of the Faculty and will come before the Student Body for its consideration at a Student Body meeting to be held after Chapel on Friday, March 31.

Students are asked by the Student Council to examine the changes and be ready to ask questions in order that the meeting may be as short as possible. The changes will not be read at the Student Body meeting since they are published here in full. The complete constitution may be found in the "M" Book.

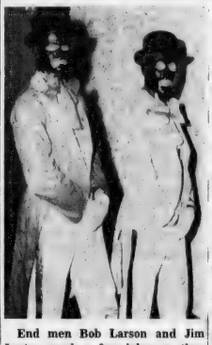
Hunter, McClelland Speak At Meeting

At the meeting of the Tennessee College Association at U-T Thursday morning, Dean of Curriculum Edwin R. Hunter presented a paper on "Postwar Developments in Maryville Curricula."

Dean of Students Frank D. McClelland, in the absence of President Lloyd, read the "Report for the Commission on Christian Higher Education of the Association of American Colleges."



The Tennessee Education Association also met Thursday and Friday with the College Association.

Black Face Novelties Featured Tonight At 8 In Minstrel For Sixth WSSF Drive On Campus

By Sarah Brown

Tonight's minstrel show at 8 p.m. in Alumni Gymnasium climaxes Maryville's sixth World Student Service Fund drive.

Tickets are 50 cents, but there is also a place on the ticket to pledge an additional contribution to WSSF, if the student so desires.

End men Bob Larson and Jim Lester crack a few jokes as they will tonight in the YM-YW Minstrel. WSSF, fund-raising agent for World Student Relief, is to benefit from the show.

Sponsored jointly by YM and YW, the minstrel show has fifteen acts. These include dance numbers, the Dixieland band, a quartette, solos, duets, novelty numbers, and songs by the chorus.

"I'm Sitting on Top of the World" will be sung by Roger Cowan. Sally Sutton sings "Dream Train," and Sara Jo Emert will do a novelty song.

Dance numbers include a tap dance by Margaret Shields and a soft shoe dance by Jim Campbell and Johnny Sayre.

The Dixieland band made up of Dave Grubbs, Irv Kenner, Bob Lynn, Jim Watt, Ray Packard, Jim Lathan, and Greg Howard, plays "Music, Music, Music."

Quartette members Brahams, Packard, Hyatt, and English will be heard in "Daddy Get Your Baby Out of Jail."

Roger Cowan is interlocuter. Bob Larson, "Mr. Amneza"; Jim Lester, "Mr. Demus"; Bill Nish, "Mr. Churchill"; and Ray Holsey, "Mr. Blackball" are end men.

A 22-man chorus including Hap Brahams, George Day, Ross Dooley, Ray Packard, Walt English, Don Hyatt, Dave Grubbs, Dick Hyatt, Maynard Noble, Charlie Allen, Mike Kay, Hayden Bryant, Bill Faulkner, Bill Varker, Ben Gearhart, Don Brakebill, Jim Darroch, Glen Gage, Wally Schroeder, Tom Cummings, Tom Jones, and Charlie Schroeder, sings opening and closing choruses, "Moon Medley," and "I Never See Maggie Alone."

Herb Keene sings "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling," and June Holsey is heard in "Can't Help Loving Dat Man of Mine."

Gracie Scruggs and Jody Richardson team up to sing "Carry Me Back to Tennessee."

"Mr. Amenza" and "Mr. Demus" present a novelty number. "Mr. Churchill" sings "Canterbury Shoeshine Boy." "Lucky Old Sun" will be sung by "Mr. Blackall."

Johnny Sayre is pianist and George Barber is stage manager. Script writers are Larson and Lester.

Webb, Hood And Winter Perform In Senior Recital

Mezzo-soprano Mary Holly Webb, accompanied by June Hood, and pianist Dan Winter will be presented in a senior recital, Friday, March 31, at the Chilhowee Clubhouse at 8:00 p.m.

Miss Webb will sing "Dans un bois solitaire," "Oiseaus si tous les ans," "Un moto di gioja" (Marriage of Figaro) by Mozart; "Mignon," "Ephiphanias," "Blumengruss," and "Anakreons Grab" from Hugo Wolf's "Goethe Leider;" arias from "Taunhauser," 'Dich theure Hallo," and "Elizabeth's Prayer" by Wagner.

Winter will play "Declaration," "Episode," and "Psalm" from "Third Piano Sonata" by Vincent Persichetti; three etudes, "Op. 25 No. 7," "Op. 25 No. 8," and "Op. 10 No. 12" by Chopin; three rapsodies, "Op. 79 No. 1," "Op. 79 No. 2," and "Op| 119 No. 4" by Brahms.

YM-YW Will Present Special Music Program

A special musical program will be featured at a joint meeting of YM and YW tomorrow afternoon in the Library at 1:30. The program has been arranged by Peggy Cummings and Bob Holley.

VOLS CANCEL MEETING

Student Vols will not meet tomorrow night. Their next meeting is April 2.

Rev. O. C. Wallace, MC Graduate, Honored In 50th Year As Clergyman

By Dick Newman

Services Sunday at Maryville's Second Presbyterian Church, Doll Street, honored its pastor, the Rev. O. C. Wallace, on his fiftieth anniversary as an ordained Presbyterian USA clergyman and his 23rd anniversary as pastor of Second Church.

Morning and afternoon services were in recognition of Rev. Wallace's ministry. Speakers included J. K. Hilyard of the Knoxville College faculty and the Rev. S. A. Downer, Moderator of LaVere Presbytery.

Born in Maryville, Rev. Wallace graduated from Maryville College in 1892, several years before a special act of the state legislature barred Negroes. He taught in Knox county for several years, later attended and graduated from Western Seminary, Pittsburg, whre he took the STB degree.

He was ordained in the spring of 1900 by Allegheny Presbytery, which is now Pittsburgh Presbytery. He taught and preached in South Carolina and Arkansas for some years then came to Alcoa to teach and take the Second Church pastorate.

Second Presbyterian Church was organized about 1868 by Maryville Presbyterians, primarily for freed slaves of that religious persuasion. Their first church building was next to what is now Maryville's Public Library. Rev. Wallace recalls the construction of a second edifice at that same place during his youth.

The congregation has built a new sanctuary on Doll Street which was completed last year and dedicated last summer. It is a modern building with modern conveniences and facilities.

In an Echo interview, Rev Walalce said that the Second Church congregation was growing and the future bright. He expressed complete assurance that the Negro people, as more opportunities are made available to them, will continue to develop into full citizenship.

Choir To Present Bach Liturgies At Special Vespers

W. Curtis Hughes at the organ and the Vesper Choir under the direction of Harry H. Harter will present chorales and chorale preludes from the liturgical year by J. S. Bach at New Providence Church, Sunday, March 26, at 7:00 p.m.

Music Instructor Hughes will play "Prelude and Fugue in E minor" as the prelude, and the choral response to the invocation is to be "All Things Are Thine."

Two hymns harmonized by Bach will be used for congregational singing, "The Morning Star," and "O Sacred Head, Now Wounded." President R. W. Llovd will speak on "Bach's Contribution to the Work of the Church."

From the liturgical year, organ and choir will present Advent, "Once He Came in Blessing;" Christmas, "Jesu, Priceless Treasure;" the old and new year, "Come, Let Us All With Fervour;" Passiontide, "O Lamb of God Most Stainless;" and Easter, "Christ Lay in the Bonds of Death."

Choral response to the benediction is "Lord Jesus Christ with us Abide." Organ postlude is "If Thou But Suffer God to Guide Thee."

Dean Releases Schedule

Dr. Edwin R. Hunter, Dean of Curriculum, announced this week that a tentative schedule for '50-'51 semester will be released next week to allow faculty and students to determine possible conflicts.

'They Still Need You'

Tonight's minstrel will climax the week of growing interest in the World Student Service Fund which began Sunday under the auspices of the YM and YW.

For the past six years Maryville has pledged to WSSF. This is but another indication of the interest of Maryville students in the welfare of needy students throughout the countries of the world.

Tickets to the show tonight are but 50 cents. The entertainment alone will be well worth that amount. In addition to the price of the ticket, there is also a space to pledge an extra contribution for those who so desire.

Hats off to the Y Radio for its cooperation in presenting a special program Monday over radio station WGAP. Interviews with David Kincaid, John Baird, Lavina Rodriguez, Don Merwin, and Craig Fisher brought an "on the hand account" of conditions in India, Korea, Puerto Rico, and Iran, and China.

This campus drive for WSSF is one which we should support to the highest degree. This is our opportunity to help them. "They still need us."

Table Talk

One of the most influential factors in bringing students to Maryville College is the second in the "blessed triad" College slogan: high scholastic standing, low cost to students, and positive Christian emphasis.

In keeping with this policy, we feel sure, the college dining hall takes particular pains to watch budgets. In recent weeks we have noticed a rising tide of discontent with what is placed before the two-thirds of us who eat there.

Many of the fine things about our eating facilities have been, lately, overlooked. The family style of congenial groups of eight, rather than an entire cafeteria of hundreds, coupled with the practice of one member of that group as waiter, makes for a pleasure atmosphere often lost in more "efficient" ways of feeding many people rapidly. That everyone may eat at the same time each day also adds to th camaraderie of our campus.

But the complaint has not been of these things. Concern has been expressed over the selection of foods. The superfluity of beans—admittedly inexpensive—and the clock-like regularity of the bacon combination have been but two of the more distressing features. Surely those who have felt so strongly about this matter have not overlooked that expenses must be cut to provide such fine meals as we have on Sunday and for other selected dinners and yet stay inside the still-small boarding fee charged each student.

Their criticisms do seem justified, however, when we sit down to meager meals followed by sumptuous desserts and when whipped cream is seen nearly as often as plenty of plain milk. Most MCers, we feel, would commend the dining hall management for their creditable handling of a difficult job but, nevertheless, ask for a little more consideration for the substantial and not the frill.

Spring Is Sprung

What with spring here, the fancies of both sexes turn to thoughts of baseball, mid-semesters, the Easter parade, and counting the days until the summer job and cash starts rolling in. Just to be true to the tradition (of which Maryville has an abundance) comes a smattering of what runs rampant all year, love! Love is like a mushroom—you never konws its the real thing until it's too late.

Caldwell's Last Stand

While visiting the home of a very good friend, Ethel Caldwell fell down a flight of stairs, crashed into the front room and wrapped herself around a few piano legs. Showing the results of her catastrophe, though not too obviously, Miss Caldwell is having difficulty sitting.

Deft-initions

Push: force exerted on a door marked "pull."
Party: of which the United States has three kinds—Democratic, Republican, and cocktail.
Proverb: short sentence based on long experience.
Gold-digger: girl who breaks dates by going out with them.
Diner: a chew chew car.
Anatomy: that which everybody has but which looks better on some.
Scandal: that which has to be bad to be good.

On a Date

"That's 'Pink Lightning'" lipstick you're wearing, isn't it?" he asked.

"Why yes, but how did you know that?" she replied, flattered that he should notice.

"Oh, I've been struck by it before!" he quipped.

Date To Remember

The prettiest coed on campus was triping to class when she spied a good looking athlete with an interesting look in his eye coming her way. "Look here,' he said, I've noticed you around a lot." "Well, I've seen you around too," she replied demurely.

"Well, are you doing anything special tonight," he faltered. "No-o-o, what did you have in mind," she asked excitedly. "I was wondering if you would be free to sit with our baby while my wife and I take in a movie!"

Oblique Angles

It takes two to make a match—a girl and her anxious mother.

The thing that is called congestion in streetcars and buses is highly esteemed as intimacy on the dance floor.

All the sleep we ever need is five minutes more.

Nature is a wonderful thing: a million years ago she didn't know we'd be wearing glasses and yet look where she put our ears.

A girl never really loses her girlish figure—she either reduces it but more often doubles it.

Listening With Both Ears

Studying molarity in freshman chem, a frosh was heard to exclaim, "I'm having trouble with my morality!"

Panting after reaching the top of Thaw, one student breathlessly quipped, "And this is what they call higher education!"

Referring to the buses going on the Friendsville concert trip, Vesper Choir-er Judy Bren delriously anonunced, "We have to be loaded by 6:20, kids!"

Walking back from the dance one night, Dick Whatley called luringly to a group of library-bound girls, "Are you pretty, mmm? Wait for me and I will guide you to your destination!"

Confusing grudges with other things, Lavinia Rodriquez was describing a certain professor as "one who holds crushes against his students!"

Distressed at the apparent loss of a new record, an agitated junior burst forth with "Roomate, what happened to my new record—the one I played all day yesterday!"

Talk of The Week

—REPRINT, RIP REEVES

Voices, Masks, and Shadows

ON THE SCREEN

"Key to the City," Monday and Tuesday fare at the Capitol, stars Clark Gable and Loretta Young in a zany account of a zanier mayor's convention in San Francisco. Most of the gags and laughs come from the combination on the rigid parliamentary procedurist (Loretta Young) thrown in close proximity with the Bachanalian Gable. This combines to raise the eyebrows of many, including Gable's political opponents.

Wedensday only will see Claudette Colbert, Don Ameche and George Coulouris in "Sleep My Love," an example of the eternal triangle combined with scare scenes.

"The Gal Who Took the West," starring Yvonne De Carlo, is the Thursday and Friday show at the Capitol, Yvonne is the opera singer who decides to benefit the West with her talents and ends up to the ears in a feud of two O'Hara brothers by falling in love with both of them.

Saturday will see "Phantom Plains," starring Wild Bill Elliot, as the regular wild-and-wooly feature at the Capitol.

At the Park this week: Monday—"Follow Me Quietly" with William Lundigan and Dorothy Patrick; Tuesday and Wednesday—"Canadian Pacific" with Randall Scott and Jane Watt; Thursday fare is "Alias the Champ" and Saturday has the usual Western in the form of "Back Trail" starring Johnnie Mack Brown.

NEW THIS WEEK

"Melville in the South Seas," by Charles Roberts Anderson, is a biography of that part of Herman Melville's life which he spent in the South Seas. There is considerable material from Melville's diaries with many newly discovered items added by the author.

"Venus, the Lonely Goddess," by John Erskine is a tale of the life of the Greek goddess, of love, Venus and how, although she had as a mission to inspire love, she herself was lonely and without love.

The "Diccionario de Literatura Espanola" is a Madrid published dictionary comparable to Webster's "Biographical Dictionary" in its listings and descriptions of authors. The "Diccionario," however, also lists terms used in literature.

"Rector's Naughty 90's Cookbook contains over 400 choice recipies of that period covering a complete line of foods. It is also embellished with humor and gossip about notables of the Ninety's.

Other additions this week include "A Measure for Greatness." "Partners for Life," "Second Wind," and "Parson Austen's Daughter."

MINSTREL

Of interest is the YMCA Minstrel Show tonight in the Alumni Gym at 8:00 to benefit the WSSF. The Y Show gives our students a chance to express their talents in the concealment of blackface.

QUARTET

The University of Alabama String Quartet will present another Artists' Series programs Monday night in the Alumni Gym at 8 p.m. This promises to be a very enjoyable program.

Sports Echoes

By Neal Pearson

●THINGS HAVE BEGUN TO GET ROUGHER for the tracksters this past week as J.D.'s training system has gone into effect. It is similar to that of the Dodgers at Vero Beach, with their P.A. System telling everybody where to go, along with a mimeographing of bulletins everyday wtih instructions on how, when, and where to do things. Coach Davis' isn't as bad, but his system is a novel one here at Maryville with its printed instructions.

Speaking of track, isn't it funny that guys who complain the most and who haven't the slightest bit of form always seem to come out on top. Maryville's cross country team of the past year was an example of the formless few crossing the tape in first place, and bending over the nearest fence. . . . But when speaking of the hypochondriacs, Fred Wilt seems to be the latest to join the crop. Like some of his illustrious predecessors ,the flying FBI agent seems to run his best when he feels his worst. For over a week before the famous Wanamaker Mile, he had been complaining about a sore ankle. He had skipped his usual practice of running around Central Park at night and had even stayed home from his Red and crook-chasing duties; showing up at the Garden for the Milrose Games with a pair of crutches and limping in to a measly 4:09.75 mile.

Actually Wilt feels he may become a tyochondriac—is that good or bad? Remember Glenn Cunningham? He always had the miseries. . . the worse he moaned the better he ran. In 1933 when Old Scarlegs ran that 4:04.4 mile indoors at Dartmouth (paced on an outsize track) he was afraid he was going to get double pneumonia, at least, when some cad opened the window on his second lap and he had to slow up for fear of tightening up.

●WITH BASEBALL HITTING the front pages next week, we thought we might bring up a few items for speculation and thought which will have to be looked over at the end of the year. Number one is the filling up of the major league benches with the bonus babies. It will be interesting to see how Frank "Pig" House of the Tigers, Johnny Antonelli of the Braves, Curt Simmons of the Phils, and Jim Baumer ($50,000) of the White Sox do after having served their one year periods in Organized Baseball's minors.

●HOW WILL THE GIANTS FARE THIS SEASON? Leo Durocher's repetitious and screechy lament that he couldn't win with the kind of ball club he had last year looks like it has been dispelled with the jettisoning of the Power with a fury similar to that of an anti-capitalist over the winter. The accen has been shifted to one of speed, mobility, finesse—outslick 'em if you can't out hit'em, huh. The Lip also has something the Giants haven't had in many a year in the second base combo of Dark and Stanky—two guys who can make the all-important double play. The Giants could have hit 400 circuit smashes in '47 and still have missed because of their weakness down the middle. Unless they hurt someone, the homer is something decorative. Whether the addition of speed will improve the charm of the also fan-less Giants remains to be seen. We'll have to admit, though, that it should be more exciting to see a speedboat thrown out at second trying for two than watching a leadfoot collapsing on the way to first.

●HITS AND ERRORS—While 90% of baseball's magnate are raising sand about the Pirates' acquisition of Paul Pettit for a cool $100,000, Branch Rickey, the peon's man, went out and signed Pettit's catcher, Darrold Myers, for next-to-notihng—though the Mahatma may have thrown in a pair of spikes for good measure on condition that he make good. . . . John Jachym who bought 40 per cent of the Washington club was shocked when he learned that the Penny-Pincher had been operating without a public relations man for the last several years. But we would think that it was more of a blessing that they didn't have one to call atention to their low and lower eighth-place position last season.

The Mexican Baseball Guide sells for two bucks and on the front cover is a picture of the official ball. Guess what the trademark is? Believe it or not ,it's a rabbit. News Item: "Dr. David Farrell Tracy, doctor of metaphysics, now with the St. Louis Browns, stated that any suggestion accepted under hypnosis must come out in physical action". In other words, when a hitter is told he is good, he is sure to get two bases if he takes two and hits to right. . . . or if a pitcher is informed that Ted Williams or Joe Dimaggio is a bango hitter and that by concentrating and looking the two squarely in the eye, he'll baffle 'em with a nice change of pace. Wanna bet?

INTRAMURAL INFO

By Neale Pearson

SWIMMING

The swimming meet schedule for this year's intramurals is almost filled up. All names of those participating must be in by noon on March 29. The sign up sheet is on the intramural door. The meet will begin at 4:30 on Wednesday, March 29.

SOFTBALL

Intramural softball begins Thursday, March 30. Game time is set for 3:40 and if the team is not assembled by 3:45 they will forfeit. Two seven inning games will be played on each diamond Monday through Friday. Things are shaping up this year for a big season with 10 teams participating. Any one who will help referee see Ken Newell.

BADMITTON

Those who have not yet played off their scheduled games for the first quarter are Chesley Anderson and Ray Halsey, Howard Gress and Jerry Sayers, Jay Bright and Clyde McCampbell, Wes Miles and Sidney Lambert, Charles Trotter and Don Walker. The deadline is March 27 for all first quarter games.

VOLLEYBALL

The Olympics with their ace-spiker, Allan Caldwell, however may disagree and upset the dope-bucket as they have many a time this year.

All games will be seven innings long and there will be one game played per day on the Court Street and Golf Course fields.

Next week will be a big week for Intramural Sports with the holding of championship matches in Volleyball and Swimming. Added attraction will also be the beginning of the Intramural Softball League with its slam-bang teams and umpire-baiting. For the details, read on.

Volleyball Championships

The big championship playoff games will be held Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 in Bartlett. First place winners in the Orange and Garnet leagues will clash in the title game at 3:30 and the second place squads will clash around 4:15. Both games are slated to come off Tuesday unless by some unfortunate occurrance a tie is forthcoming between the first and second place teams.

The Simple Six look like the best team from this corner and barring any unforseen event should walk off with the honors because of their deft team handling of the ball.

Swimming Meet

Wedensday afternoon will see the second day in a row of championships with the holding of the annual Intramural Swimming Meet. The meet will begin at about a quarter to four in the College pool.

Eevnts which can be entered are: 50 and 100 yard free style; 50 and 100 yard backstroke; and 50 and 100 yard breast stroke races.

For those who are fair in all three of the above but not experts, there will be a 150 yard medley race consisting of two laps each in the free, back, and breast strokes.

Champs Back

If the reports we have received are in any way true, competition is going to be stiff with Jimmy Calaway probably coming out off the gridiron and setting a couple of new pool records as he did last year. Thad Godwin, Branin Alexander Boyd, Tom Yeaworth, Ed Vanderslice, and George Barbour, will be back to defend their titles with arms a'flapping.

Scots are pitchers Jim Kren and Leon Berrong; catcher Gene Reynolds; first-base Walter Pentz; second-base King Berrong; short-stop Bobby Boring; third-base Jack Buckley; and outfielders Hugh Hamil, Bennie Baldwin, and Bobby Neff.

Other hopefuls still on the roster are pitchers Sonny Short, Bill Waters, Gene Payne, C. L. Hager, Gene Parks, Clint Bopst, Leaky Campbell, and Robert Kees; catchers Jim Baird, Tom Kees and John Riddle;

Infielders are Ken Yunkers, Clarence Shepard, Jim Campbell, Homer Garren, Roger Trotter, Bob Worthington, John Shields, Charles Trotter, and Tom Jones; and outfielders Jerry Campbell, Walter Rowley, Earl Valentine, and Bill Anderson. Thomas Byrd is the manager.

Scot Baseballers Getting Ready For Redskin Opener

Bad weather has taken a few more valuable days away from the diamonders, but with long practices on good days the team should be in good shape for next Friday's opener.

The first big test of the year for the Scots comes against Miami University Friday afternoon. The Red-Skins, as usual, will present a top-notch nine for the two game series beginning on Friday and concluding on Saturday. It is hoped that there will be a large crowd out to cheer the boys on to victory. Last year the Red-Skins took the Scots twice, 10-4 and 3-2.

Hiwassee ?

Coach Honaker indicated the other day that there might be a practice game with Hiwassee sometime next week before the Miami encounters. This depends on whether the weather is good or not during the next few days. Hiwassee usually has an aggressive ball team. They beat the Scotties 5-3 last year.

Tennis Team Paces UT Vols In Practice

Maryville's aspiring tennis team took on the University of Tennessee Vols in a practice match yesterday to open up the season. The match was originally scheduled for playing at Knoxville but was switched to the Maryville courts this week.

Tennessee started her season off by taking a spring-training tour through Florida where they had their racquets snatched away by the Florida Gators, Rollins, and Florida Southern. By now, the UT sextet should not only have a tan but also the makings of a good team.

Since The Echo goes to press Friday afternoon, pairing for the match were not known.

U-T Tough

Tennessee brought over a six man squad composed of John Cullum, Bill Davis, Gavin Gentry, a veteran netter, Nathan Smith, W. G. Currie, and Tommy Bartlett, better known for his exploits as a baseball player for the Orange and White.

Tennessee's showing in her two matches thus far hasn't been as good as was expected, but the squad has been improving greatly. Bartlett has been their most consistent player so far this year —he being the only one to win a match against the Tars of Rollins.

Maryville's doubles lineup is Anderson and Miles, Cardozo and Gage, and Sayres and Gearhart.

Coach Johnson wasn't very hopeful of pulling an upset or really making the match close before the balls started flying but said that the practice would do the Scot-netsters plenty of good in preparation for the coming season which opens against LMU on April 20.

Returning men from last year's squad are Miles, Anderson, Gage, Sayres, and Gearhart.. New men on the squad are Buzz Cardozo and Dick Lebold. Cardozo from Belleville, N.J. was a three-sport man in high school and the pre-med major's fortees were basketball, baseball, and tennis.

Lebold also played across the net at Zanesville, Ohio.

Though he was number two man last year, Clyde McCampbell has been forced to take a seat on the sidelines. McCampbell is the best sparring partner on the court and is contributing to the team's success though he isn't playing.

The set-to with LMU, here, will be one in which the Scot racqueteers go after season number two of undefeated partisanship. The Scots have won eleven in a row over a three year period and will try and make the Pioneers the 12th victim.

Footballers End Practice With Intrasquad Tussle

Yesterday 46 men concluded three intensive weeks of training with the annual Orange-Garnet Game. Last year's contest was won by the Oranges 18-6, and once again they were out to keep up the streak.

Charlie Allen on whose shoulders much of the burden of this year's football will rest has been showing up well all through the spring-training grind. Kenny Shepard, the mighty mite, has been doing all right from the other halfback.

Bill Gibson, Brannin Boyd, Paul Merwin, and Everett Zabriskie are amongst the few who have received Coach Davis' word of aprpoval.

Lineup For The Line!

The unsung heroes on the line are also coming in for their share of the glory. Captain Don Walker is setting the pace and the rest are following him. Babe Keny and Bert McMahan, are a couple of the ends coming in for commendation while "No-see" Kramer has gotten into shape and deevloped a special "Tackle Around" play that depends on Butch's fleetness in sneaking around the opposition.

Jim Cates and Ike Eisenberg whose special fortees are the guard posts have been stopping the line plunges and should make quite a fight out of it for the left guard post when fall rolls around.

Tea For Two

This year's game also saw some new formations coming back into use with the resurrection on a full scale of the T. Maryville teams back in days of long ago used the T formation long before Clark Shaugnessy ever came along when their material was light.

With the departure of 17 seniors depleting the beef, that the squad is able to tote around considerably, Coaches Davis and Honaker have switched back to the T.

The lineups:

Orange	Pos.	Garnet
Grinstead	LE	McClelland (MHS)
Walker	LT	Bender
Cates	LG	Isenberg
White	C	Garren, H.
Palmer	RG	Proffitt
Larsen	RT	Kramer
Greaser	RE	Keny
Gibson	QB	King (MHS)
Shepard, K.	RH	Merwin
Allen	LH	Shepard, C.
Rose	FB	Caldwell

SUBS: Orange—Major, C. Jones, RE; Mason, LT; Rorex, RT; Lester, LG; Everett, RG; J. Callaway, LE; Zabriskie, QB; Gress, RH; Schaumberg, LH; and Campbell, FB.

Garnet—Harris, C; McMahan, LE; Traylor (MHS) and Garren (MHS), RE; D. Merwin, LT; Dixon, RT; Myers, LG; Walker and Russell, RG; Haylock, QB; Williams, RH; Stanfill, LH; and Boyd FB.

The Single-Wing is built primarily for a hefty-bone-crushing style of play with big men, but with these kind of men gone; it would be madness to continue its use. The material the coaches have is light and fast and fits pretty good into the coaches' version of the T.

Several ex-Scotties have been helping Coach Davis in his tutoring of the fledglings: Kenneth Andes, '49 guard, Ray Holsey, '49 center, Tubby Callaway, '49 quarterback, Stanley Shields, who assisted last year and attended MC in the 1930's.

Theta, Bainonian Meet Together For Style Show

Theta and Bainonian will have a joint meeting tonight at 6:30 in the philosophy classroom, Thaw 214. Bainonian chapter Iota is in charge of the program, which will be a style show of spring and Easter fashions, sponsored by Chandler's, of Maryville.

Ruby Jean Harris will be the narrator, with 14 girls from the Iota chapter as models. Music for the show will be provided by Harry James on records.

Hughes Plays For Organists' Guild

Music Instructor W. Curtis Hughes played for a meeting of the Knoxville American Guild of Organists at First Baptist Church, Maryville, Thursday night.

Selections included "Prelude in C Major," "My Soul Doth Magnify the Lord," "Jesus, Priceless Treasure," "Christ Lay in Death's Strong Grasp," all by Bach, and Roberts' "In Memoriam."

Helen Worrilow, Springtime Serenade soloist, sang the solo cantata "My Jesus Is My Lasting Joy," by Buvtehude. Violins for this number were played by Dorothy Horne and Alice Eaddy, both members of Maryville's Fine Arts Division. Miss Worrilow also did the soprano solo, "Hear Ye Israel," from Mendelssohn's "Elijah." Hughes was accompanist.

Host and hostess for the meeting were Mrs. J. W. Carter and Mr. Hughes.

Councils Approve Change In Student Body Constitution

tion is to unify the Student Body in the common motive of self-government in order to assume responsibility in the management of our affairs, strengthen the co-operation between students, faculty and administration, and increase loyalty to the best interests of the College.

Change: "between students and faculty." There is no distinction in the College organization between faculty and administration.

Article III, Sec. 2, paragraph b, now reads:

The time, place, and purpose of any Student Body meeting must be announced in Chapel at least twice or published in The Highland Echo at least one week before the set date for that meeting.

Change: "published in The Highland Echo at least once before the set date for that meeting." As it now stands it is impossible to have the meeting announced in the Echo on Saturday and have the meeting the next Thursday.

Article IV, Sec. 3, paragraphs a and b.

The following changes concerning membership: 1; the membership of the Council be changed from 28 to 29 members—the additional member being the Editor of the Chilhowean. 2; that all specifications requiring a certain number of the class representatives elected each year to be carry-overs from the present Student Council be dropped. (paragraph a, part 2, points b, c, d, and paragraph b.)

Article IV, Sec. 3, paragraph f, now reads:

Council members to represent the incoming freshman class shall be elected by ballot at a meeting of the class to be held within one month after the opening of the fall semester.

Change: "Council members to represent the incoming freshman class shall be nominated at a class meeting to be held within 6 weeks after the opening of the fall semester. Election by ballot shall be within 1 week following the nominations. These procedures shall be under the jurisdiction of the Student Council Elections Committee."

Article IV, Sec. 3, paragraph h, now reads:

If an individual be elected to 2 offices with voting power on council, he shall give up 1 vote, and the vacant seat on council shall be filled by the next individual in line for the office; or, if there be none next in line, he shall be elected by the group he represents.

Change: "A representative shall be elected by the group concerned."

Article V, Sec. 2, paragraph a, now reads:

4 council representatives, one from the 6 council carry-overs of the preceding year, shall be elected by the Council from their number at the first regular meeting of the semester. The faculty members shall be appointed by the President at the first regular meeting of the Semester. The faculty members shall be members of the Executive Council of the Faculty.

Changes: 1. The provision about carry-overs dropped; 2. "first regular Council meeting; 3. "President of the college at the opening of the fall semester each year."

Article VI, Sec. 2, paragraph a, Change: That it be specified that one of the faculty members of the Social Board be the chairman of the Faculty Committee on the Scheduling of Student Activities.

Article VIII, Sec. 1, paragraph a. Now reads:

The elections committee shall be composed of 9 members of the Student Council, 3 seniors, 2 juniors, 2 sophomores, and 2 freshment, to be appointed by the President of the Council. Among these shall be the vice-president of the council, who shall serve as chairman, and the 4 class officers.

Change: "4 class presidents."

Article VIII, Sec. 1, paragraph c, now reads: Nominations for the various class officers and representaitves shall be made at meetings of the respective classes at least one week before the annual elections, notice of each class meeting etc., etc.;

Change: "within one week after the annual elections."

Article VIII, sec. 1, paragraph e

Change: The phrases "a rising senior," and "a rising junior or senior" shall be changed to "an incoming senior" and "an incoming junior or senior."

Article VIII Sec. 1, paragaph e part (1) Now reads in part: Petition blanks may be obtained from the Elections Committee after March 15 and must be filed with the chairman of the Elections Committee by midnight of the first Monday in April.

Change: "Petition blanks may be obtained from the Elections Committee on or after the first Monday in April and must be filed with the chairman of the Elections Committee by midnight of the following Thursday."

Article VIII, Sec. 1, paragraph e, part (2) Now reads in part. The run-off shall be held in the week following the first election. Change: "The run-off shall be held within 3 days following the first election."

Article VIII, Sec. 3, now reads: The Student Publications Committee; a. The Student Publications Committee shall be composed of 3 members of the Council, appointed by the President, and the Editor of the Highland Echo; b. The committee shall serve as part of the Highland Echo Committee as prescribed in the Highland Echo regulations and shall carry out such duties as prescribed by said regulations; c. The Committee shall appoint, with the approval of the Council, a student who will be responsible for publicizing the activities of the Council. The Committee may also convey to the publication staffs such additional information as the Council may direct.

Change: The Publicity Committee, a. The Publicity Committee shall be composed of three members of the Council, appointed by the president. and the Editor of The Highland Echo; b. The committee shall be responsible for publicizing all the activities of the Council; c. The 3 members of the Committee appointed by the president shall serve as part of the Publications Committee as provided in the Highland Echo regulations, and shall carry out such duties as prescribed by said regulations. The committee may also convey to the publications staffs such additional material as the Council may direct.

Article VIII, Sec. 4, paragraph a, now reads in part:

The Steering Committee shall be composed of 6 members of the Council and the president who shall act as chairman.

Change: "6 members of the Council appointed by the president."

Article IX, Sec. 3, paragraph a, part 2, now reads:

The election of a May Queen by the senior class and attendants by the other classes.

Change: "The election of a May Day Court."

Article XI, Sec. 1, paragraph c, now reads: If approved by the Executive Council of the Faculty, the amendment shall then be published in The Highland Echo one week prior to the date set for presenting it to the Student Body, together with a notice of the time and place of the meeting.

Change: "published in the issue of the Highland Echo immediately preceding."

Proposed By-Law to establish procedure for May Day Elections.

By-Law No. 3—May Day Elections.

Queen: The May Queen shall be elected from the senior class by the vote of the Student Body; Attendants: The senior class shall elect 2 senior girls to attend the queen; King: The president of the senior class shall be May King; Court: The junior, sophomore, and freshman classes shall elect one boy and one girl to be members of the May Court. Each of these shall select an escort from his class.

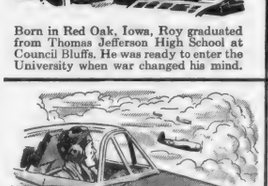
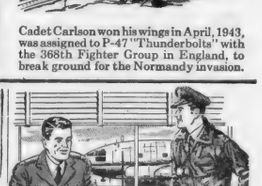
Major Roy Carlson, U. of Iowa, Training Executive, U.S. Air Force!

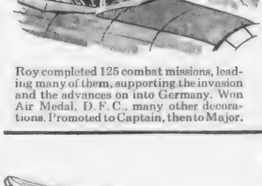


Born in Red Oak, Iowa, Roy graduated from Thomas Jefferson High School at Council Bluffs. He was ready to enter the University when war changed his mind.

He went to work at Consolidated Vultee in San Diego, building PBY's and B-24's. But it wasn't long until he had put in his application for Aviation Cadet training.



Cadet Carlson won his wings in April, 1943, was assigned to P-47 "Thunderbolts" with the 368th Fighter Group in England, to break ground for the Normandy invasion.



Roy completed 125 combat missions, leading many of them, supporting the invasion and the advances on into Germany. Won Air Medal, D.F.C., many other decorations. Promoted to Captain, then to Major.

Back home, he married the lovely Army nurse from Lowell, Massachusetts, whom he had met at Cannes, France. After the honeymoon, he returned to finish his studies at the University of Iowa.

Major Carlson is now Chief of Operations, 2471st Air Force Reserve Training Center, at O'Hare International Airport, near Chicago. Has two husky sons, a fine job, a great career still ahead of him!

If you are single, between the ages of 20 and 26½, with at least two years of college, consider the many career opportunities as a pilot or navigator in the U. S. Air Force. Procurement Teams are visiting many colleges and universities to explain these career opportunities. Watch for them. You may also get full details at your nearest Air Force Base or U. S. Army and U. Sabbath Themes, Topics Announced

Sunday School programs and sermon topics for Maryville's downtown churches tomorrow are as follows: Youth Sunday will be held at the First Baptist Church. Vernon Hyde is in charge of opening devotions and Fenton Ferguson will teach the College Class. Dr. Griffin Henderson, Baptist Student Union secertary at U T, will be guest speaker at the morning worship service.

Lois Layton is in charge of opening worship for the Broadway Methodist College Class at the Sunday School hour. There will be special music. "The Triumph of Jesus" is Rev. Mark Moore's sermon topic at the church hour.

At First Methodist, Ross Dooley will lead the Sunday School worship program. Jimmy Britton is song leader. Dr. E. E. Wiley, Jr. will preach at the church service. His topic is "Youth and Christ."

College Class is leading the opening worship service at New Providence Presbyterian. Carol Mitchell is song leader, and Don Brakebill is soloist. Jim Darroch will read the scripture and Anthony Maturo will offer prayer. Dr. Thomas Graham's sermon topic is "The Rewards." This is the sixth and final sermon in the series, "The Life in Christ."

St. Andrew's Episcopal College Class will end a four-week study of mission topics tomorrow. Miss Ruth Grierson will review several books dealing with missions and missionaries. "Preparing to Enter" is Dr. J. B. Bernardin's sermon topic at the morning worship hour.

Faculty To Lead Holy Week Services

In observance of Holy Week, special services will be held in chapel on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, and Saturday mornings. Chapel speakers will take their devotions from scripture corresponding with the last days of Christ. Special music will be given by the Vesper Choir daily.

On Tuesday, Dr. Ralph W. Lloyd will lead devotions; on Wednesday, Dr. J. D. Buchanan; on Thursday, Dr. H. E. Orr; and on Saturday, Rev. D. I. Engelhardt.

On Good Friday the service will be meditations on the seven last words from the Cross. The choir will sing anthems and resonses. The first three words will be given by Mr. Howard Schaum, the fourth and fifth by Mrs. Thelma H. Kramer, and the last two by Dr. Ralph T. Case. Each meditation will be followed by silent prayer and a choral response.

At 6:12 Easter morning, the 13th annual Easter Sunrise service will be held in the College Amphitheatre.

In the drawing above by Jean Almy, MC '48, is the trophy to be presented tonight by Maryville Attorney Ralph Reed to the society presenting the best skit. Theta Epsilon won the award last year.

Casts For 'Echo,' 'Prison' Announced

Casts were announced this week by Director Herman Middleton for the Experimental Theatre plays, "Echo" and "Little Prison," to be presented in Bartlett Hall Saturday, April 15, at 7 p.m. and 9 p.m.

"Echo" is an experiment in time by Robert Kasper. Leads are Phyllis Jackson, Mary Ross; Arch Swarztrauber, Henry Ross; Joan Titley, Lillian Ross; and Alan Fort, David Ross.

"Little Prison," a farce-comedy by Milton Savage, will star Mary Wilks as Daisy; Kathryn Shelton as Pearl; Ruth McQuilkin, Miss Bundy; Mary McAfee, Miss Ellison; and Norma Lou Loetz, Miss Richardson.

Stage managers are Chuck Gahagan and Ray Kuhn. George Earher will handle business and Barbara Sandos is chairman of properties committee, assisted by Norma Lou Loetz.

Allan Caldwell and Phyl Jackson will do make-up. Hugh McSpadden is in charge of lighting. Script and special effects for "Little Prison" will be in charge of Miriam Chahbandour; Allan Caldwell will hold the same position for "Echo." Irvin Kenner is responsible for the set of "Little Prison;" while Robert McCready for that of "Echo."

Phyl Jackson and Claude Cowan are in charge of programs; Grace Myers, Maree Richards, and Allan Caldwell will handle tickets.

"Little Prison" takes place in an elevator stalled between floors of a large department store. "Echo" is the story of the suicide of David Ross, a story which goes back in time to review events leading up to his death.

At Council -

Town Night, Elections Center of Discussion

Town night penalty discussion was the principal item of business in Student Council's weekly session Wednesday.

One violation on failure to sign in was reported and the council voted not to apply the penalty due to the circumstances. Vice-president Del Earisman, who presided in the absence of President Nish, urged that women students be reminded of their duty to sign in and sign out in person on town night.

Another point of town night procedure was discussed: that men may not remain in the dorm lobbies after 10 o'clock.

As elections committee chairman, Del Earisman informed council of the YW elections scheduled yesterday, and Monday's YM elections.

The Election Front:

WHAT—Campus elections for Student Body President, Student Body Vice-President; and Social Chairman.

HOW—Petition blanks available beginning Monday, April 3, from Elections Chairman Del Earisman. Petitions must be returned on or before midnight Thursday, April 6. Forty signatures are required on each petition, and duplication of signatures on petitions for similar offices are not allowed.

WHEN—Polls will be open on Tuesday and Wednesday, April 11-12. No publicity shall begin begin until after midnight, April 3, and then only if the signed petition is in the hands of the election committee.

Dr. Overman Cites Fundamental Need For Global Living

"I expect to be alive in the year 2000 A.D.," was the expressed belief of Dr. Ralph T. Overman at the Alpha Gamma Sigma recognition service in Chapel Wednesday. Dr. Overman is in charge of special training division at Oak Ridge, which attempts to make the facilities there available for peace time use, working primarily through colleges and universities.

Dr. Overman stressed the importance of a liberal arts education, saying that "one must have the grasp of the world in which he is living."

Using as his topic "Born 50 years too soon," or "Born 50 years too late," Dr. Overman cited the important problems which faced the graduate of 1900 as the utilization of oil the industry and applying the use of power to the world of that time, the conditions of the laboring classes, and involving the relationship between science and religion.

In 1950 the major problems facing the graduate are atomic energy control, and the individual problem in terms of the individuals relationship to his God.

The 2000 graduate will have to face the problem of living in a world instead of a nation, and the moral problem of those who learn more about killing than about living. In line with a statement by General Omar Bradley, Dr. Overman continued that "there are too few men of God as compared with the men of science."

April Fool!

Startling news has just reached our ears, having been issued from the President's office as the result of a meeting. It grieves us all to have to announce that Dean of Curriculum Tom Kees has jump from shock and exhilaration, and a faculty meeting, it gives us all great pleasure to attempt a reward for each of you as adequately as we know how.

1. Initially as proper celebration of what is to follow, we declare that there will be a Town Night tonight. In fact, in the week only. We submit for rather enjoyment of your collaboration a plan which will gradually lengthen the number of hours spent in the classroom while rapidly increasing the number of courses loaded academically. classes will be given by Mr. Howard Schaum, the fourth and fifth by Mrs. Thelma H. Kramer, and the last two by Dr. Ralph T. Case. Each meditation will be followed by silent prayer and a choral response.

3. Balancing the curriculum with the professor, will continue with limited significance.

Our Dean of Curriculum is now spent outside the classroom.

Student Council meeting, which will be taken care of in the next few days, every night will be devoted to discussing the scope of courses receiving suggestions which will be considered. Empty Rows–

MC'ers are extremely fortunate in having on their campus individuals and groups interested in and concerned with the cultural enjoyment and development of the students.

Last Monday night, the final of this year's Artist Series programs was held in the Alumni gym. Attendance was no criterion of the worth of the quartet. A dozen or more empty rows could be counted at the back of the auditorium. The same holds true for the other performances of the Series.

When only one-ninth of the student body makes itself visibly interested, one wonders one of two things. What ails the other portion, or is the series worth the time and effort put in it?

Needless to say, it is worth the time and effort. Securing artists is not a soft job. Those who do this job should be commended for the fine selections of this school year.

To keep this vital field of education active the support and cooperation of the student body is needed.

—F.M.

Get Out The Vote–

Somehow it doesn't seem normal to be urging students to vote in other than on-campus elections. It's hard enough to get a decent showing in our own balloting, where no registration, trip to town, or even poll tax is required.

We do, of course, urge everyone to take his part in the voting MC has scheduled for the rest of this semester. But some other elections should be of interest to us, too.

To the amusement of Democrats, today is GOP primary day in this county. More important, however, any voting reminds us of these things: college people to participate in political affairs. There is no pedantic snobbery in this; it is their duty as well informed citizens to vote as they see fit, aided by a more fortunate educational background.

Residents will have the opportunity of selecting their officials in August from those named this month. In the meantime, this group and those of us who vote elsewhere will do well to learn all we can of candidates, to support those we find worthy, and to vote for them at the polls later.

It is a privilege and an important duty.

It's The Law

Next week the Vesper Choir is going on a 40-hour work week in preparation for their tour. Someone is threatening to report Mr. Harter for violating the child labor law. Wally Shroeder's in the choir, you know.

Embarrassing Moments

Ask Janie McMillan what happened to one of the kids from Fort Craig grammar school that she was testing. It seems she was rather red-faced as she returned him to the school.

Chapel Capers

Wednesday morning's chapel was such an auspicious occasion that more than one person got more and more confused. After an introductory build-up, Miss Walker got something of a let down when she heard herself introduced as Miss Wright. There were several people who wondered if Dr. Lloyd has been formally introduced to all the faculty members.

Here and there on campus were seen several students wandering about wondering what to do with themselves until chapel was over. Since it ran a little over schedule, many chapel-skippers came out of hiding too soon and found themselves on a deserted campus.

Indication of Something

It has been said by some wise sage that even when a girl is as pretty as a picture, most fellows like to have an occasional peak at the framework.

Assault and Battery

More Dates—Better Grades

Maybe this is a little late to be mentioning a magazine article of January 29, 1950 but that issue of This Week had an article of interest. It seems that Dr. Samuel Lowrie, professor of sociology at Bowling Green State University, teaches the only university course in "the whys and hows of dating." If one takes the results of Dr. Lowrie's findings literally and uncriticially, he is assured that the way to better grades is more dates. The habitues of Circle Drive should be interested.

Intentional Similarity

We'll admit that there are teachers and teachers but—Miss Heron read a paper at Writers' Workhop on Wednesday titled "Teachers I Have Known." Judging from the contents and the descriptions of some of the teachers, some of the writers wondered if she wasn't intentionally paraphrasing the title "Wild Animals I Have Known." Could be.

The Still of the Night

Paul Maier had a research paper due soon, so the other night he resolved to work far, far into the night to get it finished. However, he only lasted until about 12:30 which is considered the beginning of the evening in some MC circles. When asked next morning wha' hoppened, he could only explain it with the statement that the quiet became deafening and it was too still for him to concentrate. Some people will use anything for an excuse.

Spring Fever

Congratulations seem to be in order to John Baxter and Mary Watt. They proved last week that in Spring a young man's fancy does lightly turn to thoughts of love. Friday Mary mentioned, just in passing, that it was a beautiful day and she had spring fever. Not to be outdone by the weather, John rushed to his safety deposit box and returned with a sparkler for Mary's third finger, left hand. Mary thinks it was nice of the American Association of University Women to have a reception for her that night, too.

Nice Try

Miss Blair has been trying to teach poetry scanning to some of her classes. The other day she was illustrating one type by using the line "For we cannot tarry here". The class, upon seeing this admonition, turned to go, but not before Miss Blair had blocked their escape.

Music, Music, Music

There's at least one table in the dining hall that likes music with its meals. One thoughtful table-mate brought a music box to add variety. Joan Platt helpfully wound it up in preparation for the meal but Herb McCallum couldn't wait. It isn't every day that the strains of "Mary Had A Little Lamb" accompany the blessing.

Voices, Masks, and Shadows

FLICKERS

Top billing in local cinema these next seven days is Warner Brothers' "White Heat" at the Capitol Monday and Town Night. Tough-guy Jimmy Cagney is back, and does a super job as the psycho killer, a performance, say those who know, equal to his early ganster roles.

But there's a modern touch. No mere killer, Cagney is, in the studio's words, "a homocidal paranoiac with a mother fixation." And it's not just for psych majors; there's a powerful plot, and Cagney is convincing.

Overdone is the perfection of the T-man in pursuit of brother Cagney, and overdramatic is Cagney's Wagnerian death. But it's a top picture, and bad-man Jimmy is terrific.

Something of a let down is unconvincing melodrama "Too Late For Tears" at the Capitol Wednesday. It's Lizabeth Scott in a criminal career, and her talents are, obviously, in another field. Plot is 4-F, but Liz is mighty good to look at.

"Nancy Goes To Rio" Thursday and Friday. Film lovers just hope it's a one-way ticket. And, of course, all wild west breaks loose on Saturday matinee time at both houses.

The Park threatens us with a movie of the same name Monday. Whether or not the management is daring the public to see "The Threat" we don't know, but don't take them up on it; you'd lose.

Park's Wednesday-Thursday offering is an attempt at the super-shoot-'em up called "Montana Mike." Back in the saddle are Robert Cummings, Brian Donlevy, and a few others. But despite the commendable try, it's still a western. That's all, podner.

"Everybody Does It" on Thursday and Friday, and probably would more often if they had the chance. Seriously, "Everybody" is about the best thing the Park does this wek, despite the title. Paul Douglas is lead and tries real hard to liven up a pretty sorry script. He's married to a society girl with an urge to sing who can't.

In the process of discouraging his spouse, he discovers he's another Melchoir. When it's all over, things have just about fizzled out, and he's clowned around so much breaking glasses with high notes that it's not only no longer funny, but pretty sad.

But there is some clever dialogue, and that plus Linda Darnell are somewhat redeeming. Whether or not it's a sequel to "That Wonderful Urge" of a week or so ago is our speculation.

WRITERS

Published by the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America and new in Lamar Library, is "Sidney Hillman: Labor Statesman," a "story in pictures and text of the man and the Amalgamated."

Sidney Hillman, until his untimely death in 1946, was an outstanding and brilliant leader of labor, who, with his liberal spirit, did as much to advance American social progress as any other man of our time. This book, a memorial volume, is an excellent tribute to a great man.

New and with a local touch, is "The Quarterly Review Under Gifford" by fabulous Hill Shine, formerly of MC's English faculty. An identification of contributors to "The Review," the book is the most recent of authors Hill and Helen Chadwick Shine who were at Maryville during the '30's.

Also new is whopping "Painters of the Twentieth Century" printed and loosely assembled in France; 'Gods and Men," a testimony of science and religion by Sir Richard Gregory; Werkmeisters "A History of Philosophical Ideas in America";

John Calvin's "Instructions in Faith" of 1537, "A Conrad Argosy," "Alcohol and Social Responsibility," a "new educational approach" by McCarthy and Doylem, and Sidney Howard's "They Knew What They Wanted."

ARTISTS

This school ended its 1950 Artist Series last week with one of the finest things to happen to us in years.

The University of Alabama String Quartet had one obstacle to overcome: the idea of a string quartet sounds—and probably is—"high-brow." They convinced us their music is only for pedants.

The audience was not large; but it made up in enthusiasm what it lacked in number. Haydn's "Sunrise" quartet in B flat major, which opened the program, received an ovation worthy of the quality of performance.

Called back for two encores, Professor Capek and his colleagues ranged from near-bottom to the highest in chamber music, it mwas thought by some. The Irish Londonberry Air was well played ,was hardly worth the effort.

But both the quartet and the audience showed they were aware of really top-flight music. Series-goers were delighted with the Beethoven quartet selection for the last encore.

ECHO FORUM

To The Editor of The Echo:

Not infrequently do sincere people defeat or seriously injure the eauses which they champion by using methods which are inconsistent with the aims of the endeavor. This was graphically illustrated in the means used on this campus to raise money for the World Student Service Fund, which has as one of its aims the hleping of unfortunate students throughout the world as well as the creating a greater bond of fellowship, understanding and concern among the youth of the youth of the world. Yet on this campus, we choose to support this campaign by staging a minstrel show which relied chiefly on a stereotype view of an oppressed minority race to provide the entertainment.

In our great concern for the unfortunate people residing five or ten thousand miles away, we forgot the college student living here in Maryville, who, because of this stereotyped view plus other things, is not allowed to enjoy the assurance of getting a decent job when he gets out of college, who can't attend our churches without embarrassment and possible insult, who can't enjoy the public facilities which we take for granted, and who can't even attend Maryville College because he has dark skin.

But what if Negroes did attend Maryville College, could they have attended the minstrel show with great enjoyment and delight or would they have felt uneasy and embarrassed? Is it right for Christians to carry on activities which other Christians cannot participate in merely because of their race or nationality? "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto the least of these, my brethren, ye have done it unto me," was the feeling of the Master Teacher. Would Christ have enjoyed this type of entertainment, especially as a means of carrying on something in His name?

My intention is not to condemn those who presented this show. A number of them are among my friends, and I assume that they are all fine people. It is not their spirit that I question. Rather, it is my contention that no matter how unconspicious we are of it, these stereotype presentations help instill attitudes of racial prejudice in the subcon-

SWIMMING

Forty students took part in this season's swimming meet on Wednesday, March 29. Thad Godwin, winner of last year's 50 yard breast stroke, took two first place ribbons. One in the 100 yard free style, which he swam in 1 minute and 20 seconds and also in the 50 yard breast stroke.

Jim Callaway came back this year to win the top place in the 50 yard fre style for the second consecutive year which he swam in 29 seconds.

But this year's unusual swimmer was Bill Menges who won won first place in the 50 yard back in 38 seconds, and the sensational 200 yard free style in 3 minutes and 26 seconds. He also placed second in the 100 yard free style.

Paul Maier won the coveted first place ribbon in the Diving event. He showed good form and technique. Don Macdonald also walked off with two first places in the 100 yard back in 1 minute and 21 seconds, and the individual medley of 150 yards in 2 minutes and 7 seconds. In the 100 yard breast, Ric Rogers took the ribbon with timing at 1 minute and 35 seconds.

We are expecting more ribbons next year from Paul Maier and Don Macdonald who after such good placing for the first year should be set for the next meet. Bill Menges will also be seen probably displaying good style next year, as well will others.

The intramural swimming program is set up to benefit all students and is well worth following.

VOLLEYBALL

Contrary to the "expert's" opinion, the Olympics made it two in a row as they upset a "favored" Simple Six team in the playoffs for the annual Intramural Volley ball Championship. Jimmy Thurston and Al Springfield's team took the first and last sets by a 16-14 margin while the Simple Six won the second, 15-13.

In the second place playoffs, the "not as fat as they looked" Faculty out-cued the Nine Balls in 10-15, 15-7, and 16-14.

BADMINTON

The first quarter of the badminton singles were over March 29. Those who placed for the second quarter matches in this year's tournament are Jimmy Thurston vs. Bob Larson; John Gieser vs. Clyde McCampbell; Jim Lester vs. Paul Maier; and Bob Worthington vs. Glen Gage.

Be sure and contact your opponent and get the games scheduled right away. If the matches aren't played off before the deadline, April 17, the games will be forfeited. Check the chart in the Bartlett gym for rules and game times.

Intramural Softball Opens

By Neale Pearson

SOFTBALL

There comes the time every year when all of America's frustrated baseball players take out revenge on the horsehide. You guessed it, softball is just around the corner, and play in the league or leagues using the great big ball will begin next Thursday.

8-Balls Not Behind

A. J. Wilson's Eightballs, the Yankees of the circuit lost their manager between seasons but have a new pilot this year in Ham Ammonds along with added power. The Eightballs won bothhalves of last year's split season with Ammonds twirling a couple of no-hitters and have given other teams due notice to get ready.

Lester-Men Ready

Pop Lester of the B.O.B.'s whose team made a comeback last year from last to second place in the first half standings but flopped to a miserable seventh in second half play have added some reinforcements, also. Bored Old Bachelor's manager, Pop Lester, also passed the good word around for everybody to get ready for his fast ball.

The Ministerials also will field another team with an unknown pitcher and Bob Williams the big man at short. Jim "Stinky" Watt is the pilot. Let's hope they play a better brand of ball than their manager does.

Alpha Sigma which fielded two teams last year with the Scotties and the Happy Warriors has but one team this year with plenty of hoped-for hitting but an unproven pitching staff of one man.

Plenty of Names

Bud Garrison's team called the Tobacco Road Terrors, the Happy Warriors, and, heaven knows what else, is, from reports turned in, in a bad fix. Most teams are built around a pitcher and a catcher but Garrison's is built around a second baseman—Garrison.

Junior McKeen has his third and basement floor flashes out there working but he hasn't got a name for his team yet—when a name has been picked, we will relay the god news to you. Ah, yes, we have good news. They're Redmen.

Stanfield To——To Ike

YMCA as usual will field another team this year, but with the loss of John Poland, pitching will be a problem, though Charlie Allen is set to go at short. George "Whizzer" Standfield will probably take the mound chores and Ike Eisenberg the center field job of chasing Stanfield's hit pitches.

Men's M Club Shows Film

The Men's M Club of Maryville College entertained the Miami U Redskin baseball team last night in the student center with refreshments and movies of the SEAAU Wrestling Tournament taken by Dr. Lea Callaway and others from the private collection of Coach Adolph Rupp Kramer.

At the business meeting held Thursday, President Jim Lester brought up several matters for discussion including admission of lettermen andalso more information concerning the club's projects of a clubroom and insurance for athletes at Maryville College.

Trackmen Toil For Time Trials, Relays

The tracksters have spent the week preparing themselves for coming time trials, probably to be held late next week. More boys are joining the squad now that football practice has ended with full strength expected by this afternoon.

The cindermen enter their first of four meets which they will participate in this year on the twenty-second of this month. The first meet is the Milligan Relays to be held at Milligan.

Miami University Is Second Baseball Foe

This afternoon at approximately 2:30, Maryville's Scotties will take to the clay and grass diamond behind Alumni Gym the second of a two-game series with the Miami Redskins of Oxford, Ohio. The two squads tangled yesterday but because of Echo publication on Friday afternoon, no story was possible.

Experience Plus—

Coach Woody Wills is bringing another hot ball club into the South with seven veterans from last year's squad the mainstays. His three pitchers who co-operated together last year in taking 10-4 and 3-2 triumphs returned again this year and Indians John Saunders, Bob Schimbackler and Frank Petticka, will be out there trying to repeat.

Saunders and Petticka were the winning hurlers in the two contests which were staged in a much more sunnier atmosphere than those played this week-end.

Other veterans on the "Yankee" team that are back include Jack Bickett, initial sacker, who bashed out a couple of blows and scored the second of three runs in the 3-2 aftermath last year; Bob Fryman, centerfielder, likewise on the hitting; and Ed Wilkinson.

Bob Black. Coaches Wills and Palmers' best hurler, has been laid up with a sprained ankle and was unable to make the trip. However, the Oxford, Ohio, contingent brought along 20 other big men in cars to more than make up for his loss in manpower, though not in skill.

Off We Go—

A worthy note to be added, though it has little value here, is that the four rascals who did most of the damage in the hitting department have graduated into the ranks of Major and Minor League abseball. Shortstop and captain of last year's squad was Austin Palmer who sparked in the infield for Superior, Wisconson, last year after school was out, and who is helping Coach Wills out until he has to report for spring training.

Tom Imfeld, Harry Schwegman, and Joe Quatrone, who had two hits apiece in the first fracas last year have also left the Miami campus. Imfeld played with Chanute in the K-O-M League last year while Schwegman was signed by the Browns and Quattrone by the Pirates.

Their first-string catcher Gene Smith was also grabbed up and latched on to the White Sox.

Even-Steven

In games so far this year, the Redskins have taken a 7-5 decision over Vanderbilt in 10 innings and dropped a 3-1 fray to U-T, Wednesday. For some unknown reason, the Vols canceled their Thursday game with the Indians, though the weather was much beter than than of the day before. Perhaps the Orange and White were afraid that the, ah, tables might be turned, as they have been in other sports.

Tentaitve Lineups for today's game are:

MC	Miami
Buckley, 3b	Fryman, cf
Berrong, 2b	Wilkinson, Ed, rf
Baldwin, rf	Zinn, 2b

UT Beats Netters In Practice, 9-0

In a practice meet which was held on the MC courts last week end UT's netmen ran up a 9-0 count over the Scot netmen. The highly favored racquet-men from UT lived up to expectations as their athletes proved themselves way out of the Scots' class.

The Scots open the regular season on the eighth of April against Carson-Newman on the MC courts.

The individual scores were as follows:

Singles—

Davis (UT) over Miles (MC), 6-1, 6-2.

Gentry (UT) over Anderson (MC) 6-3, 6-1.

Smith (UT) over Cardoza (MC), 6-4, 6-1.

Cullum (UT) over Gage (MC), 6-0, 6-4.

Curry (UT) over Sayres (MC), 6-2, 6-1.

Doty (UT) over Gearheart (MC), 6-4, 6-3.

Doubles—

Smith and Davis over Miles and Anderson, 6-1, 6-1.

Gentry and Cullum over Cardoza and Gage, 6-0, 6-0.

Campbell and Curry over Gearheart and Sayres, 6-2, 6-1.

Orange Ties Garnet In Practice Game

Closing out a hard spring football practice of three weeks, the Orange team pushed over a touchdown late in the game to tie the Garnet, 6-6. The Orange were also aided by some kind of questionable rulings from the whistle of Referee John A. Davis when the Garnet switched their defensive patterns.

Ham Traylor of Maryville High was the man with the big bushel basket who made a couple of Swiacki-type catches in the late stages of the game to set up a pass to Paul Merwin for the Orange.

Everett Zabriskie ski-ed over for the Garnet on a plunge.

Both teams missed the extra point attempts. For the Garnet, Jimmy Callaway failed to connect from placement and the Orange team's attempt with a plunge was piled up.

Working out of the T for the whole game ,the squad showed much talent in setting up plays, but noticeable was the absence of the big muscle-men of yesteryear.

Scots Earn 17-1 Victory At Home

The 1950 version of the Maryville College baseball team took to the field Wednesday against Hiwassee in an attempt to get a little work for their tilts with Miami U, and waltzed off to a 17-1 victory.

The victory wasn't a great one—accomplished with the aid of six Tiger errors plus four passed balls on the part of Catcher Gray. Maryville rapped out 16 base hits, but after the first four frames, it was more or less batting practice.

Don Williams of the Madisonville squad had MC hitters biting at his "tater" Ball—a good knuckler—and was Hiwassee's only reason for being in the game as long as she was. After the fifth inning, Coach Honaker inserted his scrubs and let them take part in the slaughter. It was of freshman Gene Parks that Coach Ken Stinnett's squad tallied their lone run—pitcher Jones of Hiwassee hit one to left, and Left Fielder Charlie Trotter thought the ball was foul; presto, Jones scotted around the sacks for a very weak homer.

As for preparation against the Redskins, it need not be said that the game was a true test of the Scots' ability for nothing was proved save that Jim Kren looked ready and MC's batting eyes were still off. The cold weather was a very great deterrant in enabling the boys to show their respective stuff.

Work of American Artists To Be Displayed

The Art Department, in cooperation with the Maryville Chapter of AAUW, is presenting a loan exhibition of 12 colored reproductions from the Museum of Modern Art in New York City. The exhibit will be in Lamar Memorial Library April 4-17.

This group contains outstanding examples of American painting before 1900.

Works by Audubon, Bingham, Copley, Durand, Eakins, Earl, Henry, Hicks, Homer, Inness, Whistler, and by an unidentified portraitist will be displayed.

MC Debaters Win Four In Bluegrass Tournament

Maryville's debate team won four debates in the Bluegrass Tournament at Georgetown, Ky., from which they returned this week.

The affirmative team, composed of Bob Cuthill and Tom Kelly won three deabtes, while the negative team of Louis Evans and Newell Witherspoon won one debate.

Twenty-seven schools, located both east and west of the Mississippi River, participated in the tournament. There were no individual speaking contests.

Assistant Professor Arda Walker accompanied the teams to Georgetown.

Tentative plans are now underway to attend the Smoky Mountain Tournament at the University of Tennessee on April 15.

Intramurals....

dor-at-large, has a hot team lined up depending on Howard Gress and Senator Bill Claghorn for the pitching and the hitting. Kelly will probably play first so that he can get in shape for the Series at Brooklyn. Not only does this team have Kelly's astute knowledge of the game, but the Merry Villians have two managers, also —Bill Faulkner and Don Benton.

Kay's Kids Kagey

Mike Kay whose managerial and front-office talent have been discovered by the Nu-Highs is turning to the baseball wars and has got a hot nine lined-up called the Shamrocks. Bill Shields and Sam Taylor, the voluble one, will probably form the pitching staff.

Another independent team that is looking for farm help is Russ Owens' Brevorrs. Owens and Curt Barnett, his coach, are still looking for a catcher and some hitting, but Owens, who has a knack of digging up everything in search of pitchers may come up with some unknown.

Because of a practice which had its start during basketball season, there will be NO transferring at all of players from one team to another.

Two more teams slipped in this week after the deadline to make a total of twelve teams in action; and necessitating two six-team leagues.

Meat & Potatoes

John Schaumberg and Steve Bailey are the big guns of Paul Merwin's Wheels and the other team has an appropriate title for their nine. Bob "Paul" Wainer and Bob Schwoebel have taken the leavings and formed the Left-overs.

In the Orange League are the 8-Balls, Minnies, YMCA, Brevorrs, Merryvillians, and the Left-overs.

In the Garnet League are the Shamrocks, BOB's, Scotties, Redmen, Happy Warriors, and Wheels.

Umps Urged To Sign

Right now, we also want to make a plea for officials. It was rough enough during basketball and volleyball but during softball two umpires will be needed for at least each of the two games which will be going on.

Last year, there were plenty of squabbles about the umpiring, mostly on the field, and yet these self-same "Favored few" who always complained never picked up a mask and got behind the plate.

Let's hope that it's knocked off. If MC Intramural "Greats" want Major League Umpires, they can go out and get them by being willing to shell out for them. Otherwise, they'll get an Intramural-calibre umpire in an Intramural League.

Any prospecive "Blind Toms" can see Dean Allison, Ken Newell, or Coach Johnson about offering their services. Scribes are also needed to keep score. If you're afraid to get behind the bat but are willing to help out, leave your name saying that you'll be willing to keep score.

Beafs and Briefs

All players and managers wishing to express their beafs, desires, or anything else such as a knowledge of the rules are requested to show their interest by showing up at the Intramural Managers "And Players" Meetings which are held every Tuesday, at one o'clock.

Attendance was good this week for the first time in many a week. It was thought that perhaps the idea of attendance at the meetings had died since only two were present at last week's confab. However, things have taken a turn for the beter. So, keep it up.

Originally only five games were slated for each team in play but this column (opening its big mouth once again) doesn't think that a five-game slate is enough.

Another field could be lain out in the track area and with a moving of the present Court Street diamond to the other end of the soccer field, two fields could be had. Also, two games could be played on Saturday and thus by squeezing here and there, perhaps an eight or even ten game schedule could be worked out.

Just more food for thought, but we still think it's a good idea.

Easter Sunrise Service In Amphitheatre At 6:12

Congreational, Choral Responses Will Mark Impressive Services

Easter Sunrise Service begins tomorrow at 6:12 a.m. in the College Ampitheater. Dr. Ralph W. Lloyd will preside as minister, reading the scripture, offering the prayer and giving a brief meditation.

Choir will sing "Christ is Arisen" by Hirsch; "An Easter Hallelujah" by Vulpius; "The Strife is O'er" by Palestina; "Praise to the Lord" by Christiansen; Greig's "God's Son Hath Set Me Free"; "Christ the Lord is Risen Today" by Williams and Soderman's "Hosanna in the Highest."

Band will begin playing at 5:10 a.m. Preceding the service, the band, choir and faculty will have breakfast at the President's home.

The road to the Ampitheatre will not be open to cars, but said cars may enter through Wilkinson Road.

Dr. Lloyd presided yesterday at Good Friday Service held in the Alumni Gym. Following the hymn, scripture reading and choir anthem, "In That Garden He Knelt to Pray" by Schmutz, Meditations upon the Seven Words from the Cross were given by Howard Schwam, Thelma Kramer, and Ralph Case. Silent prayer and choir response followed the first three words, fourth and fifth words; and the last two words. Noble's 'Go to Dark Gethsemane" was then sung by the choir, followed by hymn and benediction.

Special Vespers Planned

Vesper Service tomorrow night at 7 in the library will consist of music with a sermonette preached by President Lloyd. Anthems to be sung by the choir are "Easter Hallelujah" by Vulpuis, "In That Garden He Knelt to Pray" by Schmutz, Noble's "Go to Dark Gethsemane" and a Negro spiritual "And He Never Said a Mumbalin Word."

Other anthems include "Christ Lay in the Bonds of Death" by Bach and "God's Son Hath Set Me Free" by Grieg. Anthems are summary of Holy Week services.

YM-YW To Present Easter Play At 8, 9 Tonight In Bartlett

YM and YW will present an Easter pageant, "Were You There?", in Bartlett tonight. Two performances will be given, the first at 8 p.m. and the final at 9 p.m.

The pageant consists of a series of six character sketches of men having a close connection with the crucifixion of Christ.

Del Earisman is Simon Peter, Dave Reed takes the part of Judas. Joe Poland plays Pontius Pilate, Bill Varker is Simon the Cyrene, Jimmy Muir is the Centurian, and John Shew takes the part of John the Beloved.

Phyl Jackson is production manager and Bob Holley directs the performance. Louise Lloyd is in charge of special music.

JURY AND PERJURY

Harry Bridges, CIO longshoremen's union president, was convicted of perjury Tuesday in a Federal court in San Francisco. He and his two aides who were convicted with him face a possible 7-year prison term and deportation for Bridges to Australia, from whence he came a decade ago.

FORESTS BURN

Maryland and New Jersey suffered a loss of several thousand acres in woods this week, due to forest fires. New Jersey got the worst of the damage with five fires, all near May's Landing. Damage to the forest area consumed near Laurel, Maryland, was esitmated at between $8000 and $10,000.

FAST FREIGHT HERO

"Casey" Jones, the hero of all good negineers, will again be on the tongues of thousands beginning April 29, when the railroad locomotive engineer's commemorative stamp series bearing his picture will go on first-day sale at Jackson, Tenn., near where "Casey" made his famous last ride.

WORD WAR

Owen Lattimore, expert on the Far East, and Senator Joseph McCarthy have been exchanging angry words this week concerning the latter's charge that the former is a Russian spy. Senator Dennis Chavez, evidently enraged at McCarthy's tactless tactics, came to Lattimore's rescue by shouting that Lattimore should not be found guilty "just because Hiss and Fuchs were guilty."

FROSH TO MEET

All freshman will meet after chapel on Thursday for special instructions in reference to selecting major fields of study.

Graduating Seniors Take Comps; Sophs Have Co-op Exams

Comprehensive Exams for all seniors expecting to graduate this May will be given in Thaw on the afternoons of April 12 and 13, beginning at 1:30 p.m. Exams take from three to four hours each afternoon.

Afternoon classes will not meet on these two days.

A place will be provided for those who wish to type their exams.

Sophomore Co-ops

Sophomore tests will be held in Thaw on the afternoons of April 12 and 13, starting at 1:30 p.m.

All students classified as sophomores either semester of this year and who have not previously taken the tests will do so at this time.

A part of the National College Sophomore Testing Program in which Maryville is participating for the eleventh year, the test consists of two parts. The Cooperative English Test, which is a fair indication of scholastic progress, will require 70 minutes. The Contemporary Affairs Test, which shows how well informed the student is, takes 80 minutes.

Dr. McClelland gave four purposes of the tests. 1. It enables the college to compare its sophomore class with other sophomore classes in the U.S. 2. It enables the college to compare its sophomore class with previous ones at MC. 3. It enables the sophomore to see how he stands in comparison with other sophomores. 4. It enables the college to judge the student's future promise.

Dr. McClelland stated that every year results of these tests show that Maryville sophomores stand a little above average for sophomores throughout the country.

Mary H. Webb Selected For Graduate Fellowship

Mary Holly Webb, Maryville senior, has been selected to receive a Danforth Graduate Fellowship. The Danforth Foundation offers Graduate Fellowships to 15 girls who have just graduated from college or university, and who are interested in the experience of Christian work on a college campus. These are not study fellowships in the ordinary sense, but work fellowships, for the girls learn by experience rather than by research.

Ordinarily the Danforth Graduate Fellow is interested in preparing for some form of Christian work at the close of the Fellowship period, but has not yet completely tested her ability and reached decisions as to the form of her service.

Schwarz, Earisman Read At Writers' Workshop

Writers' Workshop this week heard "On Buying a Hat," by Ginni Schwarz, criticized by John Shew, and Del Earisman's "And Justice for All," criticized by Janet Cummings.

There will be no meeting of the Workshop next week.

At Council -

Elections Schedule, Nominations Reviewed

No Town Night violations were reported to Student Council Wednesday night, but violation penalties were discussed. The president announced that Senate would meet April 21, and the Social Board, April 9.

Student council, class officer, May Day, MSO-WSGA, and cheerleader elections were discussed. Nominations for class officers and class student council representaitves will be held Thursday, April 13, if possible.

Elections committee reported that although Tom Kees and Jim Lester had been nominated, they wished to withdraw from the student body election. Under election rules, their names must appear on the ballot since their petitions have already been handed in. But although their names will appear, Kees is not campaigning for student body presidency or Lester for the student body vice presidency.

Spring Serenade Tickets To Go On Sale Friday

Tickets for 1950 Springtime Serenade this year, will go on sale April 14 for the two performances, April 21 and 22 at 8 p.m.

Produced by the Men's Glee and All Girl Choir, 1950 Springtime Serenade will feature songs from musical comedy hits by these groups interspersed with other numbers by soloists and ensembel groups.

W. Curtis Hughes, director of the group, will be at the console of a Hammond concert organ, lent for this program by Fowler Bros. of Knoxville. Peggy Cummings and Sara Durant will accompany at twin pianos.

It is expected that such current Broadway hits as "South Pacific", "Roberta", "Desert Song", and "Kiss Me, Kate" will be represented on the bill.

Thetas Win Annual Skit Contest Again

Theta Epsilon won the annual Skit Trophy with a skit entitled "A New York Town Night," last Saturday.

The skit, which featured a review of several well-known New York entertainment spots, was written and directed by Margie Newland and Phyllis Jackson. The main characters were played by Beverly Moore, Pat Walthall, Marty Kincaid, and Peggy Kesler. the program also featuring Lois Deobler, Sara Jo Emert, Ginger Tufvander, Joan Titley, Grace Osborn, and Nancy Ferguson.

The Skit trophy was presented by Ralph Reed, Maryville attorney, and will be kept by the winning society until the 1951 contest.

McNeill, Poland, Williams Make Race For President

Kren Unopposed For VP After Withdrawals; Emert, Holley, Jackson, Swarztrauber Vie For Social Board At Tuesday-Wednesday Polls

By Dick Newman

Joe McNiell, Joe Poland, and Charles Williams are candidates for student body president in elections to be held Tuesday and Wednesday, April 11-12. Jim Kren is unopposed for the vice-presidency.

Social Board chairman nominees are Sara Jo Emert, Bob Holley, Phyl Jackson, and Arch Swarztrauber. Tom KeKes was nominated for president and Jim Lester for vice-president. They chose to withdraw, but, under election rules ,withdrawal is now impossible since their nominating petitions have already been handed in.

Their names, then, will appear on the ballot, but neither is campaigning or soliciting votes.

McNeill is a junior math major from Townsend; he is a member of Spanish Club, Y Cabinet, Student Council, and Junior Class President.

Poland, a junior economics major from Beverly Shores, Ind., is a member of College Players, Athenian, cheerleading and tumbling squads, and Theta Alpha Phi.

Williams is a junior math major from Maryville. He is a member of Athenian, orchestra, and Men's Glee Club, he was band drum major and the concert band. A member of Y Cabinet, he was business manager of the M book.

Kren, candidate for vice-president, is a sophomore physical education major from Pitcairn, Pa. He is a member of German Club, YMCA, Alpha Sigma, ABC, and the baseball squad.

Sara Jo Emert, a transfer from Tennessee Wesleyan College, is a junior dramatic art major from Maryville. She is a cheerleader and a member of Theta Epsilon, YWCA, and the MC Playhouse.

Bob Holley, a junior English major from Dover, N. J., is a member of French Club, Pre-Ministerial Association, and a College Player.

Phyllis Jackson is a junior psychology major from eBston, Mass. She is a member of The Echo editorial staff, Pre-Med Club, Theta Epsilon, treasurer YWCA, and College Playhouse.

Arch Swarztrauber, junior business administration major from Zion, Ill., is Athenian program chairman, cheerleader captain, Spanish Club president, and a member of Chilhowean business staff and YWCA.

According to the Student Body Constitution, if there is no majority for a candidate, there will be a run-off, within three days, of "the least number of those candidates receiving the highest votes, whose total votes are a majority of all votes cast."

Civic Music Society Ends Campus Drive This Afternoon

Blount County Music Association ends late today its 1950 membership drive. MC students may make arrangements for joining at the bookstore until it closes at 5:15.

Membership for students is $3.00, for others, $6.00; federal tax is included. Under the plan of Civic Concerts, Inc., New York, members are assured of a minimum of three concerts, and a capacity membership will make possible a series of five.

The concerts are scheduled from October of this year to April, 1951, in Everett High School Auditorium. Only members may attend the concerts, since there will be no single admissions sold to any one concert.

Members are also entitled to attend concerts in Knoxville or other Civic Music Plan cities without additional cost.

Top-Flight

Among the top-flight artists appearing with the national Civic Music plan are Claudio Arrau, Jean Dickenson, Kirsten Flagstad, Patrice Munsel, Ezio Pinza, Robert Merrill, John Charles Thomas, Marian Anderson, Isaac Stern, Joseph Szigeti, Artur Rubinstein, and Frirt Kreisler.

Knoxville's Civic Music group has already selected the artists for their '50-'51 series. They are Leonard Pennario, pianist; Astrid Varney, soprano; Thomas L. Thomas, baritone; the New Friends of Music Quartet (string ensemble); and the Viennese Ballet Ensemble, with dramatic and humorous dances.

Artists for the Maryville concerts wil lbe chosen next week following the membership campaign, which closes today.

Arrangements have been made for those who are not sure of returning next semester and for those who wish to wait until after the 10th to pay. Consult the Bookstore management for any questions.

Muses Sponsor Trip To UT Exhibit

Muses will sponsor a trip to U.T. on Tuesday, April 11, to attend a presentation by the University's Department of Fine Arts of the Miller Company Collection, consisting of works by twenty-nine painters and eight sculptors.

Included in the works are a selection of abstract painting and sculpture of the twentieth century which has influenced the development of contemporary architecture and design. Sign-up sheets are posted on dormitory bulletin boards.

Seniors Kincaid, Postlethwaite Are May Queen Choices

Seniors Martha Kincaid, home economics major from Grove City, Pa., and Frances Postlethwaite, sociology major from Ocean City, Md., were nominated by the student body Thursday for the 1950 May Queen. Elections may be held with student body election run-offs.

Two senior girls will serve as attendants along with one boy and girl elected from each other class, who will walk with attendants of their ow nchoosing. President of the senior class is automatically May King.

Senior girls nominated were Betty Crawford, Anne Gates, Anne Parris, and Lynn Johnson. Juniors are Lavinia Rodriguez and Gerry Hopkins, and Bob Proffitt and Del Poling.

Marsha Beebe and Jesie Dye, and Dave Kincaid and Charles Holsinger are sophomore nominees. Frosh are Martha Higdon and Isabel Leitch, and Bill Caldwell and John Schaumburg.

Sunday Schools Re-Enact Easter Story In Music And Devotional Messages

Sunday School devotionals tomorrow will center about Easter, with special music planned at all but one.

The Presbyterian Sunday School tomorrow will be led by the presidents of the Crusaders Class, the College Class, and the Fellowship Class, Charlie Williams, Ben Paxton, and Ken Paxton, respectively. Special music will be by Helen Worrilow.

Carol Corbett is devotional leader at First Methodist. Charles and Wally Schroeder will sing a duet as special music.

Broadway Methodist will have as its leaders Morna Wright, Nannette Enloe, and Beryl Stewart. The theme is "For He Is Risen." Jim Darroch will sing "I'd Rather Have Jesus." Lesta Merrick is accompanist.

George Wood will lead the devotional service at St. Andrew's, starting at 9:30 a.m.

At the First Baptist, Cora Anthony will present the opening devotional message. Soloist will be Mary Frances Higdon, visiting her sister, Ann, for the week-end.

'Morningside's' Mrs. John Walker, 98, Friend To MC, Greeted On Birthday

By Mary McConnell

Congratulations and many happy returns of the day are in order for Mrs. John Walker, long-time friend of the college, who celebrates her 98th birthday tomorrow. Mrs. Walker has just returned to Maryville after spending part of the winter in Florida.

Mrs. Walker, formerly of Davisfield, exclusive suburb of Pittsburgh, is the second eldest of a large family. When she came to Maryville in 1932, she built "Morningside" in the college woods to be near her sister, Mrs. William P. Stevenson, whose husband was then pastor of the college.

Mrs. Walker has been most instrumental in improving the campus. She donated the Walker Gates on the corduroy at the college street entrance of the campus, as well as the corduroy itself. She has seen that many flowers and shrubs were planted on the campus, and has done may more things to make it more attractive and useful.

After the chapel fire, she gave much to the new chapel fund, particularly for the Vesper Choir. For the past several years the Choir has serenaded Mrs. Walker on her birthday. Tomorrow after Vespers they will do selected anthems and will conclude with her favorite psalm, the 23rd from the old Presbyterian Psalter.

On one birthday occasion, President Lloyd said, "she is well-loved for her strength of personality, her loveliness of spirit, and her keenness of interest in the students, faculty and program of the College, and for her wise Christian outlook upon life." This summarizes well the love of the College for Mrs. Walker and the appreciation for all of her thoughtful services rendered in a spirit of unselfishness.

Spanish Club Elects Officers

Jeanne Pelton was elected president of Spanish Club for the first semester of 1950-51 at the club's meeting March 30 in Howard Schwam's classroom.

Other officers elected to take office this fall were Neale Pearson, vice president; Betty Carroll, secretary; Grace Greenawalt, treasurer; and Archie Swarztrauber, program chairman.

It was voted to amend the Constitution to the effect that officers will serve only one semester rather than the full school year because of the duties imposed upon them. However, they will still be eligible for further offices.

Archie Swarztrauber, president, announced that Club International which was postponed from Thursday night will be held on April 13 in the Student Center.

Swarztrauber also announced that the picnic, to be held on the 28th of April will cost each member 50 cents for food, transportation, and entertainment. Members are asked to pay Jeanne Pelton.

The Spanish Club will present as their skit for the Club International El Paso Septimo by Lope de Rueda. Cast is Ruth Burgos, La Donna Baylor, Bill Shields, and Bob Lynn.

V Radio Presents 'The Terrible Meek'

Y Radio will present a drama, "The Terrible Meek," Monday night at 9:30 over WGAP.

The play is a contemporary one and has three characters, a British soldier, a Roman centurion, and an old woman. Their reactions to the crucifixion are dealt with.

Middleton Chooses Crew For 'Joan'

Anne Gates, senior English major, as assistant director of "Joan of Lorraine" heads the production staff, Director Herman Middleton recently announced. She is also active in the College Players and was an assistant director in "Hedda Gabler."

Chuck Gahagan is stage manager and Dan Dunbar is his assistant. Construction of the set is by J. A. Cameron, Jim Townsend, Ray Kuhn, and Hugh McSpadden.

George Barber is the house manager and is in charge of the ushering and the seating.

Joan Titley is chairman of the properties committee and has as her assistants Lucy Carrick and Norma Lou Loetz. Costuming is by Bobbie Porter, chairman, Mary Wilkes and Grace Meyers. Chairman of make-up is Diana Mirshak, who has Grace Meyers, Bobbie James, John Ferris and Jeannette Whitaker helping her. In charge of script and sound effects is Mary Wilke.

Lighting chairman is Hugh McSpadden and his assistant is J. A. Cameron. Ruth McQuilken is chairman of publicity. Assisting her are Bob McCready, Marie Richards, Dot Stater and Hugh McSpadden. In charge of the program and the ticket sale is Phyl Jackson, being assisted by Ed Vanderslice, Joan Titley and Dot Stater.

Theta, Alpha Sig, Sponsor May Day 'Moonlight And Roses' Spring Dance

"Moonlight and Roses" will be the theme of this year's Spring Dance which will be held Monday night, May 1 in the Alumni gym. Theta Epsilon and Alpha Sigma are in charge.

Sarah Durant, president of Theta, and Paul McNiell, Alpha Sig president, have announced the following committee chairmen: business, Charlie Warner and Peggy Kettles; decorations, Irene Mellon and Jim Kren; refreshments, Jessie Dye and Ted Beasley; publicity, Barbara Wallin and Frank Russo; tickets, Janice Landstrom and Bob Kay; programs, Judy Breen and Andy Clark; music, Wilbur Selander and Ruth Davis; and clean-up, Dave Kincaid.

Brother and sister societies drew lots on January 26 to determine which would sponsor this spring's dance in accordance with the new society dance set-up. Theta and Alpha Sig will be in charge of the formal dance this spring and also the informal dance next fall. Next spring's formal and the fall dance of the following year will be sponsored by Athenian-Bainonian.

Until this year the two annual dances have been conducted by the Social Board. Interclub Council originated the new plan to make up for the financial deficits to the societies which arose from the consolidation of all dramatic productions under the new Maryville College Playhouse.

Tickets will go on sale about April 24 and will cost $1 plus tax per couple. Profits from the spring formals will be distributed among all four societies.

The fall dance is given without charge and expenses are paid by the Social Board.

Now To Vote–

"Neutral in nothing—independent in everything," a slogan typifying the collegiate press, becomes a particularly good nonpartisan rule for such publications during campus elections. Neutral as to the individual choice, but independent in the matter of how to arrive at that choice. As a staff, we vote as individuals. As to policy, Echo is neutral.

Time again Echo's editorial columns have backed but one thesis at election time: be sure to vote. A tried and true formula, it is our belief that elections will benefit more if more people express an individual choice.

How this individual choice should be made is a point that ought to be considered by every student voter. What qualifications should be considered? Personality? "The company he keeps?" Proven capacity? Experience? Admittedly, an honestly straight-forward decision is difficult to make in any particularly close political race—especially when it may seem to the average student as a personality tug-of-war.

Writing on this dilemma, a neighboring college weekly recently put it in very simple terms to say:

Far to long the student voter has made it a Far too long the sutdent voter has made it a tion of officers. Oftentimes those chosen in the various ofices do a tip-top job in their respective fields, but just as often we find that personality is not necessarily a qualification for leadership in student government.

To achieve the success that each of us would like, we must single out those candidates that have the best to offer in their good judgment, originality, creativeness, leadership qualities, initiative, and effort. We must concentrate on the individual who would step into his office with an open mind and determination to give his job the best that is in him.

The voter must not be taken in by a false impression given by candidates. The voters who study the qualifications of each candidate will be the voters who give the most to the right of free voting.

Let us not make hasty decisions, let us not be decieved by fancy campaigning, or by false impressions, but let us go to the polls with true account of each candidate's qualifications. Only by doing this can we place into the various offices those people who will give us the results for which we are voting.

Who Knows Where Or When?

Psychology 312 heard Dr. Briggs hurriedly describe the matter of kissing on a first date as a "pressing matter." But the good doctor didn't get away with such a light treatment of such a heavy subject, for his class was eager for details. He continued that kissing involves, a "where, when, how, and why." To which Jim Latham mused, "Around here it's the where that bothers most of us!"

Spring brings forth romantic melodies from the poet's heart which issues sentimental ditties by the dozens:

Me love has flew,
Him done me dirt.
How was I to know
Him was a flirt.
To them in love
Let I forbid,
Lest they be doed
Like I've been did!

Onward, oh onward,
Please, time, in thy fligh
Lord, make the bell ring
Before I have to recite!

Jackson, Johnson, Heron and Hunter,
When my poems are read, will surely wonder
If my brain is badly torn asunder.
The reason's as plain as skies above—
It's springtime again and I'm in love
(Who? Me?)

ECHO FORUM

To The Editor of The Echo:

From time to time things occur, things are said, and incidents take place which often arouse a feeling of regret and disgust on the part of one student or another; but for the press of responsibilities, and the apparent uselessness of making any protest they are permitted to go by. But then there comes a time when some action seems inevitable. This situation seems to be here now on the campus.

The "Disturbed Student's" comments in last week's Echo were very apt, it seems to me, for striking at the root of something which after all is not principally minstrel shows, or any other kind of shows for that matter. but actually a foundational sentiment and attitude which expresses itself through such media. To restate "Disturbed Student's" main thesis would be unnecessary here.

Actually, I am sure that no one who took part in the YMCA Minstrel had any conscious feeling of prejudice or discrimination; nor did the students who witnessed the show have that either. But what most people do have is a lack of sensitivity to what really is proper, a willingness to laugh at things which they themselves would not like if it were they who were being taken off on.

Taking off on a person or a group or a situation which is not in itself funny is not really funny either. It really shows a lack of discretion and good taste. The Athenian Society skit last Saturday night was a perfect example of this, and I believe the Athenians owe the campus an apology for their irreverent and disrespectful "take-off" on someone and something which is dear to the hearts and lives of many students here.

Can we not seek to discover a basic principle by which to determine what really constitutes what is humorous and what is not. And surely the ridiculing of minority groups and holy things does not fall into that category.

(Signed) Ben Sheldon.

To The Editor of The Echo:

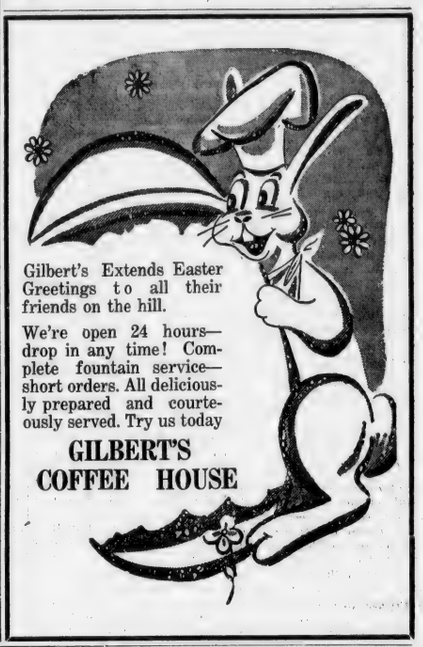
As is often the case when discussion is created concerning the value or purpose of certain human acts, there is the natural tendency to take part of the truth as the whole truth without being rational to get all the facts available.

Had the author of the letter appearing in last week's Echo taken time to seriously analyze the arguments he set forth in opposition to the minstrel show, he might have seen the inconsistencies of his reasoning.

First, by judging an act, the writer is doing something Christ never did—in that, He was always cautious to judge motive rather than result of motive. By assuming an air of Divinity not even accepted by the Lord, the writer makes his first mistake.

Second, I would enlighten the writer as to the value of the act itself. Now, admittedly, the purpose behind the minstrel show was to directly benefit those unfortunate students in other lands and to strengthen the bond of unity among the world's governments. And here, I would call attention to a few facts.

The Negro people, as a race, have long been noted for their good humor—the only genuine original wit that America has yet produced. A minstrel show is simply an expression in good spirit—an acknowledgement— of the type of humor which has been such a loveable part of their make-up.



Would you also remember that more than a few Negroes, among which are the late Bill Robinson, the great tap dancer; Steppin' Fetchitt, the famous comedian; and Rochester, Jack Benny's right hand man, spent many years in Minstrel Shows. It was with Lew Dockstader's Minstrles that Bill Robinson and Al Jolson brought to the American public a white-colored singing team that they had tried out years before, on the street corners of Washington, D. C.

It is dubious whether the Negro committee presenting Bill Robinson with the award for the "outstanding contribution to the Negro race," a few years ago, was unaware of 'Bojangles" years in minstrel shows.

I would also seriously question the implications set forth in regard to the willingness of the American public to accept Negroes, as entertainers, on equal basis with whites. I know of no other profession in which equality is so complete. As examples, note that the traveling company of "Tobacco Road" (all Negro) is still filling theatres around the nation after several year's run; that Pearl Bailey is starred in the smash Broadway musical, "Arms and the Girl"; that the top record salesman today is Billy Eckstine; and that a 12-year-old Negro named Sugar Chile Robinson is tinkling piano keyboards and the heartstrings of the American public at a terrific an consistent rate. There are others—Lena Horne, Marian Anderson, Duke Ellington, Count Basie. In many case s these fine folk got their start in minstrels, or shows of the minstrel type—and it is minstrel type humor which has endeared these comedians to the people of our land—white and

Scots Scalp Redskins; But Indians Reverse Tide

By Neale Pearson

Tom Pequignot singled in the first half of the fifth to drive across two runs and enough for a winning margin which enabled Miami University's Redskins to split a two-game series with the Scotties.

Maryville won the first game, 14-3, in a contest which saw Maryville playing perfect ball and Miami just the opposite. Miami took the second game, 16-3, in a reversal of the playing technique which she had exhibited the day before.

Leon Lean & Learned

Leon Berrong took to the hill in Friday afternoon's game and he showed all the form and cunning of his freshman year in which he was tops. "Moe" worked seven innings and gave up only two hits.

In the meanwhile, Scot batters were giving Berrong a working margin of one run in the first which was enough. Jack Buckley drew a walk, stole second and advanced to third on a single by Wally Pentz. Bob Boring then whacked one between short and third for the first run of the ball game. This was good enough for "Moe" and he held them the rest of his tenure while they piled more on.

Odd thing about the game from MC's standpoint is that everyone of the Scots' hits was a single while the Indians had a three-bagger by Jim Wilkinson, their catcher in their four hits.

Saturday Game

Saturday afternoon was too cold for ball playing in the eyes of many observers but both teams went at it with Jim Kren on the mound for the Highlanders and Wirkowski for the Ohioans.

Indians Hit First

Miami drew first blood when Bob Fryman who had made one of the most spectacular catches the day before of a Boring-blast received life when Boring threw wild at first. After the next man went down Chuck Timbergheim singled him in and he scored later on a single.

MC pecked away at Wirkowski's offering but could get nowhere till the fourth. In that frame, Boring collected MC's only extra-base of the game when he doubled to left and scored on Hugh Hamil rap through short. Hamil then advanced to third on Timbergheim's bad throw home.

Benny Baldwin came to the bat and dropped a neat squeeze play bunt between third and the pitcher's box to score Hugh F.

Maryville's final run came when Kren walked on a base on balls, advanced on another one and scored on King Berrong's one-baser. But this was the last inning in which MC was to do any good for the next three innings, MC batters went down one-two-three.

Kren was taken out in the fifth with the score 5-2 and two on. Gene Parks relieved him but couldn't stem the tide until four more came across the plate. In this and the next inning, Miami batted around twice for nine runs and Sonny Short came in to hurl the eighth frame.

The damage was done and to add final insult, catcher Jim Wilkinson rapped out a triple and Dick Schultz bashed out a homer off Short who had held them down fairly well for the day before.

Trackmen Take Tough Time Trials

Several weeks of spring training began to show up in the results of yesterday's time trials as the Track squad began to bear down for the Milligan Relays on the 22nd of April. Since the Echo under its new system(?) goes to press Friday afternoon, the results were not known, but they should have proved eye-openers to some and shockers to others.

Stretch Them Legs

Striding and pacing was stressed during the past week with a lot of emphasis on the latter. Captain Sid Lambert, the team's ace strider in the 440 strode out a 54 in a timed-test Monday and by next week the second hand should be hovering around the 50 second mark when Sidney crosses the tape.

Whoooosh

Blondie Law and Charlie Allen are working out slowly but surely for their places in the 100 and 200 dashes with Clarence Reaser the third man in their race. Walt English, Jimmy Thurston, and John (The Fence) Baird who are Lambert's running mates in the 440 and 800 are coming along all right, though the cold weather is hampering them much.

Two newcomers, Bert McMahan, and Harold Nairon, are the two most likely boys to give the vets trouble. George (Red) Day and Bill (Say you) Menges are other 880 men who are working in the longer races, too.

It's A Long, Long Trail

In the endurance events, Charles Mabry and Del Earisman have about sewed down their positions with practice times approaching those of MC's last year meets. Ric (Roundtrip) Rogers and J. Bright are giving them plenty of competition while five others, Helwig, Kerr, Lawson, Kelly, and Pearson, have been bemoaning their slowness in practice and laying bets on who would be the last one in.

Kerch Kay

In the hurdles, Bob Kay has taken a heavy load onto his shoulders with the forced absence of Hap Brahams who was knocked out of season's competition with an attack of appendicitis at the Minstrel Show.

Kay whose major is Business Administration is also taking a slight minor in Physical Education with the co-coaching of Coach Davis of two newcomers, Bill Gibson and John Schaumberg—recent arrivals off the foot ball field.

Muscles Meditate

In the Field events, not much has been going on because of the sloppy weather but the pole vaulters, discuss, shot, and high jump men have gotten a few hours practice in with a general bearing-down next week. Otherwise, all's quiet on the track front.

MC Takes Tigers For Third Triumph

Once again, Hiwassee was inefefective against MC hurling while MC hititng was on another spree when Maryville downed the Tigers, 21-12, on a windy Monday at Madisonville. The victory was number two over the Tiger aggregation—the previous one being won by the Scots on their home grounds.

MC All The Way

Maryville started hititng early in the game and picked up four tallies before the Stinnett-team could garner even a hit. Sonny Short held the Tigers for 5 innings before he was relieved by Gene Parks in the sixth; who in turn gave way to Jim Kren in the seventh. Buckley, Boring, K. Berrong, and Reynolds led the batters—Buckley getting a triple, Boring, two doubles and a homer, and Reynolds another double. Ken Yonkers and K. Berrong got triples—"Worm" also got two doubles and a single.

Intramurals....

By Jimmy Britton

BADMITTON

Something seems to have gone wrong with badmitton this week. The games are not being played at all. Not only does participation in these intramural singles offer practice but also intramural medal points. Don't forget!

Have all the second quarter games played off by April 17. Those who are now scheduled for games are Jimmy Thurston, Bob Larson, John Geiser, Clyde McCampbell, Jim Lester, Paul Maier, Bob Worthington, and Glen Gage.

SOFTBALL

Softball is Football weather! Yes, Maryville students have been celebrating the cold spell with some rousing softball struggles between the orange and garnet league. It looks as if this will be the intramural chatter as to who will come out on top the next five weeks of school. The standings up to April 6 are below.

ORANGE LEAGUE

Team	Wins	Loses
Merry Villians	1	0
Minnies	0	1
8-Balls	1	0
Leftovers	0	1

Netmen Out To Net CN In Years Opening Match

Carson-Newman's netters invade the courts of Maryville today in the first regular meet of the year for the Scots. The first match is slated to get underway at 2 p.m. This should give net fans an idea of the strength of this year's team. Last year the Scots defeated the Eagles in two meets, 8-1 and 7-0.

C-N Has New Team (?)

Carson-Newman was hit hard by graduation last year but should have some good up-and-coming netters making today's meet mighty interesting.

Wesley Miles or Chesley Anderson will take the number one spot for the Scots. As the paper goes to press before the tennis ladder is completely determined on Friday it is impossible to know who will be first and who will be second. Bux Cardoza will hold down the number three spot followed by Jerry Sayres, Ben Gearhart and Glen Gage, in that order.

Doubles will be made up of Miles and Anderson, Cardoza and Sayres, and Gearhart and Gage.

Tennessee Wesleyan Next

Tuesday will find the Scot netters traveling to Athens, Tennessee, to meet the Bulldogs from Tennessee Wesleyan. Last year the Scots defeated the Wesleyan netmen 4-3 and 5-2.

Teams Don't Show Up! Scots Travel

James B. Milliken University of Illinois didn't show up and Hiwassee College is giving her students a vacation; therefore, Maryville's scheduled games with the two schools didn't come off.

Milliken still hasn't been heard from and Coach Honaker doesn't know whether they're on their way or whether they are hibernating—not a word has come this way from the Illinois school.

Hiwassee was slated to pair off against the Scots today, but because of a vacation given by the higher-ups, the game has been switched to Monday.

Prevue

Three other games will mark the card of Comprehensives Week. On Tuesday, Coach Honaker's squad will en-car for Middlesboro, Ky., and a game, while Friday and Saturday will see games with Northern Illinois.

The Illinois Teachers team may or may not show up, depending on John L .Lewis' actions during the forthcoming week.

Fulfilling the dream of many a student, school was shut down for three wekse because of a coal shortage. However, school authorities planned to open their doors this next week thus enabling their baseball nine to make the trip south.

Combined Choirs Sing 'Seven Words'

Conrad Eaddy directed the combined choirs of New Providence Presbyterian, First Methodist, and Broadway Methodist churches last night in DuBois' "The Seven Last Words of Christ" in a special Good Friday service. W. Curtis Hughes was at the organ and Mrs. Eaddy at the piano.

Soloists were freshman Helen Worrilow, formerly a student at Philadelphia's Curtis Institute of Music; Ed Goddard, First Methodist Choir director; and J. S. Goodman, New Providence choir director.

Eaddy is an MC sophomore and choir director at Broadway Methodist.

John A. BenderExcels In Alexander Oration

John Bender, senior, won the T. T. Alexander oratorical contest prize last Thursday morning in chapel in competition with Stuart Saul. The prize is split with 60% for the winner and 40% for the runner-up. It will be awarded on Commencement Day.

Bender is a senior Bible and Religious Education major from Wilmington, North Carolina, and is married. His speech was on "The Resurrection." Stuart Saul is a senior Sociology major from Mt. Holly (New Jersey. Saul's topic was also "The Resurrection."

The Judges of the oration were Dr. Baldridge, former pastor of the First Baptist Church, David L. McArthur, an MC graduate, and Rev. Mark M. Moore, pastor of the Broadway Methodist Church.

Photo Contest Announced By Nat'l Fraternity

Kappa Alpha Mu, honorary fraternity in photo-journalism, has announced the fifth annual 50-print International Collegiate Photography Exhibition. Any student regularly enrolled in any accredited college or university is eligible.

A maximum of ten prints, 8 by 10 or larger, may be submitted. April 30 is the deadline and no entry fee is required.

The grand prize in the contest is a two-year scholarship to the Fred Archer School of Photography and a copy of "Photography is a Language."

Classes of entry include news, sports, feature, industrial and scientific, pictorial and nature.

The contest is intended to promote interest in photography in colleges and universities all over the world. More information is available at the Echo office.

Faculty Club Series Ends; Mrs. Swenson Speaker

"Existentialism: Philosophy or Fad?" was the title of the paper read by Mrs. William Swenson Tuesday night at the final meeting of the Faculty Club. The formal dinner was held in the Home Economics room.

Mrs. Swenson, philosophy assistant before her graduation in 1948, has served two years as Special Studies editor. She has taught a class in history and philosophy during the current year.

Appreciation was expressed by Dr. H. E. Orr, club chairman, to Professor Gertrude Meiselwitz and her staff for their cooperation during the year.

3 Sophomore Musicians Present Recital Tuesday

Soprano Rosalie Munson, accompanied by Louise Lloyd, and pianists Larry Wallace and Mary Lee Snodderly will be presented in a sophomore recital, Tuesday, April 11 at the Chilhowee Clubhouse at 4:30 p.m.

Miss Munson will sing "Ouvre tes yeux bleus" and "Il est doux, il est bon" from "Herodiade" by Massenet, "L'heure exquise" by Hahn, "Romance" by Debussy, and "Si tu le xeux" by Koechlin.

Wallace will play the Allegro from Mozart's "Sonata in C major," "Clair de lune" by Debussy, a waltz, "Op. 69, No. 1" by Chopin, and an impromptu, "Op. 142, No. 2" by Schubert.

Miss Snodderly will play the Allegro and Andante from Mozart's "Sonata in G major," a nocturne, "Op. 55, No. 1" by Chopin, "Bird Song" by Palmgren, and "Scherzo Humoristique" (The Cat and the Mouse) by Copland.

New Providence Holds Union Holy Week Service

Maryville downtown churches observed a series of union services during Holy Week at New Providence Presbyterian Church.

The topics with their leaders were as follows: Monday, "The Day of Authority," Rev. Floyd Clark, First Christian; Tuesday, "The Day of Controversy," Rev. Thomas A. Graham, New Providence Presbyterian; Wednesday, "The Day of Silence," Rev. Mark M. Moore, Broadway Methodist; Thursday, "The Day of Fellowship," Rev. James M. Windham; Friday, "The Day of Suffering," Dr. E. E. Wiley, Jr., First Methodist.

She: "How about giving me a diamond ring?"

He: "My dear, extenuating circumstances perforce me to exclude you from such a bauble of extravangance."

She: "I don't get it."

He: "That's just what I said."

Dr. Lloyd Attends Eastern Meetings

President Ralph W. Lloyd was in Pennsylvania and New York the week of March 20-25. Tuesday, March 21, he attended a meeting of a special committee for the furtherance of Christian higher education for presentation to the Presbyterian Church.

Wednesday and Thursday, March 22 and 23, Dr. Lloyd was at Buck Hill Falls, Pennsylvania, attending the second annual meeting of the conference of U S A member churches of the World Council of Churches. Those delegates to the World Council Assembly at Amsterdam in 1948 serve as representatives of their denominations to the Conference of USA member churches.

Friday Dr. Lloyd met in New York City with an Advisory committee on Europe, of which he is a member. This committee was recently appointed by the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions to help with the administrations of large funds and the conducting of programs of various kinds among the churches of Europe and Great Britain.

Friday night, Dr. Lloyd attended a meeting of the Maryville Metropolitan Club, an alumni organization in the New York area. At this gathering, Bob Seel, class of '45, was named chairman of the club for the coming year. Other officers elected were James Rich, class of '39, vice-chairman, and Marjorie Spilatore, '34, secretary-treasurer.

Dr. Lloyd returned Saturday.

I passed a load of hay.
I tried to pass a Greyhound bus
And then I passed away.

black alike!

The author has asked whether Christ would have enjoyed the minstrel show. The question appears to be about as ridiculous as the other arguments are inconsistent.

We, who participated in the recent Minstrel were proud to support a cause thru the medium of so worthy and traditional form of entertainment. We were happy that we could derive our exercise from other means than jumping at conclusions.

In closing, let me remind the writer of last week's leter of an illustration I heard not long ago. I goes like this:

When you want to destroy a building, a wrecker can be hired for between $5 and $10 a day. When you want to erect a structure, it will cost between $25 and $50 to hire an architect.

It is much easier to tear down than to construct. But the results of construction are well worth the time and effort.

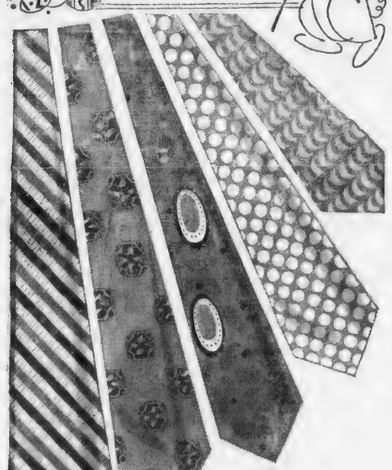
Remedial Reading Class Ends Semester's Work; Much Improvement Made

Remedial reading class for the current semester has closed after meeting twice a week for a 10 week period. Twenty-four students were voluntary participants in the class. Dr. Frank McClelland was instructor.



The course of study centered around 16 Harvard Reading Films. The first film had a reading rate of 180 words per minute. Each successive film had an increased reading rate until a rate of 470 words per minute was reached.

Although the object of the course was to increase reading raet without decreasing comprehension, tests at the end of each film showed that both reading rate and comprehension increased.

Alternate forms of the Iowa silent reading test were given at the beginning and the close of the course. First test showed that the average reading ability of the class was five percentile points below average for college freshmen. The last test showed the class avrage had risen to 26 percentile points above freshman average.

MC Student Body Elects Poland President

Swarztrauber Named Social Board Chairman In Run-Off Elections Held Yesterday; Jim Kren Takes Uncontested Veep Office

By Fran Moore

Joe Poland is student body president as a result of the run-off election held yesterday with Joe McNiell. Poland, junior economics major from Beverly Shores, Ind., is a cheerleader and member of College Players; he is active in Athenian, tumbling, and Theta Alpha Phi.

Incoming social board chairman is Arch Swarztrauber, in a run-off victory defeating Phyl Jackson. A junior business administration major from Zion, Ill., Swarztrauber is Athenian program chairman, cheerleader captain, Spanish Club president, and a member of Chilhowean business staff and YMCA.

Jim Kren, unopposed candidate for the vice-presidency, totaled 491 votes against Jim Lester's 189 Tuesday. Lester, although withdrawn, appeared on the ballot.

Kren is a sophomore physical education major from Pitcairn, Pa. He is a member of German Club, YMCA, Alpha Sigma, ABC, and the baseball squad.

In the preliminary contest held Tuesday and Wednesday, McNiell totaled 293 votes; Poland, 296; Charles Williams, 94; and Tom Kees, withdrawn candidate, 2.

Arch Swarztrauber totalled 228; Phyllis Jackson, 209; Sara Jo Emert, 166; and Bob Holley, 84.

May Day results were not announced.

Campaign manager for McNiell was Del Poling; Dave Reed campaigned for Poland. Each candidate expressed confidence that he would win in the run-off. Williams' managers, Dick Newman and Don Whelan, could not be reached for comment late Thursday night.

Combined Glee Clubs Ready Annual 'Serenade'

By Glenn Gentry

Curtain time for 1950 Springtime Serenade is 8 p.m. Friday, April 21, for the first performance, and the same hour Saturday, April 22, for the second performance.

Serenade is presented by the All Girl Choir and Men's Glee Club under the direction of W. Curtis Hughes, instructor of music and conductor of the 88-voice chorus. Hughes will direct the program from the console of the concert model Hammond organ, lent to Maryville College especially for this performance by Fowler Brothers, Knoxville.

W. Curtis Hughes

Sarah Durant and Peggy Cummings will accompany the chorus at twin pianos.

Miss Durant is a senior elementary education major from Birmingham, Ala., and was band sponsor this year. Miss Cummings is a senior organ major from Maryville and is a member of Tau Kappa Chi, honorary music fraternity.

Chapel Fund Profits

Tickets are on sale before and after meals in Pearsons, and from 3:30 to 5:30 in the Student Center. All profits will go to the chapel fund. Tickets are 50c, and no seats will be reserved.

Set construction is of modern design, in blue and gray. Jim Townsend is stage manager and Howard Cameron is assistant stage manager.

Officers for the production are Irene Mellon, business manager. Jim Kren, assistant business manager, and Charlie Williams, publicity director.

William Starr will serve as commentator both nights; the script was written by Bob Holley. Doors will open at 7:15, and ticket sales will stop at 7:50, ten minutes before each performance begins.

The theme of Springtime Serenade is "Serenade" from Sigmund Romberg's "Student Prince." The chorus will open and close the program with the theme.

The first six selections will be group numbers. They are "Serenade—(theme song), and "Desert Song" by Romberg; "Clap Yo' Hands," by Gershwin; "In the Still of the Night," by Porter; "June is Bustin' Out All Over," by Rodgers; and "So In Love," by Porter.

Jim Darroch will sing the first solo, "When You're Away," by Herbert. Three chorus numbers follow, "You and the Night and the Music," by Schwartz; "I've Got You Under My Skin," by Porter; and Jones' "I'll See You In My Dreams."

June and Ray Holsey will sing a duet, Romberg's "Silver Moon," and Don Hyatt and the Men's Glee Club will harmonize on Rodgers' "A Fellow Needs a Girl."

The chorus will present "With a Song In My Heart" by Rodgers and "Lover Come Back to Me," by Romberg. A male quartet—Bob Worthington, Larry Thompson, Jim Townsend, and Charlie Williams—sing Berlin's "Blue Skies."

The entire group will sing Romberg's "Stouthearted Men," "Roberta," a choral selection by Kern, and Gershwin's "Strike Up the Band."

Ruth McQuilkin and a trio composed of Peggy Williams, Gracie Scruggs, and Sally Sutton, will sing "Bali Ha'i" by Rodgers. The choirs combine for Rodgers' "Some Enchanted Evening."

Last on the solo list is Helen Worrilow, who will sing "A Heart That's Free" by Robyn. The last three numbers on the program are Rodgers' "You'll Never Walk Alone," Romberg's "Your Land and My Land," and the theme "Serenade."

Cox Leads Disc Club

Pat Cox will lead Disc Club Thursday at 7:00 in room 21 Anderson Hall in the last meeting of the year. The selection to be criticised is Aaron Copland's "Appalachian Spring."

Harter's Modern Composition To Be Sung In Illinois

Harry H. Harter, assistant professor of music, has received word from William Tagg, director of music at Lincoln College, Lincoln, Ill., that the community choir of that city will include Harter's composition "Mystic Cherub Song" in its modern choral concert on May 18. The composition was written for mixed chorus and has been sung here by the Vesper Choir.

Mr. Tagg writes "I would be honored to be allowed to study any other of your numbers, as I find the voice parts flow so effortlessly through the rather modern progressions that the entire work is a good example of modern choral writing."

Harter has studied composition with various teachers, one of whom is Roy Harris, well-known American composer now at Peabody College in Nashville.

Pre-registration Begins April 11

Spring registration for all students now in attendance is now taking place, with registration periods as follows: prospective seniors, April 11-19; prospective juniors, April 20-29; prospective sophomores and freshmen, May 2 to 13.

This registration is for the fall semester; each student is required to see that his Students' Record is entirely complete, make out his tentative schedule card, check with his major adviser as to his schedule and Record, and take the approved schedule to the Personnel Office.

Both town and dormitory students must renew their advance deposit of $10 by transferring it in person at the Treasurer's Office before the end of this semester.

Plane Down

Military men on both sides of the Iron Curtain were charging foul play after a US plane was reported missing and feared lost over the Baltic Sea. Sen. Styles Bridges, (R., NH.) said Wednesday that the Russians had "ambushed and shot down "an unarmed, slow US plane "in cold blood." The US Air Force Thursday still had not determined how the plane got off its Germany-Denmark course into Latvia, were not sure who—if anybody—fired on whom.

Sales Up

Blount County business—retail, wholesale, and service establishments—showed a 330 per cent increase in volume of trade from 1948, the Bureau of the census reported this week. Earlier the Bureau had been counting the 863 MC students.

Politicoes Dead

Republicans were making political hay as clouds obscured Democratic sunshine; two ward heelers were killed in Kansas City. Two senators have demanded congressional investigation of crime-politics tie-ups. Tennessee's able Sen. Estes Kefauver was reported to head the committee.

So's Pete

Workmen have uncovered the tomb of "the Prince of the Apostles," Peter, under the basilica which bears his name in Vatican City, it was announced this week. An urn with some ivory-colored bones in it has been identified as those of the diseiple by Vatican sources.

Runs Dry

A fight was shaping up last week in nearby Anderson County over its recent legal liquor referendum. Ballots had been impounded for a contested election. If official canvassing showed the 148 dry majority right, still-open boozemporia would have to close their doors.

Union Presbytery Rejects Federal Council Critics

Union Presbytery, meeting at Ft. Sanders Church, Monday, refused to "align itself with those seeking excuses to criticize the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America."

Dr. Horace Orr, MC philosophy professor and chairman of Presbytery's committee on overtures, announced that Presbytery took no action on a proposal to the General Assembly from Knoxville's Second Presbyterian Church.

The overture branded as "socialistic. . . un-Christian and un-American" the second National Study Conference on the Church and Economic Life, members of which are affiliated with the Federal Council.

Vols To See Film

Student Volunteers will meet in Bartlett Auditorium tomorrow night immediately after the YWCA installation service.

A motion picture entitled "And Lo I Am With You" will be shown. Special music will be trumpet duets by John Baxter and Clarence Reaser.

Experimental Theatre Produces 'Echo,' 'Prison'

Experimental Theatre presents its final productions of the year tonight in Bartlett Hall at 7 and 9 o'clock.

"Echo," an experiment in time by Robert Kasper, is the story of the suicide of David Ross. The story goes back in time to review events leading up to his death. Leads are Phyllis Jackson, Mary Ross; Arch Swarztrauber, Henry Ross; Joan Titley, Lillian Ross; and Alan Fort, David Ross.

"Little Prison," a farce-comedy by Milton Savage, takes place in an elevator stalled between floors of a large department store. Stars are Mary Wilkes, Daisy; Kathryn Shelton, Pearl; Ruth McQuilkin, Miss Bundy; Mary McAfee, Miss Ellison; and Norma Lou Loetz, Miss Richardson.

Sara Jo Emert directs "Little Prison" and John Ferris directs "Echo."

Stage managers are Chuck Gahagan and Ray Kuhn. George Barber will handle business and Barbara Sandos is chairman of properties committee, assisted by Norma Lou Loetz.

Allan Caldwell and Phyllis Jackson will do make-up; Hugh McSpadden is in charge of lighting. Script and special effects for "Little Prison" will be in charge of Miriam Chahbandour; Allan Caldwell will hold the same position for "Echo." Joan Titley is publicity chairman.

For the first time the sets are designed by students alone. Irvin Kenner is responsible for the set of "Little Prison;" while Robert McCready is for that of "Echo."

Phyllis Jackson and Claude Cowan are in charge of programs. Grace Myers, Maree Richards, and Allan Caldwell will handle tickets.

Herman Middleton, director of the Experimental Theatre, stated that this year the Theatre has strived to live up to its name by presenting plays that were unique and extraordinary in both plot and setting.

IRC Hears Ainsworth

Assistant Professor Arthur D. Ainsworth of the division of social sciences will speak to International Relations Club Monday night on "The Atlantic Pact."

The meeting will be held in first floor chemistry lecture room, Fayerweather Hall. Election of officers for 1950-51 will also be held.

Sunday Schools Announce Topics

At the First Methodist Sunday School a deputation team on basic Christian beliefs will be in charge of the discussion, "Beliefs That Matter." Students participating in the program will be Mary Wills, Howard Frame, Austin Van Pelt, Jim Darroch, Lincoln Shimomura, Janet Whiting and Barbara Rosensteel.

Devotions at New Providence Presbyterian college class will be led by the Crusaders with Charles Williams leading the singing and Barbara Scott at the piano. Scripture will be read by Paul Kidder with Ken Shaffer playing special music.

Richard Marcroft, freshman from Baltimore, Md., will present an organ recital at St. Andrew's Episcopal Sunday School at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow.

The congregational service of divine worship will be conducted in the sanctuary at 11 a.m.

USA Church Clerk Dr. William Pugh To Speak Sunday

Rev. Dr. William Barrow Pugh, Stated Clerk of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church USA, will speak at Vespers tomorrow evening at 7:00 in the library.

Dr. Pugh is the principal administrative officer in the Presbyterian Church and holds many prominent offices in interdenominational organizations. Among these are the American Secretaryship for the World Presbyterian Alliance and membership on the Central Committee of the World Council of Churches.

During the war, Dr. Pugh was chairman of the General Commission on Chaplains which supervised the appointment of all Protestant chaplains for the armed forces. He made two extensive trips to the war areas in both Europe and the Pacific.

A member of the Board of Directors of Maryville College, Dr. Pugh has spoken here before, but this is his first visit for several years.

Musical selections to be sung by the Vesper Choir are "Jesu, Friend of Sinners" by Grieg and "Jesu, Priceless Treasure" by Bach.

FTA Entertain Future Teachers

Future Teachers of America will entertain with a social, Thursday evening, April 20, in the Intramural Gymnasium for prospective members and high school FTA's. All college students who are interested in education work are invited to attend the affair which begins at 7:30 p.m. Activities for the evening include a movie, square dancing and refreshments.

High school clubs invited are the Sam Houston Club, Porter High, and the Margaret Henry Clubs, Everett High. Representatives from the following high schools without organized clubs have been invited: Alcoa, Friendsville, Lanier, Maryville, Townsend, and Walland.

Committee chairmen for the social include Pat Love, invitations; Barbara McNiell, welcoming; Rosie Pascal, decorations; Ruth Rogers, program; Morna Wright, refreshments; and Janice Marion, clean-up.

There will be a business meeting immediately following the social for the purpose of electing officers for the year 1950-51.

8 MC Students Perform In Recital

Eight music students will be heard in recital Monday, April 17, at 4:30 in the Chilhowee Club house.

Students participating are Jeanette Whitaker, who will sing Thomas' "Conais tu le Pays" (Mignon) accompanied by music instructor Bernice Blair; Lesta Carol Metrick, who will play the allegro from Beethoven's Sonato in F Minor, Op. 2, No. 2; Barbara Paine, who will play Notturne by Respighi; Don Brakebill, who, accompanied by Alice Huddleston, will sing "Care Selve" (Atalanta) by Handel.

Carol Barnett will play Ibert's "The Little White Donkey," Lois Dillow will play Chopin's Waltz in G flat major, Op. 70, No. 1; Kenneth Shaffer will sing "Spirto Gentil" (La Favorita) by Donizetti, accompanied by Gloria Measemer, and Barbara Scott will play Mozart's Sonota in G major (K189), the andante movement.

MC Students, Said Typical Of Nation, Found Conservative Yet Leftist In Poll

By Donald Whelan

Maryville College students were taken as representatives of "economic thinking of the nation and future thinking" in a survey of collegiate political thought conducted by economics teacher Howard O. Long and sociology senior Paul McNeil.

Students of the nation, typified by MCers, said the report, are "being molded after the socialist pattern as a result of the left-wing propaganda hurled at (them) from all sides. . ." The average college student, nevertheless, "leans approximately 10 per cent to the right," the researchers found.

These were conclusions announced in Knoxville daily papers last Sunday on the basis of a survey of 111 students. The questions were put to Long's social science survey and economics classes this semester and last.

Some hope was, however, seen from "the socialistic trend of thinking" found among a student body which only two years ago gave a 70% vote to Tom Dewey in sample balloting here before the 1948 general election. ". . .

We are at least fortunate in that the average college student leans approximately 10 per cent to the right," the report read.

Muddled Profs

In a page-one story The Knoxville Journal carried two pictures and nearly two columns continued on page two. The story began, "Muddled by unrelenting propaganda of professors and authors, the average college student is being molded into a socialist and yet doesn't recognize the system when it appears in disguise."

The continuation headline read, "Survey Shows Pinks Fool Students."

The News-Senintel emphasized the conservative bent of students found in the survey. It quoted the danger seen by the study: "A greater than 10 per cent change would mean that college students would tend to follow a left-wing policy. . . . Under such conditions therefore, Communism does not constitute an immediate threat to American economic philosophy, but socialism is increasingly becoming a public danger."

Long emphasized that "conservatism in no way implies a static philosophy, nor does liberalism indicate a broad-minded view.

Howard O. Long

Liberalism indicates a trend toward left-wing thinking," he explained.

"A bit radical in some phases

MC Debaters Enter Smokies Tourney

Four MC debaters journey to Knoxville today to participate in the Smoky Mountain Tournament being held at UT. This is the final contest of the season for the Maryville squad.

Eric Meadows and Carolyn Miller make up the negative team. Bob Cuthill and Tom Kelly the affirmative team.

In addition to the team competition, Meadows is entering the after-dinner speaking contest, Cuthill will compete in extemporaneous speaking, and Miss Miller will enter oratory.

Pre-Ministerials Elect John Shew President

John Shew was elected president of Pre-Ministerial Association at the regular meeting last Thursday night. Henry Heaps will be first vice-president, and Bill Varker second vice-president.

Secretary-treasurer is Bob Van Nest. Arthur Bushing, associate professor of English, was chosen as next year's advisor.

Compilers of the "study" were Assistant Professor H. O. Long of MC's social sciences division, and Paul McNeil, senior sociology major. The conclusions that "muddled by unrelenting propaganda of professors and authors, the average college student is being molded into a socialist and yet does not recognize the system when it appears in disguise" involve some serious implications without justifiable foundation.

In the same manner is the second major conclusion "that college students, as represented by students of Maryville College, are 60 per cent conservative." Besides being somewhat contradictory, these conclusions seem hardly conclusive after only 111 of Maryville's nearly 900 students were polled. It is doubtful whether the questions used could develop conclusions of such sweeping nature.

It seems quite unfortunate that Maryville College, its faculty and student body, has been so labeled, especially by a survey of very limited scope and so evidently unscientific as to arrive at two such sweeping and contradictory conclusions. To determine really whether the student body is "60 per cent conservative" or "being molded into socialists" would involve testing a larger group and with more complete means than this report.

To say that we "unknowingly back socialism" reflects unfavorably on our intelligence and understanding, and, as the survey points out, on our teachers and textbooks. Just who are the "classroom professors who have themselves been converted (to socialism) as a result of their haphazard manner of thinking"? Just what textbooks are "socialistic"?

This survey seems typical of current mass opposition against any liberal thought. Its "conclusions" are incoherent and inconsistent. It makes deliberately slanted "observations" from questions which were merely answered "yes" or "no". One "conservative" view, for example, is "European culture is not superior to American culture." A "liberal" view is ". . . discipline and regimentation of the people are beneficial."

An "observation" is that "socialism contains nothing of value it could offer to the United States." Another: "We are at least fortunate in that the average college student leans approximately 10 percent to the right." "Confused and bewildered" is the Maryville college student, we read. With conclusions as contradictory and inconsistant, we just wonder if the confusion and bewilderment do not lie with the survey itself. If the average MC student is "socialistic" and, at the same time, "favors the Republican party," national Republican leaders are going to wonder, we think, about the effectiveness of their policy committee.

Publication of such ill-founded conclusions does irreparable damage to Maryville College as an institution and to its faculty and students. Especially is this true when the material is released without authorization to a paper which is seeking by all possible means to accuse institutions and people of supporting un-American ways of life and government.

The sun wasn't the only thing that took a while to wake up for last Sunday's sunrise service. Beryl Stewart, staggering out of bed at a very early hour, decided that the weather was "just freezing" and put her jeans on over her pajamas. She was halfway to the amphitheater when a group of helpful boys told her that her slip was showing. Realizing she had no slip on, she looked down at her legs to discover her pajamas dangling below her jeans. To top things off, she was just rolling up her pajamas when Dr. Lloyd happened to come by.

A scandal has been uncovered in the library! The art department is at it again. Disregarding the fact that a certain paper maiche plate was loaned by a well-known member of the English department, Miss Elizabeth Jackson, the writer of the information concerning the plate has evidently not seen an English book for some time. According to said information, "it is not known whom the artist, Needham, was." (Needham designed the plate.)

Talk of The Week

BY JIM DANCE

Voices, Masks, and Shadows

Between The Reels

Diverting the attention of town nighters from the racing pace of this past week's comps and elections will be a characteristically Capitol movie, "The Great Lover." It is not the best movie Hope ever made, but it will probably satisfy his ardent fans until the next one comes along. Like all Hope comedies, this one is synthetic and mechanical enough to spotlight the fine grace and timing of the Master's preposterous posturing.

As a chaperon of a group of Boy Foresters returning from Europe, Hope is surrounded by fellow voyagers who outmaneuver him in every direction and force him to play the role he does best: the fall guy. The Foresters acting like pint-sized Storm Tropers, try to turn him against women, late hours, and loafing. Meanwhile he is fleeced by a card shark (Roland Young), seduced by a svelte and willing duchess (Rhonda Fleming), and starved by a wolfhound whose doghouse he shares for a day.

Playing in the same spot on Wednesday will be "Holiday Affair," an unlikely but likable little romantic comedy adroitly warmed with Christmas sentiment which doesn't seem too out of place with the variable weather menu. It confronts a confused war widow (Janet Leigh), working as a department store comparison shopper in the holiday rush, with a choice of two suitors: a safe and sound lawyer (Wendell Corey) who has wooed her for two years, and a happy-go-lucky toy clerk (Robert Mitchum) who tries to win her in a week.

No moviegoer above the age of 12 should fail to spot the victor from the first reel, but both suitors make the contest seem worthwhile watching. With the exception of the heroine's upholstered sweater and the calculated cuteness of a child actor (Gordon Gebert), Scripter Isobel Lennart and Producer-director Don Hartman have managed to hide most of the implausibilities in a blur of unpretentious good humor.

Between The Bookends

Ex-Comp-ers, particularly those of the English variety, might enjoy the type of printed matter to be found on the New Book Shelf this week. Side by side are "Shelley and The Unromantics," "In The Footprints of Heine," "Nineteenth Century Studies," and a two volume edition called "Religious Trends In English Poetry" by Hoxie Fairchild of Hunter College.

Thrown in for the benefit of those MCers who are going south of the border this summer is Kany's "Spoken Spanish For Travelers and Students."

Echo Forum—

To The Editor of The Echo

Prejudice has a long past and it would be hardly reasonable to suppose that it will have a short future. It must be stormed on all fronts, and the job before those who are attacking it is manifold. The old stereotypes must be broken down as well as new ideals set up. The school, the stage, the home are all equally involved in the battle along with literature.

Mr. Cowan has made reference (Echo Forum, April 8—Ed.) to the Negro people as "a race long noted for their humor" and also of the minstrel show simply as "an expression in good spirit—an acknowledgement—of the type of humor which has been such a lovable part of their make-up."

Prejudice, Mr. Cowan, has not always entirely rested on ill-will; it has sometimes begun in good humor. But the figures which were perhaps playfully created, the drunken Irishman, the sharp-witted Jew, the childlike, happy Negro, have taken on a connotation in which the original intention is completely obscured in exaggeration and disfavor, and have so become factors in fostering prejudice.

It is the business of the writer or the artist to picture each of his characters as an individual, not to attach tags to them, as it is the business of the home and the school to teach the dignity of human character quite apart from racial or religious connections. It is a long time program that is before the workers for tolerance, an effort that must be unrelaxing as it is patient.

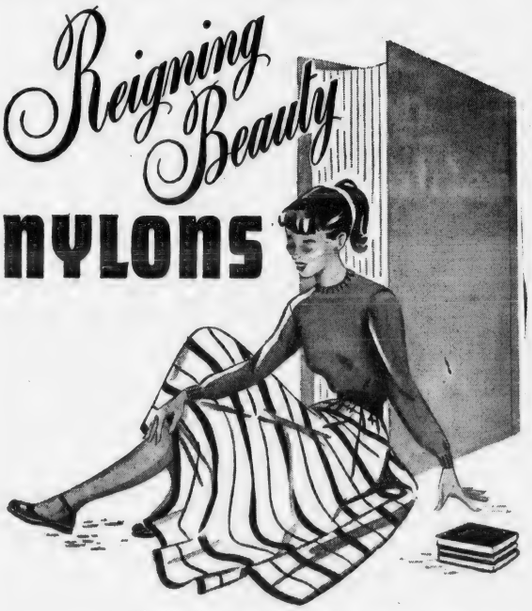
—Arthur Dixon

To The Editor of The Echo

The critic of the "Disturbed Student" in last week's Echo was very clever in his approach, not only to win his audience on common ground, but also to evade the issue. The "D.S." very pointedly admitted that he was not criticising the participants of the Minstrel Show, but rather the unwholesome means for a worthy end. In the "D.S.'s" letter there is no implication whatsoever that the American public doesn't accept the Negro as an "Entertainer."

Too, the Negro humor certainly is not the original American wit when one recalls such names as "Mark Twain," Will Rogers, Henry Ward Beecher, etc. This critic is also very shrewd in that he does not critically pass judgment, but rather sets out to "enlighten" the "D.S." and thereby does not "assume an air of Divinity not even accepted by the Lord." I can neither assume such Divinity nor personally enlighten you, therefore please allow me to pass on a few things I have heard and seen.

I grant you that the Minstrel Show is a traditional form of entertainment, but hardly a worthy one according to Gunnar Myrdal. In his book, An American Dilemma, one of the best authorities on the American Negro, he points out that the origin of the Minstrel Show is in the demand of the "White Boss," of the Southern plantation, to fulfill his entertainment needs. They "appealed to the crudest tastes and accentuated all Negro stereotypes. Their songs. . . stressing their supposed chicken-eating, wife-beating, razor-slashing traits" had a rhythm which made them popular.



Myrdal goes on to say that the "Negro artists themselves developed higher standards and sought to base their art on something more secure (which is hardly expressed in the "Y" Minstrel Shows) than the white man's demand for the exotic and the bizarre."

Why we continue these might well be, as expressed by Miss Keliher in her book, Life and Growth, that "the people whose fame, prestige, professional standing, or teaching is based on the old idea are afraid of change and may actively fight against it. . . inability to accept changes and differences leads to many forms of intolerance" and social aggression. This intolerance is clearly personified in "Mr. Interlocu-

—The Barber of Sevierville

●SPEAKING OF THE WELFARE STATE AND SOCIALISM, we have a little bit of planned economy running around the Maryville campus in the Men's M Club proposal to insure athletes. (Yes, friends, the club is still around despite rumors to the contrary). In the original proposal put forth by the higher-ups of the Lettermens' Club, the M Club would contribute so much per year, say 50, 75, or 100 dollars a year while the school would pay the rest—a sum which would be up in the neighborhood of perhaps $500 a year since the cost per man would run around seven bucks a year.

However, when the plan was tried once before, and I stand by these quotes, "there weren't enough injuries to really make it feasible for the school to put out so much money." But with the injuries in the past year and a half of Leon Berrong, Gene Upton, Bill Morse, and Jim Baird, it seems that there might be need for enuff coverage.

We know the college junked it for very good reasons but with this plan thus shot down the drain pipe, something else ought to be worked out in order to protect MC athletes in some small way. There are several solutions:

One, is to have the M Club chip in with a larger amount of dough to equalize the burden and rehash the old plan.

Two, is to have a revolving fund set up whereby the M Club contributes so much per year into annuities which will bring a little interest and out of which medical expenses could be covered in full or in part.

Three, is to have no program at all of accident coverage for athletes.

The last one is the most drastic and the second seems to be about the most feasible. However, the fact still remains that there ought to be some plan set up whereby athletes will know that if they give it the old college try all the way they won't do it in vain. Some athletes, we know, have had such big bills, that they've not been able to come back to school.

Many has been the time when we have opened up our big mouths and came forth with some plan to change the course of things around here or to predict sumpn, but this is our most serious one. It's pretty hard to get wound up and going on a touchy subject like this, but we want to get the ball rolling somewhere, whether its up or downhill.

If anyone has any ideas or suggestions as to what should be done, relay them to us (via the it's the-thing-to-do-now-girls Letters to the Editor column if you must) or to Jim Lester and they'll be be greatly appreciated. Something's got to be done.

●RUNNING OVER TO ANOTHER SUBJECT we find that Coach Davis' charges will enter the Milligan Relays next Saturday with one of the best squads in MC history. Last year the Scot Tracksters slipped into a 56-56 tie with the Wofford College Terriers of Spahtan-burg, South Caroliny. Last year, the MC-ers ran away literally with the mile relay and this yer, John (The Fence) Baird will join Sid Lambert, Walt English and Jim Thurston to bring home the trophy again. Other relays which may rest in Maryville's unknown trophy case may be those of the Sprint, Distance, 440 and the 880 relays.

In 1948, Maryville came in third in the Sprint, Distance, and 880 relays, while in 1949, they grabbed

Scots Split Two Games With Pro's And Amateurs

Pro Team Out Of Scots' Class, 3-1

Maryville's Scots took a road trip to Middlesboro, Ky., to play the half-Cuban mountaineers of the Class D Mountain States League and returned home after a 3-1 beating which some of the players themselves thought they should have won.

Leon Berrong started out on the hill for the Scots and gave up three hits during his tenure on the mound. But two of them in the sixth inning mixed in with a base on balls and a hit batter were enough to give the Middlesboro team three runs overcoming the one run lead which he had picked up in the top half of that time. Bob Boring had doubled for Maryville and Hugh Hamil had driven him home.

We Wuz Robbed—

To illustrate the point of why MC players thought they should have won, the records show that Maryville had men on second or third and in some cases, both, in every innning but the fifth and seventh, but the all important RBI's just couldn't be found.

Tigers Drop Third

Maryville's romping baseballers took their fourth game of the year Monday as they breezed through the Tigers of Hiwassee by the lop-sided score of 25-2.

Maybe Hiwassee just didn't have it, or maybe it was just that. Leaky Campbell had it all. At any rate Leaky worked five innings giving up only four singles and one unearned run plus striking out five and not issuing any free passes.

Leaky "Streak" Campbell did not stop there. Four times he scooted to first on infield hits, two of them bunts as he led the Scots at the plate in number of hits.

Power Plus, Huh

Highlight of the game for the fans came in the Scots big eight run second inning. After six runs were across, Wally Pentz stepped up to drive one of Jones' pitches far into left-center field for a homer. Then Gene Reynolds stepped up for the second time in the inning and poked the ball far into left field for another homer.

Bobby "No-Hit" Neff followed with a long triple into right field and the fans were really whooping it up. However, much to the relief of Jones, Leaky struck out for the only out he made all afternoon.

The only threat of the game from the Tigers came in the sixth, when Farley led off with a long triple off reliefer Bob Kees. He later scored on an infield out as Kees tightened up.

Scot Tennis Team Triumphs In Two Over CN, Wesleyan

Maryville's tennis team traveled to Tennessee Wesleyan for a match Tuesday afternoon and came out on top of a 8-1 count for victory number two of the season.

The victory ran MC's streak to four straight over the Bulldogs and twelve straight matches over a period of three years which incidentally began with a 4-2 victory over Wesleyan in the last match of the 1948 season.

This afternoon, MC's racquet men will take on LMU's Railsplitters on the tennis courts at about two o'clock.

Two teams loaded to the gunwhales with veterans will clash this afternoon in the second of a two-game series between Northern Illinois State Teachers and Maryville's Scotties. Car-ring through the South, Coach Ralph McKenzie is bringing in a vet-studded team which has only one rookie spotting its lineup—John Hednarcik whose field is center.

Southern Hospitality—Bah!

Northern, whose home is in DeKalb, Illinois, has already played four games this week and all four haven't been in the kind of weather that the South is supposed to be having now, but Tennessee was always one state to cross up the league and do what it wasn't supposed to do.

A game with Eastern Kentucky opened up the Teachers' season and they did the right thing by winning it, 12-4. The second one was a little different with DeKalb coming out on the wrong side, 7-3. Lincoln Memorials Big Blue were really blue after the "Yankee" team had came through by virtue of the Rails being split in two, 7-4, and 2-0. MC will face LMU on the 24th here and perhaps on the outcome of today's and yesterday's games, a comparison can be made of the two teams' strengths.

Maryville started her athletic rivalry with Northern in 1937 by taking two contests, 7-3, 3-2, and furthered the un-welcome mat by 12-10 and 15-9 by coup-de-graces in 1938. That was enough for anyone for awhile and contacts between the two broke off and were patched again only this year.

"We Haven't A Chance"

Coach McKenzie, ever the "Old Fox" and his aide said theirs' was a "mediocre team" and refused to commit themselves further. But a faint smile crossed his lips when saying this and so the game ought to turn out pretty good with two "punk" teams

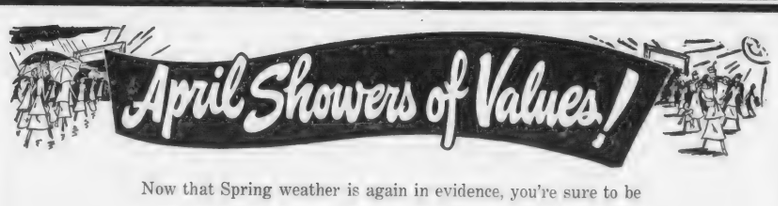
Cindermen Train For Milligan Relay



Coach John A. Davis sent his trackmen through their final week of preparatory practice in getting ready for the year's opening test next Saturday in the Milligan relays. The cold snap which hit the MC campus in the last few days took some of the bite out of the sessions and the cindermen are going to have to pour it on early next week.

Time Trials

Time trials were held yesterday in the 100 and 220 dashes but with the baseball game, trials in the longer events couldn't be staged. But on Tuesday afternoon will come the really important tests in all events to see which tracksters are lucky enough to go to Johnson City.

Last year MC tied for first with Wofford of South Carolina. This year's team is out pointing to beat their total-points record and bring home the trophy.

MC Found Conservative Yet Leftist

of this economic thinking," the average college student, as represented by MC sophomores and juniors who took the test, is "a bit critical of the value of private property and of the American democratic system. He looks to the economic system as the cause for much of the crime."

Socialist Authors

"The countless socialist authors and. . . . the classroom professors who have themselves been converted as a result of their haphazard manner of thinking" have led the modern collegian, if he like those at Maryville, to accept certain liberal views, the report said.

Among these liberal views are support for regulation of the accumulation of wealth and industrial profits; price controls; public housing; expansion of the TVA idea; the Marshall Plan; federal aid to education; taxation for welfare and equalizing incomes (the principle of the graduated income tax); permitting entry of DP's into the US; and what the survey called "discipline and regimentation of the people."

McNEIL

The student is for a minimum wage, expansion of the social security program; and giving wage earners a voice in the management of industry. That "labor should be subject to mobilization and utilization by the government" is called a student-held liberal idea.

Among the more conservative views were these: "Individual initiative should be encouraged"; "taxes are now too high on account of excessive government spending"; "the New Deal is not particularly considered praiseworthy. Very little difference is made between the New Deal and the Fair Deal."

That "an individual's success depends upon his ability and not upon chance" and that "European culture is not superior to American culture" were also listed as conservative views. The typical student is against socialized medicine; government waste, inefficiency, bureaucracy, and red tape; professional military men in politics; and revolution.

Refuses Socialism

The survey concluded that the average college student is "confused and bewildered. . . . He tends to condemn the Capitalistic order, but refuses to accept a system of socialism as so labeled; however, he advocates many of the principles of socialism."

The economist sees great danger in that the student "would not recognize a socialist system whenever it appeared under another name." Long continued, "Socialistic philosophy, whether in . . . . welfarism or straight socialism, constitutes a monstrous threat to the American system."

"After his (the student's) ideas are made to appear old-fashioned and impractical in the modern age, the new 'Buck Rogers type' of economic philosophy is gradually accepted as one would eventually come to accept 'dope.' But like the 'dope fiend,' he will sooner or later realize that he has sold himself for a mess of porridge."

(The reference is probably to the Old Testament sale of a birthright for a mess of "pottage." (Genesis XXV:29-34)—Ed.)

Continuation of the thinking found in typical MC students, said the teacher, "will mean: a gradual loss of freedom. . . . eventually national austerity and decadence; autocracy or a system of ruling classes and the ruled; and socialism could possibly lead to Communism. . . . Socialism contains nothing of value it could offer to the United States. It is a pipe dream of a fantasy. . . ."

'Do Something'

Some suggested solutions to the dangers in student opinions seen by economist Long are these: understanding socialism; "stop demanding that the government 'do something'; walk on our own two feet. . .: we should not encourage any system which would denrive us of our freedom. . ."

The author, styled "professor of economics at Maryville College" in both papers, holds the rank of assistant professor of economics according to the latest college catalog. He is the newest full-time member of the social sciences faculty.

A native of Meigs County, H. O. Long has been a Blount County resident since 1939 and holds his B.A. in French, from Maryville College and M.S. in education, from the University of Tennessee, 1946. He is a former economics professor at Carson-Newman College and now is doing work on his doctorate at Vanderbilt and Peabody College for Teachers, Nashville. He resides on the Maryville-Friendsville Road.

Paul McNiell did the task of collecting and computing the survey. He is a senior sociology major from Knoxville.

tor," reigning over a Colored chorus, a symbol of the South's old order, "White Supremacy."

In our representation of the Negro in this stereotyped fashion we psychologically broaden the social and spiritual gap between them and us. This bolsters our ego, assures us that we are much their superior, and reaffirms the misconception that they are not ready to use and enjoy our culture (and theirs) in liberty, justice, and equality.

And as for the critic's note on "hiring wreckers." I would like to remind him that, in the Minstrel Show, we no longer build, but merely patch the walls of a dilapidated, sub-standard, "slum" dwelling which must be torn down to make way for the "D. S.'s" building of TRUTH, a cathedral of sympathy and understanding.

Officers Choose New YM Cabinet

Members of the YMCA Cabinet for next year were chosen this week by the newly-elected officers.

Head of the Community committee is Andy Clark. In charge of Fellowship are John Shew and Ralph Thiesse. Howard Lawson is head of the Interracial Committee. Missions is headed by Jack Waka and Worship by Del Poling and Jim Lester.

Devotions and Discussions are under the charge of Wes Miles and Richard Dosket; Bill Starr and Dave Reed are in charge of the Y Radio programs. Publicity is headed by Bob Holley and the M-Book by Richard and Jimmy Callaway.

ECAA Board Announces Major, Lane Cheer-letters

The Executive Committee of the Athletic Association met last Saturday to appoint a nominating committee. Named were Hugh Hamil, chairman, with Howard Davis and Peggy Sangster as assistants.

Lawrence Major was given the job of baseball manager. Major, a physical education major, has been on the football and wrestling teams in his four years here.

Letters for cheerleaders was also discussed. Those receiving letters this year are Sara Jo Emert, Beverly Jacobi, Tom Kees, Jane McMillan, Joe Poland, Grace Scruggs, and Arch Swartzrauber.

In a meeting this week, the nominations committee brought forth several candidates for each office and the Board voted the list down to two candidates on whom the Student Body will vote in the near future.

Jimmy Callaway and Roy Kramer were nominated for President; Bob Larsen and Charlie Allen for Vice-President; and Peggy Sangster and Gracie Scruggs for Secretary.

Dick Lane who has served as assistant football manager for several years was also elected football manager for the year 1950-51.

ising team that should be tougher when they again meet Maryville on May 9.

Six Out of Seven

In the singles Wesley Miles, Ben Gearheart, Chesley Anderson, Buzz Cardozo and Glen Gage had little trouble with their opponents as Maryville racked up five points.

Jerry Sayres made a terrific comeback after dropping his first set to Ed Pace, 2-6, by coming back to take the next two, 6-2 and 6-0. Dick Lebold number eight on the tennis ladder, then took on Trudley Carr, number seven man for CN and a very promising lad, in a game try which resulted in the only victory for C-N by the slender margin of 5-7 and 4-6.

In the doubles Miles and Anderson teamed up to beat Pace and Buckner, 6-2 and 6-2. Cardozo and Sayres also found little trouble in Brooks and Bates as they went on to win 6-3 and 6-2. The final double match, which lasted well past supper, was a hum-dinger, as Gage and Gearheart teamed up to nose out Parker and Carr, 6-4, 4-6, and 6-3. This brought the final score to a 9-1 count.

Miles (MC) over Buckner (CN), 6-2 and 6-2.
Anderson (MC) over Brooks (CN), 6-2 and 6-0.
Cardozo (MC) over Bates (CN), 6-1 and 6-2.
Sayres (MC) over Pace (CN), 2-6, 6-2, and 6-0.
Gearheart (MC) over Young (C-N), 6-1, and 6-4.
Gage (MC) over Parker (C-N), 6-2 and 6-2.
Carr (CN) over Lebold (MC), 5-7 and 4-6.

Doubles—

Miles and Anderson (MC) over Pace and Buckner (C-N), 6-2 and 6-2.
Cardozo and Sayres (MC) over Brooks and Bates (C-N), 6-3 and 6-1.
Gage and Gearheart (MC)over Parker and Carr (C-N), 6-4, 4-6, and 6-3.

Reverend Diehl Speaks At Minsterial Banquet off second. So if experience means anything, tho thinlies ought to win first by the law of increasing returns or something like that.

For those MC students who know not what these relays consist of: lend an ear: The 440 relay consists of four men each running 110 yards; the 880 or half mile relay calls for four more men running 220 apiece; the mile relay (an MC specialty) of four 440's; the Sprint Medley which is the mixed-up one of the group which has the first of four tracksters running 110 yards, then the second and third men sprinting 220's, and the anchor man sprinting a final 110 yards. The Distance Medley is a progressive event with four men running 220-440-880—and one mile in that order.

Major sideline events will be the high-low hurdles in which Bob (JS) Kay placed second-first last year ,the 100-yard dash which Blondie Law may take this year if his muscles don't pop on him again, and field events for the football players.

VOLUME 35 | MARYVILLE, TENNESSEE, APRIL 22, 1950 | NUMBER 29

Everyone Votes On Monday!

Sophs, Upperclass Elect Councilmen In Monday Voting

Rising senior, junior, and sophomore class officers will be elected in an all-day balloting Monday, April 24. Nominations appearing on the ballot were selected in class meetings last Thursday morning.

Seniors running for office of class president are Jim Lester, economics major from Birmingham, Ala., and Charles Williams, mathematics major from Maryville.

Other nominations for senior offices are Lincoln Shimomura and Bill Starr, vice-president; Joy Parker and Mary Lyerly, secretary; George Stanfill and Sherman Lester, treasurer. Three of the six girls nominated for Student Council will be voted on: Carol Corbett, Janet Cummings, Alice Huddleston, Barbara McNiell, Irene Mellon, and Mary Wills.

Two boys will fill senior council seats; nominees are Henry Heaps, Dick Lane, Joe McNiell, and Jim Watt.

Rising Juniors

Bob Cuthill, history major from Buffalo, N.Y. and Tom Jones, sociology major from St. Petersburg, Fla. will compete for presidential office of junior class. Peggy Kettles and Lynn McNeely are veep competitors.

Nominated for secretary were Marsha Beebe and Edith Lancaster; for treasurer, C. L. Hager and Bob Lynn. Two of the four council nominees will be elected in balloting: Jean Davis, Carol Jones, Susie Martin, and Ella Swift. Two boys will also be chosen of four selected: Jimmy Callaway, Thad Godwin, Al Springfield, and Ralph Thiesse.

Next Year's Sophs

Sophomore presidential candidates are Bill Caldwell from Maryville and Van Holland, Baltimore, Md. Paul Merwin and William Poovey are vice president selections. Competing for secretaryship are Bev Edwards and Jackie Smith with Jay Bright and Dick Hyatt vieing for treasurer's position.

One council member will be chosen; two nominees are Lois Lereh and Nancy Rose. Two boys will fill sophomore seats. Those competing are Jim Campbell, Bill Gibson, John Schaumberg, and Charlie Schroeder.

MC's Drama Society Initiates Ten Members

Theta Alpha Phi, national dramatic honor society, will initiate ten new members in the beginning of May.

Four seniors, Lois Deobler, Ben Gearhart, Beverly Moore, and Ed Vanderslice, and six underclassmen, George Barber, Phyllis Jackson, Janice Landstrom, Dave Reed, Archie Swarztrauber, and Jim Townsend were elected by Delta Chapter.

New members are elected each year by the society upon accumulation of a specific number of credits. These credits are obtained in fields of acting, directing, and producing.

After their qualifications are approved by the National Committee, they are invited to join Theta Alpha Phi.

Local Artist Paintings In Library Exhibition

Now on exhibit in the library until May 2 are art works loaned by local people. By Norman Davis are two flower studies in oil. Loaned by Mrs. Jack Edmondson is an oil painting, "Roses," by Mrs. Joe Edmondson.

Two portraits in oil painted by Louise Lasseter LeQuire have been loaned by Mrs. C. B. LeQuire. E. A. Nichols has four works on display: "Quarter Horse," "Storm on Abrams Creek," a portrait of "Wanda" and an oil of "Baby LeQuire." Frances Patterson has painted a pastel of "Bill."

Dr. Wm. Pugh at Vespers On 'Left Handed Slingers'

Rev. Dr. William Barrow Pugh, Stated Clerk of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian USA Church, spoke at Vespers last Sunday evening in the library.

His text was from the Old Testament and described a company of "left-handed slingers." We should take advantage of our handicaps, Dr. Pugh said, and rise above them.

A member of the Board of Directors of Maryville College, Dr. Pugh has spoken here before, but this was his first visit in several years.

Postlethwaite, Callaway Reign

Student Body Elects Court Attendants For May Day Royalty

"Pepper" Postlethwaite, senior sociology major from Ocean City, Md., has been elected queen of Maryville's 1950 May Day pageant. Following tradition, senior class president "Tubby" Callaway, will be crowned king. Callaway is a pre-med major from Maryville.

Miss Postlethwaite will be attended by seniors Anne Parris, psychology major from Alcoa, and Betty Crawford, biology major from Maryville.

Junior class attendants will be Lavinia Rodiguez, escorted by Del Poling, and Bob Proffitt who will escort Gerry Hopkins. Miss Rodriguez is a sociology major from Puerto Rico. Her escort is a sociology major from Baltimore, Md. Proffitt is a pre-med major from Maryville and Miss Hopkins is an education major from Fort Valley, Ga.

Sophomore class has chosen from Grove City, Pa., for its attendants. Miss Beebe will be escorted by Tom Jones, a sociology major from St. Petersburg, Fla. Kincaid will escort Jessie Dye, a sociology major from Cranbury, N. J.

Freshmen attnedants are Martha Higdon and Bill Caldwell. Miss Higdon, from Decatur, Ala., will be escorted by Bill Garren of Maryville. Caldwell, from Maryville, will escort Isabella Leitch, of Brooklyn, N. Y.

Marty Lowe and Susan Storey of Maryville are flower girls. Billy Patterson, also of Maryville, is crown bearer.

Queen "Pepper" and King "Tubby," attended by the class atendants, will reign over the pageant, "Alice in Wonderland", after their coronation.

Annual Spring Hop Tickets Go On Sale

Tickets for the Spring Dance sponsored by Theta Epsilon and Alpha Sigma will go on sale Monday, April 24 before and after meals at Pearsons. Price is $1 plus tax per couple.

This is the annual spring formal at Maryville but this is the first year that it has been in charge of the societies. The theme this year is "Moonlight and Roses" and this motif will be carried out in the decorations in the gym.

Music will be by a student orchestra directed by Wilbur Selander. It will be a program dance in groups of three.

At Council -

Elections, Y Store Policy Talks Discussed

Recommendations from Social Board under the Student Center Agreement were considered as opening business for Student Council Wednesday evening.

Social Board's recommendation that the employment of Mrs. Carmen Marquis as Student Center Director be continued in the coming year was passed by council for further consideration by the Executive Council of the Faculty as provided in the Student Center Agreement.

Another Social Board Recommendation concerning Y Store comanagers was voted favorably upon by Council. Conditional upon the approval of the parties to the Student Center Agreement, Thad Godwin and Laurie Dale are nominees for the positions of co-managers of the Y store for the coming year with Joe Poland and Sally Kemp nominees as principal alternates.

It was pointed out that students desiring to serve as student hostesses in the Center next year should apply at the Student Help office.

President Nish expressed the hope that some member of the incoming council might attend the National Student Association's Annual Meeting at Ann Arbor, Mich., August 23-September 1, 1950 as an "observer" for council's benefit.

Election details for class nominations and balloting were briefed to council by Nish in the absence of Elections Chairman Del Earisman. Class elections will be held all day Monday.

WSGA, MSO, and Athletic Association nominations and elections are scheduled for the last week of April.

Council was informed that the series of talks on college policy, which began with Dean F. D. McClelland's talk on Student-Faculty Relationships at Thursday's Chapel, will continue for the two coming Thursday chapels.

April 27, Frances Massey, Dean of Women, is to talk on Social Relationships on Campus, and the concluding session will be presented by President Lloyd and Treasurer's Assistant Marvin Minear in an outline of the college's financial structure on May 4.

No Town Night violations were reported. Council adjourned after a brief meeting.

Sociology Class Explores Maryville Dating Habits

By Mary McConnell

Do you date? If so, how often? If you don't date, why don't you? What do you think of Maryville's dating system? These are representative of the questions asked recently in a poll conducted by Instructor Mary Gladys Pieper's Sociology 202E (Social Problems) in an attempt to study the dating habits of the Maryville College male and female. The polls were under the direction of Lee Cook, Nannette Enloe, and Susie Martin, all sophomore sociology majors.

Over 300 girls living in Baldwin, Memorial, and Pearsons; and 126 (approximately half) of the boys living in Carnegie were polled.

The freshmen girls and sophomore boys head the list of the campus Romeos and Juliets, probably because there were more of them included in the poll.

Terms used in the poll were occasional dater, regular, steady, engaged, and don't date. The occasional daters are those who have had at least two dates this semester. Regulars date at every opportunity, but not the same person.

Following are the percentages of daters in the various classes as found by the poll:

	GIRLS
	F	S	J	S
Occasionally	27	28	17	14
Regularly	33	16	19	14
Steady	13	24	23	12
Engaged	0	4	4	24
Don't Date	28	30	42	37
	BOYS
Occasionally	11	20	17	33
Regularly	73	65	68	45
Boys dating non-College Girls
Town girls only	5	10	8	0
Dating both	10	0	0	0

There was no distinction made in Cook's survey of the boys who date regularly, as to whether or net they date different girls, those who go steady, and those who are engaged.

The primary reasons why men do not date, as found in the poll and listed in order of importance by classes are, freshman: (1) too shy to ask a girl to go out; (2) nothing to do on dates—every date is the same, a show and something to eat and then home; and (3) very few opportunities

Dr. Lloyd Releases Official Statement On Long Incident

Further developments in Knoxville papers this week concerning the poll of students' economic and political thinking released earlier by Assistant Professor Howard O. Long include a statement from MC President Lloyd calling the results "unjustified."

The News-Sentinel of April 15 carried a two-inch story which reported Dr. Lloyd as calling the survey "completely unreliable" and conducted by a student "reaching his own conclusions."

In a statement to The Echo, the President said that he had made no official announcement, and that The Sentinel erred in attributing those statements to him.

An official statement from Dr. Lloyd was published in The Knoxville Journal Monday, April 17 in a 12-inch story.

"The report was written and given out by one of our younger teachers. . ." Dr. Lloyd said. "This was done on his own responsibility, without consultation with officers or colleagues at the college about either the reliability of his conclusions or the value of their publication."

"In my opinion, neither the nature of most of the questions, nor the kind of answers, nor the proportion of students participating, nor the method of interpretation justify any sweeping conclusions.

"Maryville College stands for free enterprise and not for Socialism. We are concerned on the whole question, but 19 years of intimate touch with Maryville College students and faculty lead me personally to believe that socialistic sentiment is exceedingly rare among them. Mr. Long is sincere, but he is inexperienced in such studies, and the conclusions and fears deduced from his class questions seem to me unjustified.

"No disciplinary action is contemplated."

It was also pointed out later this week that an error was made in the computation of results, and that Long's students were mostly sophomores who had taken no courses in sociology, economics, or political science to provide background in questions asked or to have an opportunity for alleged "indoctrination" in those fields.

When questioned, Long had no comment for The Echo on his reported resignation or any statement concerning the entire incident.

Seventeen Students Are Presented In Fine Arts Recital

Maryville's fine arts division will present 17 students in a recital Tuesday afternoon at 4:30 in the Chilhowee Clubhouse.

The program is "Sevilliana," by Williams, performed by Elizabeth Campbell and Wilbur Selander. "Hopak," Moussorgsky-Hesselberg, played by Sara Drum and Randal LeQuire, a vocal, "Where E'er You Walk," from Handel's "Semele," sung by Barbara Ann Miller, accompanied by Mrs. Bernice Blair.

Barbara Stidham and John Sayre will perform Enders' "Russian Picnic." Jane Rector will play "Danse Negre," Op. 58, No. 5, by Scott, and Ruth Crothers and Thelma Nelson will present Chaminade's "Le Matin."

Lois Sealander will sing "My Heart Ever Faithful," by Bach and accompanied by Doris Holt. Mary Holly Webb and Barbara Stidham will play Fugue No. 1 (Art of Fugue) by Bach. Barbara Sandos and George Carpenter will play Rachmaninoff's Romance from his Suite, Op. 17.

Hayden Bryant accompanied by Jessie Lou Emerson, will sing "At Tankerton Inn," by Fisher, and Doris Holt will play Debussy's "Reflets dans l'eau."

Hughes Directs Mixed Chorus In Third Annual Serenade

Maryville's negative team, Eric Meadows and Carolyn Miller, took top honors at the Smoky Mountain debate tournament held at UT last week. Two more trophies won this year by the MC squad have been on display in the library.

Program Sports Modernist Set, Light Classics

By Barbara Wallin

Springtime Serenade of 1950 will be presented for the second night at 8 p.m. in the Alumni Gym tonight.

Directed by W. Curtis Hughes and presented by the All-Girl Choir and Men's Glee Club, this is the third annual Serenade. Accompaniment for these 88 voices by Hughes at the console of the Hammond electric concert organ and Peggy Cummings and Sarah Durant at twin pianos.

Tickets for final performance will be on sale before and after meals in Pearsons and from 3:30 to 5:30 in the Student Center today. No seats are reserved and tickets are 50c.

Cameron, Townsend In Charge

Howard Cameron designed the modernistic set of blue and grey. Jim Townsend is stage manager and Cameron is assistant.

Each year the set is student-designed and constructed. This is the third year that Cameron, Townsend, and J. A. Cameron have been in charge of the work. Ed Vanderslice and George Barbour have helped in a major part of the work for the past two years. Crews are made up of members of the two choral groups and other students who volunteer their services.

Two curtains are used with the set. A black curtain is pulled slowly to the side to reveal Hughes at the organ and the chorus standing behind a white gauze curtain. After the singing of the theme, "Serenade" and the selection from last year's Serenade, "The Desert Song", the gauze curtain slowly rises to reveal the chorus. The All-Girl Choir is wearing white evening dresses and the Men's Glee Club are a contrast in black tuxedos.

Starr Comments

William Starr is the commentator, using a script that was written by Bob Holley. A short commentary precedes each number. During each selection a different colored light is played on the choral groups in addition to the spotlight on Hughes at the organ and on the soloists.

The program is composed of 24 numbers including solo selections. Six numbers are presented before a solo, "When You're Away", by Jim Darroch. Three numbers folow and then June Holsey and Ray Holsey team up for "Silver Moon." Don Hyatt and the Men's Glee Club do "A Fellow Needs a Girl." After two more choral seelctions a quartet composed of Bob Worthington, Jim Townsend, Larry Thompson, and Charles Williams sing "Blue Skies."

Four more chorus selections are sung before Ruth McQuilkin and a trio made up of Peggy Williams, Gracie Scruggs and Sally Sutton sing "Bali Ha'i" with the choral groups in the background. One more group number precedes "A Heart That's Free" sung by Helen Worrilow. The program ends with two group numbers and the theme song "Serenade" by the entire ensemble.

Doors will open at 7:15 and ticket sales will stop at 7:50 to enable everyone to be seated before the program begins at 8:00. All profits from the performances on both nights will go to the Maryville College chapel fund.

Athenians Hypnotise

John Dodd will give a demonstration on hypnotism to Athenians in Bartlett tonight at 6:15. Athenian moonlight hike will be April 25 at 7:00 p.m. Sign-up sheets have been placed in all dorms.

MC Debators Cop Trophy, Defeat U-T Champions

MC's debate team won two first place trophies in the Smoky Mountain Tournament held at U-T last Saturday, April 15. The negative team of Carolyn Miller and Eric Meadows placed first in debating the resolution, "Resolved: That the United States Should Nationalize Its Basic Non-agricultural Industries."

Carolyn Miller also won first place in oratory in which eight colleges and universities participated. Bob Cuthill and Tom Kelly comprised the affirmative entry in the tournament from Maryville. Dr. Verton M. Queener, Professor of History, and Miss Arda S. Walker, Assistant Professor of Economics, were debate coaches.

Cuthill's speech in the extemporaneous contest was "That the United States Should Control Such Utilities, as Railroads," and Eric Meadows entry in the after-dinner contest was "Debate 1984."

Among colleges and universities participating were Maryville, U-T, Austin Peay, North Georgia, and East Tennessee State. Maryville defeated University of Tennessee, the southern regional champions.

Y Cabinets At Retreat Chose Theme, Plan Year

YM-YW annual retreat was held Friday and Saturday, April 14 and 15 at Miller's Cove. Members of this year's and next year's cabinets attended. Next year's theme "Make your life count" was announced and the main speakers used it as their topics. It is a continuation of this year's theme, "Get the Center Right."

Dean Frances Massey and Howard Schwam led discussion groups on Saturday afternoon.

Applied, Beginner Art Courses Newly Offered; Backgrounds Required

Several art courses of interest to other than art majors will be offered next semester.

In the applied field, studio course 61-62 FL is a study of form and space, using various media; 71-72 DL, a study of painting problems and techniques—color, form and design, tempera, gouache, watercolor, oil; 81-82 FL, advanced painting course.

These courses are open to all interested students having satisfactory applied art background. For beginners, Art 101-2 BL is both a lecture and lab course, introducing principles of art expression with historical approach.

Lecture courses in art offer material of special value in fields of Bible, history, language, literature, and philosophy. Art 207A-208A, the development of Renaissance in Italy from 13th to 17th centuries with emphasis on painting; Art 307F, the Renaissance in Northern Europe, the painting of Flanders, France, Germany, Holland, England and Spain.

Art 308F, the post-Renaissance or the development of painting in Europe from the 18th through 19th centuries, emphasizing leadership of France; all are open to any student with correct advanced standing.

Do Unto Others—

At the risk of running the idea of saying do and don't to a college student into the ground, there are a few suggestions, worthy of repeating and valid enough to be put into practice at this time of year.

In a few short weeks, Maryville campus will experience a stampede of eager relaitves, friends, and alumni. Traditionally every campusite will extend a hearty handshake and grin a broad welcome to let them know they are at Maryville, the home of courtesy. Then, as likely as not, the campusite will feel his job done, well-done. But let us be reminded that courtesy carries over into every activity of our college day.

Whether we be meeting a class, walking across campus on our way to the Student Center, climbing four flights of stairs to our dorm room, waiting to get into the dining hall, or sitting down at the meal table, we can all remember that a real scholar is a courteous one. So what if you knock down two people to get to the table first, so what if you break into line while fifty others have waited ten or more minutes to order, so what if you do sound like Maryville's Saturday street-preachers when greeting a buddy clear across campus?—here's so what.

There's a good piece of advice, often attributed to Shakespeare though more correctly to the Scriptures, which says to treat the other fellow the way you want him to treat you. Too many of us unwittingly interpret that as all right for the other fellow but we're too big for that sort of stuff ourselves.

A little more thought to this big job of living with others will make Maryville twice as impressive to these commencement-campers.

Apropriations?

The relieved sigh from the entire college community after the Thaw Hall fire last week should have, we think, been followed by some thoughtful reflection.

We recall our good fortune in the string of events that made the fire no more costly than it was: that our watchman was observant of a place that might easily be overlooked, that available fire fighting equipment was here soon after the blaze was discovered, that the room of fire origin was mostly concrete.

Yet most important were those whose efforts halted further damage. Certainly we are grateful to local firemen for their part; without them we probably would have lost Thaw Hall. But our special thanks should go to those MCers who spent three hours of their Sunday morning sleep, risking cold, smoke, and dampness. The spirit they showed is one of which the entire college community can be proud.

At this point it might not be unreasonable to suggest Student Council work with the administration toward maintaining some permanent, organized fire-prevention effort. It is hoped that somewhere in the scramble for appropriations, place could be found to provide for hose, extinguishers, and pump. We feel sure the college and student government would have the cooperation of the admirable group at work in the small hours of last Sunday morning.

—D.W.

Scots & Soda

Along with the clanging of horse-drawn engines, Maryville's finest, and the clamor of onlookers, a cry arose on the campus, "Thaw On The Hill Again." MCers had left their cells in such haste that they arrived at the fire in startling state. Whoa, where did Bill Chalker get those pajamas? Who was funnier than Hayden Bryant as he stood shivering in his bathrobe and slippers? How long did it take "our couples" to get together?

Whoever called the fire hose a "garden hose" will think twice before he taunts our able fire department—the crowd scattered quickly as the chief turned the water on the culprit.

Serenity

When the smoke and flames died down and all was restful again, it is rumored that Thaw serenaded the chapel site with "I Don't Want To Set The World On Fire." Not to be outdone, the chapel site sang back, "I Can Do Anything Better Than You Can," report Baldwinites.

* * * * * *

Is It True?

Your guess is as good as ours but they say that Mr. Mac was the first to discover the fire. At 12:30 Sunday a.m. it is reported that Mr. Mac sat upright in bed and whispered, "Gentlemen, I smell smoke!"

Anyway, once and for all, the age old question of what Ralph does after midnight has been answered.

Ask 'Em Yourself

Get Ginni Schwarz to tell you about her new student-help projects. . . . ask Ruth Heaps what happens exactly 48 days from today. . . . find out from Dick Dosker how it feels to be a "rubber man.". . . see if Thaw's fire was the first fulfilled promise of Archie's new office (there's really more to it than he's telling) or if it was the result of "hot copy" in Echo office.

Speaking of propaganda in her Social Problems class, Mrs. Pieper lectured, "There is no liberal paper in this area unless it be the Highland Echo."

More Heat

Don't let it disturb you that half this week's talk is about hot subjects. It seems that the following notice was posted on Carnegie bulletin board on Sunday morning. "Shhh. . . . Don't whisper a word about the f——(you know what) under Thaw Hall to anyone, not even your closest roommate. We are saving it for an Echo scoop." If we thought for one minute that anyone was casting aspersions against our policy, we'd. . . . .!

It's Really Here

Proof positive. . . . when enterprising co-eds began skipping rope after supper Monday night, it was only a more emphatic way of saying "if we don't get a (you know what) pretty soon, we'll all crack up."

Talk of The Week

Voices, Masks, and Shadows

Loose Lasso

If MC'ers have anything better to do next Tuesday night, this writer suggests it. Capitol Theatre is going all out to do no business with a brand new western about Billy the Kid, entitled "Kid from Texas." The ride 'em, shoot 'em and ditch 'em movie hasn't claimed the reviewers' attention.

Wednesday offers better—but not much—fare with "Nightmare Alley" starring Ty Power and Joan Blondell. The plot centers around geek and geekery, which, it seems, is a carnival freak, billed as half man, half beast, rather homely and eats chickens alive.

Dipsomaniacs take the job, get drunk and go crazy. Between love troubles centering around the inconvenience of a wife and a beautiful psychologist; the "spook racket" or spiritualism; and general geekery, Ty takes to drinking and ends up at the carnival as a full-blown geek.

An adaptation, slight we hope, of William Lindsay Gresham's novel, the picture boasts a transparent, plot, but a reasonably convincing job by Power. Ian Keith, as Miss Blondell's husband, does by far the best performance.

Adam Had 'Em

Capitol does go one better Friday with the showing of famed "Adam's Rib." Katherine Hepburn and Spencer Tracy are the per usual U.S. Mr. and Mrs. upper-middle-income America. Both are lawyers, and in true urban whimsical style, he calls her Pinkie and she calls him Pinky.

Centering around a criminal assault case of a couple of lower income lovers, with lawyer Tracy defending the husband, and lawyer Hepburn the wife, the item of true interest is the courtroom duel between them. Pinky is forever dropping a pencil so he can exchange intimate messages with Pinkie under the counsel table. This reporter is undecided as to whether it is absurd instead of intended comedy; or comical rather than intended absurdity.

Ram It!

Tuesday and Wednesday prove to be good days at the Park with "Sign of the Ram" the major attraction. Although it is a more ambitious than exciting try at psychological melodrama compared to the run of the mill Hollywood classics, Irving Cummings, producer, can boast—a little. Susan Peters returns to the screen in a true to life wheelchair and raises hob with herself, her relations and her friends.

Famed Center

Our near future Fine Arts Center has achieved fame recently by having its portrait in the April isue of "Magazine of Art." Discussed in an article by Walter L. Creese, it is an illustration of the "supposition that soon outstanding modern college buildings by young and comparatively unknown architects may begin to crop up in unusual places." It is called the "First symptom of a forthcoming popular triumph for modernism. . . . ."

Serenade? Serenade!

By all means the first thing to do after you read this is to rush out and buy your tickets to tonight's performance of 1950 Springtime Serenade. Last night's breath-taking performance was its own best answer to the question, Why have a second show. From the lovely "Serenade" from the "Student Prince," sung behind the gauze curtain as the theme song, until the patriotic fervor of "Your Land and My Land" lit the stage in red, white and blue lights, the Serenade was fast paced, well planned, and very adequately sung by the Men's Glee Club and Girls' Choir. Curtis Hughes put the concert model Hammond organ through its paces in a manner well calculated to show that he is not only a top-ranking organist but an expert showman as well. Bob Holley's narration was given a typically Ted Malone reading by Bill Starr. If you missed it last night or feel inclined to see it again, Serenade tickets will be sold at the door tonight.

Echo Forum—

To the Editor of The Echo:

There is much talk on campus concerning the results of a recent bacteriology class test of local milks. Rumor has it that Pet brand milk was found almost unfit for consumption after a thorough test.

It is said, too, that any official report of results has been surpressed by the influence of the Pet company and that UT thought it unwise to even make a test to check the Maryville results.

If these statements are untrue, the company and the schools have no reason for keeping the real facts quiet; if they are true, since Pet milk is used in the dining hall, the student body has the right and privilege to know the truth.

—Dick Newman

To the Editor of The Echo:

The recent chill we all experienced when our five story dormitory barely escaped being burned to the ground sent this reader into a period of profound contemplation. Recognizing that the Scot Tissue and Ajax Paint companies were the only beneficiaries of said fire (referring to the new orders they'll be getting soon) the question occurred, "Why can't Maryville, too, profit"—a question dear to the heart of every Scot.

It is commonly known that Maryville's distinguishing slogan is: High scholarship standards, definite Christian emphasis, lowest kindling point in the south. Why couldn't that old battle cry that has echoed for so many years through our highland vastnesses become as common, this time revised to read, "A Paintshop On The Hill Again!" It's a cry to warm the blood of any loyal clansman.

How indeed would Maryville College benefit? Smoking in dormitories raises insurance rates beyond the endurance of any full blooded scotsman. Do not also powder magazines, excelsior bins, and paint rooms, or anything that might imperil a 60,000 volume library in the college? If therefore, a paint room were built in the middle of the college farm, or some equally noncombustible place, the students would never have to be evacuated from Thaw Hall again, insurance rates would subside, and the minutes of the Presbytery dating from 1832 would repose dry as ever.

"A Mentally Disturbed Student"

(Our "mentally disturbed" reader refers to a radio news broadcast heard in this area shortly after the fire. The badly botched account had it that a five-story MC dorm Shaw Hall had burned. A Sunday morning bulletin in The Knoxville Journal also reported students safely evacuated from the building. No word has been received from Lamar Library staff on the filing of those students' stack cards.—Ed.)

Blount County Seniors Plan MC Campus Visit

The second annual high school day sponsored by the local Chamber of Commerce will be held on Maryville's campus May 5, it was announced this week by project chairman, Leslie Walker.

The purpose of the program is to interest high school graduates in entering college and to acquaint them with the opportunities offered by Maryville.

The program will include lectures, a tour of the college campus, and recreational activities.

Four hundred seniors of the ten Blount County high schools attended the first high school day held last April.

Money Reports Due

Student organization treasurers should turn in financial reports to their faculty advisors as soon as posible, it was announced this week.

Blanks for these reports may be obtained from Dr. L. L. Williams, professor of biology and faculty auditor of student accounts.

Earisman, Keene On Air

Y Radio presented an original story for Writers' Workshop by Del Earisman who read it. Herb Keene also sang "You'll Never Walk Alone" from "Carousel" by Rogers and Hammerstein, and "The Holy City" by Steven Adams.

●TODAY'S MILLIGAN RELAYS WILL TELL whether or not MC's track team has got what it takes. With one of the largest crops of returning veterans in years, Coach Davis will take a team that is out to won. But—

There are two handicaps that will really hurt this year's squad. Number one has been injury-itis. MC was hit with a plague of injuries beginning with Hap Brahams (out for the season), then Clarence Reasor, then John Baird, and this week, Jimmy Thurston pulled a charlie-horse.

A lot will depend on how Thurston's leg holds up if the Scots have hopes of winning the trophy. Fans remembered Blondie aw's pulling of a muscle in the 100-yard dash last year at Milligan which meant the difference between first place and the 56-56 tie with Wofford.

●HANDICAP NUMBER TWO and the only bar between Maryville and track success is a complete absence of field event men. There are track men enough, especially in the longer mile and two-mile runs, but, brother, there is a woeful lack of athletes who can throw the shot, discuss, or javelin, not to mention the jumps. To show how miserable this situation has hit the Hill, Don Walker is going to pull off the iron-man stunt at Johnson City today in competing in five field events. Therefore, we are asking any and all Maryville students who even think they could put the shot, leap the broad jump, or fling a javelin, to come on out, because Coach Davis could use a few.

●STATISTICS show that Jimmy Campbell, who will be one of Coach Honaker's "Duck team" next year, has the highest batting average with 6 for four. However, Bob Boring is tops among the regulars with 40 for 18. Statistics for hitters as follows:

Player	AB	H	Pct.●	R	RBI	PO	A	E	Pct.
Boring	40	18	.450	16	12	18	38	4	.933
Hamil	41	14	.341	12	12	16	1	4	.809
Neff	27	5	.185	7	6	8	0	1	.888

						41b	0	2	.667

●THE 880 YARD RUN used to be the half-mile run but with the growing emphasis on speed, the 880 has become a sprint race and no longer has the connotation of the half-mile run which sounds like it's longer. Many track men will agree now that the 880 has become one of the hardest of all track events since you've got to put out all you've got for two laps practically like the 440 and can't pace yourself like in the mile. But as usual we will have many comments from Maryvillians starting at about 12 o'clock over this and once again we will probably have to sit down with two slices of bread, some ketchup, and eat these words, but we're all entitled to our opinion and have the right to express them, so naaah!

Scots Tackle Field At Milligan

Scots Can Newport, 5-3 Following 11-11 Tie

After coming from behind to beat the Newport Canners, 5-3, Wednesday, the Scots were scheduled to trek to Newport for the finale of a three-game series. However, snow dispelled all hopes of playing Thursday and the Scots stayed at home.

We Win, Yea!

In the second of a three game series MC's Scots defeated the Newport "Canners" of the Class D Mountain States League by a score of 5-3. It was MC's sixth win of the year.

Ahead Only For Awhile!

The Canners jumped off to a quick two run lead in the top of the first on two walks, two singles and an error. The Scotties, however, tied up the game in the fourth when Hugh Hamil picked out the pitch he liked and sent it sailing far out into left field for a home run. Wally Pentz, who had singled, scored in front of him. The eighth was the only other inning in which the Scots scored.

This time, two walks, an intentional pass to Bobby Boring, and two bingles, one by Hamil and one by pinch-hitter Jim Campbell, scored the last three runs.

Leon's Got It

In one stretch Leon Berrong put down fifteen men in succession from the second to the seventh. "Mo" struck out nine while walking only two.

DeKalb Wins Second Game After MC Takes Opener

DeKalb Wins

DeKalb turned the tables on the Scots by walking off with Saturday's game by the tune of 8-4. The defeat was MC's third of the year against five wins.

All Brumm

Jack Brumm, smooth right hander from DeKalb, really showed MC his stuff as he allowed MC only six hits and two earned runs. Brumm struck out thirteen Scots, three in the third, and issued only four free passes.

Jim Kren was the first Scot to hit pay dirt as he knocked out a home run in the third, the only extra-base blow off Brumm. The only other earned run for the Scotties came in the sixth when Hugh Hamil beat out a bunt, stole second and third, and came home on an error.

DeKalb scored two earned runs in the third on four hits and a walk. In the fourth the Teachers scored two more earned runs on a single, a triple, and two more singles. They scored their last earned run in the seventh on a triple and a double.

Friday Game

Scot diamonders defeated Northern Illinois State Teachers College of DeKalb, Illinois, Friday afternoon to rack up win number five. The final score was 9-7, MC winning on only four hits.

Action began fast and furious in the second inning as DeKalb put together four singles and a two-base error which netted them three runs.

MC fell in line as pitcher Cahill lost control of the ball and issued two walks and a wild pitch which set the stage for a squeeze play. Leon Berrong laid one down that turned out to be a bunt pop fly which fell between Cahill and shortstop Neukirk, good for two runs. Two more walks loaded the bases and again set the stage for the squeeze play. This time Walt Pentz laid down the sacrifice bunt, good for two more runs. Two errors, a passed ball, and a stolen base accounted for the other two runs for MC in the second.

DeKalb came right back to tie up the game in the third, after the first two were out, when Leon lost his control. The Teachers made good use of four walks and two singles for three runs.

Maryville Walks Home

MC, not to be outdone, put together four walks, a single, and a wild pitch for three runs in their end of the third off Marino.

The only other score came in the fourth when first baseman Guidici slammed out a home run for DeKalb.

Coach Davis Takes 15 Men To Relays

Fifteen trackmen left with Coach Davis in three cars this morning for Johnson City and the Milligan Relays. It will be the opening test of the season for the Maryville tracksters.

Maryville first entered into the Milligan Relays competition since the war in 1948 and came in fifth. Last year, the Orange and Garnet-men tied for first with Wofford of South Carolina and this year, they will attempt to take first place in the all-day competion.

Other Teams Ready

East Tennessee State which will open the Scot's home card of two meets next Saturday and several of the other competitors in the meet wil have meets behind them; thus, leaving the Scots at a slight disadvantage.

All Speed—No Muscles

Maryville's strongest point-gathering is expected to come in the Sprint, 880, and Distance Relays, with the men in these events taking on the biggest burden, since Maryville will have only one contestant in the field events.

Entries for Maryville will be among those that follow:

100-yd. Dash—Law, Poovey, Gress
440-yd. Dash—Lambert, English
Mile Run—Earisman, Mabry, Day
High and Low Hurdles—Kay, Schaumberg
Pole Vault, Broad Jump, Javelin, Discuss—Walker
440-Relay—Law, Poovey, Gress, Baird
880-Relay—Lambert, Thurston, Nairon, English, Law, Gress, Poovey, Baird
Distance Medley—McMahan, Day, Menges, Earisman
Sprint Medley Relay—Thurston, English, Lambert, Menges
Mile Relay—Lambret, Thurston, Nairon, English.

Thaw Paint Shop, Library Damaged In Early Morning Blaze

Fire Leaves Loss In Library Books, Paint, Paper Goods

A fire of undetermined cause swept Thaw Hall's basement paint shop early last Sunday morning, damaging supplies and equipment stored there and breaking into nearby library stacks.

Considerable damage was incurred to maintenance department tools, stored paper goods, glass, and paint. Burning through a wooden door, the fire reached bound periodicals. Most of the books—dated before 1930—were damaged by water used to check further spread of the blaze.

The library's estimate of loss may run over $2400. Among the damaged volumes were Chemical Abstracts, the National Geographic, and the college's valuable complete file of PMLA—Publications of the Modern Language Association, which goes back to the 1880's.

Until the insurance company has completed its findings, an exact cost of the paint shop loss cannot be made. An early estimate placed it at upwards from several hundred dollars.

Only a small quantity of paint and dropcloths were destroyed. Because paint can were sealed and the cloths clean, spontaneous combustion was rejected late in the week as cause of the fire.

The room of origin had concrete floor, walls, and ceiling, making less difficult the confining of the blaze to a small part of the building.

The fire was discovered by Night Watchman Ralph Irwin. Maryville Fire Department received a call about 12:20 a.m. Sunday. Soon afterward a call was made to the Blount County fire patrol, which brought apparatus to the scene of the blaze. Firemen fought the fire for almost two hours, assisted by many of the college students and spectators.

Dean Emphasises Respect Cooperation As Basis For Improved Relations

Dean Frank D. McClelland spoke in chapel Thursday on "Student-Faculty Relationships," the first in a series of three talks designed to acquaint the student body with college policy.

Dean McClelland, introduced by Student Body President Bill Nish, empasized the need for right human relationships. "It has been interesting to note" he said, the gradual disappearing of the old tradition that faculty and students must be mortal enemies."

He pointed out the areas lending themselves best to joint student-faculty responsibility and said that "still richer fields of cooperation lie ahead."

Essential to the most effective student-faculty relationships, Dean McClelland said, is "a willingness on the part of the faculty to delegate responsibility. . . There must be a clear understanding of the kind of college of which we are a part.

". . . . there must be mutual respect and understanding between faculty and students, both as individuals and groups."

Student Leaders Conduct Sunday School Programs

The Presbyterian Sunday School tomorrow will be in charge of the Crusader Class. The scripture will be read by Norma Lou Loetz, Dot Holverson will pray, and Gloria Measamer will sing a solo, accompanied by John Sayre. Charles Williams will be song leader and Jessie Emerson pianist.

At the Episcopal Sunday School Instructor Arthur D. Ainsworth will speak.

Martha Lou Coile and Myrtle Watkins will be the leaders at the Broadway Methodist Sunday School, and Holly Dawes will be the song accompanist.

Helen Tedford's group are the leaders at the Baptist Sunday School and Ric Rogers will lead the singing. A social is being planned for Sunday night.

Mary Lynn Moore will have the opening worship at the First Methodist Sunday School, and George Day will be the song leader.

Shields, Fort Contribute Art Works In Knoxville

Two Maryville students, Alan Fort and Margaret Shields, both sophomore art majors, have had works accepted for current exhibition by the Knoxville Association of Artists.

Miss Shields' painting, "Fugitive," is a street scene done in the gouache technique, and Fort's work is "Morning Freight," also a gouache painting, using Maryville's Southern Railway depot as subject material.

Shown above is Maryville's Vesper Choir. Their annual Festival program is to be presented tomorrow night a t7 in Alumni Gym. Harry H. Harter is director of the 60-voice a capella group.

Vesper Choir To Sing Tomorrow

Only Home Concert Presented This Spring

Maryville College A Capella Choir under the direction of Harry H. Harter will present its annual Vesper concert April 23 at 7:00 in the college library. This is the only home concert this spring, and is one of several given on tour.

Choir personnel numbers 60. Members represent 15 states and one foreign country, Iran. After a recent concert in Oak Ridge, Margaret Schenck, music critic for the newspaper of that city, wrote that the choir "needed to be congratulated on its fine blend of voices and tonal balance."

Program for the performance is divided into four groups. In the first, Ludwig Senfl's "Bells of Speyer," Antonio Lotti's "Crucifixus," and Alessandro Scarlatti's "Exultate Deo" will be sung.

Measamer Solos

The second part consists of "Agnus Dei," by Vassily Kalinikoff, "Let Thy Holy Presence," by P. Tschesnokoff, and "Credo," by Alexander Gretchainoff.

Gloria Measamer, alto soloist, will be featured in the third group, which contains Motet Op. 29, No. 2, by Johannes Brahms.

The last group is composed of T. Tertius Noble's "Go To Dark Gethsemane," Negro spiritual, "There Is A Balm In Gilead," and Edvard Grieg's "God's Son Hath Set Me Free."

Paxton, Lyerly At Workshop Hears Paxton

Ben Paxton will read at Writers' Workshop Wednesday afternoon and his paper will be criticized by Louise Lloyd. An initiation for new workshop members to be elected will be held on May 3.

Last Wednesday, Mary Lyerly's "Bus Trip" and Dorothy Holverson's "Seeing is Everything," two short stories, were criticized by Bill Holt and Assistant Professor Paul Cooper, respectively.

ELECTION STATISTICS

In the run-off elections for student body president and for social board chairman voting was as follows:

For president

McNiell	300
Poland	365

For social board chairman

Jackson	318
Swartztrauber	337

Vols Discuss Caravaning

An informal panel will discuss Caravaning at Student Vols Sunday night in Bartlett Auditorium immediately following Vespers. Those who are taking part in the discussion are former Caravaners. The program will prove of particular interest to any who are planning to go Caravaning during the summer vacation.

Sigs Quizzed

Alpha Sigma will present an old-fashioned quiz program to its members tonight in Thaw 214 at 6:15. A former member will be quiz master. Prizes are to be awarded.

Bainonians To See Skit

Maree Richards, Mary Wilks, Janet Whiting and Beryl Stewart, who are running for program chairmen for next semester, will have charge of the Bainonian program tonight. They will present a skit entitled, "A Trip to Pis-Pis Land."

Kiwanians Hear Queener On Jefferson And Fear

Dr. Verton M. Queener, head of MC's history department, was the speaker at this week's Kiwanis club meeting, which was held at First Methodist church at noon on Tuesday.

Dr. Queener's topic was "Jefferson and Fear," in which he pointed out that we are now living in a period of fear and hysteria, similar to six such periods in our history.

Dating Survey . . .

to meet girls on a social basis.

Sophomore: (1) no money; (2) no girl they would want to take out; and (3) too busy. Junior: (1) girl back home; (2) too busy; (3) no girl; (4) no money. Senior: (1) girl back home; (2) no time; (3) no money.

Hands Off

The most common complaint by the girls in all classes (as shown by the survey of Misses Enloe and Martin), was "that two or three dates at Maryville means 'going steady,' and therefore, other boys use a 'hand off' policy. This opinion was most often expressed by freshmen and seniors, probably because the first year girls are not yet ready to settle down to one boy; and the seniors feel too many boys have already settled down, and their chances are too limited."

Boys, said many of the girls, are unfriendly, stubborn, bashful, backward, too childish, most inconsiderate in waiting until the last minute to ask a girl out, and judge a girl too much by her looks alone.

The second most frequent complaint was College rules. "Strong opinion was that they should be decidedly relaxed. The general opinion was that students are mistrusted by faculty." Argument voiced by the poll was that "this is a Christian college, yet we have little freedom. They feel there is no adequate chance to talk or say goodnight; and with this close supervision, one feels he must be 'sneaky' about the affection which should be natural."

The dating problem is one which the group in Sociology 202 feel can be much improved. Many of the "regular" daters feel there is too much emphasis placed on dating; and that there is too much serious dating, and not enough friendly dating.

Until 10:15

"Many of the rules such as Town Night, no Sunday afternoon dating, no riding in cars with boys, were generally thought to be unreasonable and without any basis. Others thought the Senior Privileges should be extended to include juniors.

"There was no real objection to the hours, except that boys should be allowed to stay in the lobbies until 10:15 p.m.," the survey continued.

The problem of petting was considered one which causes embarrassment for everyone concerned. Petting is one "sport" which should not be carried on in public, it was decided by the class.

The poll would offer these solutions, "more good mixers where everyone can participate (including dateless ones who often do not attend because they have no dates), and more opportunities for more active recreation (voiced especially by upperclasswomen who feel there aren't enough opportunities for them to date.)"

There was also favorable comment about dancing and the opportunities offered by the Student Center.

Errors

According to the surveyors, there are certain errors in a poll such as this one: "it was taken over a period of three months, and to see different trends, it would be most effective over a period of a few years: the overall sex ratio may be unequal to the sex ratio in the poll, since town girls and the men living off campus were not polled.

"Then, there were those who took it lightly; and there was a general fear of the poll since the subject is such a personal one."

The poll was as objective as possible in presenting the facts and in showing the places where Maryville falls down in its dating system.

In all, the poll seems a reliable survey of student opinion of the subject of dating at Maryville. It shows that, probably, the greatest problem is that many of the girls are being excluded from dating, some because they prefer not to date, and others because they aren't being asked; and there aren't enough varieties of activities offered on a date.

It shows to what measure girls are excluded, and to what extent boys do not date. It gives the criticisms, both good and bad, bad, and that have been voiced. And it offers some suggestions in the solution of the problem.

EXCHANGES

I think that I shall never see
The dollar that I loaned to thee.
A dollar that I could have spent
For varied forms of merriment.
The one I loaned to you so gladly
The same which I now need so badly;
For whose return I had great hope,
Just like an optimistic dope;
For dollars loaned to folks like thee
Are not returned to fools like me.

Phyllis Jackson To Edit 50-51 Highland Echo

12 Staffers Promoted; Business Appointments To Be Made Next Week

Phyllis Jackson, incoming senior psychology major from Boston, Mass., was elected editor of The Highland Echo for the school year 1950-1951 Thursday night.

Miss Jackson, a transfer from Boston University, has been on the editorial staff of The Echo for three semesters. She is a member of Pre-Med Club, YWCA, and College Playhouse. She is a Theta Alpha Phi pledgee, and has served as an officer in Theta Epsilon.

The editor is elected by sealed voting of the editorial staff, with the chairman of the faculty committee of publications, and the chairman of the student council publicity committee each casting a vote.

The election of a business manager and appointments to the business staff will be made next week by the committee on publications.

Promotions Voted

Tuesday the publications committee voted on promotions on the editorial staff. Twelve staff members were re-elected by the committee following the recommendations of the editor. Staff members promoted included Phyllis Jackson, incoming senior; Mary McConnell, Frances Moore, Richard Newman, Neale Pearson, Carson Seeley, incoming juniors; Sarah Brown, Trudy Furman, Rolfe Duggar, Claire Hoffman, Glenn Gentry, Hugh McSpadden, and Mary Sue Munson, incoming sophomores.

The publications committee is composed of Assistant Professor Arthur Bushing, Assistant Professor Elizabeth Jackson, Dr. Ralph T. Case, and Dr. F. A. Griffitts, from the faculty; Duncan Bennett, Herbert McCallum, Barbara Wallin, and Donald Whelan, Echo senior staff members; and Betty Jane Greenwald, chairman, James Dance, and Charlie Allen, student council.

Herbert McCallum and Barbara Altfather served as editor and business manager, respectively, of this year's Echo.

'50 Fashions Go On Revue Tonight

"Fashion Highlights of 1950" is the theme of the fashion show to be held tonight at 8:00 in the Intramural Gym.

The commentators for the show are Mary Wilks and Sarah Jo Emert, and music will be by Mary Holly Webb, Rosalie Munson, and Lin Johnson. Assistant Professor Geneva Robertson is the director.

The clothes to be shown are those made by Home Economics classes this year. The classes represented are the freshman clothing clases, the tailoring and costume design classes, and the brides' course. The dresses range from plain summer cottons to glamourous evening gowns, with dressy crepes and taffetas, sports ensembles, tailored suits, and children's dresses included. Some Daisy Chain dresses will also be modeled.

The style show is an all-campus activity and everyone is invited.

Athenians To Elect Executives Tonight

Athenians will elect officers tonight at a meeting in Bartlett at 6:15 following a musical program.

Seniors Will Breakfast At President Lloyd's

The Senior Class will be entertained at breakfasts next week by President and Mrs. Ralph W. Lloyd. Because of the size of the class there will be three breakfasts: Wednesday, May 3; Friday, May 5; and Saturday, May 6. One third of the class is being invited each morning.

Seniors will be excused from chapel and first hour class, if necessary, for the morning they are invited.

Debaters Initiate Five New Members

Pi Kappa Delta, national debate fraternity, will hold its annual banquet Tuesday night at 6:30 p. m. the Chilhowee Inn.

As guests, four faculty members were invited. They are Dr. and Mrs. Verton M. Queener, Miss Arda Walker, and Mrs. Archibald Pieper. Carl Lindsay, Elenor Kramer and Dorothy Stater are in charge of the program.

Five new members will be initiated. Bob Cuthill, Tom Kennedy, Newell Witherspoon, Bill Shields, and Carolyn Miller.

The Maryville Chapter of Pi Kappa Delta is the Alpha Chapter of Tennessee.

FTA Elects Jane McMillan Prexy

Future Teachers of America recently elected Jane McMillan president for next year. She is an incoming senior Education major from Acworth, Ga. Other officers elected are as follows: Barbara McNeill, vice-president; Janice Landstrom, secretary; Bob Lehr, treasurer; Shirley Schue, librarian; Glenn Gentry, historian; and Dr. D. H. Briggs, sponsor.

Officers were elected following a social given for high school FTA clubs Thursday evening, April 20. Invitations were also sent to college studen's interested in teaching but not active in FTA work. High school clubs attending were Margaret Henry Club Everett High; and Sam Houston Club, Porter High.

Jean Hunt and Ruth Rogers planned the program which featured several musical numbers and talks, and ended with square dancing and refreshments.

Deobler and Bird Heard In Recital

Senior music majors, Ruth Helen Bird and Lois Deobler, were presented in a recital last night in the Chilhowee Clubhouse. Miss Dorothy Vawter, instructor in music, accompanied Miss Deobler, coloratura soprano.

First on the program, Miss Deobler sang "Seufzer, Tranen, Kummer, Not, Seufzer," by Bach (from Cantata 21), and "Queen of the Night's Venegeance Aria," from Mozart's Magic Flute.

Miss Bird, pianist, played Suite No. 4 in E flat by Bach, consisting of Allemande, Courante, Sarabande, and Gigue.

Miss Deobler presented three songs by Richard Strauss, "Ich Wehwebe," "Schechtes Wetter" and "Kling."

Miss Bird performed Mozart's Fantasia in C minor (K 475).

Miss Deobler sang four selections: Beach's "Ah Love But A Day," "In the Yellow Dusk," by Horsman, Diack's "Sing a Song of Sixpence," and Meyerbeer's "C'est bien l'air," (Star of the North), with a double flute obligato by Charlotte Wyman and Zan Emery.

Miss Bird closed the recital with Dohnanyi's Phaosody in F Sharp minor, and Bloch's "Poems of the Sea" (a cycle for piano), consisting of "Chanty," and "At Sea."

Caldwell, Cuthill Lester Will Serve As Class Prexies

Jim Lester, junior economics major from Birmingham, Ala., was elected president of the rising senior class in last Monday's balloting. Lester is president of the Athletic Association, YMCA secretary, a member of Athenian, Student Council, and football team.

Vice-president elect is Lincoln Shimomura, chemistry major from Princeton, N. J. Shimomura is a member of Vesper Choir, Athenian, Pre-Med, and YMCA. George Stanfill, junior physical education major from Shelbyville, was elected treasurer. Stanfill was a member of last year's football squad.

Councilmen are Dick Lane, chemistry major from Maryville and recently elected manager of '50-'51 football team; Joe McNiell, mathematics major from Townsend and president of this year's junior class. Councilwomen are Janet Cummings, pre-med major from Maryville, and Mary Wills, sociology major from Baltimore, Md.

Sophs Choose Cuthill

Sophomore class selected Bob Cuthill, history major from Buffalo, N.Y., as their president-elect. Cuthill is a member of the debate team. Veep-elect is Lynn McNeeley, English major from Tazewell, a member of French Club and Theta Epsilon.

Edith Lancaster, secretary-elect, is an elementary education major from Hendersonville, N. C. and a member of Bainonian and B.G. Club. New treasurer is C. L. Hager, physics major from Ormond, Fla.

Holding junior seats in Student Council in the fall semester will be Carol Jones from Sweetwater; Ella Swift from White Hall, Md.; Al Springfield from Atlantic City, N.J.; and Ralph Thiesse from Cleveland, Ohio.

Caldwell Leads Frosh

Freshman class voted Bill Caldwell from Maryville into the rising sophomore class presidency. Caldwell was a member of the debate team and football team. Paul Merwin from Rutherford, N.J. was elected vice-president and is a member of Athenian and football team.

Bev. Edwards, art major from Knoxville, is secretary-elect while Dick Hyatt, pre-med major from Rose Hill, Va., is the new treasurer. Council Members are Lois Lerch, biology major from Clearwater, Fla., John Schaumberg, sociology major from San Antonio, Texas, and Jim Campbell from Mars, Pa.

Junior Run-Off

A tie in the voting for the third senior council seat resulted between Alice Huddleston and Barbara McNeill. A run-off to decide the winner will be held Tuesday.

May Day Celebrants Visit Wonderland; Thetas, Sigs Sponsor Spring Formal

Moondusters Play As Couples Dance In 'Moonlight' Set

By Barbara Wallin

Theta Epsilon and Alpha Sigma will present the 1950 spring formal in the Alumni Gymnasium Monday night, May 1, from 8 till 11 p.m. This year's theme chosen by the societies is "Moonlight and Roses."

May Day Court, headed by Queen Frances Postlethwaite and King Henry Callaway, will reign over the dance. Coronation ceremonies will be held Monday afternoon at the May Day pageant in the college amphitheater.

'Moondusters"

Music will be presented by the Moondusters, a student orchestra organized and directed by Wilbur Selander. It is to be a program dance and there will be 16 scheduled dances. Eight will precede intermission and eight follow. Several novelty numbers have been planned in between the regular numbers. Selander and Ruth Davis are in charge of all musical arrangements.

Tickets are $1 plus tax per couple and are on sale before and after meals at Pearsons. Programs will be given out when the ticket is purchased. Corsages are in order, but the ruling is that no fellow is to spend over $3 for flowers. This ruling was made in order to keep the individual cost for the dance at a minimum.

Dress Details

Dress will be formal—meaning suits for the fellows and evening dresses for the girls. Tuxedos are permissable but are not necessary.

The theme, Moonlight and Roses, will be carried out in decoration of the gym for the evening. Roses will be in profusion and a moon will be in evidence. A garden motif will be used. Irene Mellon and Jim Kren are in charge of decorations.

Other committee chairmen are: business, Charlie Wagner and Peggy Kettles; refreshments, Jessie Dye and Ted Beasley; publicity, Barbara Wallin and Frank Russo; tickets, Janice Landstrom SPRING DANCE and Bob Kay; programs, Judy Breen and Andy Clark; and clean up, Dave Kincaid.

First Society Dance

This is the first year that the dance has been sponsored by a society. The new plan to have brother-sister societies sponsor the dance on alternate years was originated by Interclub Council in an effort to compensate for the society financial deficits which arose from the consolidation of

Students To Select Athletic Board In Balloting Wednesday, Thursday

Presidential nominations for Athletic Board of Control are Jim Callaway, pre-med major from Maryville, and Roy Kramer, physical education major from Maryville.

Charlie Allen, physical education major from Louisville, Ky., and Bob Larson, philosophy major from Coral Gables, Fla., are nominated for the vice-presidency. Peggy Sangster and Gracie Scruggs are selections for office of secertary. Miss Sangster is an elementary education major from Chatham, N. J., while Miss Scruggs is a physical education major from Clinton.

Two faculty members of the four nominated will be chosen as board members: Miss Jessie Heron, Miss Arda Walker, Mr. Howard Schwam, and Coach J. D. Davis.

Three men of the six selected will serve on the board also. Those nominated are Herb Palmer, Don Walker, Bob Proffitt, Bill Menges, Ray Keny, and Walt English. Girls nominated for the two women's positions on the board are Lois Lerch, Anne Leeder, Jean Davis, and Ruth McSween.

Voting will take place Wednesday and Thursday.

HOPE FUND TOTALS $1588

The Fred Hope Fund has had pledged to it $1853.20 and so far $1588.20 has been paid in. This leaves $264.40, and those people who still owe are asked to finish their payments before the end of the semester at the printing office.

Ahler, Wills Head Bainonian Officers

Results of the recent election for incoming Bainonian officers have been announced and are as follows: President, Mary Wills, junior from Baltimore, Md.; Vice President, Pinky Ahler, junior from Harriman, Tenn.;

Secretary, Ruth Nicholas, sophomore from Drexel Hill, Pa.; Treasurer, Ella Swift, sophomore from White Hall, Md.; Program Chairmen Maury Richards, freshman from Manasquan, N. J., and Beryl Stewart, sophomore from Haworth, N. J.

Court, Characters Add To Pageantry; Scene Is Fantasy

By Hugh McSpadden

The annual May Day Pageant will be presented in the Amphitheatre on Monday, May 1 at 2:30 p.m., the third consecutive year under the direction of Jim Dance.

Rulers of the Pageant, as king and queen, are Henry Callaway and Frances Postlethwaite. Accompaning them as senior attendants are Ann Parris and Betty Crawford. Junior attendants are Lavinia Roderiquez and Del Poling and Gerry Hopkins and Bob Proffitt.

Marsha Beebe and Tom Jones and David Kincaid and Jessie Dye are the sophomore attendants. Freshman attendants are Martha Higdon and Bill Garren and Bill Caldwell and Isabella Leitch.

Flower Girls are Marty Lowe and Susan Storey. Crown bearer is Billy Patterson and Trumpeter is Zan Emery.

The "Alice in Wonderland" pageant is set in an English country garden, in the time of Lewis Carroll, which turns into Wonderland and back.

As the pageant opens we see Alice (Lois Deobler) sitting beside her sister (Mary McAfee) on the bank and very tired of it all. Suddenly a very unusual White Rabbit (Jim Dance) runs by and out of curiosity Alice follows it into Wonderland.

Chess and Tea

In Wonderland, Alice sees many curious scenes. The first is a huge Chess game played by live people who are hopping about on huge Red and White squares. Alice goes from the Chess game to a Tea Party of the Mad Hatter (Ric Rogers), the March Hare (Ross Dooley), and the Dormouse (Ray Kuhn).

From this tea party Alice next finds herself in a garden of Live Flowers ("High Society") who are waltzing for Alice, only to be chased away by the gruff Blue Caterpillar (Archie Swarztrauber), who gives Alice a method of changing her size, now only three inches high.

Tweedledum and Tweedledee

This method produces several shapes and sizes of reflections (Linda Storey, Norma Lou Loetz, Edna Field, and Mary Sue Munson) who dance with her until Tweedledum (Joe Poland) and Tweedledee (Tom Kees) arrive ready to fight until they see the Gryphon (Jack Rorex). The Gryphon introduces Alice to the Mock Turtle (Jim Campbell) who has his friends, the Lobster Quadrille Dancers (Women's Gym Class) do a fantastic quadrille for Alice while he sings of soup until chased away by the ugly Duchess (Dorothy Stater) and her Cook (Carol Mitchell) with pots and pans and pepper.

Pages (Lee Cook, Wally Schroeder, and Gerald Wheat) arrive with invitations to the Queen of Hearts' croquet game. At the game Alice finds the Queen of Hearts (Gloria Measamer), the King of Hearts (Alan Fort), the Joker (Larry Lowe), and the Knave of Hearts (Hayden Bryant), who steals the tray of tarts and is chased by all except Alice, who is left to converse with Humpty Dumpty (Bert Stewart).

"Jabberwocky"

The poem "Jabberwocky" which Humpty reads to Alice comes to life as a funny monster, the Jabberwock (Craig Fisher), Tove and Borogroves (Women's Gym Class), Father (Bob Holley), and Son (Dick Dart).

This poem is less significant to the Chess men than the battle between the Lion (Bob Kees) and the Unicorn (John Sayre). Alice covers her ears to stop this noise and finds that she is now Queen with a golden crown on her head. The Chess game is over and all Alice's friends in Wonderland come to her party. This is climax-

Chamber Music Groups, Symphony Orchestra Highlight Festival Week

By Sarah Brown

In celebration of Music Festival Week, the Fine Arts Division is presenting three varied musical programs in the coming week. A Musical Offering will be given on Thursday by the Chamber Music Groups; two senior music majors will perform in a piano-voice recital Friday; and the Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of W. Curtis Hughes, will render its annual spring concert Saturday.

On Thursday night, May 4, at 8 o'clock, the third in the Bach Bicentennial Series will be given in the New Providence Presbyterian Church, when a Musical Offering will be presented by the Chamber Music groups, under the direction of Dorothy Horne.

Participating are Alice Baddy, Ruby Jean Harris, Dorothy Horne, Dorothy Stater, Sue White, violins; Joy Hayes, viola; Doris Somerville, Dan Thamisch, cellos; Curtis Hughes, organ; and Dan Winter, piano.

The program will include Ricercar, a 3, various canons of the Royal Theme, Trio Sonata, canonic eleborations of the Royal Theme, and Ricercar a 6.

Patty Regan and Linnea Johnson, senior music majors, will be presented in a recital at 8:00 p. m. Friday, May 5, in the Chilhowee Clubhouse. Miss Thelma Nelson, instructor in music will accompany Miss Johnson, soprano.

First on the program, Miss Regan will play Fantasia in C minor by Bach. Romanza in A flat and Rondo in C major by Mozart.

Miss Johnson will present three songs by Mozart, "Trennungslied," "Warmung," and "Voi che sepeta" (Marriage of Figaro).

Miss Regan will perform Debussy's "Le plus que lent." Prelude op. 9 no .1 by Screabine and Etude for Piano op. 14 no. 3 by Bartah.

Miss Johnson will sing four selections, "Aufenthaet," "Fruhlingstraum," "Abschied," and "Adieu," by Schubert.

Mendelssohn's Concerto in G minor op. 25, "Malto Allegro Confusco," and "Andante" will be presented by Miss Regan.

Miss Johnson will close the recital with four biblical songs by Dvorak and Verdi's "Odom Fatale."

Maryville College Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of W. Curtis Hughes, will present its annual spring concert Saturday, May 6, at 8:00 p.m. in the Alumni Gymnasium.

Dan Winter, senior piano major, will play the Mozart D minor Concerto.

The first part of the program emphasizes the music of Bach and others of that period in partial celebration of the Bach Festival series.

On the program are, Overture, Air, Gavottes I and II, Bourree, and Gigue from Suite No. 3 in D Major by Bach; Allegro, Andante, and Allegro assai from Brandenburg Concerto No. 2 in F major by Bach; Maestoso, Largo, and Allegro from Concerto in d minor by Vivaldi; and Allegro, Romanza, and Rondo from Concerto No. 20 in d minor, K 466 by Mozart.

Miss Horne To Speak On Folk Songs At Bainonian

Miss Dorothy Horne will speak on the history of folk songs and ballads in Tennessee at tonight's meeting of Bainonian at 6:30 in Mainonian Hall. The program is in charge of Jesse Emerson, leader of Mu chapter, and will also include group singing.

A Picnic Supper is to be held in the College woods on Tuesday, May 2, from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. Members are urged to ask dates and make their reservations as son as possible. Admission is 30 cents, 60 cents per couple.

Next Echo May 12

The next publication date for The Highland Echo will be Friday, May 12. There will be no paper on Saturday, May 6. All club or organization information should be turned in by Thursday, May 4, at 8 p.m. for this final edition of the semester.

Chilhowean Coming

Chilhowean for 1950 will arrive sometime next week, it was announced recently by Editor Mary Lyerly.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR of campus-wide interest will be given consideration only if signed. Such letters should show thoughtful, representative criticism or appreciation on subjects of general interest. The editor reserves the right to edit letters for convenience of publiction. In certain cases, names may be withheld in publication.

You, The Job, and Duty

With every elective office on our campus come obligations of those elected. Whether this obligation be one of the use of time, talent—or merely handling others' troubles—the elected has with his job responsibilities to others. No matter how seemingly mere the position, there is a job which demands, besides work, the dutiful task of shouldering the trust of the organization. It is a care that every electee should consider.

Just as the selected leaders have rsponsibilities, so too, do those who comprise the group have a similar share for the acceptance of responsibility. Each has an obligation to support those elected with essentially that with which the elected has to manage, time, talents, and toil.

To get "the job well done" both those who serve who may only stand-and-wait must accept and carry forward their rightful obligations.

As our election opportunities become challenges, we must be watchful and responsible for our spoke in the wheel of progress.

Opportunity Knocks

This is the season when a young man's fancy lightly turns. . . ., and everyone is in a "seventh heaven", counting the hours until he can pack his bags and leave for home. However, with all the merriment, there is still a feeling of remorse, for there are many things which have been left undone.

Many will find their grades inferior to what was expected. Others will find there isn't enough time left to "finish up" term papers or book reports.

New Year's is the time for resolutions, but there would be no harm in making new resolutions over the summer, and coming back next semester with renewed determination to work harder and accomplish more.

It has been said that "all wish to be learned, but no one is willing to pay the price." This is, perhaps, true of each of us. We wish to receive our college education, but we are not always willing to spend the necessary time and energy to work at it.

Napoleon once said "ability is of little account without opportunity." The opportunity will again be ours next semester. Count the minutes, and the days will take care of themselves. There can be no reward offered for minutes lost, for they are gone forever.

Isaac Watt's poem, "The Sluggard" has an admonition on this idea. He wrote:

A little more sleep and a little more slumber;
Thus he wastes half his days, and his hours without number.
And when he gets up he sits folding his hands,
Or walks about saunt'ring, or trifling he stands. . . .
I made him a visit, still hoping to find
That he took better care for improving his mind;
He told me his dreams, talk'd of eating and drinking,
But he scarce reads his Bible, and never loves thinking.
Said I then to my heart: 'Here's a lesson for me,
That man's but a picture of what I might be;
But thanks to my friends for their care in my breeding,
Who taught me betimes to love working and reading.'

Scots & Soda

A Lover's Serenade

Last week's outstanding spring concert (we're prejudiced, but don't you agree?) brought to mind the following lover's lament and final happy ending:

Lover Come Back To Me. I'm So In Love that I've Got You Under My Skin. All Stout-Hearted Men agree that a Fellow Needs a Grl under the Silver Moon. When You're Away, I'll See You In My Dreams In The Still of The Night. Some Enchanted Evening With a Song In My Heart and A Heart That's Free, I'll Have You and The Night and The Music and You'll Never Walk Alone.

Western Union

Some people don't like to open telegrams for fear they might contain bad news. All MC'ers are glad Dr. McClelland didn't feel that way when he purportedly received a certain one this week. When he announced that he had a telegram from Dr. Lloyd, everyone was pretty sure they knew the contents. But when he started reading and it was about MC alumni meetings someone was heard to mutter, "Aw, he's just got some more money for the chapel fund". But before the telegram was finished, Dr. Lloyd was "a jolly good fellow" again. It was a much needed holiday and was put to much good by most. One finishing touch seemed to be that the powers that be locked the chemistry and other science labs in order to make scientifically minded students enjoy the holiday, too. They did. Thanks again, Dr. Lloyd.

May Day Magic

Little did Maryville's later founding fathers dream when they built the amphitheater in the college woods that it would be put to such usage. In the past three years it has been transformed into Robin Hood's home, Sherwood Forest; the land of Ox, home of the Wizard; and a Southern plantation in Uncle Remus' front yard. This year it's undergoing another transformation—into Wonderland, scene of travels and adventures of one Alice. Most of the transformations have been the brain children of Jim Dance who has a knack for making people act and feel childish and like it.

For What It's Worth

It has been said that 10 per cent of the people think; 10 per cent think they think; and the rest are just too blamed lazy to think.

Moonlight and Roses

Publicity for this year's spring dance has caused quite a bit of pro and con comment. Some say publicity isn't necessary, others say there should be more. Still others say there shouldn't even be a dance. However, it seems to be the general concensus of opinion that the dance is an excellent idea and that it's here to stay. We hope so. One enthusiastic poster-looker was seen to scribble the following on one of the posters, "Please note Student Council regulations concerning dancing this close." 'Nuff said.

Let Me Call You Sweetheart

Thursday night the fellows all ganged up on Barbara Altfather and Dave Miller to continue the time worn tradition of singing to new engagees. The sparkler on her finger almost matches the sparkle in her eyes.

Height of Loveliness . . .

—or something. M Club girls have been giving a hard time to their neophytes. Not only do they have to go without makeup, wear their hair up in socks, and wear tennis shoes, they have also to hang tennis racquets around their necks. Mae Meriweather hailed one pledge half-way across campus and made her sing her song loud enough to wake the dead—even those sleeping in chemistry class.

Red Shoes

That is not only the title of a movie well-worth seeing, but seems to be one topic of conversation whenever Bob Holley is around. Lately he's been showing up in a shirt with pink tones and wearing shoes whose red color is almost as loud as the squeak they produce with every step.

Voices, Masks, and Shadows

SHOWING

The horsey set hits the jackpot this week: Maryville's Capitol Theater on Monday and Tuesday brings Warner Brothers' "Story of Seabiscuit" direct from the track. Seabiscuit may have done some winning himself, but the picture is strictly an also-ran.

Story: unappreciated colt grows up to be a champ. Stars: Barry Fitzgerald with hammed-up brogue, Shirley Temple for juvenile romance interest. Only redemption: some actual newsreel shots of the real Seabiscuit in action. Our bookie's odds: "Seabiscuit" never makes the first turn.

Wednesday the fare is a little better. Glenn Ford and Ida Lupino lead in western "Lust for Gold," a swap in emotions from most current films. Thursday-Friday is Joe Pasternak's "That Midnight Kiss," a musicomedy packed with Hollywood big names, and made, apparently, in defiance of M Book regulations.

Done on an over-super scale, complicated plot soon gets out of hand. Show-stealer is new tenor Mario Lanza, who does an awfully good job of singing and acting despite two big drawbacks: the story and star Kathryn Grayson.

Monday only at the Park is "Deep Waters," a pretty fair picture about a Maine lobsterman adapted from Ruth Moore's novel "Spoonhandle." With all the outdoor shots made in Maine, "Deep Waters' is pictorially authentic besides being good to look at. Dana Andrews, Jean Peters, and Dean Stockwell do the honors.

Despite its title, "The Mating of Millie" is not a documentary released from the Board of Health, or a sequel to above-mentioned "Seabiscuit." The best pic of the week, "Millie" is about a department store executive who wants to adopt a small boy, discovers she can't unless she's married, begins a campaign for a spouse.

Script is really clever, and Millie, changed from another office machine to a female with a capital F, is a real eyeful. Evelyn Keyes is the girl after a husband; Glenn Ford, the guy who helps her find one (which, of course, eventually turns out to be him). Witty dialogue plus attractive Millie make for a top movie.

Park's Thursday and Friday contribution is Dotty Lamour and Brian Donlevy in Craig Rice's who dunit "The Lucky Stiff." Producer is Jack Benny, and it's his first try at this end of show business.

Hard-drinking star Donlevy gets in and out of so many scrapes they finally get corny. Dotty should have kept her sarong, even though she does justice to the evening dress she wears as a nite club songstress. Otherwise, it's a better-than-average mystery.

READING

Most important of additions to Lamar Library this week is "Out of My Life and Thought" by philosopher - musician - theologian-MD Albert Schweitzer, called by many the world's greatest living man. Dealing with his younger life and with part of his career in Africa, it is a valuable book for understanding and appreciating Dr. Schweitzer.

Also new and important is Vannevar Bush's "Modern Arms and Free Men," a "discussion of the role of science in preserving democracy." Bush has long been active in both political and scientific spheres and his ideas and opinions are both significant and valuable for our time.

Other additions this week are "The Continuity of Christian Thought," Alexander Allen; "The Family in a Democratic Society," Community Service Society of New York; "Public Organization of Electric Power," John Bauer; "Leaders in Education 1948"; "Economic Planning," Seymour and Harris.

Out in a new Modern Library edition last month, and one of the Library's most popular novels is Somerset Maughm's "Cakes and Ale." Although "Of Human Bondage" is generally considered Maughm's best, "Cakes and Ale" is his own personal favorite. The story of a writer, and told in Maughm's own style of first person singular, it has become a fiction classic.

Maughm's easy, sophisticated style makes for easy reading, and his gift of story telling makes for a novel you'll agree is tops.

Four Four Conferences Announced For Summer

Director of Maintenace, Louis A. Black, has announced the following schedule of four summer conferences to be held on the Maryville campus during the summer.

They are as follows: June 13-29, Senior Conference; June 20-23, Westminster Fellowship; June 27-30, Synod-Synodical; July 3-8, Junior Conference.

All are Presbyterian Church USA conference of the Synod of the Mid-South.

Results For Sophomore Tests Announced By Dean

Results of the sophomore tests taken this year have been announced by Dean Frank McClelland. Maryville sophomores ranked three percentile points higher than the national average for the English test.

National results for the contemporary affairs test are not yet available, but on the basis of last year's test, sophomores this year are somewhat below the national average. Two hundred and six sophomores took the tests.

German Club Elects Allison; Other Officers

German Club elected officers for next semester last Monday evening. President is Dean Allison, freshman German major, from Salineville, Ohio. Vice-president is Fannie Weber, from Marengo, Ohio, and Bill Espenshade, from Berwyn, Pa., is secretary-treasurer. Retiring president is Aubrey Galyon from Knoxville, Tennessee.

●CRY BABY DEPT.—For a recapitulation on the Milligan Relays—the words have been eaten. Many people will think (and they can go ahead and say it aloud) that we are applying the soft soap and handkerchief treatment to the results of the Relays, but many of the tracksters have come up with a good solution, psychologically speaking. In the sprint medley which opened up the mud-pie affair, Jimmy Thurston's leg conked out on the first lap causing MC to trail until Sid Lambert, Walt English, and Bill Menges brought MC up to fourth place. Many observers believe that the latter three ran themselves out in this race trying to make up lost distance. Sid tightened up later in the mile relay and both he and English had poorer time in the straight 440 run than they have had in practice sessions on MC's sorry field. MC was beaten from the start, mentally as well as physically, and couldn't make up the distance in between.

Another slight advantage for the other contesting teams was that every other team had had dual or triangle meets already under their belts. Yesterday's "revenge" meet with ETS will have shown some improvement over the showing at Johnson City we believe and next Saturday's with Chattanooga will be an altogether different one than that at Milligan.

aKren has ⅔ of an inning more and Parks ⅓ of an inning more.

●LOWEST EARNED RUN AVERAGE is held by the man having the highest batting average Leaky "five for seven" Campbell. Pitching records as follows:

Leaky must have plenty of friends because they really charged us last week after the averages came out. This week's pitching averages don't show too much except when coupled with the scorebook, for Berrong and Kren have gotten the toughtest assignments with the net result that their won-lost and earned-run averages aren't as high on the one and as low on the other hand as they might be.

●WHY ATHLETES DON'T DATE—Now that the Pieper report has been released to the outside world on the dating habits of the American Female, we would like our five readers to think over the following remarks. The athlete must be considered. Why? If more girls dated athletes, the ipso facto ratio wouldn't be so low. Coach Davis and the Ancient Greeks don't agree with Modern Man as to dating, but here goes anything anyhow.

Why don't girls date trackmen—Well, they're too fast or throw too much weight around. Tennis players? they play too many love games and practice with any good racquet. Gridiron giants? they will tackle anything. Basketballers? they're the unpredictable type—half the time they are taking time out and the other half of the time, they're going out of bounds. What about baseball players? Well, they are very unscrupulous according to reports—they hit and run. Thar she be, so we end it with Quid Scripsi Scripsi (What has been writ has been writ.)

●HITS AND ERRORS—With the going out of the old year and the coming in of the new, we want to extend ours and the congratulations of many others to this year's Pep Committee. "Boss" Webster Fue, Ralph Thiesse, Ruth McSween, and Ruth Rogers of the Student Body, and Mr. Schwam and Miss Blair of the Faculty, have done a bang-up job over the past year. Here's hoping that next year's does as well. . . . . Now that Mrs. Queener has given out the final point system ratings, we see that Gracie Scruggs has been fortunate to win by dint of hard work a great big M sweater and Letter (the letters are bigger than those of the football lettermen) by amassing the grand-slam total of 530 points. Generally, the boy wins the sweater and letter and the girl wears it. Maybe in this case Bo will be lucky enough to wear hers. . . we don't know.

Kren KO's - LMU For Scots' 7th Win

Jim Kren took to the hill Monday afternoon against Lincoln Memorial U and pitched a beautiful six-hit shutout win over the Railsplitters. The Scots, in the meanwhile, collected ten bingles off Beverly, LMU rookie, and combined them with four errors to achieve a 5-0 calcimation.

Victory number seven for the season was racked up against three losses and one tie in the process.

Scots Make 'Em Count

The Scots' first run came in the second frame on a single by Hugh Hamil, an infield out, a stolen base, and a single by Bobby Neff. Blood was drawn again in the next frame when King Berrong singled, stole second, advanced on a passed ball, and scored on a miscue. In the fifth canto, the Scots tallied twice on a hit by Wally Pentz, an Annie Oakley, another pilfered sack, and a two-base error. MC's last counter came in the sixth on three straight singles by Neff, Kren, and lead-off hitter, Jack Buckley.

LMU Wise

LMU threatened to open the gates when they loaded the sacks in the fourth by benefit of two singles and a walk, but all their efforts went for naught as Kren applied the strikeout treatment to the last man. The Railsplitters got pesky again in the sixth when they collected two one-basers with only one away.

Beverly, though nicked for ten basehits, showed good control in striking out nine Scots while issuing only two free passes, but hits in the clutch and ragged fielding support were his downfall and Kren's victory.

36 Point System Girls Win M Club Awards

Thirty-six women athletes have seen eight-months of hard work come to a glorious end with the awarding of awards under the Point System, Mrs. Verton Queener, director of the Point System, announced this week.

One "amazon", Gracie Scruggs, went out for everything and totaled a commendable 530 points which enabled her to receive an M sweater and Letter.

The "400"

Girls who collected more than 400 points that received a letter are: Cora Anthony, Marianna Brogden, Betty Carroll, Betty Jo Clemens, Jean Davis, Alice Davenport, Elenor Kramer, Lois Lerch, Ann Leeder, Mae Meriwether, Ruth McSween, Faye Robinson, Barbara Rogers, Ruth Rogers, Mary Spencer, Peggy Sangster, Sue Watson, Hazel Wood, and Ruth Garst.

Monogram Misses

Those who piled up 300 points or more and won MC monograms were: Maragret Brown, Edna Burkins, Ruth Cliver, Nanette Enloe, Nancy Ferguson, Ruth Heaps, Lois Johannson; Sally Kemp, Nancy Lassell, Isabel Leitch, Beverly Musick, Emily McLain, Ethel Nelson, T. Thomas, Patricia Walthall, and Mrytle Watkins.

ETS Breaks Scot Tennis Win Skein

Well, it was bound to happen and did as Maryville's undefeated tennis team was no more following a 5-2 defeat administered at the hands of East Tennessee State at Johnson City last Saturday.

Previously that morning, the Scot netters had hung a 7-0 shutout on Milligan's Buffaloes to run their unbeaten string to 14 straight. But the Bucs had too much and applied the strings of their racquets in a fashionable way to knock the props from under the Scot athletes who were still tired from their workout against Milligan.

ETS Bucs Here To Open MC's Home Cinder Season

Intramurals....

Run, Johnny, Run

Yes, men, this means you. At last MC's sacked-in armchair athletes have their chance to show their speed in the Second Annual Intramural Track Meet. The stirring all-campus affair will be staged on May 8th, following the Chattanooga track meet, so as to give Scot track fans a chance to compare the "pros" and the amateurs, and then draw up their own conclusions.

Captain Syd Lambert of the thinlies is directing this year's fiasco or meet with theable assistance of Hap "Sawbones" Brahams, Bill Menges, Jimmy "Legs" Thurston, and John (now Gluefoot) Baird who will do the megaphoning for the different events.

The Intramural Office has announced that ribbons will be given for individual firsts and/or two second-place finishes which will also give 50 points on the chart in the Intramural Office towards Intramural Medals. Competition will entitle contestants to 10 points. Therefore, we suggest that all you sacked-in and sun-bathing beauties do a little getting-into-shape between now and the fifth (May, that is).

Two events have been dropped from this year's card—the Javelin and the Discus because of the great many accidents which have been occurring over the country during the past year due to inexperienced athletes missing connections when they heave the aforesaid instruments of destruction.

But don't let this frighten you for the two-mile run has been added and the hurdle race has been lentghened to 220 yards instead of the century distance. No high hurdle race is contemplated for well-known reasons. Sign-up sheets will be posted on the ever willing sign-up sheet at the Intramural Office soon.

The Eightballs of "Dr." A. J. Wilson won last year's meet, but "Ham" Ammons thinks he has enough talent to repeat once again in the team score.

Individual meets will probably end up different this year with the "great number" of men out for track this year, but many strange things have happened in Intramural Sports and railbirds last year about died laughing when the Mile Relay team of Fred Kluth, Allan Rock, Bob Larson, and Jim Lester, paraded around the field—the foursome themselves nearly dying from the grind.

Events for the meet and their order will be the Mile Run, 440, 100, 220 Low Hurdles, 880, Two-Mile Run, and the Mile Relay. Field events will be the high and broad jumps along with the Pole Vault and Shot Put.

Little World Series

The Softball tourney will be held sometime next week with the two top teams in each league participating in a one-loss-and-you're-out affair.

SOFTBALL

For the first time in many a week, we have been fortunate enough in getting some space to give Intramural Softball stars their due.

Brevorrs. 22—Leftovers, 15. This was the score in one of the season's oddest played games. The Leftovers got 15 runs on only four hits while the Brevorrs weren't at all bashful in the hitting department—getting 21 base hits. It seems that Russ Owens, the Brevorr's one-man pitching staff, became engrossed in the philosophical aspects of an airplane cruising overhead and started to walk the whole Leftover team. Mgr. Dick Rowley, more practical than imaginative, finally breathed a sigh of relief when the plane disappeared over the horizon and Owens settled down to coast in by six runs. Bob Schwobel, and Willy Rahn were the big run-producers for their sides with three and five while Charles Ulysses Flood was tagged for the loss.

MC Thinlies End Up 3rd In Relays

Maryville tracksters took fourth place in the Milligan Relays held at Milligan Saturday. Wofford, who tied MC last year for first place, again took first place followed by East Tennessee and Roanoke, which took third both years.

Allen "Blondie" Law really showed his heels as he took first place in the 100-yard dash with a 10.4 time. In the 440-yard dash Sid Lambert, captain of the Scots, took third while Walt English took fourth.

Kay Doesn't Kid Around

Del Eairisman took second in the mile run followed by Charles Mabry for third place. Bob Kay had a big day as he took first place in the high hurdles and a good second place in the low hurdles. Kay cleared the 220 low bars in 23.9 shaving 4 seconds of fthe old time of 24.3.

Maryville took fifth in both the 440 yard relay and the 880. The 440 team was made up of Law, Bill Poovey, Howard Gress, and John Baird. Lambert, Poovey, Nairon, and English ran in the 880 race.

No Good News Tonight

The distance medley team did not finish up as well as expected in the sixth place finish of McMahan, Day, Menges, and Earisman. The Sprint Medley race which opened up the day's competition saw MC's team of Thurston, English, Lambert, and Menges, come in fourth after Thurston's leg fouled up causing English to take the baton in the last place before pulling up.

The mile relay, usually an MC nailed-down affair, went to another team. The tuckered-out MC entries were Lambert, Baird, Nairon, and English.

One-Man Field Team

Don Walker pulled an iron-man stunt in four field events. Thirds in the javelin, discus, and pole vault were his along with a fifth in the broad jump. The only event he didn't enter was the high jump. Walker may have gotten higher in the javelin but John Puckett of ETS flung the spear 116 feet 9½ inches to set a new record.

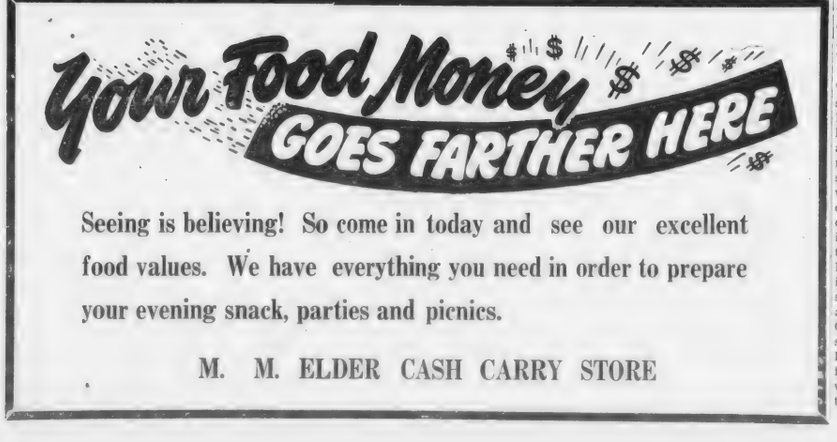
East Tennessee's Bucs were the guests yesterday as Maryville opened up her home track season. In the Milligan Relays, the Pirates had edged out the Scots taking second place. Yesterday, Coach Davis' crew was out to show that MC still had a better squad, though the records of the Relays might shown different.

ETS Eager

The Johnson City school has already run in four meets this year for a decided advantage in the best-way-to-get-into-shape method ever. Sewanee took the Pirates of Julian Crocker, 87½ to 43½, in the Bucs' opening meet. ETS came back, though, and stomped TPI at Cookeville, 78½ to 58½.

The big men for ETS are Paul "Flash" Musselman who took part in the 100 and 220 dashes and the broad jump, and Bob Lloyd. Other counted-upon-heavily men for the Bucs were Jack Chinouth in the high jump, shot, and discus; John Puckett, a javelin tosser; James Tipton in the mile; and Joe Earhart in the 440 and mile relay. Lloyd goes for ETS in the high jump, 100, and the 220 dash and hurdles.

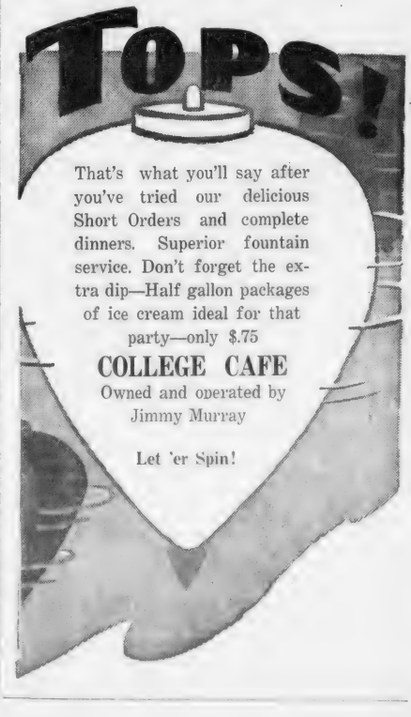
Mocs Meet MC



Because of no publication next week, the Echo will try to give a scant preview of the Scots' dual meet with Chattanooga's Moccasins here next Saturday. Not much is known about the Moc squad except that they have a seven meet schedule and are also in a crying need for men.

Two men back for Coach Andy Nardo's thinlies will be George Ridge, miler, and Smith whose forte was in the field events. So far this year, Chattanooga has been reported as having beaten ETS; therefore, scores may be matched after the last man has crossed the tape.

Track records which date back to 1923 showed that MC took that year's meet, 89-28. Since then, MC has taken six track meets and lost none (according to the records which have a few lapses here and there) for a very neat accomplishment. Last year's score MC—80, Chattanooga—51.



Grudge Meet

Especially interesting from both the fans' and athletes' standpoint will be the mile run between Ridge, Earisman, and Mabry. Ridge edged out Earisman and Mabry in the mile last year and should have a rough time repeating with the two MC flashes determined to change the finish around.

RAILROAD STRIKE

A nation-wide railroad strike scheduled for last Wednesday has been postponed until 6 a.m., May 10, it was announced this week by Frances A. O'Neill, Jr., Chairman of the National Mediation Board, after discussing the matter with the party causing all the grief—the Firemen's Brotherhood.

STRIKE TWO

Joseph A. Beirne, head of the CIO Communications Workers of America, stated early this week that the phone strike set for last Wednesday has been called off. After a seven month threat, the next step after the strike would be to call in the Federal Mediation Service, under the direction of Cyrus Ching. Current opinion has it that this would be distasteful to the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, with whom the ill will of the union rested.

CHIANG'S OUT

Chinese Communists have made a distinct gain in capturing practically all of Nationalist-held Hainan. Chiang Kai-shek, generalissimo of the Nationalist forces, has ordered the "complete evacuation" of the 13,500 square-mile island.

TELL IT TO THE UMP

Secretary of State Dean Acheson related in a rather bold and furious manner to the nation's editors that the campaign to brand the state department as communist-infested was vicious and reminded him of the berserk killer of New Jersey who shot down 13 bystanders last year. He related further that such actions tended to undermine the people's confidence in their government's dealing with foreign affairs in a time when it needed their support the worst. His remarks were released for publication after several deletions.

Massey Urges High Social Standards

"A college is judged by its students," declared Miss Frances Massey, Dean of Women, in a speech entitled "Social Standards" given Thursday morning in Chapel.

Miss Massey went on to say that personal qualities such as good manners and integrity mean more than intellect. College strives to continue the development of good manners at a mature level.

In particular, Miss Massey touched on the subjects of good grooming, table manners, and dating habits. Dates should include a maximum of wholesomeness with a minimum of sexual familiarity. A way to insure wholesome dates, Miss Massey said, is to plan the time for dates and to engage in sports and social functions.

She also brought out the fact that we do not show enough friendliness to strangers on the campus.

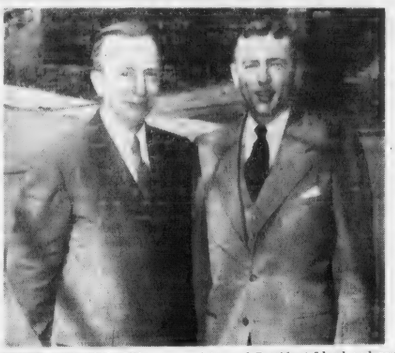
In conclusion, Miss Massey said, "We can succeed only if the students work with us to make the campus the kind of place we all want it to be."

High School Students Visit, Hear Talks

High School Day, sponsored by Maryville Chamber of Commerce in cooperation with the College, will be held May 5. Visiting the campus are seniors, principals and class sponsors of the high schools in Blount County and also some neighboring schools.

Opening meeting will be held in Alumni Gym at 9:30 a.m. at which a college male qaurtet will sing. Then the group will be divided into six smaller groups to listen to vocational preparation talks during third and fourth periods.

DR. GRAHAM TO SPEAK AT TOMORROW'S VESPERS



Dr. Thomas A. Graham, pastor of the New Providence Presbyterian Church, will speak at Vespers tomorrow night at Lamar Memorial Library at 7 p.m.

All-Girl Choir, under the direction of W. Curtis Hughes, will render "Lift Thine Eyes" by Felix Mendelssohn and "Give Ear to My Prayer" by Jacques Arcadeldt.

Parish Children Visit At YWCA Tomorrow

Children from Home Avenue parish and Negro Missions will present a varied program at YWCA tomorrow in Bartlett Auditorium at 1:30. The program is to include examples of activities being carried on in these sections.

Capt. Paul Buskey, Middlebury, '38
Air Intelligence, U.S. Air Force

An excellent student at Middlebury College, Vermont, Paul found time to win the coveted All Sports Trophy in his senior year. He graduated in June, 1938.

He then joined a coated paper mill firm as research and control man. Pearl Harbor changed all that—Paul went to Maxwell Field to begin Aviation Cadet training.

An outstanding Cadet, 2nd Lt. Paul Buskey was held over as an instructor after graduation. Then he was assigned as a pilot in the Air Transport Command.

His big plane education was topped with 23 missions over the far-famed "Hump," flying C-54 transports. After V-J Day, he stayed on in the Far East until March of 1948—specializing in Air Intelligence.

Back home, after accepting a Regular Air Force Commission, Captain Buskey went to Air Tactical school, was there rated an outstanding student, and won assignment to Command and Staff school.

Today, Captain Buskey is an Air Intelligence Officer on MATS Headquarters Staff at Andrews Air Force Base near Washington, D. C. He looks forward to a rewarding future in the U. S. Air Force.

If you are single, between the ages of 20 and 26½, with at least two years of college, consider the many career opportunities as a pilot or navigator in the U. S. Air Force. Procurement Teams are visiting many colleges and universities to explain these career opportunities. Watch for them. You may also get full details at your nearest Air Force Base or U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting Station, or by writing to the Chief of Staff, U. S. Air Force, Att: Aviation Cadet Branch, Washington 25, D. C.

College Awards Degrees To 184 Seniors In 131st Commencement Program Wednesday

Callaway Presides, Newland To Read At Senior Chapel

Senior president Tubby Callaway will preside at the annual Senior Chapel service in Alumni Gym Thursday, May 18, at 8:00 a.m. Included in the ceremony will be the traditional exchange of seats, with rising seniors moving into the senior section.

Wearing caps and gowns for the first time, the senior class will enter in the processional and sit in front of the platform. Opening hymn will be Luther's "A Mighty Fortress Is Our God." Second hymn is "Guide Me, O Thou Great Jehovah."

Stewart McNeill will read the scripture lesson, and prayers will be offered by Jim McKee and President Callaway. Margie Newland will read the history of the class.

Ray Holsey is soloist, and Dorothy Stater, violinist, and Ruth Helen Bird, pianist, will play a duet. The service will close with the singing of the Alma Mater by the Vesper Choir.

Alumni Banquet Saturday Night

Maryville College Alumni Association will hold its annual banquet in Pearsons Hall at 7 p.m. on Saturday, May 13. In the absence of President Earl W. Blazer who is in Europe, vice-president A. B. Waggoner will preside.

Following the banquet a brief meeting of the association will be held at which time officers for the year '50-'51 will be elected. Members of the Class of '50 will be voted into membership. Dean Frank D. McClelland will present their membership to Henry Callaway, president of the class.

Extra Large Enrollment Necessitates 16 Junior Girls Living In Baldwin

Large enrollments in both the incoming junior and senior classes has necessitated the placement of sixteen girls in Baldwin Hall.

A partial explanation of this shortage of rooms is given by the fact that approximately 54 women are graduating this year and already about 103 freshmen women have been accepted for the fall semester. Several former students are returning in addition to this number.

The lack of rooms will probably be made up, however, since some students expecting to return will find they are unable to because of unavoidable circumstances, such as poor health or finances, and others will transfer to other colleges. This will allow most of the new students to be placed by or before the end of summer.

French Club Elects; Inducts New Members

Rosalba Pascal, incoming senoir French major from Valdese, N. C., was elected president of French Club on May 4.

Other officers elected include vice-president, Ken Garrison, incoming senior sociology major from Bridgeton, N.J.: secretary, John Harris, incoming senior from Knoxville; treasurer, Hazel Wood, incoming junior from Maryville; program chairmen, Lynn McNeely, incoming junior from Tazewell, and Gracie Scruggs, incoming junior from Clinton.

New members initiated at the meeting were Bob Kees, Mary Kelton, Marsha Beebe, David Nolan, Nina Ruth Gillette, Peggy Williams, Sue Summers, and Margaret Shields.

The picnic-meeting was held at the country home of Mrs. George Lowry.

At Council -

SWIFT ELECTED SECRETARY

Ella Swift, incoming junior from White Hall, Md., was elected secretary and Joe McNeill, incoming senior from Townsend, was elected treasurer of the new council Wednesday night. A special meeting in Thaw 214 was called by President-elect Joe Poland for elections of council officers and consideration of other business.

Council officers must be class representatives. Miss Swift represents the junior class and McNeill the senior class.

President Poland announced that student leaders for the coming fall orientation classes have been selected by a committee of council to be composed of the following: Alita Bryant, Carol Corbett, Janet Cumings, Carolyn Miller, and Virginia Schwarz for the women's group. Andy Clark, Joe Poland, George Ogle, Charles Williams, Bill Varker and John Shew are to serve as co-leaders with a faculty member in the men's discussion groups.

Point System Voted Out; Town Night Up For Talk

Discussion on town night provisions ,a vote to drop the tentative point system from further consideration, and reports from student-faculty senate were principal items of business at the May 3 meeting.

A penalty was voted in a town night violation for loitering and overstaying the privilege. Two sign-out irregularities were not voted the penalty by council. President Nish reminded the council, especially the incoming members, that town night was a "test case" in student responsibility and that each council member should undertake sincerely to carry out the delegated responsibilities.

Consideration of altering the penalty schedule for violations and changing specific boundaries in the town night provisions were reported to be in a proposal stage between the president and the president-elect.

Point System Dropped

A point system, by which council was to keep a record of campus leaders' activities in an effort to limit participation in student activities, was voted impractical. After a report of council recorder secretary Alice Huddleston, the opinion was that the basis of the system was not adequate for useful evaluation and that the principle was too overdrawn for purposeful use under present conditions.

Arrangements for student council representatives to participate in high school day were completed by President Nish.

Inclusion of class dues and Chilhowean subscriptions in the student activity fee was reported out in a report from student-faculty senate.

MC Symphony Orchestra Gives Concert Saturday Dan Winter Piano Soloist

The Maryville College Symphony Orchestra presented its spring concert last Saturday evening in the Alumni Gymnasium. The conductor was W. Curtis Hughes and the piano soloist was Dan Winter.

The orchestra played the Overture, Gavottes I and II, Bouree, and Gigue from the Suite No. 3 in D Major by Bach; the Allegro, Andante ,and Allegro assai from the Brandenburg Concerto No. 2 in F Major by Bach.

Other selections included the Maestoso-moderato, Largo, and Allegro from the Concerto in D Minor by Vivaldi; and the Allegro, Romanza, and Rondo from the Concerto No. 20 in D Minor, K. 466, by Mazort, with Dan Winter as soloist.

Baccalaureate Services Held Sunday Morning

Baccalaureate Service will be observed in the Alumni Gym Sunday at 10:30 a.m. President Lloyd will preach on "Departing By Another Way". The text of the sermon is taken from Matthew 2:12.

New Providence Presbyterian Church will dismiss its services in time for the Baccalaureate service. Dr. Thomas A. Graham will participate during the service.

The processional is composed of seniors, faculty members and the Vesper Choir. Members of the junior class will usher at all commencement activities.

380 Attend Formal; Net Profits Divided Among Societies

Nearly 190 couples attended the "Moonlight and Roses" spring formal sponsored last Monday night in Alumni Gym by Theta Epsilon and Alpha Sigma. Profits from this dance, the first sponsored by brother-sister societies in accordance with the Inter-Club Council plan, will be divided among all four societies.

The fall dance will also be under the direction of Theta and Alpha Sig, while next year's spring formal will be presented by Bainonian and Athenian.

Music was provided Monday night by Wilbur Selander. Eight dances preceeded intermission and eight followed according to the programs.

Committee chairman were Charlie Warner, Peggy Kettles, business; Jessie Dye, Ted Beasley, refreshments: Irene Mellon, Jim Kren, decorations; Barbara Wallin, Frank Russo, publicity; Janice Landstrom, Bob Kay, tickets; Judy Breen, Andy Clark, programs; Dave Kincaid, clean up.

Corbett Elected WSGA President; Officers Named

President of WSGA for the coming year is Carol Corbett, English major from Jacksonville, Florida. Pearsons' house chairman is Ruth McSween; Baldwin house chairman is Karole Kapp. Mary Ann Hicks heads Memorial Hall.

Miss Corbett is a member of Pi Kappa Delta, Chilhowean editorial staff and served as vice-president of the junior class. Miss McSween is a physical education major from Cleveland, Ohio. A Nu Gamma leader, she has been active in French Club, "M" Club and on the Pep Committee.

Baldwin's house chairman, Miss Kapp, is a Spanish major from Verona, Pennsylvania. She is active in Theta Epsilon, Varsity and YWCA. Miss Hicks, Memorial's house chairman, is from Willard, Ohio. A Bainonian, she is active in the Band and YWCA.

Three changes have been made in the WSGA Constitution. The offices of president and Pearson house chairman, formerly combined, are separated. Extension of the Knoxville senior privilege from 8:30 to 10 p.m. has been made. Penalty for underclass women taking senior privileges has been lowered from four weeks to two to three weeks at the discretion of the coordinating committee.

Barbara Altfather Re-Elected Echo Business Manager

Barbara Altfather, incoming senior business administration major from Falls Church, Va., was recently re-elected Echo business manager for 1950-51.

Assistant managers are Allan Caldwell, incoming junior psychology major from Cedar Rapids, Ia., and David Miller, incoming junior political science major from Roselle, N.J.

Election was made by Dr. L. L. Williams, Faculty Auditor of Student Accounts; Dr. F. A. Griffitts, Dr. Ralph T. Case, Assistant Professor, Elizabeth H. Jackson, and Arthur S. Bushing, members of Faculty Committee on Student Publications: and Betty Jane Greenwald, Charlie Allen, and Jim Dance, members of Student Council Committee on Publications.

Rev. Richard Baird Speaks At Vespers

Rev. Richard Hamilton Baird, father of MC junior John Baird, will speak at the commencement vesper service in Lamar Library tomorrow at 7:00 p.m.

Rev. Baird is western area secretary for the Presbyterian USA Board of Foreign Missions. A resident now of San Francisco, he spent some time as a missionary in Korea, and was in South America during the war.

President R. W. Lloyd will preside at the service. Vesper choir under the direction of Harry Harter, is to sing "Nicene Creed," by Gretchaninoff, and Grieg's "Jesu, Friend of Sinners."

Writers' Workshop Elects 14 Members, Picnics

Writers' Workshop, at its last regular meeting Wednesday, May 3, elected to membership for next year Barbara Blum, Lucy Carrick, Ruby Jean Harris, Phyllis Jackson, Peggy Kettles, Carolyn Miller, Richard Newman, and Earl Shellkopf.

These new members were initiated at a picnic in the College Woods Monday along with upper classmen elected during the year.

At the May 3 meeting selections were made for the next issue of Writers' Workshop's annual publication "Chips." To be added to those pieces selected from last semester are short stories by Carolyn Blair, Delbert Earisman, and Craig Fisher, and poems by Dr. Edwin R. Hunter and Aubrey Galyon.

Dr. Harrison R. Anderson Will Deliver Address To Largest Maryville Class

One hundred and eighty-four seniors are candidates for degrees at the 131st annual Commencement exercises, Wednesday, 10:30 a.m., in the Alumni Gym. Dr. Harrison Ray Anderson, pastor of the Fourth Presbyterian Church, Chicago, will deliver the Commencement address. This year's class is the larges tin Maryville's history, the second largest class was in 1936 when 144 seniors were graduated.

While there are 184 candidates for degrees, only 176 will actively participate in the exercises. The remainder, numbering 18 were recognized in Decembre.

The Board of Directors are to meet at 8:30 a.m. Wednesday to eslec tpersons to receive honorary degrees and to transact other necessary business. Judge S. O. Houston, chairman, will preside.

Dr. Anderson, a member of MC's Board of Directors, led the February Meetings in 1944. He served pastorates in Ellsworth and Wichita, Kan., before going to his present post in Chicago. He was moderator of Wichita and Chicago General Assemblies. A Chaplain in the 103rd United States Infantry 26th Division A. E. F., he received two citations for conduct on the field of battle.

Dr. Anderson received his bachelor's degree from Kansas State College, his B.D. from McCormick Theology Seminary, his DD from College of Emporia, and his L.L.D. for Illinois College. He is married and has three children.

The seniors, faculty, Directors, and the Daisy Chain will participate in the tarditional march before services begin.

Daisy Chain

Following Dr. Anderson's address, degrees will be awarded and the 50-year certificates will be presented to any alumnus of 50 years who is present. There are six living members of class, but circumstances prevent the attendance of all but one, Mrs. John A. Stoffell, formerly Edith Newman, of Fountain City.

The Vesper Choir under the direction of Harry H. Harter, will sing two anthems, "Psalm 51," by Brahms and "Praise to the Lord," by Christensen.

Junior girls in the Daisy Chain include Pat Love, Jacqueline Lenderman, Sally Kemp, Alice Huddleston, Alberta Ahler, Mary Lyerly, Janice Landstrom, Carol Corbett, Mary Hammelman, Irene Mellon, Jane McMillan, Barbara McNeill, Peggy Sangster, and Rosemary Gambill.

President Ralph Lloyd will preside at the exercises. Judge S. O. Houston, chairman of the Board of Directors, Dean Frank D. McClelland, and Dean Edwin R. Hunter will participate in program.

Fall Semester Schedule Registration Dates Set

The schedule for next fall includes the reporting of all new students at 4:00 p.m. on August 29 in the Alumni Gym.

All returning students will register on August 30 and 31 in the Library.

The first class meetings of the new semester will be on Friday, September 1. The YMCA-YWCA reception will be held at 8:00 p.m on Saturday, September 2, while the faculty reception will be held the following Monday at 8:00.

Pi Kappa Initiates Members, Banquet; Officers Elected

Carol Corbett, junior English major from Jacksonville, Fla., was elected to the presidency of Pi Kappa Delta, national debate fraternity, in an election held at the annual banquet May 2, at Chilhowee Inn.

Other officers are vice-president, Elenor Kramer, junior sociology major from Maryville; secretary-treasurer, Newell Witherspoon, sophomore history major from Chattanooga; and reporter, Bob Cuthill, sophomore history major from Buffalo, N.Y.

President Lloyd spoke at the banquet at which six new members were initiated. They are Bob Cuthill, Tom Kennedy, sophomore English major from Covington, Ky.; Newell Witherspoon; Bill Shields, junior political science major from Maryville; Carolyn Miller, sophomore sociology major from Monmouth, Ill.; and Tom Kelly, sophomore political science maior from Morris Plains, N. J.

Echo was in error last issue in failing to report Tom Kelly as an initiatee.

Outgoing officers for Pi Kappa are president, Eric Meadows; vice-president, Carol Corbett; secretary-treasurer, Lewis Evans; and Elenor Kramer, reporter.

Prizes, Awards Day Will Be Observed Monday At Chapel

Monday, May 15, Dean Frank D. McClelland will award prizes and honors to graduating seniors at Chapel service in Alumni Gym. Prizes to be awarded are T. T. Alexander, awarded to winners of first and second places of an oratorical contest conducted by the Bible and Religious Education faculty; the Alexander English Prize, awarded annually from a fund of one thousand dollars to the person who makes the best four-year record in English.

Bates Bible Prize is awarded annually for proficiency attained in Bible study. George A. Knapp Mathematics Scholarship Fund of one thousand dollars provides a sum to be given to the most promising junior or senior mathematics major. The Elizabeth Hillman Chemistry Prize, also of a one thousand dollar fund, is awarded to "women students for excellence attained in the Department of Chemistry."

The Bank of Maryville Economics Prize of twenty-five dollars is given annually to the student doing the most outstanding work in the field of Economics during the year.

Also recognized at this chapel service will be the seniors in Vesper Choir who have earned pins. Newly elected Theta Alpha Phi and Pi Kappa Delta members. Debate honors and awards will be reviewed.

Pat Love Elected Theta Prexy Next Semester

As a result of the Theta elections, the new president is Pat Love, incoming senior from Oak Ridge.

Work Applications Due

Those wishing to apply for student help work or to keep the job they now hold are reminded to present their applications to the student help office at their earliest convenience and before leaving school. All jobs now held terminate at the end of the year and a new application must be made to keep them.

Student help workers this year totaled 300-350 and increases over the two previous years.

Corbett Stars In Graduation Play

"Joan of Lorraine," by Maxwell Anderson, this year's commencement play, will be presented by the MC Playhouse Friday, May 12, and Tuesday, May 16, at 8:00 p.m. in Alumni Gym. Admission price is 60 cents.

The story, a play within a play, tells of the rise of Joan of Arc in France. In the title role is Carol Corbett, junior English major from Jacksonville, Fla. Director is drama instructor Herman Middleton; Anne Gates, English major, is assistant director.

The cast, many of which have had no previous experience in major productions, is composed of Ben Paxton, Jimmy Master: Ed Vanderslice, Al: Beverly Moore, Tessie: Janice Landstrom, Marie: Ben Gearhart, Garder: Arch Swartzstrabuer, Abbey: John Ferris, Charles Elling: Ray Kuhn, Dollner; John Mills, Jo Cordwell; Ken Newell, Quirke; Mary Ann Hicks, Mary Sadler: Del Earisman, Farwell:

Allan Caldwell, Noble: Bob Holley, Sheppard; Dave Reed, Les Ward; Joe Poland, Jeffson: Roger Cowan, Kipner; Herb Marks, Long; Jim Dance, Champlain; Alan Fort, Smith.

Heading the production staff is stage manager Chuck Gahagen assisted by Dan Dunbar; Set construction is in charge of J. A. Cameron ,Jim Townsend, Ray Kuhn, and Hugh McSpadden. George Barber is house manager, in charge of ushering and seating.

Committee chairmen include Joan Titley, properties; Bobbie Porter, costuming; Diana Mirshak, make-up; Mary Wilke, script and sound effects; Hugh McSpadden, lighting; Ruth McQuilkin, publicity; and Phyl Jackson, program and ticket sale.

"This story of Joan's visions and pilgrimmage to court, her restoring faith to the French, and the victory she wins is beautifully dramatized, but Maxwell Anderson also has interwoven in the Joan of Arc story a parallel action, which takes place outside the Joan play proper, in which he shows a meaning of faith today, and the necessity of believing in God."

Ingrid Bergman and Sam Wanamaker starred in the original Broadway production.

For Us, A Challenge

Maryville College, 1950. For some 180 graduating seniors, this milestone becomes within a few short days a major step in education for life. It is the top of a cycle, onto which we build.

Graduation honors mean much to us. In our development of personality, our Maryville course is rooted in modes of intellectual, spiritual, moral and physical development. Our participation in an "organized opportunity" of education is indelible in our character.

We depart blessed with influences, superficially taken for granted, for which we may never fully express our gratitude. The challenege is ours to uphold principles found here; not only to be more sincerely fruitful individuals, but also to increase our worth to humanity in the services of our Creator.

To Maryville—an institution founded on the principles of scholarship, sympathy, spirituality, and service—we graduating seniors owe many ideals which we shall ever hold dear.

—H.M.M.

Our Responsibility

One of the first questions asked a college graduate is "What are you going to do now?" And most have ready answers. Some will work, many will go on to graduate school, and some plan to be married soon.

We must live up to the Maryville traditions of scholarship, leadership, and honor, and we must be willing to support the school which has given us these traditions. We must be as loyal to Maryville as alumni as we have been as students. Naturally the school will still be dependent on us for our support. There is still a chapel to be built and other projects to which alumni can contribute and in which they can participate. We can return to Maryville to support in person its teams and programs; we can join the alumni clubs of fellow Maryville graduates. Leaving Maryville does not mean leaving the spirit which had made it great. Leaving the hill does not divorce us from continual duty and responsibility to our alma mater.

—B. G. W.

The March of Time

As it must to all, death will come to tired harried second semester next week; of old age and exhaustion; after some four months, ten days; in Maryville, Tenn.

With its death is brought relief to many, job-hunting to some, more work or more school to others. This paper is joining other Hillites in a rather sentimental wind-up of might have been a huge successtory. That we haven't done too badly after all and that there's another opportunity or two after the last senior is degreed the seventeenth is trite but expected.

Our protests were made in good faith; we hope retorts, however sweeping, were also. To those who felt we should have left unsaid many things that were said: we report what we see; if not, there should be little reason for a weekly newsheet to be published, as the masthead says, "by the students of Maryville College."

Scots & Soda

Not A Creature Was Stirring

There was the time when Polly Onifer stuck her head out the window and called, "I can't sleep. The dorm's too quiet!" Which dorm is that and how long is the waiting list for rooms? ? ?

What A Project!

The next time you see George "Prep school" Wood ask him about the narrow escape he had when Wade's waitress put the combined bills of eight people in front of him and demanded payment. Ten to one you won't see him for the Scotch plaid he's wearing.

Pledgees, Long May They Live!

With the major share of pledging done for this semester, accompanied by the treacherous state of being initiated, it's safe to say a few defensive things about the neophytes or "worms," as the more "learned" of the race would have you say. Who looked as funny as "M" Club waitress-neo's as they hobbled back and forth from kitchen to table in up-side-down skirts. . . . Ed Vanderslice as he carried a two-ton book which grew heavier every day by some miraculous means. . . . how eloquent can you get to outdo the oratorical efforts of George Barber and Archie Swartztrauber

Man Overboard

La Donna Baylor had a unexpected swimming lesson when she fell into a creek during the Spanish Club picnic. What's more, she spent the rest of the night wrapped in a blanket to keep more than her wig-wam! A blond indian?

Snap-shots

Neale Pearson, barefoot and blue-jeaned, trying to catch gold fish in the algae pond. . . Queen "Pepper" and King "Tubby" making one of the handsomest pair of royalties ever to cross into "Blunderland". . . . . glittering gowns and snow-white jackets whirling round and round as MC said it with music!. . . . . startled Miss Jackson when an illiterate bird flew into her English class of frosh.

Add A Simile

To have. . . . . as rotten luck as Athenian-Bainonians who invariably are rained out, no matter what their plans. . . . as pale as those who haven't the time to frequent either Baldwin, Memorial, or Carnegie (believe it or not) beaches. . . as punctual as Theta-Alpha Sigs who drove the last staple into the wishing well at 8:05 at the "rose festival". . . . . as surprised as rug-cutters when the first strains of "Sentimental Me" came forth from the musicians' stand and sounded par excellent.

Wha Hoppened?

Bill Carroll's still trying to figure it out. Just as he was more or less incapaciated by a premature explosion in the chem lab (somebody breathed at the wrong time, he says) Edna was trying to be a model phys-ed teacher and broke her collar bone (a very clean break though, she says). That's love for you. "What happens to him has to happen to me!"

Room For One More?

Laugh? You'd have died if you'd seen all the Pearsonians sitting in the wash basins soaking their feet after an all evening session with the "Moondusters." One quotable quote came from junior May Day attendant Lavinia Rodriquez as she waded in: "I knew Craig was thin but I never thought he was that skinny." Woo, wait'll he gets her now!

Attention, Income Tax Collectors!

Here's a new angle on collecting society dues, treasurers. It is rumored quite authentically that both Charlie Flood and Del Sarisman, both nominees for Alpha Sigma president, paid their dues in full this past week for the first time. P. S.—They tied in the first balloting.

Case No. 99999

Alpha Sigs have a bloodhound on the trail of the scandalous Bohemians who stole the punch after the dance. Someone did—preferably the male species as all Carnegie basement was feeling pretty happy throughout the wee small hours. . . to say nothing of those who barely made it through the morning on both legs.

They Did It Again

Well, they had one of "those" parties again! With a vile-looking green liquid passed off as something to drink (marshmallows floating in it, yet!) and two cakes to celebrate five birthdays, the tablemates (Craig, Mary Holly, Marion, Aubrey, Lucy, Del, Freddy and Marty) sat down to a splendid repast.

Voices, Masks, and Shadows

On The Shelf

During the past weeks, many varied types of books have been added to the new book table in Lamar Memorial Library. These books, ranging from the classics down, offer a good group from which to select reading for the summer or for next semester.

Probably the most recent of all is Louis Gottschalk's "Lafayette Between the American and the French Revolution." It is the fourth of a series on the life of Jean LaFayette. The new addition covers some six years of his life.

Lovers of English literature will be glad to see that a new translation in verse of Gottfried van Strassburg's "Tristran and Isdoe" ha sbeen added .An abrigged translation in prose was done by Jessie L. Weston some 50 years ago. The new translation by reydel is a line-for-line one, which preserves the beauty and musical effect of the poem, and the original meter. Zeydel has translated about one-third of the poem into verse. The rest, he has done in prose summaries, so that none of the story is missed.

"Tristran and Isboe," written about 1210, hasbeen called, along with Chaucer's "Canterbury Tales" and Milton's "Divine Comedy," the greatest poem of the Middle Ages. Indeed, it is one of the best known love stories.

Also new is William Leach's "Toward A More Efficient Church." Written as a brief guide to all those churches which really have courage to test their organization, it covers the five main areas of the church, and contains questions and answers at the end of each chapter.

After said testing, Mildred and Frank Eakin offer aids to teachers in their "Church School Teachers's Job." The book, drawn from Mrs. Eakin's own broad experiences, gives support to a positive view of the church school and its work. It should be especially useful to the church school teacher who is interested in doing an intelligent piece of work in accordance with modern principles and techniques. It has been highly recommended for teachers and other leaders of religious education of the more liberal protestant churches.

Also of interest to the Church School teacher is Martha Tarbell's "Teachers Guide to the International Sunday School Lessons."

Other recent additions are Vanevar Bush's "Modern Arms and Free Men; ""The Family in a Democratic Society," compiled by the Community Service Society of New York; Roger Hazelton's "Renewing the Mind;" John Howard Whitehouse's "Rankin: Prophet of the Good Life;" Seymour Harris' "Economic Planning;" Richard Chandler's "Handbook of "Comparative Grammar for Students of Foreign Languages;" and Arthur Link's "Wilson," a biography of Woodrow Wilson.

On The Stage

"Alice in Wonderland," this year's May Day Pageant, went off with much success! Director Jim Dance deserves much credit for the untiring effort devoted to writing the script, directing, as well as taking part in the cast. We feel the performances get better and better each year. Color was outstanding this year. However, some feel that recording each individual voice (as was done last year) is more effective than having one person act as narrator. Congratulations for a fine performance to "Alice" Deobler, and best wishes for a speedy recovery to Bill Carroll who was injured while making special effects for the pageant.

On The Center

John Shew and Jack Reid have made a most interesting investigation of the College's coming Fine Arts Center for Dr. Hunter's Esthetics class. In an interview with Architect Elting, it was found that the Center was designed for the particular hill on which it is now being constructed. It has a style all its own. It imitates no other building, and can-

Here We Are Again

Dave Reed (of "Now it can be told" fame) is reportedly seen sneaking from tree to tree minus his fish pole, and under the cover of three or four attaches who were on the look-out for any signs of Paxton.

Don't Know Where We Got This

Solve this one, if you can. Dr. Williams alledgedly presented this teaser to his Genetics class and drove twenty people to insanity as a result. "A blue-eyed girl and a brown-eyed boy married and had three children: a blue eyed one and two brown-eyed ones. They in turn married all brown-eyed people. The blue-eyed girl had two sets of blue-eyed twins. One of these sets of twins were fraternal and each married another set of twins—all brown-eyed 'uns too! In their turn, three more sets of twins evolved and, to make matters worse, they all married twins of blue-eyed variety. Keeping this all in mind, which twin had the Toni?" Egad, where are we?

Sing We All Joyfully

Even though the effects have worn off long ago, there are still those who remember that holiday we had a few weeks back. Such a one was Bill Holt who along with his "Vestee" choir gave the opening chapel hymn a hard time with "For He's A Jolly Good Fellow" ou Dr. Lloyd's initial public appearance since receipt of his now-famous telegram.

Many Tears

The morning, very early, that "Old Harry" was to be killed, "Cuddles" Cuthill walked out to her stall on the college farm and whispered in her ear, "Goodby, Harry, we'll all miss you." He returned to his table and amid many tears told them that faithful Harry, an MCer for sixteen years, had quit functioning and would depart to Kow Kingdom. (P.S. Harry was a cow).

What?

Then there is the sports enthusiast who wondered if a rain check was the same thing to a raincoat as a hat check was to a hat.

Beau-Of-The-Week

A handful of cigars goes to the source of many a little girl's bumping heart, Bob Mizelle. The big question is—Does he know how far that obliging blush of his sends more than a dozen co-eds?

More Snaps

Three frosh co-eds walking barefoot across newly-mown campus carpets. . . busy collegiates dusting off text books to be turned back into loan library. . .lines of blue-book buyers. . . . lines of ticket-buyers down at bus terminal . . hords of returned alumni, friends, and relatives. . . . many tears from seniors who say goodby in a few short days.

Last Roundup

'Tis the end of many things—another semester, a school year, another year of "Echo" editions, and college days, for many. Here's waxing sentimental enough to wish every grad a heap of pleasant Maryville memories and a successful venturing into the "outside" world.

A big "See you next year" to all the rest of you incoming seniors, juniors, and sophs. Before you return to the ivied walls, see the world, catch up on your sleep, watch your money, and be prepared to welcome a whole new crop of green frosh "on the hill."

Lois Lehr, '49 Graduate, Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Lehr of Altoona, Pa., announce the engagement of their daughter, Lois Jean, to William Emmett Pfeffer, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Pfeffer, Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

Miss Lehr, MC '49, is completing her first year in the Division of Christian Education, McCormick Theological Seminary, Chigago, Illinois. Pfeffer is a first-year ministerial student at McCormick.

The wedding is planned for late August.

not be imitated itself, since there is no other hill exactly like the one at Maryville.

An amazing story made by the two is that the building will not be painted or plastered. The door facings (made of California redwood) will be untreated. Conduit will be left exposed in a neat, orderly arrangement. It is the belief that there is an esthetic value in such an exposure. Plaster and painting will be used only when necessary for good acoustics.

The building doesn't set on the ground, but grows out of it. Furthermore, it can grow in any direction—up or out. There will be much glass, with a minimum of right angles, and maximum of acute angles. These discoveries throw much light on the new Center for the student's viewpoint.

On The Canvas

The art display, by the students in Art 82 and 102 which has been on display in the Library for the past week, presents a wide variety of paintings. The painters have dealt with the problems of composition as well as the techniques and materials of various media. The student was left free to choose both his medium and type of subject matter. Paintings in watercolor, gouache, pen and ink, and oil technique are represented.

Larry Thompson Elected New Camera Club Head

Camera Club elected next semester's officers at their meeting May 4. The officers are: Larry Thompson, sophomore, music major from Kankakee, Ill., president; Ken Bowers, program chairman, and Marlene Mauger, secretary-treasurer.

"GONE ARE THE DAYS. . . . ."

O, Scotties! O Scotties! your fearful trip is done
Your ship has weathered every rack, the prize you sought is won,
But O Boring, Berrong, and Hamil!
From you has all pity fled?
Look! on the deck an era lies,
Fallen cold and dead.

The Ship is anchor'd safe and sound, its voyage closed and done,
From fearful trip the victor ship of age comes in with object won:
Exult, O shores! and ring, O bells!
But I with mournful tread,
Walk on the deck an era lies
Fallen cold and dead.
—The Barber of Sevierville with apologies to Whitman

●MARYVILLE'S GOLDEN AGE OF SPORTS has just about come to an end. With the graduation of eight of his starting nine, Coach Honaker will see the last of an era of powerhouse Maryville athletic teams. It began last fall with the graduation of 17 seniors on the football team. . . continued in basketball with nine men leaving and ends up with eight trackmen from one already skimpy in numbers though not in spirit.

Gone after this year will be Bobby Boring, Hugh Hamil, Hersh Merriman, Blondie Law, Sid Lambert, Gene Reynolds, Tubby Callaway, Leon Berrong, Hap Brahams, "Hard" Davis, D. M. Miller, Jim Marvin, Jack Buckley, Bobby Neff, Bob Kay, Benny Baldwin, Ray Holsey, Charles Mabry, and others whom we all know. 'Twill be a sad yet proud day in the history of Maryville College Athletics when these stout-hearted men take their last step out of Alumni Gym. Cross Country will still be left with a few though, as will be wrestling and tennis but, starting next fall, a new era will open itself in the eyes of all loyal MC Alumni. If history repeats itself, "Coach" will come through with something and every MC'er will still be proud to call himself a Scot-supporter. This fall's football season will show whether or not Maryville has that student body team spirit that we boast so much of yet haven't had too much of an opportunity to show. So as a silent tribute to those who will be putting on their uniforms for the last time, let's flock out to the ball game on Monday and give the baseball team such a backing as they've never had before.

SORRY, MEN, NO STATE TRACK MEET—For the first time in many a day, Maryville will not be entered in the State Track Meet which commences tomorrow at Sewanee's Hardee Field. With exams starting today and Alumni Day scheduled for tomorrow, MC's track team was forced to take a seat on the sidelines by a radio for the All-State affair which begins tomorrow. This year's track season was again a dismal one from the standpoint of meets with only two meets carded, but MC athletes again kept their chins up and strode to a win over Chattanooga's Moccasins after ETS had knocked us over.

To be especially commended are those men who came out for the long mile and two mile runs and stuck with it through two months of solid work without much gain save that they knew they had given all they had.

Scotty Baseballers Win Four, Drop One

ETS

East Tennessee State Teachers was felled by the Scots at Johnson City last week by the tune of a 5-4 win. Both teams knocked out nine hits but MC made theirs count. Seven Scot miscues helped the Teachers score three unearned runs.

Jack Buckley was taken out of the game in the seventh after he was spiked in a close play at first base. Bobby "Cowboy" Neff banged out a homerun and Buckley hit a double for the game's only extra base blows.

Leon Berrong was the winning pitcher although he needed help from Jim Kren in the seventh.

MILLIGAN

We Wuz Robbed!

Milligan knocked over the invading Scots in a thrilling 9-8 victory at Johnson City last week. Three Scot pitchers paraded to the mound as the Buffalo's collected ten hits and six earned runs.

The Scots nicked Miles for nine hits but could score only one earned run. That earned run was Hamil's homerun in the eighth.

"Pretty Boy" Adkins, Milliigan catcher, had a perfect day at the plate collecting four for four, including a double and a triple.

Different Story Here

Milligan's Buffaloes came to Maryville last Friday in an attempt to take another victory via the fair or "four" route, but the Buffs met with a sound reception of basehits and got their pants knocked off, 11-1. The victory was number nine of the season and number four for Jim Kren who scattered six blows nicely.

Edens took to the hill for the Buffaloes and after two and ⅔ innings, his coach took him to the showers for a reliefer after seven MC'ers had scampered across the plate. Crowning blow of the Scot batting and running spree was Gene Reynold's steal of home which resulted in more than a little debate at the plate with Umpire Taylor winning as usual with the opponents protesting solely on the rules interpretations because Reynolds was in before the pitch.

Bob Boring was the batsman as he lashed out three hits—two of them doubles—in four trips to the plate. Reynolds also brought his batting average up with a double and a single in three attempts

Season Ends As Netmen Win Seven, Lose Once

With a total of seven wins and one loss the Maryville College Scotty tennis team closed the '50 season last Tuesday afternoon, May 9. The Eagles of Carson-Newman took two beatings, the first by a 9-1 tally last April 8, the second by a closer 5-4 last Tuesday.

The Bucs of ETS accounted for Maryville's only loss of the season, when they won a 5-2 decision last April 22 at Johnson City. A return meet here Friday, May 5, evened the score, however.

Two teams, the Railsplitters of LMU and the Buffaloes of Milligan, falied to score a point against the Scot netmen. Tennessee Wesleyan and the University of Chattanooga came through with one each.

Individual Players

Chesley Anderson is credited with winnnig the most meets, although he is closely trailed by Wes Miles, Buzz Cardozo, and Jerry Sayres. Anderson's tally is seven won, one lost; while Miles, Cardozo, and Sayres have won six each. Ben Gearhart won four and lost one, while Glen Gage won four and lost one.

take a match in either the single or doubles competition. Wes Miles, Buzz Cardozo, Jerry Sayres, and Ben Gearhart took their matches in the singles; and the teams of Miles and Anderson and Sayres and Cardozo won without trouble in the doubles.

Netmen Down Mocs 6-1 For 6th

The Moccasins of the University of Chattanooga felt the bite of the Scot tennis team last Friday, May 5, when the Scots defeated the Mocs at Maryville by a score of 6-1. The match, seventh of the season, marked the sixth win for the Highlander racqueteers.

Alan Voges of the UC contingent was the only Moc man to Maryville College's baseball nine won its tenth and eleventh games over the week-end with wins over Lincoln Memorial University and Carson-Newman. This gives the Scots a record of eleven wins against four loses and a tie for the year.

LMU

LMU took it on the nose last Saturday as the Scots, behind the superb two-hit pitching of Leon Berrong, batted out a 9-0 win.

LMU Calcimined

Berrong looked like the "old master pitcher" as he held the Railsplitters to two singles, both coming in the third inning. The third was the only time the Blue and White could reach him, and then they failed to score when Hugh Hamil grabbed a fly ball and threw Wright out as he tried to score after the catch. Berrong struck out nine Railsplitters and walked three.

C-N

Jim Kren won his fifth of the year as the Scots downed the Eagles of Carson-Newman 12-4. Kren fanned nine and walked three.

The game saw heavy stickwork as the Scots racked out five extra-base blows, including a homer and three triples.

Bobby Boring hit a homer in the eighth with two mates aboard. Gene Reynolds slapped out two triples and a single to drive in three runs and take the honor of leading hitter for the game.

"Big" Medal Winners

With the end of Softball and track, the good ship Intramural Sports slowly grinds to a halt with its landing at the docks of Bartlett and the post-humous awarding of thirteen Intramural Medals to MC men who battled the waves for three hundred shells. Among the fortunate few which increased in number from four awards made last year were repeaters Joe Poland and Dick Jones. Others who piled up the necessary amount were Bill Menges, Sid Lambert, George Day, Jerry Sayres, Walt English, Frank Farmer, Thad Godwin, C. L. Hager, Bob Kees, Tasker Robinette, and Bill Varker. Congratulations!

Rah, Rah, Newell

Also in for their share of the glory while it is being passed out are Manager Ken Newell who directed the program very well through thick and thin and his Assistants, Coach Johnson and Dean Allison. Here's hoping the system's as good next year.

Mike Kay's Shamrocks fell apart in the clutch Monday for the first time this year and YMCA beat them 17-7 to go into the finals of the Intramural Softball Tournament. The Irish bounced out ahead with five runs in the third and fourth frames mainly on the basis of a couple of hits interspersed between osme walks given up by Allen of the Y.

Eightballs also advanced to the finals of the Intramural Softball Tourney by outlasting the BOB's in a free-swinging game, 16-14. "Pop" Lester's men were up for Monday's game on the Golf Course and the Eightballs were down in the dumps by virtue of Manager "Ham" Ammons" absence. Ralph Thiesse was persuaded to face the Bachelor's hats and so did with fair success. Eightballs fielded seven men and Louie Hofferbert, their manager

Butch Kramer Elected Men's M Club Prexy

Roy "Butch" Kramer was elected President of the Men's M Club in a called meeting Monday. Other officers elected were Chesley Anderson, vice president; Jim Kren, treasurer, and Neale Pearson, secretary.

Don Walker retiring Treasurer reported that there was $308 and some cents in the bank which was clear after the basketball tournament minus deductions for gifts, entertainment for Miami U's baseball team and expenses for the M Club.

Jim Lester, retiring president announced that plans for the Club's room in Bartlett are nearing completion depending on the Fine Arts Center's status and that Lettermen may enjoy its privileges and facilities next fall.

Sports Echoes

●AFTER ABOUT FIVE MONTHS of hard work, the Men's M Club of Maryville has some concrete accomplishments set down. Opening up in December with 45 charter members, the lettermen added a member in a week of shoe-shining and mule riding initiation and got the concession at the basketball tourney held here in February. After expenses for gifts to various persons and entertainment for visiting athletic teams, the lettermen's club has $300 left toward completion of its club room (which from latest reports will be located in Bartlett around Herr Reber's area).

Students will then be able to see pictures of MC athletic teams from 1950 clear back to 1900 and goodness knows whatever was earlier not to mention various prized articles which the big-domes of the Club may be able to scare up and put on exhibition in what will be Maryville's Hall of Athletic Fame. It's a good thing. Still being worked on is the Club's original project of insuring athletes on the Hill which may yet have results.

●HITS AND ERRORS—Statistics which are always good to take up empty space on a news page and to stir up argument from hawk-eyed and rabbit eared athletes who go over their averages with a fine comb show that Bob Boring (at the end of 16 games) has the highest batting average of any of the regulars and that Leon Berrong has been the stingiest pitcher as of said C-N game Monday. . . .

Coach Honaker's men have finally done what for probably many a decade has been impossible. . . In the LMU game there, not one Scot was struck out. . . . Every starter got a hit save pitcher Leon Berrong and he retaliated by allowing the Railsplitters only two hits—in the third inning—and otherwise pitching hitless ball. . . . Maryville College has done all right by Leon for four years and vice-versa and one may see the day not too far in the future when Mo will be toeing the slab of some Major League ball park along with mates Boring, Hamil, and Reynolds who are pretty good prospects. . . . Owner Paul Fagan of the Hollywood Stars has a ball team that wears shorts when they play and also gave out 18,000 bags of peanuts on opening day. Therefore, we hope that these few morsels from the gallery won't choke anyone and that all have a big summertime.

College Officials Discuss Finances At Recent Chapel

President Ralph W. Lloyd and Marvin D. Minear, assistant in the Treasurer's Office, spoke in chapel Thursday on "College Finances," the last in a series of three talks designed to acquaint the student body with college policy.

Minear spoke from the standpoint of accounting, giving assets and liabilities of the four separate funds into which college finances are divided. These four divisions are Plant, Student Loans, Endowment, and Current Expenses.

Newman Elected '50-'51 IRC Prexy

Richard A. Newman, incoming junior, sociology major from Kingston, N.Y., was elected president of the Maryville International Relations Club last Friday.

Other officers elected included Robert Brown, sociology major from Los Angeles, Calif., vice-president; Eleanor Kramer sociology major from Maryville, secretary; Neale Pearsno, history major from Lakeland, Fla., treasurer; and Ed Scott, incoming sophomore from Asheville, N. C., publicity chairman.

The Maryville club, affiliated with the National Association of International Relations Clubs, is a member of the Southeastern IRC Conference. Herbert McCallum is retiring president.

While Mixing Chemicals Carroll Suffers Injury

Bill Carroll, senior chemistry major from Pipersville, Pa., received injuries May 1 while developing special effects for "Alice in Wonderland." The worst burns were received on the left arm and hand, and the others were received on the face, right hand and arm. Carroll was confined to Blount Memorial Hospital.

He was preparing an explosive mixture with which to end the pageant finale in a cloud of smoke. High humidity caused the explosion.

Lois Johanson Is Leader Of Student Volunteers

Newly-elected officers of Student Vols were installed at the meeting at New Providence Church on May 7th.

Those chosen to serve next year are: president, Lois Johanson; vice-president, Dick Dosker; secretary, Janet Kilgren; treasurer, Howard Lawson; and program chairman, Doris Somerville, who will work with Del Poling, a carry-over from this year.

Major Nathan Adams, Auburn '40
Personnel Manager, U.S. Air Force

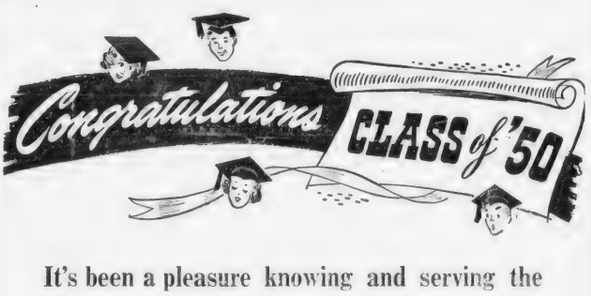
Following a three month course, Lt. Adams decided the Air Force was the place for him. He applied for pilot training, was accepted, proceeded to Maxwell Field.

He won his wings and reported to the 36th Fighter Group in Puerto Rico. The group soon returned to the States, giving Adams a chance to marry his college sweetheart.

Within months Adams was overseas, flying "rhubarbs" (missions against enemy transport). He flew 63 P-47 missions within seven months, returned to the States late in 1944 for rest and recuperation.

V-J Day came, and Adams decided to make the service a career. He choose personnel work as his career field, was assigned for training to the Adjutant General's School at Fort Oglethorpe, Georgia.



Now a regular Air Force Major, he heads a 32-man section at Bolling Air Force Base. He advises his Commanding Officer on selection, assignment and promotion of all officers and airmen in the command.

If you are single, between the ages of 20 and 26½, with at least two years of college, consider the many career opportunities as a pilot or navigator in the U. S. Air Force. Procurement Teams are visiting many colleges and universities to explain these career opportunities. Watch for them. You may also get full details at your nearest Air Force Base or U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting Station, or by writing to the Chief of Staff, U. S. Air Force, Att: Aviation Cadet Branch, Washington 25, D. C.

VOLUME 36 MARYVILLE, TENNESSEE, SEPTEMBER 2, 1950 NUMBER 1

Societies Bid Welcomes During Rush Activities

Opening traditional welcome festivities of four Maryville societies, Athenian and Bainonian will present "A Week On The High Seas" as their Rush Week theme. Bainonian directors Beverly Jacobi and Nanette Enloe are working with Athenian directors Tom Kees and Jim Dance in order to consolidate activities and make the week a big success.

Week's program will commence on Monday, September 4, with a Punch Party. Chairmen for this event are Sally Kemp and Peggy Sangster. All freshmen and transfer women students are invited, as well as women members of the faculty and Bainonian members. Here probably more than at any other event new students will meet members of the sponsoring society.

On Wednesday night, September 6, all new students are invited to join a crew for a treasure hunt in the college woods. Girls will be grouped into crews under the leadership of a captain and a first mate who will be older Bainonian members. The group will leave Thaw at 8 p.m. and head for the woods. Chairmen for the evening will be Ann Leeder and Betty Carroll.

"The Lady And The Pirate"

Climaxing the week of festivities will be a formal presentation, "The Lady And The Pirate," a comedy combining music and dancing. Bainonian Rockettes will do a stove-pipe dance and both classical, semiclassical, and modern popular music will be used.

Alumni Gymnasium will be transformed into the inside of an old clipper ship, complete with tables seating four and candlelight, on the closing night. In addition to favors which each freshman girl will receive through out the week, there will be favors given at the door. A blind-date system has been arranged so that each new girl will have an escort for the evening.

Jim Dance has written the script for "The Lady and The Pirate." Others having leading roles in the presentation will be Helen Worrilow, David Reed, Gloria Measamer, and Wally Schroeder.

Lloyd Announces Student Insurance

In a letter sent out some weeks before school opened, President Lloyd announced the working out with the Provident Life and Accident Insurance Co. of Chattanooga of an insurance program to cover the needs of Maryville students. This voluntary program was set up so as not to conflict with Blue Cross and other group medical plans.

Cost: Nine Dollars

For nine dollars a school year it covers any accident or injury incurred while on the campus till one goes home and arrives there. Under the old plan which was discarded some years ago, many persons were going to the doctors for ills that hadn't been treated in years and for ills that they had not received on the campus.

Better Than Old Plan

Under the new plan, the company pays up to six dollars a day in a registered hospital up to 31 days and if one convalesces in the College Infirmary upon one's return it pays for that also. This is the big difference between the new and old plans. If a person just goes to the infirmary with a strep throat or cold and does not have to go to say Blount Memorial Hospital, then the company does not pay. This was the main trouble under the old plan since paper work and payments were just too much to handle.

Fees Paid

It pays bills for any kind of accident or illness up to $150 a month and takes care of surgeon's fees up to what it believes most doctors will agree to work for.

It takes care of dental work that is the result of an accident up to $50 a month. Persons who have had teeth or abscesses, etc which may have resulted from their own neglicence or which occurred some time ago cannot receive claims.

Library Introduces New System, Ruling On Books

New system of charging books and of giving notice of overdue books will be instituted in the library this term to go into effect sometime next week, Miss Ruth Grierson has announced.

Instead of making out pink call slips and signing book cards, students are asked to use a dated call card only. Whether the assistant gets the book for the student or whether he finds it himself, the student is asked to fill out the card carefully and legibly and to hand it to the library assistant. The assistant in turn will stamp the date due in the back of the book.

No Change For Others

For books used in the reading room and for periodicals, the same white and yellow slips will be used. Procedure for use of reserve books had not been changed. In order to renew a book, a dated call card must be filled out as though for the first time. Write "renewal" in the upper right hand corner and hand it to the assistant.

Books will be stamped due on Friday only of each week. However, students are requested to return them as they finish without waiting for Friday. Every Thursday a list of students having books due on Friday, books overdue, or unpaid fine records will be posted in Anderson, Carnegie, Pearsons, and Thaw lobbies. Five cents will be charged for every day a two-weeks book is overdue, and twenty-five cents for every twelve hours or fraction thereof on all reserve books, periodicals and pamphlet file folders, all of which are due at 9:30 a.m.

Rearrangement of Books

Reserve books have been shifted to the old periodical alcove for the convenience of both the student and the library staff. This placement will enable the staff to keep closer supervision on reserve books and also allow the student to browse around in a section wholly set aside for reserve books. Periodicals have been moved to the reading room alcove while the reading room collection and fiction books have been placed on either side of the call desk.

Miss Grierson and her staff hope that this new arrangement will provide better service for the students and asks for the cooperation of both old and new students. Students serving behind the desk include Judy Breen, Virginia Cooper, Claude Cowan, Mickey Crawford, Jim Dance, Roy Hass, Joy Hickman, Peggy Kettles, Annabelle Libby, Mary McConnell, Edith MacMillan, Hugh McSpadden, Mary Lynn Moore, Talmer Peacock, Tish Plowman, Clarence Reaser, Doris Somerville, Millard Stephens, Austin Van Pelt, Myrtle Watkins and Jerry Wheat.

NEW DIRECTOR FOR PLAYHOUSE NAMED

Miss Kathleen Craven, of North Carolina, has been appointed Director of the Maryville College Playhouse and theatre activities and Instructor in Drama and Speech at Maryville College. She succeeds Mr. Herman Middleton, who has accepted a position at the University of Delaware.

Miss Craven holds the A.B. degree from Greensboro College, North Carolina, and the M.A. degree in Drama and Speech from Columbia University, New York. She has been in New York during the past year doing advanced study and engaged in part-time employment with the New York City Department of Education.

Poland Announces '50-'51 Committees, Speaks To Frosh

Committee appointments for the 1950-51 Student Council were announced by Joe Poland, student body president, this week.

Steering committee, which has the president as its chairman, consists of six council members including Jim Kren, Arch Swartztrauber, George Ogle, Louise Lloyd, Carol Corbett, and Ralph Thiesse. Its function is to outline the year's programs and to be responsible for the agenda of council meetings. This committee also reviews the student body constitution each year to co-ordinate it with the existing campus life.

Finance Committee

Finance committee is composed of treasurer Joe McNeill and also two other council members, Carol Jones and Jim Campbell. The finance committee is responsible for the collection of all funds for council purposes and is permitted to make assessments on classes as approved by Council.

Dick Lane, Al Springfield, and Lois Lerch have been appointed by the president to serve on the Student Programs Committee. This committee works in conjunction with the faculty committee of the same name.

Kren Chairman

Elections Committee is composed of nine members of Council, of whom three are seniors, two juniors, two sophomores, and two freshmen. Jim Kren as student body vice president serves as chairman of that committee. With him on the committee are also presidents of the upper classes, Jim Lester, Bob Cuthill, and Bill Caldwell with the freshmen president yet to be elected; Janet Cummings, Alice Huddleston, John Schaumberg and another freshmen yet to be elected.

Numerous functions of this committee are listed in the M Book, Article VIII, section 1, of Student Body Constitution.

Jackson Heads Publications

Student Publications Committee is composed of three members of the Council appointed by the president and Highland Echo editor. Committee members chosen are Phyl Jackson, chairman, Mary Wills, Lynn Miller, and Ella Swift.

This committee appoints a student who will be responsible for publicizing the activities of Council.

The Student Faculty Senate is composed of eight members: Student Council President Joe Poland, MSO chairman Ralph Thiesse, WSGA chairman Carol Corbett, and Social Chairman of Student Body Arch Swartztrauber. Four other members will be elected by the council at its first regular meeting. At the same time women will be elected to be on WSGA Coordinating Council.

Poland's Briefs Frosh

Freshmen will meet in the Alumni Gym to discuss with president Joe Poland town-night procedures. Regular rules will be in effect for the rest of the student body with student council in charge.

At this meeting the four society presidents will speak to the freshmen concerning their organizations. Entertainment which follows will be square dancing under the direction of Social Board chairman Arch Swarztrauber and Jim Watt.

Orientation classes will begin again for freshmen with student leaders assisting faculty advisors. Those chose nto help are George Ogle, Bill Varker, Charles Wilson, John Shew, Andy Clark, Joe Poland, Louise Lloyd, Carol Corbett, Ginni Schwarz, Alita Bryant, Lynn Miller, and Janet Cummings. This committee was elected by a special committee of the council.

Tentative Student Body Meeting

If the Student Body so desires there will be a meeting following chapel on Thursday to ratify the Town Night Proposal. Freshmen will meet soon to elect their president, other officers, and council members.

Annual Faculty Line Held In Lamar Library

Annual faculty reception will be held in Lamar Library, Monday night, September 4, at 8 p.m.

This is probably the best opportunity for new students to meet all of the faculty and administration staff at one time. Also in the receiving line will be the student body president Joe Poland, and YW and YM presidents, Louise Lloyd and George Ogle.

Refreshments will be served at the end of the line.

Y's Initiate Season With Festivities, Joint Programs

YM will open its '50-51 season with a Watermelon Pow-wow in the college woods on Saturday September 2 at 8 p.m. Program will be held in the Alumni Gymnasium in case of rain. All freshmen and transfer boys are invited to this get-together held especially for them to get to know their big brothers better.

Program will open with the lighting of a huge bonfire and campfire singing, followed by a skit entitled "Prehistoric Pow-wow." Coach Lombe Honaker and Coach J.D. Davis of the Athletic department will be introduced by George Ogle, president of YMCA. Captain King Berrong and co-captain Donald Walker will also be introduced to the boys.

Traditionally Dr. Graham will lead the fellows in the annual serenade of the girls' dorms following the festivities in the woods. All men students who have neither a big or little brother are urged to contact John Baird at once and some arrangements will be made about securing one.

Joint Sunday Program

To give new students a complete idea of the campus religious life, the four religious groups, YW, YM, Student Vols, and Preministerials, are presenting a joint meeting Sunday, September 3, at 1:30 on the front steps of Thaw Hall. If it rains the meeting will be held in the library.

Through the theme "Working Together with God" students will hear how these organizations can help a student's relationship with God both in religious and social matters. The program will begin with group singing. Lois Johanson will offer the prayer and read the Scripture, the theme of which is "Working Together with God." She is president of Student Vols.

Dick Ribble, pianist for the groups, will follow with the selection "Onward Christian Soldiers." YM president George Ogle will speak on the activities of the four organizations.

Elaborating on the same theme "Working together with God" will be Louise Lloyd, YW president. After another hymn John Shew, Pre-ministerial president, will give the benediction.

YW will also hold its Big-Little Sister party tonight. The group will gather on the steps of Thaw at 8 p.m. to be led in several rounds of song by Nanette Enloe.

Following the group singing, the sisters will be divided into smaller groups and entertainment has been planned for each. Refreshments will be served following the evening program.

Janet Cummings, Ann Leeder, and Margaret Ann Brown are in charge of the proceedings and urge all new girl students to join in the fun. If there are any old or new students who do not as yet have big or little sisters, they are urged to contact Janet Cummings or Louise Lloyd immediately.

In case of rain the program will be held indoors, other arrangements being made.

ALPHA SIG MEETS IN THAW

Alpha Sigma will hold its initial meeting of the year in Thaw 214 to discuss new and old business. Reports will be made about the Montvale hike and perhaps refreshments can be squeezed from the treasurer. All are invited.
